Queen Of The Ball

Miss Dorothy Swain of Raleigh will reign as queen over the weekend's festivities which will commence tonight. Another member of the Royal Family will be "Patches" Meares, president of the Engineers Council, who will be on the King's throne.

Engineers Frolic Today, Tomorrow; 3 Dances Set

Colorful 'St. Patrick' Tapping Is Slated As Feature Of Tea Dance Tomorrow

By DICK FOWLER

The annual Engineers Ball will get under way tonight at 8:30 in Frank Thompson Gym with Les Elgart and his band supplying the music for the first of a set of three dances.

Elgart, who promises to rise to the top of the ranks of band leaders, will be playing at State College for the first time although he will be no stranger to many students since his band featured a "N. C. State College Night" at Frank Daly's Meadowbrook during the Christmas holidays.

Reigning over the festivities will be "Patches" Meares, president of the Engineers Council, and his queen, Miss Dorothy Swain, of Raleigh.

Order of St. Patrick
 The highlight of the tea dance tomorrow afternoon will be the traditional tapping of the Knights of the Order of St. Patrick, an honor society for outstanding senior engineers. Several students in each engineering school are chosen for this honor on the basis of scholarship, character, leadership and extra-curricular activities. Some seventy seniors are to be honored tomorrow. In addition to the seniors two outstanding freshmen from each school will be chosen as Companions of the Order of St. Patrick, one of the highest honors that can be given a first-year man.

The outstanding senior in the entire Engineering School will be presented with a wrist watch which is donated by the Engineering Council. This man is selected by committee including the Chancellor, Dean of Students, Dean of Engineering School, and Heads of Departments.

Tickets Still Available
 It was announced last Tuesday by Meares that a number of tea dance tickets are still available and anyone coming by 221 Syme Hall could secure one.

Both the night dances will be semi-formal rather than formal as it was previously reported. The tea dance will, of course, be informal.

Meares stated that all tickets will have to be clipped to the students' winter term registration card to be valid and that no one would be admitted who fails to comply with this request.

Steve Wilbur, a senior in Architecture, serves as head of the dance committee.

To Furnish Music

Les Elgart, one of the fastest rising leaders in the business, will open the annual Engineers Ball tonight at 8:30, under the sponsorship of the Engineers Council. A feature of Elgart's band is his "Singing Trumpet" which is reported to be just short of enchanted. Les is backed by his brother Larry who is a specialist on the tenor sax. The combination has been well received in many of the top-flight night spots in the land.

Glen Gray Coming

Negotiations to bring Glen Gray and his Casoloma orchestra here next February 24th in a special concert and dance in Frank Thompson Gymnasium were completed just a few hours before the TECHNICIAN went to press. In announcing the event, Dr. L. E. Hinkle, chairman of the Public Lectures Committee stated that the Casoloma Band would play here at 7:30 Monday night, February 24th. Tickets are going on sale immediately at the YMCA desk and through residents of Trailwood and "Vetsville" at 50¢ a person.

Estimated Return For WSSF Set at $2,000

The World Student Service Fund drive on the campus has been completed. This organization is a non-wide campaign for funds to help educate the students of the war-ravaged countries of the world. The goal for the World Student Service Fund was set high to assure the attainment of a large sum. Although the final tabulation is not completed yet, an estimated total of two thousand dollars was received. Complete returns will be announced later. In an open letter Pat H. McDonald, Chairman of the State College WSSF drive, made the following statement:

"On behalf of the Steering Committee for the drive, for myself personally, and for the thousands of our fellow students throughout the world who cannot say it for themselves, I wish to thank every person who contributed to the WSSF or gave his time or services to help promote the drive. Every nickel and dime and dollar represents a very definite investment in the future peace of our world. All who gave may rest assured that their gift is appreciated. Incidentally, if there are any students on the campus who wish to write to a student in another country or to send a personal gift to any student, I am sure that it can be arranged.

"Once again, Thanks, Everybody!"

Ceramic Engineers Hear F. C. Williams

The North Carolina State Student Branch of the American Ceramic Society held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, February 11, at 7 p. m. The society had as its guest Mr. F. Carter Williams of the Department of Architectural Engineering. He stated that with the increased usage of glass, brick, and tile in building construction, the opportunities for makers of ceramic products is limitless. He pointed out that the abundance and variety of ceramic raw materials in North Carolina provided an extremely promising opportunity in this state for young and ambitious ceramic engineers.

The Ag Club will meet at 6 o'clock February 18 and 25 in order that the meeting will be over in sufficient time for members to attend the basketball games held these nights.

There will be an important meeting of the Society of Industrial Engineers on Thursday, February 20 at 7:30 p. m. to complete details of the organization. The meeting will be held in Room 132, 1911 Building.

Terrors Out To Feast "On Devil Meat" Tues.

Conference Top Spot Hangs On Outcome

Coach Everett Case's State College Red Terrors play host to Duke in Frank Thompson gym on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the "question mark" game of the season.

Coach Jerry Gerard's Blue Devils took a 19 points lead over the Terrors during the first half of the initial encounter between the two rivals and emerged victorious, 60-53. The first game has been forgotten as far as picking a favorite is concerned, and the two teams are rated as an even break.

The victor in Tuesday night's Southern Conference duel will probably be seeded No. 1 in the annual tournament—both teams are virtually assured of berths. A win, too, should be guaranty of the regular season title in loop play.

The Terrors stopped Ed Koffenberg, Duke's All-American candidate, in the previous loss, but Garland Loftis turned in a sensational game, consistently sinking long set shots. Bubber Seward was accurate from the side courts, and teamed with Loftis to fill the scoring gap vacated by Koffenberg. (Continued on Page 4)

Pre-Fab Village Plan Organization Meeting

Ed. G. Robinson, unofficial publicity manager for the pre-fab village on the south side of the tracks announced Wednesday that official permission has been received to allow the residents in the pre-fabs to hold a meeting for the purpose of electing town officers and getting the civic organization completed.

At a special meeting attended by Colonel Harrelson and several of the students who live in the pre-fabs, preliminary plans for a meeting of all of the people who live in the apartments were made. These plans provide for a meeting to be held sometime within the next two weeks.

Colonel Hutchinson, manager of the pre-fab project, has been handling all of the problems related to the operation of the community. Some of the responsibility of running the pre-fabs will be delegated to the officers of the town when they are elected. Colonel Hutchinson has been planning on plans for getting a cooperative store, a recreation hall, and a day nursery to be located in the area. The town officials will be able to facilitate the completion of these plans once the officials are elected.

The TECHNICIAN is making plans to sponsor a contest to select a name for the pre-fab village. "Nob Hill", "Snob Hill", and "Rob Hill" have already been suggested. The complete plans for this contest will be announced in THE TECHNICIAN next week.

John Clark Resolution Cause Of Wild Session

The Board of Trustees of the Greater University met last week in a wild and woolly session, featured by a resolution calling for the removal of a Carolina professor introduced by Mr. John W. Clark of Greensboro, President of the State College Alumni Association. Mr. Clark's resolution called for the dismissal of Professor Johnson of the Chapel Hill Sociology department on the basis that he was teaching and participating in things that did not have the approval of North Carolina citizens.

The resolution was an outgrowth of two recent public gatherings in which negroes and whites sat indiscriminately together. One was a concert in Chapel Hill by Dorothy Manor, Negro soprano, and the other was an interracial church service in the First Presbyterian Church of Greensboro. Johnson was allied with both of these activities.

Mr. Clark attempted to point out grounds for suspicion of the motives of Johnson and his activities. The resolution was bitterly discussed with Mr. Josephus Daniels, Cameron Morrison, and Dr. Frank Graham rising to the defense of the Fund and its use.

The resolution was tabled finally due to the argument that it would bring adverse publicity for the state and the University.

There will be a Masonic Club meeting in the east wing of the cafeteria at 6 p. m., February 18. Come direct to the dining room, as supper will be served there.

Blame it on the Weather Man . . .

Weather Bureau Has Been Busy Every Day Since 1887

By HELEN KEY

Do you wake up freezing because you came in hot last night and cut off the heat? Do you step out wearing an overcoat and stuffed like a frog to find that the mercury is up to 70 degrees? Or do you have to stick your head out the window to know how to dress? Wake up and get help—ask the Campus Weather Man what the day will bring forth.

Probably few students know that the U. S. Department of Commerce Weather Bureau operates a station on the State College campus. Mr. C. E. Lamoureux is the head of this station and the office is located in 1911 Building. The Raleigh office was established January 1, 1887, at the N. R. Experiment Farm which was located on the present site of the N. C. State campus. In September of that same year, it was moved to the Agricultural Building and since then has been at the Fisher Building, the Masonic Temple, and the Raleigh Municipal Airport. In December of 1944, it was moved to its present location.

Fence Inclose Instruments
 The white box-like affair surrounded by the white picket fence next to 1911 Building is the shelter for the instruments which measure the temperature and relative humidity. These are kept in the shade and the shelter is constructed so as to allow free circulation of the outside air through it. The rain gauge is there, too. Above the roof of Ricks Hall are the instruments used to determine the wind direction and velocity and to measure the sunlight. In the office is the barometer and just outside, in the hall, is the Teletype through which reports are recorded from and sent to all parts of the country.

During the war, when weather reports were not being made public, the activities of the Weather Bureau went on as usual. Several steps were taken, however, to keep the work secret. Some of the windows to the office are still blacked out as a result of these precautions.

Record Kept
 A permanent record is kept of the minimum and maximum daily temperature, precipitation, relative humidity, hours and percent of sunlight, wind velocity and prevailing wind directions, and snowfall. These are items of interest to most newspapers, especially the maximum and minimum temperatures. These records show that the lowest temperature recorded at Raleigh since the station was established was 2 degrees below zero.

To Furnish Glamour

The young ladies above will sponsor for the dance committee of the Engineers Ball which begins tonight at 8:30 in Frank Thompson Gym. From left to right: Miss Beatrice Moore, Brevard, N. C., for Robert Holtzclaw; Miss Maxine Cone, Spring Hope, N. C., for Steve Wilbur, dance committee chairman; Miss Frances Holt, Raleigh, N. C., for Ike Tull; and Miss Ann Carter, Raleigh, N. C., for W. L. Woodall.

Geologist Speaks At Withers Hall Tonight

Dr. Horace G. Richards, a well known specialist in Geology and Biology, will deliver an illustrated lecture tonight in the auditorium at Withers Hall. The title of the lecture will be "Wandering Through Central America" and is sponsored by the Public Lectures Committee.

One of the particular delights of Dr. Richards is to visit those out-of-the-way and unusual places which the average tourist never sees. His book "Animals of the Seashore" and many of his articles are enjoyed by scientist and layman alike. A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, he is at present Associate Curator of Geology and Paleontology at the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia. The public is invited to attend this lecture.

Sophomores Select April 19 for Dance

The Sophomore Class held a meeting Tuesday noon in Pullen Hall to make and approve plans for its annual dance. For a class limited to members of the Sophomore class and their dates, April 17th being selected as the date.

A dance committee was chosen with Dick Fowler as chairman to carry out the action of the class and to make the necessary arrangements for signing a band. Tickets will go on sale to the class members as soon as plans are complete.

College Tries Three For Drunkenness

State College bids fair to steal the reputation of the country club set of Chapel Hill at the pace some students are setting. Last week three students went before the Faculty Council on charges of public drunkenness. Two of the men were placed on probation for the rest of the year—a freshman and a senior—and the other man, a sophomore, was suspended from school for the rest of this year. His charges were drunkenness and destruction of public property.

Big and Juicy Steaks! . . .

College Cafeteria Will Open 'Grill' Monday

By WALTER CLARK

At last State College is going to have a place to eat where you won't have to wait in line. Yes, Monday, Feb. 17, is the opening date for the steak room located under the balcony in the southeast wing of the cafeteria. In the past there has not been a place available on the campus to take your girl or friends to eat unless you were willing to buck the chow line. Soon these troubles will be over; the Grill will be open.

The new eatery will have steaks and "chicken-in-the-basket." Of course there will be a choice of vegetables, drinks (coffee and milk—that is), and desserts. In order that students may buy food in proportion to their appetite, the dinners will be a la carte.

Waiters and Cashier
 There will be four waiters and a cashier to insure prompt and efficient service. The room, being enclosed, will have a quiet, peaceful atmosphere so necessary in the enjoyment of eating good food. The steaks are to be real steaks, the kind you see in your dreams; not the dainty, tissue thickness variety so characteristic of this inflationary era.

On Saturdays, when so many students are away, the Grill will be closed, but it will be open Sunday. On weekdays the room will be reserved for faculty and staff meetings at noon, but will be open to the students from 5:00 to 7:30 p. m. for dinner.

Prices Low as Possible
 The prices are to be as low as possible in keeping with the quality of the food offered. It must also be kept in mind that the waiters must be paid full salary; where, as in a commercial restaurant, they receive most of their pay in tips. In spite of this, the prices will be lower for what you get than they are off campus. There will be a steak offered at seventy-five cents, but the prices for the bigger ones will be higher.

The Grill, although out of range of everyday use on a G.I. budget, will be greeted with enthusiasm by those who like to break away from a routine life and enjoy some good food two or three times a week. I believe everyone will be grateful to Mr. Stewart, manager of the cafeteria, for this new addition to our campus.

Traffic Rules

The Traffic Committee has a tough job in keeping the Traffic Rules, set up by this committee last fall, from being completely ignored. Students and faculty alike should realize that the rules were made for the mutual benefit of the community, when it became apparent that some kind of parking rules must be established.

The hearings of offenders of the rules are often rather nasty affairs. In failing to abide by the rules the offending student displays poor spirit, and it is with this spirit that he faces the committee. The chip on his shoulder gets bigger when he sees that the committee is composed of all faculty, with the result that he leaves the room feeling persecuted rather than corrected for the infraction he has committed.

One important thing that should be done immediately is to place students on this committee, so that the student attitude and opinion can be fairly represented. The committee should be half faculty, half student in composition. This is the only way student rights can be honestly respected. This is the only way the Traffic Rules and the Committee will come to be respected by our overly-independent students.

Students At Fault

Last week the Technician pointed out some of the delinquencies of the Administration regarding student welfare and student interests. We hope that what was said will be taken seriously by the college officials and that some remedial action will be taken.

This week the Technician would like to state what we believe to be the truth about the present student body of State College with the hope that all of us may begin now with ourselves and our associates to build a better spirit and attitude toward State College.

The "don't give a damn" attitude manifest in many students is making it hard for real progress to be made by the students who do care what kind of a college we have and what kind of a reputation we have throughout the nation. Destruction of dormitory phones and other installations, public drunkenness, disregard for college rules, poor sportsmanship at ball games—these and other things are manifestations of disloyalty and disrespect of fellow students and the college.

Many of the facts being committed by members of our student body seriously hamper projects of the Student Council; for the Faculty Council, already showing little respect for students, will never allow changes to be made in the college rules, which many students desire made, until the student body displays the worthiness and trust required for more liberal rules.

The importance of a good reputation for the college, scholastically and otherwise, cannot be over-emphasized. It is an undisputed fact that many industrial concerns select many of their men on the reputation the college has for the caliber of its graduates.

A college is no better than its students. We are responsible for any record the college has, and the sooner we realize this and set about to maintain and improve our present standing, the better it will be for us as graduates of State College.

Perhaps it is hard to place the blame on any one person or any one thing, but certainly students recently have been doing about as much damage to the college as they possibly could do. Perhaps these people don't really have any intention of graduating or care nothing about any part of the college. If some few are causing our good reputation to be marred, then it's our urgent duty to see that they are squelched, and removed from school, if necessary.

Those who are fighting for a new and greater State College, those of us who are struggling to get a degree which will be respected throughout the nation, should redouble our efforts to rid the campus of this abominable attitude and these irresponsible "college" students.

College Or Kindergarten

This article was intended for the Open Forum column, but we think it expresses an idea so well that it should run as a Technician editorial. If the writer will identify himself, we shall be happy to give him a credit line.

State College is supposed to be an educational institution to help men develop their minds; not only along technical subjects, but in the art of living.

The situation that now exists and that has existed for many years at this school is absurd. How can men who themselves know not the skill of living and free thinking in still in their associates the most precious gift education has to offer—a free, strong, well-developed mind.

Just as a kid from kindergarten does not possess a well-developed mind, neither does the average State College student. He has not had the encouragement and instruction in mind development. His thinking is closely channeled and he is led, pushed, or dragged through the prescribed courses until at the end of his college career, he feels as if freedom is at last to be achieved.

The faculty states that the average high school graduate is not capable of handling his affairs properly; that he is unable to make a wise decision. Surely this may be the truth, but why prolong the process of obtaining mental maturity? Is it not better for a man to make a few wrong simple decisions in his early college career and learn how to make a decision rather than have to face industry unable or afraid to lead the way?

The war developed many young leaders because the responsibility for making a decision could not be evaded.

Many of the faculty fail to make decisions; not because they lack interest in the students, but for fear of making one that is not in keeping with the school policy. How can such men be educators?

A student was recently found guilty of drunken driving and disorderly conduct in a civilian court. He was given a suspended sentence—a chance to finish school—but the faculty council expelled him from school for two years. The student was not even called to appear before the council to offer any defense—a privilege granted in any civilian court in this country. If this is the action of free-thinking men—educators—then think of the free-thinking, tyrannical war lords of Germany and Japan that this student helped to eliminate—what irony!

Why not give the responsibility of such decisions to the Student Government just as in the case of students suspected of cheating?

Why not let the students, freshmen to seniors, form their own schedules, select their topics, subjects for speeches, determine whether they need to attend class every day and many other questions? This way the student will have the responsibility to decide between failure and success.

Life Is Funny That Way

Ed Note: The following anonymous article was received and, because we thought it quite amusing, are submitting it for your approval. What do you think?

Some folks might think that all of this cold weather we're having might freeze up the spirits of some of these wolves we see slinking up Fayetteville Street most every night. Peers to me it's having just the opposite effect. Saw a parcel of 'em down to the Log Cabin 't'other night, and their spirits seemed far from frozen to me. Now I ain't saying that this here wolfing around should stop. Heck no. Fact is, it sorta keeps the gals on their toes. But it seems to me that some of these fellers are getting sorta into the habit of just playing around with the gals. Calls to mind the fable about the shepherd boy who hollered wolf so often 'til folks just wouldn't pay no 'tention to him. Then when the wolf did come he found himself in a heap 'o' trouble. So when I sees these boys making a reputation for themselves going from first one gal then the other with a line for every occasion, I wonder how they are going to get out of the habit when that special gal comes along. Then, too, when all the gals get the word on these Joes, how're they gonna convince that one that they're on the level? My Maw told me once that if you go round telling folks things you don't mean, you'll have a heap of trouble trying to make 'em believe things you do mean. Me, I'm inclined to agree. What'ya you think?

Campus Wheels

By OREN T. BOYLES

In the above picture of this week's wheels we find Leon Mann, student president of the Y.M.C.A., explaining one of the more interesting activities of the "Circle of Faith and Action," to Ike Tull, business manager of THE TECHNICIAN. World Relatedness is the division under discussion and the part currently being stressed by the Y. This topic underlines an attempt to extend understanding between the peoples of the world with our support of the "United Nations Organization," assistance to world education through W.S.S.F., and participation in world missions. According to Leon, American students who take part in any phase of World Relatedness tend to become anti-isolationists.

Mann is a Junior in "Economics." He is from Newport, N. C. Last year he sang with the Glee Club, and as a member of the debating team he opposed "Free Trade." While debating, Leon became so vociferously enthusiastic that his vocal cords became disconcerted. He lost not only the debate, but also his spot on the debating team and the position with the Glee Club. Mann thinks it is merely ironical that this year's Glee Club received a greater appropriation, and the Glee Club has gone on the air.

At present Leon is a member of the Ag Club and THE TECHNICIAN news staff, but he contributes most of his time to Y activities. He has also been on the receiving end of a major contribution.

Last summer he was sent to the Union Theological Seminary in New York City to attend the Y

President's School. An unscheduled result of the interesting six weeks was a friendship with a "frill" which is still going strong. Of women in general Leon says, "They are certainly desirable for married life." No proof for this statement is offered, however, since the "Mann" is quite happily an unmarried one.

Like some of the other organizations on the campus, the Technician has its "mop-up" team. Ike Tull is the team's quarterback. From the sale of advertising space he assumes approximately one-third the cost of printing the Technician.

He says, "Things are looking up in the business world, but the printer's refusal to give more than four pages to advertisements slightly cramps the ad department's style." He broadens his A's like a Bostonian, but his home is in Shaker Heights, Ohio.

Tull's experience as President of the American Institute of Electrical Engineering, member and past President of Sigma Nu social fraternity, member of Eta Kappa Nu honorary fraternity, Mu Beta Psi, the Redcoat Band, Engineer's Council, and Publications Board have convinced him that two changes should be made in conditions as they exist on the campus.

He thinks the Social Functions Committee should meet each September to decide what band to sign for which big dance during the year and thus avoid the last-minute confusion. While he insists that he doesn't cut many more than his quota of classes, he believes our cut system could be liberalized without damage to student or institution.

"Cherchez la Femme"...

Co-eds Need Dormitories, Lack Proper Organization

There are two important needs in the life of State co-eds—organization and dormitory space. These two things offer opportunities for the development of personality, responsibility, and citizenship which can not be found in anything else.

A strong co-ed organization would benefit the student body as a whole and the girls in particular. It need not, and should not, conflict with the campus government, but should be more or less social in nature. Now is the time when we should be learning to work, play, and live with other people, yet few State co-eds even know more than ten or twelve other co-eds. There is no good reason for such a state of affairs; we simply have not gone to the trouble of organizing. Let's get together, co-eds.

The problem of dormitory space is more difficult to solve. With the crowded condition of the men's dormitories and the shortage of materials and labor, to think of building a women's dormitory is practically out of the question. Yet, this does not eliminate the need for one. Living on the campus would give the co-eds an opportunity to participate in more campus activities as well as to spend more time on their studies. Conditions are already improving somewhat—is it too much to ask for co-ed dormitory space within the next two years at most?

Doings of the Campus Government

By WOODY WILLIAMS

It certainly is a shame that the Technician news has to be reported and written up before Wednesday for publication on Friday. Last week this column reported what the Campus Government and administration were doing to procure the long coveted barber shop. The plans about the shop have been changed from what was reported. Mr. King, Mr. Irey, and administrative officials went into conference last week, and as a result, the barber shop will be placed in the basement of the "Y" as it was in the past. I hope that this bit of news is up to date and is correct; if not, let the report made to the Student Council last Thursday is true.

Tower Report
The committee appointed to make plans for and carry out the fund raising drive to complete the War Memorial Tower gave a very fine report on its progress. The Council was extremely gratified to learn of the whole-hearted student body support for the project. The result of the recent poll showed that ninety-three per cent of the students who voted were in favor of giving up their tickets to the State-Davidson game in order to raise the needed money. Plans are underway for getting tickets sold and an announcement of when and where they will be available will be known in the near future. If you stop reading now you will miss one of the most important pieces of legislation that has passed the Council this year. DJ go to it. The Promotion Committee decided to get off its seat and do something. The following complete report was the result. I might add that most of these proposals include long standing gripes and in some cases are positive measures (Continued on Page 4)

This End of the Line.

In spite of the lousy trick that the N.Y.U. game played on our blood pressure, we're still able to punch a typewriter. Once again we cheat business manager Tull out of this space that he covets for one of his ads.

Speaking of basketball, we're becoming a bit irritated at hearing loyal Statesmen shout "dirty robber" and "lousy crook!" at the referees. A little careful observation should reveal that people so short on mental equipment could not possibly be dishonest. We refer to no one official in particular, but we've seen quite a few work this year and the only solution of a thorough turnover seems to be a seeing-eye dog out each man.

Those lads you see wearing sidearms are probably the proud possessors of tickets to the Saturday night edition of the Engineers' Brawl. Seems as how they're as scarce as high I. Q.'s are at Chapel Hill. Looks like this poor litig dodger will have to spend an intellectual evening with Dick Tracy and Superman.

Off goes the hat to reader Tom Winston who fired a nicely worded, but poorly aimed shot at us last week. Any man who can use five two-bit words and a Latin phrase in a short letter has our admiration. Have it pasted outside our English book in case we run short on these fillers.

Much as it hurts his pride to do it, Charlie Ruppe is forced to agree with Sam Beard on the subject of Meredith girls. "Never again," Charlie groans. His motto: Women Are No Damn Good.

Judging from the hoard of faithful pilgrims who take off for Greensboro each week-end, a direct route bus service should do a rushing business.

Dr. Horace Hamilton, head of the Rural Sociology Department was scratching his head over a new type parking ticket that he received last week:

Trailwood Talks

By S. N. RICHARDSON

The biggest news item in Trailwood this week is the near completion of electrification of the area by the Carolina Power and Light Co. Everyone greets this project with gratefulness, because it will not only mean a more equitable system for paying electric charges, but also will mean cessation of the familiar and unwelcome blackouts of the past.

All good things seem to be coming to Trailwood at one time, for a new Bendix was just moved in along with the new power system.

The addition of a new washing machine should alleviate some of the hair pulling that goes on on wash days. We are progressively securing the things we need most in order to live more comfortably, and our thanks go out to all the people in and out of Trailwood who have been responsible for securing these items.

Don't forget, members of the Co-Op, that your vote is needed to pass any new laws, and to change any existing ones in the Co-Op charter. At the last meeting the necessary 15% of membership was not present, and as a result the meeting was delayed. Walt Price and his cohorts, following upon the efficient heels of the original founders of the store, have done an excellent job running our store. Now it's our turn to help out a little. Besides, if you have any homework you can't do, bring it with you to the meetings and Walt will help you get it done.

Lose Basketball Game
Tuesday night saw the second defeat for the Trailwood basketball team, a 15 to 17 loss to Second Becton. The team is automatically eliminated from any further intramural competition now, but the season was a good one while it lasted. Nice try, team; maybe next time there will be more of us there to act as a cheering section.

HEARSAY from GEORGE HARRELL

Tankers Whip Dolphins To Win Carolinas AAU Terrors Wallop Furman, Citadel---Meet Deacs Tonight

"The only thing I dislike about 'boosing' is the fact that I hear so much of it every time I witness a sporting contest on the campus of N. C. State. That alone should be sufficient reason for all Wake Forest students to refrain from 'boosing' at the officials and opposing team members regardless of what happens." Thus saith the Wake Forest Old Gold and Black.

Far be it for us to heed with any degree of attention the whimsical writings of any Wake Forest student, but when the feeling expressed therein portrays the mutual beliefs of so many more schools and alumni it's about time we woke up and discarded our bad habit. Actually, that's all it is, a bad habit. Just what do we mean when we "boo." Somewhere along the line some slothful character had difficulty in finding the right word in his vocabulary and made up something that so closely resembles "boo" that there was no distinction. A few of his cohorts picked it up and continued to use that most ignorant expression until gradually it began to attach itself to the whole "fan-world."

Notice

All baseball pitchers and catchers ONLY will BEGIN PRACTICE Monday, February 17, at 6:30 p.m. on the main gym floor. Wear some old clothes and or basketball shoes as no equipment will be issued until the squad is chosen. ALL pitchers and catchers who intend to try out for the squad this year will report at this time.

Field House Wolves Ready for Dukes

State's Wolfpack edition of the Red Terrors are still rolling right along. After dropping a close decision to the strong semi-pro White Flash team by the score of 48-45, they roared back to down the High Arc team of Raleigh, 44-31.

Chuck Spencer, with 12 points, and Dostanko, with 10 points, led the Wolves fight in the White Flash game. Holoman, with 14 points, and Bernie Mock, former State cage star, with 10 points led the winners. Dusty Dostanko, with 16 points, and little Charley Richkus and Chuck Spencer, with seven points apiece, led the attack in the High Arc game. Gene Honeycutt, a State student, paced the losers with nine points.

Last Saturday night the Wolves traveled over to Deaconland and dropped a close decision to the Wake Forest Helms, 42-37 after whipping them earlier in the season. Gordon Goodwin and Chuck Spencer, with 12 and 10 points respectively were high scorers for the Pack, while Bobby Kellog and John Jett, with the same number of points, respectively, featured the Helms' attack.

Next Tuesday, the Wolfpack cage team tangles with the Gridders of Duke in Frank Thompson gymnasium at 6:30. Coach Gwyn Fletcher says that his boys are pointing for this game, and hope to take their fifth win in seven starts.

State By George Harrell Sports Editor, The Technician Definition According to Buzz Barton, "Boosing is the rushing of air through empty spaces of the cranium." What about it? Don't forget the wrestling match this afternoon at 3:00. Coach Crawford has a fast-improving team. Last week they beat hither-to-unbeaten Washington and Lee, 21-9. I'd like to welcome Floyd Pickett of Raleigh to the Sports Staff. Floyd will report intramurals and other current sporting news. P.S.—See Ya' Tuesday night.

STATE TO CATCH DUKE ON CAROLINA REBOUND

Case's charges have scored victories over NYU and Carolina in the last two weeks, and the Terrors have shown a highly-improved brand of ball. Jack McComas has been switched to guard and, together with Captain Leo Katkavek, has been the sparkplug in the State offense and defense. McComas plays a fast but steady game. On a fast break Jack can usually be counted on to break under the baskets with the forwards. The most outstanding factor in State's play during the last few weeks has been teampay. It is remembered that State has nine freshmen with a lone letterman—Katkavek. Casey's coaching is being hailed to become apparent to the spectators and the game with Duke will probably see a State outfit on the hardwood that will move fast and accurately.

WRESTLING NOTICE

Coach Al Crawford's mat team will meet the strong VMI wrestling squad today at 3:00 P.M., in Frank Thompson Gym. The State grapplers will be out for their third victory over the season. VMI is rated at the top of the conference with Carolina. Come out and see some fine matches.

Mermen Defeat Carolina, 74-61 1-2 As Kelly Stars

By M. A. MCDUFFIE

State College's swimming team bunched together seven first places plus one tie and took the Carolina AAU championship from Carolina last Saturday for the first time since the water carnival was inaugurated. Coach Willis Casey's swimmers collected 74 points compared to 60½ for the Blue Dolphins. Emory captured 17 points, VMI totaled 16, and Duke trailed with 4½.

Kelly Grabs Top Honors

Bill Kelly was the star of the 10th Annual Carolinas AAU meet. The Raleigh product took first place in the 100-yard free style, 200-yard breaststroke, and the 200-yard free style, in addition to duties on both first place relay teams. A visiting coach commented just after Kelly was awarded the high-scoring trophy that the State certainly has possibilities as a future Olympic star.

Casey and his charges went all for the well-deserved victory. In addition to Kelly's tours in five events, Bill Despres placed in four events, taking two first places. Bill Ward, Southern Conference champ, swam in four events also. Captain Bob Reynolds, swimming his last year for State, did a turn on both of the champion relay outfits. State's spirited mermen completely out-classed anything in the tank except Carolina's divers. Norman Sper and Buddy Crane, both former national champs, took first and second respectively for the Dolphins in what was the only event that State did not dominate. Tinker Heyward and Harry Cramer, Casey's freshmen divers, both placed in diving, however.

Casey Takes Dousing

The spirit of the entire student body at State was exemplified by the joyous swimmers when they hurled Coach Casey into the tank. Casey is nearing the end of the season with an undefeated record—something unheard of around the State campus.

Only two dual meets and the Southern Conference swimming meets remain on the State card, but both of the opponents are undefeated in loop hostilities. The two foes are Duke and Carolina.

Duke and Carolina Next

Duke and Carolina will be the toughest teams met by State in this section and an undefeated team is always faced by the jinx bug. Casey has plenty of reason to be worried about the last two meets. In the AAU meet, State's title was not won until the last event, and then Carolina was defeated only with the help of the other teams.

The State swimmers do not swim against another foe until they meet Carolina February 22. A two-week layoff from competition destroys timing greatly, according to Casey, and it is difficult to keep the boys at a top pitch just by practice sessions alone.

Our Choice for All-American

Leo Katkavek, Captain and guard of the 1947 high-flying Red Terrors is a natural for All-American honors on any team. Leo has been the sparkplug on the floor all season and has played every minute of nearly every game. His steady, cool floor play has more than once been the element that pulled the boys down to earth and directed them on to victory. He hails from Manchester, Conn., where he received All-State honors in high school. Katkavek starred on the 1945 team before serving in the Navy. Leo doesn't shoot much, but when he flips the ball, chalk up two points. His ability to get rebounds is uncanny. Roll these qualities all together and mix them in with his wonderful and pleasing personality, and you can't make anything but All-American out of it. (Photo by Vern Stack.)

THE INTRAMURAL FRONT

By BUZZ BARTON

There wasn't much action along the intramural front during the past week, due to the fact that quite a few varsity games were played. When there was action, it flared up with a big bang. The "frat fratres" and the "dorm dwellers" kept the nets sizzling when they were on the firing line. On the first day of action 1st. Becton jumped off against North Watauga, and the jump netted them a 22 to 20 win. Lattermilk, of North Watauga, sunk eight points, and Johnson, 1st Becton, got six. On the same night, 3rd Alexander stopped Welch by a score of 26 to 18. McLean got 8 points for the winners, and D. Rouse sank 5 for the less fortunate. In another hot contest, 3rd Turlington took the measure of Gold by the count of 19 to 14. Page, of 3rd Turlington, was high man with 9 points, and Thrower hit the basket for 8 for the losers. High Scoring was the Feature of the Day in Conference Victories

Flashing an attack that completely baffled the opposition, Coach Everett Case's high-flying Red Terrors posted their eighth and ninth Conference victories by walloping Furman, 71-51, last Saturday night, and then crashing hapless Citadel, 75-35, Monday night.

Negley Hot

Big Pete Negley was the big gun in the Furman triumph with seven field goals and five free throws for a total of 19 points. The rangy center, who started at Iowa Pre-Flight during the war, played an exceptional game under the nets as well as posting the high score for the evening. Set-shot artist Ed Bartels accounted for 13 points to grab runner-up honors, while Dick Dickey pushed in 11 points with his familiar jump shot. Captain Leo Katkavek continued to perform miracles under the basket and also kept the floor play going smoothly.

Monday night, the Terrors continued their high scoring spree by completely outclassing a weak but scrappy Citadel five, 75-35. By doubling Citadel's score plus five, Case's men continued to shape up fast for the all important Duke clash Tuesday night.

Dickey Takes Off

Dick Dickey got back into form by dropping in 18 points. Fleet-footed Jack McComas was close behind with 17 points and played a bang-up game on defense also. Teaming up with Katkavek, Jack kept the Citadel men going in circles all night. Big Ed Bartels hit the hoops for 11 points to round out the two digit scoring. Snow, sub center, showed promise as being a dependable man to call on.

losers while sinking 13 big points. Kappa Alpha beat Delta Sig, 16 to 15, in a low scoring thriller. Doyle was the whole show for Delta Sig. He shot 14 of their 15 point total. Foster and Durant hit the basket for 4 points apiece. S.A.M. swamped Sigma Pi 18 to 8. Winecoff of Sigma Pi got 4 points, and Olanoff netted 8 points for the winners.

State Grapplers Win Over Generals, 21-9

Coach Al Crawford's fast learning matmen now sport a record of two wins against three losses after their convincing triumph last Friday night over the previously undefeated Washington and Lee Generals by a score of 21-9. The Generals had been victorious in four straight matches until this defeat. Friday's exciting match, held before a crowd of 1500, featured three falls, all scored by State.

Wagoner Scores Quick Fall

Big Fred Wagoner, heavyweight, won his fifth match against no defeats by pinning McCausland in 1:04. Don Trozier, 155 pounds, who lost a very close decision last week came through with a decisive victory, pinning Metzler in 2:39. In the 145 pound division Lewis of State scored State's other fall over Sheldermine of Washington and Lee in 2:27.

Meet VMI Today

Today's match with VMI will be held this afternoon at 3:00 o'clock due to the Engineer's Ball tonight. So, come on out to the gym and cheer Crawford's swell team on to another victory. Next Tuesday the Grapplers meet Duke at Duke.

Commends Glee Club For Radio Broadcast

The State College Glee Club under the direction of Major Christian Kutchinski will present the last in a series of three recitals over station WPTF tonight at 10:45. The program, sung by the group of over fifty regular members will include such favorite selections as "My River Home" by Moulton, "The Sleigh" by Koutz, and "The Lost Chord" by Sullivan. The program last week, highlighted by a beautiful rendition of "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte, was well received throughout the area as evidenced by the "fan mail" the director has collected in his scrap book.

Rapidly growing interest in the Glee Club has prompted Major Kutchinski to set Sunday afternoon, February 23 as a tentative date for a public performance in Pullen Hall. The high spot in the club's future plans is the tour planned for the early part of next term. Invitations have been received to sing both in this state and Virginia. Definite plans will be released very soon for both the performance on the campus and the tour.

Major Kutchinski also stated that the Red Coat Band and The Concert Orchestra are making plans for a program sometime later in this term.

Navy Wants V-6 Men Requirements Listed

The Navy Department has assigned North Carolina a quota of 16,900 men to be recruited for the Naval V-6 Inactive Reserve according to a letter received from Lt. E. A. Shugart, of the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station in Raleigh.

If you are a former enlisted man of any of the following: USN, USNR, USN-I, USCG, USCGR, USMCR, USA or the National Guard, who served on active duty in the armed forces in World War II, you are eligible for enlistment in V-6 (Inactive) Naval Reserve. All men between thirty and forty years of age and men between 17 and 18½ may apply for enlistment in V-6.

Men who take advantage of this opportunity will retain their rate and will not be called unless there is a national emergency. All the time a man spends in V-6 will apply to his longevity. Summer cruises are not required, but may be taken with full pay and travel expenses to and from the ship.

At a later date a traveling recruiting team will be on the campus to effect enlistments of all men who desire to join. The exact date will appear in THE TECHNICIAN.

Class Rings on Order

During the first of the week, Mr. L. C. Childs was on the campus representing the Jostens Company of Owatonna, Minn., who are the dealers for the Junior Class rings.

According to Mr. Childs, the rings have a facet back and buffed top and are set with a synthetic ruby. The rings are available in three weights at prices as follows: 12 dwt., $23.73 plus federal tax; 14 dwt., $30.43 plus federal tax; and 17 dwt., $38.03 plus federal tax. On the whole, the rings are priced about $1.10 cheaper than they were last year. The encrusting on the rings is extra and may be had for $1.00 for one letter, $1.50 for two letters, and $2.00 for three letters.

All juniors who did not have the opportunity to place their order with Mr. Childs may place their orders with Dean Cloyd. So far, one hundred and fifty rings have been ordered.

Field Artillery Unit

The 454th Rocket Field Artillery Battalion, located at Raleigh has announced that all students or faculty members who are coast artillery or field artillery Reserve Officers may be assigned to the 454th unit.

All inactive duty training will be on a voluntary basis, and pending enactment of legislation authorizing inactive duty training pay, home training will be on a non-pay basis. Until such time as pay is authorized, there will be a maximum of one 2 hour meeting a month.

Reserve officers who wish to apply may write the Commanding Officer, 454th Rocket Field Artillery Battalion, room 807 Insurance building or phone Sgt. Griffin, 3-8611.

A Thought To Her

When we had quarrel'd this morn'g
We garm'd our souls with proud-
ness blind;
We childishly had born
Ill wills in individual mind.
All through the day we felt
The comfortless severity
That narrow pride had dealt
To both our hearts condemn'd.
But when I thought I saw
Your sweet, but grieving, doleful eyes,
All pride and haught' do flee
And loves beyond compare arise.

AAF Officers Needed For Weather Training

Reserve officers in the grade of major and below who have completed at least three years of college work including mathematics through integral calculus and one year of college physics and who are physically and otherwise qualified, are eligible for recall to active duty for the purpose of attending weather officer training courses. Former officers who are not members of the Reserve Officers Corps and who are qualified for weather officer training must first apply for and receive a Reserve Officer's Commission before they may request recall to active duty for weather officer training. Reserve officers of the other arms and service will be transferred to the Air Reserve upon acceptance of recall to active duty for weather officer training.

Individuals who successfully complete the prescribed course of weather officer training at State civilian schools will serve on active duty as weather officers with the Air Weather Service of the AAF.

Those qualified and interested should contact Col. Sam A. Gibson, commanding officer of the State College Department of Military Science and Tactics, for applications and information.

Campus Notes

● There will be a meeting of the AIEE Wednesday, February 19, at 7:00 p. m. Pictures of the 'Gator Bowl' game will be shown and a member of the coaching staff will give a short talk.

● A group of former Air Force officers has organized a chapter of the Air Reserve Association on the campus and request that all interested Air Force reserves attend the next meeting which is to be held in the Faculty Club room in the Y Friday, February 21. Several important questions will be answered at this meeting.

● The Wesley Fellowship meeting this Sunday will join in a universal prayer for students sponsored by the World's Student Christian Federation. On this day students in all parts of the globe will band together in prayer for a better world. The meeting will be conducted by Louis Lower and Jim Bogle. Come to Pullen Hall at 7 o'clock this Sunday to unite in prayer with our fellow students all over the world.

● The American Society of Civil Engineers held a banquet at the Club Bon-Air last Tuesday night. Over 80 student members and visiting engineers attended the monthly meeting.

H. G. Baity, professor of Sanitary Engineering at the University of North Carolina, was the principle speaker. Professor Baity spoke on "De-Watering an Amazonian City." He described the structure by very primitive methods of the canal, dike and tide-gate system around the old city of Belem near the mouth of the Amazon River in Brazil. The discussion was illustrated by Kodachrome slides.

● The ASME's are switching their meeting night from Tuesday to Monday next week. The meeting will be held in Room 100, Page Hall, at 7:00 p. m., and plans to journey to Duke for a joint meeting will be discussed.

An outline of Campus Improvements, proposed by the Promotion Committee of the Campus Government and Honor System:

- PART ONE
I-Promote higher standards of service and food preparation in the College Cafeteria
A-The provision of a glass shield and counter along tray lines.
B-The full use of bread boxes to insure the serving of hot breads.
C-The better preparation of bakery.
D-Adequate space and equipment provided for diners' books, coats, etc.
E-Better supervision of coffee urns.
F-The installation of an electric record player with loud speakers spaced separately in the College Cafeteria and dining rooms to provide dinner music.
G-A campus beautification and general neatness program.

- PART TWO
Needed Improvements
I-Promotion of a Student-Administrative drive to bring the physical plant of State College to a higher grade of efficiency and to at least get it in line with the plants maintained at Chapel Hill and at Greensboro.
A-The provision of social rooms with adequate furnishings and decorations in dormitories.
B-Building of sidewalks and paved streets on the West Campus.
