Educators and Industrialists Meet

Proposals to revamp engineering curricula and to encourage students to become more "Diesel-minded" for the "enhancement of engineering as profession" claimed the attention of Southern educators and members of the Diesel Manufacturers' Association at a recent meeting at N. C. State College. Some of the leaders of the conference are shown here, left to right: George Mueller of the General Machinery Corporation; John W. Anderson, chief engineer of the Diesel Engine Division of the American Locomotive Company; Henry J. Barbour, sales manager of Fairbanks, Morse Company; Harold D. Ellis, director of public relations of the Diesel Manufacturers' Association; and Prof. Robert B. Rice, head of the Department of Mechanical Engineering at N. C. State College, which has the most modern and complete Diesel engine laboratory in the world.

Leading Industrialists Outline Statistical Methods For Economy

Clarence A. Griffin Wins Essay Contest

Clarence A. Griffin of Rocky Mount, a senior in animal production at State College, won the annual essay contest, sponsored by Swift and Company, it was announced recently by Prof. Robert H. Ruffner of the Animal Industry Department.

Griffin, whose subject was "The Meat Packing Industry," will be given a free trip to Chicago Fat Stock Show and will take a short course during his stay in Chicago on the processing and marketing of livestock products. He will go to Chicago early in December.

Griffin is an assistant in dairy extension work at State College and is serving this term as secretary of the Agricultural Club, largest departmental organization on the campus.

Other participants in the contest whose papers won honorable mention are: Robert N. Wood of Graham, Edwin Wright of Taylor City, Bruce Blackmon of Bujes Creek, and Robert Hudgins of Arden.

Statistical Laboratory At N. C. State College Lauded

EX-STUDENT

15th AAF in Italy — 2nd Lt. Howard Gluck, 21, of 326 Donaldson Ave., San Antonio, Texas, has been recently assigned to an AAF B-17 Flying Fortress unit of the 15th Air Force, commanded by Major General Nathan F. Twining. He is a navigator.

Lt. Gluck joined the army on December 9, 1942, and received his cadet's appointment in August, 1943. He was awarded his navigator wings on June 10, 1944, at Selman Field, La., and flew his first combat mission over Brux, Czechoslovakia, October 14, 1944.

At the time of his enlistment, he was a student at N. C. State College.

Dr. James W. Patton, head of the Department of History at State College, was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Southern Historical Association at the annual meeting of the association in Nashville, Tenn., last week.

Eight-Day Meeting At Textile Building

Methods by which statistical devices save money, reduce waste, and promote industrial progress were outlined at the opening session of an eight-day conference on industrial statistics at State College Wednesday. Approximately 150 leading industrialists, educators, and Army authorities attended the initial meeting.

The Federal government is saving "vast sums" through statistical methods, declared W. Edwards Deming, adviser in sampling of the Budget Bureau in Washington.

He praised the "splendid statistical laboratory" at State College for its work in promoting efficiency in industry and in advancing science.

Prof. Ralph Hefner of Georgia Tech declared that statistical methods are beneficial in improving production, holding closer tolerances, meeting specifications, bringing about less spoilage, determining samples, reducing the number of samples needed, and improving relations between consumers and producers.

The conferees, representing several sections of the nation, were welcomed to the campus by Col. J. W. Harrelson, administrative dean of State College. Dean Malcolm E. Campbell of the State College Textile School was chairman of the opening session.

Other speakers at Wednesday's meetings were: Lt.-Col. Frank Steadman of the Philadelphia Quartermaster Depot; Col. Leslie E. Simons, director of the Ballistic Research Laboratory at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds; Edwin G. Olds of WPB's Office of Production Research and Development; J. P. Elting, director of research at Kendall Mills in Paw Creek, N. C.; Gertrude M. Cox, head of the Department of Experimental Statistics at State College; and A. G. Ashcroft, director of research of Alexander Smith and Sons Carpet Company in Yonkers, N. Y.

World Student Fund Has New Secretary

Dr. Huntley Dupre, former professor of History at the University of Kentucky, is becoming Executive Secretary of the World Student Service Fund on November 1st, according to a report from that office. He succeeds Miss Wilmina Rowland, who is resigning after three years with the Fund to go to Europe to serve on the staff of the European Student Relief Fund, the W.S.S.F.'s administering committee.

Dr. Dupre has a background of student relief work after World War I, when he was director of the Studensky Domov, a great international student union in Prague, Czechoslovakia. This union had a self-governing membership of 27 nationalities. It housed the offices of European Student Relief and the Czechoslovakian, German, Ukrainian and Russian student Christian movements.

During the past two decades Dr. Dupre has been a member of the faculties at Miami University, Ohio State and the University of Kentucky. At Ohio State he also served as junior dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. He has been a summer lecturer at Western Reserve University and West Virginia University. At the University of Kentucky he was given the first award in 1939 as the outstanding professor. His popularity with students and his many contacts with them in student conferences will be an asset in the college visitation he will do for the World Student Service Fund.

"American students have a record of generous giving for student relief in the last war," says Dr. Dupre, "and I believe that their conviction about the importance of salvaging their own generation around the world will mean even greater giving now."

Council To Consider Applications For Next Year's Football Coach

Former Member of Faculty Now In Bari

Rome.—When the war is over and everyone is back in civilian clothes and milk and hot baths are no longer considered a luxury, men and women who served in the Italian campaign will still have fond memories centered about several American Red Cross Clubs. The real reason (in spite of all the doughnut, movie, and cable service publicity) is that at those clubs they always manage to find someone from home, and that means more to the average American soldier than all of the recreational facilities combined.

Judging by the names listed in various Red Cross states books, as well as the number of men and women with whom I have talked, North Carolina is ahead of practically every state in the union in Red Cross Club attendance. (Of course, there are those people who say that the fact that I have lived in Raleigh, Greensboro, Chapel Hill, Winston-Salem, and Burlington, causes me to be a little prejudiced.)

In the clubs at Bari I found a Sims boy from Charlotte—can't remember his given name, but he was a lawyer in Charlotte before he came into the army—and there was a Lt. Kruger at Bari. He used to be a member of the faculty at North Carolina State College. It was at Bari that I found a Lt. Newbern from Ahoskie. He remembered me from dances at Wake Forest College.

The State College Athletic Council will meet on November 18, the date of the Wolfpack's last football game, to consider applications for head coach and will elect the coach at that time, it was announced yesterday by Dr. H. A. Fisher, chairman of the council.

A special committee, composed of Dr. A. J. Wilson, A. G. Floyd, and Dr. Fisher, has been appointed to study the applications and to make recommendations to the council at the meeting.

Dr. Fisher yesterday highly praised the work of Coach Beattie Feathers and his associates for their work in training a group of inexperienced players this fall into a fast-working, efficient ball team. State's squad, under Coach Feathers' direction, has won five out of seven games, losing only to Clemson and Wake Forest, both of which have much heavier and more experienced elvens than State.

Coach Feathers, serving his first year as head mentor of the Wolfpack, has received praise from all quarters for his work in fashioning the 1944 version of the Wolfpack. Sports writers in both North Carolina and Virginia have been liberal with their accolades for Feathers.

Coach Feathers, one of the greatest backs in football history when he played for Tennessee and the Chicago Bears, is being assisted at State this season by Line Mentor Al Thomas, former Tennessee guard, and End Coach Star Wood, ex-Milligan athlete and Feathers' assistant at Appalachian in 1942.

Dr. Fisher said yesterday that applications were being received almost daily for the State coach-

Plans Campaign

Alicia Coffin, traveling secretary of the World Student Service Fund, spoke at a dinner meeting of student leaders in Leazer Dining Hall at State College last week. Later she addressed a meeting of students from Meredith, Peace, St. Mary's, and State Colleges in the College YMCA.

Miss Coffin's appearances here are being sponsored by the State College YMCA and the Wesley Foundation of the Fairmont Methodist Church. A campaign to raise funds for needy students throughout the world is being planned for the Winter Term.

Harriers Run Against Speedsters At Duke

State's big squad of cross-country runners are primed for their race with the Duke team on Saturday, November 11. Coach Tom Hines is well pleased with his boys and expects them to be in top shape.

The Duke club has been defeated by both Carolina and the Chapel Hill Pre-Flight team. Still they have some very fast runners and are favored to win.

The State Harriers don't expect to make a very favorable record, but considering the fact that it is a new sport here while the opposition schools have had teams for years, the boys are doing a fine job. Robert F. Routh looks especially good and is expected to make a fine distance runner.

Religion

Criticism is often heard concerning the non-religious, sometimes almost irreverent attitude of the young people of today. Those who make such criticisms frequently have not stopped to look around them and take account of the actual situation.

In Lawrence, for example, the buses are crowded every Sunday morning with University students on their way to or from church. These young men and women do not have their parents around, urging them to attend—they do it because they want to. A large percentage of the two dozen churches in this town also have regular Sunday evening meetings which are composed almost entirely of young people.

Programs for both these vesper meetings and for Sunday School classes are planned by young men and women of university age and are truly inspirational at times. These same young church-workers, in addition to teaching Sunday School classes regularly, also compose a large part of the church choirs and voluntarily attend choir practice once a week.

The Army and Navy are still issuing pleas for more chaplains to fulfill the religious needs expressed by the service men. Three or four church services are held each Sunday morning at most army camps to accommodate the crowds. For the skeptical, the soldiers' familiarity with the words of hymns and the service's ritual might prove a revelation.

Even with their limited pay checks, service men are exceptionally generous with their donations, perhaps because they, more than those who remain safely at home, can appreciate what the modern religion accomplishes in a material way and how faith in an all-powerful Being can carry them through in times of need. This feeling is demonstrated by the requests of men on the battlefield for hymns, rather than the shallow "popular music, whenever camp shows come around. They also read an amazing amount of literature, such as daily devotional booklets and new Testaments, which various religious organizations distribute.

Maybe the young people of today can't recite Bible verses by memory—maybe they don't believe in sitting home on Sunday afternoons and meditating—but the religion they do have is a much more vital thing—one they can and do apply.—Daily Kansan.

GLEANINGS

Well, another week-end is gone and we're one week nearer the dance season (Monogram and Pledge dances are coming up pretty soon, I guess you realize). Do all you boys have your dates lined up? If not, I just hope that you don't get caught in the same mess as the poor, unfortunate, maltreated, and otherwise unlucky fellow that waited too long last year and got four acceptances in reply to five simultaneous late telegrams to "beautiful lassies" of the hometown variety. Let's all get busy and make these dances real successes! . . . It seems that "Not-so-Slick" Castleberry was caught in a rather embarrassing situation last Saturday night. I wonder what Boney meant when he said "John, you know better than that." How about it, Slick? . . . and say, what's this we hear about "Freddie" Page getting his pin back from Lib Morgan? Who knows for sure how it happened? Lib won't talk, and it looks as if Fred's trying like blazes to be the perfect gentleman. . . . Bob Wood was preaching about the "social" activities of some of his brother SPE's. I wonder why he doesn't practice what he preaches? We hear that he kept rather late hours with a red-head ex-neighbor of the PIKA's. Have fun, Bob?

We'd like to hear more about Sasser's escapade last week. . . . The ALT pledges seem to have had a very interesting time last week. They were mighty attractive guards in front of the house at night! . . . Well, another day, another . . . another what? Oh, well. Be seeing you boys in the gutter next week.

Signed,

A FIEND—PARDON ME—FRIEND OF
ALL MANKIND (AND WOMANKIND).

(Ed. Note: We'll give you exactly one guess as to which term is more applicable.—F. P.)

Pratt & Whitney Fellows

Got our arms twisted a bit too much at the Sonny Dunham dance the other night and woke up to find that we had inherited this column. At the time we weren't aware of what we were getting ourselves in for, but as this thing progressed (?), we began to realize that Jo had stuck our necks out . . . soooooo here's one on Jo. This might rightly be titled "Why Professors Turn Grey." For the past few weeks Walter Loewensberg has talked himself hoarse for four hours a week trying to show us what made I. C. engines tick. So, last week Jo walked up to a car that had been in a wreck. He took one look at the engine and scratched her head saying, "Let's see now, where's the DISTILLER?"

There's been a lot of organized opposition afoot lately. What with the Democrats and Republicans battling it tooth and nail, but to anyone who happened to notice at the Sonny Dunham dance Friday, the opposition over the WHITE gal had 'em all beat. Coble and his brother Sigs and Page and the boys from the Lambda Chi house, along with an odd Ensign or two thrown in for good measure, led her a merry pace. . . . Beauty and the beasts—(Says Who? Ed.) !!

We've acquired a poor little orphan in our midst. . . . Kathy "I'm from Missouri" Lard. Her theme song has become "Nobody Loves Me." Why???? Well, how would you feel if every time you ordered a hamburger someone put cheese on it, or gave you a cherry smash when you wanted a cherry coke, or threw in some bacon when all you wanted was a lettuce and tomato sandwich.

If anyone could find out for us, we'd be tickled to death to know what there is in Greensboro that acts like a magnet pulling June Freeman and Mary Northcott over there so much.

And soooooo that brings us to the "last but NOT least" Department of these ramblings. We just wanted to tell you that the belligerent look Fred Snyder is wearing these days is a result of the merry-go-round ride he took or was taken for, (take your choice . . . they both apply) last week-end, might fall under the heading of "premeditated accidents," but for three nights straight he ended up stag . . . and from what we hear, it wasn't exactly by choice, either.

Since there's no more "printable" dirt, we'll leave you to your misery while Kay takes time out to drool when she thinks about a certain ALT . . . nuff said. . . .

KAY & KATHY.

SHARPS and FLATS

By HOWIE KADEN

We've had the chance to hear some fine music this week. It is hot jazz, played by the peer of all jazzmen, Louis Armstrong. Consisting of records by the Armstrong Hot Five, the "King Louis" album has some of his original recordings. Last week, I mentioned the style of Chicago jazz. This album, however, is from the birthplace of jazz—New Orleans. Louis Armstrong played at an early age with King Oliver, from whom he learned a great deal. He formed his own band, and made musical history. To a person who likes the popular commercial bands of today, these sides will sound like pure noise. The best way to appreciate jazz is not to condemn it, but to sit down and listen to it attentively. This album is typical of the music played in New Orleans in the 1920's, and is well worth listening to.

Louis Prima and his young orchestra just released a new one on Hit records. It is "Angelina," a very entertaining number with some novel lyrics. Although Prima has not been very popular in the past year, he is slowly coming into the limelight through the medium of his recordings. Among them we have the new hit that has been sweeping the country, "Dance With A Dolly." Prima sings most of his numbers himself. He has a deep voice, somewhat on the style of Louis Armstrong. Also in his aggregation is Lillian Caroll, a very attractive songstress with a swell voice.

Not very long ago, I mentioned something about the formation of a jazz club among the students here at State. There are many of us who appreciate good jazz, and this would aid in erasing the prejudices formed by the majority of people toward that form of music. Jazz concerts would be held regularly, and members would get together and express their own opinions. Come on, guys (and gals, too). Let's see what we can do. Get in touch with me at the Tech office, and we'll try to get organized.

The Wind Blows and so does
YEHUDI

Scoop, scoop, scoop and all that. Look what's happened in the world of our dear co-eds since the last publication of this rag. Of all things, the president has suddenly, oh yes, most suddenly taken leave from (or of, we don't know which) her all high and powerful position . . . she has resigned! Perish the thought that the services of such a one are now no longer available to the fairer sex about the campus. Wonder of wonders and all that . . . what will happen next . . . perhaps the whole class will get married and leave on the spot. . . . Not THAT.

As we have it, the party around at the Speeee house th' other night was just too, too glorious. Wonder where all those gals came from, and wonder when they are coming back. . . . Most everybody sho' would like to see them just once more. Especially one or two of these ASTP boys. . . .

Who is this little Sigma Pi whose line is about to cross him up? Time and the Pratt & Whitney Fellows will tell. Once upon a time when love was young and all that . . . said fellow seemed to think that he could date all nine of the aforementioned Fellows. Well the grapevine has it that success is far from those portals. In fact the gals resent being second, third, or even fourth choices and didn't mind letting the said Pi boy know it. Don't say that we told you so, 'cause we didn't. But anyway, sooner or later, everything will work out all right. We hope.

What with the radio blaring, the staff at each others throats, (Little's a Republican), and thoughts of the fairer sex bouncing about like atoms in my little brain(?), the efforts of said person should be excluded this week. (Ed. Note—and every week). The wireless, the national news services' wires which come to this office, and the popular Isaac Varon, local politician, and other sources of hot air are predicting anything from the election of Earl Browder to the White House to the selection of Claude Jordan as successor to Gen. "Ike." This guy who is said to be the best soldier on the campus really plays the part. Ask friend Etherige. We too wonder why he doesn't wear his medal. You, dear public, by the above paragraph, can see the most confused state of our mind. Let nothing be taken seriously.

Speaking of taking things seriously, yo' buddy and mine, "Pretty Boy" (don't ask who christened him) appears to be fast disappearing from the campus. Tough! With George's departure comes to mind the fact that only one of the top campus offices is filled by the man selected for that position. Pop/Bowen is still with the "Y." But anyway, goodbye George. . . . And please let us express appreciation for the swell job you did of pulling last year's Agromeck out of the hole and making a real book of it. So long fella. Boy, will we feel silly if you don't pass.

We are at the present honored by a visit by our esteemed prexy, the one and only "Sleepy." Col. Perry states that all is well with the Student Body and he expects to see great improvements made in the general attitude of the many and various freshmen toward the most obnoxious "T" shirts that have been appearing around the campus. Let's hope so. Perry also states that he is now working on a bill to provide more and better dates for the males and females of the campus. . . . Let's hope he doesn't tread on our toes.

Ah, yes, the one and only Walter Watson Harper just breezed in, and as lowly staff members we can't kick him, 'cause he's the one to drive us. That's all right. We'll laugh at him next week at which time he is expected to reside in the Carrol Infirmary the whole week. Could be. . . .

Wolfpack Defeats VMI Cadets, 21-6

Wolfpack Goes To Miami And Primes For Hurricane

State College's Wolfpack, priming for Friday night's grid battle with Miami's promising Hurricane, went through a light workout Tuesday afternoon and departed for Miami by rail Wednesday night.

Coach Beattie Feathers said that his proteges were "pretty well battered and bruised as a result of the VMI scrap," but he expects his squad to be in "fair shape" for the Miami contest.

Guard John Scorpa is looking good in filling the berth of Guard Julian Rattelade, who sustained a broken leg in the Cadet-Wolfpack clash last Saturday.

The team arrived in Miami early enough to send the team through light exercise in final preparation for the non-conference tilt with the Hurricane.

The State skipper declared that the Miami game will be a "hard battle for our boys." He pointed out that although Coach Eddie Dunn's charges have not won a game yet, they have tied South Carolina's Gamecocks and present a serious threat.

The Wolfpack has not tangled with the Hurricane since 1942 when State edged the Floridians, 2-0. A heavy Miami forward wall and a tropical rain was not enough to stop the battling Techs in 1942 despite the predictions by the experts that Miami would walk away with the honors. State's lone marker in the 1942 fracas came in the fourth period when big Ed Gibson charged through the line and blocked a punt. The ball rolled into the end zone for a safety and the winning score.

Major Marshal L. Shepherd, troop movement officer at Fort McClellan, Ala., has returned to his post of duty after visiting friends in Raleigh for a few days. He is a former staff member of the State College Department of Military Science and Tactics.

THE INTRAMURAL FRONT

FOOTBALL

In the first bracket of the fraternity league, the A.L.T.'s beat a fighting Delta Sig team on first downs by a score of 6 to 2. The game was actually not as close as the score indicates for the A.L.T.'s twice advanced to the one-foot line of the Delta Sig's but were held back by a determined defense. The highlight of the game was the outstanding offensive work by Gouge, a player for the A.L.T.'s. Gant, for the Delta Sigs, turned in one of the best defensive games witnessed this season.

The second bracket, consisting of the Sig Eps, the Sigma Chi's, and the Sigma Pi's, was inactive this week.

In the dormitory circuit North Watauga coasted to an easy victory over South Gold with a score of 20 to 0. Under the leadership of Stewart and Francis, North Watauga scored an easy twenty points in the second and third quarters and from there encountered no trouble in chalking up another game under the "win" column.

North Welch nosed out a scrappy 2nd Bagwell nine in a very exciting battle by a score of 6 to 0 on Doak Field last week. Paced by Lynch, North Welch sewed up the game in the last quarter when they scored the only touchdown.

Berry blanked North Gold 18 to 0 in a very one-sided game. Their attack was spearheaded by Jimmy Wilson who has proved to be one of the best passers in the dormitory league. Berry smashed across two tallies in the first quarter and one in the second. The valiant but unsuccessful defense made by North Gold was inspired by Freeman, the captain of the team.

3rd Bagwell kept their undefeated standing in their section by beating a strong 1st Bagwell team 12 to 7. Under their able coach, William H. White, the 3rd Bagwell team scored twice in the first quarter on passes from W. J. White and "Flatop" Gerard to Pit Floyd. 1st Bagwell scored their touchdown in the last quarter on a pass from Ross to Burgess.

The SAM's maintained their first place in the second bracket of fraternity volleyball by defeating the Sigma Chi's 15-11 and 15-5. The Sig Eps nosed out the Sigma Pi's by a score of 15-2, 15-17, and 11-0. The PiKA's came into a tie for first place when they defeated the Sigma Pi's 15-12 and 15-5.

In dormitory volleyball, South Gold forfeited to South Welch and North Gold forfeited to North Welch.

Score On Blocked Punt Puts State In Lead

Crashing on for a third straight win over Virginia teams, State's alert Wolfpack triumphed over VMI. Coach Beattie Feathers' well-drilled proteges, playing "heads-up" ball, now have the enviable record of 5 wins to 2 losses.

Only a few minutes after the opening whistle, Paul Gibson blocked a VMI punt and John Lenhart scooped up the ball and dashed 18 yards into the end zone for the opening score.

On the first play of the second quarter, Zickefoose recovered Butterworth's fumble on State's 48-yard line. Bobby Worst then took the ball and crashed through the line for 13 yards. Using the same play in the second down, Worst got away for a 34-yard run to pay dirt.

The Dominion's Cadets immediately took over and set up their score when Butterworth's punt rolled dead on State's 1-yard line. State had to punt out, and Cliff Ellis returned 10 yards to the 34. Two passes netted the Virginians 26 yards, and an end run by Elmer Kozorra gave them the touchdown.

VMI's offense was built around Kozorra, and when he was injured in the second half, the team lost much of its punch. Howard Turner tossed a pass to George Sakas for an 11-yard gain. Repeating, he connected with Paul Gibson and advanced State to the 1-yard line for a total of 38 yards. Turner then plunged over tackle for the third tally.

This thrilling contest was not without its costs, in that Julian Rattelade, State's outstanding right guard, broke his leg. This injury occurred when Rattelade and Lenhart tackled VMI's Duncan Sinclair just after he had intercepted a pass from Charlie Richkus late in the first quarter. Rattelade's services will be sorely missed in the remaining games.

Both teams, made up entirely of civilians, are light and inexperienced. The battle was fairly even from a statistical standpoint—neither team registering two first-downs in a row.

Members of the faculty, office staff, and students are cordially invited to a meeting of the Pan-American Club to be held at the college "Y," Friday, November 10, at 8:00 p.m. At that time there will be a short talk by Dr. Guillermo Bertoni, former Minister of Agriculture of Paraguay.

A discussion will be led by Dr. De Meo of Buenos Aires, Argentina, on the background of the Argentine Situation. Dr. Meio has recently come to this country, and speaks English fluently.

You remember the law of physics that two objects cannot occupy the same space at the same time. Just so with war materials urgently needed at the fronts and personal packages. For that reason our Government has requested that all civilian Christmas packages be sent before Dec. 1st.

So we of Railway Express ask you to help us (and yourselves too) by doing these three simple things, in addition to shopping early:

1. Send your gifts before Dec. 1st. Laundry can keep to its regular schedule. When packages are ready to go, phone the Railway Express agent.
2. Wrap your packages carefully and securely.
3. Address them clearly, with your own and their recipient's name, street number, city and state.

BARI

At the Red Cross clubs in Foggia I talked with Emily Bradsher from Roxboro. Emily is an American Red Cross staff assistant and, incidentally, is doing a wonderful job—just ask any G. I. Ted Seidel, who is in charge of all Red Cross installations at Foggia (and brother, that's a real job) used to live in Charlotte. It was at Foggia that I saw Lt. John Snell from Columbia. He was terribly excited because I was the first person he had seen who knew that Columbia was not necessarily in South Carolina. Major Wyatt Exum, whose home is in Goldsboro, also seemed pleased to find a Carolina classmate at Foggia. Elizabeth Thornton from Greensboro is a Red Cross hospital recreation worker at Foggia and it was there that I danced with Woody Thomas from Greenville.

There was a time when Naples might have served as "Little North Carolina." In those days it was almost impossible to walk down dirty, crowded Via Roma without meeting at least three North Carolinians on each corner. In fact, one ordnance outfit boasted approximately 100 men from North Carolina. From that group I remember Joe Carruthers, George Underwood, J. A. Gray, David Barber, Jack Allbright, Garland Nall, Charley Yates, and Robert Moore, all from Greensboro. In front of the PX I met Lt. Charles Hayworth from High Point and Capt. Pat Pastore, both of whom attended North Carolina State College. The Naples list also included Capt. Joe Hunter from Charlotte, Dexter Freeman from Thomasville, and Tom Pitts, who was a photographer for the Twin City Sentinel in Winston-Salem before the war. At Red Cross Headquarters there are R. Alton Jackson from Winston-Salem, Wayne Arnold from Greensboro, Jack Poole from Raleigh, and Herman Armstrong from Goldsboro.

With the Fifth Army near Bologna an entire ordnance outfit is still grieving for Charley King of Wilmington and Raleigh and today in Rome, Fred Panton, war correspondent for Readers' Digest, is excited about plans for a trip back to the states because he wants to visit his friend William Mead Prince and Chapel Hill again.

By HAZEL B. SHORE.

There will be a meeting of The Technician staff, Friday evening at 5:00 p.m., on November 10.

Have a Coca-Cola = So glad you're back

...or offering a soldier the comforts of home HOME! No place like it. And nobody knows it better than a fighting man back on furlough. Ice-cold Coca-Cola is one of the comforts of home that belongs in your family refrigerator. At the words Have a "Coke", refreshment joins the party. The good old American custom of the pause that refreshes is spreading in many lands around the globe,—a symbol of our friendly home-ways.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY THE CAPITAL COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY, Inc. Dial 2-1179 Raleigh, N. C.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".
