New Agromeck Promises To Be Best Yet; Out In May

Jim Johnson, editor of the Agromeck, announced this week that the 1946-47 edition of the Agromeck has gone to press, and that it will probably be ready for distribution among State College students sometime in May.

Johnson, speaking in behalf of the entire Agromeck staff, expressed the hope that the new edition will be one of the best annuals ever to be published at State College. The staff has worked hard on this edition, and believes that the result of their efforts will live up to expectations.

According to Johnson, the new Agromeck will reach, or possibly exceed, the standards of pre-war Agromecks. The new Agromeck will contain 368 pages, and will measure 12 inches in length by 9 inches in width. It will contain six four-color process plates, a very attractive feature. It will also have a very attractive and modernistic cover.

Emphasis on Sports
The emphasis, in this new edition, will be placed on sports. One of the outstanding features of the new Agromeck, according to Johnson, will be an "In Memoriam" page dedicated to State College students who gave their lives in World War II.

Agromeck staff who have devoted great deal of their time and efforts to composing the 1946-47 Agromeck are as follows: Jim Johnson, editor; Curt Hobson, business manager; George Harrell and Atwood Skinner, associate editors; Doug House, sports editor; Betty Wagner and Margaret Barefield of the editorial staff, who had a great part in the organization of the Agromeck; and Cyma Saltzman, Tom Millsaps, and Bill Brown of the business staff.

State's Red Hot Terrors Are Southern Conference Champions; Play St. Johns In Opening Round of Garden Tournament

By DAVE TALLY

Several hundred students crowded around Memorial Tower last night to give our red-hot Red Terrors a rousing send-off to the "Big City." The rally was sponsored by the "30 and 3", Honorary Leadership Fraternity, and was under the direction of Atwood Skinner, President of that organization.

Highlighting the program was the presentation of the "Most Outstanding Player Award" to Richard "Dick" Dickey, popular Terror forward from Alexandria, Indiana. Dickey was selected as the outstanding player on the Red Terror squad by a secret ballot of his teammates, who were instructed to make their choice on the basis of: Cooperation, Attitude, Sincerity, Loyalty, Sportsmanship, and Ability. Thus Dickey became the second player to receive this annual "30 and 3" award, joining Captain Leo Katavak, who received the trophy in 1943.

After Dickey had favored the students with "a few words" of appreciation, Coach Everett Case made a short talk, expressing his appreciation for the splendid support which the team has received from the student body this year.

Fred Wagoner, President of the Student Government, reciprocated in fine style by expressing the student's appreciation for the fine team we have this year; and by pledging our whole-hearted morale support to the team in the National Invitation Tournament in New York. Throughout the program,

Doughnuts and Coffee

Free coffee will be served tonight in the North Room of the YMCA, from 9 until 12. The "Y" announced that they would serve coffee and possibly doughnuts each night at this hour with the exception of Saturday from Friday through the following Thursday. There will be tables and chairs provided for you to rest your weary head after long hours of gruelling studying, and the staff hopes to have recorded music playing during the serving hours.

None of this splendid service can be rendered, however, unless some volunteers rally around to help serve. If you can give some time on any one of these nights, please drop by the "Y" office and leave your name as soon as possible. You will be doing a good deed.

The Redcoat Band played our school songs, and Cheer Leader Bruce Beaman crowded in one of our favorite yells at every opportunity.

At the close of the rally, the team left for the train station in taxicabs, and were followed there by the band and most of the students. As the train pulled out, the band was playing and the students gave out with a rousing cheer that must have left no doubt in the team's mind that we're behind them 100 per cent. BEAT ST. JOHNS!!

By MAC McDUFFIE

Coach Everett Case, leading the Red Terrors to the Southern Conference Championship for the first time since 1929, has climaxed his first year at State by accepting a bid to the National Invitational Tournament. It was an uphill battle all the way, and at the beginning of the season Case announced that it would take two years to produce a winning outfit.

Case and the Red Terrors left here last night for their first trip to Madison Square Garden. The fighting State squad put up a gallant fight in the Southern Conference Tourney. Maryland used a zone defense in the opening round—a type of defense responsible for two of its defeats—but State worked the ball so smoothly that Maryland recoiled to a man-to-man defense and State won, 55-43. In the semi-finals, George Washington's highly-touted Colonials were licked 70-47. Carolina's White Phantoms took an early 13-point lead in the finals, but State's torrid pace was too much for the Chapel Hill quint and State emerged victorious, 50-48.

State has been seeded fourth in the tourney, behind Kentucky, West Virginia, and Duquesne, and will meet St. John's in the second game of the preliminary Saturday night. West Virginia will open against Bradley. Opening round games will be finished on Monday night, the semi-finals are scheduled for Thursday night (Continued on Page 2)

Publications Board Approves 23 Candidates For Journalistic Heads

Wataugan

Why hasn't the latest issue of the WATAUGAN been distributed? When will we get it? The answers are printing difficulties, and soon respectively.

Our print shop has been handling more copy this term than ever before. They are doing an excellent job while under such added strain that has been put upon them.

The staff of the WATAUGAN has been growing all year. Constant effort has been made to make the WATAUGAN one of the best college magazines on any campus.

The fireworks that were slated to materialize last Saturday noon when the Publications Board met in Leazer dining hall. Although the meeting at times threatened to burst out in flames, the opposition to several candidates was kept to a smolder and the Board wound up approving some 23 journalists for positions of leadership in campus publications.

The biggest surprise of the meeting came when the editor of the TECHNICIAN sought approval of two more candidates than had been expected, bringing the total candidates for editorship of that publication to five. Woody Williams, junior in Architecture, Dick Fowler, sophomore in Civil, and Dave Franklin, junior in Forestry had been listed as strong candidates for TECHNICIAN editor. Bill "Termite" Proctor, popular columnist from Durham, N. C., and George Harrell, hardworking Ceramic student and present Sports editor of the newspaper provided the surprise and were approved over much debate over the scholastic qualifications of both men.

Business Manager

Kenneth Coble was the only candidate submitted for business manager of the TECHNICIAN. Fialer stated that "a Sigma Nu clique was running the business staff of the paper, but like Tull is not to blame. There just has been no volunteers from upperclassmen to work on the business staff."

The Agromeck, college annual, was represented by Curt Hobson, who submitted the names of George Harrell and Atwood Skinner for editor of the annual and Thomas Millsaps, Bill Brown, and Irving Feldman for business manager. These men were approved, pending investigation to determine whether George Harrell would be a junior or not.

For Humor Mag

The Wataugan came up with two recommendations for each position. Present business manager, Johnny Boyter, popular PIKA from Charlotte was approved along with John Faulk for candidacy as editor of the college mag. Pete Peterson and La Dugan received the nod as business manager of the "humor-literary" publication. The school publications nominees indicated close fights in most cases except for business manager of the SOUTHERN ENGINEER, where only one candidate was approved for business manager. The men approved were:

The AGRICULTURIST: For editor, Fred Kendall and Frank Teague; for business manager, J. K. Stafford, Cecil Wells, and John D. Mackie.

The SOUTHERN ENGINEER: Hugh A. Williams and Edward I. Barton for editor; John B. Gillette for business manager.

The TEXTILE FORUM: Elected at end of each calendar year. The PRESIDENT: Nevyn Dayvault, C. E. Blackstock, and Bert Zucker, man for editor of the forestry annual; Paul West, Ed Salter, and George Smith for business manager.

Election Next Term
These candidates will be up for election in the spring term when the campus politics reach their climax at the big May 1 elections. Some of the above candidates may not run, and there may be other men who may be considered for a publication post.

An equally significant result of the last Board meet was the announcement by Mr. Frank H. Jeter, head of the Board and College (Continued on Page 2)

3 Honorary Fraternities To Sponsor New Dance Here

Johnny Pharr, President of Phi Psi, honorary Textile society, announced Tuesday that the honorary societies of the three schools were making plans to sponsor a "Spring Frolics" dance early in the spring term.

Members of Theta Tau, honorary Engineering Society; Alpha Zeta, honorary Agriculture society; and Phi Psi are working together to complete the plans for the dance.

Supply Store to Open Additional Section

Recognizing the need for a more efficient method of distributing the books to the students at the beginning of each term, Mr. L. L. Ivey, manager of the Student's Supply Store, recently announced plans which will provide for an additional section to the book store. The new section will be located in the basement of Wataugan Dormitory. According to Mr. Ivey, the new book store will probably be in operation by the time the spring term begins. Only text books will be sold in the new section.

This arrangement is expected to be of much benefit to the students. A much larger display area will be available than in the present set-up. In addition, the new store will provide two hundred square feet more floor space than the present store provides. Entrances will be located on the west side of Wataugan Hall.

"Y" Vesper Services Here Are Unique and Interesting

By P. H. McDONALD

One of the most unique experiments in the last few years on the State College Campus is the vesper program. Seldom, if ever, before have a sizeable group of our busiest students taken fifteen minutes out of each day to come together for a vesper service. Sponsored by the denominational student groups, the vespers have attracted students of all the Christian faiths—all are welcome.

The vesper programs are held in the "Y's" Conference Room. The setting is ideal, because the Conference Room is well-decorated with panel done in pastels and is furnished with massive furniture. The chairs are comfortable, and the lighting is excellent. These factors "set-off" the place and give the program a "glow" before a word is said or a note played or sung.

The types of programs are as varied as the different groups which sponsor them—each has a specific night in the week for which it is responsible. The programs fall into the following general school theme for each vesper is generally outline in a three or four minute

Members of the dance committee are: Jack Harris, senior in Textiles, from Phi Psi; Stan Teiser, senior in Chemical Engineering, from Theta Tau; and Charlie Schreyer, senior in Forestry, from Alpha Zeta.

To Split Expenses
Pharr said that each organization would contribute equally to defray the expenses of the dance. All profits made from the sale of tickets to the dance will go into a fund to sponsor an annual "Spring Frolics" dance; in this way the success of future "Spring Frolics" will be assured and it should be a better dance each year because of the accumulation of funds from the dance from year to year. It is hoped that the "Spring Frolics" will be a set of dances in the future that will compare favorably with the best affairs held at State.

The "Spring Frolics" this year will be held on April 12. The dance will be open to all students; but there will be a limited number of tickets, which will be distributed by the three organizations sponsoring the dance. Complete plans for the dance will be announced in the first issue of the TECHNICIAN next term.

● Musicians who wish to be members of the Concert Band during the spring term are asked to reserve 4:00 to 6:00 Tuesdays for band on their spring term rosters if at all possible. Band rehearsals will be held Tuesdays at 4:00 and Thursdays at 7:00

Farmer Boys Ready For Grand Occasion . . .

Aggies Bounce Tomorrow Night In Annual 'Barnwarming Dance' At Gym

By JOE SWETT

The social scene this weekend will be dominated by the festivities connected with the Ag Club's annual "Barnwarming Dance" in Frank Thompson Gymnasium. The farmer boys' dance has come to be one of the high spots in the spring dance schedule.

After much discussion, brought about by the acute shortage of good denim, the club has decided to steadfastly adhere to the time honored custom of requiring rustic dress. The men will not be admitted in any garb other than the "geney-wine" bib-front overalls, and their farmette friends must sport their gingham and calicos. "Squire Miller's Barn" will rock to the rhythms of Bill Allen and his "Music for Dancing." Allen has played for other dances in the gym and needs no introduction to the students.

"Hog Calling" Contest
Rustic decorations will do much to create the proper atmosphere of informality and merrymaking. An added touch to the rural motif and sure to be one of the high spots of the evening will be the scheduled "Hog Calling" contest. This contest will be open to all in attendance and a handsome prize will be presented to the caller who achieves the best results.

Tickets to the dance were issued to all members of the Ag Club who were present at the weekly meeting last Tuesday night. All "Ag" students who did not attend this spirited session may pick up their bids, as long as they last, in rooms No. 6 or 215 Syme Hall. No tickets will be given out after noon tomorrow. Since only a limited number of students will be able to attend the dance because of the rigidly enforced fire regulations, the tickets will be handled on a first come-first served basis.

The young ladies whose pictures appear above will grace the Ag Club's Annual "Barnwarming Dance" tomorrow night as sponsors for the Club's wheels. They are: Miss Belle Rogers of Rolesville for Chuck Gardner, Dance Committee; Miss Hulda Hall of Durham for Eugene Berryhill, Chm. of the promptly at 8:30 PM and end at midnight. Don't miss any of the well program planned for your entertainment.

Out of the Dark

The Faculty Council's decision to allow the Student Council to try all members of the student body who are convicted in the local civil courts is a decided step forward out of the dark ages in which our self-government here has been living. Now the behavior of each student becomes of more concern of the student body.

Previous to this the men who have been convicted of misdemeanors in the Raleigh courts have been given a hearing by the Faculty Council. The decision was made there to either suspend the guilty or place him on probation without general student knowledge or collaboration. This practice obviously left the Student Government out in the cold in matters which was not only their business to know about, but was and is one of the prime functions of the campus government.

It is extremely encouraging to see the Faculty Council exhibiting the good sense and progressiveness of letting the students themselves govern themselves. This action by the council should be the cue for a general campus-wide drive on the part of every organization and every publication to make the present system of government an effective one, or else junk it for a better campus government and honor system.

With the Faculty Council and Student Council leading the way, there should be no excuse for any party, organization or individual to be negligent in its duties as a citizen and his duty of making his government a workable and helpful organization. With interest in government at a very low ebb, we can not afford to sit idly by and let an ineffective and a totally helpless Student Council continue to struggle futilely against overwhelming odds. These overwhelming odds consist of a Faculty Council composed of members who have no respect for student problems, opinions, and actions; and of a student body that is in a profound state of apathy in regards to their government.

We hope that we are not idly wasting words when we advocate a complete overhauling of our present student government. But before we make any drastic changes, we must give the present government, just adopted last year, a decent chance to perform.

To give the system a chance, an intensive education program must be conducted. The Technician stands ready to devote the entire next term's editions to the building of an effective campus government. Not one publication and not one organization, however, can do the job. The job must be done by us all.

Sign of the Times

Last Tuesday night 252 students in the school of agriculture attended an Ag Club meeting to set a record in attendance for that organization. The enthusiasm displayed in the meeting on the matter of politics indicates that the farm boys will again be a potent group to deal with come campus election day.

The fact that 252 boys attended a club meeting is the thing that is most impressive, and we cannot believe that all the interest was solely in politics. We believe that the Ag school is endowed with men who believe that their total personality development is just as important as their technical educational advancement. Participation in any extra-curricula activity provides these opportunities.

It is disappointing to note the interest engineering students do not show in campus government and in all campus activities. Perhaps the engineer belongs to a different classification from the normal individual. Or perhaps he is so lost in a maze of formulas, facts, and figures that he knows little of and cares less about the world in which he lives.

The students of agriculture have just reason to be proud of their greatest of campus organizations, the Ag Club. The officers and leaders of this organization are to be congratulated for a job well done.

On Cheating

With exams beginning tomorrow it is appropriate that we cast a word of warning about the consequences of cheating. We feel that most of our student body has the intelligence and maturity to understand that cheating is a hopeless and wasteful activity that is a threat to the well-being of any individual.

Were we not even to consider the consequences of being caught and tried by the Campus Court, we could point out enough other reasons to show that cheating is a dishonesty that reflects on the intelligence, integrity, and honor of the individual and should not be tolerated.

Our honor system is founded on a great principle—that of putting faith and trust in the individual. Do we want to have a regimented system thrust upon us, or shall we maintain and support our honor system which allows the student freedom of choice between right and wrong? Let's make our honor system a real system of honor.

Business and society demand honesty, reliability, character of the successful man. Degrees and grades are not worth jeopardizing your reputation, your character, and general peace-of-mind. Think twice before you cheat.

Columnist Criticism

Since last Friday several letters have been received by The Technician concerning the remarks in the "Gleanings" column about C. A. Dillon and his actions at the recent State-College game affair. Some of the letters imply that the editors of The Technician are to blame for allowing the comments to be printed.

Since the column in which the remarks appeared is written by "Termite" Proctor and since it is the policy of the paper to allow columnists free rein in expressing their opinions in their columns it is hardly fair to place any blame on the editors for being a party to the blemishing of Dillon. This does not mean that the editors condemn or condone any attack a columnist may make on an individual.

If Proctor still believes he is right about Dillon, then Proctor must defend himself. If he realizes he is wrong, he should be man enough to apologize.

What appears in a column should in no way be construed as the opinion of anyone save the man who writes the column.

D. F.

To the "Major"

The man who has directed the printing of the TECHNICIAN in a commendable manner for many years has been forced to resign his position to safeguard his health. We speak of Mr. A. O. Alford, veteran employee and graduate of State College, who is fondly called "The Major" by his many friends.

The TECHNICIAN extends sincere appreciation to Major Alford for a job well done. Our most earnest hope is that he may travel the road to recovery at a rapid pace.

At this time, also, we pay tribute to the men of the print shop who are working almost day and night to catch up with the printing of the many college publications. It is hoped that they may be able in the near future to get out a larger TECHNICIAN since the present four-page paper is woefully under-sized.

Thanks, Red Terrors!

As the basketball squad leaves the campus to find new foes to vanquish, we of The Technician staff, I'm sure, express the feelings of the entire student body when we say—"Thanks."

Time and time again the fighting spirit, teamwork and will to win of Coach Case's boys has been an inspiration to every person on the campus.

We are not only lauding the brilliant stars of the team, but we congratulate each and every member of the squad for his fine teamwork and spirit.

Thanks to all of you—you are a credit to State College.

OPEN FORUM

Ex-Ed for Dillon

I am very much disappointed that you saw fit to print in last week's Technician the completely unwarranted and biased attack written by this Proctor boy about C. A. Dillon, Jr. If it had been about anyone but C. A. I wouldn't bother to write; but what appeared in "Gleanings" was so far from being true, as you yourself must well know, that I feel I must object to it.

The entire thing sounded like another attempt to find a scapegoat for the called-off State-College basketball game. I hope that before many more weeks have passed everyone will have realized that the game has definitely been called off and nothing can be done about it. So, why not forget it?

I have had the opportunity to see a couple of State basketball games this year and think along with a great majority of people I have talked with that C. A. did an excellent announcing job. And I would say that C. A. was one of the most popular and best liked students while I was at State.

I hope you will agree with me and do what in your judgment is best to correct the injustice done C. A.

Sincerely,
BOBBY WOOTEN.

Stolen Magazines

To the Students:
Last November an article appeared in The Technician calling to the attention of the students a situation regarding the theft and mutilation of library magazines. Since that time the situation has not improved; rather, thefts and mutilations have increased, and it now becomes necessary to take some form of action that will stop this vandalism.

Most of the students here have experienced several years of "mass punishment" or "mass penalization" for disciplinary infractions of which they took no part. This form of "corrective action" accounted for one of the biggest gripes in the Army, and it was cordially hated by all of us. Nevertheless, perhaps in some cases it was an only alternative.

Please, let's not make this necessary at the library. It's not fair to the vast majority of this student body. But, unless the stealing and clipping of magazines at the College Library stops immediately, it will be necessary to withdraw all issues to the stacks and no longer place them on display.

The Librarian invites any suggestions for meeting this problem in lieu of withdrawing the magazines from the open shelves.

HARLAN C. BROWN,
Librarian.

Another Defense

To the Editor:
This letter is in answer to the false and utterly unjust criticism dealt out by a very popular columnist of this publication. Mr. Proctor, "Termite", a self-styled critic, feels himself able to judge the merits of people who far outdistance him in ability and achievement. 'Tis sad but true, C. A. Dillon had the unpleasant task of announcing the fire chief's decision. The wrath of the average student was vented upon the fire chief, while this insignificant columnist decides the blame lies on the shoulders of the announcer, a man upon whom this unpleasant task has been pushed because no official would undertake the job.

If there ever was a more vile, likeable fellow than C. A., I don't know him. While a student he was elected to the following offices: Engineer's Council, Corresponding Secretary of Theta Tau, President of A. S. M. E., President of Pi Kappa Alpha, Vice President of the IFC, Secretary of the Junior Ior Class, and numerous unimpressive offices such as being sports editor of the Technician for quite a while. To be elected to office by popular vote is convincing evidence of a man's popularity. For a man who was not well liked in college, Dillon's array of offices is rather impressive.

How can such criticism be made by a person who is so utterly unqualified to offer criticism?

It seems a shame that after a man has worked long and faithfully on a publication, that this same publication should turn around and stab him in the back. That, Mr. Editor, is gratitude.

Respectfully yours,
JAMES T. JOHNSON

Students who have not secured a card indicating the day and time at which they register for the spring term should do so at once. These cards are available at the Registration Office. The same procedure for registering which was used for the winter term will be followed for the spring term registration with the exception of the new system of assigning individual times for entering the gym.

Student Government Can Now Try Students

The students of State College are taking into their own hands the discipline of students involved in misconduct whether the offense occurred on or off the campus. This policy was approved by the Faculty Council at their regular meeting last Tuesday in spite of bitter opposition by several Council members.

In effect, this policy will give the State College Campus Government the authority to investigate and try every case of student misconduct involving the violation of the laws of city, state, or nation.

The adoption of this principle is a great step forward since it will increase the effectiveness of the Campus Government, relieve the College Administration of the charge of arbitrariness in disciplinary action and inadequate hearings, and improve the student morale.

Since the College administration must review and give final approval in every case any serious error in justice could be corrected. During the discussion on the policy at the Faculty Council meeting a motion was made by one of the faculty members that conviction of a student by a civil court on any count would automatically mean dismissal from college. This motion was speedily defeated.

STATE'S TERRORS
and the finals will be reeled off March 24.

Coach Case is taking a "freshman" squad to New York to meet the top teams in the nation. Of the ten men making the trip, nine are freshmen and only Captain Leo Katkavek has played for State prior to this season. The "freshmen" have had a very successful season, however, and have posted victories over such outfits as NYU, Duke, North Carolina twice, Holy Cross, Georgetown, and George Washington.

Opposition in the tourney is expected to be decidedly tougher than that afforded by the Southern Conference, but the Terrors have shown the type of play this season that improves with the calibre of the opponent. In 28 games, State has scored 1486 points against 1131 for the opposition. The losses suffered by State were at the hands of Cherry Point, Hanes Hosiery, Wake Forest, and Duke, but each of these teams received decisive defeats by the Terrors in a previous or return game.

Coach Case has been unable to name a first team from his freshman collection, and Katkavek has been the Terrors' high scorer since the start of the season. A certain starting berth, Leo has been the floor-leader throughout the season and his value was proven during the brief interval that he was out of the game with Maryland in the tourney at Durham. Katkavek does not shoot much, but his status as a rebound artist is highly regarded by teams on the State schedule.

Harold (Pete) Negley, six-foot-four-inch Oaklandon, Ind., product, starred in the tournament. Pete started the season at center, then switched to forward, and finally hit his stride as a guard in pacing the Terrors to a smashing 83-57 victory over Duke. The tall ball-hawking guard roams under the basket in Case's style of play and is often mistaken for the center. He led the scoring, with 55 points, in the tournament.

Eddie Bartels, whose defensive work was highly responsible for several of State's victories, will be playing in home territory. The six-foot four-inch agile center is from Long Island, New York.

A press gathering of over 60 representatives at the Southern Conference Tournament was of the opinion that none of the top teams would be able to beat State if they tried to match the speed of the Red Terrors, but it is rumored that quints from Kentucky, West Virginia, and Duquesne can move with a little slacity also.

State's dazzling fast-break is engineered by its speedy forwards—Dick Dickey, Jack McComas, Charles Stine, and Warren Cartier. McComas and Dickey usually receive the starting nod, but Cartier and Stine are always standing by to fill a gap.

Sigma Nu's Edged Out In Low Scoring Game Doyle Howard Leads 3rd Syme To Championship

By FLOYD PICKETT

The intramural program for this term has been rolled off and the champions covered. In the fraternity league the PIKA's emerged champion with Sigma Nu's runner-up, the SAM's in third place, and the Kappa Sigs in fourth. The dormitory champion is 3rd Syme. 3rd Turlington is runner-up, 2nd Becton took third place, and 1st Becton placed fourth.

Frat Championship

In a very low scoring and hard fought ball game a smooth PIKA club took a fighting Sigma Nu team in to camp to win the fraternity basketball championship 12-10.

The PIKA's played smooth ball from start to finish to overcome the decided height advantage of the taller Sigma Nu's.

At the half it was 7-3 in favor of PIKA and the Sigma Nu's never were able to overcome that lead. They (Sigma Nu) continued to fight even after the final whistle as Stewart and Conely sank a free throw to make the final score 12-10.

Wolhar, PIKA, earned high scoring honors with 5 points. To settle 3rd and 4th places the SAM's and the KAs met last Tuesday night with the SAM's emerging victors 18-15. Pinto led SAM scores with 6 points. Booker, KA, played his usual consistent type of ball to lead the scoring as well as the floor play as he tossed in 6 points.

Dormitory

A mighty 3rd Syme team completely outclassed 3rd Turlington to score an easy 24-10 decision Monday night to take the dormitory basketball championship.

Third Turlington never threatened once 3rd Syme began to roll. Howard, Owens, and Mackie were the big guns in the Syme attack as they sank 7, 6 and 5 points respectively.

Mermen Place Second In S. Conference Meet

Coach Willis Casey's swimming outfit took second place honors in the Southern Conference meet last week. The Blue Dolphins of Carolina captured first place, with 81 points, compared to 47 for the Terrors.

State won three individual first places and was leading the race until Carolina was awarded 15 points in the diving. Billy Kelly was the individual high scorer. He won first place in the 100-meter freestyle, the 200-meter freestyle and was fourth in the 200-meter breaststroke. Bill Ward won first in the 50-meter sprint.

Despres Holds Up

Bill Despres exemplified the spirit of the entire squad when he swam in three events on Saturday after receiving a telegram on Friday night that his mother had died. As soon as the meet was over, he left a letter for Casey explaining that he had returned to Providence, Rhode Island, for the funeral.

Billy Kelly was awarded the trophy as the most outstanding swimmer in the Southern Conference. He also won the trophy in the Carolinas AAU meet.

Grapplers Tie For 2nd In Wrestling Tourney

By JIM REES

March 7, Friday, was the beginning date of the first post-war Southern Conference Wrestling Tournament held at Lexington, Virginia at the Virginia Military Institute. Coach Al Crawford and company left at noon Thursday to enter the tournament for the first time since N. C. State dropped wrestling in 1942. And company included seven men, all classes except the 155 pound class. These were Bill Rickard, Ben Lewis, John Poplin, Don Troxler, J. B. Edwards, and big Fred Wagoner.

The semi-finals stacked up like this. Rickard was defeated by Thompson of Carolina in the 121 pound class. Blacklock in the 128 pound class put up a fierce scrap but lost a close one to Co-captain Dick Hearn of Carolina on overtime. Hearn has been undefeated in two straight years, but thought he had lost to Blacklock who had him out-pointed awaiting the referee's check on the times. Hearn had a one minute time advantage which gave him two points, thus defeating Blacklock 8-7.

John Poplin, 145 pounder, was defeated by the tournament champ in the semis, but came back pinning Long of Davidson in the Consolation.

Ben Lewis, 145 pounds, lost to Steiff of Washington and Lee in a close decision on time.

Don Troxler, 165 pounds, from a long line of wrestling Troxlers, put up two of the most rousing matches in the tournament to win a first place. In the semi-finals, he defeated Gupton of Carolina. Gupton has been undefeated all season which included 1 for a fall.

Second Becton squeezed by their first floor dormmates to take third place in the final league standings, winning by a 24-21 count. The game was a thriller right up to the final whistle. Scoring honors were evenly divided as Michalove and Nordees of 2nd Becton and Jones of 1st Becton collected 8 points.

Winners!!

The Chesterfield cigarette contest on the Southern Conference Basketball Tournament was quite a success. Total points speculation ranged from 45 to 205. Interesting, isn't it. The winner of the first prize of 2 cartons of Chesterfields is W. S. Goodwin of 1920 Alexander Rd. There was a tie for second place between Floyd Pickett and E. N. Rodman, consequently they both will get 1 carton of Chesterfield apiece. Goodwin guessed 175 on the nose, while Pickett and Rodman guessed 177 and 173, respectively.

means that he won over the Eastern Inter-collegiate Champ from the United States Naval Academy. Troxler's other tough match in the finals ended in his decisive Gorman of V. M. I.

J. B. Edwards, 175 pounds, decided Crome of V. P. I. and Fred Wagoner, heavy-weight pinned his V.M.I. opponent in the usual manner.

The finals ended this way. Troxler decided Gorman, J. B. Edwards decided Marcheck of Maryland. Fred Wagoner was surprised by the "Hidden Marvel" of Carolina, Hooper, who won by decision.

Carolina won the tournament with 29 points. State was second with 20. State men placed in 6 of 7 events, the team score being totaled in this manner:

Blacklock placed third for 2 points.

Poplin placed fourth for 2 points

Lewis placed third for 2 points.

Troxler placed first for 5 points.

Edwards placed first for 5 points.

Wagoner placed second for 4 points.

This has been a very successful season for the wrestling team. Entering the tournament with "green" material, State was slated for an insecure third place. They emerged with a strong second. Coach Al Crawford, who is tops in his line of coaching, should be congratulated. Overcoming such handicaps as lack of training time and inexperienced material, he built up a team that has come back with a second place and promises a peg higher next year. The boys should be congratulated also. Wrestling requires top conditioning which in turn means hard work. The record indicates the team's willingness to work.

Tournament Sidelights

By DICK JONES

Most sports writers of the state, prior to the final game, agreed that the tournament play in general was the dulllest in years. However, they all swallowed their words after the rip-roaring finale.

With ten seconds remaining in the first half of the final game, referee Neff awarded State the ball out of bounds under the State basket. At the time the Red Terrors were rapidly overcoming the Carolina lead, so White of Carolina thought he would prevent any further State scoring that half by refusing to give the ball to Eddie Bartels, so Eddie politely shoved White into the bleachers. However, half ended, and Coach Case and the entire State squad came dashing down the court to demand that a technical foul be called on Carolina, but no free throw was forthcoming. Carolina received a thorough boozing as they left the court.

When Bartels tipped in a rebound to put the Terrors ahead at 41-38, the fellow sitting next to me chimed out with an aptly put phrase, "Church is out." The boys proceeded to run up a six point lead.

Dick Diekey just couldn't get going in the tournament as he did in regular season play, but his stellar floor play netted him an all tournament berth. He was chief ball stealer for the Terrors. Perhaps those black eyes received in the G. W. game hampered him.

Warren Cartier's play was one of the most outstanding features of State's attack in the Carolina game. He had not seen too much action during the closing weeks of regular season play, and was not expected to make such a superb showing. Even though he missed the return of this minor sport after the long lay-off, Coach Crawford is looking forward to a better future. This sport is wide-open to all students. Coach Crawford has appreciated the past interest in the sport shown by the student body and is looking forward to a continued strong support either in actual participation or side-line cheering.

TAX AUTHORITY

DONALD MILLHAM
UNION 77

To help pay his way through Union College, Don worked for General Electric during summer vacations, operating a drill press.

Today, the General Electric Comptroller, he maintains his interest in corporate taxation, in which he became the company's expert.

THE average man who stews over the filing of his annual tax return is apt to shake his head quizzically over Donald L. Millham.
While he was in charge of General Electric tax accounting, Don used to file more than 500 returns a year—and like it.
Although he has a new job today—the difficult and important one of Comptroller—Don maintains an active interest in corporate taxation and is still considered the company's tax authority.
A career in corporate taxation problems is, Don admits, short on glamour, long on hard and diligent work. A dozen years ago he had about as much trouble as anyone in understanding the technical language of tax statements. But when an opportunity opened in tax accounting, he took the offer and learned the complexities of his job as he worked at it.
By meeting the challenges of an exacting and constantly expanding field of endeavor, Donald Millham had made for himself a useful and important career that has held his interest.

Next to schools and the U.S. Government, General Electric employs more college engineering graduates than any other organization.

Nearly 2000 Veterans Advised By Guidance Clinic Here

About 1,625 veterans have received vocational advisement from the Veterans Guidance Clinic of N. C. State College since its inception in December, 1945, according to Dr. D. J. Moffie, Clinical Director and head of the Department of Psychology.

Returning GI's, who may otherwise have to struggle along to make passing grades in school or labor unusually hard to compete on even terms with their associates, may take advantage of psychological techniques, developed through extensive research and testing, to discover their handicaps and special aptitudes.

In the case of veterans with service-connected disabilities, the advisement process is required before the veteran can take advantage of the facilities offered by the Government training program.

Clinical guidance is a requisite also for those veterans, under Public Law 346, who anticipate a major change in their college curricula. In addition, the guidance service is at the disposal of any college or non-college veteran with personal or vocational problems and who is interested enough to take time for diagnosis and appraisal.

For instance, a student may wish to be assured that he is preparing himself for the most advantageous line of work for which he is equipped, insofar as his interests and ability are concerned.

"The main purpose of the Guidance Center is vocational advisement," declared Dr. Moffie, "and the advisement is rendered under regulations set up by the Veterans Administration. Various tests and surveys are administered to evaluate the ability and interests of the applicant."

"The appraiser, using the test scores in conjunction with personal and occupational data, will advise the veteran in his vocational objective. Occasionally the testing and interviewing process will disclose a minor emotional disturbance, and that particular veteran will be recommended for further therapeutic attention. However, few cases of this type arise among those being screened for vocational aptitudes," added Dr. Moffie.

In line with the advisement procedure are included various types of tests, each designed to accomplish or reveal a specific aim, such as personality traits, general intelligence, mechanical aptitude, manual dexterity, visualization, and interests. Of course, only those tests which the interviewer deems applicable are given to the subject. Before administering any tests, however, the appraiser establishes a working relation with the applicant.

Veteran Pitt Beam of Shelby is pictured taking the Bennett Mechanical Comprehension Test, one of several tests given applicants to help determine mechanical ability. The tests administered include only those which are applicable to the particular case being studied.

Dr. Moffie emphasized the importance of obtaining clinical advisement early, as minor disturbances may grow into serious handicaps if not corrected at an early stage. The non-college veteran, who takes advantage of the government training program, is protected in a way by the fact that he is required to consult the clinic prior to employment, for he is then given more assurance of satisfaction in his work and best chances for security in the future.

The Assistant Director of the Clinic is Miss Elva Burgess, and Dr. Alan Grinstead is Psychological. The staff also includes four vocational appraisers together with three members of the Testing Division.

The Guidance Clinic is maintained under a contractual agreement between the Veterans Administration and State College and is under the administrative direction of Edward W. Ruggles, director of the College's Extension Division. Ruggles explained that Pennsylvania State College and the Georgia School of Technology were the first colleges to incorporate the present method of clinical analysis and advisement.

Audience Enjoys Talk By Carl Sandburg

The past Monday evening students of Meredith College and visitors were treated to a speech by Carl Sandburg, eminent poet and author of a two-volume biography on Lincoln.

To say that Sandburg was novel or unusual would be an understatement—one could not conceive of his abilities as a speaker unless he was present at the gathering. I noted with interest the clear enunciation and the ringing of words or phrases upon which he intended to place special emphasis. The sound of the poet predominated throughout his speech, so that even the phrases "nuclear-fission" and "chain-reaction," spoken in relation to the discovery of the atom bomb, were chanted forth in the tone of a bard predicting destiny.

Sandburg dwelt briefly on several topics of current interest: the policy of selfish interests trying to entangle our country in a war with Russia; the need for clear thinking, honest leadership in this period of impending crisis, and the portent of the coming of the atomic age. He only skimmed the surface of these topics, but he left no doubt in the minds of the audience that he felt that the possibility of another, more devastating world war hinges on the action we take today.

Lefort Confers With Music Corporations To Bring Bands Here

Dean C. R. Lefort, Assistant Dean of Students, has returned from a recent trip which he made to New York with the idea of broadening the Public Lectures program to include some entertainment features of general interest to the entire college community. The trip was authorized by Dean E. L. Cloyd and Dr. L. E. Hinkle.

The Music Corporation of America was contacted by Dr. Lefort and several conferences were held. It was found that no bands could be promised for any dances beyond thirty days. Many of the orchestras are being broken up and reorganized in smaller groups. For some budgets, such as $400, $500, and $600, it was recommended that local bands be contacted, as it was felt that none of the orchestras from New York could play for that small amount.

Concerning the Concert idea, it was suggested by the Music Corporation of America that the Public Lectures Committee try a Concert-Dance entertainment. It seems that the colleges out west have been very successful in giving Concert-Dances during the early part of the week instead of on weekends. These dances are started early and end early. One of the main advantages of this type of dance is that orchestras can be obtained for a much smaller amount during the early part of the week than they can during the latter part of the week. Glen Gray's orchestra was obtained with the Concert-Dance idea in mind, and this dance proved entirely satisfactory, both as a musical program and as a dance. Relative to the discussions with the Music Corporation of America, Tommy Tucker was offered to State College for final dances, June 6 and 7, for $4,000 or $2,500 and 60 per cent privileges.

Conferences were also held with General Artists Corporation, and the results were practically the same as those obtained in the conferences with the Music Corporation of America. Relative to the conferences with General Artists Corporation, four orchestras were offered for the Junior-Senior Prom. They were as follows: Randy Brooks, $1,500 or $1,000 and 60 per cent privileges; Bobby Byrne, $1,500 or $1,000 and 60 per cent privileges; Sonny Dunham, $1,600 or $1,250 and 60 per cent privileges; Ray McKinley, $2,000 or $1,800 and 60 per cent privileges.

Representatives from General Artists Corporation also felt that the Concert idea was very good, and said they would co-operate in trying to obtain good concerts. However, they will not be able to deviate from their regular prices. Spike Jones was offered to State College for a concert during the spring of 1947, the price for Spike Jones started at $5,000, but was later reduced to $3,500 and 60 per cent privileges. Johnny Long was offered to State College for the final dances on June 6 and 7 for $4,000.

Mr. Bill Richard of Music Corporation of America and Mr. Howard Sinnott of General Artists were the representatives most helpful. Both of these representatives have said they would forward information to State College from time to time concerning any outstanding orchestras that might be obtained for entertainment.
