STATE COLLEGE STATION, RALEIGH, N. C., NOVEMBER 3, 1944

Offices: 10 and 11 Tompkins Hall

Students Operating Broadcasting System

By HARRISON WROTON

North Carolina State College's carrier-current radio station was originally built in January as a one-tube, low power transmitter for experimental use. With the aid of a small public-address amplifier, phonograph records and announcements were broadcast. It was soon evident that it was arousing favorable student interest. However, because of its low power, most of the students were unable to listen to it. The fact that the students were interested and did listen raised the idea that a good radio station, broadcasting only on the campus, would undoubtedly hold an important position in campus life.

The North Carolina State College Radio System, which is the name of the organization, is run on the club system. The officers are elected from the senior membership by the other senior members. Senior members are those members who have served the station actively for a period of six consecutive weeks. All members are required to work at least three hours a week to maintain their membership. Any student is allowed to join as a junior member at any time. At the present time, no dues are required of any member.

Two rooms in the Publications Building on the campus have been allotted for use as studios and offices. Mr. Lewis P. Watson of the Agricultural Extension Service has agreed to act as an advisor to coordinate the student group interest in the station with the college interest that is fast developing.

The station can give the students opportunity to voice their opinions in the way that they will best be heard, and in a way that will not be limited because of paper space and typesetting time. It can also provide a way in which the college authorities can reach the maximum number of students in the minimum amount of time in case of emergencies or simply in the normal distribution of college information. Among the types of programs which are being contemplated are discussion programs in which both the students and members of the faculty will participate and dramatize programs put on, not only by State College students, but by students and amateurs from other parts of the city, various types of remote programs such as ball games, concerts and special auditorium programs, programs rebroadcast from short-wave, and, of course, recorded music both popular and classical. Instructional programs will be given at special hours if enough requests are received for any particular type of instruction.

Randolph To Speak To Gas Association

The sixth annual meeting of the Mid-Southeastern Gas Association will be held here November 17 in conjunction with the Extension Division and the Department of Chemical Engineering at State College. It was announced recently by Edward W. Ruggles, secretary-treasurer of the association.

C. J. Meade of Atlanta will preside over the meetings which will be held in the Sir Walter. Principal speakers will be Dr. E. E. Randolph, head of the State College Department of Chemical Engineering, and Alexander Macomber of the WPB's Office of War Utilities.

State College Coaches Study T-Formation

State College's coaching staff, guiding the destinies of the Wolfpack for their first year, are making a very creditable showing on the gridiron this fall. They are shown above studying the various phases of the vaunted T-formation which they are employing as the offense. Left to right are: Line Coach Al Thomas, former Tennessee star and Rose Bowl veteran; End Mentor Star Wood, ex-Milligan athlete; and Head Coach Beattie Feathers, former All-American back at Tennessee and later a great pro grid luminary. Coach Feathers came to State College from Appalachian State Teachers College, where he tutored the football team. The new State skipper succeeded Coach Williams (Doc) Newton, who resigned his coaching berth here last spring to become head mentor at the University of South Carolina.

State's fast-stepping Wolfpack, under the direction of the new coaching staff, has won four games in six starts during the current campaign. The two losses were handed out by Clemson's heavy Tigers and Wake Forest's undefeated and untied Deacons. The State pigskin machine has chalked up impressive victories over Virginia's Cavaliers, Milligan's Buffaloes, Catawba's Indians, and William and Mary's Indians.

Herbeck and Fullenwider Signed To Play 1944-45 Pledge Dances

Dances To Be Held November 24-25

The fifteen-piece band of Ray Herbeck is to be the feature of the Saturday dances of the Pledge Dance set for Fall Term, 1944-45, according to W. E. Wade, Chairman of the Dance Committee. Herbeck, who hails from New York by way of a highly successful southern tour, is expected to be a distinct drawing card at the main dance of the set. It is expected that his distinctive style, combined with the fullness produced by his fifteen pieces will be highly satisfactory and all attending will probably be highly pleased.

For the Friday night function, Phifer Fullenwider, successor to Herb Gupton will furnish the music. Fullenwider's organization, composed almost entirely of local men and students at the school, had a most successful three years under the leadership of Herb Gupton. Playing for many dances in the Carolinas and Virginia, they have again and again proved to be highly satisfactory. Much favorable comment on the band has been received, and the entire organization has been held together by Fullenwider since Gupton's entrance into the Army.

Serving on the dance committee with Wade are Earl Frazier of High Point, Sigma Pi; Zeb Little, Lexington, Lambda Chi Alpha, and Gene House of Scotland Neck, Sigma Nu.

Both Friday's and Saturday's dances will be held in the Frank Thompson gymnasium. Both of the evening dances will be formal.

They Inform The Servicemen

These two pretty assistants in the State College News Bureau are shown making a monthly summary of the activities of State College's more than 20,000 alumni for those who are in the armed services.

Martha Monk, left, and Nancy Scott send a monthly four-page news letter to the fighting alumni stationed at every fighting post in the world. "Martha and Nancy," as they sign their news sheet, have received messages of appreciation from servicemen in every corner of the globe. Both work on the basement floor of Ricks Hall here on the campus. Martha is secretary to Rudolph Pate, editor of the News Bureau, and Nancy works in the printing room.

Student Legislature To Meet Nov. 17, 18

The Eighth Annual Student Legislative Assembly is to be held in Raleigh at the State Capitol on November 17 and 18. This assembly is held every year and is sponsored by the State College Forensic fraternity, Pi Kappa Delta. Every college in North Carolina is asked to send representatives to the student assembly and their representation is divided between the house and the senate as is actually done in the regular assembly. It is expected that a large number of students from the other colleges will attend this year.

All State College students are invited to attend the assembly. Those who wish to attend should see Mr. Paget on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays between three and four, or Tuesdays and Thursdays between four and six. State College students who attend the Legislative Assembly will be excused from classes Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

Newton Mandel is to be the permanent president of the Assembly this year, and Leon Mann is the secretary-treasurer. Two committees have been organized thus far and those interested in working on these or any other committees should see Mr. Paget, the permanent officers, or any of the committee chairmen. To date the Membership and Legislation Committee has been formed. Chester Gilbert is chairman of the Legislation Committee and John Tart is chairman of the Membership Committee. The committees that are yet to be organized are the Rooms and Entertainment Committee and the Local Girl's College Committee.

Cadet Major Jordan Best Drilled Cadet

Cadet Major Claude W. Jordan, Jr., of Wilmington last Friday was presented a medal as the best-drilled cadet in the State College ROTC unit, composed of 509 students, by the University Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution. Exercises were conducted at noon, and the presentation was made by W. D. Carmichael, Jr., controller of the Greater University of North Carolina and vice-president of the chapter.

Carmichael said that the medal was awarded for "leadership, soldierly-bearing, and military excellence." He paid tribute to State College for preparing young men for useful pursuits in both war and peace.

"God knows where we would have been now if it had not been for ROTC regiments at State College and other institutions," Carmichael declared.

The exercises were directed by Capt. Charles Cummings, officer in active charge of the College ROTC unit. Music was provided by the State College Military Band.

Jordan, a son of Mrs. Alida K. Jordan of Wilmington, is a student in Chemical Engineering at State College.

Representing the chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution, in addition to Carmichael, was J. Hampton Rich of Chapel Hill. Dean Francis J. Bradshaw of the University, another member of the committee in charge of awarding medals, was unable to attend.

GLEANINGS

It seems as though a great many PiKA's spent an enjoyable afternoon. For hour after hour, a procession of sofas, chairs, beds, etc., were proceeding from Ferndale to Woodburn. What happened, guys? Did the girls across the street make too much noise for you, or didn't the neighbors enjoy the singing?

What certain guard on the Wolfpack has been seen sneaking out of the fieldhouse after hours, and what's the reason? Judging from all reports, it seems to be something with light brown hair. From the same sources comes word that the infirmary had quite a few female visitors (and they weren't nurses) when Varon and Gaeta, the Appendicitis Twins, were there.

All male students take warning! Local 606 1/2, State College Chapter of the C.M.C. (Congress of Mistreated Co-eds) has banded together, and is already functioning. Their plan of battle is not yet clear, but as soon as word comes in, it shall be published.

From the Latin Quarter (alias Fourth Dormitory) we have found out that the food isn't the magnet that draws a certain Chilean to Grimes Cafe. We'll leave the rest up to you. Leo Valderrama has been seen about town a lot with Ann. For your info, wolves, the phone number is 5713, and you are welcome there at any time.

Why is Charlie Colhard always late to knitting? It couldn't be that "femme fatale" at the bus stop, could it?

Seen at the Lint-Dodgers' Ball last week was Lib Frazier, one of our newer co-eds, and it seems that poor Lib has a cold now. That chilly night air is rough on a young lady's constitution. Where was our man from Texas, and what have those Latins got that we haven't? Also seen at the Stork Club—pahdon, the Woman's Club, was our little third term freshman from Brooklyn who is trying to get into everything before the sophomore year approaches.

Whassa matter, Diamond? Isn't the moustache becoming, or could it be, those two girls that go to the same school and work in the same place. You shouldn't have told one of them that you were from Connecticut.

Did any of you catch a glimpse of Joe Monroe's new pants? He looks as though he just stepped out of a haberdasher's window (on Wilmington St.).

Why has Mandel been pacing the floor for the last few days? Is he expecting a baby? And why has that lieutenant of B Company been chasing over to Greensboro every week-end?

Does anybody know why our Cadet Colonel wants to wring the neck of a certain tall, blonde fellow by the name of Byrd?

Sigma Pi had a party last Friday, and a good time was had by all. Cookies were served by the Connor (Wolf) and Snyder, and then the ladies (?) and gentlemen (??) retired to the living room to play games (???)

Who is that new girl dispensing sodas at the Mop-up explaining the process of getting married in Raleigh to a certain ensign.

We are wondering why Sasser's girl awoke last Monday night and suddenly called a taxi—for herself!

BEYZON MCGINTY.

Pratt & Whitney Fellows

The past two weeks have been such full ones that all the Fellows remind me of the Absent Minded Man who:

"Tucked his pants into bed and threw himself over the back of a chair . . . put his spectacles on his ear and walked three miles sideways . . . wound up the cat and put the clock out for the night . . . kissed the train good-bye and jumped on his wife . . . put his candle to bed and blew himself out."

In other words, we have been going around in circles. Our answer to last week's Yehudi column is "could be, could be," though we seem to be learning as well as teaching. Such influences as the Sigma Pi party, Textile dance, Wake-Forest game, June's party for Margaret, and what with shows and dinner dates thrown in—Gee, this stuff called Education!

Someone twisted my arm into writing this column, but if I see any more of you guys holding your nose . . . So Help Me! All right, I quit!

—JO JEROME.

SHARPS and FLATS

By HOWIE KADEN

The records have been coming in fast and heavy this week, and they all seem pretty good. With the records have come a few new albums. Leading them all is one by Victor, featuring some twelve inch sides by some of the best. First we have the record that made Benny Goodman hit the top and stay there. It is "Sing, Sing, Sing," featuring Krupa at the drums, James on the trumpet, and all of the other members of that terrific outfit. Throughout both sides, Krupa's drumming stands out. He plays most on tom-tom, and that beat has become famous among all drummers. Also on the record is Louis' Prima's "Christopher Columbus," coming in right after the theme. Benny take a solo on the first side, but the rest of it is ensemble. The other side starts off with a tenor sax solo by Vido Musso, followed by some more ensemble. Then James comes in with two choruses, both of them tops. There's no need to go any further. The record is quite old, and just about everybody has heard it. Also in the album is Bunny Berrigan's "I Can't Get Started," which is a jazz "immortal."

Dick Haymes and Helen Forest have come out with "It Had to Be You" and "Together." Decca's latest singing combination have become well-known recently, and they've put over some good numbers. The latest are the soft, dreamy type, appealing to all those guys and gals who are, well—you know what. Ever since Dick Haymes left Harry James, he has steadily risen, and now has become Sinatra's closest rival. He sings with a personal touch that everyone likes, and with Helen, the record is fine.

For a whole week, I've been wearing out eight sides by Bud Freeman and his boys. Words cannot express the greatness of them. Strictly from Chicago, they are epitome of jazz. Russel, Kaminsky, Teagarden and Condon . . . all of them true jazzmen. The records are in the form of an album under the name of "Comes Jazz." Years ago, a group of boys from Austin High School in Chicago banded together and formed a band. At that time, Chicago was under the influence of the Negro jazz musicians, who played in dives on the West Side. Nightly, these boys went there and listened. While doing so, they picked up ideas. King Oliver and Louis Armstrong were their idols. Just picture Benny Goodman, Bix Beiderbecke, Gene Krupa, and all the others listening to that music! Eventually, they improved, and formed their own bands. Jack Teagarden, a trombonist from the West, came with them, and they played together on various dates. This album was cut a few years ago, and was just reissued by Columbia.

The Wind Blows and so does
YEHUDI

Scandal, good old vicious, juicy, down to earth scandal. That's the thing to expect from this corner from now on. . . . And furthermore, we're warning all the prospective scandalizers that they had better watch out from now on. All facts, names, and so forth will henceforth be printed without regard for persons, places, or things . . . end quote.

To be sure that everything gets off on the right foot we are prepared to make the expose of the year. It seems that one Walter Watson Harper (you're so right, nobody but the staff gets in this kol.) confused both himself and all his friends about two weeks ago by modestly admitting that he not only killed all of the flowers on the team of the weekly opponents of the now powerful Sigma Speeee football team. Profane language, most powerful and informative gestures, and various and sundry other things that usually accompany an expression of violent hatred, desire for revenge and similar motives, filled the air and in general polluted the breeze with most uncomplimentary comment on the general attitude of that former All-State back or center or something on the G'boro team for the past few years. (Man, ain't that some sentence(s)). In the future, the mighty darn near future, there will be one man carried off the field. Who that man will be no one knows, but most have a pretty good idea. Harper's muscles look shot from this corner. That'll teach him to think before he plays such good volleyball, next time maybe.

The Pi Kappa Culps, and buddies must have had a most wonderful time one of these last week ends. From the bleary eyed beauties that appeared in and about the campus the first part of this week, we are inclined to believe that the rumors we have been hearing are too, too true. Let no more be said.

Those little rays of sunshine seen about the whole works these days are just too energetic. Latest, well almost the latest, reports indicate that they have organized, yep, the school ain't what it used to be. Out of six females present, we understand that six were elected to fill stupendous, breathtaking offices. Chief cook and bottle washer Cyra S. states that the object and purpose and such stuff of this organization (?) is to make it possible for the co-eds of this fair institution to take their rightful place in the minds of their fellow students. Secondary objects include such drizzle as a place set aside for them to live, Gold maybe. You know, just between Forth and Welch. Other ideas expressed were as follows. . . . Resolved: That the male students and visitors to our campus cease immediately such vulgar antics as whistling, making goo-goo eyes, and the like whenever a female passes. . . . That appreciation be expressed to the males of the campus for such recognition as may have been received by the co-eds whenever they stand on street corners. This misrepresentation of the fact could go on forever, in fact we'll have to admit that the most of it was purely a product of our somewhat vivid imagination. . . . Orchids, commendations, etc., to the gals who brighten our campus.

Disgusting

One of the worst demonstrations of ill-breeding and lack of culture ever witnessed on this campus occurred last week during Mr. Weisiger's speech to the Student Body. While he was speaking, at least thirty upperclassmen had the audacity to leave the hall. Others conversed so loudly that they vied with the speaker for the attention of the audience. It was one of the most disgusting demonstrations imaginable.

We have been prone to blame the freshmen for any manner of ill conduct for which the Student Body was accused, but this time there was no doubt as to the identity of the offenders. Among them were several men who have campus positions which identify them as leaders. Two of the obnoxious characters were our good neighbors from below the border.

Several of the offenders have attempted to justify their actions by belittling the speech or remarking that they were not able to hear it. These are not excuses for bad conduct. The most ill-bred individual would listen intently to something which attracted him. The mark of a gentleman is his ability to show refinement and culture under adverse circumstances.

Environment and training here at the College may be blamed for such actions, but self respect and basic courtesy should have been taught long before college age. That the majority of those men who misbehaved during the speech were taught better at home is beyond doubt. It is hard to understand why they feel that their presence at college gives them a right to act so crudely.

POLITICS

The approaching election means little to most of the State College students. Only a small percentage is eligible to vote. Probably a majority is less than 18 years old, and just isn't politically minded. Many are much concerned about their draft future; others sardonically leave worrying about such matters to their brother students "on the Hill."

Contrary to what most of you think, university thought does affect practical politics. Many of the distinct changes in political history have had their beginning or strongest support in student organizations. It is the duty of all college groups to acquaint themselves with current affairs in order to formulate well-grounded, personally logical opinions.

BILL GATLIN.

Wolfpack Routs W & M Indians, 19-2

Coach Feathers Readies Wolfpack For VMI Game

State College's determined Wolfpack, priming for its Southern Conference game on Saturday with VMI's scrappy Cadets, went through light workouts as it began preparing for its third trip into the Old Dominion this week.

Coach Beattie Feathers, praising his State proteges for the impressive victory which they won over William and Mary last Saturday in Norfolk, checked over the injuries incurred in the Indian-Wolfpack clash and put his charges through loosening-up drills on Monday. He stepped up the tempo of his preparations on Tuesday in a defensive drill and settled down to hard work on Wednesday.

Feathers, former All-American back at Tennessee and ex-pro grid ace, said that he expects the game with the Cadets to be a hard assignment for his Techs, but he declared that the contest in Lexington should be "interesting football."

The tussle with VMI will be State's fourth Dixie Loop test. The Wolfpack's two losses this season have been handed out by Clemson's heavy Tigers and Wake Forest's power-packing Deacons, both circuit rivals. State shellacked a strong William and Mary eleven last Saturday, 19-2, to boost its family standings, giving the Wolfpack one win against two losses in Southern Conference competition. The State gridgers have coasted

THE INTRAMURAL FRONT

By BOBBY WOOTEN
FOOTBALL

Bracket number one showed the most activity in the realm of fraternity football last week, with Lambda Chi Alpha defeating Delta Sigma Phi 13 to 6, and PiKA besting Alpha Lambda Tau by a 12 to 0 margin. In the PiKA-ALT fracas, the victors were sparked by the brilliant play of Sutton who scored the first touchdown on an end run shortly after the game began. The way for the second tally was paved by a 35 yard pass from Wade to Gross. The six points came by the now famous razzle-dazzle reverse and end run by Sutton. Gross, Sutton, and Freshwater were outstanding teamsters for the winners. Wick Hudson, popular ALT now in the Navy, and Paul Lamprinakos sparked the vanquished side all the way.

In a thrilling and lively contest last Tuesday, Lambda Chi Alpha bested a valiantly fighting Delta Sig team by a count of 13 to 6. The closeness of the contest is shown by the fact that until the middle of the third quarter, the score was tied at one first down all. In the opening seconds of the third period Bill Evans shone as he nabbed a 35-yard pass from Page to set up the first tally. A short pass from Evans to Daniel ran the score to 6-0. The try for to victories over Virginia's Cavaliers, Milligan's Navy-propelled Buffaloes, and Catawba's fast-stepping Indians.

Coach Feathers expects to have his No. 1 starting lineup intact on Saturday unless injuries mar his plans. Tailback Charlie Richkus sustained a foot injury last Saturday, but he is expected to be able to take part in the heavy work by the middle of the week.

Tailback Howard Turner of Rocky Mount, the Wolfpack's ace back, and Wingback George Sakas, who carried the ball to payday one time last Saturday, are expected to be in top form for the Cadet contest. Turner was benched temporarily last week because of a slight leg injury.

the extra point was unsuccessful as Burton grounded the Lambda Chi's pass. On the first play after the kick-off, Delta Sig put themselves very much back in the running when Ausley scored on a 20-yard pass heaved by Curtis Fitzgerald. Delta Sig's pass to Gant for the point was blocked and the score was again tied at six all. The game was decided in the last period when Lambda Chi again scored on a pass to Daniel from Page. Evans converted by a line buck. Several long passes by Delta Sig failed to net the much needed points, and the game ended with Lambda Chi victorious by a 13 to 6 margin.

Daniel, end; Evans, back; and Pitts, guard, paved the way for Lambda Chi. Burton, Fitzgerald, and Frizzell led Delta Sigma Phi throughout the entire game.

In bracket number two the game of the week was constituted by a Sigma Pi-Sigma Chi fracas. A fighting Sigma Pi nine met defeat at the hands of Sigma Chi 20 to 6. Scoring in each of the last three periods, Sigma Chi had no easy job as the valiant Sigma Pi's forced the victors to battle for every inch. The superior weight and experience of the Sigma Chi showed in the last half when they were able to almost coast to a sure victory.

Stars for the winners include Coble and Sewell. Sigma Pi was paced by Webster, Roberson, Brown, and Snyder.

S. Watauga Blanks N. Gold 28 to 0

In a very one-sided game last Monday S. Watauga beat N. Gold 28-0. S. Watauga scored a touchdown in each of the four quarters. The conversions after each of the tallies were successful. The first score was made on a pass from Bradley to Hamilton, the second on a run by Bradley, the third on the kickoff at half covered back of Gold's goal line by Sharpe, and the fourth on a pass from Bradley to Sharpe.

For the victors Bradley, Sharpe, and Hamilton played the best game. For the losers Freeman played the best game.

S. Welch forfeits to 1st Bagwell Last Monday 1st Bagwell was ceded a victory over S. Welch by a forfeit.

Military Football

In military football last week Company C defeated Company A 13 to 0 and Company D defeated Company B 19 to 6.

Recovered Fumbles Give State Edge

Our fast-stepping Wolfpack, capitalizing on every opportunity, romped on the William and Mary Indians in Norfolk last week. State recovered six of their opponent's fumbles and intercepted four passes.

The first score came when Tackle George Croker blocked Stanley Macgkiak's punt, and Bob McRainey picked up the ball and carried it 35 yards for a touchdown in the first few minutes of the game. A little later George Sakas caught a pass from Charlie Richkus on the Indian's 16 yard line and scored standing up.

In the second period, William and Mary made a strong bid for a touchdown. Starting from their 37, they advanced on a series of forward passes to State's 5. This threat was removed when Zickefoose intercepted a pass from Bruce and ran it back to the State 31. At the end of the half, the score stood 12-0.

The Indians made their two points early in the third quarter when Center Tommy Thompson blocked Richkus's punt on the 22, and the ball bounced into the end zone for a safety. In this same period, Sakas set up the Wolfpack's third tally by recovering a fumble on the Indian's 27. Two line plays and an end run put the ball on the 3, and then Bobby Worst plunged through the center of the line for the touchdown.

The Wolfpack fared much better than usual with the officials in this game, escaping with a total of only 15 yards in penalties, while the Indians lost 50. William and Mary took quite an edge on the other statistics, making 17 first downs to six, gaining 166 yards rushing to 133, completing 18 out of 36 passes for a total of 195 yards, against 2 out of 5 completed by State for a total of 45 yards.

TENNIS

Sigma Pi's Defeat S.A.M.'s In fraternity tennis last week the Sigma Pi's beat the S.A.M.'s 6-2, 6-2 in one set of doubles. Frazier and Williams played for the Sigma Pi's while Fuchs and Gail played for the S.A.M.'s.

VOLLEYBALL

In fraternity volleyball the Sig Ep's defeated the Lambda Chi's 15-8, 15-3. The Sigma Chi's lost to the Sigma Nu's by forfeit.

In dormitory volleyball N. Welch beat N. Watauga 15-7, 15-11. S. Watauga beat S. Welch 13-9, 15-1

NEW RADIO RELAY LINK FOR TELEPHONE AND TELEVISION

Tiny radio waves, shorter than any used before in commercial telephony, will link New York and Boston in a new experimental "jump-jump" relay system for the transmission of telephone speech and television programs.

These waves travel in straight lines like beams of light. Because of the earth's curvature, the distance will be spanned in a series of straight-line jumps between transmitting and receiving stations about 30 miles apart.

The Bell System plans post-war improvements in ways like this, to extend its nation-wide service by providing more Long Distance telephone facilities for peacetime needs.

Cross-Country Team Loses First Contest

State's Harriers, the newly formed cross-country team, began its season last Saturday in a meet with the speedy Marine runners from Cherry Point. The score was State 33 and Cherry Point 22, State being the loser. Since this is a comparatively new sport on our campus, it seems well to explain how the score is accounted for. Each team is allowed 5 places in the finish, and receives a score corresponding to each of these 5 places. The sum of these places for each team is compared, and the one with the smaller number wins. The best possible score is 15 points, being the sum of all five places.

The teams ran 2½ miles, and the winning time was 13 minutes, 32 seconds by P. F. Fenton of Cherry Point. This was 20 seconds faster than the closest State runner, R. Phillips.

For several years the Monogram Club has had a ruling that no students shall wear their high school athletic monograms while on the campus. Several of the freshmen, who are probably unaware of the fact, have been violating this ruling. Winning these letters requires a good deal of work and ability, and it is understandable that you are proud of them. However, in order that the block "S" might have a maximum value, the Monogram Club requests that this letter be the only one worn on the campus.

Incandescent lamps generate about four times as much heat as fluorescent.

All Chemical Engineering students who have been enrolled in the College for one term previous to the Fall term, 1944-45 or transfer students admitted to the school with the standing of advanced freshman or as an upperclassman, are requested to attend a meeting in room 13, Winston Hall, Tuesday, October 7, at 7 p.m.

"Music While You Work"
Cambridge, Mass.—After a year of trying it, employes at a year plant here believe it pays to whistle while you work. The Labor-Management Committee on Production agreed with industrial music experts who said that "music while you work" was an aid to production and to morale. A librarian was appointed and 300 records selected. Now—exactly one year after the start of the experiment—an additional 300 records have been ordered.

Have a "Coke" = Eat, drink and enjoy yourself

... or adding refreshment to a backyard barbecue
Plenty of ice-cold Coca-Colas helps make any barbecue a success. Have plenty of "Coke" ice-cold and ready to drink. When you shop, remember to ask for Coca-Cola. Everywhere, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become a high-sign of hospitality in the American home.
