Henry Wallace Speaks In Raleigh Auditorium

By JOE SWETT

Henry Wallace, the man whom millions have branded as "Communist," will speak in Raleigh next week. Mr. Wallace, former secretary of Agriculture and vice president of the United States, has just returned from a speaking tour of Europe. He is to be remembered as the "Black Sheep" of the Democratic party who so bitterly attacked the Truman foreign policy that he was asked by the chief executive to resign from his office as Secretary of Commerce.

In spite of the storms of protest against his attitude toward the Soviet Union, Mr. Wallace's speeches are continually sell-outs.

and early indications are that such will be the case for his appearance in Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium. Tickets are on sale for $1.00 per person, and mail orders are accepted. There are no seats reserved, and colored persons will be allowed to sit anywhere within the hall they may choose. Tickets may be procured from Miss Mary Holt at the Carolina Hotel in Raleigh. The time of the lecture has been set for 8:00 on Thursday night, June 5th. The topic of Mr. Wallace's speech will be "The Road to Peace."

C. E. Department Is Given Commendation

The State College Student Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers has recently been awarded an official Certificate of Commendation from the Parent Society Headquarters in New York, it was announced by W. P. Babcock, faculty advisor to the chapter, recently.

The yearly activities of each ASCE student chapter throughout the country are conveyed to the Parent Society by means of an annual report. The chapters are then judged on the basis of the following: neatness of the report; percentage of civil engineering students belonging to the society; arrangement of the report; photographs of inspection trips and tours; student papers presented at chapter meetings; and number and types of meetings held during the past fiscal year.

By observing the report on the basis of the above points each student chapter is rated according to the progress made during the year. The certificate given to the local chapter is one of the only fifteen awarded to chapters in the country this year and the receiving of it is a high honor for the local society.

Textile Fraternity Honors 48 Students

By ELIZABETH FRAZIER
Forty-eight outstanding students in the Textile School were selected for membership into Sigma Tau Sigma Scholastic Fraternity for the Spring Quarter. Selection was based on completion of eight terms of college work, three terms in Textile School and having attained a "B" average while at State College. The object of the fraternity is to create higher standards of scholarship among textile students.

After selection of eligible members, a smoker was held at the Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of introducing the new members to the old members and faculty; also to point out the aims and purpose of the fraternity to the selected students.

Blue and white ribbons were worn by the initiates for a week preceding the initiation. New members, as a partial requirement for membership, were given a task of taking part in a comical solution of some textile problem.

The initiation party was held last Thursday at the Tar Heel Club with a chicken barbecue supper before the initiation performance.

times and by various major figures in the country today been called almost every conceivable despicable name including "the worst enemy our country has today." Many of the nation's leading publications, most recently Colliers magazine, have openly and unconditionally denounced him as being a "dangerous man" a "political child" and all manner of equally formidable things. His policy of open dealing with Russia is in direct contrast to the Truman-Byrnes-Marshall tactics of what he calls "undeclared war." Mr. Wallace contends that democracy and communism can live peacefully in the same country.

Raleigh citizens will undoubtedly find much fault with his views, but according to the releases from the speakers "front-running" publicity team, the house is sure to be a sell out; as has been true for all of his other appearances in major cities throughout the country.

A THOUGHT TO HER

While books and laws and science
Bewild'ringly embrace my mind;
While untold formulae and cold
Equations dare my brain to blind,
My heart beholds your countenance.
As if by magic providence
My thoughts, released of heavy yoke,
In haste seek your magnificence
That these, my visions, so bespoken,
To taste of your sweet fantasy.

And dreaming of the days with you,
That soon shall find us arm in arm;
Of hours that steadily renew
Your grace and multiply your charm—
I must, alas, return to school.

Dancing Classes to be Held in Gymnasium

By HAL JONES

Pending approval by Chancellor J. W. Harrelson, and if enough students show interest, dancing classes will be held in the gymnasium beginning around Monday, June 23. Beginners class will probably begin at 7 p.m. and advanced class at 8 p.m. Each class is to last for one hour.

The students who have not yet signed up for dancing classes and who plan to take them during the summer term should endeavor to sign up immediately. Classes in each division, beginning and advanced, are planned to be limited to the first one hundred students who sign up.

Students may take both beginner and advanced lessons parallel with each other with payment of the $1.50 fee for each class of six lessons.

Dean Lefort has turned over the signing up of students for dancing classes to the Veterans' Administration. The address to contact in connection with the classes is: Miss Honeycutt, 104 Peele Hall, phone 6421, Ext. 200.

Bill Townsend, a student in journalism at the University of North Carolina, has been chosen to teach the new classes. Mr. Townsend is now teaching dancing classes at the University of North Carolina, Duke, Louisville, and Peace. The fact that these schools plan to sponsor Mr. Townsend next fall, while Duke and U. N. C. also plan to sponsor him this summer indicate his popularity at these colleges. It is believed that St. Mary's will be added to his list next fall.

The students who have been taking dancing classes under Miss Caroline Latham will be pleased to know that Miss Latham will be an associate teacher in the new classes. Mr. Townsend and Miss Latham will demonstrate steps in the various dances to be covered during the summer course.

The summer course has been planned to furnish suitable dancing background for the fall course in dancing. Classes will be divided

Graham Outlines Program As Board of Trustees Meet

By ROBERT E. MERRITT

A meeting was held last Tuesday of the Board of Trustees of the Greater University of North Carolina in the State College YMCA. Governor R. Gregg Cherry presided over the meeting which included President Frank P. Graham, the Chancellors of the three universities, and the trustees of the Greater University. Among the trustees was O. Max Gardner, Jr., the youngest member of the board. Gardner is the only student in the United States who is a member of the Board of Trustees of the same college he is attending.

Because there were several new members of the board present, President Graham made a detailed explanation of the principles of consolidating the Greater University. In December 1933, Dr. Graham presented the Board of Trustees with the problems and opportunities of consolidating the three existing institutions, the State College of North Carolina, the State College of Agriculture and Engineering, and The Woman's College.

The trustees of 1933 were faced with the alternatives of, (1) re-maintaining at the prevailing status of no consolidation, (2) moving two colleges and having all three at one point (Chapel Hill), or (3) coordinating the functions, but not the campuses of all three. As we know, they took the latter course.

On the recommendation of Dr. Graham, it was decided in 1933 that there should be one board of trustees, one executive committee of the board, one president, and one controller, although there would be three chancellors. It was made clear that although there would be a concentration of graduate work at Chapel Hill, and there would be no duplication of curricula between any of the three institutions, there would be nothing done to curtail the preservation of the history, loyalties, or initiative of the individual institutions.

The records of the past 12 years have clearly shown that the formation of a Greater University was North Carolina's greatest educational need in the early '30's. Every department at State has been vastly improved through the economy of specialization and the centralization of resources. There was more graduate work done in the 10 years following the consolidation than in the previous 30 years.

Lauds Campus Government

President Graham stated that he stands firmly for the principles of student government. He reflected (elects take note) that there has never been an effective student government on the campus of State College. He explained that there is less cheating and unbecoming conduct when there is a strong campus government and honest system. Dr. Graham said that he had found from a study of students working in New York City that the most successful citizens had come from student-regulated institutions.

In explaining the potential strength of a good campus government, President Graham stated that only once has the Administration overruled the decision of the student government. That situation arose when a football player was found lying about his previous experience.

Of the present plans for the Greater University, it was explained that the Greater University is obligated to relieve America of its dependence upon the science of Europe and to relieve the South of its scientific dependence upon the Northeast. This can be accomplished through education, and education can be advanced through the expansion and improvement of the

Graduate Student's Thesis To Be Printed

The results of research constituting a thesis for the M.S. degree in Chemical Engineering submitted by David S. Weaver, Jr., a graduate student, have been accepted for publication by the American Society for Testing Materials. This scientific society, one of the largest in the engineering world, is made up of members of both manufacturing and consumer organizations and is responsible for development of standard testing methods and specifications for a wide variety of materials used in commerce and industry. The paper, titled "Ignition Temperatures of Rigid Plastics," will appear in the forthcoming issue of the ASTM

Pi Kappa Phi Repeats In Bridge Tourney

The Annual Fraternity Bridge Tournament, sponsored by the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity, was held Thursday, May 23, in the YMCA with eleven fraternities participating. The bridge tournament was started on this campus in 1928 and was held each spring for a period of 15 years. During the recent war years when most of the social fraternities were inactive, the tournament was discontinued. This will be the first tournament given in the past three years. All social fraternities on this campus were invited to enter.

Mr. James Moore and Mrs. R. E. Collins of the Raleigh Bridge Association directed the operation of the tournament. Duplicate bridge, the most popular tournament form of bridge, was played.

Each fraternity sent one team composed of their two best players. The contest ended in a tie with H. K. Jordan and E. F. Troy of the Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity and Ronald Boring and Asa Hosmer of the Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity being the leading teams. The two contenders played at the Raleigh Bridge Association Tournament, held at the Mansion Park Hotel last Tuesday night, to decide the winner.

The winning team was that of the Pi Kappa Phi. That fraternity will be awarded a plaque with the fraternity's name and the team-member's names engraved upon it. This plaque will be kept by the fraternity for the coming year until the next tournament, which will be held again next Spring.

IRE Holds Elections

Last week the Institute of Radio Engineers, a new campus organization, elected officers to preside during the coming scholastic year. Heading the student branch of the IRE are: Herbert Gibson, president; O. A. Harrison, vice-

Next weekend, June 6, 7, and 9, will see the successful culmination of another school year. Friday, June 6 is Alumni Day. Class reunion luncheons will be held Friday noon, and there will be a general alumni meeting in Pullen Hall at 3:30. Two presentations will be made at the meeting: the library of the late H. H. Brimley, author and well-known former curator of The State Museum of History, and the L. L. Vaughan Professorship in Mechanical Engineering.

At 5:00 P. M. Friday the Carolina Bells will be dedicated. The bells themselves are very small ones, located in the basement of Holladay Hall. The sound is amplified by powerful amplifiers which produce a note that can be heard for a radius of three miles.

Arthur L. Bigelow, head of the Music Department of Princeton University, will play the bells in the Friday concert, in a concert Saturday at 4:00 o'clock, and as preparatory music for the commencement and the graduation.

The Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered Sunday, June 8 at 8 P.M. in Pullen Hall. The Right Reverend Thomas Henry Wright, Episcopal Bishop of the Diocese of Eastern Carolina, will preach.

Monday, June 9, the procession of faculty members and seniors will form for the graduation exercises. The faculty, heading the procession, will be lined up next to Welch Dormitory. The graduating class will be placed about in front of the library. At 10:30 A.M. the group will begin moving to the gymnasium, so that all may be seated by 11:00 o'clock.

Governor R. Gregg Cherry will present the diplomas, after which Dr. Farnk P. Graham, President of the Greater University of North Carolina, will address the seniors. There will be 405 diplomas awarded—374 Bachelor Degrees, 30 Master Degrees, and one Professional Degree.

These men will take office next fall.

Edwin T. Wadsworth, a junior in Electrical Engineering from Myrtle Beach, S. C., was elected to serve as Captain of the State College chapter of Scabbard and Blade, a national honorary military society, it was disclosed recently. The eleven men in the local chapter of Scabbard and Blade will leave as soon as the current term is over to attend the summer camp at Fort Benning, Ga. All the men in the chapter are veterans enlisted men who have combat records. These men will receive the reserve commissions after finishing their ROTC study at the College.

Scabbard and Blade was founded just after the turn of the century by five cadets at the University of Wisconsin. There are now more than 75 chapters having an enrollment numbering in the thousands. The purpose of the society is to raise the standards of the military training in American colleges and universities; to unite in closer relationship their military departments; and to promote understanding and good fellowship among the cadet officers.

In the past it has been the practice of the Scabbard and Blade to co-sponsor the Annual Military Ball along with the ROTC Officers Club. Although the Ball has not been given in several years plans are being made to attempt a re-activation of the affair next fall.

Other officers elected are: Walter M. Hearn, First Lt.; Worth H. Barber, and Arnold W. Boswell.

Notice to Engineering Students

Students whose standing is irregular are urged to transfer to the Temporary Engineering-General Program, even though they qualify under the quota for Junior Engineering courses, or can do so by completing prerequisites through further study in the Summer School of 1947.

Considerable flexibility will be allowed in the administration of the Engineering-General Program and it thus may be possible for irregular students to satisfy the requirements for their degrees as much as a full year sooner than if they remained in the regular program.

For detailed information and transfer, interview at once the head of your Engineering department or the undersigned.

A Look At State College

As the end of the year grows near, let us look at State College with an eye to discerning what our strong points are, the places where we are weak, and some of the things that should be done in the future to improve our college.

Our strongest point today is our student body. Composed largely of men with broad backgrounds of experiences, men with a keen interest in getting a sound education, and men whose older age gives them a sober and balanced approach to the process of getting an education, the present student body has displayed great potentiality in the scholastic realm, in the field of extra-curricula activity, on the athletic fields, and in the carrying out of a well-rounded social program. All these phases of the educational process are important, and it is commendable that our student body, generally, is aware of their need for well-rounded development.

Probably our next strongest point is our three major schools. Under the leadership of three young, capable, dynamic deans—Dean Bayer, Dean Lampe, and Dean Campbell—the Schools of Agriculture, Engineering and Textiles have improved and modernized their curriculums, brought new and better faculty blood (through the valuable State College Foundations) into the college, and with the new appropriations for buildings and equipment, our three schools will be head and shoulders above anything in the South.

State College is definitely on the upgrade. A big factor in this is the increasing awareness by the state of North Carolina of the importance of this institution in developing industry and agriculture, to give the people of North Carolina an economic basis for better living conditions, for raising educational standards, and for many other things we need in this state. Our Alumni Association is ever busy trying to make the public realize that State College, above any college or university in the state, is the best educational investment that can be made. Our healthy appropriation this year, though late in coming our way, is positive evidence of the new position State College is occupying in the eyes of the people of North Carolina.

Some of the things we are weakest in are discussed below:

Honor System

We need a strong student government to enforce a complete honor system that will help develop character in our students, a friendly student body with better morale and loyalty to the college.

To develop such an honor system, we present the following ideas on which the Student Council might base action beginning now:

1. The student leaders must be sold on the need for the honor system. They, in turn, through all organizations and every available means of publicity, must carry on an education program that will include every faculty member, every student and every administrative official; that will leave no doubt in anyone's mind but that the honor system and student government is a great and integral part of college life.

2. With every organization, every part of the general college solidly behind the project, the incoming freshmen must be thoroughly indoctrinated into the "State College System." This may be done by making sure no one enters without seriously signing the pledge of citizenship, by giving at least three short lectures on the honor system, and, by act and deed of the upperclassmen, impressing the new student with the seriousness of any breach of the honor code.

3. Students and faculty must be willing to work by the honor code; faculty trusting the integrity of the student and student forcing fellow student to live up to this trust. The mechanism for this part of the program is the various honor councils, which have not functioned at all this year. These councils must be given definite responsibilities of seeing to it that the honor system is functioning.

Attitudes

There need to be some changes made in attitudes of the administrative officials, particularly of those who occupy Holladay Hall. In some cases, where change of attitude appears impossible (many have cried out in vain for years for a change), definite replacements seem imperative. Grievances against the attitude of our Dean of Students are continually mounting. He should be replaced with a man with more of the understanding and consideration that Dean Romeo Lefort has shown. Registrar Mayer and his assistant are more eager to jump down students' throats than to understand and aid a student in solving a curriculum problem. The Chancellor and the Controller could display more feeling for student views and problems. And if Dean Brown is to remain head of the Basic Division, he should cease interviews with students immediately. Too many students are insulted daily by his cynicism and sarcasm; the respect for the college on the part of a student, generally speaking, reaches the lowest depths after a visit with "B. F."

The observations of these key figures are not complete and do not show the many fine points of the men mentioned. They do help us make our point that a better attitude toward the student should be made manifest in our administration.

Our third great need is to curb the all-out commercialism of our sports program and to develop wide recreational opportunities for all our students.

And speaking of commercializing on our campus, we should not be satisfied with the present set-up of the "Mop-Up" as operated by Mr. Ivey. The profit rate is too high for the student pocketbook; the book department should be, as much as possible, non-profit; profits go to a Scholarship Fund which has an indefinite purpose.

State College with all its shortcomings is still the greatest college in North Carolina. We have every reason to be proud of and love our institution. Many things left unsaid might throw more light onto the greater State College. We hope that our "parting shot" will not be construed to be only criticism. Rather, we are ever hopeful that this effort and others will inspire men to make a greater State College.

A Look at The Technician

Through the heartaches, many sleepless nights, the printing problems of the paper and a dozen other factors, the TECHNICIAN has come a long way this year in several respects. We have earnestly tried to give you a good newspaper. We have made mistakes, but we do not apologize for the Technician this year.

Rather, we would like to honor the TECHNICIAN staff who have labored diligently for the sake of bringing you a paper each week. It is hard to imagine the many trials and tribulations contingent with working on the staff.

We sincerely thank the staff for its loyalty, we thank all the campus groups for the cooperation they have given us.

The TECHNICIAN is in good hands and we have every confidence that next year's newspaper will be the best yet. Our sympathy is with the new editor as he goes about the thankless task of doing the impossible—satisfying a majority of the readers.

Ike Tull and Jack Fisler.

Next Year

Another year is gone. It has been a good year. The year has seen the college swerve back into greater-than-normal times and forge ahead in the direction of becoming bigger and better than ever.

Many new and unusual things happened at State this year. Our athletic teams have brought fame and credit to the school on the playing field. Scholastic averages and academic standards have taken a huge step upward. Traditional activities and organizations have been started again after a lapse during the war years.

Things in general give promise of being even better next year, but there is still an awful lot of work to be done.

THE TECHNICIAN plays a great part in the activity on the campus and it hopes to play an even greater part during the coming school year.

The retiring editor has left an example which is an inspiration and a challenge to any man coming after him. He has worked hard and long for the best interests of the students and the college. Quite often it has been tough sledding and heartbreaking but never once did his spirit falter in pursuing those things he knew to be right.

Next year the policy of THE TECHNICIAN will be essentially the same—for the welfare of the students and for the advancement of the college.

We will play no favorites. We will engage in no petty politics and we will expose and condemn anyone who does.

There will be no continual harangue and bellowing at the administrative staff of the college. We will endorse or support no fly-by-night radical plans or programs. Changes should never be made unless the plan presented is complete, well organized, workable and needed.

The paper will not become the personal organ of any one fraternity, organization or school. It will be for everyone in the college.

Improvements in size and scope will be instigated and carried out as soon as conditions permit. Every wish on the part of the student body will be given consideration so long as the wish is consistent with good journalistic ethics and the mechanics of getting out the paper.

And so that's all 'till next year—

Doings Of The Campus Government

By ISH COOK

And so there was music... Yes, at last plans are being made to provide music in the cafeteria. The Student Council has been prying equipment and making arrangements with WNCN to take charge of piping music and announcements over a loudspeaker system into the cafeteria. Our radio station will assume full responsibility once the system is in operation.

Plans made at the last meeting of the Student Council specify a trial installation on the eastside of the cafeteria at first. If this proves successful, arrangements will be made to provide the service for both sides.

I have heard that the latest "scuttlebutt" includes a word or two about renovating the entire cafeteria. The plan in consideration is to move the kitchen to the basement, thereby providing ample room for serving, which will help to eliminate the lines that form during each meal. Just try to visualize a meal without "sweating out" a chow line. Of course the dream of a leisurely meal may be far in the future, (we may all be general engineering professors then) but it is nice to know that our children will get the best.

When the loudspeakers in the cafeteria are a reality, not only will we enjoy good music, but also we will be in the know about what goes on around here. As it is now, the blue bulletin gets only a side glance, consequently announcements of importance never get to the students until it is too late. Since most of us have a habit of eating regularly, (although you wouldn't believe it about the last of the month before the checks come) we will at least be exposed to the information and no miss out on such interesting bits of news as the time for refunds from the mop-up.

H. E. Millaps was elected as the student representative on the traffic court. He is also our representative in the Student Council. If you have any gripes about the traffic rules, see Millaps, or write him a letter. If your case is one that deserves attention, I am sure that you will receive the courtesy and consideration due to any citizen of any government. If it's just griping that you want to get off your chest, the Chaplain's office is now located in Pullen Hall. If that does not help, as a last resort consult me. I'll sympathize with anybody.

A cartoon in the Boston College "Heights" pictures a smiling student leaving a classroom and holding a smoking pistol as he cheerfully tells his waiting friends, "I passed."

Platter-Datter-

By DAN SECHTIN

State College has gone through an invigorating year of music for 46-47. We can be proud of the music-end here at State. From the first week in September to the last week of this year we have had, and will have, the opportunity of being entertained by some sort of music sponsored by State College.

Major Kutchinski has directed the Red Coat Band, Orchestra, and Glee Club. We are highly pleased with the job he has done.

The Red Coat Band has been out on the grid field backing our Wolf-pack up with the spirit that will be hard to beat. We have seen the finest precision formations possible, executed by our Red Coat Band. Not only has the Red Coat Band done their stuff on the field, but they have also given numerous concerts during the school year.

Whether you know it or not State College has an orchestra that has been functioning all year. Although a bit hidden behind the glories of the Red Coat Band and the Glee Club, the Orchestra has done a fine job too. Recently the orchestra gave a Symphony Concert conducted by Major Kutchinski.

The State College Glee Club may take a bow for the splendid work they done this year. During the winter term we have heard the Glee Club give recitals on three radio programs over station WPTF.

This year we have been able to listen and dance to the music of some of the nation's top dance bands. Reggie Childs started the list of dance bands this year by playing for the IFC pledge dance during the fall term. State College may not have Kay Kyser to boast about but we do have Bill Allen and his State College Dance Band. We heard Bill's band for the first annual Blue Key-Golden Chain dance.

The winter term has brought to State College such bands as Glen Gray, Les Elgart and Dean Hudson. The spring term has brought Herb Gorton, Dean Hudson, and we hope to see Sonny Dunham for the Finals.

Up to date the best-seller in the U. S., for platter of the year is "Anniversary Song" (From "The Jolson Story"). Not only has Jolson made the best-selling single record, but his album of all time with 1,800,000 copies issued by Decca.

That about winds up the music of North Carolina State College for 46-47. In my opinion, we did all right.

YMCA Had Active Year; Sponsored Many Events

By LEON MANN

The first bustle of YMCA activity for the past year began last summer when Associate Secretary N. B. Watts spent many busy weeks producing the State College Handbook, only to find that he couldn't get high-quality paper at the last minute. Each year the YMCA distributes to the incoming new students copies of the Handbook which covers every phase of college life from the Administration to the Zoology Department. Later every student is presented one during registration, which is also a time of intense activity as every one who stumbles on the output foot of the Student Treasurer knows. Among other things the YMCA maintains an up to date card index of student addresses which is collected at the Fall registration and revised each registration thereafter.

The month of October saw the presentation of Miss Elizabeth Turner, a charming "old-maid" missionary of Hwaiyuan China who told of the Opportunities for Technically Trained Men in China. The next week, the TECHNICIAN loaned us Howard Kaden who told about the evolution of Jazz. Not only did Howard tell about the evolution but he demonstrated with records that dated back to—Parliament Member With November came Reese Davies, a Labor member of the British Parliament. Mr. Davies spoke to a large crowd of Veterans at the jointly sponsored Veterans Club-YMCA meeting. Mr. Davies speech, "Building a Peace That Will Last" was enthusiastically received. Perhaps the most important event in November was the beginning of the campus vesper services which have been going ever since. They are sponsored each evening at 6:30.

6:45 during the school week by the Canterbury Club, Westminster Fellowship, Wesley Foundation, Baptist Student Union, and the YMCA. Also during November several free movies were shown, not to mention the high class record music series, nor the free popular stage staged in the gym.

December 5 brought the Blue Key-Golden Chain-YMCA jointly sponsored clothing drive. The results were not as good as expected but encouraging.

The most popular thing the Y has done this year, has been the Coffee Hour which first began during the exam week last December. The students really went for the coffee and doughnuts to the tune of 300 gallons, and several hundred dozen.

Sherwood Eddy With the new year came Sherwood Eddy who, under the joint sponsorship of the Public Lectures Committee, the Ag Club, and the YMCA spoke to a large audience. January saw the revival of the Goldiggers Club with the beginning of a series of informal weekly sessions with Ray Holder discussing the Christian Faith. The Spring term rolled around and with it came Religious Emphasis Week which this year was jointly sponsored by most of the campus religious organizations. Prominent speakers were "imported" and in addition to speaking at the nightly meetings in Pullen hall spoke to fraternities, dormitories, and class groups. The Spring Conference at Camp Nawakwa came and went, departing just before Mrs. Grace Sloan Overton arrived to tell us whether or not Pre-Marital Chastity Had a Case, and all about the other things of Love, Courtship, Marriage, and Associated Things. Right now the Y is scratching its head about the summer conference at Blue Ridge and Berea Kentucky. All students are eligible to go to either Conference, and therein lies a wonderful opportunity, for as one man said last year, "When that moon comes over the mountain at Blue Ridge, you don't have to use but half of your power. 'Check by the Y and find out the interesting details."

Without the cooperation of large numbers of students, without the help and support of the Administration, the student organizations, the churches, the faculty and staff and many other organizations, it would have been impossible to do all of these and other things, Next

College Centers Prove Success After One Year

By HARPER THAYER

Last spring, all forty-one of the colleges and universities of the state were in an unusual situation—they had more student applications than they could accept. After much deliberation, a Steering Committee was evolved to ascertain how many students would attend emergency centers if they were located near their homes.

This committee was partly composed of officers of the North Carolina College Conference and partly of representatives of the State Department of Public Instruction. James E. Hillman was elected chairman and R. M. Grumman was made secretary.

Other members of the committee were W. B. Harrill, Holland Holton, J. Henry Highsmith, C. E. McIntosh, Clyde A. Milner, C. W. Phillips, W. C. Pressley, and E. W. Ruggles.

Questionnaires were sent to all school superintendents to find out where thirty or more students might be assembled into a center. A tentative registration was held July 22-23 at all public school units. Results showed that perhaps fifteen or more college centers might materialize.

Immediately many complex problems were presented in regards to where facilities could be secured for the centers, how could books be gotten, and where would funds come from for essential expenses. Finally twenty centers most likely to meet the standards were approved by the Steering Committee. C. E. McIntosh, a man of long college experience, was selected as Assistant Director. His principal duty was to have the centers ready for admission in September.

In the approved communities, he discovered among the high school faculties, many excellent teachers willing to teach one class per day in a college center. He learned that high school buildings would be available for classrooms, and by dint of much use of the telephone he secured promises of textbooks by September.

Registration occurred on September 23, and all twelve centers registered enough students to warrant operation. For the fall term, 1048 students were enrolled and 100 teachers were used. The centers were in Albemarle, Burlington, Burnsville, Charlotte, Fayetteville, Gastonia, Goldsboro, Greensboro, Hendersonville, Murphy, Rocky Mount, and Wilmington.

Among the 100 instructors, three held a doctor's degree, 57 the master's degree, and 40 the bachelor's degree. The entire group had a teaching average of 20 years. In addition, ten coordinators from the Liberal Arts Departments of the University of N. C. and two from the Engineering Department of State College assisted in planning the courses. They suggested rates of progress, cooperated with final exams, etc.

Lordy, Turn Your Face on Me

By HOWARD JACOBS

*Jined the army for to get new clothes,
Lordy, turn your face on me.
From 1770, when the colored boy Crispus Attucks fell in the Boston Massacre, down through the battle of San Juan Hill, the colored Americans have been collecting their decorations and trophies, as far as we will let them. They fought in World War II, and yet they fought with a difference.*

*I've thought I'd help de world,
But instead, I see de wrath of man.
Lordy, turn your face on me.
The fact that Negroes had not been commissioned in the Marine Corps and the Coast Guard did not discourage many young Negroes who saw a chance for adventurous and tough service in these branches.
If they wanted higher pay and complete surcease from Jim Crow, they joined the Merchant Marine. Since the Navy limited the possibilities of advancement for the Negro, they turned to the Merchant Marine, where after fourteen months of sea duty a man is eligible for Officer's Candidate School.*

*Dez don't do nuttin' to de Negro-baitin' Klan,
And no one has fought against de Klu Klux Klan,
Lordy, turn your face on me.
It is hard to decide which is worse, this new pattern of murdering the ambition, the skills, the high potential contributions of the gifted Negro, or the old pattern of physical brutality which the Negro-baiters and Klan agents have used against the colored man in uniform. Soldiers of both races have been killed in camp riots which have grown out of unequal conditions and mounting tensions. The Negro soldier was much safer in camp than in some Southern towns. He found himself not only outside the protection of the law, but even outside the object of lawless aggression by the officers of the law.*

The war is over and done with, but the morals remain for us to benefit from. Hitler founded his Nazi Germany on a foundation of hatred and discrimination. He brought destruction not only to himself and his people but also to the rest of Europe. Let us not make their mistake. Let us show by our mature handling of this problem that we are not the next generation of Nazis. Stop kicking the man that is down. Rather, extend a hand and help him up, and together build a new America based on the true and real principles of democracy.

*What we've fought for, nobody is sure,
But I'm sure it should be for some good.
Please Lordy, turn your face on me.*

Graduation Week End Different This Year

Graduating week end is beginning to shape up as something very special, even for those students who are not the proud recipients of the coveted "sheepskin." Aside from the final dances and graduation exercises, a treat is in store for all those who wish to come and listen.

As has been mentioned before, the Tower Chimes dedication concert is to be played June 6, at 5 p.m. by Professor Bigelow of Princeton. He will organize the concert personally, and you may be sure that it will be well worth hearing. It is almost a certainty that the program will include a number of State College songs.

Jack Fisher, editor of the TECHNICIAN, and a student member of the Tower Committee, is in charge of the program for Friday afternoon, June 6.

Although the Friday concert is the only one scheduled to date, it is hoped that additional concerts can be given on Saturday, June 7, and Sunday, June 8, for they can easily be arranged so as not to interfere with any other college activities.

Fraternities Plan For Gala Weekend

IFC Books Sonny Dunham to Play for Dances; Noted as Tops

Trombonist's Band Is Rated as one of the Country's Foremost

For those who have been nervously twitching and biting their fingernails off up to the elbows while preparing for final exams, here is a ray of sunshine. The Inter-Fraternity Council has succeeded in billing Sonny Dunham for the Finals.

Sonny's past billings are highlighted by such names as The Paramount Theatre, New York City; Million Dollar Pier, Atlantic City, N. J.; Casino Gardens, Ocean Park, Calif.; The Hotel Pennsylvania, New York City; and The University of North Carolina.

Dunham got his first break through an older sister who was working in the New York offices of Ben Bernie. After scouting the field of band leaders throughout the city and finding that several of them could use Sonny, she sent for her brother. His first job was at Young's in Manhattan. After becoming familiar with the whys and wherefores of the music business, he toured the country with many name bands.

With Glen Gray
Finally Sonny received an offer from Glen Gray to play with the Casa Loma Orchestra. While with Glen's outfit Sonny worked out an arrangement for a trumpet chorus of "Pagan Love Song," which is familiar to all of Dunham's fans. When the Casa Lomas were hit by hard times Sonny left to form his own orchestra and quickly achieved overwhelming popularity. At the present time Sonny's is rated as one of the foremost bands in the country.

Dunham has the reputation of being able to handle a trombone with the ease of T. Dorsey and a trumpet with the versatility of Mr. Betty Grable. Music circles have a name for his trick lip. It is commonly referred to as a double embouchure and enables him to change from trumpet to trombone with the ease of a piano player changing key. He is known as the greatest double-instrumentalist of our time, and is given credit for being able to play either the trumpet or the trombone better than most top-flight musicians play their single instruments respectively. The lips of Dunham are insured for $100,000.

Pick up that book, tote that slide rule, cram for those final exams; but remember that the week end of June 6 and 7 will be the time to howl!

Credit for preparations for the Finals is due the Inter-Fraternity Council. They have labored diligently along with Dean C. Romeo Lefort and have booked one of the nation's finest bands for the occasion.

all picture to those who might be interested, and who isn't, here are some of the events slated to be carried off during the coming days of riotous revelry and dreamy dancing.

Highlight for the week end will of course be the dances to be held at the Frank Thompson Gymnasium. The first dance, a semi-formal affair, will be held on Friday night, June 6. The second will be an informal tea dance on Saturday afternoon. The final dance will be held Saturday night and will be strictly formal.

The various fraternities have scheduled many and varied events to supplement the dances. All precedents are being shattered in an effort to make it a week end to be remembered by all. A summary of the functions to take place follows:

Three Dances Will Be Featured Next Weekend

By JOE SWETT

The feature event of the graduation week end, at least as far as the social lions are concerned, will of course be the Inter-Fraternity Council's Final Dance Set. The dances, previously scheduled for Memorial Auditorium, have been moved back to good old Frank Thompson Gymnasium—a move which is certainly not unwelcome in most fraternity circles. As we said last week, these mammoth affairs common to Woolen Gym at Chapel Hill and the Memorial Auditorium, leave much to be desired.

There will be the usual set of dances, i.e.: a semi-formal affair on Friday night, a tea dance Saturday afternoon, and the final, black and white formal blowout on Saturday night. One of the interesting differences in this set is the fact that since school is out, the Friday night dance is allowed to run from nine 'till one. The IFC and Dance Committee petitioned the Faculty Council for a change in the established time to ten 'till two, but they were turned down, of course. The later hours will be a welcome change from the regular schedule, because so many of the fraternity groups plan parties before the dance and their delegations invariably arrive at the last minute.

No Flop Now

As you have no doubt surmised by now, Sonny Dunham has been booked by the Committee to play for the affair. The appearance of Dunham's crew for the dances will dispel all disappointment over the flop in connection with "No-Show" Dorsey. It seems the Dorsey brothers are little concerned with keeping the public happy in spite of the fact that the very groups they give so many hard times did much to put them where they are. For our money they can both go fly a kite. Elsewhere in this section you may find all the straight dope of Dunham and his many fine points. He and his aggregation, paying their last visit to our campus, are sure to "make" the dance.

Bids for the set are available through the IFC to all fraternity affiliates in good standing. Non-fraternity men, as usual, can get guest bids from fraternity men and purchase their ducats at the door.

Outdoor Refreshments

Another feature of the evening dances in prospect will be the installation of a sort of an outdoor refreshment concession. The space adjacent to the ramp that adjoins the gym on the east side will be fenced off and "Mike" and his boys will move out there. Plans for this innovation are not completed as yet, but the "Coke Concession" under the stars would certainly be a novel thing.

It's easy to see that the Committee has labored diligently but fruitfully to make this the finest dance set we've ever had. Let's bear down this week, and then get out there and shine. It's been a long grind and we're entitled to a fling!

Phi Alpha Club Ready To Petition SAE

The Phi Alpha Club of State College, having petitioned the National Headquarters of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, national social fraternity, is looking forward to the fall term with hopes of having an organized fraternity on the State campus. This group, made up of several SAE men who came here from other schools and others who were invited to join during the year, is and has been functioning as a local fraternity until the charter could be granted from Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

In connection with the work toward getting their charter, this group published a descriptive booklet on the Phi Alpha Club and State College which was sent to all chapters of the national fraternity. In August, when Sigma Alpha Epsilon holds its convention in northern Michigan, the Phi Alpha club will have two delegates who will attend to work toward the granting of the charter. If all goes well, as it is expected that it will, there will be a chapter of the national fraternity Sigma Alpha Epsilon on the State campus soon after school opens in the fall.

Techs Take Second In Big Four League; Duke First

McDuffie's Sports Tavern

By MAC

The great majority of students, alumni, athletic officials, and fans are in complete agreement that this past year was the most successful in the history of State College athletics.

State's comparatively new coaching staff put capable teams on the field in every major sport and either won or was a constant threat for every Southern Conference title. Yes, it's been a great year.

Everything was not a bed of roses, however. Few realize that Coach Al Crawford, who took a group of candidates with little experience, and molded a team that tied for second place in the Southern Conference wrestling meet, did not issue a call for wrestlers until after Christmas. All other schools begin practice in December and got the jump on State. For your information, Crawford was trainer for the football team and was kept busy at that duty until after the 'Gator Bowl. Of course, nobody regrets the bid to the 'Gator Bowl, but give Al a chance to drill his prospects a little in December, and he will probably bring a title to State next year.

One of the biggest regrets of the season was the cancelled basketball game between State and Carolina, and the transferring of the tournament to Duke. The enrollment at State next fall promises to be around 6,000 and Frank Thompson Gym seats only about 3,000—packed to the rafters. Nothing is definite about the coliseum, but the most optimistic do not hope for its completion before the first of February. In the meantime, State will have games in December and January, and some system of limiting the attendance of the student body must be effected. The athletic department is determined not to have a recurrence of the State-Carolina affair. Incidentally, some of the big names in basketball would like to play in Raleigh if the new gym was completed. State cannot afford to schedule them, however, if the possibility exists that the game would have to be played in Frank Thompson Gym.

The next sport on the agenda is football. With a very successful grid season behind and a tough schedule ahead, no wonder Coach Beattie Feathers is worried. It has been said that State is definitely not in the class of some of the schools on the card. On opening day last season, the Wolfpack was a 27-point underdog in the tilt with Duke. State may not have the material, but it will have one of the smartest and most spirited grid teams on the turf next September. Currently, the biggest problem in the Wolfpack camp is trying to replace Howard Turner.

It is a pity that the game with Carolina had to be transferred to Chapel Hill, but if it had been left in Raleigh, some of the State students would not have been able to obtain tickets for dates and wives, as a result of the limited seating capacity. Student tickets will be good for the game. Hope somebody notifies the Chapel Hill officials that students at State sit on the 50-yard line and not in the end zone.

If Coach Tom Hines can round up a few distance men, State is going to make a great deal of noise in cinder circles next year. During the past season, his freshmen have been consistent leaders in field events. Coach Tom has one of the greatest potential jumpers in the South in George Pickett. Pickett jumped six feet, four and one-quarter inches against VPI.

Coach Willie Casey is going to have his team back intact, with the exception of Captain Bob Reynolds, and it would seem natural to predict an undefeated season for the swimmers, BUT Casey is planning to schedule some of the top teams in the nation. Anyway, he will still have to beat the mermen over at Chapel College if he is going to win the Southern Conference title.

If the coliseum is completed, the Southern Conference Basketball Tourney will probably be held in Raleigh next year. Other conference tourneys in swimming and wrestling may be held at State.

It will be a shame for State to fail to have B-teams in football, basketball, swimming, and baseball next year. The school has an enrollment sufficient to justify a full schedule for the B-teams, and certainly enough interest has been shown. Much experience can be gained from the competition and the schedule will be incentive enough to draw more candidates for the sports.

Last year, Coach Butler Anderson had a well-drilled B-squad of footballers that ran the opponents plays against the varsity all week. Is it asking too much to let the Jayvees play on Friday afternoon? A group of better-than-average basketball players scrimmaged against the varsity throughout the season without ever getting into a game. Additional interest was shown in Jayvee basketball when the fellows in the fieldhouse began to schedule games. Baseball presented the school with the greatest need. Coach Vic Sorrell had about 100 boys reporting for drills. Naturally, he had to cut the squad in order to give the candidates some individual instructions, but was it impossible for someone else to form a B-squad and give the boys some experience so that some of them could join the varsity the succeeding year? The athletic department said that they did not have a field for the B-team to use for practice, and that equipment was not available. Next spring, the new baseball diamond will be ready, and more than 18 or 20 boys should be given the opportunity to play some baseball.

Aside to Hammerhead Morris—yeah, your choice infielder was pretty good. As a matter of fact, Coach Sorrell's entire team was good. Meet you in Durham at the football game about September 27. Until then, happy fishing.

Carolina Defeats State In Season's Final, 5-2

By DICK JONES

Cries of "We wuz robbed" rang from the portals of the Carolina ball park on Wednesday afternoon, but regardless of all the gripes and post mortems that can be made, we simply lost the ball game and the Big Four crown rests in Durham for a year. There is nothing we can do about it now, so let's look to next season.

After Big Curt Ramsey got by a shaky first inning, he pitched a beautiful game. That early wildness did the damage. Vinny DiLorenzo pitched a truly magnificent game and deserves all the credit in the world. It is rumored that he has recently signed a big league contract. Summary for the game was: State, 2 runs, 6 hits, 4 errors, and Carolina, 5 runs, 8 hits, one error. We still have one big consolation, and that is that we beat Duke, the Big Four Champs, three out of four games and broke even with Carolina and Wake Forest.

In losing this game, Curt Ramsey ended his pitching career in college. It is a foregone fact that he is one of the best college pitchers seen in North Carolina in many years. State will certainly miss him next season. For the past two seasons he has compiled a record of eleven wins and only two losses. That is an enviable record for any college hurler. Jimmy Edwards also wound up his career as a college catcher with a reputation in his department almost equal to Ramsey's.

For all of you who have not read the Raleigh Times, it will be worth repeating that the Techs received a bid to the NCAA tournament at Charlotte on the 11, 12, 13 of June, but turned it down as a result of a vote of the team. Most of the players are lined up with jobs for the summer playing baseball for semi-pro outfits and are anxious to get started since they would lose some of their salary or compensation. For this they cannot be blamed. They have made a great showing this year and have played brilliant baseball for the most part.

Speaking of Ramsey again, a very funny thing happened at Chapel College Wednesday when the Techs rallied for their two runs in the 11th inning. With Lee on base, Ramsey blasted one of Vinny's pitches all the way to the field house which was a sure homer, but by the time the ball got back to the infield, Big Crump had just gotten to second. The crowd really got a big charge out of that. We Willie Evans could easily have toured the circuit twice.

In closing out the baseball news for the year, I personally want to congratulate each and every one of the Techs for their splendid show of sportsmanship all during the current campaign. State College will not soon forget that heavy hitting line-up and never say die attitude. Even though the crown is not here for the coming year, we certainly deserved it if sportsmanship were the deciding factor. So long team and good luck to Vic Sorrell and a squad of baseball players who have the admiration of the entire student body.

Frosh and Soph Scramble

The Freshmen and Sophomores battled to a 1-1 deadlock in the annual Pushball contest held in the track stadium this year. The action was rough and spirited as usual and the same large number of bruises resulted.

"Fuller Horton Day" Katavek Win Trophy

Leo Katavek, Captain of this year's Red Terrors and third baseman on the baseball team, was awarded the Jack Dempsey-Adams Hat Sports Welfare Trophy last Saturday at the Carolina game. Katavek was selected over six other contestants in a general com-pus election held Thursday May 22. As Capt. of the basketball team, he was the sparkplug that kept the team going all season, climaxed in their National Invitation Tourney. Katavek has played stellar ball at third base all season with the diamond squad.

The occasion of this celebration was the presentation of one (1) monogrammed 6-inch gate-valve as a token of the students' highest esteem for the unimpeachable integrity and high ideals of our own Fuller Horton. Fuller received this trophy with tears dimming his usually sharp and clear eyes. He then made a short speech of acceptance which was met with an applause that literally shook the foundations of Beeton Dormitory.

There were certain unqualified rumors in the back rows that Horton may leave State College to run for governor. As yet this is unofficial, but if he runs you may be sure that the next governor of North Carolina will be the Honorable Fuller Horton. A man like that just can't be defeated in any undertaking.

Statistics show that half the couples applying for marriage licenses in Coker Township, Alamance County, are women.

State Track Club Wins In Closing Meet, 64-62

Coach Tom Hines' track team closed out a very successful season by edging VPI, 64-62, in a Southern Conference meet. The cinder-men were potent in the field events, but showed a definite weakness in the distance races.

Captain Chuck Chambers, Florida speedster and top Red Terror sprinter, won three first place. Chambers won the 220-yard dash, 220-low hurdles, and the 440.

The outstanding feature of the meet was George Pickett's winning high jump. The Raleigh freshman cleared the bar at six-feet, four and one-quarter inches. A new Southern Conference record, established the previous week, stands at six feet and three inches.

State was defeated only once during the past year, yielding to Duke. The Terrors defeated Clemson, South Carolina, Davidson, and Wake Forest.

The defeat was the first of the year for the Gobblers.

This End of the Line

Had to fight off some of the married lads on the staff. They haven't had the last word in so long that most of them wanted to write the column. Though this is the final issue of the year and we're going to reminisce a bit, we'll try to keep tear stains off the copy.

Forty-six/forty-seven has been a pretty sensational year at State College. It has brought a tremendous increase in enrollment, with all of the attendant difficulties; it has seen State sweep into national recognition in the sports world; and it has produced a mature student body which is eager to exercise its own discretion in helping to form campus policy.

We spoke to several people about listing the outstanding events of the year. The results seemed to indicate that the most noteworthy events fall into three principal categories: sports, social events, and controversy. Without presuming to name all of the year's important events, we present the following:

Coch Feathers' rip-roaring Wolfpack started the sports year off with a distinct bang, when they kicked the Blue Devils of Duke soundly in the pants and sent them scurrying back to Durham. After this start, they picked up the momentum which sent them steaming down Jacksonville way and into the 'Gator Bowl. (Why spoil it all by mentioning the score?)

A clean sweep on the Christmas basketball tour, which included a decisive victory over Holy Cross, N.C.A.A. champs, set the stage for a season of victories. After licking such teams as N.Y.U., Duke, and Chapel Hill, the Southern Conference crown and the third place in the National Invitational Tourney against the best teams in the nation were logical progressions for the charges of Coach Case.

The good orchestras which played for a few of the outstanding social events of the year served only to whet our appetite for more of the same next year. Well-staged dances like the Junior-Senior at the Auditorium, the Glen Gray concert dance which hit a new high in music and a new low in admission price, and the easy formality of Midwinters, rank high as social events. The Ag School's Barnwarmers, the Engineers' Brawl, and the Lindtrodgers' Ball gave each of us a great deal of pride in our individual schools and, incidentally, a wonderful time.

But all was not sweetness and light on the State College campus. There were numerous and well-deserved, though not always avoidable, G.I. gripes. The faculty council dragged out the "F-rule" before the fall term was well under way, and thick was the fur which flew. Fire Chief (what was that name?) called off the hot game with Chapel College and summoned the wrath of an irate student body. Tickets for parking in faculty zones did little to keep students with cars happy. There's still a great deal of discussion about the unjustified severity of our present cut system.

At the present time, everyone is looking forward to Finals and Sonny Dunham's orchestra and wondering what it's like to be a general engineer.

All-in-all, it's been a swell year. We've enjoyed writing this column, and sincerely hope that it has justified its existence.

See you next fall!

Bringle.

Doings Of The Campus Government

By ISH COOK

The Student Government of State College, your government, has been very active this term. It has been my privilege to attend the meetings of the Student Council during the Spring term, and to observe the sincerity and aggressiveness with which the members have performed their duties. There have been many accomplishments which were the result of hard work. The Council has given willingly and enthusiastically of their time and efforts for the betterment of the students welfare as well as that of the college.

Early in the term the Council obtained the authority to investigate and try every case of student misconduct involving the violation of the laws of the City, state, or nation. The adoption of this principle is a great step forward since it will increase the effectiveness of the Campus Government, relieve the College Administration of the charge of arbitrary disciplinary action and inadequate hearings, and improvement of the student morale.

These are only a few of the accomplishments of the present Student Council. Other things that are now taking shape will offer a great challenge to the incoming Council. Money has been appropriated by the Council this term for the installation of an amplifier system in the cafeteria to provide the students with music during meals.

Tau Beta Pi Holds Initiation Ceremony

At an impressive ceremony held at the Women's Club three outstanding faculty members and eighteen undergraduates were initiated into Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity.

Tau Beta Pi is composed of outstanding Juniors and seniors in the School of Engineering. It was founded at Lehigh University in 1885 to mark in a fitting manner those who have conferred honor upon their school by exemplary character and outstanding scholarship as undergraduates in engineering, or who have, by their attainments as alumni in engineering, fostered a spirit of liberal culture in the engineering colleges of America.

The faculty members initiated are: W. W. Krieger, Head of the Ceramics Department; R. S. Fouraker, Professor in Electrical Engineering; and N. W. Conner, Professor in Engineering Research.

The students initiated are: W. W. Alley, Jr., Marion; V. B. Bodenheimer, High Point; J. J. Brown, Mt. Airy; W. J. Daniels, Henderson; R. C. Dickinson, Jessup, Ga.; W. A. Faison, Jr., Chester, Pa.; W. SPE's Win Frat Softball Title; Dorms in Race

Close Game Ends In Controversy; Dorm Finals Yesterday

Over in the dorm league, softball is at a high-pitched tempo. The championship game was Thursday, but our deadline kept us from covering the game for the paper. College View and 1st. Becton fought it out on Wednesday for their bracket championship and the right to play in the finals against the bracket 2 champ, which was between 2nd Burlington and 2nd Becton. The two losers in the bracket championship games will fight it out for the third and fourth spots.

In moving into the semi-finals, 2nd Becton edged 2nd Syme out by a 3-2 score, while 1st Becton chalked up a 6-3 victory over basement Syme. College View and 2nd Burlington have been undefeated prior to the semi-finals, and should they lose then, another game will have to be played as a team must lose two games before the finals to be eliminated. If such is the case, the championship game will be moved up to Monday, June 2. Only one game will be played in the finals.

Fraternities Finished

Over in the frat league, Sigma Phi Epsilon nosed out the Pi Kappa Alpha team, 8-7, to capture the fraternity crown. Both teams finished their round-robin play on top of their respective brackets with a record of 5 wins and 0 losses. Sigma Pi and Tau Kappa Epsilon ended a five inning game with the Pis on top 14-2, but some mismanagement of the rules forbids the Pis the victory. As the championship games must go seven innings, they must play the other two innings before the game is legal. In advancing to runner-up spot against TKE, Sigma Pi took a decision from Sigma Chi to settle a tie for second place bracket winner. TKE gained undisputed second in their bracket by virtue of four games won against one loss.

In that game between the PIKAs and SPEs, the SPEs pulled what is considered by many as an upset by bringing in two runs in the seventh inning. This was due to PIKA errors, and does not speak badly for Bridges' pitching. The SPEs used two pitchers in their battery against the losers.

Controversy

The outcome of the game will probably go down in history wrapped in controversy as a result of two conflicting decisions by the umpires in the last half of the seventh. Done Lampke's hot drive down the 3rd base line looked good, and Lampke got all of the way to second, sliding into base for a close decision. He was called safe at second and then the argument started. Then the other umpire called the ball foul, and so Lampke went back to bat. On his next try he grounded out and the game stood at 8-7 in favor of the SPEs.

Not including the championship games, the fraternity softball standings are as follows:

Volleyball

Dormitory volleyball was awaiting the results of the semi-finals this week to see who would play against who for the championship. In the semi-finals, 3rd Bagwell was slated to meet College View and 1st Becton to go against S. Watauga. The winners and losers will then play each other to decide the champs and runners-up.

If either of the unbeaten teams, Bagwell and Becton, are beaten in this play-off, then another game will have to be played because of the double elimination ruling that has been announced previously.

Frats in 3 Way Tie

In bracket no. 1 the fraternities ended up in a three-way tie between Sigma Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Alpha Gamma Rho for first place. Sig Chi and SPE played part of this tie off, with the SPEs winning, 2-0. Now AGR must meet the SPEs to decide who will play the 1st place team of bracket no. 2, Pi Kappa Alpha.

The team standings before the play-offs are as follows:

Seniors Hear Talk On Wolfpack Club

Allan Nelms, Field Secretary Explains Purposes & Functions

By GEORGE HARRELL

At a meeting of the senior class last Tuesday, G. Allen Nelms, field Secretary of the Wolfpack Club, gave a talk to the graduating class on the purposes and functions of the Club. Mr. Nelms, who was a three letter athlete at State in football, basketball, and baseball in the early thirties, was introduced by John Wagoner, football player and an officer of the senior class.

Mr. Nelms brought out the fact that since State College is a State institution, no funds are set up for scholarships to athletes. "In view of this fact," he continued, "whatever benefits we are able to afford worthy athletes who are in need of financial aid, we must depend on the alumni of the school and friends. Realizing the necessity of having a well-rounded athletic program, the athletic officials and authorities were faced with the problem, in view of other institution's broadening programs, of building up athletics here at State to a higher level, or abandon them completely. After the splendid records compiled by State teams in the past year, there is little doubt as to what decision they made."

"It was with this purpose in mind that the Wolfpack Club, which was formed some time ago, began their extensive program to 'put State College on the map.' Mr. Nelms explained that the Student Aid Ass'n, which is sponsored by the Wolfpack Club, is wholly a non-profit organization which offers aid to worthy athletes, upon the recommendation of the coaches and the Wolfpack Club. "Who are not interested solely in bringing men to

State College for the purpose of participating in sports. The first thing we tell a boy when scouting him is that we would like to have him come to State, if we have a curriculum that he is interested in. We don't believe in misleading the boys. They are told that the school is hard and that if they make the grade and are in need of aid, some arrangements can be made." He further stated that the coaches are just as much interested in the welfare of the player as he is in his athletic ability. "They will not tolerate a boy who persists in playing around and not keeping up with their schoolwork. As an example of this, several boys have been dropped during the past year for negligence of schoolwork."

Mr. Nelms also brought out the fact that we are still not up to the desired level, but that we are on the right road. "In order for us to stay on the right road, we must have the help and cooperation of every man who leaves State College; for it is these men who have seen firsthand what a fine school we have and can carry the word to the rest of the people. In order to place our school on a high level, publicly, we have, which is a well-known fact, to gather publicity from athletics. To accomplish this the Wolfpack Club must have the money to operate with. I am not asking you, at this stage of the game, for donations. I do ask you, however, to remember State College and the Wolfpack Club in later days when you will be able to help. In the meantime, all that you can do in the way of spreading the word will help greatly in this cause."

In closing, Mr. Nelms urged every senior to help in this move to keep State College on the right road, achieving fame so long overdue.

State Teams Compile Best Record in History of School

4 Championships, 4 Post-Season Contests End Eventual Year

By GEORGE HARRELL

Last Wednesday the athletic teams of State College concluded a year which put surprise galore on many faces throughout the State, but fixed a knowing smile on every face of the Big Red supporters and alumni. From that sunny, thunder-shower afternoon in September when some 22,000 joyous fans witnessed the humble defeat of the "mighty" Ducks for the first time in 13 years, the teams that wore the red and white colors of N. C. State have piled win on win to complete the best year in sports in the school's history.

Notable attractions of this splendid achievements was the participation of four State teams in post season contests, having stopped everything in this section.

Football Ties-off First

Under the excellent tutorage of Coach Beattie Feathers and his assistants, Butter Anderson, Babe Wood, Bob Surferige, and Lyle Rich, the Wolfpack launched one of the toughest-scheduled slates ever undertaken by a State team to lead in the race by other State teams to out-do their brother teams. From the first whistle of the Duke game right down to the last second of their "Gator Bowl" scrap with the heavy Sooners of Oklahoma, the "Pack" displayed the speed, power, and alertness that has characterized the teams throughout the year.

The "Gator Bowl" contest set a new precedent for State College athletic teams. For the first time in their history, State had placed a team in the eyes of the whole country by engaging in a post season contest after disposing of opposition in the immediate territory. The excellent season enjoyed by the football team is now history, but many students and alumni still vividly remember the smashing play of the "Pack. It isn't easy for such loyal and spirited supporters to forget the smashing attacks of the "brick-wall" line fielded on the grid-iron. As long as there is a spark of State spirit left in any man, they will long remember the two yard plunge by Charlie Richkus through a virtual brick wall to give State the well-earned victory over the Blue Devils. Nor will they forget the slashing tactics of watch-charm guard, Barney Watts and the freshman buzz-saw of the State line, and the heads-up ball played by ends Paul Gibson, Capt. Al Phillips, tackles Taylor Moser and Curt Ramsey, and center Saunders along with the whole line.

Basketball

Backed by such stalwarts in the line, the light but fast "Pack" backfield delighted the fans all season with their nifty running. Thrice All-Southern Howard Turner, Freshman sensations Gwyn Fletcher, Fotsie Palmer, Bob Bowiby, Oscar Bozeman, and George Allen, and steady Bill Stanton and Charlie Richkus kept the defense running in circles all season with their unpredictable attacks.

Case Works Quietly While the grid-iron was sizzling under the attack of the football team, Basketball Coach Everette N. Case, the soft-spoken wizard of Indiana High School fame, began to work on October 1 in a precision-like manner to mold 9 freshmen and one junior into the flashiest and fastest team in the country.

ning team here at State with such new material, Coach Case proceeded to eat his words by producing one of the classiest teams ever to come out of the South. Introducing an entirely new system, the mid-western mentor and his spirited newcomers learned very quickly and established themselves as a part of State College.

In winning 27 of 32 games Case's men not only captured the Southern Conference titles but brought to State their 2nd post-season offer of history in the same year as the first, the National Invitational Basketball Tournament in Madison Square Garden at New York. Led by Dick Dickey, high scorer for the season, and Capt. Leo Katkavek, Pete Negley, Jack McComas, Eddie Bartels, and Warren Cartier, the Red Terrors entered the tournament seeded fourth, but proceeded to grab third spot after bowing out to a more experienced Kentucky club.

Even in defeat, the Terrors displayed the stuff that singles out a State man from the rest. Much success gained by the Terrors was greatly aided by the scouting of rival teams, something new in these quarters, by Asst. Coach "Butter" Anderson.

The clincher of dispelling any doubts as to the potency of the basketball team was the playing of some 10-odd intersectional games by the Conference champs. With every man from this year's squad expected to return, there will likely be a repeater performance next year.

Football

Baseball

A State Man Connects

reign of Carolina's Blue Dolphins. Kelly, Bill Ward, Bill Despres, and Robert Reynolds, Capt., were the standouts in the season's competition. These same men represented State in the Eastern Intercollegiate Individual Swimming Tournament at Yale University during the same period that the Red Terrors were burning up the hardwood at Madison Square Garden, thus becoming the third team of State history to engage in such a post-season contest. Kelly, who shows promise of being one of the most outstanding swimmers in the country, already holds a National AAU championship; in addition, he grabbed top scoring honors in both the Carolinas AAU and Southern Conference meets.

Grapplers Grunt Hard

This year also saw the return of wrestling to the State College campus. Nor were the grapplers content to take a back seat as a minor sport; they grunted and groaned under the expert eye of Coach Al Crawford, a National Champion himself, to emerge with strong second in the Conference Tourney, to place themselves on the level of a major sport. After starting slow in the season, the green material that Crawford worked with rounded into shape with amazing speed to place two men as Southern Conference Champions.

With many men who had never engaged in wrestling as an intercollegiate sport, the team finished the season with six victories and three losses in regular, season Conference play. Tenacious Jim Edwards, conference champ, and freshman Don "Tiger" Troxler, conference champ, along with veteran Fred Wagoner, led an earnest and hard working team all season. Wagoner and Edwards lost only one of twelve meets the whole season, while Troxler captured his last eight matches. With the return of most of these men next year, the Conference Title might well be captured by State.

Baseball Champs Repeat Under the direction of former major leaguer Vic Sorrell, the diamond team started the season with lots of bad luck, dropping their first two games and giving sports fans in the State chance to opine that last year's championship was a fluke. But, although hampered by bad weather for two weeks, the team settled down to dispose of opposition in true State College form. At this moment they are in a life and death struggle with the sister institution, Carolina, to decide the State championship.

Led by Big Curt Ramsey, the mound ace, and newcomers Willie Evans and Bill Fowler, and veterans Jim Edwards and Leo Katkavek; the baseball team boasts the best batting average in the league. With a possible State Championship in their lap, the diamond crew will have retained the title they won last year for the first time in 18 years.

Track Team Shines Also

Not only has the baseball team offered prosperity for State College in sports this spring, for the track squad, under the watchful direction of Coach Tom Hines, has launched into a winning program with the return of former lettermen and addition of new men. Paced by fleet-footed Charlie Chambers, the hurdles and dash ace with 90 points to his credit, the cinder team has gone through the season with only one loss to Duke, while bowling over such opposition as South Carolina, Davidson, Clemson, Wake Forest, and Virginia. They walked away with trophies in the freshman division of both the Carolina Relays and the Carolina Indoor Meet. Former star Mike Andrews, basketballers Dick Dickey and Pete Negley, footballers Jim Byler and Dusty Dosanko, and hurdler J. C. Jones have been the key men in Hine's attack.

Yes indeed, this has been a bumper year for sports at N. C. State. Winning teams galore have dominated the sports' program during the past nine months, something new to State, but something long deserved. These achievements have been no flukes. They have come from hard work and many sweating hours on the part of truly loyal students and conscientious coaches. It's easy to sit back and lavish in the records compiled by these men but let's not forget the "blood and tears" that they

Swimmers Splash Opponents

The winter term at State not only provided the period for the Red Terrors debut, but also for a new revival of another splendid team, the swimming team. Breaking many records, the tank squad, under the expert tutorage of Willis Casey, racked up victory after victory, failing to lose a single dual meet. Led by Billy Kelly, breast-stroke artist, Casey's men took the Carolinas AAU championship, thus ending a ten year

ern universities looked to Oak Ridge to supplement their curriculum; however, an organization of 14 southern colleges applied the pressure necessary to keep Oak Ridge in the South.

In conclusion Dr. Graham stated that there should be more emphasis on the theological side of education. Modern science seems to be "doing something" to the conception of freedom and dignity of man. He said that it is time to get back to a balanced idea of God, man, and nature. The Hebrews found God, the Greeks found man, and the modern scientist has found nature. The accent today is on science, due somewhat to an over-emphasis of this in our schools. There should be more courses offered and required in Humanities.

Controller Makes Report
At the recommendation of Controller W. D. Carmichael, Jr., the Board of Trustees voted to adopt the municipal and state traffic laws on all the campuses of the Greater University.

Mr. Carmichael announced that O. Max Gardner had left a provision in his will for $25,000 to be held in perpetuity with the Greater University, from which an annual prize will be awarded the faculty member who makes the greatest contribution to the welfare of the human race.

In reply to President Graham's promise of an improved Greater University, Mr. Carmichael said that no school is better than its faculty, and that the most pressing need today is that of an improved alumni will be held throughout the weekend at this fraternity. On Saturday afternoon a picnic will be held for members and their dates.

Sigma Nu
On Saturday night at 7 o'clock the Sigma Nu's will hold a banquet in the Virginia Dare Room of the Hotel Sir Walter.

Sigma Phi Epsilon
On Friday afternoon at the lake and cabin of Trudy Upchurch a swimming party will be held to offer members and their dates an opportunity to become acquainted with one another. On Friday night a party will be held at the fraternity house following the dance.

Redcoat Band Plays For Graduation Next Week; Ends Busy Year

The Music Department of State College, under the direction of C. D. Kutschinski, ends one of its most vigorous years, when the orchestra plays for the commencement exercises on June 6, 8, and 9.

During the past school year, the various musical organizations—Glee Club, orchestra, Redcoat Band, ROTC Band, Mu Beta Psi have put their time and efforts into presenting a well-rounded musical program for the students of State College. They have attempted to have as varied a program as possible so as to furnish entertainment to all, no matter what type of music you prefer. The Orchestra will play for the alumni luncheon, the baccalaureate sermon, and the graduation exercises. In addition to this, during the year, the 30-piece orchestra has given two full concert programs and provided music for special assemblies and other school functions.

The Redcoat Band enlivened the half-time period at all the home football games and traveled with the team to Wake Forest, Roanoke, and to the 'Gator Bowl. With the end of the football season, the band was streamlined to form a concert band. It gave several concerts in Pullen Hall and at the Tower, which were attended by large crowds.

Though smaller than usual, the ROTC Band put forth some excellent martial music at the numerous military parades and ceremonies held throughout the year.

Last but not least, Mu Beta Psi, honorary music fraternity, was extremely active in promoting interest in the musical activities of the year among the students and in promoting good fellowship among the members of the various musical organizations.

The student body owes a vote of thanks to the members of these various organizations for the work that they have done for the school this year.

into twenty minute periods for each dance that the majority of students show interest in learning.

With the exception of the first two lessons when tango, fox-trot, and waltz groundwork will be covered, the students have a choice of these three, and rhumba, samba, or jitterbug.

Plans are in progress at Peace College to permit attendance of the Peace girls to the State College dancing classes in the fall of this year. Dr. Pressley, President of Peace College, has promised full cooperation in this matter because Mr. Townsend is at present teaching a dancing class at Peace.

Permission from Dr. Stone, President of St. Mary's, has been given in the matter of allowing his girls to attend these classes also.

During the summer session, Miss Latham is planning to bring some girls to act as dancing partners. The Veterans' Administration is planning to cooperate in furnishing some. Many of the women in offices on the campus have shown an interest in attending these classes as partners for the students.

Both Miss Latham and Mr. Townsend were formerly with Arthur Murray—Miss Latham in Georgia and Mr. Townsend in New York.

Mr. Townsend was 26 years old before he learned to dance. He says that he enjoys teaching students to dance because when he was at the University of Virginia, he did not know how to dance and now he realizes how much social life he missed by not being able to dance earlier.

Mr. Townsend has done much resort teaching and entertaining at various hotels throughout the East, including the Monterey and the Berkeley-Cartaret in Asbury Park, N. J., and the Arlington and the Flamingo in Miami Beach, Fla.

STATE TEAMS

It is a sign; a sign of the future abundance of honors that these men will reap. In victory and defeat they shall strive, in victory and defeat we will back them up with whole heart. At last we have the coaches and material, plus that undying State College spirit to place athletics on the same high standards that has so long been held by the academic and social departments of the school. For whatever happens, let us remember that we have here at State a combination that spells victory: in sports, in honor, in social activities, and last but not first, in high academic standards. Let it never be said that State College has ever failed to uphold her heritage.

Viva State College Sports!
