Translation Bureau Suggested To Aid Perpetual World Peace

Old Clothes Drive

Plans were formulated for the collection of clothing and shoes for the needy of Raleigh at a dinner meeting of student leaders in the State College dining hall Friday, Dec. 1.

Arrangements were made by Secretary Ed S. King of the College YMCA, who appointed a number of students to canvass the dormitories and fraternity houses for gifts of wearing apparel. The clothing drive is conducted on the campus annually in cooperation with the Raleigh Family Service Society.

Officials of the Raleigh Juvenile Court have requested the assistance of the students in providing Christmas gifts to 20 children in homes of correction in the city, and ways of helping these children were also outlined at the dinner meeting.

FLASH!

Dr. John Harold Lampe, dean of engineering at the University of Connecticut, has accepted the post of dean of the School of Engineering at State College.

Scientists Honor Two High School Students

Honorary memberships in the American Association for the Advancement of Science have been awarded to Phyllis B. Riley of Needham Broughton High School and Lacy High of Hugh Morson High School, it was announced recently by Dr. M. F. Buell of State College, chairman of high school committee of the North Carolina Academy of Science.

Dr. Buell said that the awards were made for the work of the two students in the advancement of science in their scholastic work.

Horace Loftin of Beaufort won first place in the Biological Exhibit contest, one of the several contests conducted by the academy. Loftin's collection of seaweeds, which is now on display at the State Museum, was the winning entry. Lacy High was awarded second prize, and the third prize went to Betty Peirson, Nell Rankin, and Anna Black, all of Needham Broughton, for an insect collection.

U. of Chicago Profs Propose Unit for NCS

Work of the State College Translation Service in making available foreign scientific and cultural data to hundreds of people has led to the suggestion that an international translation bureau be inaugurated as a part of the world organization for the perpetuation of peace.

University of Chicago officials, headed by John T. McNeill, made the suggestion to Dr. L. E. Hinkle, head of the Department of Modern Languages and director of the State College Translation Service. Dr. Hinkle said that the proposal was being given consideration and, if adopted, would be helpful in fostering good will among the countries of the world, Dr. Hinkle stated.

The international agency, according to the proposal, would serve as a clearing house for the translation of literature and technical data valuable in educational, research, and scientific work.

Dr. Hinkle announced yesterday that the State College Translation Service has completed the translation of 53 publications, ranging from chemistry and nutritional subjects to colonial architecture, during the past year.

Total number of translations completed and deposited since the inception of the service is 469. Copies of the translated material have been deposited in the State College Library, the Library of the United States Department of Agriculture, and American Documentation Institute. Copies with the Institute are available through microfilm.

The College Translation Service has taken the added responsibility of carrying on the business correspondence between the college and Latin American students, who apply for admittance into State College.

The war slowed down the amount of material reaching the college from foreign countries, but recently a considerable amount of data has been received through Portugal and North Africa, Dr. Hinkle said.

During the past year subject matter has been translated for Boston University, Northwestern University, the University of Minnesota, Pennsylvania State College, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the Mellon Institute (Continued on Page 4)

Distinguished Flying Cross Given Alumnus

Award of Distinguished Flying Cross "for extraordinary achievement in aerial flight in the Mediterranean area and China," to 1st Lieutenant Frank W. Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Morris, 413 Harvie Ave., Gastonia, N. C., has been announced by Maj. Gen. Howard C. Davidson, Commanding General, Tenth Air Force, AC.

He participated in the North African invasion, Tunisian, Panflierian, Sicilian and Italian campaigns before coming to the China-Burma-India theater where a squadron was first given the job of protecting the advance B-29 superfortress bases in China.

Besides the DFC, Lt. Morris, who has been nicknamed "Red" by his buddies, also holds the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf clusters and is credited with 80 combat missions during his 19 months of overseas service. He was graduated from Gastonia high school and the Columbia Military Academy, and attended East Carolina Teachers College and North Carolina State College.

Freshman Officers

R. L. Benton of Apex was elected president of the Freshman Class at State College at a class meeting held recently, it was announced.

Dean of Students E. L. Cloyd. Representatives from the class the Student Council were elected follows: G. F. Brummitt of Winston-Salem, representing the school of Engineering; Roberson Eeman, Jr., of Winston-Salem, representing freshmen from the school of Agriculture; and L. M. Edwards, Jr., of Big Stone Gap, Va., representing the School of Textiles and the Division of Teacher-Training.

Social Problems Will Have To Be Solved By This Generation

"You in this generation face the stupendous task of solving the social problems existing before the war began and the problems that have been added as a result of the war," declared the Rev. Walter B. Freed of Wilmington, in the opening address last Friday night at the twenty-first annual conference of the Southeastern Region of the Lutheran Student Association in America.

Approximately 70 delegates, representing three states and 15 educational institutions, attended the conference which was opened in the State College YMCA.

Speaking on the subject, "Social Aspects of Reconstruction," the Rev. Mr. Freed said that war had not solved the social problems such as malnutrition, race relations, unemployment, and bad housing and that additional handicaps were facing the youth of the world.

"Now is no time to stick our heads in the sands—ostrich-like," he said, but Christians must work "to fulfill their moral responsibilities in the spirit of Christ."

"Christians," the speaker stated, "have a rendezvous with destiny," and must maintain faith in Jesus Christ and the Christian way of life.

The minister listed two approaches to solving social problems as state paternalism and Christian principles. He declared that "paternalism in lieu of the benevolences of God" would lead to a misconception of values, a form of enslavement, and a breakdown of the moral fiber of the people of the world.

Delta Sigs Observed Founders Day Friday

The Rho Chapter of Delta Sigma Phi held its annual Founders Day Banquet Friday night, December 1, at the Woman's Club. It has, in the past, been a tradition to hold the banquet on December 10, but due to the conflict with examinations at State the date was moved up.

After dinner speeches were made by Dr. W. J. Eiteman, head of Economics at Duke University and the featured speaker; Mr. H. K. Witherspoon of Raleigh, chapter advisor; Jimmy Henderson, president of the Duke chapter; and Ed (Continued on Page 4)

Christmas Program

Mrs. Charles G. Doak of Raleigh gave several famous readings about Christmas as the feature of the annual Yuletide program for State College students at the College YMCA Thursday, November 30.

The Rev. Newton J. Robison, pastor of the Hillyer Memorial Christian Church, led in group singing, and Mrs. J. T. Lynn was the pianist.

The College YMCA, cooperating with the Raleigh Family Service Society, inaugurated a drive for clothing and shoes for the needy of Raleigh at the meeting.

...Greetings...

The entire staff of The Technician and the staff of the College Print Shop take this opportunity of expressing best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. May God bless us all, make us victorious quickly over our enemies, and let those in the service soon return home. Then joy will indeed be ours!

Racialism

(Excerpts from the recent address on "Racialism and the Rights of Persons" by Rev. Dr. Wilfrid Parsons, S. J., professor of sociology and politics, Catholic University of America, before the Catholic University Forum.)

Racialism violates the obligation of the common good, which is the basis of the state, its ends and foundation. By its very nature this common good has the same qualities of universality and equality as natural human rights. When, therefore, some members of the community are systematically excluded from the enjoyment of the common good, the common good itself is destroyed. This is what Lincoln meant when he said that this nation could not exist half-slave and half-free. The same is true of other denials of human rights, for by them the very notion of community is denied.

Racialism violates the obligation of law. It subverts the natural law which is the law of God as discovered in human nature by human reason. In the United States it violates the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, and the Amendments; it violates the state laws, and the decisions of the courts. Every civilized nation, before Germany changed that, had in its fundamental law a Bill of Rights, universal and equal.

Racialism violates an obligation of intellect. It is heresy, biological, historical, philosophical and theological. Indeed, it destroys reason itself, it never reasons, and rarely pretends to. Even when it rationalizes, it abandons logic and thus lands itself in absurdities and contradictions.

Racialism violates an obligation of conscience. The universal law of charity preached by Christ in the Gospels, and enforced by St. Paul in his Epistles, is the general fundamental law of the Christian Church. To be guilty of racialism in the sense I have described it, is to transgress this law, whether it is in theory or practice that is espoused, for it means to except from that universal law certain of God's creatures on grounds which were the soul result of God's providence. It also violates another law, which does not come to us through revelation, but from the natural law itself; I mean the law of justice. Since natural human rights are universal and all men equally possess them, it is a sin against justice to deny that universality and equality and to also carry that denial into acts.—ACP.

GLEANINGS

Well, maybe it was a dead week-end and maybe it wasn't. All I know is what I get from snooping in the gutter. You can usually pick up some pretty good dirt (coincidence, I assure you) that way. . . . The ALT USO Club was in full swing this week and was filled (ask Nackos) with marines, male and female. But since I went to bed at 3 o'clock I didn't see much of them. . . . It seems that Lard (the P&W slicker) is doing mighty well with men(?) since her Monogram Dance debut. By the way, Lard, how's the marine private? Neglected? . . . NOTE: Any threats to this author by co-eds, especially those threatening to squeeze said author to death other than emotionally, will be printed and naturally ignored.

Inside tip to the wise . . . be prepared for anything to bust loose next term. "Gangbusters" is likely to seem like a synagogue on Sunday morn compared to the dear State College campus when D. A. Bob M. of Fourth Dorm fame gets really hot on the trail of the grafters, corrupt politicians, and all that rot immediately after the next term begins.

What young lady, a co-ed, naturally—we might even say a P & W gal if we really wished to identify her, has acquired the habit of draping her nice (we bet), new, (and shiny) black . . . ah, we should say unmentionables but knowing us you expect it . . . so we'll say nice, new, black panties on the back of a certain soldier, and on Sunday night, too. Our spy in those quarters says that the unmentionables didn't even belong to said young lady. They were the rather personal property of the young lady who just had a birthday last Sunday . . . and did she blush when she discovered the whereabouts of her most prized possession.

And what young man who was recently dubbed as a successor to last year's famous "Travelers" has a rather large grudge against one "Ferd" Page? It seems that he didn't like a dig published in this rag. . . . Latest slogan of sports writers: It's a bird; it's a plane; it's TURNER!

Well, we'll stop this dribble since you fellows have been pretty successful in keeping your scandalous actions under cover (now what have I gone and said that is wrong?).

Signed,
DICK KENNISON, et al.

Pratt & Whitney Fellows

The term is ending . . . and we are too, or will be at the end of next week. Finals always were worse than a dose of castor oil to take. You can at least hold your nose where the castor oil is concerned. Any suggestions as to how to handle finals will be duly appreciated.

As of this Thursday night we are tagged, but definitely by Pratt and Whitney . . . they gave us all some pretty snazzy identification bracelets complete with name, "rank and serial number," just added precaution in case we're lost, strayed, or stolen . . . we do get lost occasionally, but as to this strayed or stolen business . . . who knows?

"Learn by experience" the saying goes. One of our gals spent two weeks flirting, more or less deliberately, with a Warrant Officer in the cafeteria, only to find out that he's engaged and very much so. The part that hurts is that he flirted back. Oh!! MEN!!! To quote, they are what women marry, coming in three packages—prizes, surprises, and consolation prizes. AMEN!

The ranks are decreasing. Betty Black and Marrianna Sherrill are leaving at the end of this term. Betty will soon be adding the mate to that left hand ring, and at this particular time there is no comment from Marrianna.

It would be interesting to call Mary Northcott one of these days to get her opinion of exams. She has turned literary and produced quite a masterpiece on the subject . . . phone number will be furnished upon request.

We'll be glad to see Christmas vacation, only it doesn't last long enough. Kathy & Kay are going to Washington, Kay to see her mother (we've heard that before), and Kathy . . . well, that Lt. Col. is good competition for the Marine Corps in any man's language.

So . . . to bring this mess to a subtle close, we'll say something new and in our own feeble way wish you all a Merry Christmas . . .

THE GHOST WHO COULDN'T WALK.

WHY GRANDPA STAYED UP CHRISTMAS NIGHT

The Wind Blows and so does YEHUDI

We been hearing a lot lately. Lots of things have been going on that we haven't heard, but from the looks of things, we haven't missed much; wait up, we had better retract that . . . looks as if we missed the WHOLE boat.

The PiKA's tell us that they really had a real Friday night social one day last week. Sociability definitely appears to be their dish. More power to them. . . . We, too, hear that the Sig's shindig was a definite success . . . more power to them too.

Speaking of more power to people and things, McConnaughey, the pride and joy of both Red Springs and Delta Sig, has really been getting around these past weeks. As we hear it, he completely went wild about a certain blond visitor a couple of Sundays ago. We hear that he vowed that he would have even gone home (Henderson) with said femme, that is, if he had been the most fortunate possessor of the necessary two bucks for the return trip. . . . We just heard that our wee Dickie Gant has been rechristened "Casanova" by one Dot Crowder . . . wonder why? Getting back to pal McConnaughey, we also understand that he journeyed into the wilds of Guilford College sometime in the immediate past to see one Lovey "Me"Right . . . and did she. . . .

We hear that the Sig's Ball was also the occasion for more angels (?) from west, west Raleigh to have late liberty for the week-end. From all we can gather, the Sir Walter wasn't big enough to house the whole crowd . . . we don't wonder . . . Walter Harper also got a phone call sometime that night . . . we know darn well that that call would have made some most interesting listening. Maybe next time. . . . How many people saw "Beau-Brummel" (the dash is ours) Boney in the Canton last Sunday? And how many of those saw "his" gal . . . she looked wonderful, as always, but . . .

Question of the week is: has Ivey Collins talked himself out of that situation at Meredith by now? If not, may we suggest a brief session with Dean Dade . . . might prove interesting, Ivey . . . we don't know but we certainly do have our ideas . . . and so does he. After looking over the program of the Meredith Little Theater's production of last week, the thought occurred to us that maybe the good Baptist brethren got slightly mixed up when they proposed to merge Meredith with the Demon Deacs. Probably they really meant State all the time.

The campus by now should know the story of Zeb G. (you ask about that) Little's rather sudden bath last Monday night. 'Twas quite a sight to see . . . Little completely submerged in a tub of icy aqua . . . maybe he needed it.

What's this we hear about a PAC in the dorms . . . could be that "clear it with Cahill" will be the saying soon . . . who knows. . . also, who were, from where did they come, and why, did the three Waves decide to visit the ALT house last Saturday. . . . Maybe Charlie has more S. A. than we imagined . . . quite possible. We are inclined to wonder just where this place can be . . . we mean the place at which George Connor is always losing his money . . . Take our advice and steer clear of that boy . . . Yo'all might lose yo' dough, but quick. Happy Exam week!!!!

Howard Turner Picked For All-Southern Team

Howard Turner, State's swivel-hipped back, has won All-Southern recognition by being chosen for the 1944 Associated Press All-Southern Conference football team, which has been selected annually for the last 19 years on the basis of votes by coaches and sports writers of the Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and District of Columbia area.

Several times Turner has been mentioned as a likely candidate for this honor, and his selection is no great surprise. As a hard-running, skillful ground gainer, he has won the fans' admiration and praise in every clash of the colorful Wolf-pack. Paul Gibson has been a very dependable end, especially in the potent aerial offense, and Zickefoose earned his berth largely by his effective kicking.

Dorm & Frat All-Star Grid Teams Chosen

The league-winning Sigma Chi's shared top honors with the Sig Ep's and PiKA's on the All-Campus Fraternity touch football team, selected by game officials from the athletic department. Each of these teams placed two men on the list of stars. 3rd Bagwell, North Watauga, and South Watauga led the dormitory loop, also placing two men each.

Two separate teams representing each circuit were selected because the lack of direct competition made an accurate choice of a single All-Campus team almost impossible.

Sleepy Perry, who was chosen for the fraternity quarterback position, has been a favorite of the spectators with his fighting spirit and fine passing form. The swift little Willie Evans landed a place at right halfback with his extraordinary speed. Walner of Sigma Chi caught several sensational passes during the season and was subsequently picked for right end.

Passing Campaigns Feature Of Big Game

Review of Southern Collegiate Sports

By C. A. DILLON

As the 1944 football season fades out of the picture, we wish once more to add our praise to the fine edition of State's 1944 football squad. With a number of the players returning next year, Coach Feathers should produce a much better team.

The fall intramural season is over and the coveted fraternity football championship has been won by Sigma Chi for the second straight year. They beat PiKA 6-0 in the fraternity finals. This was the first meeting between the two teams this year, but last year they met twice during the season—the Sigs winning both games by that same score, 6-0. . . . 3rd Bagwell should be commended for their fine play in the dormitory league. . . .

Fraternity Team
 RE—WALNER, Sigma Chi
 RG—HOWARD, Sigma Chi
 C—BURTON, Delta Sig.
 LG—MERRITT, PIKA
 LE—HARPER, SPE
 RH—EVANS, Lambda Chi
 LH—WADE, PIKA
 FB—MONROE, Sigma Pi
 QB—PERRY, SPE

Dormitory Team
 RE—WHITE, 3rd Bagwell
 RG—FOGLEMEN, 2nd Bagwell
 C—WOODLEY, S. Watauga
 LG—FRANCIS, N. Watauga
 LE—HAMILTON, S. Watauga
 RH—LYNCH, N. Welch
 LH—WILSON, Berry
 FB—HODUL, 3rd Bagwell
 QB—STEWART, N. Watauga

The mighty 3rd Bagwell football nine ended an undefeated season by whipping a spunky Sigma Chi outfit 13 to 6. This was the first game the Sigma Chi's have lost in two years of intramural football, and the first time in many years a dormitory team has been champions. Due to a well organized passing offensive the dormitory team experienced no difficulty in winning this championship tilt.

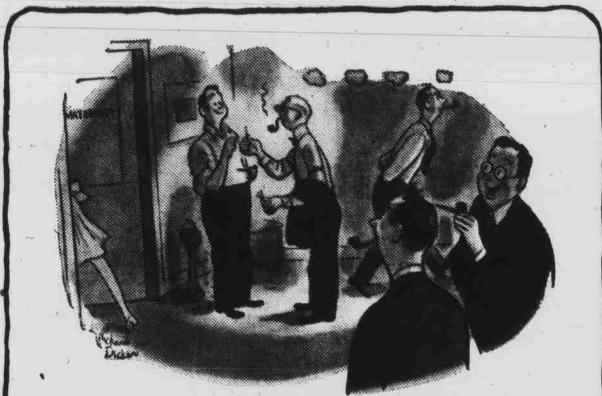

The Sigs took the opening kickoff but lost the ball at mid-field on a fumble before they had time to start their famed aerial attack. The Bagwellians capitalized on this early break when Hodul uncorked a long heave which fell in the hands of White just over the Sig's goal line. White lofted a short pass to Smith in the flat for the extra point.

On an exchange of punts the Bagwell team again gained possession of the ball on the mid-stripe. This time they caught the Sig backfield completely off guard with a sleeping end play. Smith, drifting down the field close to the sideline, caught a long pass from White and dashed 15 yards for a score. This time the attempt for the extra point was unsuccessful. Shortly after, the half ended during a Sig drive, with 3rd Bagwell leading by 13 to 0.

During the third quarter it was a see-saw game with no real scoring threats made by either team. Not until the closing minutes of the last quarter did the game again become exciting. The Sigs, driving deep into 3rd Bagwell territory, had the ball on the 15 yard line. Then Sewell bulletted a short pass to Colhard for the only Sigma Chi score of the game. After the conversion play failed, the game ended with the ball in the possession of 3rd Bagwell and the score 13 to 6.

The lines of both teams must be commended for the fine defensive work which caused the game to be one of almost entirely pass plays. Smith and Finney of 3rd Bagwell and Pug Howard of Sigma Chi played most outstandingly in the line. Floyd and White in the backfield sparked the winners, while Colhard starred for the losers.

The campus championship volleyball game between Welch and Lambda Chi Alpha was won by Welch by scores of 15-8, 10-15, and 15-13.
