

WSSF Opens Drive Monday To Aid Stricken Students Of World

McDonald Is Student Chairman Here

W.S.S.F. I. W.S.S.F. I. W.S.S.F. I. What is this W.S.S.F. thing that hits you in both eyes every time you manage to get them both open? You've heard that W.S.S.F. means everything from "Why State Students Fall" to "Women's Selective Service Fund." Well one reason is as good as another but here is the scoop, the straight story. Schools, students and professors paid a heavy toll during this global war. Students have fought, suffered and died, schools have been destroyed, books have been burned. Now, as the world is trying to rebuild, to again become normal, students are seeking to return to the class-room. Even in our country things have been difficult but in other lands many students now find it impossible to return to school; impossible but necessary. The future of man rests in the hands of the students of the world. If the world is to prosper there must be educated men and women everywhere. W.S.S.F., the World

Student Service Fund, is for the purpose of helping the world back to normal, helping our chances of future peace by helping to educate those students of other lands who will build the new world. P. H. McDonald, student chairman of W.S.S.F. here at State College, is directing the local drive which has its counterpart in every school in the country. For a week there have been posters, signs, slogans all over the campus. Every student on our campus should have heard of W.S.S.F. and now that everybody knows about W.S.S.F. the drive for funds will start Monday.

The entire publicity campaign was geared to a four-phase program which is to lead up to the opening day of the drive. Original designs for posters were tried, attempt being made to keep clear of conventional types.

Beginning Monday morning an army of collectors will rally forth under the direction of Joe Housh, for the on-campus collections with John Barr and Dave Franklin

Sale of Tickets For Basketball Game Is Proposed To Raise Money for Chimes

Student Poll Starting Monday To Determine Course of Action

By DAVE FRANKLIN
The State College Student Government has made preliminary plans to raise money to help complete the Memorial Tower by sponsoring the State - Davidson basketball game on February 21 and selling tickets for the game to the public. This will necessitate making the student tickets void, for the Davidson game only.

These plans are being made because the Memorial Tower has been incomplete for so long and because much more interest has been shown in completing the Tower recently than has been expressed in many years. These plans will be completed, however, only with student approval.

Fourteen thousand dollars have been raised by the Foundation for the completion of the Tower. Six thousand dollars are needed to complete it. The sale of tickets from the Davidson game should bring about three thousand dollars.

Many State College alumni have expressed dissatisfaction toward the present system of not allowing them to attend the basketball games. This feeling, although not too strong, is justified. The College athletic program is backed by alumni who pay the expenses of the teams. So far, they have not been able to see the Red Terrors in action. Selling tickets to the game will also make it possible for the faculty to see the basketball team in action one time. Members of the student body who desire to see the game may do so by purchasing tickets. More complete information about plans for selling tickets will be announced later.

Poll to be Taken
A poll will be taken of student opinion next Monday and Tuesday. Students in the dormitories will be polled by the dormitory assistants; off-campus students will vote by ballot in the "Y" from 10:00 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday. Only about a majority of the students have expressed a favorable opinion toward the plans will further arrangements be made.

This project was undertaken by the Student Government because it represents a progressive step toward the completion of the Tower, which has been incomplete for several years. The Memorial Foundation hopes to have the Tower completed by this June in time for graduation. The Student Government hopes to aid in completing the Tower and to improve alumni relations by sponsoring the game. The ultimate outcome of the plans will be decided by the vote of the students.

Interested in Radio? Local Club Wants You

How is your zero beat? Maybe there's too much feedback! If you have that radio bug, then come to the next radio club meeting and help us put a kilowatt transmitter on the air. When the lights in the powerhouse dim, you can bet your life W4ATC is on the air.

Being an amateur is not a requirement for membership. If you have an interest in radio and want to learn something about it, this is an excellent opportunity. Classes in theory and code are being held for those who are interested in getting their amateur license.

The meetings of the radio club have been changed from Tuesday to the first and third Fridays of each month. This should give everyone more time to stick around after the meetings and "chew the rag" with hams all over the world. The next meeting will be held at 7 o'clock on Friday, February 7. Don't let your school work interfere with your education. See you at the next meeting.

Henderson Club

All men from the county of Henderson or Vance who would like to become a member of The Henderson Club please meet in the Faculty Club Room of the YMCA on Wednesday, February 5, at 6:45 P.M.

Eddy Says Next Five Years Will Be Most Critical of All Time

"We must either blast the world to bits with our atomic bomb or seek an overall agreement with Russia" according to Dr. Sherwood Eddy, world famous traveler and religious statesman, who gave an address in the YMCA auditorium last week. The subject of Dr. Eddy's lecture was "The Dangers of the Present World Situation."

The auditorium was well filled but mostly with faculty members and towns people; only fifty-odd students turned out to hear Dr. Eddy. An open forum discussion with the speaker answering questions followed the address.

Germany and China
Dr. Eddy said he could only "pray to God that a third world war would not arise out of the chaotic conditions in Germany or China." He observed that the German people had not learned their lesson as the Japanese have and would rise up again to plague the world if given the opportunity. The situation in China, he pointed out, was rapidly approaching civil war and that General Marshall's great work has failed to bring Chiang Kai-Shek's government together with the communistic element in North China.

Great hope was expressed for the future of India under the brilliant leadership of the scholarly Nehru, if his work is not spoiled by the "terrible Moslem leader Jinnah."

Understanding with Russia
Dr. Eddy is firmly convinced that war may be a thing of the past if we can only come to an understanding with Soviet Russia within "the next five years, which will be the most critical of all time."

The speaker, an engineering graduate, has been in close contact with the political and religious leaders throughout the world for the last forty years and is qualified as an expert in the field of international politics.

ASME to Hold Dance

The local chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will hold their annual informal dance at the Woman's Club on Saturday night, February 8, according to a statement made by Bob Greene, secretary of the A. S. M. E. this week.

Admission is open to all active A. S. M. E. members and refreshments will be served. The dance begins at 8:30 and will end at midnight.

It was also announced by Greene that an important meeting of the A. S. M. E. will be held Tuesday, February 4, at 7 p.m. in room 100, Page Hall. At this time a new faculty advisor will be elected to replace Prof. W. H. Lowen, who is leaving State College.

FFA Hears Hubbard

The State College Chapter of the Future Farmers of America heard W. P. Hubbard, a teacher of many years experience speak on "How Agriculture Teachers Should Get Established in a New Community" at the regular meet last week.

George Sledge pointed out the importance of future teachers learning all they can about FFA while in school so as to be better able to assume their duties when they actually begin teaching. The next regular meeting of the FFA will be held on February 3 at 7:00 in Tompkins Hall. This meeting will feature a "Tail Tale" program. All members are urged to attend and bring their "tail tales".

Engineering Students

Tickets for the Engineer's Ball, to be held on February 14th and 15th, will be distributed at the "Y" from 6:00 to 9:00 on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings, February 23rd, 24th, and 25th. Because of the unusually large enrollment and the limited capacity of the gym, the tickets will be divided by classes on a basis of enrollment and maximum number permitted to attend any one dance. Certain numbers of tickets will be set aside for each class for each dance, and they will be given out on a basis of first-come-gets-first-choice-of-tickets. Tickets will be good for only one of the dances, except in the case of the seniors who will be issued a ticket good for all dances. ALL STUDENTS MUST BRING THEIR TERM REGISTRATION CARDS WHEN COMING TO PICK UP TICKETS.

Veterans Required to File Earnings Reports

Veterans enrolled at State College under the G. I. Bill, PL 346, are required to make a report showing the amount of compensation they have received from productive labor during the months of October through January. This report is made on VA Form 7-1093 and must be returned to VA by February 5. Those veterans that have not received one of these forms via the mails by February 1 should go to Room 107, Building 1911, on the campus, and execute one of these forms. Subsidized payments will be suspended in those cases that fail to comply. New students, however, are not penalized until after they have received their first check. The above regulation does not apply to disabled veterans in training under PL 16, as no report is required from them.

The VA training officer, E. S. Simpson, also requests that new students that have not received Certificates of Eligibility from the VA, that out-of-state veterans whose C-Files have not been transferred to Winston-Salem, and those veterans that have checks more than 15 days over-due report by his office at their convenience for assistance in these matters.

Veterans have until February 1, 1947 to reinstate National Service Insurance without a physical examination. The deadline is here. Be wise and save this valuable insurance. See Mr. Shipman, Contract Representative, 106, Building 1911.

Dormitory Rooms

There are now available a limited number of vacancies in the dormitory rooms. All students, including out-of-state students, who are interested may make application at the Dormitory Office in the Warehouse.

Harrelson Receives Commendation In Colorful Ceremony

At a special formation of the State College ROTC battalion on Monday, January 27, the Army's Commendation Ribbon, denoting meritorious achievement was awarded to Col. J. W. Harrelson, chancellor of State College.

The presentation was made by Col. S. A. Gibson, commandant of the College's Department of Military Science and Tactics. Col. Gibson acted as the representative of General Oscar W. Griewald, commanding officer of the Seventh Army, with headquarters in Atlanta.

The ward of this coveted ribbon was accompanied by the following citation:

"For performance of meritorious service while serving as Deputy Director and Chief of Curricula of the Army Specialized Training Division, Fourth Service Command. The sound judgment, leadership, careful planning and devotion to duty displayed by Colonel Harrelson resulted in the success of his mission."

Colonel Harrelson was ordered to active duty on March 8, 1943, and served until July 15, 1944. His specific duties were to check on the Academic facilities of colleges and universities in the Fourth Service Command area and to prepare contact data for the instruction of ASTP students at the institutions involved. He also was director of the academic visitations of the board of deans. State College's chancellor was the first head of a major college or university in the South to be called to active duty during World War II.

Following the presentation, the ROTC students, commanded by Cadet Lt. Col. T. J. Clark of Charlotte, passed in review before Colonel Harrelson. Parade music was provided by the State College Military Band.

Student Legislature Journal Coming Out

A journal, similar to the State Legislative Journal, and covering the business of the Student Legislature, will come out this week. This record is to be sent to the members of the State Legislature and the Student Legislature will provide these people with a record of the legislation enacted at the Student Legislature on December 6 and 7 of last fall.

A bill was passed in that session to have this record made. The material was compiled under the direction of the secretary, P. H. McDonald, from the records of the reading clerk and the notes of four stenographers from Louisburg College.

The journal will also contain the names of the student representatives and senators with their school and curriculum.

Stormy Session Features IFC-Engineers' Council Tie-Up

By DICK FOWLER

After a great deal of trouble and confusion precipitated on them by an unreliable agent the dance committee of the Engineers' Council has finally straightened things out and signed a band for the Annual "Brawl" which is scheduled to take place on the 14th and 15th of February.

Everything was set more than a week ago, according to Steve Wilbur, chairman of the dance committee, when the agent in Charlotte called and canceled the contract which had already been signed. This left the Engineering Council with all the things a good dance calls for—except a band. After contacting several other agents it was learned that Ray McKinley would be available for the week-end of the 28th and 29th, but this date was already listed by the Inter-Fraternity Council for their Midwinter dance.

At this point the politicians began to operate. A meeting of the I. F. C. was called and it was requested by the Engineering Council that the I. F. C. trade dance dates so as to enable the Engineers to have a name band on hand for their ball. It was pointed out in the discussion that the switch would place no undue hardship on the "Frat" men because Dean Hudson, who had already been signed, would be available on both dates.

When the question was finally voted upon by the I. F. C. it was all tied. The president of the I. F. C. then exercised his prerogative of voting in such cases, and the proposed switch was defeated. In spite of all the mix-up, the Engineers' dance committee burned some wires and succeeded in signing Les Elgart and his band, who just finished an engagement at Frank Daley's Meadowbrook in Cedar Grove, New Jersey.

There will be three dances in the set. The semi-formal affair on Friday night is scheduled to get under way at 8:30 instead of 9 since it is a college rule that all dances must be over at midnight. The feature of Saturday afternoon will be a tea dance from 3:30 to 5:30 and the formal grand finale will commence at 8:30 Saturday night.

Because of the large number of Engineers and the small size of the gym everyone will not be able to attend both dances. However, a system has been worked out whereby everyone will be able to attend at least one dance and only the seniors will attend all the dances.

Indifference Means Disaster

(An essay on the importance of WSSF by a graduate student from Canada)

By B. T. H. LEVADIE

Only a few years ago we thought we were secure behind a couple of big walls of water. But we weren't. The graves at Iwo Jima and Cassino are mute evidence of that. There are no walls against war in this new, modern, mechanized-world—for ideas can pass through walls. And you can't fight ideas with cordate and uranium.

What's the point of this? What am I getting at? At you! At the danger of your being indifferent to what is taking place in the mighty world around you... which is going to reach out to you whether or not you like it, and which will destroy you if you are indifferent.

You and I, and all of us, were indifferent when the German armies marched into the Saar in 1935. We didn't give a hoot when Japan invaded Manchuria in 1936, but less than ten years later we gave life and blood to try to make amends.

Everywhere the German "Kultur" clomped its hob-nailed boots, the academic life of the invaded land was smothered and crushed, physically.

Everywhere only a handful of the hardest, the most daring, and the luckiest of teachers and students escaped. They are our friends and allies in the battle of ideas. Now, out of the dust, out of the blood and rot of war, they are trying to rebuild—to revive—the intellectual and academic life in Europe and China.

They have no land grant subsidies. They have no GI Bill of Rights. They have no books, and they have no paper. They have nothing but the will to learn and to teach, so that they may be able to work—for themselves and for us to revive world culture. They are willing... (and they do)... to freeze, and to starve to prepare themselves for this work.

They have asked for help. I have spoken to Polish students (40% of them are dying of tuberculosis brought about by the wonderful German culture) who say, "Help Greece;" and to Greek students (who die of starvation every day in the gutters of Athens) who say, "Help Poland!" We have a sprinkling of them here at State College; quiet, shy people who ask for nothing and live on much less than $65 a month, preparing for the day when they will return home to work with "America's knowledge"—the superior knowledge. They ask nothing for themselves. It is no less our obligation to assure them that they need not ask.

In a few days you will be asked to make an effort towards helping State College fulfill its obligations to the World Student Service Fund. You will be told that your minimum contribution should be a dollar.

Much will be done in the next week to acquaint you with the workings of WSSF. You will be told that it is non-sectarian. You will learn that WSSF belongs to nearly all the students bodies of the world. You will be shown that this fund is designated to help, materially, students in all the democratic and liberated countries of the world—a help urgently needed now since UNRRA has been discontinued in Europe, and is soon to be discontinued in China. The amount of money actually contributed from America is small when the needs are considered. The sum of $1,000,000 would not feed the academic population of Europe one meal a day for a month. The total goal for American Colleges is but $1,000,000.

If you turn your dollars to the WSSF where they can have a profound and far-reaching effect upon your neighbor, you will eventually receive back that value multiplied many times! Naturally, you will be tempted not to give. Don't say, "No," and then invent an excuse. Try to be generous and considerate of your fellow students with your economic aid now as the Almighty God of the Universe has been with providing you with health, happiness, and freedom from the awful effects of war.

To be indifferent now would be fatal—to students of the world and to us. We must help them! Every man of us must help!

WSSF Dance Plan Completed for Feb. 8

Plans for the WSSF Dance on Saturday night, February 8, have been completed. Tickets will be available at the "Y" desk next Tuesday on first-come, first-served basis. The dance is free, informal and you can go stag or bring a date.

Weaver Talks On Farm Power To Agronomists

When the Agronomy Society met on Thursday, January 23, D. S. Weaver gave an interesting account of the latest trends in farm power in North Carolina as compared with the rest of the Nation. Comparison of the horsepower used by our forefathers with the great amount now found in the form of work animals, tractors, and trucks was used to help show the steady increase in the productivity of the farm workers, and the direct relation that such productivity has to larger farm incomes.

A majority of the members of the society were present to participate in the unusually lively business session. All members are urged to attend the next regular meeting which will be held in R. Patterson Hall on Thursday, February 6.

A Thought To Her

The True Beauty
He that loves a rosy cheek
Or a coral lip admires,
Or from star-like eyes doth seek
Fuel to maintain his fire;
As old times make these decay,
So his flames must waste away.
But a smooth and steadfast mind,
Gentle thoughts, and calm desires,
Hearts with equal love combined,
Kindle never-dying fires:
Where these are not, I despise
Lovely cheeks or lips or eyes.
T. Carew

working on the off-campus drive. In all dormitories committees of collectors will contact students and students who live off campus will be visited by other committees. Jim Roger is in charge of a sub-committee which will have solicitors in the art of soliciting members. The slogan for the drive is "Our plan—every man". In order to live up to the slogan the committee is faced with a huge task. Fully 2,000 State students live off campus. Trying to catch them during the day is difficult and ineffective. The committee decided to attempt an individual canvass of these students at their homes. This project involves classifying all the names into about twenty districts according to streets. Thereafter the process is one of finding a man in each district to come to the folks living there. Transportation has to be provided for some of these off-campus solicitors.

The men who are to make the contacts and collect the funds are volunteers who have been instructed in the art of soliciting by a special training program under the direction of George Harrell. The man who had all those signs put up everywhere is Ira Helms who is publicity chairman. The money, when it is difficult to be handled by Frank Teague and Floyd Witten, the secretary and treasurer.

Bill Daniel is in charge of a committee for special gifts and this committee will contact those people who are in a position to give more than the average amount.

In short, the whole affair has been engineered to "burst wide open" like a gigantic fireworks display on February 3.

This drive will be short, the need is great. More information on any phase of the World Student Service Fund may be had by calling by the W. S. S. F. headquarters in the Y. M. C. A.

Remember, "The future of man rests in the minds of the students of the world." When they ask, you give!

Over 450 Men Expected Degrees This June

Although the June commencement is still about a term and a half away, many students on the campus are beginning to make their plans and look forward to receiving their degrees.

At present, the records are not yet complete in the registrar's office, but as the tabulation now shows the college expects to award 463 degrees this coming June. It is expected that 413 students will be candidates for Bachelor's degrees. Of these, 97 are in the Agriculture School, 220 in the Engineering School, 33 in the School of Education, and 63 in the Textile School. There will be 46 candidates for Master's Degree, three candidates for Ph. D., and one candidate for the professional degree of Ceramic Engineer.

The graduates for the June commencement will consist of students who have completed their work during the summer school last summer or sometime this academic year.

During the fall term, 23 students completed their work for their Bachelor's Degree. They were divided among the school as follows: nine in the Agriculture School, four in the School of Education, five in the Textile School and five in the School of Engineering. These men will receive their degrees at the end of the spring term.

Glee Club Will Air 3 Programs on WPTF

The State College Glee Club will open its winter season Friday night with the first in a series of three broadcasts on WPTF. The first broadcast will be Friday, January 31, at 10:45 p.m. Succeeding broadcasts will be at the same hour on February 7 and 14.

The Glee Club now has the largest membership that it has had for a number of years, and it is looking forward to a very active season. Tentative plans are for a short concert tour the latter part of February and for a concert in Pullen Hall the last of February or the first of March.

Hillel Meets Sunday

The first regular meeting of the re-organized Hillel will be held this Sunday at three o'clock in the YMCA. Inactive since most of its members left to go into the service in 1943, the councilorship hopes to once again take its rightful place among the religious organizations on the campus.

The officers of the Steering Committee were chosen by mailed ballot before the close of last term. The results of the election were as follows: Floyd Witten, president; H. H. Hillel, secretary; identical; Sheval Shif, treasurer; Charles Imersheim, secretary. Class representatives elected were: David Brooks and Bernard Manton, freshmen; Milton Reiter and Arnold Cohen, sophomores; Newton Mandel and Max Kahn, juniors; and Cliff Berger and Stan Teiser, seniors. The Merodith representative is Miss Shirley Hurwitz.

All members are urged to attend the first meeting of the term to be held this Sunday at three o'clock at the YMCA.

EDITORIALS

Chiming In

THE TECHNICIAN heartily endorses the action of the Student Council to give the student body a chance to "chime in" on the installation of chimes in the Memorial Tower. The chance will come next week when the students will be polled on the idea of making the basketball game with Davidson open to the public by forfeiting the right to attend this game.

Long-needed and long-desired are the chimes for the tower, and herein lies the greatest opportunity for adding a thing of beauty to the campus. The idea, conceived in the Student Council, is a generous one and its merits are so numerous that we believe that the students will vote unanimously in favor of giving up the basketball game, for the sake of the chimes, which are to be installed before June.

Cut the Rowdiness

All year we have not commented unfavorably on student conduct at athletic events for the simple reason that we have thought the conduct generally very good. In the "Open Forum" column this week attention is called to the rowdiness displayed by certain students at the recent basketball games. We should all read this letter and then do something to squelch the few that continue to mar the good name of State College sportsmanship.

There are adequate evidences to indicate that people tend to lose all moral and ethical balance in the mad rush to the gym or stadium and in the excitement of the game. We are prone to do many things that under normal conditions we would think rather silly.

It is good, nevertheless, that we relax and enjoy the game; it is thrilling to hear well-executed cheering. The point of caution we make is that we go too far in giving vent to our emotions. We should strive to remain aware of the fact that, after all, this is just a basketball game with no major issue pending. Let us restrain our disapproval of referee decisions until the coach rises to protest a decision. At that time it would seem in order to back up the coach vocally or otherwise.

Our prestige in the sports world has risen rapidly recently. We need this prestige and respect very much. We must not do anything that will detract from the fine record of our teams. We must be careful not to commit any acts that are unfavorable in the eyes of the public, for there are many parties eager to "throw mud" at State College for one reason or another.

Inconvenience

With the homework piling up, many students find the need to do much of their school work during the week-ends. This is particularly true of those who have research work to do in the school library.

Up until some time ago, the library maintained personnel on duty, both on Saturday and Sunday and students were allowed unrestricted use of the library. Of late the library has decided it best to close the library on Sundays except for the books which are on reserve and the other books maintained throughout the main floor of the library. This policy works a hardship on those students who find it necessary to do a lot of their research work on Sunday afternoons. Many of the students working in the library on Sunday afternoons require the use of periodicals which are kept in the basement of the library. On Sundays these periodicals are unavailable to the students.

It is our belief that, although it is not necessary for the students to be allowed the privilege of checking books out of library, they should be allowed to use any of the books and periodicals which are kept in the basement of the library.

It is not desired for this plan to work a hardship on personnel of the library, but we firmly believe that something can and should be forthcoming to provide the students the privilege of using any book in the State College library over the week-ends, particularly on Sunday afternoons. The library maintains two or three attendants in the library on Sunday afternoons and we feel that this added service to the students which we deem necessary can be worked out satisfactorily.

Let's Pull Together

Webster defines cooperation as a collective action for the common benefit. Such an action rarely happens on this campus.

Our campus is divided into several groups each of which seems to have only interest at heart. It is seldom indeed that these groups work together in a collective, integrated manner. Everyone is continually finding fault with the other person's organization. The clash between fraternities is more than just rivalry—often it is downright contempt and back biting. But the fraternities are not the only ones who engage in these practices for they can be found in all the clubs, societies and professional organizations.

Hard jobs are made harder and worthy projects go suffering because of the lack of cooperation. A prime example is the request the Engineers' Council made to the IFC for a switch of dance dates. If the switch had been completed the Engineers would have been able to put on an immensely better dance, but the move was defeated in the IFC by one vote—that of the President of the IFC, Dick Kennison. It's hard to say just what Kennison's reasons were, but most of the reasons given by others during the discussion which took place before the voting seemed quite personal.

Affairs such as this are by no means an exception. It is past time for us to realize that we must work together for the greatest good for the most students.

J. R. F.

Sense of Values

When Sherwood Eddy, noted traveler and lecturer, spoke at the YMCA recently, only a small percentage of the audience was students. The large proportion was faculty and Raleigh citizens.

The chance to hear an expert on foreign affairs and the problems of man throughout the earth was passed over by most of the student body. For some of us, the lecture was less important than some urgent studying; others of us had more pressing business or previous engagements. The majority of us, in fact, do not have any real reason for not attending the lecture, except that we are not interested in that sort of stuff these days.

Just what are we interested in, then? Most of us are just interested in getting a degree from this college; and in getting that degree we haven't time, we think, to be interested in anything beyond our personal development. We take great stock in attending dances, movies, games, and social events; yet we seldom exhibit the slightest interest in our fellowmen or our fellow world citizens.

Yes, we "college" students, the future leaders of state and nation, are just plain dumb when it comes to moral, social, and political issues of the day. We think religion is some out-moded hocus-pocus not needed by us. In short, as real college students, interested in gaining a broad and complete education and interested in the welfare of the citizens of this planet, we stink. That is the logical conclusion if attendance at the many fine public lectures we have had is a true indication of student interests.

What's Eating the Editor?

DA's Have Unenviable Job; Changes In Policy Needed

"What the heck does Fialer mean, Termite?" That question was directed at me from several quarters after Jack's outburst about the dorm assistants. Let me say here that this is not a defense of the editor. No defense is necessary; nor is this a solicited editorial, but rather a personal interpretation of what Fialer was trying to get across.

Our editor is not crusading for temperance, but instead he is concerned, yes seriously concerned, lest the student body which continually and indifferently dismisses the misuse of alcohol by some as social drinking may find themselves victims of alcoholism. Perhaps the ed is over-concerned; maybe not. Personally, I am a "wet", but I see and respect Jack's viewpoint.

You may think that the administration should repeal the rule prohibiting the use of alcohol in the dorms. If the rule is not going to be enforced at least enough to keep the empties out of full view of the public, it should be stricken from the books.

The boss will readily admit that his statement accusing Doug House of appointing "this political cohorts" is false. But he nor I will not admit that the counselors are doing a good job! However, as usual, we can trace this fault back to the administration. A DA gets $50 a term, out of which he must pay his own room rent in return for this dribble salary he is expected to fill out the "usual amount" of red tape on each student on his floor; same old Army game!

Once a term he must rate each of his charges. These reports are usually typed and several copies must be made. In short, the Assistant is forced to waste most of his time filling out forms which have damn little meaning.

Granted some reports are absolutely necessary, but why not make them the check-list type with "snap-out" carbon and would not two copies be enough? Then the DA could do all his paper work in one evening and spend more time supervising his students.

This institution has long been teaching the "right way". In all sincerity and respect I would like to ask if we couldn't practice it a little more often?—Bill Proctor.

Doings of the Campus Government

After experiencing some amount of difficulty in holding weekly meetings each Thursday night last term, Student Council members decided to hold their weekly gatherings in the Cafeteria's private dining room at noon on Thursdays. So far, the experiment has proved to be successful. All members have an opportunity to attend the meetings and at the same time can spend their dinner hours to an advantage. They are able to eat and then have at least an hour and a half to face the problems of the various governmental duties.

FINISH MEMORIAL TOWER
At the meeting last Thursday the Council went on record to carry out a list of campus improvement projects. The first project is to help raise the six thousand dollars needed to complete the Memorial Tower. A Steering Committee, including Chairman W. L. Woodall, George Harrell, Bill Thornton, and Prof. F. W. Lancaster, are very busy on a plan to ask you to give up your athletic tickets to the Davidson State basketball game on February 22 so that admission can be charged and the alumni, faculty, and other supporters may have a chance to see our capable team in action. This will provide a substantial sum for the completion of the Tower and will build good-will among the alumni and citizens of Raleigh.

BEAUTIFY THE CAMPUS
We have made plans to have self-closing trash cans purchased and placed around the campus for paper and trash disposal. There will be painted white and will in themselves present a neat appearance. Students, faculty, and staff alike are asked to make use of them. And please, let's use the walks that are provided around the campus—give those bare spots and pig-paths a chance to sprout some good green grass with the coming of spring.

A BARBER SHOP
The Student Government has spent a great deal of time and effort in trying to establish a much needed barber shop in the basement of the "Y". A room is fully equipped with four chairs already, but the Student Supply Store is using it for storage space. The "Y" and the Student Government have arranged to staff the barber shop. Colonel Harrellson promised to get

Mr. Ivey to build a quonset hut for storage. He has had two months to build it in and has done nothing. Mr. Ivey is not cooperative and is keeping YOU from having a barber shop on the campus.

"F" RULE
The Faculty Council has voted to have the ruling on "F's" remain as it now stands—"for every course on which the student receives a grade a F, credit points will be deducted for each credit hour of the course." This rule was added to raise the standards of the school and to keep students from voluntarily taking an F on a course instead of making a D (under the former system the D would lower the G average, credit points for credit point, while the F would not count either way). It was the belief of students that this rule was unfair since it takes away credit points earned in other courses, and that under the present crowded living and classroom conditions it is impossible for a student to perform at his best in the classroom. Your Student Government spent a great deal of time in an intensive study of the student's reactions to the rule and of the value of the rule. Since we felt that the rule was too severe in its present form, we recommended that the rule be changed to a "blanket two point deduction for each course failed regardless of the numbers of credit hours that the course carries." We presented this recommendation to the Faculty Council last term, and asked them to fully consider it as a substitute rule; but they do not see that it is advisable to change the "F" rule from its present form.

OPEN FORUM

Sportsmanship

Dear Editor:
The wholly unrefined and ungentlemanly display of poor sportsmanship by some undetermined portion of State College students at the Wake Forest basketball game bears out a few of the derogatory remarks that we so heartily resent being thrown at us. Furthermore, the astute behavior of some of the students casts serious reflections upon the degree of intelligence of the student body at large.

After approximately six years of close association with State College, we have experienced our first sincere shame because of student conduct at a game. Let us say further that there is a sincere love on our part for State College; a pride in all of our institution's endeavors. We hate, as much as anyone, the aspirations that have been cast upon State College; but, truthfully, it is hard to stand up and defend ourselves, only to be defeated by a few students who destroy any defense that might be offered.

The only solution to this problem is for each individual student to remember at all times just what sort of a reputation we desire to preserve for State College.

This End of the Line

There is an italicized statement in the TECHNICIAN's style sheet that all good staff members are required to read three times each night before going to bed. It reads: Place the most important item at the top of the article. It is with this thought in mind that we put our comment on the much-discussed but still unremedied rent set-up for the pre-fabs at the top of the page.

The main basis for complaint seems to lie in the fact that veterans whose wives are ambitious enough to work in order to raise their standard of living are penalized by increased rent. This is not exactly in line with "the American way of life" that we read about in the textbooks. Bet there's not a family in the pre-fabs who'd object to lower rent for another family whose wife is tied down at home by several small children, but those who are making real sacrifices should be allowed to profit from them.

A possible solution would appear to lie in an elected equalization board chosen from the tenants themselves and working within certain prescribed limits. However, all the talk in the world won't effect a solution. Why not work out a plan and present it to the proper authorities for action?

Understand Johnny Boyter entertained a charming redhead from the Ex-Log at the Pika house the other night. Was it a dinner date, John?—Seems as though the redheads also find footballer Hiram Sykes irresistible. They actually fight over him.—One of the Architecture Department's more industrious students sat up 'til 3:00 AM studying for an 8:00 quiz. You guessed it: he finally woke up at 8:30.—We hear that the English Department's Mr. R. E. Wynne, whom John Faulk refers to as "the poor man," Charles Boyer, is sprouting a Van Dyke beard for the Little Theatre's production of "Angel Street."

In spite of the slanderous remarks hurled at us during the past week, we bravely continue with the poet's career:

As they sat, secluded, these two:

And he murmured, "I feel like I've known you for years."

She answered, "You certainly do."

Trailwood Talks

By EDWARD G. ROBINSON

After losing their first game 26 to 13, Trailwood turned back the first Turlington five last Wednesday night with a 27 to 12 victory. Trailwood basketball team has improved a great deal since their first game and it looks like they may be able to win the rest of their games.

Last summer the Trailwood residents would turn out and support their team when they were playing softball; but it seems as if they have slackened up on their spirit. There was one fan from Trailwood to see the triumph over Turlington and that was Mrs. Whiteside. If she can go, there should be a lot more that could go. Let's everyone that can in Trailwood turn out and see the team play basketball. A team can play a lot better if there is someone to cheer for them. That's going to be needed pretty badly for the team to win the basketball season.

Pre-Fab Area

Out in the Pre-Fab area things are beginning to move once again. The ditch that laid vacant so long is finally being covered so now the water can drain under our houses instead of in the ditch.

"Mud Hill" is the commonly used expression for the small universe but maybe someday when everybody is gone there will be once again green grass on the hill top.

They are putting gravel on the road; maybe that will keep the dust down till summer.

After all, all is well on Mud Hill so what is a little mud when you're here to learn.

SCHOOL SPIRIT

School spirit is at an all-time high here at N. C. State. It is so high, in fact, that it has reached the point of "rowdiness" in some respects. As a whole, the student body is living up to the high tradition of sportsmanship that has long been praised at State.

But a few who persistently continue to behave like some school "firsters" are branding State as a small-time school that doesn't know how to enjoy their good fortune in the field of athletics. I would be the first to shout to the house-tops a denial of those who get this impression from a few who are destroying the good name that our superb teams have bestowed upon us.

The conduct at recent ball games of the students has largely been fine. I was proud to be a member of this institution when you showed such respect for the opposing teams by giving them a hand when they made good plays and left the game, but the booing of a visiting player when he is trying to shoot his foul shot undid anything else that might have been in our favor. When Coach Case comes off his seat, then you know that its time to "raise hell," because you "darn well know" he is right.

Our teams have "put State College on the map." It is up to us to show our appreciation to them by keeping it on the map with true sportsman-like conduct. The only solution to this problem is for each Coach Al Crawford's Grapplers will meet the wrestling team from Carolina tonight at 8:00 in the Gymnasium. Admission is free, and the public will be admitted. Come on down to see some fine matches.

Individual student to remember at all times just what sort of a reputation we desire to preserve for State College.

REFEREES

Speaking of referees is a ticklish business but I think that anyone who saw the Furman game knows that we and the teams we play are not getting a square deal. Last fall, the North Carolina Officials Ass'n was formed. The purpose of the organization is to hold sessions to educate the officials on the rules to assure that better games will be played and that all who are concerned will benefit. So far, I know of only one session that has been held. This is a fine step in the direction of better relations between fans and officials and will eventually grow into a Southern Conference Ass'n; but in the meantime, if better officials are not obtained, no one can blame the fans for the consequences. I suggest that this ass'n "get on the ball" right away and offer the teams a fair chance.

The baseball team is making plans for another winning year. They already have an exhibition game booked with the Raleigh Capitals' entry in the Carolina League. The game will be played on the 11th of April. Watch for it.

It seems that whoever schedules the football games really "flubbed a dub." They added Chattanooga to the schedule after Wake Forest dropped them. It is also rumored that we could have scheduled Oklahoma but didn't. If we want to continue in the limelight of football circles, we gotta' play teams that are big-time. Why don't we schedule them?

The Raleigh Touchdown Club is going to be shown pictures of the "Gator Bowl." So far, nothing has been said about showing them to the State students who couldn't go. Why not have a showing here and charge a small admission fee. I'm sure the team could use the money to buy better equipment. Or shouldn't the most ardent followers of the Wolfpack see these pictures?

P. S. Don't forget February 1st!

Come From Behind In Each Game To Win

By LONNIE WEATHERS

State's fiery Red Terrors, after trailing throughout the first half, came back in the last stanza to bury the Demon Deacons under an avalanche of baskets and walked off with their fourth conference win of the campaign, shattering all Deacon hopes for a major upset.

Coach Case's charges retained their jinx over all opponents on their court and erased any hopes Wake Forest might have had for becoming a leader in the now potent "Big Five" of the state. However, the Deacons still remain a darkhorse and doubtless will not be taken lightly by anyone.

The win by the Red Terrors left them resting comfortably in third place in conference standings, trailing closely the trembling Gamecocks of South Carolina and the boys in blue from over Duke way. South Carolina gets its first test of conference "fire" this week when they engage Coach Tom Scott's Tar Heels of Carolina.

Bartels Steps Out
Handsome Eddie Bartels, calm, cool, collected, and flashing that victory smile of his all the way, came to the scoring front last Saturday night and swished the nets for a neat sum of 24 points, gathering 14 in the torrid first half. Bartels performed creditably under the baskets and has developed into one of Coach Case's dependables.

Leo Katkavek, easy-going and fastly becoming the most admired performer in collegiate circles, turned in another of his stellar performances in his first role as permanent captain of the aggressive State five. Leo has won the acclaim of everyone who has been fortunate in seeing the West Raleigh boys in action and has been credited with keeping the team together under pressure.

Dick Dickey, around whom State centers their hopes for individual scoring honors, has been hampered by minor injuries and, consequently, hasn't been in top form during recent conflicts. Dickey seems to be in condition again and that means in condition to overtake those who gained on him in the scoring parade since his illness.

Charlie Stine and Norman Sloan also came in for their share of glory in the recent encounter. Stine almost matched his Clemson performance with 15 points and Sloan continued to amaze the elated student body with his brilliant change of pace.

Tomorrow night, State goes in quest of what the State student body has been dreaming about all season, a victory over the unpredictable Tar Heels of North Carolina. The tussle tomorrow evening will complete Coach Case's consensus of inter-state competition.

On Tuesday night, the Red Terrors continued their home winning streak with a 53-33 win over hapless Furman. Furman put up a strong fight in the early minutes of the game but soon were tired by the fast-breaking Terrors. It was a rough game throughout, with 38 fouls being called. Stine with 12 points, was the leader for the Red Terrors while Katkavek, with 12 points, took equal honors as well as turning in his usual fine floor performance. Big Bob Hahn got into the game for about eight minutes and scored three points as well as getting most of the rebounds.

Terrors to face NYU
Violets Here Thursday

State will meet NYU in one of the top intercollegiate battles of the week in Frank Thompson Gym on Thursday. The Violets were rated as the top team in the East during the early part of the season and even after upset losses to Carolina and Oregon, are being labeled as the most dangerous team in the nation.

The game will mark the first appearance of NYU and State on the hardwood and is the initial test of a wide intercollegiate schedule that will be compiled here when the new gym has been completed.

The Duke Blue Devils, who defeated State, 60-53, were turned back by NYU, 64-61, in two over-time periods. Carolina, the only other Southern Conference school to face the Violets, took a 50-48 win that lengthened its win streak to three straight. The Phantoms play NYU at Chapel Hill Monday.

Coach Everett Case's Terrors will have to be at their best to halt the northern giant, which has averaged over 65 points per game in 11 tries. The State average, however, is hanging close to 60 points.

Golf Notice

Charlie Tripp, manager of the State College Golf team, announced this week that the qualifying rounds for the team have already begun at the Raleigh Country Club, and will continue until February 1. All prospective members of the golf team are requested to turn in their scores to the Country Club. The five best scores will count. The complete team and schedule for this season will be announced later.

State Also Has Fine Collegiate Mat Team

Coach Al Crawford's wrestling team dropped a close decision to the strong team at Appalachian last Saturday night by the score of 20-16. The outcome of the match certainly doesn't do justice to the team that Al has moulded from the inexperienced material that reported at the beginning of practice.

In the Appalachian match, the State grapplers went up against a team that was composed of men who had been wrestling there as much as five years. Two of the Appalachian wrestlers were AAU winners in 1944, and two others as well were ineligible under Inter-Collegiate Athletic Assn. rules.

Taking four out of eight matches, the State team made a fine showing against the potent bunch at Appalachian. Fred Waggoner, unlimited, again won his match. Other State men who won are: 136 lb. Blaylock; 155 lb. Warren; 175 lb. Edwards.

Appalachian, by the way, offers scholarships for wrestling while our boys give up their spare time to help build a better athletic program here at State.

Tonight in Frank Thompson Gym, the wrestling team will meet the highly-touted grapplers from Carolina at 8:00 P.M. There is no admission charge and the public will be admitted. Bring your date and see Carolina defeated. Let the boys know we're behind them.

'Pack Still Rolling

That Wolfpack just won't stop scrapping. Last Saturday night in game played preliminary to the Wake Forest game, the boys from the field house stomped the Wake Forest field house crew 33-19. The greater part of our squad was composed of Wolfpack players.

Charlie Richkus paced the 'Pack attack with nine points with Ogden Smith and Footsy Palmer playing a whiz floor game.

The squad is coached by Gwyn Fletcher, and believe me, his nerves really suffered doing the fracas. He wasn't in his seat two minutes during the entire game. Wake Forest, coached by Bob Leonetti, was led by John Jeff and Nick Ognovich, star Deacon griders.

The boys didn't exactly resemble the Illinois Whiz Kids, but they really put up a spirited, sportsmanlike show. Ognovich laid some neat blocks on the boys, and Palmer smashed over several times for field goals. The 'Pack tried time and time again to break Ogden Smith loose but he just couldn't quite get in the clear.

Earlier in the season the Wolfpack edition of the Terrors defeated Cary, and eyeing an undefeated season, games are being sought with the Carolina and Duke field house dwellers. Tuesday night in the opener of the Furman game, the 'Pack took their second decision from the Cary outfit, 27-8.

of the Sigma Chi's gained a split decision over Brown, of PIKA's.

Unanimous Decision
In the 125 pound class, Bird, of the PIKA's, won a unanimous decision over Davis, of the SPE's.

Bird will meet Boling, of Delta Sig, in the finals.

In the 135 pound class, Wyatt, of the SPE's, gained an unpopular decision over Spindola, of the THE's. This bout was crammed with action from start to finish with both boys scoring knockdowns in the second round. In the second bout, Moore, of the PIKA's, decided Allen, of the Delta Sigs. Moore and Wyatt will meet in the semi-finals, and the winner will meet Howard Maddry, of Sigma Chi, in the finals.

New Coaches to Clash In Crucial Cage Tilt

By MAC McDUFFIE

State's Red Terrors and Carolina's White Phantoms meet on the hardwood in Wooten Gymnasium at Chapel Hill tomorrow night, with the two teams under the direction of new coaches.

Coaches Tom Scott of Carolina and Everett Case of State are far from being strangers, however. Each hails from the Midwest and served in the navy during the war. The two coaches have much respect for each other, and their combined knowledge of the cage sport along with the diversified tactics employed by each's respective system should result in one of the highlights of the current season.

Look Like Toss-up
The game will probably be a toss-up, with each team being rated as a slight favorite in partisan quarters. Carolina has shown some sparks of being a great team, but has had trouble on its tour. The Phantoms proved that they can cause any team a great deal of trouble with its 60-58 win over NYU.

Coach Case's Red Terrors made a successful invasion of the Midwest during the Christmas holidays and posted six straight victories. Since returning to conference competition, however, the State quint has had trouble getting started in its games. Duke upset the favored Terrors, 60-53, by collecting a tremendous margin during the first half which the locals could not overtake in second half hostilities. Wake Forest enjoyed a 22-12 advantage after 10 minutes of play against State, but the Terrors changed their tactics and won the game by a 35-28 defense and went on to win, 65-48.

Captain Leo Katkavek is State's lone letterman while Carolina boasts seven—three are regulars.

Dillon Is Dangerous

All American Dillon is recognized as one of the best hook shots in the nation. The six foot, two inch forward is pacing the Carolina team again this year. He scored 405 points in 30 games last year. The job of guarding Dillon will probably go to Pete Negley, six foot, four inch freshman at State. In addition to his merits as a defensive guard, Negley is outstanding as a rebound letterman.

Bob Paxton, another letterman, is working at center for the Phantoms this year. The six foot, three inch Spokane, Washington, product is deadly from the deep side courts. Paxton's last minute goal resulted in the Eastern NCAA championship for Carolina last year. Eddie Bartels can more than hold his own with set shots, however, as he proved when he banged the cords for 24 points against Wake Forest.

Carolina's other regular letterman, James Hayworth, played ball at Carolina in 1941 and was a reserve last year. Rounding out the probable starters for Carolina are Norman Kohler, twin brother of Stan who played for State last year, and Jim Hamilton.

Case Strategy

Coach Case depends greatly on a scout's report for his starting lineup and his charge alternate at two positions in most instances. Usually listed as starters are Bartels, center, and Negley and Katkavek, guards. The forwards positions are being competed for by Charles Stine, Dick Dickey, Warren Cartier, and Jack McComas. Each of the four is of equal ability. McComas has seen only limited action as a result of a wrist injury sustained prior to the season but is rounding into shape fast and looms as a leader in future battles.

Coach Case and the Red Terrors would like to even the records up some in the battle and break one of Carolina's records. The Phantoms have won 42 games while dropping 12 to State in the series between the schools. The highest score ever compiled against Carolina was 67 points by Virginia in 1914. State has scored totals of 75, 68, 69, and 86 points this year.

Scrappy fighting

In the 155 pound class, Banista of TKE decided Rasbury of Sigma Nu in a scrappy bout. Decker of SPE outpointed Merritt of PIKA. Merritt carried the fight in the first round, but seemed to tire in the last after Decker got in hard blows to the head. Hayes of Sigma Chi outclassed Fishel, of KA in the third bout. Hannon of Sigma Pi drew a bye to the semi-finals.

In the 165 pound class, Dalton of KA won over Rankin of Sigma Nu. Several times Dalton had his outclassed opponent hanging on the ropes, but couldn't put away for the count. Miller of PIKA won a split decision over Taylor of Sigma Chi. Swartz of SPE defeated Cloud of Kappa Sig. After a slow first round, the boys got down to business and put on a good show.

BASKETBALL

Fraternities

With John Curtis leading the way, the AGR's routed the Delta Sig's 31 to 8 Tuesday night. Curtis made seven field goals and one foot shot for a total of 15 points. The SAM's continued their fine playing by stopping the ALT's 27 to 10. Geist again led the SAM's with nine points.

On Thursday night Sigma Nu trounced Kappa Sig 26 to 8. Big Joe Cline, of Sigma Nu, scored 12 points. The Sigma Chi team squeezed past Sigma Phi 11 to 10. Plank, of Sigma Chi, led the scoring with nine points.

Dormitories

North Watauga fought off a desperate last half rally by Welch Monday night to win 22 to 18. Winstead, of Welch, led the scoring with 11 points. Third Beeton edged out a 17 to 16 win over first Alexander. Van Denand, of first Alexander, led the scoring with nine points.

3rd Alexander Ramps

Third Turlington won over second Turlington 20 to 13. Page, of the winners, scored five points. Third Syme defeated first Bagwell 21 to 15. A. Mackie, of third Syme, and Harmon, of first Bagwell, each scored eight points. With R. Michel scoring 10 points, third Alexander crushed Basement Beeton 23 to 7. Second Syme defeated Basement Syme 23 to 12. Meares scored seven points for second Syme.

Wednesday night Trailwood smothered first Turlington 27 to 8. Bachelors defeated second Turner, of Trailwood, scored 10 Bagwell in a low scoring contest, 12 to 7. B. Livingston of Bachelors was high scorer of the game with six points.

On Friday night, first Beeton easily defeated third Bagwell 20 to 10. Watts of first Beeton led the scoring with eight points. Gold edged out a 17 to 15 win over Berry. Dicks, of Berry, was the outstanding player, scoring 10 to his team's 15 points.

Mr. M. K. Berkut welcomed the members and guests and introduced Dr. W. J. Peterson, head of the Department of Agricultural Chemistry, as guest speaker. Dr. Peterson discussed the importance of the Hope-Flannigan bill upon agricultural research and other subjects of interest to the student of agricultural chemistry. The discourse was not only very stimulating and informative, but also very entertaining.

The next meeting of the Society of Agricultural Chemists will be held Thursday, February 6, 1947, at 7:00 P. M. in room 101 Withers Hall. All members and those interested in agricultural are invited to attend.

Campus Wheels

By Stuart Zeckendorf

Once again the TECHNICIAN has spun its wheel that never turns and the two outstanding seniors you see pictured above are hereby selected as the Big Wheels of the week.

They are Douglas T. House and Maurice J. Pickler. Both have enjoyed four full years at State College and expect to graduate in June if all goes well. Doug hails from Beaufort, N. C. and is a senior in Forestry. In addition to being chief dormitory assistant, Doug is president of Blue Key, a member of Alpha Zeta—honorary agricultural fraternity, Golden Chain and Xi Sigma Pi, honorary forestry organization. Last year Doug was Secretary of the YMCA, and a member of the Publications Board.

Doug has done a fine job in managing the dormitory assistants in spite of many obstacles due to the excess number of students. He also worked on the TECHNICIAN for two years, even though he was reluctant to admit it.

The other wheel frequently seen rolling around the campus is Maurice J. Pickler of New London, N. C. Maurice is a senior in Agricultural Economics. He entered State College in 1941 as a Sears Scholar. Since then he has amassed a fine scholastic record, culminating in his admission to Phi Kappa Phi last term.

Besides being proficient scholastically, Maurice has found time to engage in a variety of extra-curricular activities. Being a member of Alpha Zeta, Blue Key, a scribe in Golden Chain, Associate Editor of the Agriculturist, and a member of the social functions committee takes up much of his time, yet in addition to these activities, Maurice has found time to become President of the Senior Class, an office to which he was elected last Spring.
