Pan-American Club Hears Noted Diplomat

"Pan-American Day connotes a new-born continental solidarity and the realization of a century-old dream for New World democracy through unity," declared Josephus Daniels, former United States ambassador to Mexico, in an address here.

Editor Daniels spoke at the joint observances of Pan-American Day by the State College Pan-American Club and Sigma Pi Alpha, honorary language fraternity at State College. The program was held in the Woman's Club. The speaker was introduced by Prof. E. L. Miller, Jr.

"Simon Bolivar in South America," said the former diplomat, "staked life and all he had upon attaining freedom and independence for the nations exploited by European imperialism. He had the vision to see what we now possess—that the consolidation of all American countries must unite their strength if they would drive out the conquerors and have the right to live their own lives. His dream of a Congress of all the countries on this hemisphere did not materialize in his day.

Publications Keys Awarded At Dinner

Speaking on "The Magic of Words," the Rev. Allyn P. Robinson, pastor of Raleigh's United Church, urged State College student editors last Friday to balance a "sense of drama" with a "sense of responsibility" in their journalistic work.

The minister spoke at the annual dinner meeting of the State College Board of Publications at the S & W Cafeteria. Preceding his address F. H. Jeter, agricultural editor and chairman of the Board of Publications presented keys, which he termed "marks of honor and distinction," to 14 students for meritorious work on the student publications. Jeter congratulated the editorial and business staffs of the various journals for their "splendid services" under wartime difficulties.

In addition to military force, it will require an "explosive idea" to stop Hitler's regime, Robinson said. That highly charged idea is found in our heritage, in the Atlantic Charter, and in the philosophy of Woodrow Wilson, the speaker continued.

Progress comes first in the form of an idea, the minister stated. He described words as "one of the most important things about human life," and declared that words had been responsible in lifting our type of living above a "tribal manner."

Brief remarks were made by

MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Sophomore class in Pullen Hall on Thursday, April 27, at 12:00 o'clock. All Sophomores, including those men who were sophomores last term, are urged to attend as the officers for next year's junior class will be elected.

COACH NEWTON

"Doc" Newton, for seven years head coach here, will leave State College June 1 to assume coaching duties at the University of South Carolina.

Sigma Xi Chapter Formally Installed

The lowly parasite, cause of malaria and many other diseases, has been more successful in the development of its powers of invasion and destruction than has man in the development of defense mechanisms against it, Dr. E. Carroll Faust, head of the Department of Tropical Medicine at Tulane University, declared in an address at State College last Monday night.

Dr. Faust spoke at the conclusion of a day of formal ceremonies in which a chapter of the Society of the Sigma Xi, America's highest honor society in the general sciences, was installed at State College. The address was given in the Withers Hall auditorium. The speaker was introduced by Dr. F. H. McCutcheon, president of the State College Chapter of Sigma Xi.

Installation exercises were held in the College YMCA Monday afternoon. State College's 55-page petition for a chapter was read by Dr. McCutcheon, who pointed out that State College has 75 members of Sigma Xi and that original investigation is now in progress on 221 vital subjects in the plant, animal, physical, and the social sciences in the college laboratories and experimental stations.

Presentation of the official charter and the installing address were made by Dr. George A. Baitsell, national secretary of Sigma Xi and head of Yale University's Department of Zoology. Dr. Baitsell paid high tribute to State College's achievements in scientific research and declared that the college had been "unduly modest" in recording its scientific progress. He said that the institution deserved a chapter of Sigma Xi long ago.

Dr. Cummings accepted the charter and made the response for the petitioning group. An academic procession preceded the installing functions.

Col. John W. Harrelson, State College's dean of administration, described the granting of the chapter to State College as a "very important occasion" and renewed his pledge to the installing officers to support the college staff to advance to "higher levels of research."

In his charge to the chapter, Dr. Faust said that the organization offered members a "real opportunity" to do original creative work toward the "mastery of the physical world" and that the purposes should be "a cause of inspiration and helpfulness to young minds."

Forty leading educational institutions from every section of the nation sent congratulatory messages to State College yesterday on its new honor.

Following the installation, a reception was held at the residence of Col. and Mrs. John W. Harrelson. Those in the receiving line were: Col. and Mrs. Harrelson,

Coach Leaves After Seven Years Service

Lt. Towery Now Heads Public Relations For Military Department

First Lt. Eugene S. Towery, Jr., has been made public relations officer for the State College Department of Military Science and Tactics succeeding First Lt. George K. Quinney, who has been transferred to Camp Crowder, Mo., it was announced yesterday by Col. Douglas N. McMillin, commanding officer of all army activities at State College.

Lt. Towery, a veteran of the North African Campaign, was graduated from State College in 1941. He entered active service in September, 1941, and was assigned to the 9th Division at Fort Bragg.

Aero Society Initiates Nine New Members

Nine new members were initiated into the North Carolina State College student chapter of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences recently. All but two of the new men are basic students in Aero Engineering.

The Institute arranges discussions on various factors affecting the field of aviation and sponsors the appearance of lecturers. It also encourages the development of initiative and fosters the advancement of professional standards.

New members initiated were F. L. Swartzberg, High Point, N. C.; J. P. Turner, Greenville, N. C.; H. C. Wroton, Norfolk, Va.; A. B. King, St. Pauls, N. C.; J. Frank King, Leaksville, N. C.; J. R. Edwards, Wilmington, N. C.; W. A. Cox, Franklinton, N. C.; W. J. Adams, Statesville, N. C.; and George R. Greene, Orlando, Fla.

No Successor Named As Yet; Athletic Council To Decide At Meeting May 13

State College will be losing a valuable member of its faculty on June 1 when Head Coach "Doc" Newton leaves this campus to assume the coaching duties of the University of South Carolina, the scene of his intercollegiate athletic accomplishments.

For the past twelve years Newton has been coaching at a Big Five school. Before succeeding Hunk Anderson at this institution in 1937 he was head mentor at Davidson College. Prior positions include Birmingham Southern, Howard, and Tennessee.

Newton was an outstanding participant in two major sports at South Carolina in 1915 and 1916 as he won honors both on the gridiron and the diamond.

During the first World War he served as a Captain in the Army. Following the signing of the peace, "Doc" joined the pitching staff of the Baltimore nine of the International League and later played with many of the Southern Association teams.

His coaching career was launched at Jones Valley High School and from there he moved to Birmingham Southern to assume his first collegiate coaching position.

Soon after Newton moved to State there was considerable improvement in State College teams, and as each year passed they seemed to be getting better and better until, of course, the draft and other such agencies began to play havoc with the players. It was a difficult situation, indeed, that Newton was faced with last fall when he was called upon to form a grid team out of recruits that had never even participated in intercollegiate athletics before. But utilizing the material at hand he compiled a squad that was a pleasant surprise to many State fans, although the schedule was just as tough as it had been in the years in which the college enrollment was 2,500.

Newton stated, "South Carolina has a Navy program, and the Navy is interested in carrying on sports. I feel that the South Carolina position provides a better opportunity for carrying on my work."

Said Professor H. A. Fisher, head of the Athletic Council, on hearing of Newton's move, "State College is an Army school whose trainees are not permitted to participate in intercollegiate athletics. Also it is not known whether 4-F students will be allowed to remain in college; therefore, sports at State are uncertain for the remainder of the emergency. Coach Newton knows all these facts and has decided not to be a candidate for re-election. His material should be much better at South Carolina.

"He is recognized on the campus as a competent coach, a man of highest principles, and a person of wholesome influence on student life. His leaving is a matter of regret to his many friends at State, and they wish him well in his new position."

Although Coach Newton will be allowed to choose his staff, he has

Don't Give Up

Many students who are faced with the prospect of going into service soon seem to think that there is no use in trying to get full credit for their last term's work.

Such an attitude is entirely wrong. There is even more reason for prodigious and concentrated study in the case of a prospective serviceman because by absorbing everything he can while he is in school the student can be better able to give the best possible service to his country.

This war is far removed from the plodding wars of the foot-soldier. A modern army holds technical knowledge at a premium, and this is the proper place to gain such knowledge.

The highest authorities have urged students to remain in school as long as possible and to get as much benefit as possible from their college courses, however short they may be. So how about it, fellows . . . ?

GLEANINGS

Could someone tell us why certain residents of Watauga Estate ALWAYS bowl on WEDNESDAY night? Of course, the women's league bowls that nite, but that would shed no light on our question. What about it, Horne? The doll with the good looking bowling (?) form is named Jean. . . . The stately and solid (?) walls of Watauga give with another bit of news. 'Tis said by those who know (the Shadow knows) that Kilpatrick found his sheets, blankets, et cetera all tied up when he returned t'other night. Ah, yes, the once peaceful Watauga has all the horse-play of a frosh dorm, now.

Correction: The staff's botanical wizard reports that either he made a mistake or he was misquoted. Those beautiful white trees at Meredith are CHERRY trees. If cherry trees grow at the Peach Farm and Dagwood trees bloom at the Convent, what the heck is the score now in the last part of the first half of the third paragraph? Pass the cartareese calculator with the extra franifate, slide and perchance we can figure this thing out. . . . The caucus at the "Greeks" thinks that certain "big boys" on the athletic commission should be happy now that Doc Newton has resigned voluntarily (???) . . . But the feelings of students don't count in such matters—Ours not to reason why; ours but to do or die.

The campus publications had quite a little blow-off Friday night. Glad to hear that the Agromeck was getting along toward the finish line. Now to the more important phase of the affair. Editor Fowler brought along Martha—not surprising (Bet that don't get by Bismark's pencil). St. Mary's evidently had a break that night—three escaped to the S&W. Even Termite shanghai'd a skirt. Coble and his Agromeck staff weren't doing badly. Sorry to bore you dear readers with dirt about the staff, but they had failed to pay their hush money for April, and business is business.

The worthy men of Gold make an impression every sunny Sunday afternoon when they bring their chairs out to review the trek to Pull-in-an-Park. We agree that there is a lot to see, but things look even better down at the duck pond. . . . Some say that Bunk loves the colonel only for his rank. We think that she put on a right merry chase long before his promotion. . . . Who were the other two wolves that had "such a good time" with those three certain Belles, Hobbs? We bet that there were at least three more campused quail at St. Mary's last week-end.

Speaking of going places reminds us of a snazzy spot convenient to the college. The place? It's the Blue Room at the Town House! Restricted to couples it provides a mecca to carry that date if you want to dine or dance.

SHARPS and FLATS

By HOWARD KADEN

There has been a complete slump in the new recorded releases for the past seven days, and I know that many people are hoping to see the situation remedied in the very near future. One record that I did hear, though, is a recent release of Dick Haymes' on the Decca Black Label. One side contains a swell rendition of "Home," and on the reverse is "If You Were the Only Girl." He is accompanied by the Song Spinners, who do a very good job of accompaniment. "Home" is done in a very sentimental manner, full of the flowery descriptions that are always appearing in songs of that type.

When I was in New York recently, I had the opportunity of hearing some of the good bands that are featured there. One band that was outstanding was that of Jerry Wald's, who is playing at the Hotel New Yorker. When Wald first came into the limelight, many people said that his popularity would be short-lived. He has shown us that they were mistaken, and now has one of the best bands in the business. One thing that impressed the public most was his clarinet playing, which was strikingly similar to that of Artie Shaw. It was rumored that he had purchased all of Shaw's arrangement when the latter went into the service. Many times, an untrained person was unable to distinguish between the two. Now, however, all that has changed. Although at certain times his tone sounds a little like Shaw's, his arrangements are original and very good. His band, like most bands of today, is composed chiefly of discharged men, 4-F's, and boys that are under draft age. The music they play is excellent.

Another outfit that I had the pleasure of "digging" was the small jazz band that is featured at Nick's in Greenwich Village. "The Village," as it is so fondly called by its inhabitants, is the home of numerous small bands. Such night clubs as The Village Vanguard, The Place, and Nicks hold continuous jam sessions. All the famous jazzmen, such as Coleman Hawkins, Roy Eldridge, Pe Wee Russel, Mugsy Spanier, and countless others flock there to play the music they love. It is not unusual to see and hear them play "Honeysuckle Rose" for a full forty minutes, and stop only long enough to light up a cigarette. When these men play, not a note of music can be seen. What they play comes out of their heads on the spur of the moment. It is truly pure jazz, and all the record companies are digging through their files, trying to find old masters of the records recorded in the "Roaring Twenties," when jazz was at its height. Go to any record shop, and there you will find albums by Louis Armstrong, Benny Goodman, and Fletcher Henderson. They are the best you can buy.

A Greek Speaks

By FRED PAGE

Once more we venture to stick our head in the office door as the mighty Fowler roars. Where's the blank, blank, blank, etc., is that blank ad layout? Where's my pencil? Who stole my typewriter? Where's Dean Cloyd? . . . these and many more fill the slightly ah ah ah . . . polluted air of the office. So we sit down to try to make the best of the existing conditions and peck out the stuff anyway. And why? . . . nobody ever reads it anyway. See you're all by yourself.

At last, the primary candidate for "All Campus Moron" has been found. Students and others were surprised Saturday morning to see one Bill "God's gift to ETC" Lee gleefully dangling his toes in a mud puddle back of Tompkins Hall. They must really be feeding those boys at the PIKA house potent food these days. Speaking of food and stuff, we wonder how the ALT's Wave party came out Saturday nite. If things went as planned it should have really been fun.

The boys on Horne, or rather some of them, were quite stupefied Friday night upon being selected as the objects of a good old-fashioned egg throw. Michie escaped that ultimate state of goeyness by about three feet. Better luck next time. Coldhard is being seen these days at the awfulest times. One o'clock is definitely not the time to WALK, boy.

Jak "Call me transfer, boy," the fair-haired chile of the Sig Eps, is really leading a hard life these days. Seems that he is somewhat adverse to the idea of jumping off a springboard and landing on his back. It also seems that he needs sleep, and, wonder of wonders, he is not on the Dean's black list anymore. Never fear, we feel safe in predicting that h will again take his rightful position at the head of the list, and soon. Is it true that the SPE's looked remarkably worn out after visiting Albemarle? We can well imagine why. And then there's the one about the little red-head who kept on traveling. Luck to him.

The Sigma Pi's are still at it. But it's becoming unbearable. Not content with poluting their own bodies and souls, they now are fixing up their young and innocent neighbors. Witness the rather sad plight of "Booby" Jones, Sunday, the morning after. Also witness the sad shape of one freshly cleaned and pressed suit that same morn. Horrible state of affairs. What's this about the red punch Saturday night? Let us hope not. And 'tis said that the Club Fifteen, "Club Fifteen," Club Fifteen, or Club 15 is to be entertained by said sad sacks Friday night. Should be worth a visit. Yes.

If you have read this far, you might as well go on. It can't be worse. At last we come to that little monument to Dix Hill, THE Burlington boy. Ah, yes, Spring IS here. Little "Call Me Commissioned" Gnat of the Delta Sig house should really be put away, yes, far away. Swimming in Ag. Hill pool, draping underwear on the flag pole, and wearing uniforms at the wrong times are really feats that only a—only a—we don't know what would do. Yep, if we only had about three more like him, we would really have everything that Carolina has.

On Sports Front

By DON SAPP

A congenial stranger stopped us several days ago and began to inquire about the name and purpose of the new buildings erected within the last four or five years. After the questions were answered, the stranger introduced himself as Chubby Dean.

Chubby is a pitcher for the Cleveland Indians. He starred in baseball at Duke in the late '30's. After leaving Duke, he reported to Connie Mack's A's.

He stated that it was his intention to come to State and take an agricultural course but he could not get an athletic scholarship here. Since Duke is liberal toward all athletes, Dean went there. Therefore, State lost a very good athlete. We might add that Duke gives baseball scholarships as well as ones in football. If the Wolfpack Club desires to see potent teams in sports other than football at State, then they had better "get on the ball."

From Here and There

Bob Edwards is the only State athlete to participate in three major sports this year. . . . The last golf team at State was in '39 and was coached by "Doc" Newton. . . . Prof. W. N. Hicks of the ethics and religion department coached three championship wrestling teams in five years at State. Carolina suffered a most embarrassing 27-0 defeat at home by one of his teams.

Ray Rex is one of the greatest all-around athletes to ever enroll at State College. A decade ago the 215-pounder was a star in football, basketball, baseball, and track.

Reports have it that State will not play Carolina and Duke in football next fall—good business. . . . "Ace" Parker is supposed to have received quite a sum of money while performing gridiron feats for Duke. From the same reliable Mr. "X," we learned that Vic Sorrell, who pitched for Wake Forest and later for the Detroit Tigers, got over $2,000 in one year for hurling college ball. Sorrell was a tremendous drawing card in scholastic competition.

Carolina still hasn't picked a football coach. There is no doubt that they would rather have Carl Snavely back than anyone. . . . Buck Sutton is working in a defense plant in Detroit. The huge fullback says that he is through with football. We wonder if he'll feel the same when the next football season rolls around.

Terrors Drop Loop Game To Carolina

The Red Terrors were soundly trounced in Chapel Hill by Carolina last Monday. It was a "blue Monday" indeed for Coach Newton's youngsters as they lost 24-1.

Wilson and Humphrey were rapped for 18 hits by the hard-hitting Tar Heels. With the aid of loose fielding and base on balls, Carolina had little difficulty shoeing runs across the plate. The Heels collected most of their tallies in two big innings, the fourth and seventh when they scored ten and six runs respectively.

State's lone marker came in the second frame. Bob Wood belted a triple over the right fielder's head and came across on a passed ball. In all, the Terrors got six hits.

Crocker received credit for the win and Wilson was charged with the loss.

On Saturday Coach Newton and his diamond nine journey to Durham to meet Duke for the first time this season.

PiKA, SPE, and Fifth Dorm Only Undeclared Nines; Track Meet To Be Held Soon

Last Friday in the dormitory bracket, Fifth dorm. scored a 5-2 triumph over their rivals in Watauga. Fifth took an early lead by scoring a run in the first and then again in the third. However, Watauga came back in their half of the third with two runs to tie the score at two all. In the fifth inning, Fifth dorm. scored three runs by a combination of two hits and an error to put the ball game on ice. Longest hits of the day were triples by Howell and Seay respectfully for each side. Howell and Horne were the batteries for Watauga, while Griffin and Branscomb did the pitching and receiving for Fifth.

In a slow ball game last Monday on Freshman Field, Watauga nosed out a hard fighting Fourth Dormitory team 6-5. Watauga held a 6-2 lead going into the sixth inning, and managed to hold this lead in spite of the threat that Fourth put on near the end. Fancy fielding was plentiful that day with Martin and Young turning in outstanding performances for both sides. Woodlief was on the mound for Fourth with Thompson doing the catching, while Howell and Sharpe handled the batteries for Watauga.

The PKA's made it three in a row last Wednesday when they beat a tough ALT team 6-5. It was a real pitcher's battle going into the last inning, but the ALT's knocked across three runs to take a 5-1 lead. The PKA's came back in their half and chased five big runs across the plate to win the game 6-5. Leading swatters for the day were Culp and Lee for the victors, while for the losers Moore and Nackos collected the most hits. Batteries were Culp and Tharrington for PKA, and Roger and Urash for ALT.

made no announcement as yet concerning his assistants in the new position.

There was no other change in the State's coaching staff mentioned with the announcement of Newton's decision. Well informed circles seem to think that "Doc's" successor will be chosen from the men who have been serving on the coaching staff this year. "Farmer" Johnson seems, at this time, to be the leading candidate for the position.

Newton will assume his duties on June 1, and practice will begin for the Gamecocks after the June examinations.

Professor Fisher stated further that no action on naming a successor will be taken until the Athletic Council holds its meeting on May 13. Because of the uncertainty about 4-F students it is not absolutely known that there will be a grid team next year although plans are being made now for one.

Coach Newton's contract expired last December but the Council voted to renew it until June 1 and stated that Newton and any other applicants would be considered at the May meeting.

Since December he has been serving as head baseball coach and has been helping both the ASTP and Aircrew physical training program.

There is a great deal of sorrow and regret among the students because of Newton's decision to assume the new post. As the fellows with whom he worked will agree, he was a fine coach and an even finer man. State College was indeed fortunate to have had his services for seven years, and we wish him many winning teams at the University of South Carolina.

The Lambda Chi's had a field day last Thursday when they trounced Pi Kappa Phi 24-7. Almost every player hit safely for the Lambda Chi's and the scoring was heavy in several innings. Daniels and Burleson did the pitching and receiving for Pi Kappa Phi while Oatman and Carter took care of mound and receiving duties for Lambda Chi.

Sigma Chi took Sigma Pi into camp Monday by chalking up an 11-6 win. The Sigma Chi team put on rallies in the second and third innings that netted enough runs to beat the boys from Sigma Pi. Colhard and Howard collected most hits for the Sigma Chi's while Poole and Frazier were the leading hitters for Sigma Pi. Batteries for the game were Snyder and Monroe for Sigma Pi and Geluso and Cole for Sigma Chi.

The ALT's took a fast ball game from Pi Kappa Phi on Tuesday by a score of 9-4. For the first few innings it looked like a close ball game as indicated by the score. However the ALT's exploded in the last two innings, scoring seven runs to win the ball game. Leading hitters for the winners were Hefernan and Roger, while Reed and Daniels collected the most safeties for Pi Kappa Phi.

Battle talk!

Battle Talk! . . . that is what he handles on this portable switchboard. Close behind our advancing troops, he holds the life lines of men in combat. Through these lines, flow reports from outposts, orders from command posts—helping to win objective after objective on the road to Victory, Home and Peace.

As the nation's largest producer of electronic and communications equipment for war, Western Electric is supplying vast quantities of telephone and radio apparatus for use on land, at sea and in the air. Many college graduates—both men and women—are playing important roles in this vital work.
