Student Legislature To Be Held Next Week At Capitol

State College Is Host At Annual Affair

The Tenth North Carolina Student Legislature is slated to be held December 6 and 7 in the state Capitol. It was announced this week by officers of the North Carolina Student Legislative Council, an organization composed of students, student organizations, and interested faculty members from many colleges throughout the state. The Student Legislature was founded in 1936 for the purpose of giving students a chance to participate in the activities of governmental nature and to gain practice in public debate.

The Assembly has proven to be a prophetic sounding board for state and national issues. Many of the resolutions which have been passed by the Assembly have later been enacted into State and National laws.

For example, in 1941, the Assembly passed a resolution demanding that the United States produce an Air force composed of 50,000 planes to be able to strike at any part of the globe at any time, and called for immediate construction of up to date aircraft carriers. If this foresight had been more widely shared, the Pearl Harbor Disaster might never have happened. The Assembly also demanded that a world government be established, or at least worked out in advance so that it might be operative at the earliest moment. The United Nations has since been established. In the 1945 Assembly, Wake Forest College proposed that women be allowed to serve on juries of North Carolina. The recent referendum vote placed this privilege and responsibility on the shoulders of the women of the state, proving that the students who voted for and passed the bill a year before the voters of North Carolina did were sound in their thinking.

Constructive Legislation
The Student Assembly has been characterized by many constructive pieces of legislation dealing with matters of local and national character during its decade of existence. Many measures concerning agricultural and forestry problems in the state of North Carolina have been presented. The Ag and Forestry Clubs of State College have been largely responsible for these measures.

Bills calling for a state-wide referendum on prohibition have been introduced several times. These have been consistently rejected as (Continued on Page 4)

Pep Rally Tonight

The last big Pep Rally of the season will be staged tonight in Riddick Stadium at 7 o'clock. This is "team appreciation rally" tonight. Come out and help give our mighty Wolfpack a send off to the Gator Bowl!

Blue And Gold Dance Tomorrow Night

Wolfpack Will Be Honored At Affair

The first annual Blue and Gold Dance will be held in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium on Saturday, November 30th. Sponsored by the Blue Key and Golden Chain fraternities, the dance will be semi-formal and will begin at eight o'clock, lasting until twelve.

The dance, which was conceived this year, is a result of the close cooperation between these two honorary senior fraternities. It is planned to be an annual affair with the proceeds to be used to finance the ever-active program of these two organizations.

The music for the Blue and Gold Dance will be furnished by Bill Allen and his orchestra. Allen, a native of Canton, N. C., is a sophomore in the school of engineering. The dance will be the debut on the State College Campus for the four-piece orchestra.

Gene LeGrand, senior from Shelby and chairman of the Blue and Gold dance committee, said of the orchestra, "Bill has a fine band and should go places. We think that he will furnish some of the best music of the Fall dance season."

Tickets may be purchased from any member of either the Blue Key or the Golden Chain, in the YMCA or the Students' Supply Store. Charles Schreyer, manager of ticket sales, stated that he believed the dance will be sold out in advance.

Besides the chairman of the dance committee, Gene LeGrand,

Medical Program For Veterans Explained

Declaring that there is considerable misunderstanding concerning medical care for ex-servicemen and women, Dr. A. J. Weirick of the Veterans' Administration pointed out today that out-patient treatment and hospitalization are subject to restrictions imposed by law. Dr. Weirick, who is chief medical officer of the VA's regional office here, said that many persons have the mistaken idea that any veteran may receive medical treatment and hospitalization and then send the bills to the Veterans' Administration for payment.

Dr. Weirick said that the recently announced contracts with the Hospital Saving Association of North Carolina did not change the basic regulations concerning medical care. These contracts, he explained, merely make it possible for the VA to provide better service to veterans with service-connected disabilities. They make no change in procedure relative to disabilities that are not service-connected.

"The law is that all veterans with service-connected disabilities—that is, with disabilities that arose out of their service to the country or that were aggravated in the service of their country—shall be furnished complete medical care for such disabilities," the medical officer stated. "The law provides that women with a service-connected disability is entitled to hospitalization or out-patient treatment for that disability. Veterans who have no service-connected disabilities may be hospitalized in VA hospitals or other federal hospitals under certain conditions."

A veteran with a service-connected disability who wants out-patient treatment by a private physician or hospitalization in a private hospital should get in touch with the regional office in Winston-Salem, explaining the treatment he needs and giving, if possible, the name of the doctor who will treat him. He may obtain additional information or assistance in completing an application at contact offices of the Veterans Administration or through the Hospital Saving Association or offices of the North Carolina Veterans Commission.

Veterans who wish treatment in a VA hospital should contact the VA hospital nearest their home. In cases of emergency, where the contact is by telephone, a doctor familiar with their condition should make the call. The Veterans Administration will accept collect calls from doctors relative to emergency treatment or hospitalization of veterans with service-connected disabilities.

For complete information in individual cases, see M. L. Shipman, contact representative, Room 106, 1911 Building.

London Professor To Speak On Genetics

Dr. K. Mather, head of the Genetics Department of John Innes Horticultural Institute, London, will deliver a series of four lectures on recent developments in genetic theory during a visit to State College November 27 to December 1.

Dr. Mather will be heard at 3 p.m. daily, November 27 through 29, and at 9:30 a.m., November 30. Born in 1911, Dr. Mather was graduated with top honors in botany from the University of Manchester in 1931. He received a Ph. D. degree in plant genetics from the University of London in 1933 and his D. Sc. degree in the same subject from the University of London in 1940.

As a University of Agriculture research scholar he spent 1931-33 at the John Innes Institution and 1933-34 at Svalof, Sweden. He held the position of biologist with R. A. Fisher at Galton Laboratory, University College, London, from 1934 to 1937. Holding a Rockefeller fellowship, he spent 1937-38 at the California Institute of Technology and Harvard University. Since 1938 he has headed the Genetics Department at John Innes.

Courtenay to Teach Sunday School Class

Arthur G. Courtenay has recently been named the Associate Pastor of the West Raleigh Presbyterian church. He will work with the students of State College.

Mr. Courtenay will have the same office as the other religious advisors on the campus. He will also teach the College Sunday School class, formerly taught by Dean E. L. Cloyd.

New VA Officer

Mr. Cecil B. Vuncannon, formerly of the counseling staff at Fort Bragg Separation Center, has been assigned to the Veterans' Guidance Center as assistant to Mr. E. S. Simpson, Training officer. Mr. Vuncannon is a graduate of Wake Forest University and for some time was connected with the public schools of Cumberland County.

Game Is Feature Attraction Of Annual Dad's Day Celebration

Four Seniors To Sing Swan Song

Firecrackers

A student in Watauga Hall was apprehended last Tuesday night for shooting firecrackers in that vicinity, according to Doug House, Chief Dormitory Assistant. The student has allegedly admitted shooting firecrackers in the past. House refused to give THE TECHNICIAN his name, pending action by the Campus Court.

Apology

In last week's issue we ran pictures of the highlights of the College Homecoming and published the winners of the decorations over the week-end. We apologize for not mentioning that the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity won the prize in Stunt Night presentations by presenting the best executed skit. The prize was a ten dollar gift of groceries from the Powell and Griffith Grocery. The Sigma Nu's won a record album presented by Thiem's for presenting the most original skit.

FFA Meets

All members of the F.F.A., including former members, will meet Monday night, December 2, at seven o'clock in room 121 of Tompkins Hall.

Annual Y.M.C.A. Christmas Program Is Next Thursday

ROTC Aspirants Must Apply by Dec. 4th

Any Veteran student desiring to enter the advanced ROTC course beginning with the Winter Term, 6 January 1947, should obtain application blanks from the College Military Department, fill them out and return before December 4th. An aptitude test and physical examination to determine an applicant's qualifications for acceptance will be given on December 5th and 6th respectively.

Ag Chemists To Meet Thurs. to Reorganize

The Society of Agricultural Chemists which was founded at State College in 1940, has once more become active. In 1943 the organization was forced to cease functioning because most of its members had entered the armed forces.

During the years when the S. A. C. was active many lectures and discussions of interest to the Agricultural Chemist were sponsored.

The Society is open to all students taking Agricultural Chemistry and to any students taking work in Biological Chemistry or related sciences and having a background in chemistry.

On Wednesday, November 20, 1946 a business meeting was held and a large portion of this meeting was devoted to the election of officers. Ray Paten was elected president, Maxine Smith was elected vice-president, and Eugene Glock was elected to the combined office of secretary and treasurer. After the elections Professor G. Howard Satterfield, faculty advisor, gave a short talk.

The next meeting of the Society of Agricultural Chemists will be held Thursday, December 5, 1946 at 7:00 p.m., in Room 101 Withers Hall. All undergraduate and graduate students of Agricultural Chemistry and associated courses are invited to attend.

Aeronautic Initiates

At a ceremony held Tuesday night, Nov. 12, the following student organizations were initiated into The Institute of Aeronautical Sciences: Thomas Baker, Sam Owen, John Park, Fred Peacock, Dick Rhynes, Charles Shuford, David Simpson, Robert Thompson, George Upchurch, Enols Vail, and Mack Stamps.

Notice

The tray line in the cafeteria will open at 5:15 instead of 5:30 beginning Monday Dec. 2nd.

Bowl Bid May Depend On Outcome of Game

Coach Beattie Feathers' 1946 Wolfpack winds up a ten game schedule tomorrow afternoon when Coach Clark Shaugnessy's Maryland Old Liners invade Riddick Stadium for a Southern Conference engagement.

The game will be the feature of Dad's Day, annually sponsored by the Student Council and the Monogram Club. Each of the players' dads will have special seats on the sidelines, and regular students' fathers will sit with their sons in section 5 on the East side of the stadium.

Tomorrow afternoon's tilt will ring down the curtain for four of State's key players, as their four years' eligibility will have run out.

First of all, Howard "Touch-down" Turner, who has sparked the Wolfpack to many triumphs in his four years here and who has been placed on the All-Southern first team for the past two years, will end his brilliant collegiate career in the Maryland tussle. Turner's most prominent feat while at State, probably, was his 105 yard run against Duke last year at Durham.

Curt Ramsey, bruising tackle, who doubles as a baseball pitcher, also finishes his collegiate career tomorrow. Curt started at State in 1939 and played on the '40 and '41 varsity squads before entering the service. He returned to the college early this year, and led the Red Terror baseball team to its first State title since 1928. His great defensive play in the Wolfpack line has made him one of the outstanding players on this '46 squad.

Bobby Courts, who has been playing quite a bit in this year, will also turn in his equipment for the last time after tomorrow's contest. Bobby, last year, was the starter at left end, but the return of such greats as George Blomquist and Al Phillips to the Feathers fold has pushed him to the number three team. He will be remembered for his fine play against Wake Forest last year when the Wolfpack was edged 19-18.

Last, but by no means least, State will lose the greatest and wisest to have been at this institution in more than (Continued on Page 3)

Phi Psi Initiates Ten New Members

At the regular meeting held last Tuesday night in the chapter room at the Textile School, The Eta Chapter of Phi Psi Fraternity initiated ten new members. The new members who were chosen in accordance with the high standards expected of the Phi Psi Fraternity were: William H. Barwell of Whitnits, S. C.; William T. Brown of Charlotte, N. C.; Kenneth E. Caldwell of Concord, N. C.; Thomas J. Clark of Charlotte, N. C.; George D. Clayton of Cary, N. C.; Charles R. Kuhn of Raleigh, N. C.; James B. Lowrey of Newbern, N. C.; Joseph G. Melton of Avondale, N. C.; John K. Odell of Concord, N. C.; Donald B. Stillwell of Charlotte, N. C.

The Phi Psi Fraternity is a National Honorary Fraternity of Textile men. It was formed on March 18, 1903 at the Philadelphia College of Textile Engineering and grew rapidly. It now has chapters in all of the Textile Schools of the country. The Eta Chapter here at State College was organized in May of 1924. The Fraternity has as its goals the promotion of good fellowship, friendly feelings between its members and the advancement of Fraternity is the largest and most respected textile fraternity in the Textile Industry. The Phi Psi world and its alumni hold some of the highest positions of trust and respect in the industry.

Ludington Selected To National Committee

Dr. John R. Ludington, professor of industrial arts education at State College, has been selected as a member of the national advisory committee for the scholastic industrial arts awards, it was learned this week.

This committee will assume responsibility for the formation of plans for a National Industrial Arts Fair to be held during the month of August, 1947, at Chicago. The project is sponsored by the publishers of Scholastic Magazines and a number of nationally known industrial concerns which supply school shops with tools, machines, and supplies. Prizes and awards in excess of $3,000 are to be offered for student work done in each of seventeen classifications for phases of Industrial Arts work.

Found

A watch was found at the football game on Saturday, November sixteenth. If the person who lost same can identify it for Harlan C. Brown, head librarian, the watch will be returned.

The sponsors for the Blue and Gold Dance have been announced by Gene Legrand, chairman of the Dance Committee. They are pictured above. (Left to right: Top row, Mrs. Gene Legrand of Shelby with Gene Legrand; Miss Mary Howell of Raleigh for Charles Schreyer; Miss Edna Ravis of Raleigh for Frank M. Dowell. Bottom row: Miss Betty Burnette of Roxboro for Douglas House; Mrs. Grady Martin for her husband; Miss Alma English of Wallace, for Edgar Orr. Sponsors not shown are: Mrs. O. Max Gardner of Shelby, with her husband; Miss Evelyn White of Atlanta, Ga., with John Wagoner, president of Golden Chain.

The following are members of the committee: O. Max Gardner, Shelby; Douglas House, Beaufort; Grady Martin, Stoney Point; Frank McDowell, Clyde; Edgar Orr, Rocky Mount; Charles Schreyer, Manoronock, N. Y.; and Jack Wagoner, Gibsonville. Charles Schreyer also announced that the Maryland team had been invited to the dance. The Wolfpack will be honored for the completion of one of the most outstanding football seasons in the history of N. C. State.

Technician Attacked...

Letters in the "Open Forum" column this week make it necessary for THE TECHNICIAN to clarify several muddled pictures of current issues. It seems that our editorials in last week's paper did not set too well with some people.

... By Vets Club

The Vets Club is angry because of some of the terms we used and the fact that we have not wholeheartedly sided with them in their fight to abolish the "F" rule amendment. We apologize for using the terms "threats" and "ultimatums" in describing the official actions of the Vets Club. We were not being fair to the members of this club who have worked long and hard for a solution to the "F" rule problem, in an orderly manner, too. We commend the Vets Club for their interest in student welfare. We are glad to have them at our side as champions of student interests and promoters of a better State College.

We reiterate our stand of last week, however, that the methods employed by the Vets Club in its cause were of a "pressure-power" nature whether officially or unofficially. We are not opposed to their motive for certainly the "F" rule is an untimely and somewhat questionable amendment to our scholastic rules. We placed the blame for the "F" rule issue on the Faculty Council for the untimeliness of their action. We are still of the opinion that the suggested compromise which has been approved by the Student Council merits serious consideration by the Vets Club and the Faculty Council.

It is good for the college to have a critical student body. It is even more important for the student body to be a constructive unit, actually engaged in tasks that improve each phase of college life. The time has come for the Vets Club to move out in a constructive program for far more urgent improvements than the abolishing of the "F" rule. Potentially, the Vets Club could be the strongest promoting organization on the campus and yet they have let a term go by fighting over an issue that is vital to a few, yes, but letting the more serious problems existing at State College go unsolved.

The General Assembly meets in January to consider increases in wages for teachers and professors. Students at Carolina are preparing a petition calling for a sizable increase in college teacher wages. A similar move by State College students would be valuable toward righting the wrong done to our faculty. This is but one thing that the Vets Club could sponsor that is vitally important to the students now and the future of the college.

... And Irate Council Member

An irate and slightly sarcastic member of the Student Council wrote a letter to THE TECHNICIAN attacking us on several points that we could throw right back into his lap if angry criticism or "mud-slinging" ever accomplished anything. The subject of his anger is an editorial written by our Managing Editor about the Campus Court.

It is unfortunate that the Raleigh News and Observer, which has paid little attention to our crack football team this year, should pick on this incomplete editorial (without our permission) as a source for a news item which appeared in last Sunday's paper. We certainly did not intend to give the impression that a Klan was operating here for nothing is further from the truth. We still believe, however, that prohibiting publishing of the names of convicted students is a debatable theory although we now see the strong points in favor of such a practice. At any rate we want the students in particular to know that a very fine Campus Court is in operation in connection with our Honor System.

We agree with Council member Newell that the Campus Government and Honor System needs publicity and with the cooperation of the Student Government Council, THE TECHNICIAN will cover the doings of the Campus Government when they do something. The important thing now is to get everyone working together in a concerted effort to make the Campus Government the highly effective governmental machine of which it is capable.

Student Legislature

The State College students have a wonderful opportunity to study and gain experience from the State Student Legislature Assembly which will be held in the State Capitol building next week-end, December 6-7.

After a great deal of discussion and debate and rumors that the assembly would not be held in the capitol because of its decision to admit delegates from the Negro colleges of the state, it was at first reported that the Assembly would not be held this year.

Students at State and at other colleges were very much disturbed over the report that no Assembly would be held and immediately voiced their support of another assembly.

OPEN FORUM

No Klan Here!

Dear Editor Fiesler:
Your recent discourse on the conduct of the honor council trial of some weeks ago was a poor excuse for lack of ability and willingness to editorialize on the trial and its significance to the standards of the student body.

"THE TECHNICIAN is restricted from giving you further information about the trial . . . nor can any of the circumstances surrounding the case be publicized." Has THE TECHNICIAN made any effort to determine further information regarding the trial and the case? With the Managing Editor and the News Editor on the Student Government Council, such investigation should not have been difficult. The Constitutional provisions with regard to secrecy state only that "Campus Government trials will be secret . . . no part of the trial may be made public except the verdict . . . (Constitution, Article VII, Section 1); and " . . . every effort shall be made to protect to the full the welfare of the North Carolina State College and the rights and future welfare of the defendant . . ." (By-Laws, Article II, Section 8). Narrow indeed are these limits. Has THE TECHNICIAN ever consulted with the Student Government Council to determine how far it may go in publicizing cases and trials, or is it easier to sit back and give poor news coverage and criticism? Are the jobs of the two TECHNICIAN editors who sit on the Student Government Council so separated that they cannot combine their governing and reporting duties to give full coverage to the proceedings of the Student Government Council?

Have you tried to discover that a small group of students comprising the trial body realized the tremendous responsibility rested on them by the student body—to try men for alleged offenses and make decisions having life-long effect on these men? Have you tried to ascertain that in this realization, those students worked long hours over procedures for the trial to keep it as absolutely fair and just to all concerned, and as such in accordance with the principles of American civil law as was humanly possible? Did you know, to try to determine, that a professional court secretary was hired to record the proceedings of the trial and that those verbatim proceedings accompanied the decision to the Administration for review? Do these sound like Klan tactics? Have you ever read the provisions for reporting of offenses and the trial body and procedure outlined in detail in the By-Laws of Campus Government? Are these also Klan tactics? These are facts that could have been published in truly significant contributions to student welfare in THE TECHNICIAN news items and editorials. Instead you have chosen to insinuate the existence of secret and undemocratic proceedings at this college—and insinuation that newspapers throughout the State have already taken up and used in damaging news accounts.

No—the names of the men could not have been mentioned—and a very excellent reason exists for such a provision in the Constitution and By-Laws—a set of rules ratified by the students as their governing laws. A careful scrutiny of the Constitution and By-Laws would reveal to you that the object of the Campus Government and Honor System is "to give direction to the weak, stern challenge to the sometimes wayward, and through due process of law to remove from the campus the few who persistently manifest in their daily living a disregard for honesty, integrity, and worthy scholarly effort." In other words, the Campus Government is trying to build character—not tear it down. The object is not, as the TECHNICIAN apparently advocates, to mark a man for life and perhaps break his spirit and desire for good citizenship both on and off campus by smearing his name far and wide. The wayward received stern challenge by their suspension—if they are the kind of men we want at State College, they will return and be better students and citizens for their experience. Yes, the students' good names are to be protected, for in this way, they may become better students. To do otherwise is reminiscent of the Klan tactics of which you speak . . .

Very truly yours,
WILLIAM A. NEWELL.

What Feud?

To the Editor:
Last week an article appeared in the student newspaper, stating the stand the Vets Club has taken regarding the "F" rule. In the adjoining column (in larger type), was an editorial by the esteemed editor condemning the Vets Club for daring to investigate and reach convictions regarding the "F" rule. I fail to see where Mr. Fiesler has any grounds whatsoever for "reprimanding" the writers of last week's letter and stating, in so many words, that they were liars. In effect, Mr. Fiesler should have been, but apparently was not, in command of the facts concerning the case before making the publication.

I have followed this situation closely since its beginning. I know every move the Vets Club has made in its efforts to uphold the students' views in the matter. The Vets Club had all the information about the "F" rule that was possible to attain from the administration. This organization made NO threats against the administration; it gave NO ultimatums to the Student Council; it has NOT tried to "force the repeal of the 'F' rule." In short, Mr. Fiesler, you are a profound prevaricator. I wonder, too, Mr. Fiesler, why THE TECHNICIAN nor the much-touted Student Council took no action on the "F" rule until the veterans started investigating. The Student Council was resting placidly on its laurels; THE TECHNICIAN was playing shut-mouth. For your information, Mr. Fiesler, here is the scoop.

After the Vets Club had gathered all the information, we drew up our proposal and presented it to our "representatives." The Student Council then appointed a committee. This committee called upon Colonel Harrelson. The Colonel, then and there, told the Student Council he had reached the conclusion that the "F" rule was too severe in its present form, but it might be cut to the blanket 2 point deduction for each course failed. That was Colonel Harrelson's idea; he made that recommendation; the Student Council has done nothing more than accept the Colonel's compromise and present it to the faculty council. The representatives of the Vets Club were told by the Student Council that the Council was "being ground between two millstones." Their only desire was to grasp at any straw that might get them from between the proverbial millstones. Mr. Fiesler states that the Student Council has been "patient and tolerant" with the students. We do not want patience and tolerance. We want representation; representation by men who have the intestinal fortitude to reach their own convictions and stand by them for the welfare of the students who elected them for this express purpose.

MALCOM EDWARDS, Pres.
By: John Evans, Hugh Palmer, Bob Baker

The Student Legislature Council in charge of planning the meeting has cleared up the difficulties and has sent out invitations to all the colleges in the state. State College will not sponsor the meeting as it always has in the past, but will again be host to group when they arrive in Raleigh.

The Council and the students from the various colleges owe a debt of gratitude to three outstanding students here at State who played a large part in assuring that the Assembly would be held as usual in the State Capitol. These students are Ira Helms, P. H. McDonald, and Leon Mann.

We would like to quote from the Daily Tar Heel its comment in connection to the significance of the meeting. "The legislature assembly always has been important since its innovation in 1936 as instrumental in teaching students the fundamentals of law-making as an outlet for student thought. Its value to the students concerned cannot be underestimated.

"Of particular significance this year because it is meeting shortly before the state legislature goes into one of its most important sessions, the student assembly should be filled with interesting newsworthy, intelligent topics of general and special interest to every student in the state of North Carolina."

From Other Colleges

College Topics U. of Va. had these words of praise for our college in a recent editorial.

"A NOD TO N. C. STATE"

"Last week-end eight representatives of the university were the guests of N. C. State College for the football game and other highlights of its homecoming week-end. This invitation was extended by the president of the student council of N. C. State. For its most hospitable attitude towards the university, the student council and the student body of this college deserve our heartiest congratulations.

"Having seen how appreciated and well-meant this invitation was our student council has followed in State's footsteps by issuing a similar invitation to the University of West Virginia and plans to do likewise with North Carolina. It is our hope that these schools will respond as favorably to the idea as we did. It adds not only to the spirit of friendship between the schools meeting on the gridiron, but also to the social, fraternal and academic ideas exchanged through this kind of meeting by representatives of the two schools."

The University Hatchet, George Washington U., Washington, D. C. says to its Vets Club . . .

"YOU'RE BIG BOYS NOW"

"For the second time since its birth, the Students Veterans Club has decided that they wish to make it fully understood that they are veterans first and students second, and that the student body must bow its head and realize that the power which their "tremendous" membership of between 500 and 600 veteran students has, makes them the reigning group on the campus.

"After all, their leaders imply, they are the first such group to form on any college campus in the country and they must be treated with respect. And remember, they say, consult us before making a move, or we will unleash the power of the veteran upon the student body.

"Finally, they have decided once again to make it clear that they will work apart from the student body and they are to be considered a separate entity in the general scheme of things.

"Our reaction to all this is one of amusement and disgust. The Veterans Club has placed itself in the position of a young upstart, much like the child who wishes his mother to buy him everything in sight, regardless of the cost.

"No organization on campus has received more whole-hearted support from the student body than the Veterans Club. In their infancy, they were received with open arms by the student body, and would have gone under a few times, had it not been for some students who appealed in their behalf for support of projects they undertook.

"The Veterans Club has violated all the principles of rehabilitation which were set up for them. The whole purpose of the G. I. Bill, Job Training and the many other advantages given them as a reward for a job well done have been defeated by a group of veterans who feel that they do not wish to go along with the idea that these agencies and principles were set up so that they could work their way back into the general scheme of things and finally think once again as the majority does.

"If the Veterans Club wishes to turn around and bite the hand that feeds it, it will find that this student body can be a tough one when aroused, so tough that the club will find itself soundly spanked."

POOR FLORIDA—

Well, old Florida got what was coming to them. The Wolfpack really rolled. We have heard lots of people say that the Wolfpack couldn't score much, but seems like they have done just that in several games in spite of what the people say and the opposing team does. Our big team is hot.

ANSWER—

The office of THE TECHNICIAN has been receiving so many "blasts at Barton" that this harassed would be "helper of the multitudes" tried to find somebody who would lend a helping hand and lay himself open to few blasts by authoring a little for this corner. The only answer we received that even faintly resembled the sympathy we were searching for was, "The only helping hand you'll ever get is at the end of your arms." So we'll keep on scribbling ourselves to C. E. Blackstock we would like to say that we admit we are ignorant, or we wouldn't be flunking out of school, and that we most certainly did not mean any slander against any person working in the cafeteria. We have nothing but the highest respect for you guys. We merely felt it our right to write a few criticisms, for which we will offer no alibi.

A SHOPPIN' WE WILL GO—

We innocently agreed to go shopping with Mrs. E. the other day fully ignorant of the pitfalls and obstacles lying in our way. Gallantly, and as if we had money to pay for such things, we watched our wee wifey try on "cheap" little three hundred dollar coats on the second floor of a certain ladies' ready to wear joint. After uttering convincing little phrases such as, "My goodness, these coats just fail miserably to do a thing for you, they subtract," (and how) we succeeded in getting our wife pointed toward the elevator. It seems that there just "ain't" no modesty left in the modern female, because right out there in the middle of the floor was a gal parading around in those "pink" jobs that nobody mentions. "Get out of here, you lug," shouted Mrs. B. "EEEEEEK," screeched a certain gal, who should never try out for the movies, as we tried vainly to act as if we didn't know what was going on. We sure wish they would put up a sign or something to protect the poor bewildered "can't win" male. If you ever get sucked into going shopping, don't dare go on the second floor of any woman's shop until you have made a detailed reconnaissance.

HUMOR!!!!!!

This week we come up with several awful jokes that have been brought to our attention by different people on the campus who care nothing for their reputation. Phil Upchurch says that he doesn't feel at all bad about the clothing shortage now that he saw the headline that stated—"Railroad President Testifies In Union Suit." From Jay "Handsome" Hardie comes the following attempt—Attractive New Neighbor: "Little boy, I need a loaf of bread from the store at the corner. Do you think you could go for me?" Little Boy: "No Ma'am, but my dad said he could." It seems that everyone on this campus is turning pot. Last week we heard one, now this week we are hearing another one. Joe Orland is the man who is running around saying it. Here it is.

A dashing young fellow named Joe
Has lost all his happy glow
He used to be sunny,
He had lots of money—
But that was two blondes ago.

Well, let's finish off a highly successful season by finishing off Maryland.

Trailwood Talks

By EDWARD G. ROBINSON

Since the city of Trailwood has been established, there has been a decided increase in the birthrate and more promised soon. Our latest baby, a girl, was born to Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Nicholson. There is quite an epidemic of girls in Trailwood, so you fathers who have everything crossed but your mother-in-law had better breeze by Fred Sharkey's trailer and get the dope—Sharkey got a boy!

These fathers are very proud of their youngsters. Most people wonder how we manage the children when it comes their bed time and we have to study. It's really not bad, for most of them sleep on the studio couch and fall asleep as soon as they are put to bed. As for the little ones who annoy us while we are in deep concentration, Mother takes over and walks the very limited floor space until baby quiets down.

Most of the mothers here in Trailwood work and have to take their children to a nursery across town, which is most inconvenient. One incident that occurred to a couple recently is typical of the problems the family with children has. This couple received a telephone call from the nursery demanding that the nursery bill be paid. After a slight argument it was learned that the bill had already been paid. This fact, of course, did not prevent the embarrassment of the parents. But "life with father" is often financially embarrassing. This reporter thinks that it is time we got a nursery of our own in Trailwood. Since most of us have to watch our budget this would be much cheaper and easier on the mothers.

Next term there will be a square dance sponsored by Trailwood for all students at State College. The admission will be small and the funds from the dance will go to build a nursery for our kids. As most you people know Trailwood had its first dance two weeks ago. Everyone that went had a swell time and all want to have another one next term. The king and queen of Trailwood were selected at this dance. Queen of Trailwood is Mrs. Scott Ferebee; king is Mr. Tom Lewis. Prizes were also given to the expectant mothers. Mrs. Clyde McSwain won a prize for the most recently expectant mother and Mrs. J. P. Young won a prize for the mother who has been waiting on her arrival the longest.

Dillon's Dallyings

With the football team completing a very successful season tomorrow afternoon, all eyes will turn next Tuesday night to Coach Everett Case's Red Terror basketball squad...

The 1947 Red Terrors should be the finest ever to represent this institution, but Coach Case is not committing himself as to how good or how bad his initial team will be...

That brings us down to the very distressing news that students and only students will be admitted to home basketball games. No wives. No dates. Let's hope the General Assembly, which convenes here at the Capitol building in January...

Incidentally, mark December 10 on your calendar with a red pencil. That's the night that the very strong Hanes Hosiery Mill semi-pro outfit comes to Raleigh to battle State. This team is really great...

In mid-December, the Southern Conference will meet to decide among other things, if the annual tourney should be played in Raleigh. There have been several schools who have wanted to move the tourney to the more spacious Duke gym...

Harvard's football team will come South to play Virginia at Charlottesville next year. This will be the first time in a mighty long time that a school like Harvard, Yale, Princeton, etc. has come south...

It's UCLA and Illinois in the Rose Bowl, Rice and Tennessee in the Orange Bowl, The Georgia-Georgia Tech winner versus an unnamed team in the Sugar Bowl...

We want to take this opportunity of thanking Mr. Charlie Doak, Ray Reeve, and Charlie Daniel for helping us with our predictions this year. We also want to thank all of the students for their response...

Wrestling Team Coach Al Crawford of the State grants has announced that the State Wrestling team will hold daily workouts from 4:30 to 6:00 beginning Monday, December 2...

Red Terrors Play Cherry Point In Opener Tuesday

Begin Rough 28 Game Schedule; Play At Asheboro On Thursday

By LONNIE WEATHERS Following closely on the heels of the State-Maryland clash in Riddick Stadium Saturday, which officially closes the '46 season for the Wolfpack, State's Red Terrors ring up the curtain Tuesday night in Southern basketball circles...

State Starters Undecided Wide open battles have been raging through the pre-season drills, and although several combinations have clicked with clock-like precision, Coach Case has yet to name the five most likely to take to the floor against the Marines...

Leo Katakavek, veteran of pre-war days, and Norman Sloan appear to be the best bets for the starting guards. Aky assisting in this department will be Harold Snow, Eddie Bartels, Richard Dick, and "Hot Dog" Hartzog...

Robert Negly seems destined to dominate the starting berth at center with plenty of help from Bob Hahn, elongated center who has been shedding pre-season clumsiness and is fast developing into one of Coach Case's dependables...

Jack McComas looks like a sure bet at one of the forward positions with the remaining post going to anyone of Warren Cartier, Charles Stine, Glenn Bracken, and Richard Davis...

In any manner Coach Case sees best to take to the floor, the squad promises a fast-breaking quintet with the accompanying height all so all important to the vital under-the-basket work.

Coach Butter Anderson, tutor of the "B" football squad, has been assisting the Red Terrors in their work in the evenings and will organize a "B" basketball squad at a later date.

Turner, Courts, Gibson And Ramsey End Grid Careers Tomorrow

So far this season, the 1946 Wolfpack has won seven of nine contests, and a win tomorrow would give State's best gridiron record since the 1927 team won the Southern Conference title.

Included in this fine record is a 13-5 victory over Duke, 14-7 triumph over Clemson, 25-0 shutout of Davidson, 14-6 win over Wake Forest, 49-7 shelling of VMI, 27-7 licking of Virginia, and last Saturday's 37-6 win over Florida.

If the Wolfpack wins tomorrow, Coach Feathers will close out three years of coaching at State with a total of eight team victories against 10 defeats, which is a pretty good record.

Tomorrow will probably be the last time this season the current edition of the Wolfpack will make an appearance, although rumors have been circulating that the "Pack has received 'feelers' from various minor bowls throughout the country."

SPE Tops Sigma Chi, 12-0; Finals Wednesday Night

Fraternity Playoff Standings The SPE fraternity moved into the finals in the fraternity football bracket by winning a 12-0 shutout victory over the Sigma Chi entrant. As a result of a 12-0 loss to the PIKA team last week, the Sigs are thus eliminated from the series. The SPE's showed much better defensive power in the game last Tuesday, and this factor proved to be the difference in the two clubs.

The SPE's scored first on the initial play of the second quarter when Reid Joff broke through the Sig line on fourth down to block Jones' attempted kick. Barbee fell on the ball over the goal line for the score. The attempted extra point failed when Foreman's pass to Boger fell incomplete.

The SPE's final tally came on the last play of the ball game when Bill Rierson intercepted Charlie David's pass on the Sig 10 and reached the distance to the goal line untouched. Foreman attempted to run around right end for the extra point, but he was stopped on the 1.

The very muddy field kept both teams from performing at their best, and Bud Foreman, the SPE's very tricky scabcat found the ground too slippery to attempt any runs, and as a result, the SPE's limited their attack almost exclusively to passes. The Sigma Chi's also found the running too tough, so they also took to the air.

Jim Boger, lanky SPE end, was the outstanding player on the field, both on offense and defense. The identical 12-0 scores posted by the SPE's and PIKA's in this championship series makes next Wednesday night's championship game a natural. The PIKA-SPE game will follow a championship dormitory game which will begin at 7:00 under the lights in Riddick Stadium.

As we go to press, the dorm finalists have not yet been determined. In one bracket, Gold and S. Watauga still remain as possible candidates, and in the other bracket, 3rd Bagwell, 2nd Turlington, and Berry remain in the running.

Bowl Talk

Some well-informed sources revealed earlier this week that N. C. State is now in possession of "feelers" for a possible post-season game in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla. should the Wolfpack take the Old-Liners from Maryland into camp by a decisive margin tomorrow.

A prominent Florida paper quoted Dr. Fisher, chairman of the faculty committee on athletics at N. C. State, as saying he didn't favor bowl games, "but as long as other schools who are our rivals desire to play in them, I shall vote to permit N. C. State to engage in one if it is invited."

McGehee Speaks At Textile Society Meet

At the regular meeting of the Thompkins Textile Society held last Thursday night at the textile school, Dr. William McGehee, Professor of Psychology, spoke on the problems of Personnel Testing in the Textile Industry. Dr. McGehee who has just completed a testing program for Foremen in Textile Plants gave a complete report on the problems confronting textile men in the personnel testing field. This is a new type of testing program in the textile field but it is finding wide usage.

In his talk Dr. McGehee discussed the results of his research, the different tests that were given to the foremen and pointed out the benefits as well as the weaknesses of the tests and how they could be improved. Dr. McGehee compared his results as to qualifications of a good foreman with those held by the management and found that there was a definite correlation and that through experience management had selected foremen who were well suited for their jobs. He elaborated on the need for a program of testing for textile workers and of the bright future in the textile field for men who are trained in handling personnel problems.

Dairy Manufacturers Met Here Last Week

A dairy manufacturing conference was held Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of last week. The dairy manufacturing section of the Department of Animal Industry conducted this conference.

The purpose of the meeting was to provide the latest information in the technical phases of milk and ice cream processing. One day was devoted to milk and ice cream control.

Dairy plant owners, managers, as well as sanitarians, and many others interested in dairy manufacturing attended the conference.

A bulletin was sent to all concerned with dairy manufacturing by the State College Extension Division. This bulletin advised the persons interested in attending the conference to make advance arrangements with the hotels of Raleigh for their accommodations.

Winston-Salem Classes
The college Extension Division has also organized night classes in Winston-Salem and Greensboro. In Reynolds High School, Winston-Salem, the following courses have been meeting: Industrial Organization and Management, Differential Calculus, Industrial Psychology, Machine Design, Business Law, and Electronics. In the Administration Building of the Woman's College, Greensboro, these courses have been meeting: Calculus, Algebra, Calculus, Analytical Geometry, Trigonometry, and Industrial Electronics.

The costs for these courses were a tuition fee of five dollars per term hour and a registration fee of two dollars.

Forestry Club Hears Hunting Expert Talk

Bill Hammet from the N. C. Division of Game and Inland Fisheries spoke to the Forestry Club Tuesday evening on "Hunting and Fishing in North Carolina." Mr. Hammet presented two color films and commented briefly on the pictures were shown.

One of the films was a short reel taken in Currituck County of a Negro man skinning wild animals. According to Mr. Hammet, the man skins a muskrat in thirty seconds and averages three hundred skins a day. The fellow in the movie also skinned a fox, a mink, a weasel and other small animals. The second film was a reel showing outdoor scenes taken in various sections of North Carolina of hunting and wild game in general.

At the present time Mr. Hammet is engaged in making a wildlife survey of North Carolina. This survey was started last year and will take approximately three years to complete. The actual work which Mr. Hammet is conducting consists of making a survey of the plant cover on the land area of the state, classifying the cover, and determining the wildlife population by associating the animal species with the particular environment in which they are known to live.

After the films were shown, Mr. Hammet conducted an open discussion, answering volunteer questions from the Foresters. One question of special interest to the wood choppers was the problem of game laws and the probable success which the game wardens expect to have in their program of enforcement. Mr. Hammet insisted that "we conservation men like to hunt as well as you Foresters" and admitted that the enforcement of game laws has not reached maximum efficiency yet. He also stated that the hardest problem which confronts the wildlife conservationist today is the difficulty of convincing the general public that the game laws are sensible and worthy of enforcement. Mr. Baker said that "we can not prevent all violations of the law, nor can we catch all violators, but we expect to improve our percentages in the future by the faculty on the Omaha, Nebraska Agronomy Conference and outline the future Agronomy Program. The one hour meeting will be at 7:00 p. m., Room 8 S. Patterson Hall on December 2. Guests are welcomed.

Radio Station WNCN Gets Loan of $1100

The Publications Board met last Wednesday, November 20 in the YMCA and passed several resolutions affecting campus publications and the Radio Station. The Radio Station WNCN was made a full member of the Board and granted a loan of $1100 to establish the best collegiate radio station in the U. S. here at N. C. State. The station has been handicapped by lack of proper equipment this term.

The editor and business manager of the Agronomer were voted a salary increase to $50 per month, equivalent to that now received by THE TECHNICIAN. The editor and business manager of the rejuvenated Watawgan were granted a salary increase to $25 per month each, also.

The committee on remedying the Print Shop oversteps condition reported that steps were being made to have THE TECHNICIAN printed downtown to relieve some of the congestion in the Print Shop here. The board will meet again Wednesday, November 27.

Agronomy Society Hears Talk on Cotton

The bi-monthly meeting of the Agronomy Society was held at the usual hour, 7:00 p. m. at Patterson Hall.

Dr. Thomas Kerr a member of the college staff, spoke to the agronomists about the outlook for cotton. He told the farmers that rayon, paper, and nylon created a situation much like the synthetic rubber and natural rubber, and like margarine and butter.

The future of cotton may suffer little change in the near future because of the tough durability of goods made from the crop. Shirting, sheeting, towels and underwear generally give better response to the laundry, give greater wear, show better snag tests, and hold up better under frequent dampness than the more glamorous rayon.

Cotton research is striving for three objectives: (1) Cheaper methods and normal acreages of production, (2) Development of new and better fiber types, and (3) Development of new uses including a combination in plastic materials.

Genetical progress is being made, however, at the present time there are few available varieties better for Carolina than the popular Coker strains.

Mechanically picked cotton was said to be essentially good, even though the market grade is a little lower than hand-picked cotton because of trash content.

During the brief business session, President Willford urged better and more prompt attendance at these very worthwhile meetings.

The next program will be a report by the faculty on the Omaha, Nebraska Agronomy Conference and outline the future Agronomy Program. The one hour meeting will be at 7:00 p. m., Room 8 S. Patterson Hall on December 2. Guests are welcomed.

STUDENT LEGISLATURE

lacking in adequacy. Many other issues have also been debated at length and rejected as inadequate.

Not all of the bills introduced in the legislature have been of such serious nature. In 1944 a bill introduced by one eastern college asked that buses be required to slow down to 30 miles per hour while passing state historical markers so that the riders could read the markers. It was promptly amended to include Burma Shave signs and subsequently defeated 97-1, showing that the students regard their "law making" with seriousness.

Numerous improvements have been installed this year, including a fairer means of seating delegates in the Senate. Each college that attends will have two seats in the Senate. This is an attempt to give the smaller colleges the same voice in the legislature as the larger colleges in one house of the legislature.

Another improvement is that rules will more nearly follow the rules of the North Carolina General Assembly, a move suggested by Secretary of State Eure. In the past, the Student Legislature has followed Robert's Rules of Order, and certain special rules which were modeled after those in use during the sessions of the General Assembly.

For the first time in the history of the Assembly, each House will elect its own officers. Previously the officers of both houses had been elected in the opening general session. That arrangement gave one house the power to elect the officers of the other house which is contrary to established practice in deliberative bodies. Secretary of State Eure, and Chancellor Harrelson pointed out this deviation from established practice.

Letters of invitation have been sent to the various colleges in North Carolina, and widespread interest has already been shown.

Notice From The News Staff

The news staff is making an effort to report all campus news, but, like everybody else, "we got our troubles."

THE TECHNICIAN is short of paper on which to print the news. Therefore, space in THE TECHNICIAN is limited; all the news which is reported is not printed. Some of the campus organizations are not receiving publicity. Some students are not familiar with the State College system of extra-curricular activities. Any student organization which does not get through campus publicity should have a reporter who is responsible for contacting a member of THE TECHNICIAN staff or getting the necessary information to THE TECHNICIAN office for publication.

Fraternities, both social and honorary, do not receive the publicity which some of their members think they should. THE TECHNICIAN staff is willing to remedy this situation, but an effective solution to the problem can be effected only with the cooperation of the fraternities. The Inter-Fraternity Council has been requested to recommend to the paper a fraternity reporter; this reporter will be responsible for the collection of fraternity news in any way that proves effective; he will also be responsible for getting the information to THE TECHNICIAN. Fraternities that do not receive enough publicity are urged to cooperate with the staff and offer any suitable suggestion to a member of the editorial staff of the paper.

THE TECHNICIAN is a student publication. Student suggestions and cooperation are needed to publish it.

Quick Change
for Loafers

Not much time for loafin' these days, so make the most of your precious leisure hours. Try the magic of this handsome moccasin for stepping instantly from high gear to easy idling. Lush moccasin leather. Flexible, long lived soles. So comfortable it will double for a house-slipper indoors.
