GLEANINGS

How Many More?

How many more North Carolina veterans of World War II will State College have to refuse admission to? The list has grown to unbelievable length already with still more of our North Carolina manhood to become eligible for training under the educational bill for veterans. The college is saturated beyond any reasonable limits already so the would-be students are being forced to seek admission at other colleges or to give up their educational ambitions for the next few years, at least.

North Carolina State College has done well in enlarging and arranging its facilities to care for the doubled enrollment. Many students and faculty feel that the college has admitted already more than a reasonable number of new students in light of the inadequate engineering labs and other limiting factors.

The demand of certain alumni for the college to admit more students seems unreasonable to us. The administration should, however, exert every effort within the present limits to make the college available for more veterans of North Carolina.

The main hope of State College for relief from the over-taxed situation now and for the admission of more of the many hundreds who have applied for entrance here lies in the 1947 General Assembly. It is their responsibility to see that this state-supported institution is provided with the equipment and money needed to educate the men who only a couple of years ago were being assured that they would be taken care of when they got home. Unless the appropriations the Greater University has asked for are approved by this legislature, the state of North Carolina will have again betrayed the men to whom great promises were made when the going was tough.

The first betrayal by the General Assembly was in 1945 when this college and Carolina presented requests for appropriations which would have greatly aided in handling this post-war emergency. The Legislature was forewarned of the crisis that would soon be facing State and Carolina, but the appropriations were slashed unmercifully. The crisis is here, and again the Greater University is seeking relief and aid to continue their important mission in the economic and social development of the state. Is another betrayal in the offing or shall the General Assembly rally to the aid of its educational institutions and the North Carolina veterans?

No Pay, No Profs

While members of the General Assembly debate and wrangle over the proposed salary increase for teachers and state employees, our State College professors continue the struggle of trying to do the impossible—make their budgets balance. They have watched the margin of savings diminish monthly for several years until now when there is not even an equilibrium in the average instructor's salary and the cost of living he must pay.

The list of good instructors who have deserted the scholastic field for better jobs in industry and business has grown steadily. Several departmental heads have left our cause for greener pastures. Tottering under the strain of a near 100% increase in enrollment, the college is struggling and carrying on despite hopelessly inadequate housing and teaching facilities. State College is in great danger of failing in the cause of veteran education, due to the loss of ill-paid professors.

While deliberation is necessary to effect just laws, we would hope that in the discussions of the budget our representatives will not overlook the seriousness of the plight of education in North Carolina. The situation here as elsewhere in our great state demands immediate and adequate rectification.

Trailwood Needs Help

Life in the mud-laden village of Trailwood is pretty tough in several respects. The inhabitants and their children are confined to a limited space of activities and their conveniences are not at all satisfactory. In short, we admire the spunk and determination of these young couples who have dared to live the normal and happy life in marriage under the extremely trying conditions of living in a trailer or Pre-fab house and attempting to make ends meet in these inflationary times.

Many problems have been worked out by the citizens of Trailwood themselves with little or no help from outside sources. Notable among these accomplishments is the grocery cooperative store that has been in operation for several weeks.

One of the major problems now is the lack of a social center or a center for community activities. The need for a place for the children to play, for religious services, meetings, recreation and other activities is immediately apparent to anyone who sees everyday the way these people are forced to live. Their plight is a distressing one and must be alleviated, in so much as is possible, at an early date.

In light of the obvious urgent needs of the ever-growing village for a social gathering place, we trust that the college will erect at the earliest possible date a building large enough and nice enough to accommodate the people of Trailwood. The need is now; the time is now for immediate remedial measures for the relief of these, our bravest and busiest students.

Self-liquidating

We read in the editorial column of the GREENSBORO DAILY NEWS in its discussion of the appropriations for the Greater University the following statements:

"For State College and for the University unit at Chapel Hill there would be allocated approximately $2,250,000 with which to retire loans previously made to foundations for construction of dormitories which the citizenship was told with great fanfare would be self-liquidating and constructed without any imposition upon the taxpayers or the state's fiscal structure."

The DAILY NEWS intimates that State and Carolina are "pulling a fast one" on the Woman's College, if they get appropriations enough to retire the loans on the dorms now being constructed at both institutions. This is a false apprehension and should be corrected.

The idea of "self-liquidating" dormitories originated at State College and was, at first, opposed by Carolina and the Woman's College. The Chancellor at Chapel Hill later became convinced of the need for some such action to house the veteran students and so State and Carolina "floated" loans for the construction of new dorms. The Woman's College remained strongly opposed to the idea, hence they have no such construction in the making.

The important thing we would like to get across is that this college did not ask for funds to retire these loans. The Advisory Budget Committee was responsible for requesting this allocation. State College is mainly interested in obtaining teaching facilities for the present enrollment, and the college would much prefer that the funds that may be allocated for loan retirement be used for some of the badly needed buildings and laboratories. While we are sure the college appreciates the concern and the work of the Budget Committee of the Greater University, it would seem that it is wiser to put funds into teaching facilities here rather than into the "self-liquidating" program which will stand on its own feet.

The irony of it all is that no "floating" of loans would have been necessary at this college, if the $9,170,000 building program recommended to the Budget Committee in 1944 had been approved and passed. That building program would have been ready by now for the teaching of the 4200 veterans enrolled here today. Conditions at Carolina are equally crowded with the men who fought the war.

It is all too apparent that the Woman's College has been slighted in past years. So have all the units of the University, especially State College. It is to be hoped that the General Assembly will thoroughly investigate the needs of the three units and do the wise and just thing by all.

John, Dot and Fred

The dictionary states that a wheel is a "circular body capable of turning on a central axis." THE TECHNICIAN states that a wheel is anyone who attends State College and during his stay gets around to doing nearly everything, knowing nearly everybody, and nearly everybody knowing him. With this in mind we herewith begin a story to be continued until we have turned nearly every big wheel on the campus. This week THE TECHNICIAN proudly presents to the students of N. C. State College... two spokes and a wheel... namely John Bryan Wagoner, Fred Homeewood Wagoner, and Mrs. Fred Wagoner, better known as Dot.

Identical Twins In case you haven't already guessed it John and Fred are identical twins. They came to State back in the good old days of 1940 under Sears and 4-H Club Scholarships. Since that time they have distinguished themselves both scholastically and athletically. John and Fred have taken an active part in extra-curricular activities. Both are members of Alpha Zeta—honorary agricultural fraternity, Golden Chain, Blue Key, and the Monogram Club. Fred is president of the student body, having been elected on his return from the army. At the present time John is president of Golden Chain, campus honorary organization. John was one of State's outstanding lineemen during the past football season, playing at right guard for Beattie Peathers' Bowl team. Fred played left tackle and turned in a fine performance at that position. A leg injury received during football practice has prevented John from working out with the wrestling team, but his brother is keeping that end of it up, having won both of his matches against Navy and Maryland respectively.

Stand Corrected

To the Editor: In your editorial in the Technician of Friday, January 10, 1947, under the heading "Dormitory Assistants Lax" you have this sentence: "and, too, House's choices for these important jobs are usually political cohorts of his." The above quoted sentence is entirely contrary to fact and should be corrected.

- 1. A student's written application. 2. His entire scholastic record. 3. If he had served as dormitory assistant the previous year, on recommendation of the Acting Chief Dormitory Assistant of the preceding year, who was not Mr. House.

The selections and appointments were made by me, recommended by Chancellor Harrelson and approved by him. Mr. House was not in Raleigh at the time the appointments were made, he was not consulted about the appointments and did not know who his assistants were to be until a list was furnished him by me when he returned to Raleigh just before college opened.

I think in fairness to Douglas House your statement as to how these assistants are chosen should be corrected in THE TECHNICIAN. This letter is written not with any idea of telling you what you should or should not write in your editorials, but all statements should be based on the correct facts.

Pre-fab Rents Unfair

Dear Editor: You have already climbed out on the limb many times this year. We have a problem which we would like to be brought to the attention of the public.

Through Co-Ed's Eyes

It's really hard to say what my impressions of State College men are. They are quite some guys, though; there are no other like them. The average State student, male variety, is pleasant and friendly. He smiles if he knows your face. If he knows your name, he speaks. If he knows more, look out girl! State men are usually well-mannered and quick thinking. They are also quite frank and persistent in their beliefs. With such a combination of qualities, it is hard to keep them down. Woe be unto the girl who tries to argue with a State man; for, although he says that women always win, he is determined that no woman will show him up—and no woman can. Believe it or not, but some State men also impress me as being very intelligent. You make me feel like Dumb Dora when any technical issue is being discussed.

Hey Bringle! Pass that bottle of cressote. Maybe a nip would be good for a cheap drunk. It's near the end of the month, ya know, but don't tell Fialer. He might have a DA raid that still of you'n. Perhaps it would be a good idea if we wandered over to Blount Street and discussed this budget situation with Gregg. Better take our own plug along. And don't forget the cuspidors. Only His Excellency can use the waste-basket.

REVIEWING THE PUBLICATIONS AJP's rag put in its second appearance only three weeks behind schedule. Some jerk (a Chem Engineer) stole our copy, Franky, we don't see why anyone would hook a WATAUGAN. We notice from the title page that a Second Class Mailing permit is pending. Evidently Andy does not know that the Postmaster can read.

The AICHE FLOW SHEET: at least it is well-named. A shovel is furnished with each copy. We haven't found out who is the guiding light of this, the most recently revived publication; however, Charlie Horne, campus wheel, is listed at the head of the staff. As we hear it, the aforementioned department has quite a few "scab" plumbers and carpenters in its ranks.

HITTING 'EM LOW Our carrier pigeon just came in from the A Farm, but did not bring back any slander. The ole boy looked pooped. We're going to have to put a female pigeon on that run, it seems... Notice beside Gold Hall phone: "If a girl calls Ed, tell her to be at Eckerd's at 3:30," signed "Ed." That is the height of something... State College's campus is probably the muddiest in the Nation... The I. E. department has a new secretary. "Nuff said"... A newspaper filler says that Alaskan wolves are the largest in the world—Bigger than Hollywood's or Walgreens'?

REMINISCING We were just thinking about the good old days when: The Sigma Pi's had their pea-green party... Only Freshmen lived in the Freshman Quadrangle... The PIKA's didn't have a house, but just a yellow barn... During the War when the Aggies did not control campus politics... The coeds (all five of them) were really friendly... The Lambda Chi's ran an air-tight TECHNICIAN clique... The friendly Soph—Fresh push-ball contest. "Not so rough boys the infirmary is already full"... The SPE's took their quail down the alley by the Sig Chi house and in the back door. The front porch needed painting maybe... Students could park (at night) behind the Textile building in spite of the big sign on Hillsboro Street... Haircuts were thirty-five cents... The Mop-up charged only outrageous prices for books 'n instruments.

HEARSAY

from GEORGE HARRELL "Duke Overpowers Red Terrors" is perhaps a very bad start to this story but it's the truth—the truth that hurts. But it took everything that years of playing together could put into the Duke players to do it.

There's no doubt that Duke was playing the best game they have played so far this year. There is also no doubt that the Red Terrors played just about the sloppiest game so far. Anybody that saw the game will tell you that it wasn't the same team that has been running rough-shod over opposition all season that performed at Durham last Saturday night.

Some consolation was gained Saturday night despite our loss. Our cousins at Chapel College, the Carolina "B" team, stomped all over the Duke "B" team in the opener. Fred Swartzburg, sub on the 1945 State basketball team, was one of the stars in the Carolina victory.

State's tank squad is set for a season of no defeats. After defeating powerful Georgia Tech, the way looks bright and straight. Coach Casey is rumored to have said, "The Tech team is the only one I'm worried about."

SPUNK: Capt. Bob Reynolds, swimming in the Tech meet a few days after his mother died. He swam in two relays which State won. Our heart-felt sorrow at your great loss, Bob.

Come on out tomorrow night to see the Red Terrors humiliate Wake Forest. P. S. Don't forget February 18!!!!

Terrors Lose to Duke; Meet Deacs Tomorrow

After a flying start in Southern Conference competition with three wins, the Red Terrors slackened-up too much, despite a last half rally that ran the Dukes ragged, lost to the defending Conference champions by the score of 60-53. Getting off to a slow start in the first half was the blow that spelled defeat for the Terrors. Duke, who threw-up a tight under-the-basket defense, completely bottled-up the State men in the first half. State's shooting was anything but good in that woeful half.

Lofits, with 16 points, was the high scorer for the evening. Cartier and Dickey, with 11 points each, paced the Terrors scoring attack. Katakavek played a bang-up game all night and directed the floor play along with Bartels.

Meet Wake Forest Tomorrow night in Frank Thompson Gym, the Red Terrors will face their fifth Southern Conference foe, Wake Forest. Wake Forest, who has won three and lost three in the Conference, will be gunning for State. Indications now point to a game that will be full of thrills, typical of all State-Wake Forest games. But don't be surprised to see the Red Terrors surfer their wrath from last week's game on the mediocre Deacons.

Apology

It has been brought to my attention that one of my staff in describing the loss to Oklahoma in the "Gator Bowl, erroneously accused the Charlotte Observer of displaying the banner, "Oklahoma Swamps N. C. State." Many loyal students, one of whom brought this to my notice, wrote screaming letters of protest to the Observer. In return, Wilton Garrison, Sports Editor of the Observer, sent them a copy of the paper in which the alleged banner was supposed to have been printed. The headline was not as the TECHNICIAN reported. It simply stated, "Sooners Overpower State," which is true. It was also reported in the TECHNICIAN that "if we depended on that paper for any decent publicity or a good build up, we would be the least known and lowest school in the state."

In all due fairness to the Charlotte Observer and Wilton Garrison, I offer my apology to them. First of all, the Observer has been giving us good publicity. Last fall when our publicity bureau was very inactive they went to the great expense to publicize the Wolfpack and even hired a photographer to take pictures—when most colleges furnish them free. They chartered a plane to cover three State games and run pictures. They sent a man to Jacksonville at their expense when State did not invite sports writers to go—as Carolina did to New Orleans.

When the basketball team was in Charlotte they printed an action picture of the team and three days later a big 4-column picture of the entire team.

So it is very evident, students, that we have unjustly accused the Charlotte Observer. I, as sports editor, feel extremely unhappy that this had to happen, even though I wasn't sports editor at the time. I am very grateful to the student who brought this to my attention. If anyone else has any suggestions that will make for a better sports page, please let me know.

George Harrell—Sports Editor.

Ward Breaks Record In 50-Yard Free Style

Tackle Georgia Univ. Today Play at Emory Saturday

By M. A. McDUFFIE

State's swimming team wallpped Georgia Tech 45-30 last Friday for its second straight win after smashing Virginia, 48-27 in the opener.

Coach Willis Casey's tankmen took both relays and four of seven individual first places. Pool records were broken in both free style events. Bill Ward of Raleigh bettered the old record of 24.4 seconds by 0.4 seconds, as he swam the 50-yard dash in 24 seconds. Georgia Tech's McAuley shaved 0.1 second off the 100-yard sprint's old record time of 54.7. Ward made a bad turn in the 100-yard race and finished just one yard behind McAuley.

State's two freshmen divers—Thomas Heyward and Harry Cramer—placed first and third, respectively. Heyward won by a comfortable margin and Cramer was barely edged out of second by Brantley of Tech.

Showed Strength

Casey's men showed strength in the heavy-counting relay events. The young coach placed Bill Kelly in the 400-yard free style instead of Norman Gold. The new combination of Capt. Bob Reynolds, Ward, Kelly, and Bill Despres won in the fast time of 3:46.5. Bill Nurr, Kelly, and Reynolds captured the 900-yard medley relay in 3:14.7 with Kelly overtaking 10-yard lead in the breaststroke leg and handing a one-yard advantage to anchor man Reynolds, who held his own.

The only event in which State failed to take a first or second place was the 440-yard free style. Coach Casey and his charges had the meet clinched before the event, and he decided against using his regular swimmers in the long, grueling race. Tech's Hiles won by 30 yards in 5:36.8. Kelly, who finished 100 yards against Virginia, finished in 5:33.6.

High scorers were Ward, who won the 50-yard free style, placed second in the 100-yard free style, and was a member of a winning relay team; Kelly, who took the 200-yard breaststroke, and swam with both winning relay outfits; Despres, who won the 150-yard backstroke and was on a relay team; and Reynolds, who swam in both relays.

The tank team is in Georgia this weekend, where it will meet the University of Georgia today and Emory tomorrow. The next home meet will be against VPI on January 30.

Sigma Nu Edges Out A. G. R.

Sigma Nu defeated A. G. R., Tuesday night in the most thrilling game of the season. After trailing 2-6 at the half, A. G. R. came back in the second half to completely outplay and outfight Sigma Nu, but their rally fell short. Little Jack Fliser of A. G. R. dominated the play throughout the game. On numerous occasions Fliser outjumped his much taller opponents and came out from under the basket with the ball. The final score, Sigma Nu 17, A. G. R. 16. Fliser, with nine points, was high scorer. Inability of the A. G. R. team to sink foul shots spelled the difference between victory and defeat. In the second game of the evening, S. A. M.'s defeated Sigma Chi, 17-16. The S. A. M.'s overcame the half time deficit of nine points to win. Geist of the S. A. M.'s led the scoring with nine points.

Fraternities

On Friday night, the PiKas set a seasonal scoring record in defeating Pi Kappa Phi, 34-6. PiKas completely outclassed the Pi Kappa Phi throughout the game. Levin of the winners scored eight points. Martin of the S. P. E. continued his high scoring but his efforts were not enough to defeat the K. A.'s. The game was close all the way to the K. As winning, 13-12. Martin led both teams with nine points.

Dormitories

In the dormitory tournament, 1st Alexander trounced 1st Turlington, 20-9 on Monday night. Preisinger of 1st Turlington was the outstanding player, scoring eight of his team's nine points. In the second game Welch squeaked out an 18-14 win over the Bachelors. Winstead and Turner of Welch each scored four points. Page, of 3rd Turlington, scored eleven points to lead his team to a 26-13 win over Trailwood. In the final game of the evening, 1st Bagwell easily defeated 2nd Bagwell, 26-14. Harmon of 1st Bagwell hit the basket for fourteen points to lead the scoring.

Thursday night Gold defeated 2nd Beeton, 21-15. Gibson, of Gold, was high scorer with seven points. 1st Beeton wallpped S. Watauga, 24-7. Corle scored ten points for the winners. With Matthews scoring fifteen points for another seasonal record, Berry outscored 2nd Alexander 27-23. In the final game of the evening, 3rd Bagwell defeated 1st Syms, 27-17. Svans scored eight points for 3rd Bagwell.

Radio Engr's Clear Static, Promise Electronic Future

By WESLEY JONES
(Manager, Station WNCS)

Are you interested in electronics or any part of its octopus-like tentacles? If you are and you were not present at the organization meeting of the Institute of Radio Engineers on January 15, then you would do well to sit back and absorb just an inkling of what is planned by this group.

To begin with, it might be explained that this first meeting was intended to gather together the fellows interested in furthering radio on this campus. We had a reasonable number on hand, but all of us felt that some might have hesitated, thinking that this organization was intended for only those hardened to the trade and licensed. Here and now that point had best be cleared up and so state that this is a student chapter and those interested are invited to join at our next regular meeting. It is scheduled for next month and you can look forward to attending.

Officers Elected

This being the first meeting, officers were elected as follows: William T. Dickinson, President; Eugene B. Dawson, Vice-President; Oren A. Palmer, Jr., Secretary; Roy A. Campbell, Treasurer.

Since this meeting consisted of a number of young men with talents not so well known to their classmates, each person introduced himself and very briefly expressed his interests. Everyone seemed in favor of having State College more conscious of the fact that Electronics is the thing of the future in Electrical Engineering. As a further suggestion to weave the interests into something tangible, it was suggested that the radio club that has long been established work hand in hand with the local I.R.E., and thereby stimulate interest by providing an educational as well as recreational hobby for those so interested.

Smoker Planned

An immediate step toward advancement of our organization we have a smoker planned which will be held in the radio club room. We have equipment that undoubtedly be interested in seeing. We also plan to have outside speakers provide timely discussions from time to time. Untold possibilities exist for students of the Pro-Seminar and those interested persons at our meetings a cross section of what is going on every day in our world by providing a "re-hash" of their speeches.

We have in mind inspection trips that can show us what we can expect from the practical application of what we are studying and working toward. All we ask is that should you have the interest for radio and electronics and should you want to further yourself along this line, be alert for our announcements of coming events.

From Other Colleges

"DUKE CHRONICLE"

The Duke Chronicle of Duke University tells about the disappointment of their returning students:

"Do You Like Duke, Or Would You Rather Go To College?"

"That bitter statement, gaining wider and wider circulation on both campuses, is not the viewpoint of a crackpot minority nor of an extremist group. It is the considered reaction of many thoughtful students weary of the "Duke way" of doing things.

"When first we came back to the campus this semester, after a lengthy absence during which we missed Duke and all that the school means to us, we felt that being back made up for the waiting—that now we could take up college life again and find in it what was lacking before; the realization that the university was progressive; that it was dedicated to serving the best interests of its student body; that in the crucible of the war years something finer, more lasting, had been made of the confused, dissimilar, and contradictory elements of Duke life.

"Now we are not so sure.—When we were away, the school took on for us an aura of beauty that is fast being dispelled now that we are face to face with some of the less commendable phases of our University's life and routine.

"Although it may sound contradictory, after making the statements above to say that we yield to none of our depth of love for this institution, the simple fact is that it is the truth. If we felt less passionately about Duke University, if we took the take-it-or-leave-it attitude that seems to be gaining greater and greater favor here, these words would never have been written.

Important Notice

The following statement has been authorized by Colonel Hurrellson:

"The Board of Trustees has authorized the creation of a School of Architecture and Landscape Design. A request for a budget for this new school has been submitted to the Advisory Budget Commission. It is now the plan of the college administration to create and to have in operation a School of Architecture and Landscape Design on or before July 1, 1947."

Concert Band To Be Organized

The 70-piece Redcoat Band which provided colorful entertainment and peppy music at the football games and pep meetings during the fall term, is being streamlined to the proportions of a well-balanced concert band, and has already started work on a repertoire of varied types of concert music, ranging from the heavier symphonic classics to the lighter standard classics and modern works of serious form and concert stylized popular works.

There are many excellent players in school who did not identify themselves with the band this fall term. It is hoped that these will find it possible to play regularly with the concert band, reporting at the very next rehearsal, Thursday night at 7 o'clock. Ultimate positions in the band will be based on musicianship and faithful attendance. We should have a band equalling the best we have had here if everyone qualified does his part faithfully. How about it, fellow hornooters?

Glee Club Reorganizes

The Glee Club will resume its regular rehearsals next week, meeting at seven o'clock Mondays, Tuesdays, and Wednesdays, rehearsals lasting an hour. Approximately 1600 people heard the two performances presented by the glee club in collaboration with the State College Orchestra and the Meredith College Choir on December 8. The club plans to present another program in February followed by other programs in conjunction with the orchestra or one of the other college groups.

New members are invited to join at this time, and all the old members are expected to carry on with the good work they did last term.

"Johnny, what does that spell?" "Johnny didn't know."

"Well," continued the teacher, "What has a cow four of and I only two of?" Johnny's answer threw the class into an uproar and the teacher into a state of embarrassment.

Trailwood Talks

Last week I mentioned in my column about a square-dance that would be given for the benefit of a nursery for Trailwood and the Pre-Fab area.

The dance will be given in the Frank Thompson gymnasium, on March 15, if arrangements can be made to get this date. The music will be played by former Grand Ole Opry musicians, so everyone will be in for a treat.

It is customary at a square-dance for men to dress in old clothes with red handkerchief and a straw hat, and the girls to dress in gingham dresses with low-heeled shoes.

There will also be a cake walk which is another custom at a square dance. A lot of students here at State do not know how to square dance, but we have the best square dance caller in Tennessee to come up here and if you listen to him you cannot help but dance.

I am sure everyone will have a good time at the dance and you will be helping a kid if you buy a ticket.

The tickets are two dollars a couple, so let's everyone buy a ticket. We hope this price is not too high but in order to raise the sufficient funds we had to set the admission at two dollars. I am sure everyone won't hesitate to buy a

Good News

Bids have been placed by the College Housing Authority for a large surplus government building to be used as a social center for the citizens of Trailwood. The building will be erected soon and will be used for a nursery, dance hall, bridge club, town hall, and what-have-you.

The tickets will be on sale at the Y.M.C.A., so stop by and buy one.
