Offices: 10 and 11 Tompkins Hall

Tony Gaeta of Staten Island, N. Y., left, and Paul Gibson of Winston-Salem have been elected co-captains of N. C. State College's 1945 Wolfpack. Gaeta, a tackle, and Gibson, an end, were valuable members of State's 1944 football team which made one of the best records ever chalked up by a State eleven.

Calling All H.A.'s; Alpha Sigma Sigma Election Time Near

Out of the ranks of the students at State College always arise several who are possessed of special characteristics that should entitle them to extraordinary honors. In order that these "outjutting" men may get all the glory that they think they deserve, the Ancient and Honorable Society of Alpha Sigma Sigma was established on the campus.

For the benefit of those who don't know the history and meaning of the society, it can be best explained by saying that the name implies some relation of the chosen student to some portion of a horse's anatomy; some scholars, however, insist that the meaning is derived from a small Biblical pack animal. In either case, the basic meaning is the same, and "a rose by any other name..." This noteworthy organization was founded at State College, but newer chapters at Dook (Continued on Page 4)

N. C. Dairy Foundation Elects George Coble

George S. Coble of Lexington has been elected president of the North Carolina Dairy Foundation, Inc., an organization to promote dairy training and research at State College, it was announced today.

The Foundation recently was chartered and plans a fund-raising campaign to enable it to aid State College in securing a larger group of highly-skilled teaching and research experts. Annual receipts from dairy products in North Carolina amount to about $46,000,000, and leaders of the industry hope to increase the annual income to $150,000,000 through the encouragement of small farmers to develop small herds of dairy cattle.

Dr. David Clark, Charlotte publisher and textile executive, who aided the dairyman in formulating plans for the Foundation, said that farmers and dairymen are needing greater amounts of technical assistance from State College experts and propose to assist the institution in enlarging its services by supplementing State funds in obtaining additional specialists.

Dr. Clark cited the work of the North Carolina Textile Foundation, Inc., which has enabled the college to employ a larger staff of trained specialists as an example of the value of the dairying and other foundations of the college for the advancement of the services of State College.

Officers, in addition to President Coble, are T. Holt Haywood of Winston-Salem and J. G. Vann of Raleigh, secretary-treasurer.

The executive committee of the Board of Directors is composed of Coble, president ex-officio; Harry B. Caldwell of Greensboro; Charles F. Cates, Mebane; S. D. Gibson, Jr., High Point; J. Milton Mangum, Raleigh; C. B. Martin, Durham; L. H. McKay, Hendersonville; Ralph H. Scott, Burlington; and George L. H. White, Raleigh. Alternate members are F. L. Holcombe of Fayetteville and C. H. Willard of High Point.

The investment committee consists of Coble, R. M. Hanes, Winston-Salem; and John Sprunt Hill, Durham.

DEAN HUDSON

Knighting of outstanding engineering students into the exalted Order of St. Patrick and the annual Engineers' Brawl will be held in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium at State College on Saturday, February 3, it was announced yesterday by Marion C. Sasser, vice president of the Engineers' Council.

Dean Hudson and his famous orchestra, including Frances Colwell, the talented and glamorous vocalist, will furnish the music for the Brawl, Sasser's announcement said. A tea dance will be held from 4 until 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Feb. 3, and a semi-formal dance will be staged Saturday night from 9 until 12 o'clock.

Dean Hudson, Florida University's gift to the world of popular music, possesses a distinctive style of rhythm and is held in high esteem by America's dancers. His fame has spread all over the nation, and the signing of his band to furnish music for the Brawl dance set is regarded as a first-class achievement.

No aggregation of music-makers in the country can boast of a more beautiful and more talented vocalist than Frances Colwell, who is Hudson's featured vocalist.

Formulation of elaborate plans for the Brawl indicate that the annual engineers' celebration may be one of the highlights of the college's social calendar.

Interviews Conducted For P&W Fellowships

Interviews were conducted at State College recently for young women from seven colleges to determine their qualifications for fellowships provided by the Pratt and Whitney Aircraft Corporation.

Prof. Robert B. Rice, executive officer of the State College Department of Mechanical Engineering and coordinator of the Pratt and Whitney fellowship program, said that the Pratt and Whitney firm was interested in obtaining technically-trained young women for positions as engineering aides at its Hartford, Conn., plants and is offering again this year fellowships valued at approximately $1,600 each to applicants meeting the specifications.

Students from the Woman's College, Greensboro College, Duke University, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Flora McDonald, Winthrop, and Queens Colleges were interviewed recently by Miss Marion Nelson, special coordinator of the Pratt and Whitney Corp. at Hartford. She was assisted by Paul Leonard of the Department of Mechanical Engineering at State College.

Successful applicants will enter State College next June to study courses prescribed in a special curriculum and will remain at the college for 12 months, Professor Rice said. Following the period of training at State, they agree to give Pratt and Whitney an option on their services for a period of one year.

The fellowships cover all tuition, fees, books, instruments, board, lodging, and laundry as well as giving monthly cash stipend. Young women with B.A. degrees or with equivalent training are eligible to submit applications for the fellowships to Professor Rice at State College.

Debate Team Holds First Meet At ASTC

The State College debate team participated in its first series of debates this year at Appalachian State Teachers College in Boone and at Lees-McRae in Banner Elk on Monday and Tuesday of last week.

Four split-team debates were held at the college in Boone—the first before the college assembly Monday morning and the others later in the day. On Tuesday the team journeyed to Banner Elk for two more debates there.

The State squad was represented on the affirmative by Leon Mann of Newport, and on the negative by D. T. Lovelace of Raleigh and Dick Worsley of Greenville. Accompanying the team was Professor Edwin H. Paget, director of debating at State. Leon Mann became the tenth State College debator in six years to receive national individual ranking when he added five votes to the three he had won previously. The other two debators, D. F. Lovelace and Dick Worsley, received four and three votes respectively. Five votes are needed to attain national ranking.

The query which the State team is using for this year is, "Resolved that congress enact legislation requiring compulsory arbitration of all labor disputes, constitutionality conceded." The Direct Clash form of debating is being used exclusively by the State debators this year.

As yet the State team has no other debates scheduled, but at least one or more will probably be (Continued on Page 4)

WINTER ENROLLMENT

Final registration figures reveal that 699 students are now enrolled at State College for the Winter term. This represents a loss of 123 from last term's enrollment of 822 students. The new summary includes a total of 85 new freshmen and returning former students.

The freshman class still makes up more than two-thirds of the student body and now totals 471 members. Other totals are: 102 sophomores, 51 juniors, and 35 seniors.

Anniversary Observed By U. N. C. In Raleigh

The 150th anniversary of the founding of the University of North Carolina was observed at a Monday night joint session of the General Assembly, with a group of speakers headed by Governor Cherry, President Clarence A. Dykstra of the University of Wisconsin, and President Frank Graham of the Greater University.

Governor Cherry, in discussing the history of the University and other state institutions, declared that the State University in America had had remarkable development which is in keeping with the needs of democracy, and declared that "the future of American institutions and of the democratic way of life rests upon an educated and informed citizenship."

The Governor stated that "if the truth shall make men free," then indeed the American state university is the vanguard of the march toward freedom.

Early Schools Denominational
Before the Revolutionary War, the Governor said, nearly all institutions of higher learning in the colonies had been denominational, but after the revolution, the states established their own public institutions, a move he described as a "long step in the direction of democracy."

Dykstra declared that "the vast system of public supported colleges and universities of the present had its humble beginning at the University which was conceived in the year of Independence, 1776, born with the founding of the Republic, 1789, and is therefore a child of the American Revolution."

President Graham of the Greater University spoke of the institution's great traditions, and said the University is carrying on and is renewing its youth "as witnessed by the national surveys which place it first in the southeast in social sciences, in the basic sciences, in folk plays, historical, literary, and economic publications, physical education, and in the number of departments qualified to give the Ph.D."

Also on the anniversary program were Victor S. Bryant of Durham, (Continued on Page 4)

Agricultural Leaders Named By Foundation

Representative Thomas J. Pearsall of Rocky Mount has been named president of the Agricultural Foundation, Inc., chartered recently to promote agricultural education and research at North Carolina State College.

Other officers are C. W. Tilson of Durham, first vice-president; Claude T. Hall of Roxboro, second vice-president; and J. G. Vann of Raleigh, secretary-treasurer.

The executive committee of the Board of Directors is composed of Rep. Pearsall, president ex-officio; Lt.-Gov. L. Y. Ballentine, Varina; Harry B. Caldwell, Greensboro; A. G. Floyd, Raleigh; Claude T. Hall, Roxboro; J. G. K. McClure, Asheville; Clarence Poe, Raleigh; S. T. Proctor, Fuquay Springs; R. Flake Shaw, Greensboro; C. W. Tilson, Durham; and T. B. Upchurch, Raeford. Alternate members are former Governor J. Melville Broughton and State Commissioner of Agriculture W. Kerr Scott.

The investment committee of the Foundation is composed of Rep. Pearsall, president ex-officio; John Sprunt Hill, Durham; C. A. Dillon, Raleigh, and W. G. Clark, Sr., Tarboro.

The Agricultural Foundation, chartered on December 28, has a charter membership of approximately 50 farm leaders of the state. It is a non-profit, charitable and educational corporation, empowered to receive donations; to purchase, lease, and otherwise acquire and hold and to sell, donate and otherwise dispose of all kinds of property, real, personal and mixed; to pay in full or to supplement the salary or salaries of any person or persons engaged in any phase of education or research in agriculture at or through State College; to donate all or any part of the equipment, materials or other facilities incident to any such education or research.

Industry and Engineering

Announcement of the $25,000 gift by the North Carolina Shipbuilding Corporation to the college's engineering foundation created much interest upon the campus. This is the largest donation yet received by the N. C. Engineering Foundation Inc., and it should prove quite a stimulus to carrying out the noteworthy objectives of this organization. The objectives, as outlined by Colonel Harrelson, are: to expand engineering research facilities at State College, to improve teaching facilities, to strengthen the college's instructional staff, and to develop a plan of engineering extension whereby the College hopes to broaden its services to industry.

We are all so proud of "alma mater" that we compare ourselves with Clemson, Ga. Tech, etc., and then sit back with satisfaction. Only occasionally do thoughts of the really great scientific achievements attract our notice and envy. Developing in industrial laboratories and on other college campuses, we read about a 200-in. telescope, cyclotrons, electronic microscopes, rocket experiments, the study of radioactive elements in the hope of utilizing electronic energy, penicillin, etc. From State College have come many notable achievements, and some of her staff have become world famous authorities in their field, but it is obvious that we are yet to fully realize our potentialities and to reach our proper place.

North Carolina now enjoys the position of being the most progressive of the southern states. Beside this, however, it has far to go before it even matches the average per capita income of the whole nation. Our state has an enviable history and tradition, a vigorous intelligent population, abundant and varied natural resources, and now, as a result of forced war savings, a tremendous capital reserve ready for investment. We are ready to throw off the shackles of a cotton economy and federal discriminations.

This school offers to the state of North Carolina its best chance to capitalize completely upon the newly discovered industrial installations and efficiencies, through advancing research information and a supply of young men with ability and determination to improve the Old North State. It can and should support a greater college. Already State's usefulness has become a byword.

GLEANINGS

Well, now that the new term is well underway and everybody has broken all their new resolutions (don't say you haven't), it looks like we're back in the old rut again. But then you never can tell what you'll find by the side of the road (rut). Soooooo!

As usual, the ALT's had quite a large week-end (from all appearances at any rate). Social life was going full blast, and the few civilians who ventured in were soon swarmed under by the avalanche of marines. Oh well, anything for the boys. They've rearranged the chapter room for much the better too (that is, the members, not the marines).

All the counts, no-counts, and dis-counts were present at the PKA rush party not so long ago. As the society column would say, "A very pleasant evening was had by all." . . . huuh! And who were the acquaintances of Bob Sanders, namely Margaret, Fady May, and Delores who suddenly appeared at the house 'tother night accompanied only by their gay accoutrements of war. Take it as you like!

It is a well known fact that the war brings many shortages, but did the war bring on a woman shortage? What about the two Sig Chi's, Dwight Waynick and Jorge (Mustachoe) Nadjar, trying to force (that could be done) "Teenie" into accompanying them "somewhere." If we could think, we might wonder. . . . And thinking of "Teenie" (we should waste our time thinking of "Teenie"), the following remark was overheard through the chapter room door of the ALT house on the night of Jan. 10: "I'm going to slap you if you do that again." Stubborn, ain't she? Or is she? . . . Must be!

And they say that our boy Gant had a nice, leisurely stroll in the mud and muck of the countryside the other night. Now what could he have been doing-away out there You guess, I know. . . . And it has finally come to pass: a preacher in a fraternity house! In fact they took over all frat houses Tuesday night and gave them some very good talks. Ummmm. Fertile ground.

The Sig Ep's are playing host to an ever increasing number of Meredith "misses" these days, or nights. Think I'll drop around. . . . And talking about Sig Ep's, Boney was seen at a recent basketball game with a femme that was sporting a very diamond-looking ring on the "right" finger. My, my! (Signed) STAFF.

Pratt & Whitney Fellows

Romance is still being brewed in our ranks. If it's like this in January we're wondering if April will be able to stand up under the strain. You've heard about people being "slap-happy," well June is "Fully"-happy, and . . . Mary! . . . she claims she's seen him but hasn't met him yet. He's a picture at present stationed in the South Pacific. Say "George" to her sometime and watch her drool. Margaret is the type of gal that every guy dreams for when he goes away. You know, the true-blue type and according to some people, the few-and-far-between type. . . . Bob has been overseas for over a year now and Maggie waits patiently on . . . and on.

Jo's roommate Teenie is a big girl now . . . she'll be "free, white and 21" in a very few days and therefore wants the rest of the world to know that she's outgrown the nickname of Teenie. It's Elizabeth from now on. . . . BUT, according to Jo, it may be Elizabeth to everyone else, but it'll always be just plain Teenie to her. While we're on the subject of Jo . . . she'd sure appreciate it if any of you fellows would like the job of getting her up in time for classes in the morning. . . . (by telephone, of co'se. . . . She sat up until the wee small hours the other morning to make a chart for Statistics and then slept through the class. As the army would say in that case . . . "Tuff."

We found out last week that we finish here on March 15 and have to report to Hartford on March 26. We may be classed as civilians, but these ten-day "vacations" we get have a faint odor and characteristic of a furlough. At any rate, we were told to report with at least four pairs of slacks, because after we get up there we go to school for about four more weeks in what is known as "engine school." They're going to try and make grease monkeys out of us by letting us tear an engine down and then put it together again.

The usual thing to do now would be to count the shopping days until Christmas . . . what is of more concern to us is the number of days before we go to Hartford . . . not that we don't like you fellows! KAY.

SHARPS & FLATS

By HOWARD
KADEN

Well, jazz fans, it has finally come out. The Esquire jazz poll has been held, and the results can now be published. The top exponents of jazz held a concert in Los Angeles' Philharmonic Auditorium on January 17. It also consisted of the whole Duke Ellington band. The personnel is as follows: Cootie Williams, trumpet; J. C. Higginbotham, trombone; Johnny Hodges, alto sax; Coleman Hawkins, tenor sax; Benny Goodman, clarinet; Teddy Wilson, piano; Al Casey, guitar; Oscar Pettiford, bass; Sid Catlett, drums; Red Norvo, vibes; Louis Armstrong and Mildred Bailey, vocals; Duke Ellington, arranger and band; and Buck Clayton, Armed Forces Favorite. These people have consistently been on the top, and here they are once again. They have been foremost in promoting good jazz, and I hope they shall continue.

Fred Waring has released two good sides. The first is "Strange Music," based on Edward Grieg's "Wedding Day in Trolldhaugen." It is currently performed in the operetta, "Song of Norway," and features the glee club with Gordon Jenkins and Jane Wilson as soloists. On the reverse is "Waltz in C Sharp Minor." In "Strange Music," Fred Waring, with an augmented orchestra and glee club, gives the song a full, rich beauty. Already high in popular acclaim, Waring's interpretation will entertain all.

Our boy, Glen Gray, is out with another. "This Heart of Mine" and his version of "Robin Hood." (What's this guy Robin got?) "This Heart of Mine" has just the right touch of sentimentality—just the right restraint, to go with soft lights and sweet music. Glen Gray's Casa Loma Orchestra makes it completely danceable with the necessary heart-throb added by lovely Eugenie Baird. Notice the rhythm beat in the string section. Coupling is a novelty about a famous bandit in "merrie olde" England—Robin Hood. Robin, you remember, was the man with a price set upon his head because he and his band of merry men made a habit of robbing the rich and giving their loot to the poor. This song recalls the story of Robin and his lady love, Maid Marian, and will help you with English Lit., 202.

With the word from Washington last Tuesday that there would be no ban on basketball tournaments, Eddie Cameron and the Southern Conference Basketball Committee will proceed with plans for the annual event, which will be played here in Raleigh at the Memorial Auditorium February 22-24. The committee, composed of Eddie Cameron of Duke, chairman, J. L. Von Glahn of N. C. State, Norman Shepherd of Davidson, Monk Younger of Virginia Tech, and Berton Shipley of Maryland, will meet in Raleigh on Sunday, February 18 to pair the eight teams which have the best record in conference competition. Duke, North Carolina, and South Carolina are the leading contenders for the title. The V-12 units at these schools offer the coaches some good material from which to pick a well rounded team.

Tonight, State is playing a return match with William and Mary at Williamsburg, Va. The Red Terrors won over the Sovereigns here last week, 58-37. Tomorrow night, the Terrors move over to College Park for a tilt with Maryland's Old Liners. If Coach Jay's boys can win these two games, they will gain undisputed possession of first place with five wins against no losses. South Carolina, currently tied for the number one position with State, will meet Clemson at Clemson tonight. The Gamecocks should have little trouble beating the Tigers. State's first real test comes next Friday night at Chapel Hill against the White Phantoms.

All students registered in Agriculture and Agricultural Education are requested to attend the Ag Club, which meets in Room 119, Withers Hall, at 7 o'clock every Thursday night.

Ivey Collins Elected Head of Tau Beta Pi

Ivey K. Collins was elected president of North Carolina Alpha of Tau Beta Pi, the national honorary engineering fraternity, at the first meeting of the year on January 9. Jerome Weyne was elected recording secretary. Only two officers were elected because of the small number of active members.

The president appointed several committee chairmen to start things moving for the new year. Nelson M. White, Jr., was appointed a committee of one to frame six life-size portraits of alumni of the chapter and to hang the pictures in the appropriate buildings. George W. Parker was appointed chairman of the social committee, and Pete Strum was appointed publicity chairman.

The chapter decided to have a dinner meeting each month and a banquet for the initiates in the near future. The pages in the Agromeck were discussed and approved, and a few matters of private business closed the meeting.

The social room in Berry Dormitory has recently been opened and Mr. Ed King of the YMCA is arranging to have it furnished with easy chairs. Earlier use of the room resulted in a fire and destruction of much of the equipment. All persons are cautioned against horseplay or carelessness while occupying it.

Any campus organizations, including the ensigns, wishing to reserve this room for a meeting are requested to contact Bill Gatlin in Room 107, Berry.

THE INTRAMURAL FRONT

Tie for Conference Lead with Gamecocks

Winning their third straight conference victory, the Red Terrors came into a tie with the University of South Carolina for first place in the Southern Conference. They defeated the Davidson Wildcats with little trouble by a score of 44 to 31. The night before this game State had been upset by Catawba and for a time it was wondered just how good a chance the Terrors had of coming out on top in this fracas. However, State got off to an early lead and kept it for the entire length of the game. The Terrors led at the half, 27 to 12.

Turner took the scoring honors with 7 field goals and 2 free throws for a total of 16 points. Richkus, improving noticeably in his shooting, tied with Lowry of Davidson for second high individual score with 12 points.

In contrast with State's other games, this one was very clean, with very few personal fouls being committed. The Terrors' next game with Davidson will be here on Feb. 8.

In State's second conference game of the season they topped William and Mary, 58-37. This was another rough and tumble affair, with several men being put out of the game because of an excess of personal fouls or because of fighting. Led by Kohler and Turner, the Red Terrors had little trouble in taking this victory.

State's next home game will be with Wake Forest on Feb. 2. Until that time we play William and Mary, Maryland, Carolina, and Duke away from home.

By BUDDY BINGENHEIMER
A fast moving combination from North Gold outclassed their North Watauga opponents 24-14 in the first intramural game of the season. After a rather slow first half, which ended in a 10-10 deadlock, N. Gold came bounding back to score 14 points while their opponents scored only four tallies. Green and David spearheaded the victor's attack with 11 and 9 points respectively. For the losers, Collins was high scorer with 6 points.

In the second game of the evening South Watauga bested the South Gold team by the score of 16-12. Bad passes and lack of experienced players slowed down both sides very much. For the Wataugas, Farmer was the top man on the score book with 10 markers to his credit while Diesel and Boston led the S. Gold attack. Another slow starting first half ended in a 6-4 verdict for the Wataugas.

In the lowest scoring game of the comparatively new basketball season the Sigma Chi's nosed out the Sigma Nu's by the slim margin of 11-10. For the victors, George Nadjar was high scorer with 6 points, while Claude Jordan led the losers fight with 4 points to his credit. In this nip and tuck battle neither team was able to lead at any time by many points.

In the last game on Monday night the PiKa's defeated the Delta Sig's by a score of 16-1. Ernest with 12 points and Dillon with 4 points were the only scorers for the PiKa's. Ernest's shots were going into the basket from all angles. It is evident that he was the main factor in the PiKa victory. Starring for the losers were Edwards, Stott, and Frizzelle. The Delta Sig's turned in a good defensive game, but their inability to hold the ball resulted in their defeat.

Todo marcha perfectamente... Have a Coke

(EVERYTHING'S GOIN' O. K.)

... or enjoying a friendly pause in Mexico

In the famed Xochimilco gardens of Mexico, the pause that refreshes with ice-cold Coca-Cola is an old established custom. Across the border, as in your own living room, Coca-Cola stands for a refreshing interlude, a symbol of good will wherever it is served.
