Outstanding Lecturer Will Be Heard Monday Night In Pullen Hall

Open Forum Will Follow Lecture By Noted Author, Lecturer, and World Traveler; Public Invited

State College students will have the opportunity of hearing what should prove to be one of the most interesting lectures of the year when Dr. Sherwood Eddy, author, lecturer, and world traveler, speaks Monday night, January 24, in Pullen Hall on the subject, "Can the Big Four Win the Peace?"

The lecture will be presented under the auspices of the N. C. State College Public Lectures Committee, and will begin at 6:45 p.m. There is no admission charge, and the public is cordially invited. An open forum will follow the lecture.

Sherwood Eddy, author of more than twenty volumes on international, economic, social and religious questions, has first-hand knowledge of many of the battlefields and leaders of the two World Wars. He was present at the capture of Mukden in Manchuria by the Japanese in 1931 and at the beginning of the present crisis. On June 30, 1934, he saw Hitler and heard him make his terrible "blood bath" speech to the Reichstag. He heard Martin Niemöller's last address before he was thrown into successive concentration camps with thousands of persecuted Roman Catholics and Jews. He saw Stalin standing on Lenin's Tomb reviewing a victory parade of youth which even then gave promise of the magnificent fight that Russia was to make. He came into intimate contact with Gandhi, Nehru, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-

Student Chapter Of A.I.E.E. Initiates Ten

At the first initiation of the school year held by the student chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, ten new men were taken into the organization, it was announced by President George Stephens.

The initiation took place Wednesday night at the S & W Cafeteria, and was preceded by a "dutch" supper attended by the members of the society and the students to be initiated.

Although all electrical engineering students, regardless of their number of terms in school, are eligible for initiation into the society, the entire group of initiates consisted of upperclassmen. The ten students have been seen about the campus this week wearing replicas of the society's emblem.

The new members are: Price Elias Sherrill, Mooresville, N. C.; William H. Brown, Goldsboro, N. C.; Charles Q. Lemmond, Monroe, N. C.; William R. Harmon, Jr., Siler City, N. C.; Thomas F. Faulkner, Henderson, N. C.; Roger C. Dickinson, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Robert T. Keys, Jr., Florence, S. C.; Thomas H. Blackburn, Hickory, N. C.; Daniel L. Gross, Great Neck, N. Y.; and Thomas F. Woodside, Charlotte, N. C.

Agromeck Officials

Shown here in the editorial offices of The Agromeck, student yearbook at State College, are Ben W. Greene of Elizabethtown, right, editor of the publication, and John M. Simmons of Greensboro, business manager. The Agromeck has gained wide recognition for its notable excellence in prior years. At various times it has been adjudged best in its class by the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association.

Dr. Maynard Lectures On Nutrition Problems

One of the most timely lectures to be presented this year at State College was that of Dr. L. A. Maynard, director of the School of Nutrition at Cornell University, who spoke in Withers Hall auditorium Thursday night under the auspices of the Society of Sigma Xi and the Public Lectures Committee. Dr. Maynard's topic was "War-time and Post-war Nutrition Problems."

Earlier Thursday, the Cornell biochemist met with a group of State College nutritional authorities for discussion of a program arranged by Dr. L. D. Baver, director of the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station.

Last summer, Dr. Maynard spent six weeks in England as a member of a commission set up jointly by the British Ministry of Foods and the United States War Food Administration to compare the food supplies and food needs of the two countries. Dr. Maynard's foreign experience also includes post-doctorate study in France and a year spent in China while engaged in a survey of the nutritional status of farm families.

Midwinters

Preliminary plans for the annual Black and White Formals were laid Friday afternoon at the first meeting this term of the Interfraternity Council, when the fraternities to be represented on the dance committee were named and a tentative budget was set up.

Black and White Formals, commonly known as Midwinters, will probably be held around the middle of February. Two week-ends, those of February 12 and February 19, have been selected by the Council as possible dates; these dates will be referred to the Social Functions Committee for approval.

Midwinters are the second of the three annual sets sponsored by the Interfraternity Council, and will probably be the only formal dances of the winter term.

Members of the dance committee are: Cham Laughlin, Pi Kappa Phi; David Levinson, Sigma Alpha Mu; Reese Bailey, Delta Sigma Phi; and Beverly Rose, Lambda Chi Alpha.

Election Of Officers Starts Reorganization Of Textile Society

Harold Gibbs Elected President of Society At First Meeting of Year

Reorganization of the Tompkins Textile Society got under way Wednesday night at the organization's first meeting of the current school year, at which officers were elected to fill the positions left vacant by the failure to return to the civilian school of those students elected last Spring.

The officers elected for 1944 are as follows: Harold A. Gibbs of Enka, N. C., president; Arthur L. Freid of New York City, vice-president; Donald F. Sapp of Concord, N. C., secretary; Mary Lou McArthur of Lumberton, N. C., treasurer; and Siegfried Wallner, Jr., of Jacksonville, Texas, reporter.

Following the elections, further reorganization plans were discussed, and a meeting was planned for February 1.

Dean Brown To Speak On Argentine At Pan American Club Meet

On Wednesday, January 26, Dean B. F. Brown of the Basic Division will speak to the members of La Casa Latino Americana, the Pan American Society, on the subject of "The Riddle of the Argentine." Following the address, two reels of movies on the Argentine from the office of the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs will be shown, after which refreshments will be served.

The Pan American Club is now conducting a membership drive, and wishes to invite all students and interested citizens of Raleigh to attend this meeting, which will be held at the State College Y.M.C.A. at 8:00 p.m. La Casa Latino Americana has as its purpose the promotion of goodwill among the nations of the two Americas; the club's activities include regular monthly meetings and various social functions.

Ivey To Be Retained As Business Manager

Rejected

The Faculty Council, at a meeting Tuesday afternoon, voted to reject the petition presented by the Interfraternity Council requesting permission for second and third-term freshmen to move into fraternity houses. A joint discussion of the situation by the Faculty Council and the presidents of the various fraternities preceded the vote. Existing college regulations state that all freshmen must reside in the dormitories for at least three terms unless special permission to move out is granted.

Third-term freshmen already living in fraternity houses, however, will be allowed to remain, according to the decision of the faculty group.

The Faculty Council also turned down the request recommended by the Student Council that the policy of double cuts on Saturdays be abolished.

Future Profits from "Mop-Up" Will Go To State College Scholarship Fund

The Students Supply Store, owned and operated for the last twenty-five years by Mr. L. L. Ivey, has sold and transferred, as of February 1, 1944, its stock, furniture, fixtures, and all other equities connected therewith to the North Carolina State College Scholarship Fund, it was announced yesterday by W. D. Carmichael, controller of the Consolidated University.

The transaction was approved by the Trustees of the Greater University as a result of the considerable attention that has been given the situation recently, first by a joint faculty-student committee appointed by Colonel Harrelson, and later by a committee of the University Trustees.

Mr. Ivey is being retained, under a long-term contract, as Active Business Manager, under the general direction of the College Administration and the Board of Trustees of the Consolidated University.

All future profits from the enterprise will go to the Scholarship Fund to provide the scholarships awarded annually to deserving students by the State College Scholarship Committee.

The business will be operated in the same quarters, with the central store in the College Y.M.C.A. and the two auxiliary stores in the Freshman Quadrangle and between Alexander and Turlington Halls; the name of the business, however, will be changed to Students Supply Store. The central store will close February 1 for several days while the necessary inventories, etc., are attended to; the two extensions, however, will remain open.

The history of the various student book stores was able to be traced as far back as 1910, at which time such a store was being operated by the Athletic Association in one room of what is now the Publications Building, where it was managed by two of the football players. From about 1914 to 1916, the student book store was operated as a private enterprise by Colonel J. W. Harrelson, then an instructor in the mathematics department, and was located in the basement of Primrose Hall. John E. Ivey, brother of L. L. Ivey, took over the ownership and operation of the store from 1916 until 1919, while he was an undergraduate student at State.

L. L. Ivey, the present manager, assumed the management of the store in 1919 and has operated the business ever since. Shortly after Ivey took over, the location of the store was changed from Primrose Hall to the ground floor of the west wing of the Dining Hall; here the business remained until 1936, when it was moved to its present quarters in the Y.M.C.A. During the early years of Mr. Ivey's management, it was attempted to operate the store by a student cooperative system, whereby the profits were to be divided among the students on the basis of merchandise purchased, but the scheme did not prove practical.

Chemical Award Is Presented To Ed Cole

At the regular meeting of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers Tuesday night in Winston-Hall, Ed R. Cole was given the annual society award. A pin and certificate of honor were presented to Cole by Harry Taylor, president of the society.

The award is presented each year to the Junior Class who has attained the highest scholastic average. Cole led that group with 312 credit points for his 122 hours, which gave him a 2.55 average.

In the presentation of the award, honorable mention was given to William M. Nicholson who had 297 points for his 117 hours, which gave him a 2.53 average.

Apathy

To our way of thinking, one of the most deplorable state of affairs on the campus today is the apparent student apathy toward the two remaining student publications.

For if such is not the case, why the depleted staffs of THE TECHNICIAN and The Agromeek?

Quite obviously, the drastic reduction in the college enrollment from that of a year ago is partially responsible for the shrinkage of these staffs to one-half or one-third of their normal numerical strength, but this is not the complete story—there is an element of passivity, indifference, or perhaps just plain laziness in a much-too-large percentage of the student body that threatens to endanger not only the aforementioned publications, but also many of the other student organizations, traditions, and activities.

Such an attitude is a near-stranger—and a most unwelcome one—to this campus, and should be wiped out before serious damage is done.

We are speaking particularly, though not entirely, to the freshman class, now almost half of the student body. What's the matter, fellows? Surely all of you aren't as shallow and phlegmatic as you make it appear!

GLEANINGS

If you haven't read "Letters to the Editor," don't miss it. THE TECHNICIAN is always subject to your constructive criticism or praise. The campus is full of rumored entanglements this week. There's Rattelade and a Durhamite—Sobeck and a former defense student in Ch.E. Ex-student Orin Fagala has left the ranks of the bachelors. He was married to Miss Evelyn Beck of Durham on January 9.

We have our own radio station (what, again?). It seems that this one is legal. With studios in Watauga Hall, it has a frequency of 600 Kc. Mention of said oscillator brings to mind the amusing experience of Bob Z's WNCS of last spring. Bob's brain-child was quite powerful, but not so very legal.

There weren't many females present at the game Tuesday night, but some of those there made an impression. Parker and Miller did very well—must have been some line, Parker. Ed Bailey was seen with a doll whose vital statistics would make us appear to be quite a liar. And what lovely chick with long brown hair kept Messrs. Eason and Wood from enjoying the game? Rogers seems to be slipping. We suggest that you go back to school teachers, Pat. C. Sullivan has ceased to frequent Meredith—why? Several new members of the AIEE have interesting speeches which cannot be printed here. . . . Blackburn has done research work at Peace and Meredith, and the one and only P. E. Sherill has made several "speed load runs" with the Dix Hill nurses.

We hear that post-war planning includes a tidy sum for improving the mess halls. . . . Well, whadda' ya' know! We predict an announcement soon from Marjorie of the library. . . . H. Trentham, Christmas grad., will be the man. To the freshmen cooped up three-to-a-room in the dorms: we suggest that you read What to Do Aboard a Transport; it may help solve your problems. For sale at the Mop-up.

It has been suggested by several interested persons that some ambitious (?) party take it upon themselves to keep alive a very potent tradition by sponsoring a 1944 Alpha Sigma Sigma election. . . . We second the motion. Let us know, by letter or in person, what you think of the idea. Although the war has cut our enrollment, we are confident that there is little or no shortage of material. For the benefit of those who don't know the history and meaning of the society, it can be best explained by saying that the name implies some relation of the chosen students to some portion of a horse's anatomy.

It seems that we will never fill the space allotted us. 'Tis past one, and the ed is still thumbing the old issues—hoping, no doubt, to find an editorial to call his very own. . . . The sports editor has given up in despair. . . . The managing ed is hidden behind a pile of copy. . . . And we are slinging—

Buy some bonds to Buy some planes to Bury the Axis.

SHARPS and FLATS

By HOWARD KADEN

I've just finished listening to the jazz concert at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, and it was something on the better side of our modern music. It featured the outstanding jazz artists who were elected by the experts from the Esquire magazine. They all were there—Louis Armstrong, Roy Eldridge, Billie Holiday, Lionel Hampton, and all the others who make or have made good jazz music.

As you probably know, Louis Armstrong was at the Memorial Auditorium. During the intermission, I had the opportunity to ask him a few questions about his band. As it stands now, the band is hard hit by the war. There are four saxes, four trumpets, three trombones, and three rhythm. Aided by the very hot trumpet of Louis, the band really kicks.

A good record recently released by the Jimmy Dorsey outfit is "Besame Mucho." It is typical of the Jimmy Dorsey records, which, in my opinion, are getting to be slightly on the monotonous side. It opens with a slow vocal by Bob Eberle, with the saxes playing counter-melody in the background. That is followed by an alto sax solo of Jimmy's. The tempo gets faster and Kitty Kallen comes in with her little offering. She does a capable job of filling in the spot vacated by Helen O'Connell. The lyrics are very catchy, and the record is excellent for dancing.

Question of the week: What is the cause of all those finch screams that issue forth from the California broadcasting of the Lucky Strike Hit Parade every Saturday night? Could it be Freddie McGurgle?

It's been rumored that the Raleigh record stores will be given a break by the releasing concerns. I think (and hope) that in the very near future there will be a shipment of Boogie-Woogie albums by Ammonds and Johnson arriving. These records, cut terrific. Go to it, hipsters.

THE TECHNICIAN
N. C. State College
Gentlemen:

Jan. 16, 1944.

Far be it for a lowly second-term freshman to criticize the State College Weekly, but it is time somebody did some complaining.

The so-called article entitled Gleanings by "Mostly Termite" is rapidly becoming putred. Mainly, it is your unfounded and uninteresting criticism of the cafeteria.

Strange as it may seem, it nevertheless seems that our esteemed author doesn't realize that there is a war on. He seems to expect the cafeteria to continue with its regular peacetime service. This is obviously impossible—a few of the reasons are shortage of help and increased cost of food. Evidently "Mostly Termite" thinks that the cafeteria is either much too bad or a miracle worker.

He doesn't only make himself generally obnoxious but he is actually self-contradictory. He wants ritzy and obviously expensive additions introduced in the cafeteria. He also wants the present prices slashed. Are the two things possible? Where will the money come from for these additions? I see one fallacy in my argument, so I'll clear it up. From the standpoint of the author, it seems that the cafeteria is making money now. I believe that one question will shake his argument to its not so sound foundation. Where else can a meal be gotten that equal in price and quality to that served right here on our campus? If such a place exists, I would like to respectfully suggest that the author eat there from now until such a time when the cafeteria returns to its mythical three dollar per week basis.

An indignant freshman,
G. E. HART.

STAY IN SCHOOL

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

This year we return to the campus with the world in a tormented condition such as never was approached 25 years ago. With the Army, Navy, Air Corps, industry yelling simultaneously at you, "HEY BROTHER, THIS IS WAR" you begin to wonder what in the world you are doing in school. You may wince a little when someone asks you why you aren't in the Army instead of wasting your time in classrooms. You may quake a little when some World War veteran tells how he enlisted, instead of waiting to be called in the last war, as though waiting to be drafted was unpatriotic.

To calm the minds of those who are suffering from enlistment inclinations, the following may be said: It has been emphasized by Brigadier General Hershey, in charge of the Selective Service Act, by the government, by our administration, by editorial writers and newspaper editors all over the country, over and over again, to stay in college as long as possible, that one of the greatest shortages the country is now facing is a lack of technically trained men. When the Army needs you, they will call you, you can be sure of that. Meanwhile the best way that you can serve your country is to stay in school.

59TH ON THE AIR

The 59th College Training Detachment, located at State College, has begun a series of weekly radio programs which are broadcast each Saturday night from 8:30 to 9:00 over station WRAL in Raleigh. Object of the programs is to publicize the 59th to the civilian populace and to aid in the Air Cadet and Air WAC recruiting. The half-hour programs feature the 59th's newly-organized orchestra and fifteen-minute dramatic skits.

Red Terrors Win Over Soldiers; Meet Carolina Pre-Flight Next

Fowler's Fancies

Before we say anything else, there are a few points that must be brought out about the game last Wednesday night.

First of all, there were too few civilian students in attendance, and there was no organized cheering section. If I remember correctly, cheer leaders were elected soon after the last term began. Where are these leaders now? It seems to me that out of 850 students there should be an organized cheering section at each and every game.

Many people were surprised that State won the game Wednesday night, but it was predicted in this column long ago that the Terrors would be moving into the winners' bracket once they gained a little experience. That prediction seems to have come true, for the moment, at least.

It would be very unwise to attempt to forecast the future victories of the Terrors in the face of the tough games still left on the schedule, but the boys will not be playing their best brand of ball when there is only a handful of their schoolmates out there to support them.

Coach Jay has developed some good men from the bunch that began practice last November. Almond, the only veteran on the squad has been turning in good performances each game. The same goes for Carpenter and Kohler, both of whom stood out in Wednesday's victory.

Jay was faced with a tough problem and he has handled it very well. State College is fortunate to have such a capable man on its coaching staff.

Sig Chi's Lose To SAM; ALT Beats Delta Sig

Fast Action Keynote As Intramural Program Gets Under Way

Monday night marked the opening of the intramural program for this term as two basketball games were held in the gym.

The first game, between Sigma Alpha Mu and Sigma Chi, ended in a victory for S. A. M. In the first half the S. A. M. had things pretty much their own way and piled up 10 points to lead at half-time 10-2. After the rest period Sigma Chi began to roll but they were too far behind and the game ended 12-10 in favor of the S. A. M. five. Olanoff took the scoring honors for the winners while Collard stood out for the losers.

In the next game the A. L. T.'s ran roughshod over a smaller and less experienced Delta Sig crew, to the tune of 49-5. The losers showed good spirit but they could not overcome the advantages that the A. L. T.'s possessed. Moore was the top man in the scoring column with 20 points to his credit while Urash was second with a total of 11 points.

Next week's schedule is:

Jan. 24—Sigma Pi vs. Sigma Alpha Mu: 9:00.

A. L. T. vs. Pi Kappa Phi: 8:00.

Jan. 25—Sigma Chi vs. Sigma Nu: 9:00.

Lambda Chi vs. Delta Sig: 8:00.

Jan. 27—Fifth Dorm vs. Sixth Dorm: 8:00.

South Watauga vs. Fourth Dorm: 9:00.

Duke and Carolina Monopolize Southern Conference Sports

Fate of Sports Monopolists Not So Certain In Post-War Play

By DON SAPP

Since the Southern Conference was organized more than a decade ago, two schools, Duke and North Carolina, have almost completely monopolized the championship titles in sports. The Blue Devils and the Tar Heels are about even in winning cups, prizes, pennants, etc. Infrequently, one of the other 14 colleges in the conference refuses to conform to the "unwritten laws" and literally steals a championship in one of ten sports. The school that accomplishes such a bold venture receives so much publicity that international interest is just short of a reality.

Betting on who will be in either first place or runner-up is practically unheard of. Remember that the unwritten law gives the "Dooks" and "Heels" the right to be no lower than second. Where the most "honest" dollars are won and lost is betting on the team to be runner-up to the runner-up. Often the team that finishes in third place (to which the unwritten law does not apply) is just as happy as the champions.

When William & Mary won the football title in 1942, there was considerable turmoil in Chapel Hill and Durham. The customary champions were lost for some explanation. (Continued on Page 4)

Carpenter Takes All Scoring Honors In Thrilling Contest

Jaworski Sinks Free Throw To Give State Winning Point; Final Score 43-42

Bill Carpenter paced the Red Terrors to a close victory over the 12th Replacement Depot of Camp Butner at Frank Thompson gymnasium last Wednesday night to give State their first win of the season.

The soldiers drew the first blood in the opening minutes of the game as Slattery fired a field goal after speeding down the court. Johnson tied up the score when he took one off the backboard and tipped it back in. At this point State began to roll.

Carpenter was the star throughout the first half as he fired goals from all parts of the floor. Although he collected too many fouls and was forced to go out of the game early in the second half, Carpenter collected a total of 13 points to lead the scoring for the night. Slattery, of the visiting five, was second in the scoring as he got a total of 11 points.

With two minutes to go in the first half, the soldiers sparked to tie the score, but Carpenter and Jackson came through to score two field goals and give the Terrors the edge at halftime to the tune of 26-24.

A determined State five trotted back on the hardwood after the half-time rest period, and they played hard and fast right up to the final gong. Time and again State succeeded in taking the ball away from the visitors.

With two minutes to go, the 12th Replacement Center tied up the score at 40-all. On the next play Dawson took a pass from midcourt and sank a field goal to give State a two-point lead. Jaworski was then fouled and he made good to give the Terrors a three-point advantage with less than 45 seconds left to go. The soldiers got one more field goal to put them only one point behind as the gong sounded ending the ball game with the score State 43, 12th Replacement Center, 42.

Remembering their own eligibility rules and crisp courses, they refrained from making protests. George Washington U.'s basketball five took apart a great Duke team last winter to gain the conference crown. This unconventional deed really stirred the underground forces at Duke and Carolina. However, before they could act, both W. & M. and G. W. dropped all sports for the duration and consequently no violence occurred.

schedule started off with a bang last Monday night as the Sigma Alpha Mu's beat the Sigma Chi's to the tune of 12-10. S.A.M. had the first half all the way and were leading 10-2 at halftime. The Sigma Chi's came back strong but couldn't catch up.

In the next game the A.L.T.'s walked away with the Delta Sigs 49-5. Moore was high scorer for the winners with 20 points and Urash was second with 11 points.

Swimming Coach Hines has announced that State's swimming team has not arranged a regular schedule but will participate in the Carolina's A.A.U. meet at Chapel Hill on January 29, and in the conference tank meet if it is held this year.

Hines says that men will be entered only in those events in which the members are proficient. This plan will be carried out because so many of last season's fin-men have joined the armed forces.

laws will have to be made. So don't be surprised if Duke and Carolina object, withdraw from the conference, and form a Blue-Heel or Tar-Devil league for themselves. In this new but small conference, each team can be certain of being either a champion or a runner-up.
