Eleven Frats Announce Names Of New Members

Many Bids Accepted After Social Galore Of Rush Week Ends

Now that rush week and the "period of deadly silence" are over, eleven of the fifteen fraternities surrounding the State College campus have posted lists of their new pledges. Since several of the letters sent out by the fraternities were left unanswered, it was assumed that the invitations were rejected.

During recent rush week the Greeks wined and dined their prospective members, heaping upon them refreshments, girls, smiles and an abundant social activity. After rush week followed the period of silence and the period that rushers used to decide their choice of fraternity. Last week the rushers turned in their invitations to the dean of students.

Below are given the names of the fraternities and their respective pledges:

Active Frats
Alpha Lambda Tau, Delta Sigma Phi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Pi Kappa Alpha, Pi Kappa Phi, Sigma Alpha Nu, Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Pi, Reorganized.

Many Students Here May Vote In Election

Tuesday, November 5, is Election Day and many of the students at State College are eligible to exercise the voting privilege. The fact that approximately 90% of the student body is composed of veterans should bring the total number of men over 21 to about 3,000.

Rules governing that prerequisite to voting, registration of the voter, are rather complicated when they are to be applied to someone who is not a constant resident of his home precinct. However, the fact that YOU have not registered yet should not prevent your voting in this next election since there are still ten regularly scheduled days left to register.

One year's residence in North Carolina is required; however, if you resided in North Carolina for a year before entering service, your service time continues to count as residence in this state. In addition to this state residence requirement, 4 months residence is required in the precinct where the votes are to be cast. For instances if you were a student here at State College for both the summer and fall terms this requirement is fulfilled. In other cases, residence will depend on where you assume your residence to be.

If you have previously registered elsewhere, your registration may be transferred to this precinct by requesting the registrar of the place where you are registered to transfer your registration to Wake County Precinct No. 12.

Both the registration place and the polling place are located in the N. C. State Armory here on the campus and will be open on Oct. 26 for registering and on Nov. 5 for voting.

Mr. L. A. Doub, chairman of the Wake County Election Board, expressed his hope that as many students as possible who are eligible to vote would do so. He is the authority on any individual questions which may arise and may be reached at 3-2913 or at his home phone, 3-2958.

$25,000 Fund Is Set Up For Professorship In Dairy Production

A $25,000 fund to endow a professorship in dairy production at North Carolina State College has been set up by the Guilford Dairy Cooperative Association of Greensboro, it was announced recently by George S. Coble of Lexington, president of the North Carolina Dairy Foundation, Inc.

The new teaching post will be known as the Guilford Cooperative Association Professorship in Dairy Production. The unanimous decision of the association board of directors to set up the professorship was announced at a foundation meeting here Saturday by Mose Kiser, manager of the association.

Approximately 60 leaders in the dairy industry in North Carolina attended the meeting. New association officers are: Coble, re-elected president; Kiser, vice-president and J. G. Vann, business manager of State College, re-elected secretary-treasurer. Incumbent directors were reelected and the following new directors were chosen to serve a one-year term: E. D. Mitchell of Asheville, James D. Kilgore of Raleigh, Dr. George Johnson of Wallace, M. G. Mann of Raleigh, Vernon Nivens of Charlotte, John Webb of Greenville, J. O. Lutz of Newton, Clay Williams of Winston-Salem and J. W. Cummings of Guilford College.

Dr. James H. Hilton, head of the department of animal industry at State College, outlined the college program for building a "sound" dairy industry in North Carolina.

Dr. Clarence Poe, publisher of Progressive Farmer, speaking on North Carolina's dairy industry, said that the state should build its industry into a 100 million dollar annual business from the present figure of 63 millions.

Following the meeting lunch was served guests by wives of the dairy faculty.

State To Get Special Train For V.M.I. Game

Another round-trip train, this one for the V.M.I. game at Roanoke, Va., is being arranged by Golden Chain, in conjunction with the athletic association. The train is to load at the campus Saturday morning, November 7, and return to Raleigh that afternoon after the game.

The Southern Railroad has asked for a guarantee of 150 fares to schedule the train, and this guarantee has been given by Mr. Von Glahn and the Athletic Association.

The famous Redcoat Band, some 70 strong, has already planned to take the train. Any alumni or passengers will be counted as part of the quota.

By action of the Faculty Council, all students are free to go and cuts taken will be counted as single cuts only. However, announced quizzes and labs cannot be made up.

The round trip fare will be $9.40, and tickets will go on sale at the YMCA the beginning of next week.

I.A.S. To Meet

The Institute of Aeronautical Sciences meet Tuesday night in Page Hall. The program consisted of a movie "Building A Bomber." The next meeting will be on November 5th. All those eligible for initiation are requested to bring their shields.

YMCA To Sponsor Dance Tomorrow Night At Gym

Girls From Peace And St. Mary's To Attend

Now is the time for State College men to come to the aid of their "Sisters." Saturday night, October 26 is the night when the girls from Peace College and St. Mary's College are doing their part in helping the YMCA fulfill the desires of State College men for more social activities. The girls are meeting you more than half way—they are coming all the way, and they will be at Frank Thompson Gymnasium at 8:45; so all of you fellows who are looking for a future wife, a date for the future, or just a delightful evening of fun, fellowship, and dancing come on down to the gymnasium at 8:30 and meet the girls when they arrive. Girls from Meredith College could not attend this dance because of the Meredith Athletic Association—all-school party which is being given at the same time.

State boys who wish to bring dates to this dance may do so, in fact you will be VERY WELCOME.

CROWD GOES WILD...as goal post at Wake Forest Stadium is hauled down by over zealous State victors. Immediately after this picture was taken the goal post was dismantled and hauled aboard the State College special train and paraded up and down Fayetteville Street.

Juniors!

Your class meets at 12:00 noon on Thursday, October 31 in Pullen Hall. Election will be held for the five '46-'47 officers. Your presence is urged.

Wesley Foundations To Give Halloween Party October 31

Again this year the Wesley students are planning a gala affair for the harvest occasion to be celebrated on October 31. The harvest moon will be shining on the spooks and goblins who gather at the Fairmont Fellowship Center on Clarke Avenue. There will be a wide variety of fun and frolic including the hunking bee, ye ol' houn, folk games, harmonies on the harvest ballads, refreshments and an array of the unpredictable.

State boys should drag out the witches; but beware! there will be some angels just off the farm.

The evening of fun and entertainment will begin around 7:30 and will continue to 9:30.

B.S.U. Convention To Meet November 1-3

November 1-3 the annual Baptist Student Union Convention of North Carolina will convene in Durham. Friday afternoon will be occupied with the registration of the student representatives of many colleges throughout the state. The program will consist of worship services, special music and singing, addresses, forums, and recreation.

Ed Smith, State student, who is enlistment vice-president for North Carolina, will recognize the various campus groups. Alton Wilson, also of State will be the student convener of one of the forums.

The Baptist Student Union Council of State would like as many Baptist students as possible to attend all or part of the convention sessions. For further details concerning the Convention, call 7217, the office of Bob Lasater, State College Baptist student secretary.

Simpson Is Appointed Training Officer For Veterans Office Here

The Veterans Administration Training Officer assigned to the State College campus is Evander S. Simpson. He is located at Room 107, Building 1911, Campus, and his reason for being here is to give help and assistance to veteran students. Take your check troubles and all other problems related to your rights and benefits as a veteran to him.

"There are thousands of veterans enrolled at North Carolina colleges and universities this fall," Mr. Simpson states, "and most of them will get their October subsistence checks about on time. Those few who don't are asked to wait patiently until November 15, and then report the matter to me and we will get the matter straightened out as rapidly as possible."

Attached to the subsistence award letters being mailed to the veterans from Winston-Salem at the present time are Earnings Report Blanks. Mr. Simpson stated that it is very important that these forms be properly filled out and turned into his office or mailed to Winston-Salem by November 4, 1946. Failure to do so will cause a delay in the veteran's subsistence.

Mr. Simpson is a veteran of World War II. He has the veteran's point of view, understands the veteran's problems, and stands ready to help them at all times. Prior to entering the service, he was engaged in various types of educational work. He was principal of Newton Grove High School for several years and then accepted work as Secretary to the Committee on Education in the U. S. House of Representatives.

Head Gamma Sigma Epsilon At State

The Publications Board held a smoker for staff members of all the publications on the campus last Thursday at 8:00 in the Y. M. C. A. Frank Jeter, president of the publications board, presided and introduced each editor and business manager of the student publications. Eighty journalists attended the smoker, the first meeting of the combined staffs this year.

The publications represented were THE TECHNICIAN, Agromech, Wataugan, The Agriculturist, Textile Forum, Southern Engineer, Pine-tum, and Radio Station WNCN.

Following a report from each of the publications, ice cream, cigarettes and cigars were distributed.

Available Housing

Information has been received that there are fifteen potential housing units available at the Raleigh-Durham airport. These housing units are for the use of the members of the college faculty and graduate students only. Any member of the faculty or graduate student interested in obtaining one of these housing units may get further information by calling Mr. Harding at Ext. 313 or 4572.

College Requests Nearly Eight Million Dollars For Expansion

Irish Playwright To Speak Here Nov. 21

Mr. Lennox Robinson, eminent Irish playwright and director of the Abbey Players of Dublin, will come to the State campus November 21 according to an announcement by Dr. L. E. Hinkle, chairman of the Public Lectures Committee. At the present time, Mr. Robinson is a guest of the Carolina Playmakers at Chapel Hill. When he released the announcement, Dr. Hinkle said that the Public Lectures Committee has made tentative plans for the best series of programs that has ever been presented for the State College student body.

The first and primary purpose of the committee is to make arrangements for programs that have educational as well as entertainment value. In keeping with this policy, the committee is co-sponsor with the English department and the Department of Vocational Education for a series of motion pictures, which portray classics from English literature. The first picture was presented October 15, when "Romeo and Juliet" was shown. The movie version of "Office of Men" will be shown in Pullen Hall, Thursday evening, November 14. There will be five other pictures presented during the winter and spring terms.

A special feature of the programs planned by the Public Lectures Committee will be the presentation of Raymond Cox, magician, and his troupe. This program will be given January 22. Mr. Cox is the author of several books about magic. There are four other entertainers in his troupe, each one of whom is an outstanding performer in his own right.

During the winter term, the committee will present five distinguished scientists, who will speak on important topics in their respective fields.

Two of these well known scientists are Dr. A. H. Sturdevant, professor of genetics, of the California Institute of Technology, who will speak January 17 on the "Evolution and Function of Genes," the other is Dr. Charles E. Kellogg, chief of Soil Survey and Head Soil Scientists, U. S. D. A., of Beltsville, Maryland, who will appear on February 14.

A complete list of the programs planned for the present year will be published in THE TECHNICIAN at a later date.

News Reports

To facilitate the collection of news reports and to keep the news in THE TECHNICIAN up to date, all organization reporters are requested to turn in any news copy to the TECHNICIAN office or to the Y. M. C. A. desk. News reports must be at the desk in the Y. M. C. A. or in the TECHNICIAN office by Tuesday evening at 10:00 p.m. to be published in the issue of the paper which comes off the press Friday. These reports should be typewritten, double spaced, or written legibly, and should be in an envelope marked "NEWS REPORT."

Methodist Bishop To Speak Here Sunday

Bishop Walter W. Peale, presiding bishop of the Richmond area of The Methodist Church, will be the guest speaker for the Wesley Foundation Fellowship Sunday evening, October 27. The Wesley Fellowship meeting is held regularly in Pullen Hall each Sunday at 7:00 p.m.

Each year the Wesley Foundation brings to the campus a number of outstanding speakers. The students of the campus are fortunate to have the opportunity to hear Bishop Peale when he returns to the campus for the first time in a number of years. He is a friend of the students and understands student problems and thinking.

During the war Bishop Peale served actively on the Commission on Chaplains and has had a first hand picture of the G. I. during the war. He is now visiting concerned with the G. I. as he returns to the campus.

Urgent Need For More Space And Equipment

By BEN LEMELICH
Recently Chancellor Harrelson went before the Budget Advisory Committee and presented to them a list of items with costs that State College needs for its expansion program for the coming year. The action taken by the Budget Committee and its recommendations will be submitted to the legislature when they meet in January 1947.

There are scattered throughout the campus in various offices maps of the proposed expansion of State College. Those of you who have seen the map remember red and green colored buildings. They are referred to as the red and green phase of expansion respectively. The map was constructed and drawn up after much consideration and study, and the trend of the proposed construction is to move the center of the campus toward Ag Hill in the direction of Alexander and Turlington Halls. The money that was asked for this year is to start on the "red" phase with certain modifications that came up since the map was drawn. The following is a condensation from the report that Chancellor Harrelson submitted. The items are listed in order of priority and the approximate expenditure of each.

Installation of new boilers in the power plant to take care of the present plant plus a fifty per cent expansion, $460,000.

A new cafeteria to be placed near Alexander and Turlington and will also serve the new dormitories that are and will be under construction, $393,000.

General Engineering laboratory to provide space for carrying out and to help some of the engineering courses to become accredited. The amount asked for will be shared Chem. Eng., Aero Eng., Ind. Eng. and their administration, $1,843,000.

A consolidation and the further equipping of labs and classrooms for teaching and research in the field of Agronomy, $920,000.

Annex to the Textile Building for expansion of research and housing of textile machinery, $676,000.

A plan for the Department to further experimentation and teaching, $280,000.

Two Barns to provide better segregation and larger expansion for teaching and research, $40,000.

Four Greenhouses to supplement the Agronomy Department.

I. R. C. Holds First Meeting Of The Year

The International Relations Club met Friday, October 18, for the purpose of electing officers for the school year. The officers elected were: Ira Helms, president; Emil Yachan, from Santiago, Chile, vice president; Hsiar Geylan, from Istanbul, Turkey, secretary-treasurer; and Edgar Orr, librarian.

The club plans an extensive year with meetings every other week. Speakers will be invited to bring topics of international affairs before the group. In the first meeting on October 11 Dr. Preston W. Edsel led the club in a discussion of American foreign policy. He reviewed the set-up of our State Department and the discussion period which always follows each address was devoted to a discussion of our present foreign policy—especially as regards our policy in the light of the criticism which arose following Mr. Henry Wallace's New York address.

Last year the club undertook several projects. The most outstanding of which was a state-wide I. R. C. conference. At last year's meeting, Bill Daniels, acting member of the State College I. R. C., was elected president of the state-wide organization which was set up as a result of the conference held at Meredith College. During summer school, joint sessions with the Meredith club were held; and the group undertook as a project the task of gathering technical books and engineering textbooks for shipment to Chinese colleges.

An invitation has been made to all who are interested in international affairs to come to the meetings and enter into the discussion. The membership of the club embraces a large number of countries; and, therefore, offers an excellent opportunity for students to discuss mutual world problems in a world-atmosphere. Ira Helms, elected president, expressed the hope that more students would take advantage of this opportunity.

The next meeting will be held next Friday night at 7 o'clock in the YMCA, and every other Friday night thereafter.

Newly elected officers of Gamma Sigma Epsilon, honorary chemical engineering society at N. C. State College, are, bottom row, left to right: Robert C. Hinkle of Lexington, president; William J. Daniel of Henderson, treasurer; Top Row: George Klopely of Raleigh, secretary, and Arthur A. Armstrong of Gastonia, vice president. Jackson F. Dunn of Charlotte, sergeant-at-arms, is not pictured.

Entered as second-class matter, February 10, 1920, at the post office at Raleigh, North Carolina, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Consolidation—A Mockery

The consolidation is a mockery because the Chapel Hill branch of the Greater University of North Carolina is offering an engineering degree and engineering courses to its students.

How the University at Chapel Hill can get by with this we do not know, but we can tell you that it is strictly against the spirit of cooperation which is behind the consolidation.

In 1931 the General Assembly made law an act which consolidated and merged the University of North Carolina, the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, and the North Carolina College for Women into "The University of North Carolina." The idea behind this action was that a merging of the three institutions would lessen the operational cost of all three schools by elimination of duplicating curricula. The General Assembly set up one Board of Trustees for the three branches, and upon their shoulders rested the responsibility of solving the many complex problems relating to consolidation.

The main problem to be solved was how and where the elimination would take place. In 1935, after years of careful study and consideration, the Board of Trustees approved the recommendations made by the President of the Greater University, Dr. Frank P. Graham. In part, these recommendations were:

"I.—Effective September 1935 no new registration in the school of engineering or for any curricula in the school of engineering of the University at Chapel Hill and no new registration in the school or for any curricula in the school of science and business at the State College of Agriculture and Engineering of the University at Raleigh.

"II.—Discontinuance of each of these schools and the curricula of each of these schools within three years."

Of course supporters and faculty members of Chapel Hill thought this operation would harm that branch of the University. We admit that the removal of most of the engineering from Chapel Hill may have harmed that school. We also admit that the removal of the school of science and business has hurt us. In fact the change has done us more harm than it has Chapel Hill. At the time State College gave up one of its strongest schools and in return received one of Chapel Hill's weakest.

This newspaper has not been able to learn under what authority the Chapel Hill institution offers an engineering degree, but according to the Board of Trustees, it has none.

The University of North Carolina Record—the General Catalogue makes no bones about offering a Master's degree in Sanitary Engineering. It is stated in black and white. The catalogue lists other engineering courses but rather disguises their names.

The catalogue does not call a B.S. degree in Public Health an engineering curriculum but lists essentially the same courses required in Civil Engineering (Sanitary Option) here at State. In an outline of the Public Health major offered at Chapel Hill the catalogue states, "This program of study is basic for those who wish to prepare for public health engineering, for a Master of Science in Sanitary Engineering, or a Master of Science in Public Health."

We also noted that a B.S. in Physics at Chapel Hill is practically the same as an electrical engineering degree at State and that their B.S. in Geology is essentially a geological engineering degree.

Ordinarily we would not raise a stink or an investigation into these obvious duplications of curricula, but we would point out that State College is operated under the authority of the same Board of Trustees as Chapel Hill and this institution certainly has no authority to grant an A.B. degree or a B.S. degree that corresponds to any curricula offered at any other branch of the Greater University. We would also point out that funds for operational expenses, faculty members, housing, and equipment are made available to each branch according to their capacity and number of degrees granted each year. When degrees in engineering are granted at Chapel Hill it is obvious to any layman that chances for securing funds for the school of engineering at State are lessened to a great degree.

The requests for funds made to the Advisory Budget Commission have already been sent in, and we would like the commission to investigate requests made by the University at Chapel Hill in so far as its requests for funds to operate and maintain a "department of engineering" are concerned and for salary to be paid to faculty members who are teaching technical courses which rightfully belong to the State College.

OPEN FORUM

Requests Telephones

October 22, 1946
Mr. E. A. Clement, District Mgr.
Southern Bell Telephone Co.
Raleigh, N. C.

Dear Mr. Clement:
Last December and January you very kindly had some additional telephones installed on the N. C. State College campus. Since that time the size of our student body has doubled so that we now have 490 students enrolled.

As you will see from the enclosed editorial from THE TECHNICIAN and letter from William K. Thornton, Vice President of Student Government, the students are anxious for more telephones.

The dormitories which need telephones the most are as follows:
Synne Hall, Basement and three stories housing 440 men, has two telephones, needs one on the 3rd floor where 128 students live.

Becton Hall, three stories and basement, housing 340 students, has a telephone on the 1st and one on the 2nd floor, needs one on the 3rd floor where 102 students live.

Bagwell Hall, three stories, housing 380 students, has one telephone on the 1st floor and one on the 2nd, but needs one on the 3rd floor where 130 students live.

Alexander Hall, three stories housing 400 students, has a telephone on the 1st floor and one on the 2nd floor, but needs one on the 3rd floor where 130 students live.

Yours truly,
Edward S. King,
General Secretary of Y.M.C.A.

Loyalty

To the Editor of THE TECHNICIAN

At the Wake Forest game, we had that quality called "Loyalty"—loyalty to school and team. However, there was another kind of loyalty that was not exhibited. I am speaking of the small number of people who stood up for the Southland's song—Dixie. People should stand up for it, not because

Saneness and Football

The big game is over now and normalcy has returned to the campus. Surely the 1946 game with Wake Forest will be registered as one of the greatest in our gridiron history. A perfect game played on a perfect day was made more enjoyable for all by our perfect host last Saturday, Wake Forest College. They really did look out for the State College students and we owe them our thanks for a great day at Wake Forest.

Since there is always the few around who are less disciplined than the large majority, it is not surprising that some childish acts were forthcoming before the game, at the game, and after the game. These acts are commonly called vandalism and are committed by the same childish group we have cited above. The incidents of which we write are common knowledge to all by now.

Our Memorial Tower was desecrated Friday night when some person of low mentality sloshed a mahogany stain on the beautiful memorial to the State College men who died in World War I. This act was by far the worst committed over the weekend of much excitement. We could easily overlook the goalpost episodes but we feel that the painting of the tower was an act deserving of punishment if the culprit could be located.

We certainly do not think that any student at Wake Forest could have done such an asinine trick. Rather we think that no college student would be that stupid. But past actions and conclusions would indicate that we are wrong when we say that college students are not sometimes vandals. We defend our position with the fact that acts such as staining the Tower could have been done by any person in this vicinity, not necessarily a student of Wake Forest; and with the thought that anyone committing this type of crime does not fall under the respected and honored title of college students, regardless of his registration claims.

The student body of State College, we believe, would not desire to see the traditional game with Wake Forest cancelled as was done to the Carolina-State game this year. This step might easily be taken, however, if this foolishness of painting rival campuses does not cease entirely. The game with Carolina was called off for this reason, supposedly, but steps are being taken to renew the series with UNC next year under the condition that no vandalism occur between schools. A similar experience with Wake Forest is not wanted.

Our part in seeing to it that these great football rivalries will continue is this. We must be alert to catch anyone entering our campus with malicious intent so that the guilty person may be punished. We must also discourage rashness on the part of our own students so that retaliation cannot be an excuse for any party. Keen rivalry must be continued but it should be tempered with respect for others and their property. Let's be sane about this football business and hope that Wake Forest, Carolina and all will follow our example.

SHARPS AND FLATS

By HOWIE KADEN

For the lovers of classical music, Columbia Masterworks have released the CONCERTO IN E-FLAT MAJOR FOR TWO PIANOS AND ORCHESTRA. The pianists are Vitya Vronsky and Victor Babin, with Dimitri Fyropoulos conducting the Robin Hood Dell Orchestra of Philadelphia.

This concerto is by far the best known and most frequently played of Mozart's compositions for two pianos and orchestra. It was composed in 1789 and performed by Mozart himself with Joseph Aurnhammer, a pianist friend, who in the course of its playing gave indication that he hoped to be more than a keyboard partner to the handsome young Mozart. The gay concerto, however, gives no trace of the young composer's amorous troubles with the ambitious Fraulein. The first movement is a vigorous Allegro, the second a beautiful tranquil Andante, and the third a lively Rondo, marked Allegro.

Vitya Vronsky and Victor Babin, in private life Mr. & Mrs. Babin, perform this gay and vigorous concerto with an emotional and rhythmic affinity which makes their music sing as one voice. Paul Weston will celebrate his third anniversary as musical director for Capitol Records and conductor of a thirty piece orchestra with the release of a new album, "Music for Memories" this month. This volume contains extraordinary Weston stylings of eight memorable tunes, including "Deep Purple," "You Go To My Head," "East of the Sun," "I'll Be Seem' You," "Love Locked Out," "Blue Moon," "Somebody Loves Me," and "All The Things You Are."

Weston's previous package of recordings, "Music For Dreaming," exceeded all expectations in sales. "Lush" is the adjective most often applied to Weston's arrangements and accompaniments, which are enthusiastically accepted by The Pied Pipers, Jo Stafford, Margaret Whiting, Andy Russell, and other Capitol Singers. Weston declines to perform sentimental and romantic tunes with complex and "cluttered" scores in which the original melodic line is twisted and unrecognizable. Instead, he seeks to emphasize the full richness and depth of beauty of modern American music.

We still fight the Civil War, but because it represents the cause for which our forefathers fought and died. A lost cause, but not so lost as to be forgotten; not so lost that we can't remember to pay respect and tribute to a great song and what it represents.

All States are now bound together to form our great America,

IN THEIR OWN BACK YARD

Down went the Devilish Deans. There must be a lot of unhappy Baptists who aren't able to preach their "glorious victories" near and far anymore, due to the uncomparable efforts of our very own Wolfpack. Please, Coach Feathers, we came to school so we could enjoy the better things of life. We just aren't going to live very long if we keep seeing such great games. Of course, touchdowns are great, but we liked that bruising block Bert Dressler laid on that poor ole Dean, and the smashing, headsup defensive play of Leslie Palmer, the come throughness of the fabulous Wagner, and "Crump" Ramsey's tackles. We also like the way Charlie Richkus sews up the games in the closing minutes. It is impossible to say all there is to say about the Wolfpack, but we like to try. To "Peahead" we offer our condolences and prophecies that he'll do better when he has the profits from "Camels" backing him. He'll have a hard time doing it with some of his present "sportsmen." We admit our vocabulary is tremendously limited, so immediately after the game we came home and pulled out our shiny, never before used, dictionary so we could dig up some good adjectives for Deacon right guard, 210 pound Ed Royston, who pulled that dirty, diabolical, dumbplay on 165 pound Howard Turner, just as he started rolling. As far as we are concerned, and we know thousands of State rooters will back us to the limit, "Fairplay" Royston is just an unmitigated quintessence of human slush and slime. For those adjectives we are deeply grateful to WEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE DICTIONARY, and heartily recommend its use to State College Students.

THE MAN WHO CALLS THE GAME

We would like to meet the person who detected State interfering with the pass receiver when Palmer intercepted Sacrificius pass in the third quarter. That's right—one of The Refs, only. And how about the man trying to call it a fourth down when it was only the third? Twice in a row, we have received the rough edge in the officiating. WE WANT A SQUARE DEAL.

Taylor Moser, terrific tackle, says that the team knows that they are being backed to the hilt by the student body. He says you can even hear groans coming from the stands when one of our boys gets banged up. You're right, Moser. You've got it, and you'll keep it. Those goal posts looked good going down, and the Deacon didn't look so hot sans hat and parasol. Old Doug House got so excited that he didn't know whether to say "FIGHT" or "HIT 'EM" on the end of one of our yells, so he just comes up with the compromise "FIT 'EM". Pretty sharp, Doug the lug.

A '44 CLUB

Many of the original class of '44 have mentioned the desirability of forming a club since practically all of them have returned to the campus. This corner thinks it's a good idea. Maybe we can meet once a month, or something like that, and rehash old times. Let us hear from you, and we'll get going.

NO HUMOR

We really feel much too good to go telling you any of the rotten jokes that have been associated with this paragraph, but John Curtis said he would quit reading the paper if we didn't come through with these master pieces of humor each and every week, so, not wanting to lose a subscriber, here goes. From Stuart Critcher comes the following scientific data: "The longest day of Adam's life was his first; No Eve." It's bad, I know, but you can find Critch on the second floor of Gold Dorn.

for which we are all thankful. Even so, the south is still suffering from the aftermath of the Civil War. It has been branded by many papers and digests as "the poor and ignorant south." I think that N. C. State is a great southern college and is located in a great portion of the nation. I, for one, was proud enough of my State and heritage to rise to my feet for the stirring notes of Dixie. It is not intended to put this song in the same class as our National Anthem, but rather to show the love of the southern people for their land. Let us show that we still have the fierce pride of the Old South in our blood—the blood that is to put the South back on its feet—the blood that will build a New South.

Q. How long is a second?
A. Sometimes it's 3 1/2 YEARS

One second is not always one-sixtieth of a minute—not in telephone mathematics. Suppose, for example, you find a new method that clips just one second from the time it takes to process a toll ticket. Then apply that saving throughout the Bell System where some 115,000,000 toll tickets are handled a month. The time saved every thirty days equals 3 1/2 years!

Important? From seemingly minor changes or savings frequently come the major improvements which mean better working conditions for telephone men and women and better telephone service for everyone.

In this industry, even long established methods of operation are never considered beyond improvement. For men with ideas and ability, that viewpoint is a stimulating challenge.

Veterans May Now Obtain Various Services At Guidance Center Here

New Office In 1911 Building Established Here With 3 Advisers

The Veterans Administration Guidance Center is located on the first floor of the north wing in Building 1911 on the State College campus. It was established here to serve veterans in general but particularly those residing in the Raleigh area and those attending State College.

The purpose of the Guidance Center is twofold: (1) to counsel and advise veterans under the provisions of Public Law 16, 78th Congress, and (2) to advise those who are in training, or eligible for training, under Public Law 346, 78th Congress, commonly known as the G.I. Bill of Rights.

There are more than four thousand veterans enrolled at State College under the Veterans Administration program. The greater part of this number are in training under Public Law 346.

The educational rights of veterans under Public Law 346 need to be clarified. Under this law, a veteran has the initial right of choosing his course and also his place of training provided: (1) it has been approved by the State Department of Education, and (2) it will accept him for training. This applies to on-the-job training facilities as well as to business schools, trade schools, colleges and universities.

A veteran, as long as he makes satisfactory progress, may continue the course of his choice. He may choose as many courses as he desires, related or unrelated, so long as he completes each one satisfactorily, up to and including all of his entitlement under Public Law 346, 78th Congress.

When a veteran wishes to change his course of study or institution, he must secure the approval of the Veterans Administration. When he wishes to change from institutional training to on-the-job training, or vice versa, he must have the approval of the Veterans Administration.

Should a veteran fail several courses and have to withdraw from college, he does not forfeit his right to further training under the G.I. Bill. It will be necessary for him to take appropriate tests to determine his fields of probable success and to limit his training to these determined general fields. If a veteran wishes to change from one field to another because of lack of interest or for other reasons, it will be necessary for him to take tests to determine whether or not he has aptitude in the desired field. These changes may be approved by the Veterans Administration Guidance Center on the State College campus.

Advisement procedure is available to all veterans who have been issued a Certificate of Eligibility and Entitlement. This is the form issued by the Veterans Administration and authorizes training for one year plus the number of years, months and days that the veteran was in the Service not to exceed forty-eight months.

The advisement procedure includes administration of appropriate tests to determine the fields of interest and aptitude. State College is under contract with the Veterans Administration to do the necessary testing and advising of veterans referred there by the Veterans Administration personnel at the Guidance Center. The testing and appraising is done by the Psychology Department on the main floor of Tompkins Hall.

All veterans under Public Law 16, 78th Congress, are required to have vocational advisement before they can be placed in training. The same service is available to veterans in training, or wishing training, under the G.I. Bill by their asking for it.

Veterans, who for good reason, are dissatisfied with their training, or feel that it would be to their advantage to be tested in order to determine whether or not they should request a change in training, may apply for advisement by going to Room 101, Building 1911, and asking to see a Vocational Adviser. W. R. Steininger, Evan R. Ray and T. L. Anthony are the Advisers at the Guidance Center. They are on duty from 8:30 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. Monday through Friday, and from 8:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. on Saturday.

Before going to the Guidance Center for advisement, the veteran should write a letter to the Veterans Administration stating that he desires advisement at the State College Guidance Center giving reasons for same. The letter need not be unduly detailed. He should sign the letter and give his C number. It should not be mailed to Winston-Salem, but should be carried in person to the Guidance Center. Every veteran should know his C number. It will be found on all communications received by the veteran from the Veterans Administration.

The service explained above is not only available to Raleigh and State College veterans, but to all veterans who have been issued a Certificate of Eligibility and En-

OPA Announces Top Prices For Rentals

Full information concerning top rent prices has been made available by the Raleigh OPA Rent Control office to any student or person renting living quarters in Wake County which includes Raleigh, Wake Forest, Cary, Wendell, Zebulon, Apex, and the county.

R. B. Lewis, Raleigh area Rent Control director, said that any person may telephone, write, or visit the OPA Rent Office at 713 Capital Club Building, Raleigh, for this information. When writing, include (1) your name and present address and (2) the name of your landlord.

"We can check the files quickly and give you this information. Students and others should not pay more than ceiling rents and we will be glad to tell them the ceiling rents so that they might know whether or not they are paying too much," Mr. Lewis stated.

Wallace Wade of Duke well remembers the day in 1931 when Coach Beattie Peathers of State College, then a player for Bob Neyland at Tennessee, grabbed a Duke pass and galloped 80 yards for a TD.

If they cannot visit the State College Guidance Center, they should write to the Veterans Administration, Nissen Building, Winston-Salem, N. C., and request vocational advisement. Soon thereafter they will be scheduled for an advisement interview at a Guidance Center, Regional Office or Sub-Regional Office.

WSSF To Open Drive On State Campus Soon

By JOE HOUSTON

The state-wide planning conference for the coming World Student Service Fund campaign was held at W. C. U. N. C. Greensboro, Saturday, October 12. Delegates were present from all the colleges throughout North Carolina. Those attending this conference from N. C. State were P. H. McDonald, George Harrell, Joe Houston, and Ira Helms. Some very informative talks were heard from foreign students who were benefited by the funds collected last year from numerous colleges throughout the United States, Canada, Europe, South America, and the European countries which were not hit too badly.

Leading the conference were Mr. W. J. Kitchen, executive secretary of WSSF in the United States, and Miss Judith Austin, Southern Regional secretary of WSSF. The World Student Service Fund is the one world student relief organization to assist in the readjustment of education in the war torn countries of Europe and Asia.

The center of relief activity this year will be in Eastern Europe (Czechoslovakia, Poland, Greece, Austria, and Hungary). It is hard to conceive the almost total destruction of school buildings and universities which the war has caused in these countries. Among the many pressing needs is to help as many as possible of the students who have contracted tuberculosis because of the privations endured in the concentration camps and resistance movements. The facilities for treatment of such cases are so limited that only those students who have a chance for survival can be taken. Because of insufficient funds to provide additional facilities, many students have died as a result of this dreaded disease.

Big Local Drive

This year, the drive must achieve higher goals than ever before if the hopeless situation in these countries is to be remedied. Plans are being formulated for the greatest drive in the history of State College on this campus. It is expected that the collection from this year's overwhelming Veteran student body will more than treble any previous figures.

The WSSF does not attempt to reconstruct buildings, but merely to aid as many students as possible. Much of the distribution is handled in cooperation with other world-wide relief organizations. Consequently, the administrative set up has been cut to the minimum to insure that every cent collected will be used to help a moped, strayed, and sick student. The majority of the workers are contributing their services free, in the belief that nothing could be more worthy than to lend a helping hand to those who are in distress. Certainly nothing can promote a closer friendship among the peoples of the world than such mutual understanding and assistance.

Palmer, Turner Lead Pack To 14-6 Triumph

Win Leaves State Undeclared, Untied In Four Games

N. C. State's Wolfpack remained the only major undefeated and untied team in the Southern Conference area by licking a previously undefeated and untied Wake Forest eleven in Deacontown last Saturday afternoon. The win boosted State's chances of remaining undefeated for the rest of the season.

It was the superb defensive play of fullback Fotsie Palmer that spirited the Pack to the victory. Palmer, sophomore from Cedar Grove, West Virginia, was a constant nemesis to the Deacs and to their dangerous passing attack.

Howard Turner led the State attack with his dead-eye tosses to ends George Blomquist and Paul Gibson. In the first half alone, Turner completed eight of nine passes. All-in-all, tailbacks Turner, Fletcher and Richkus completed twelve of twenty-one tosses for the afternoon.

For the third time in four games, the Wolfpack had to come from behind to score the triumph, as the Deacons opened the scoring on a 68 yard march in the opening period. Nick Sacrinty ran and passed the Deacons to their first score. After hitting Burdette Capps on the eight, Sacrinty and Brinkley carried the ball to the two on a couple of runs, and at this point, Brinkley carried the ball over for the first score of the game. However, Paul Gibson broke in fast to block the attempted conversion by Bo Sacrinty.

Then it was the Wolfpack's time to roll. Turner passed State from

Their own 27 straight down to the Wake Forest goal. The touchdown, which came on the first play of the second period, came on a 22 yard pass from Turner to Gibson. Jim Byler converted the extra point, and State led 7-6. A few minutes later, State drove to the Wake Forest 2, but the Deacon line held State without yielding a single yard.

The Deacons made a determined bid to overcome State's slim lead after intermission, but two successive fumbles inside the State 10 which the alert Pack line recovered held the Baptists from taking the lead.

In the waning minutes of the game, Sacrinty took to the air in a desperate move to score, but with a minute to go, Gwyn Fletcher intercepted a pass and raced to the Wake Forest 6 before being dropped. Charlie Richkus was then rushed in, but after three downs, the charging Wake Forest line had moved the ball back to the 16; but on fourth down, Richkus rifled a pass in the end zone to Bobby Courts who leaped high in the air to "steal" the ball from defenders Nick Sacrinty and Ernie Pechon. Once more, Jim Byler converted to clinch a State victory—the first over Wake Forest since 1938.

The big Wake Forest line played a commendable ball game, by hold-

Meet Fotsie Palmer:

Freshman Fullback Unsung Hero Of State Victories

By E. E. SHARPE

Here's to the Red, and here's to the White, here's to Palmer with plenty of fight. Sing of our alma mater true, but a little praise where praise is due.

Sure, we won the ball game Saturday at Wake Forest, (and how!) but let's turn the lime light on some of the boys that had a hand in this glorious victory.

Take Leslie H. Palmer, Jr., you remember the lad who kept snaggling those Deacon passes. (three, to be exact) Palmer, frequently called "Fotsie," is a freshman in Industrial Arts and hails from the town of Cedar Grove, W. Va. Having played in the games against Duke, Clemson, Davidson and Wake Forest, he admits the Deacs were the toughest.

This mild mannered, good natured West Virginian would hardly say a word when interviewed; but his wife proudly told of his many characteristics and experiences.

While only 22, he has been around quite a bit, having served 34 months with the 29th Infantry Division, of which 22 were spent overseas. Attaining the rank of 2nd Lt. he received the Purple Heart and the Silver Star for gallantry in action.

In high school Palmer played football and engaged in other sport activities, distinguishing himself from his classmates with his outstanding abilities. Before going into the service he attended the University of W. Va. holding down the position of blocking back.

Game To Feature VPI Homecoming; Kickoff Slated For 2:30

The N. C. State Wolfpack, with wins from Duke, Clemson, Davidson, and Wake Forest safely tucked away, begin three successive out of state engagements by tangling with the dangerous Virginia Tech Gobblers at Blacksburg. The game, which will be played tomorrow afternoon at 2:30, will feature the homecoming celebration for many VPI grads. The Wolfpack spoiled Wake Forest's homecoming celebration last Saturday afternoon, and will be favored to win from Coach Jimmy Kitts' squad tomorrow.

Nevertheless, the Gobblers have been a hot and cold team all season, and a hot streak tomorrow could well knock Coach Feathers' men from the ranks of the undefeated. The State coaching staff well remembers that on the same day their Wolfpack upset the Duke Blue Devils, Virginia Tech was battling Carolina's powerful Tar Heels to a 14-14 deadlock—the only mar on the Tar Heels' schedule to date.

The Carolina game was by far the best for the Techmen, though. Last week, they were licked by Maryland, 6-0. The VPI starting lineup is not yet certain, but there are a number of men who will definitely see a lot of action tomorrow afternoon. Backs as Jack Gallagher, Dick DeShazo, Harry Walton, and Bobby Webb, all tailbacks, will consistently turn in outstanding performances, and all are real triple-threat men, capable of doing everything well. Among the wingbacks, such men as Chip Collum, Ralph Beard, Charlie Forbes, or Paul Zender are capable of excellent playing, as are fullbacks Ray Beasley, Bobby Smith, and Floyd Bowles. In the persons of Dick McCoy and Ted Johnson, Tech has a pair of great blocking backs who are also fine runners.

In the line, there will be two potential All-American tackles, John (The Greek) Maskas, a senior, and Ross Orr, a sophomore. At guards there are such players as Jack Cooke, a freshman who plays guard like a senior, Bob Taylor, Nels Fuller, Coy Chambers, Horace Pearce, and Charlie Wilson. At the pivot spot there are Joe Hoffman, Tom Burns, Pat Denardo, and Pete Smith available for plenty of rough work.

Tech's captain this year, Elmer Wilson, will be one of the best ends to face the Wolfpack this season. The other probable starter at end will be between Jim Kroehling and R. E. Johnson.

The Wolfpack will be in top form for tomorrow afternoon's contest, with Gibson and Phillips the probable starters at ends; Moser and Ramey at tackles; Watts and John Wagoner at guards; and Saunders at the pivot spot. The choice for tailback will lie between Turner and Fletcher; Fotsie Palmer will be at fullback; Oscar Bosman on the wing; and Bob Bowby at blocking back.

The Wolfpack returns to the Sovereign State next week to engage VMI at Roanoke, and on November 9, Coach Feathers takes his squad to Nashville, Tennessee for a tilt with Vanderbilt. On November 16, Virginia will come to Raleigh for State's annual homecoming tilt.

State? Well, it's a long story which all adds up to the fact that he and coach Rich used to be rivals back home. He finds State, "a good school for those that want an education." His life long ambition is to be a coach. Next to sports, he likes bowling best for pastime.

Palmer is married and has one son almost 2 years old, the child being 13 months old before seeing his dad for the first time. Residing in a trailer here on the campus, the Palmers find living conditions (like so many other returning veterans) crowded.

Watch this boy in the future, he's going places; so lookout V. P. I. you are next on the Pack's list!

When asked last week if he thought the Gobblers would upset State, Coach Jimmy Kitts of VPI laughed and said, "I don't expect we'll bother you."

Dillon's Dallyings

There is a great possibility of Carolina and State getting together on the gridiron in the very near future, but the incidents which followed the State-Wake Forest game will certainly be of no aid in renewing the series. Such incidents as tearing down goal posts and stealing the ram and painting up each other's campuses were the reason for the University officials' frowning on the renewal of the series between the two units of the Greater University. Students at this school have seemed agreeable to forfeit all "horse play" in order to get back on the Carolina schedule, but need we remind you that the tearing down of the Wake Forest goal posts, although done with no harm in mind, may prove to President Graham and the other University officials that State College students are not yet "civilized" enough to allow the two respective football squads to meet on the gridiron.

Here and there . . . State's first basketball game is only five weeks off. On December 3, Cherry Point will meet the Red Terrors here. The entire schedule will be announced in the very near future . . . Coach Crawford's wrestling team will undertake the most difficult schedule of any previous grapplers at the institution. Nine matches have been carded (see last week's TECHNICIAN) with an additional match with Duke to be probably added . . . Apparently the "lightning," which Rock Brinkley referred to as having struck when State beat Duke, must have struck him in last week's game. The big Wake Forest fullback, who has a column in that school's weekly publication, fumbled three times when hit by the big State line . . . And congrats are also in order for the goal line stand made by the Deacons after State had advanced the ball to the 2 . . .

While we're on last week's game, it's a shame that the officials had to forget what down it was after moving to the opposite end of the field at the close of the third quarter . . .

We see where Carolina is rated No. 10 in the country this week. Our own Wolfpack is in 12th spot, and Duke holds the 13th place. Wonder if that number 13 will be lucky or unlucky for Duke. As you all know, they play the number 1 Army club this Saturday. Good luck, Blue Devils . . . It may also be observed that nary a team left on State's schedule even placed a mention in the National Poll which was released last Tuesday. This may or may not be a good indication . . .

Double cuts will not be observed here next Saturday to allow students to go to the State-VMU game at Roanoke. A train, leaving Raleigh at 7:00 on the morning of the game, will furnish transportation for all students who wish to go to the contest. Oh yeah, you do get single cuts for all classes, although band members are excused with no cuts—"Hey Major, I can beat the cymbals!"

Predictions

We again must go another week awaiting someone to win the three dollars which we have been trying to give away to some student or students who can correctly predict the final outcome of a State game. Last week, two students predicted the Deacons to win 14-6, but as you all know, State won by that score. A lot of guesses were close, such as 13-7, 13-6, and 14-7, but no one guessed it correctly. Try again this week.

Bill Cochrane in 23 Syme won the Varsity Theater tickets for the week. He missed only five games in last week's predictions. Remember, all predictions must be in at the Y desk by 12 noon Saturday.

Among the four regulars, Ray Revee came in first last week with only six mistakes. Charlie Daniel was second with seven, and yours truly missed on eight. Mr. Doak faltered with twelve miscues.

Here are this week's predictions.

A Good Prediction

During the half of the State-Clemson football game played two weeks ago at Clemson, South Carolina, Howard Maschmier of the WRAL announcing staff was interviewing a number of pressmen covering the game over a network of 16 North Carolina stations.

While talking with Joe Sherman, director of the Clemson College News Bureau, Maschmier asked Sherman if he would "go out on a limb" and pick the winner of the Southern Conference football title for 1946.

Mr. Sherman answered without hesitation, "Let's be frank about it and pick N. C. State.

Assistant N. C. State College Football Coach Carl (Butter) Anderson, 267 pounds of good nature, starred at tackle and end for Southern California's Trojans in the middle '30's.

Footsie Palmer is shown above as he is picking up a short gain through the Deacon line in last week's State-Wake Forest game which was played at Wake Forest. Nick Ogrovich (22) is closing in from the Deacon secondary. For his spectacular defensive play against the Deacons, Palmer was selected as the freshman of the week in Southern Conference circles. He is the second Wolfpack to receive this honor. State won last week's contest 14-6 before almost 25,000 fans at Groves Stadium in Wake Forest. The win last week was the first for the Wolfpack over the Deacons since 1938.

THE INTRAMURAL FRONT

By GEORGE HARRELL

With competition running high and a full week of fair weather, tag football swung into its second week of play, with each team becoming more and more the potential champs. Marked by strong defensive play, the games were more evenly matched. Now, on to the games to see how the games were won, who broke into the limelight, and what's in store for next week.

N. Watauga 13—Gold 0
North Watauga opened its grid season with a touchdown on the first play of the game. Mahone took the ball on the Gold 30 yard line, faded back and heaved a long pass to Brandley in the end zone for the first score of the game. The extra point was good and N. Watauga led 7-0. The rest of the game was played on even terms, except in the last quarter when Mahone again dropped back to pass for Watauga. This time his receiver was Nichols, who pulled in the 20 yard pass for the final score.

2nd Becton 6—1st Turlington 7
In one of the two one-point victories so far of the season, 1st Turlington emerged victor over 2nd Becton by the score of 7-6. In the first period, Hill intercepted a pass for the winners and raced for the score. The extra point was made by Sherill on a pass. In the fourth quarter, Becton scored on a pass by Hunt.

PIKA's 26—Kappa Sig 7
The PIKA's continued their winning streak by posting another one-sided victory. Again Holloman was the star, along with T. Jones for the PIKA's. In the first period, Holloman passed to Neal for the score. In the second period, T. Jones passed for 20 yards to Fennville for a touchdown. T. Jones forced a fumble on a touchdown in the third period. In the same period, Culbertson passed 20 yards to Kennison for the score and then to Kennison for the extra point for the Kappa Sig's only score. In the fourth quarter, Holloman again passed for a touchdown, this time to Bridger.

Swimming Meet

Professor Johnny Miller, head of intramurals at State has announced that the annual fraternity and dormitory swimming meets are scheduled for next week. On Monday night, the fraternity swimming meet will be held in the college pool in the basement of the gym beginning at 7:00. On the following evening, the dorms will hold a similar meet. The winners of both night's competition will swim in an all campus meet which is scheduled for Wednesday night at 7:00. A list of all entrants must be in Mr. Miller's office by noon of the day for the respective meets.

Trailwood 12—1st Syme 0
Early in the first period, Kelley of Trailwood ran 30 yards to score. Shortly afterward, Wilkerson scored on a blocked punt.

1st Alexander 8—1st Turlington 0
In the second quarter, Davis of Turlington fell on his own fumble in the end zone to give Alexander 2 points. In the third period, Krambles intercepted a pass and scored for Alexander.

Sigma Phi 7—Phi Kappa Phi 0
The only score of the game came in the first period after Morrow of Sigma Phi had blocked a punt. From then on Joyce took over and passed to Moss for the touchdown. Han-non passed to Morrow for the extra point. The rest of the game was played on an even keel.

Coach Anderson's "B" Squad -- Unsung Heroes

By LONNIE WEATHERS

While the Wolfpack has merrily gone about its way of disposing of each victim on its schedule, Coach Carl "Butter" Anderson has shrewdly molded a small group of "unsung heroes" into a battling force that has offered the variety opposition just short of that they have received under fire the following Saturday throughout the season.

The Jayvees, or "B" squad as they are commonly called, have proudly relinquished their sole reward, an opportunity to contest rivaling schools, in order that the variety might remain primed at all times for the opposition they might expect.

Support Varsity

The here-to-fore unclaimed members of the "B" team are subject to call by the varsity to "plug gaps" at all times. Should a couple of injuries befall the Wolfpack in one position, a member of the "B" squad would immediately be promoted to the heavier varsity.

Coach Anderson expressed belief today that Dick Johnson, recently elevated in order to understudy Leslie Palmer, could possibly have plunged the ball over from the two yard line against the Deacons last Saturday. Chuck Spencer and Bobby Edwards, tight end, are also standing by to service the ends, who were severely battered in the rugged encounter with the Deacons last week.

Devoting practically all of their time to contesting the first and second teams of the Wolfpack, the even smaller "B" squad has little or no time to develop plays of their own. Working from the Notre-Dame shift this week, which the Techs from V. P. I. are expected to use, they constantly vary their formation in accordance to that reportedly used by foes of the Wolfpack. Only a keen interest in the game and love for the school substantiates their efforts.

However, should the junior varsity fail to see action against neighboring schools, the eligibility of the entire squad will be preserved for the coming year. Freshman and Junior squads have always served as proving grounds for the Nation's gridiron greats.

May See Action

An anticipated schedule, arranging games at home for the weekends the Wolfpack is on the road, is in the making but is hampered currently by a comparatively small coaching staff of the school. Parallel to an unique scouting system of Coach Beattie Feshers, it is necessary for at least two members of the five-man coaching staff to be out of town every weekend on various scouting assignments. It is not definite, however, that no schedule will be arranged, but present indications are not in favor of any immediate games.

When the "Freshmen-Rule," permitting exclusive use of Frosh on first-year squads, is once again put into effect, the Jayvee squads will obviously be much stronger, depriving the varsities of some top-ranking material.

The Squad

Several men, including Jimmy Gibson, Bill Zavidney, and Bobby Edwards, have seen action on the main squad but are now in the seasoning process and may return to the varsity soon. Pam Hobbs, Raleigh lad, and Ted Dostanko, 200 pound tackle, also show signs of being able grid material.

Regardless of the action the squad sees under fire, too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the role the "B" team has played. When the orchids are passed around and State rings down the curtain on one of her most successful seasons in history, Coach Anderson and his boys will share undivided honors in every respect.

The squad lists: Chuck Spencer, Bobby Edwards, and Don Walston, ends; Pam Hobbs and Ted Dostanko, tackles; Bill Zavidney and Chuck Musser, guards; Marion Edwards and George Cherry, centers; and in the backfield, Corkey Webb, blocking back; Slick Williams, wingback; Jimmy Gibson, fullback; and Peeewe Upchurch, tailback.

Official Number Of Students Registered Placed At 4,902

They've got your number, and it's 4902!

No, that's NOT a good phone number or the answer to the tough one on last week's algebra test. But it is the answer to a few 64 dollar questions. It tells you why you have to stand in line for half an hour to eat, why you can't find a seat in the library at night, why you are living four to a room and sixty-four to a class, etc. etc.

Yes, the count is in and it breaks all records in all departments, with no exceptions. The final enrollment for N. C. State stands at 4902.

The School of Engineering heads the list with a total of 2361, the School of Agriculture has 946, while Textiles and Teacher Education have 737 and 115 respectively. Add to this 50 Special students and 13 Auditors, and it all comes to 4902.

Total enrollment by classes is as follows: Freshman—1979, Sophomores—1720, Juniors—448, Seniors—516, and 175 Graduate students. Three thousand, four hundred and five former students have returned to State College, with 1089 new Freshmen and 408 new transfers entering this term.

The range spreads all the way from one freshman majoring in Industrial Education to 765 majoring in Electrical Engineering. The Graduate School is also well represented. There are twenty-six graduate students in Experimental Statistics, twenty-five in Agronomy and eighteen in Agricultural Chemistry. Other departments are also filled with men (and women) seeking advanced degrees.

There it is, so before you gripe about anything, remember—there are 4901 others in the same boat. Everything possible is being done to remedy the situation brought about by this sudden influx of students. Naturally it can't all be done in a day. So in the meantime we'll have to grin and bear it, and the best way to start is to Say Hello to everyone, because to have a friend, you have to be a friend.

Aquanis Club

The semi-monthly meeting of the Aquanis Club, an organization of Catholic Students, will be held at the YMCA on Tuesday, October 29, at 7 p.m. All who are interested in joining are asked to be present.

Following the 9 o'clock Mass Sunday, Nov. 3, will be a Communion breakfast with His Excellency Bishop Vincent S. Waters as the principal speaker. All Catholic students are urged and invited to attend.

INTRAMURALS

Syme won over their brothers in the basement by the score of 6-0. The margin of victory came in the first quarter when Meares intercepted a pass and ran 30 yards for the score. The rest of the game was a see-saw battle.

2nd. Syme 7—Trailwood 6
In the other one-point victory so far, 3rd Syme dropped Trailwood into the defeated bracket. The whole game was exciting to the finish. In the second period, Trailwood scored first blood on a pass from Montague Turner. Syme came roaring back in the final period to score on a pass from Hartzog to Owen. Hartzog also passed to Owen for the winning point.

Next Week's Schedule
Because of the misunderstanding on the part of some managers it is requested that each manager go by the gym and check his game.

Lost

One golden wedding band lost Tuesday between Tompkins Hall and Withers Hall. Engraved inside the ring: "MRC to DFW". If found please return to the Y.M.C.A. Reward offered. (Ring belongs to David F. Wehnt of 139 Trailwood).

Circulation

The problem of circulation has been a very serious one this year. Alton Wilson and his staff have had to deliver with practically no information at all. There is no complete mailing list of all students; there is no office on the campus which has a complete list of mailing addresses. Consequently, the task which the circulation staff is doing is difficult.

Copies of the paper are placed in the dormitories each Friday. Off campus students may get their TECHNICIAN at the Y.M.C.A. or in the Student Supply Store. Every effort is being made to get a mailing list completed. Until this list is available, the student body is requested to "hold their horses".

No YMCA Meet

There will be no YMCA meeting Thursday night October 31, 1946. The regular meeting was cancelled so that students could attend one of the denominational Halloween parties which will be held that night. There will be a regular program on Thursday November 6.

Dairy Manufacturers To Attend Meet Here

A three-day dairy manufacturing conference is scheduled at State College, November 20-22, to acquaint processors with "the latest information in the technical phases of milk and ice cream processing," it was reported today by Edward W. Ruggles, director of the college Extension Division.

Scores of dairy manufacturers are expected to attend the meet from every corner of the State.

Ruggles said that the conference will appeal to dairy plant owners, managers and sanitarians. The meet will be conducted by the dairy manufacturing section of the college Department of Animal Industry, headed by Dr. J. H. Hilton.

The Woman's College asked for $6,000,000. That figure, plus our approximate $7,000,000 adds up to 25 million dollars. There are however, only 21 million dollars to split between the three schools. Some school's request is going to get slashed. The legislature simply does not have enough money to go around. One way to assure that we are not left out is to fight, politic and organize any way you see fit to influence the legislature not to cut our requested budget more than its proportional share. Let's see to it that this will be the first year in a long time that Carolina has not gotten a lions share of the appropriations.
