Eta Kappa Nu Engineers

Public Lecture Committee Will Initiate New Type Program With Dance Monday

Social Activities Now Included in Program

The Public Lectures Committee, headed by Dr. L. E. Hinkle, broke many precedents last week when they arranged to bring Glen Gray and his famous Casa Loma Orchestra to the College for a concert and dance Monday night.

Heretofore this committee has pursued a policy of restricting their activities to the sponsoring of various speakers. Although these lectures were informative and interesting, their appeal to the student body in general was small.

This new move of the committee is a definite step forward in expanding the official social and recreational activities of the college. From all indications at the present several other entertainments of a similar nature are planned for the future.

Vet Sponsored

The concert-dance Monday night will be sponsored by Trailwood and Pre-Fab residents and proceeds will go to their governments.

Tickets may be obtained from the "Y" desk and will be 50c a person.

Festivities will begin at 7:30 Monday night. There will be a few minutes' intermission between the concert and the dance.

Plans are being mapped out to allow the maximum number of people possible attend this welcome attraction.

GLEN GRAY

Long known for their smooth, sophisticated dance rhythms, Glen Gray and His Casa Loma Orchestra will present an informal dance and concert Monday night in Frank Thompson Gym. Gray's performance is being sponsored by Trailwood and Pre-Fab residents and proceeds will go to their governments.

Glen Gray Feature of Concert-Dance Here

Long famous as one of the best dance and entertainment bands in the business, Glen Gray and his Casa Loma men will give State College a special and unexpected treat when they move into Frank Thompson Gym Monday night for a concert and dance.

Gray has just completed engagements in some of the best dance-halls and theatres in the country such as the Hollywood Palladium, the Golden Gate Theatre in San Francisco and the Loews State Theatre in New York; the band was also recently featured in two movies, "Jam Session," and "Smoke Rings."

The tall, handsome leader of the Casa Loma men began his musical career at an early age by organizing an outfit known as "Spikes Jazz Band" which earned quite a reputation at school functions around Roanoke. Later he attended the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago and finally joined Jean Goldkette's Orange Blossoms as a saxophonist. Five years later the Orange Blossoms became the Casa Loma Orchestra.

Under his leadership Glen's band weathered the depression and emerged one of the nation's name bands.

The vocal chores fall to Ronnie Dayton who only recently joined the band. "Fats" Daniels doubles on the clarinet and novelty vocals.

Tau Beta Pi Honors Initiates at Banquet

The members of the Alpha Chapter of Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honor fraternity, honored their new initiates at a banquet that was held at the Woman's Club on the 14th of February.

Steve Wilber, president of the local chapter, introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Carl D. Hart, who gave an interesting and informative talk entitled "Japan Thirty Years Ago."

The initiates were as follows: J. R. Armstrong, Jamestown, N. C.; R. E. Brickhouse, Warrenboro, N. C.; H. P. Clapp, Greensboro, N. C.; Richard Dammann, Amityville, N. Y.; Henry Gilmore, Fairhaven, Mass.; A. M. Kirby, Durham, N. C.; H. J. Lewis, Louisburg, N. C.; R. M. McAllister, Indianapolis, Ind.; M. A. Meares, Chadbourn, N. C.; H. C. Miller, Mooresville, N. C.; N. C. Pappas, Laurinburg, N. C.; J. M. Payne, Clayton, N. C.; J. G. Reeves, Raleigh, N. C.; E. G. Spurling, Fullerton, N. C.; R. M. Steele, Winston-Salem, N. C.; E. O. Travis, Scotland Neck, N. C.

30 and 3 Reactivating Here; Juniors, Sophs Slated For Tap

The sophomore leadership fraternity, Thirty and Three, has been reorganized and is now beginning to function as it did in pre-war years.

The Order of Thirty and Three is an honorary organization founded at State College in 1931 which recognizes leadership, scholarship, interest in college affairs and good character. Eleven of the outstanding sophomores are elected during the winter term of each year. The order fosters high ideals, better school spirit, and support of the best in student life.

The present active members are either seniors or graduate students. Shortly, eleven juniors will be taken up and later eleven sophomores will be chosen thus completing the Thirty and Three.

The present active members are: B. A. Skinner, pres.; J. A. Stokes, vice-pres.; J. T. Johnson, sec.; A. W. Foster, W. M. Boylan, John Barr, E. C. Berryhill, E. B. Dawson, W. L. Barrows, J. N. Pease, J. F. Moore, C. B. Coble, R. H. Reynolds, and M. J. Andrews.

One of the immediate projects of the Thirty and Three is tentatively scheduled to be the presentation of a trophy to the most outstanding and valuable player on the Red Terror basketball team this year. The last time this trophy was presented was in 1943 but it will once again be an annual affair.

During the last active year of Thirty and Three the organization helped with many projects in addition to those they sponsored. They carried out necessary arrangements for the "Homecoming Game," and the annual "Dad's Day" program. When there came an urgent need for clothes and food for Raleigh's needy families, the Thirty and Three canvassed the campus and collected a considerable amount. When a call was issued for money with which to send cigarettes to soldiers overseas, the organization, in collaboration with the Engineers' Council and the Blue Key, succeeded in putting over a satisfactory campaign.

Notice

Attention all residents of the Pre-Fab AREA; there will be a town meeting in Pullen Hall tonight to elect the cities officials. The meeting will begin at 7 o'clock. All residents and people who expect to live in the area are requested to come to the meeting; so that everyone will have an equal share in the Government.

Xi Sigma Pi Forestry Honor Frat Inducts 8 At Hill Camp

On the night of February 13th, eight new members were inducted into Xi Sigma Pi, national forestry fraternity. Hill Forest Camp was the scene of a colorful ceremony in which the following men became members of the society: Clayton Boyette, Jay Hardee, Bill Ellis, Robert Selow, Bill Wharton, Fred West, Lewis Smith, and Walter Keller.

Before the initiation ceremony took place, the pledges and regular members were treated to "chow" prepared and served in the best logging-camp style by Professor George K. Slocum, Charlie Schreyer and Bill Barton.

Theta Tau Will Hold Banquet-Dance Tonite

The local chapter of Theta Tau, national professional engineering fraternity, will hold its annual formal banquet and dance at the Raleigh Woman's Club tonight at 8 o'clock. Ten new members will be inducted into the society immediately preceding the festivities. This ceremony is to take place in the Y.M.C.A. The pledges to be honored are: Edward Luffer, George Rivenbark, Robert Muller, Robert Bivens, Flynn Menis, Robert Patterson, Robert Yates, Bill Carr, Ed Jones, and Bob Schmidt.

Plans are being made to have a guest speaker at the banquet, but arrangements have not been completed as yet.

Here's Your Chance

Al Millman is looking for a vocalist for his band. Rehearsal night Wednesday in band room of gym. Any one interested please contact Al immediately, Apt. 14B, Vet village.

Most Active Men

Xi Sigma Pi pledges the most active men in the forestry school who possess outstanding qualities of leadership and unselfish interest in the work of the school and who maintain a high scholastic standing. The objectives of Xi Sigma Pi are to secure and maintain a high standard of scholarship in forestry education, to work for the upbuilding of the profession of foresters, and to promote fraternal relations among earnest workers engaged in forest activities.

The Mu Chapter of Xi Sigma Pi was chartered at N. C. State College on April 22, 1940.

Ag Student Crashes Engineers' Dance; Interviews Pretty Singer

By JIM JOHNSON

Last Friday night I strolled over to the gym to glance into the window and watch the slap-happy slipstickers twirling around with their gals. You see, I'm an Ag student and Aggies weren't invited, but that band sounded so good and the singer looked so wonderful that I felt I must figure some way to slip inside.

As I was standing, pondering why all engineers are so cruel, I noticed a figure staggering into a car nearby. He sprawled out on the back seat, and soon I heard him snoring. Ah, thought I, some Carolina bun has swiped a ticket from a State man. (I knew he was from Chapel College because he was tight.) Then an idea hit me—WHAM! Why not swipe the ticket from him? Quickly I opened the car door and slipped inside. Luckily the lad had forgotten to put his pass-out check back in his pocket. He was still passed out, and there it was clutched in his left paw. Slowly I nudged on the ticket—there, I finally had it free, so in I strolled to the Grand Brawl.

Gives Pass Word
"Hey, Buddy, you don't look like an engineer," some guy belted. "What's the pass word?"

"Log-Log Duplex," I whispered, remembering the sign I'd seen in the Mop-Up.

"Pass" friend," he said. At last I was on the inside. Then I saw her—she was draped around the mike, singing "South America Take It Away," and lo she looked straight at me and winked. My o'le ticker nearly stopped. Gee, I thought, how can I get to talk to that gal? Then another idea hit me. That made two in one evening which is considered darn good up at the Textile School. Why not pose as a staff member on the Technician? So, with this happy idea in my mind, I retired to my room.

Poses As Reporter

Saturday afternoon about 2:30 I was waiting impatiently at the gym. I smeared a little ink on my fingers and pulled my tie a couple of inches down from my collar (like Fiesler wears his); then I really looked like a newspaper man. To make a long story short, I got the interview.

I was so nervous I couldn't even think straight. All I could do was

Order Of St. Patrick Initiates 75 Seniors

Seventy-five top-ranking seniors in the School of Engineering were knighted into the vaunted Order of St. Patrick in traditional exercises Saturday.

In addition, 18 freshmen, chosen for their scholastic and leadership records by the various departments in the school, were named Companions of St. Patrick, one of the highest honors bestowed upon first-year engineering students.

Edgar Riley Cole of Phoebe, Va., a senior in chemical engineering, was awarded an engraved gold watch in recognition of his record "the most outstanding student in the School of Engineering." Presentation of the award, given by the Engineers Council, was made during the exercises by Dean Lampe who lauded Cole's scholastic and leadership records.

King and Queen

Reigning over the ritual as St. Pat and Princess Pat were M. A. Meares of Chadbourn, president of the Engineers Council, and Miss Dorothy Swain of Raleigh. The colorful ceremonies were performed in Frank Thompson Gym and were held during a tea dance which preceded the annual Engineers' Ball, one of the highlights of the campus social calendar.

The Order of St. Patrick was named for the legendary saint who, in chasing the snakes from Ireland, "invented the first worm drive" and thus became the patron of engineers the world over.

Aero Club Briefed On Future Air Problems

The members of the N. C. State College Branch of the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences were given a "treat instead of a treatment" during their meeting on Tuesday, February 11, when Mr. Truman Miller, manager of Serv-Air and a prominent flyer, spoke to them about general items in civilian aviation. Mr. Miller described some of the present day problems that face industry before the airplane will become indispensable to everyone. He stated further, that new airplanes will have to be able to give more utility at less cost than ever before.

The next meeting of the State College Branch of the I. A. S. will be held at 7:30 Tuesday, February 25, in room 102 Page Hall. The program will consist of an aerodynamics film and an election of officers.

Cadet Officers Club Dance Saturday Night

The Reserve Officers' Club at State College will hold a Washington Day Dance at the Tar Heel Club, Saturday, February 22nd. Dancing to the music of Bill Allen and his campus orchestra will start at 2100 and end at 2400 hours.

This informal dance is open only to members and guests of the Cadet Officers Association of State College. Chairman C. E. Jones of the Dance Committee announces that refreshments will be served and transportation furnished. Carolina Trailway buses are scheduled to leave from the Y. M. C. A. at 2045 hours.

Chaperones for the dance are Col. and Mrs. Samuel A. Gibson, and Lt. Col. and Mrs. Eugene E. Dees.

Ugly But Necessary . . .

More Temporary Buildings Will Go Up On Campus Soon

State College is due to have forty more classrooms by the beginning of the fall term, according to a statement by Mr. W. F. Morris, superintendent of buildings and grounds. Batter boards have already been set in the Court of North Carolina preliminary to the construction of five new buildings. Three more class buildings of the same type are to be erected in the Court of Ceres and two more will be placed adjacent to the textile mill.

The buildings, acquired from surplus, are to be adaptations of the standard two-story army barracks and each will have a separate heating plant and toilet facilities. Partitions will be erected to provide four sizeable classrooms in each building. The total of ten units should be ready for occupancy sometime in September.

Glee Club to Present Recital Here Sunday

The State College Glee Club under the direction of Major C. D. Kutchinski, head of the music department, will climax an extremely successful series of radio broadcasts with a public concert. The director has announced plans for presenting a recital in Pullen Hall at 4:30 Sunday afternoon, February 23rd. Admission to the program will be free and a cordial invitation is extended to the students, faculty and friends of State College to hear this splendid group. The program will include many of the numbers sung over the radio as well as certain additions to the club's repertoire. The singers will be accompanied at the piano by Dr. Lillian Parker Wallace.

A highlight of the program will be the appearance of a very talented pianist, Professor Kenneth Pool of the English department, who will play a piano solo group.

The concert will be given under the sponsorship of Mu Beta Psi, local honorary music fraternity.

Free Movie At "Y" 7:30 Wednesday Night

Continuing their fine program of bringing movie classics back to students of State College for free, and with a vastly improved sound system ready for service, the Public Lectures Committee and English Department announce the showing of "How Green Was My Valley," at the YMCA auditorium on Wednesday night, February 26.

This movie has as its setting the Welsh coal country. Its stars are Bette Davis, Walter Pidgeon, and Roddy McDowall. If you have missed seeing this one, or if you remember the wonderful story and superb acting, you will want to be at the "Y" next Wednesday at 7:30 to see this show.

The Institute of Aeronautical Sciences will meet on Tuesday, February 25th, at 7:30 p.m., in the aero lab. All members are urged to be present in order to decide on the election of new officers.

A Thought To Her

Love me not for comely grace,
For my pleasing eye or face,
Nor for any outward part,
No, nor for my constant heart.
For those may fail, or turn to ill,
So thou and I shall sever;
Keep therefore a true woman's eye,
And love me still, but know not why—
So hast thou the same reason still
To doat upon me ever.

The Once Over . . .

Mop-Up Is Still A Top Moola Maker

By JACK FISLER
When does a "Mop-Up" mop up? Is a question that has been a subject of many student discussions this year and in years past. Other questions about the Supply Store are raised continually, many of which are left unanswered. It is only logical, therefore, that there is much misunderstanding about the store.

Who owns the store? What does Mr. Ivey make? Why doesn't someone stop the "knock-down" on used books? In this article I shall try to write down as accurately and impartially as I can an account of the operation of the Mop-Up, with the aim in mind of clarifying some of the misinterpretations now prevalent.

To bring you up-to-date on the history of the store we would have to go back to 1919 when Mr. L. L. Ivey started a book store with about $1000 capital over in the basement of Primrose Hall. A graduate of Duke, Mr. Ivey through the years worked hard, and the fruits of his labors and business skill began to pay off.

Somewhere along the thirties State College suddenly realized it had a nice little business here though owned by a private concern. Somewhere along the way, also, the Student's Supply Store became the "Mop-Up," much to the dismay of Mr. Ivey. That name has stuck and is still used affectionately, jokingly, and sometimes quite seriously.

Bought by College
Getting to the modern history of Ivey's little grown-up book store, the business was bought "lock, stock, and barrel" by the college from Mr. Ivey for the sum of $86,000 on January 1, 1944. The down payment was $25,000 which was borrowed from the Escheats Fund of the Greater University. The rest of the purchase price is still being paid for out of the current earnings. The loan also is being repaid this way.

Under the present organization Mr. Ivey is not the owner but has a very independent job as manager of the store. He gets a salary of $6,000 now with a very small percentage of the net profits as a bonus for good management and shrewd business tactics, probably. The rumor that Mr. Ivey received a salary of $25,000 is false, but when you consider the amount due him as payment on the store and the amount due under the percentage basis, his yearly income is much larger than $6,000.

The act of buying the Mop-Up was under the supervision of the Board of Trustees of the Greater University. It was instigated and pushed largely by Mr. W. D. Carmichael, Controller of the Greater University and Mr. Graves Vann,

Mermen To Face Carolina Tomorrow At Hill

Terrors Take Top Spot In Conference

Music to my ears, that is what it was. I couldn't hear a thing for the din and roar of all those ardent, happy State supporters last Tuesday night, but it was still music to my ears. Those Red Terrors really shot the price of "Devil-Meat" sky-high by creating such a shortage of it. They just didn't leave any. Maybe you'll agree that my prediction of State winning by 25 points wasn't wishful thinking.

Time is drawing night when another Red and White team will start grabbing honors, for before long the baseball team will be out in full strength. About 30 pitchers and catchers have already started working out under Coach Vic Sorrell. The only sad note of the prospects is that approximately 20 of these men will be cut from the squad and with no "B" team promised, it looks like a waste of prospective talent for future varsities.

With a "B" team in operation, these men will get the needed experience that will enable them to make better material later on. The only way to keep interest up in sports is to give the guys a chance to play. We want a "B" team in Baseball! We need one.

Our wishes for a quick recovery for Mrs. Despres from her illness. Bill Despres, backstroke specialist on the swimming team, was called home last week unexpectedly by his mother's bedside.

I don't know whether it was Cupid's affect or whether it was a disappointment in love, but what ever it was, it certainly spurred Roger McManus on to a swell performance. Feb. 14 was the date, the Carolina Country Club was the place, and the event was a record-tying golf score of 65. Roger scored a 32 going out and a sizzled in with a 33 to tie the local golf course record with a seven under par 65. This included 6 birdies, 1 eagle, and 1 bogey. Congrats. Note: Charlie Tripp, a likely prospect for the golf team. Better look this guy up.

The long-awaited news has finally been officially released. State College's Wolfpack will play the Tar Heels of the University of North Carolina, Chapel College, that is, next season on the gridiron. In arranging the meeting of the two old rivals, there was some expert juggling of schedules to get results. The game is scheduled for Nov. 8 and will be played in Raleigh. Athletic Directors J. L. Von Glahn of State and Bob Fetzer of Carolina put their heads together and switched the Maryland-Carolina game to later in the month. State originally was scheduled to play Duquesne on Nov. 8, but Maryland took over that date with Duquesne, leaving us very happy. The Wolfpack has a total of five home games next year with a possibility of six if a game can be scheduled for the open date of Oct. 25.

Plans are under way for a campus tennis tournament with prizes for the winners. Prof. Seegers, tennis coach, and Mr. Miller of the athletic department are working on the possibility now. It is hoped that arrangements will be worked out whereby participants will receive points toward their intramural standings in the tourney, Mr. Miller said.

Tomorrow, the State swimmers will travel to Chapel Hill for perhaps their toughest meet of the season. Should they win from Carolina, their chances of completing the season victoriously will be about 100 to 1. The only dual meet before the conference meet will be with Duke on March 1, and they are expected to give Coach Willis Casey's men little trouble.

Terrors Meet Wildcats Tomorrow Night

By LONNIE WEATHERS

Tomorrow Night, local followers of the Red Terrors get their first opportunity to see their ideals in action when Coach Case's inspired Red Terrors entertain the Wildcats of Davidson here in Frank Thompson Gymnasium. The Terrors will be in quest of their eleventh conference victory, their record currently being marred by two defeats. This game was made possible to the public by virtue of a popular vote in which the students voiced their approval of permitting the public to witness the Terrors in action on their home court with the condition that the proceeds of the game would be donated toward furthering the collection of a fund which will be used to place finishing touches on the memorial tower, thus killing two birds with one stone.

Meet Phantoms Tuesday Tuesday Night, the White Phantoms of North Carolina invade West Raleigh with the hopes of dethroning State's power-laden Red Terrors who at present rule the roost in southern warfare.

Although the Tar Heels almost matched State's performance against Duke in a contest previous to the State encounter, the Phantoms will enter the contest an under-dog of ten points or more, being given little chance of stopping Coach Case's high-scoring aggregation.

Duke Taken In Style The Terrors, on the rebound from the Wake Forest dreadnaught, buried Duke's here-to-fore mighty Blue Devils under an avalanche of baskets last Tuesday evening, toppling the Duke basketballers from the cherished spot in Southern Conference standings, and experienced little difficulty in convincing the Blue Devils that State is practically invincible in their own back yard. In view of the record Duke had established for itself in inter-sectional play, the win went a long way in paying State's car-fare to the inter-sectional tournaments to be held in Madison Square Garden the first of next month.

From the moment black-haired Pete Negley opened the scoring parade with a shot from a short way out, the boys in red were in complete charge of the contest. Led by fleet-footed Jack McComas, who is fastly clinching himself a starting position on Coach Case's able five, and Pete Negley, the Terrors got off to a flying start and ran up a 21-9 lead before Duke awakened to find themselves on the short end of a drastic score. At this point the Blue Devils made their most determined bid of the evening.

Catching steam behind the efforts of Bubber Steward and Ed Koffenberger, the Blue Devils closed the gap to within two points at 23-21, but at this point, Dick Dickey, more than matching his Carolina performance and gaining the ultimate admiration of the capacity crowd of 4500 students present, literally set the baskets on fire with uncanny accuracy from almost every angle and when the smoke had cleared, Duke found their hopes had faded into the shadows of harsh realism and they now trailed even further behind to the tune of 15 points.

Dickey, Negley Bag 22 Pete Negley and Dick Dickey emerged as the scoring leaders of the evening, each gathering 22 points. Jack McComas, who has worked himself up from the ranks of the reserves, came in for a close also-ran and turned in a very close game.

Eddie Bartels and Leo Katka-veck, by far the best pair of guards in the Southern Conference, each turned in a stellar game on the floor and between the two, they virtually dominated the play under the backboards all through the evening.

It might be added here that, in addition to his contribution to the

At the half-way mark the fraternity basketball race for the basketball championship has narrowed down to a "Big Four." In Section 1 the PIKA's and the SAM's are both undefeated. The PIKA boys have won four and the SAM's have won three. On the night of Feb. 27 they meet in a game that will probably decide the section champion. In Section 2 both the KA's and Sigma Nus are all victorious with three wins apiece. A meeting of these teams is scheduled for March 5.

During the past week the PIKA's continued to steamroll their way by thoroughly trouncing the Sigma Pi team 25 to 11. Levin was the big gun in the PIKA attack as he scored 10 points. Reeves and Floyd led the Sigma Pi's with 4 points apiece. In the only other fraternity contest Kappa Sig squeezed by the SPE hoopers 21 to 15. Council scored 8 points and Booker tallied 6 to lead the Kappa Sig attack.

Dorms Have Hot Games Over in the dormitory bracket 3rd Bagwell dropped a heartbreaker to S. Watauga 9 to 8. As the score indicates the contest was a defensive battle all the way. Wilson's accuracy at the free throw line provided the margin of victory. He hit with 3 charity tosses and a field goal to lead the scoring for both teams with 5 points. Mitchell rang the bell twice from the floor for Bagwell to collect 4 points.

2nd Becton Romps The boys of 2nd Becton galloped roughshod over Berry in the second contest winning easily 19 to 8. Michalove tossed in 8 points to dominate the offensive play of both teams. In the third game Meares led his 2nd Syme teammates to a 19 to 13 victory over 2nd Turlington as he looped in 6 points. Ingram scored 6 points for Turlington to share for high-scoring honors.

scoring cause, Pete Negley was given the unenviable task of guarding Duke's Ed Koffenberger and did a creditable job while Dick Dickey was keeping Garland Loftis well under control.

Professor Walter Seegers, tennis coach, has announced that all candidates for the varsity tennis team should report at 5 o'clock on Wed. Feb. 26 in room number five Peele Hall. General plans for the season will be announced. Coach Seegers stated that practice would probably start about March 3rd if the courts could be gotten into shape by that time.

Matmen Trounce Duke Tackle VMI Tomorrow

State's up and coming wrestling team got the jump on the Terrors last Tuesday afternoon by winning handily from the grapplers of Duke by the score of 26-10. Still flushed by their victory, they will be out to avenge their 17-13 loss to VMI last Friday when they tangle the Keydets in Blacksburg, Va. tomorrow afternoon.

The match Saturday will pit State against one of the strongest teams of the conference, but our grapplers will by no means let that standing impress them. VMI won by only four points in the last meet and the State boys will be fighting to push their conference average over the five hundred mark. The Duke victory gave them a standing of 2 wins and 2 losses.

In the water match, Coach Al Crawford's men won an impressive victory over the boys in blue. The State Grapplers failed to win in only two divisions while winning four by falls. Ratts, Blalock, and as usual, Troxler, Edwards and Wagener led the way to victory. Wagener was not up to his usual form as it took him fully four minutes to gain a fall. Big Jim Edwards gained a fall over his opponent in 56 seconds of the first round, which is close to being a record.

Wolfpack Cagers Busy—Lose To Duke Bees

The field house Wolves have had a busy schedule lately. Last Thursday they defeated the Wilmington College team in Wilmington by a score of 40-30. Spencer led both teams in scoring by racking up 10 points. Then on Friday night the 'Pack traveled to Wake Forest only to get nosed out there. The game was a thriller all the way and at half time, it was all tied up at 19 all. John Jeft was the big gun for the Duke field house with 19 points, while Spencer again led the State boys with 14.

Loss to Father Time In the preliminary game to the Duke massacre Tuesday night the Duke Jayvees had to gain the benefit of father time in order to stave off the surging Wolves. At half time the Duke boys were out front by 33-21 and remained ahead by a wide margin until the pigskin toters from State closed the gap as Charlie Richkus sank a long shot with two minutes to go. The score stood at 47-46 and it was a jump ball in front of State's basket when the game was called a minute early by request of Coach Case. The regular game time was fast approaching.

In addition to this bad break, most of the boys had just finished practicing football only thirty minutes before game time, and they were tired. Coach Fletcher was really burned off at the sad turn of events. However, the season is not over yet, and a game is tentative with Fayetteville for Saturday night as a preliminary game to the Davidson race. Gordon Goodman racked up the highest individual score of the season Tuesday night by netting 21 points. Youmans of Duke got 14.

Gets Biggest Test

By MAC McDUFFIE

Coach Willis Casey who has piloted the State Swimming Team to a perfect season so far, will get his biggest test tomorrow when his mermen meet his former team, Carolina, at Chapel Hill.

State College's undefeated swimming team travels to Chapel Hill tomorrow for its big test with the Blue Dolphins. Coach Willis Casey's charges have had a two-week layoff from competition, and the individual speeds are expected to be a little slow against the Carolina mermen.

Casey's team holds victories over seven foes in dual meets and was crowned champion in the Carolinas AAU meet held in Raleigh. It was the first time in the history of the event that the Blue Dolphins failed to cop the title.

Dolphins Strong State will experience rougher going against the Dolphins in a dual meet. A swimmer is allowed to compete in only three events on a collegiate program. It is remembered that Bill Kelly, Bill Despres, and Bill Ward each swam in five races in the AAU meet. Kelly was responsible for three individual races and swam with both winning relays.

Divers Weak Carolina's divers hold a decided edge over the State candidates—Tinker Hayward and Harry Cramer, but Casey's unit is given an even chance in each of the other events. The deciding factor will probably be the relay teams. The 400-yard free style quartet of Kelly, Ward, Despres, and Captain Bob Despres, and Bill Ward, each swam in five races in the AAU meet. Kelly was responsible for three individual races and swam with both winning relays.

Duke Meet Next After Carolina, State has one meet left with Duke before the Southern Conference meet which will be held in the Bowman Grey Pool at Chapel Hill March 7-8.

Monogram Club Elects Ben Coble At the first meeting of the Winter term, the Monogram club elected Ben Coble president, succeeding Chick Doak, who graduated in December. Coble, a '43 letterman in track, defeated Dick Calloway, '42 letterman in football, by one vote. Calloway was elected vice-president by acclamation. Carlton Blalock, of the wrestling team, was elected secretary. Hal Owens, a member of last year's baseball team, was elected treasurer and Nevin Day-vault, '43 letterman in track, was elected publicity director.

The club voted to furnish ushers for the State-Davidson basketball game Saturday night, which is open to the general public. All club members who would like to help at the game are requested to contact President Coble or Fred Wagener, President of the Student Body.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Coach Babe Wood showed films of the Carolina-Georgia Sugar Bowl game.

Religious Leaders Hold Brotherhood Dinner Here

"If we could only get Molotov and Joe Stalin down here in North Carolina at meeting like this, I believe we could percolate them!" So spoke Col. W. F. Kernan, author, farmer, former professor, and prominent Catholic layman at the America Brotherhood Week Dinner which was held in the new "Grill Room" of the cafeteria Tuesday night. Other speakers included Dr. Mildred Morgan, Protestant representative, and Rabbi F. I. Rypins, Jewish representative, both of whom joined with Col. Kernan in expressing their faith that Brotherhood can build a Pattern for Peace.

The dinner is an outstanding event of Brotherhood Week which occurs annually. President Truman is honorary chairman of the Brotherhood Movement, while in North Carolina Governor Gregg Cherry is honored as the chairman of the movement. The key agency behind the Brotherhood Movement is the National Conference of Christians and Jews which was founded in 1928 by Charles Evans Hughes, Newton D. Baker, and others.

The chief function of the National Conference of Christians and Jews is to educate America on the necessity for brotherhood, for, as Colonel Kernan pointed out, "Nothing can stop the peace if we can work together, for America stands as the beacon of unity in a world torn with strife and disunity. If we can work together we can get to know each other better, and prejudice can be eliminated."

Rabbi Rypins, a member of the State Advisory Board, pointed out that "there would be little point in each person publishing his own newspaper, likewise we must come to see that through working together we will come to realize the progress which brotherhood makes possible."

Learn About Each Other
Dr. Morgan, who has been featured at State College for courses on Love, Courtship, and Marriage, stressed the necessity for each of the three faiths, Protestant, Jewish, and Catholic to learn something about the other two. Mrs. Morgan pointed out that this was not a step toward amalgamation and that after we "see our children well founded in our own faith, we will be doing them the greatest good in seeing that they learn the essential traits and features of the other faiths." Mrs. Morgan related the story of the small children who went to the priest so that one of them could confess. The priest asked the Protestant child if she had come for confessions also. Her reply, "We Methodists don't sin," typifies the ignorance that "we the majority faith have about the other faiths," Mrs. Morgan stated.

The local unit of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the Raleigh Round Table of Christians and Jews, attempts to dispel intolerance and to promote cooperation through existing organizations and channels of communication. Regional Director Allyn P. Robinson, former minister of the United Church, told briefly of the progress that was being made and emphasized that future cooperation would produce even greater yields. Many State College faculty, staff and student leaders attended.

Campus Notes

There will be a meeting of the Veterans Association Wednesday, February 26, at 7:00 at the YMCA. This meeting is being held for the purpose of reorganizing. All members who are not present or who do not reply in writing stating why they will be absent will be dropped from the rolls. Any new members will be welcome.

The Junior Class Dance Committee is covering the campus to collect the class dues which are necessary for the Junior-Senior Dance. All Juniors who live off-campus will be met in the registration line at the beginning of next term. The last day of registration is the absolute deadline for the dues.

Please try to cooperate with the Dance Committee in every way possible. It will be able to get a good band (for a change).

The Henderson Club will meet in the YMCA Faculty Club room at 6:45 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 26.

The reorganized and revitalized State College Glee Club has elected its officers for the coming year, according to a statement by C. D. Kutschinski, director of the music department. The new officers are: Walter J. Adams, president; L. B. Miller, vice-president; Benjamin H. Cooke, secretary; and Grover C. McNear, librarian.

'Little Oscar' Awards Go To English Profs

Two of State College's English professors, Mr. R. E. Wynne and Mr. I. Webb Surratt, this week played leading roles in the Raleigh Little Theatre's production of "Angel Street."

Mr. Wynne gave an inspiring performance as Mr. Manningham, the villain who murdered the wealthy Mrs. Barlow and spent fifteen years searching for the famous Barlow Rubies.

He was cleverly brought to justice by Mr. Surratt, successfully playing the comical part of "Rough," the detective, and who, of course, found the Barlow Rubies.

This was the production from which the movie "Gaslight" was made.

Marine Technician Course Opens Sept. 13

A new course for marine technicians beginning September 23 at Morehead City Technical Institute has been announced by Mr. E. D. Ruggles, Director of the College Extension Division.

The purpose of the course is to give technical training to young men interested in the maintenance, operation and design of small craft as used by the fishing industry, inland waterway transportation companies and private owners along the Eastern Seaboard.

The course, which will require one year, will be divided into four terms of twelve weeks each. Several of the divisions of the course will carry regular college credit should a student enter State after finishing the marine course.

Graduation from an approved high school or its equivalent in experience is required for enrollment. Veterans eligible for training may enroll under the G. I. Bill.

Persons interested in enrollment may secure further information and application blanks by writing or calling Director, N. C. State College Extension Division, Raleigh, N. C.

'Wiggles' Are Wiggles . . .

Radar Wonder Revealed In Illustrated Lecture

In an effort comparable with that which resulted in the atom bomb, 200 principal scientists and 10,000 assistants devoted their energies to the production of radar during the war. Dr. J. O. Perrine, assistant vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, told a large audience at State College recently.

The speaker, who was the joint guest of the N. C. State College and the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, said that 115,000 radar sets, varying in weight from 40 tons to little 200-pound airborne sets, were produced.

Dr. Perrine was introduced to the gathering by J. Harold Lampe, dean of the School of Engineering. Demonstrating his lecture, which was on the general subject of radar and microwaves, Dr. Perrine first produced the fundamental wave form by mechanically vibrating a length of rope to illustrate velocity, amplitude and frequency. He described frequency as a Phi Beta Kappa word for "wiggles."

New Generator Developed
By means of an oscillator, he produced sounds of varying frequencies over the range of audibility, from 300 to 15,000 cycles. With radio's development, Dr. Perrine explained the range of frequencies zoomed and new generators were developed to produce the higher frequencies.

In illustration of this, the speaker cent of all appropriations for agriculture will be spent for research in marketing practices and methods. Eugene Berryhill announced that the Ag Barnwarming will be held on March 15.

Guy Jones, president, presided over the meeting.

er demonstrated a generator which created waves vibrating 210 million times a second, and a magnetron creating waves only three centimeters long and vibrating 10,000 million times a second. These waves, he said, are called microwaves because they are so minute in comparison with the wave lengths used for normal radio and telephone transmission.

The basic concepts of radar were then illustrated. It was shown that the waves can be conducted by a wave guide, or a sort of electrical pipe, to the masts of ships or the wingtips of airplanes, focused through space and reflected back by various substances, such as metal, the human body or water.

"Concentrated and Reflected"
The combination of these two facts, that microwaves can be concentrated in a needle-like beam and that they are reflected by metallic objects, forms the basis of radar, according to Dr. Perrine. He said that science, however, had to develop a device which would accurately measure the infinitesimal time it takes microwaves to reach a distant object and be reflected back.

The cathode ray tube was the answer. In one of the outstanding technical developments of the radar research and development program during the war, the cathode ray tube was employed to measure this time to an accuracy of three-tenths of a micro-second. This corresponds to within about 15 feet at distances of 60 miles or more.

Radar Adapted to Peacetime
Dr. Perrine touched briefly throughout his talk on the peacetime applications of radar and microwaves. Radar, or pulse-time, modulation has been added to the better known amplitude and frequency modulation, for the transmission of speech, and is already in use between the mainland and Catalina Island, off the West Coast, and the mainland and Nantucket Island off the East Coast.

The lecture was demonstrated in a spectacular manner throughout.

In a constant exhibition of electronic phenomena, lamps were lighted in midair, without connecting wires, microwaves were "bent" around corners, and the audience kept in a continual state of entertainment and attention. The program concluded with a series of slides, showing radar's wartime effectiveness.
