Student Legislature
(A Guest Editorial)

The recent news coming from Chapel Hill by way of The Daily Tar Heel makes a clarification of the Student Legislative Assembly situation desirable. Before we can intelligently outline the recent events, we should review some of the background.

The idea of having a Student Legislative Assembly was conceived by Prof. E. H. Paget of the State College English Department. Paget thought that the students of North Carolina gain much by participating in an assembly modeled after the state legislature and he contacted Secretary of State Thad Eure. Eure, it appears, was not too enthusiastic at first but agreed to help; and through his efforts the group obtained the use of the State Capitol for its first meeting in 1936.

Since that time, the legislature has met each year, an event made possible by the attendance and participation of a large number of schools, the energy of Paget, and the cooperation and help of Secretary of State Eure.

Last year was the ninth year that the Assembly has been held. During the preliminary joint sessions, Bobby Glenn of Shelby, a student at Carolina, introduced a motion to recognize the Negro Colleges of North Carolina on "a basis of equality," and eliminate "the Fascist system of one race ruling the other." The motion was promptly seconded and a spirited thirty-minute discussion followed. Jack Lackey finally moved that a joint session be held on the following Saturday morning to discuss and vote on the invitation.

Saturday morning a very heated three-hour discussion resulted in a 110-48 vote for inviting the Negroes to attend the Tenth Annual Assembly. After the vote was taken, Secretary of State Eure addressed a joint session in which he said among other things, "that the headlong, headstrong movement" might not be helpful to any group concerned. Mr. Eure also said that he knew of no State law which barred any race from attending meetings in the Capitol. Although it was not announced, it was generally implied that the State College organization which had been sponsoring the Assembly would not sponsor it the next year if the motion to invite the Negroes was passed. The Carolina delegates then said that it could be held in Chapel Hill if it could not be held in Raleigh, a development which apparently has come to pass.

However, the organizations which had previously sponsored the Assembly (Pi Kappa Delta, and the Forensic Squad) were going ahead on the assumption that it would still be possible to have the Assembly this year, despite the resignation of Professor Paget as faculty advisor of the Assembly, at the end of the summer term. The decision whether to sponsor was not and has not yet been officially made by Pi Kappa Delta.

The occasion for this article arose when it was learned that Carolina is planning to sponsor the Assembly after having received a letter from Prof. Paget stating that State College would not sponsor the Legislature this year. This development changes the wave length of the light thrown on the subject. It is not known exactly how far Carolina has gone with its plans to sponsor, consequently there will be some delay before the situation is cleared up.

It is felt by many State College men that it will be a serious detriment to the Assembly if it is held anywhere other than in the Capitol Building.

What are some of the corrections that need to be made in the opinions generally held about the Student Legislature?

(1) Was the resolution to invite Negroes something Carolina tried to push through by itself?

Although the bill was introduced by a Carolina student (apparently without "malicious forethought") and although a large number of speakers for the bill were from Carolina, the vote of 110-48 indicates that the resolution would have passed without the votes of the 55 delegates from Carolina. Also some of the Carolina students opposed the measure.

(2) Did State College oppose the measure?

Many State students voted against the measure, and many of the State students voted for the measure. The implication that State College as a unit voted solidly against the measure is not correct. State College had 52 delegates to the Assembly; but, because of a Faculty Council ruling on the number that could attend, it was impossible to have uninterrupted attendance as in former years. State had considered inviting Negro students before the 1945 assembly.

(3) What was the general feeling of the assembly towards the resolution?

Generally there appeared to be a feeling of approval toward the resolution to invite the Negro delegates, and towards improving the conditions in the South. The Assembly also was in favor of doing away with the "Jim Crow" laws in the state. The Federal government's stand on segregation on interstate travel bears out the trend along this line.

(4) What was the reaction of the Negro students?

They were enthusiastic about the passing of the resolutions against the "Jim Crow" laws, and also about the invitation to attend the 1946 Assembly. Letters from Shaw, A&T, Bennett and other schools were received at Carolina and State.

The writers wish to say that they have acted in all cases with malice toward none, have tried desperately to maintain open-mindedness; have entertained any and all suggestions; have solicited advice from competent persons, sometimes without success; have and will govern their thoughts and actions in the hope that the 1946 Assembly will be a success whatever the circumstances surrounding its meeting are.

The writers also believe that the Negro students of the state have the same moral right to attend a state legislative assembly as any other students, and for this reason it is commendable that there are many other students in North Carolina who share that belief. Let us not defeat the possibility of some good being done by arguing over the small details, but rather let us attempt to understand each other's stand, have reverence for the facts, seek and appropriate new facts, realize that human opinion is a mixture of truth and error, and realize that sincere and intelligent people are continually discovering new aspects of the larger truth which is progressively correcting errors and filling gaps in our thinking.

Russian Frankness Features
Historic New York Assembly

By IRA HELMS

NEW YORK — The United Nations General Assembly is in action this week. The opening sessions have taken a somewhat optimistic note following Russia's agreement to discuss the veto-power. The small-nation members have, of course, pointed to the fact that the veto-power can never be gotten rid of because of the veto power. However the United Kingdom delegates have pointed out that even the elimination of the veto would not solve as much as an attitude of mutual trust and cooperation. The discussions to be held in the General Assembly (the international town meeting) will be mostly procedural and will not necessarily result in a conflict of interests.

MOSCOW — Premier Stalin has given a great deal of encouragement in his recent press conference in which he answered some very pointed questions. He reiterated Soviet desire for peace and also stated that Russia will continue to cooperate with and in the UN. Although the recently approved Soviet budget carried a large appropriation for atomic research, Mr. Stalin stated that Russia does not at the present time have the atom bomb. This statement may relieve some of the suspicion of Russia. Earlier, Stalin had asserted his belief in the possibility of the coexistence of the two great systems—that of the Western capitalist world, and that of the Soviets.

ELECTIONS — There is some concern as to the probable outcome of the elections on November 5. Polls conducted by several magazines have almost conceded the House of Representatives to the GOP. The Senate will probably remain under Democratic control, but there is a big question on the possible results in at least 17 states. Irritation and a desire for a change are among the most apparent reasons for the expected GOP success. Also, a record-low in expected number of ballots to be cast, which further weakens the Democratic position.

BUSINESS — The low rumblings heard now may be warnings of a dull thud which many observers believe will come in 1946. The determining factor in the expected let-down will be strikes and walk-outs. Business men are showing caution even now, realizing full well that it was a mistaken notion to believe that demand for almost any product would be unlimited. Expansion projects are being revamped and in some cases cancelled. A let-down in 1947 is fully expected but is also expected to be relatively short-lived (lasting through 1947). Unemployment will no doubt return in some degree, and prices obviously will be forced down. Labor and the farmer are expected to bear the brunt. For GI college students, who live on a fixed stipend, the deflation will mean easier living.

MAGNETIC POLE — Following the Honolulu to Cairo flight by the "Pacusan Dreamboat" it has been determined that in the last 40 years the magnetic North pole has moved from the Boothia peninsula (north of Hudson bay) to McClintock Sound; a distance of over 200 miles.

ATOMIC RESEARCH — The scientists at Oak Ridge, Tenn. are now designing a power-producing pile. Present piles are kept comparatively cool, but power piles will be allowed to run at high temperatures. This heat will be used to heat a conventional boiler, producing high-pressure steam which it is hoped can be used to drive a steam turbine. Many radio-activity problems are yet to be solved.

About the Guest Editorial

The guest editorial appearing in this edition of THE TECHNICIAN was written at our request by three students who last year won national ranking as Direct Clash debaters and who were officers and leaders in the State College sponsored Student Legislature. We felt that these men had better knowledge of the facts surrounding the Student Legislature issue and we believe that they have fairly and accurately stated the facts in the matter.

Leaders on the campus and Pi Kappa Delta forensic fraternity have been making plans since the beginning of this term to stage the Legislature again. Appearance of articles in the Daily Tar Heel stating that State College would not sponsor this annual event came as a complete surprise to State College students. We do not feel that Professor Paget's letter to a Carolina student saying State College will not sponsor the Legislature this year was representative of student sentiment here.

The interest already shown by Carolina students is gratifying. May a tolerant and logical solution to existing difficulties be effected. The Student Legislature must go on.

A New Column Is Born

On the editorial page this week is a new column giving a digest of world news of the past week. This column will appear regularly and will be written by various students. In the world community of today we must be aware of what is taking place around us. No overseas veteran has to be told the oneness of this world. No modern college student who has any foresight at all can bury his nose in a text book and say, "To hell with the rest of the world!"

Certainly, this column will be tempered with personal opinions and observations of the writers. If you disagree with the writer or any TECHNICIAN writer, let us hear from you. Our duty as citizens and as students, our duty to fellow comrades left on foreign battlefields demands that we let the world know our stand on vital issues which affect each of us.

From This End Of The Line . . .

By EMMETT BRINGLE

In our humble opinion, Pansy Yokum is doing a lot of unnecessary worrying about the fate of Lena. Send her to Raleigh; When men are starving, they don't complain because the bread you offer them is stale. The only girls in this town who don't have dates are the ones who lock themselves indoors and draw the shades.

We noticed a strange odor in the basement of Tompkins Hall and innocently inquired as to the source. Someone informed us, from behind a clothespin, that Patton Publications had finally released the copy for a "Watauger" to the print shop. In spite of the delays that other campus publications have faced in printing, it is apparent that the printers will get this one out pretty soon in self-defense.

Guess it was on account of Hello Week but we were smiled upon by a crowd in the cafeteria the other day. On second thought, maybe it was because we tripped while carrying a tray upstairs. At any rate, the idea of Hello Week is splendid and merits fifty-two repetitions a year.

It would be interesting to note how many fingers and toes are swept up around the revolving door at the Y.M.C.A. in a week's time. We never jump into it around class time when it's turning briskly without speculating as to how many pieces we'll come out in.

Couldn't help wondering if Wake Forest's Mr. Brinkley had a band and a white steed waiting on him when he landed in Knoxville. A parachute jump into Shields-Walkins Field would have been even more sensational.

OPEN FORUM

A Blast At Barton

Dear Barton,
I have just finished your column in the present issue of THE TECHNICIAN, and if you don't mind a little of my opinion I'd like to say a thing or two about it. You claim to be the great sportsman by downing all of the things that W. F. did in the game, I grant you I didn't think a lot of their players in some of their actions either, but you had no more than gotten that out of your mouth when you came back with a laugh about the "Dead" losing his hat and W. F. losing his goal post. I may be wrong in my conception of fair play, but I was under the opinion that it was something that should go on in the stands as well as on the playing field. You can have your fun and rag the Forest about the game, but you will have to give them credit, they had a lot more sportsmen in their stands than we had in ours.
Sincerely yours,
BOB SIMMONS.

More About Alma Mater

To the Editor:
This letter is by way of being a compliment. I have sat, with thousands of other loyal State students, and watched one of the greatest of State's football teams march to victory over our bitterest rivals. But not once have I heard these thousands of students sing our school song as it should be sung. No criticism is intended, because there are

TOUGH—

We once made the statement in this corner that we would stick by Coach Beattie Feathers, no matter how many games he won or lost, and at least four thousand, nine hundred and two people have asked us what we are going to do if we ever lost a game. Well, we are just going to do some close sticking by, and say, "Tough luck, BIG TEAM. You're tops as far as we are concerned. You are our Wolfpack, and a great ball club, win or lose."

ROLLEO—

It has been a policy of this corner to try to cover things of general interest to all, but we would especially like to tell you about the Rolleo. In the past, it has been an event in which murdered Freshmen were the highlight. This time the Fresh did all the murdering. The Rolleo is the annual field day for the Forestry School. The four classes compete for top honors in everything from "bacca" spittin' for accuracy to the broad jump with boots on. The day of October 26 was indeed a dark, dull, drab day for The Seniors, who could manage only a close second. Who won't? The Freshmen!!!! Oh well, we told you they were a up and coming crew. Looks like they have already arrived. To Doug House and Henry Kaczynski we give our sincere congratulations for the best organized Rolleo we have ever witnessed.

MIDTERMS—

Tests, tests, tests. I walk from one class into fire. Seems like every class has a quiz of some sort lurking behind the door. It's getting so a guy can't get a decent snooze in any class any more. By the time you read this, Midterms will be history and sighs of relief, or surrender. We surely hope that all who were taking midterms for the first time buckled down, burned that midnight oil, and hit 'em hard. They are very important, not just for the grade, but many times that first batch of midterms will determine which way you will go—Home or back to Raleigh after Christmas.

CITY BUSES—

We need more buses on the State College run. We need them especially at noon and at four and five o'clock. Ole Phil Johnson says that anytime they compress his two hundred and forty round carcass into something resembling a walking stick, they need more buses. We don't mind standing, and we don't mind normal crowding, but when they open a window and request you to stick out a finger so they can get one more on—well, that's carrying it too far. A couple more buses would surely help matters a lot.

A BAD JOKE AND A SMART ONE—

Since we have had nothing more serious than a few threats on our life, we have decided to continue with the week's worst joke paragraph. From "Wild Bill" Ellis we hear of the girl who said wolves were like railroad trains. "Why," asks our innocent William. "Well," says our equally innocent heroine, "You like to hear the whistle, even if you don't want to go any place." And from Freshman Noel Sharp, wise beyond his years, comes the following, "Oh, You're not going to the Logger's Ball?? Well, no wonder you are flunking out of school. You're ignorant." Let's beat V. M. I. bad enough to last the whole state of Virginia a life time.

numerous reasons why it is not sung as it should be. The fact remains, however, and I propose that THE TECHNICIAN do something to remedy this shameful situation. Publish the words of the song, and call attention to the fact that the cheerleaders and band members (not to mention the cheering section) of the various rival schools must think us singularly disloyal because we do not sing in proportion to the way our boys play football.

Air Force Association Begins Forming Clubs

The Air Force Association, a new national organization for Army Air Force veterans and present members of the AAF headed by former Lt.-General Jimmy H. Doolittle, has begun to authorize the formation of charter campus squadrons throughout the country. It was announced by Willis S. Fitch, executive director, from Washington, D. C. headquarters to the Association.

Already, nucleus groups of 20 or more AAF vets, are cropping up on campuses in various sections. These campus groups are affiliated with state groups which are affiliated with national head quarters.

Membership in the Association is open to all men and women who have served in any branch of the Army Air Forces and additional information may be obtained by writing to the Air Force Association, 16603 K Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Dillon's Dallyings

Ever since State's recent victory over Wake Forest, several partisan Wake Forest sportscasters and newspaper writers have constantly been making excuses for the Deacon loss.

When sportscasters and newspaper writers start making excuses for losses, they're undoubtedly showing that they are partisan to a particular school.

You all know we are speaking of Wake Forest's own pride, Richard "Rock" Brinkley. It is true that his fumbles aided in State's very desiring 14-6 victory over Wake Forest.

"I find this column is awfully hard to write this week. I don't know whether it is because we lost or whether it is because of how we lost.

"Don't get the idea that I'm trying to claim a moral victory. That is something to which the Deacons have never had to resort.

Mr. Brinkley continues, "There is another thing that is worth commenting on. Certain newspapers are always ready to write pages upon pages about State's fighting spirit.

"Rock" goes on to mention the five plays which he thinks lost the game for Wake Forest.

(1) "When Brinkley missed the end on the extra point following the Deacons' touchdown."

(2) "When Gibson went in to pull down Turner's pass for the first State score, there were two defenders guarding him.

(3) "Brinkley's fumble on the State 9-yard line ended a drive that could have broken the back of the Wolfpack."

Brinkley goes on to say that two other Wake Forest fumbles also broke strong Deacon drives.

He concludes with, "When the State supporters took one of our goal posts back to Raleigh last Saturday, they didn't realize what they were starting."

I particularly like that phrase "One Deacon fan watched" because that's all they did. With the exception of one or two, the entire Deacon student body watched the State students take away their goal post.

In conclusion, let me say that Mr. Brinkley is indeed fortunate in having Peahead Walker as a coach. Not many coaches would have reinstated any player on their squad after the said player had quit.

Offering no excuses, we commend the fine game played by Virginia Tech in upsetting the Wolfpack last week.

Nevertheless, I expect the loss will do the "Pack a great deal of good, and I'm fully expecting to see them bounce back against VMI tomorrow at Roanoke.

Last week, yours truly once more led the prognosticators with six errors in the thirty-five games predicted.

Once again, no one guessed the final outcome of State's game, so the three dollars will go over for another week.

Cross Country Squad Opens Schedule With Marines Tomorrow

Coach Hines' cross-country team opens the season officially by meeting the Quantico Marines here in the track stadium, Saturday November 2 at 3:00.

The Quantico Marines, although losing in a meet with Carolina, are by no means to be underestimated.

Although about 60 men started training, Coach Hines has cut this number to about 30 speedsters.

The course Saturday will consist of 3 1/2 miles hill-and-dale country, in the track stadium.

The probable line-up for State in the Saturday meet will be as follows:

THE INTRAMURAL FRONT

By GEORGE HARRELL

Having reached the half-way mark, the tag football leagues have proved beyond a doubt that they have lived up to our expectations of clean, hard fought recreation.

Last week witnessed the elimination of six teams from the running for the championship in the dormitory leagues.

So far thirteen matches have been played in intramural tennis. In the dormitory bracket, N. Watauga beat the netmen from 1st. Bagwell, 1st. Becton won over Welch, 2nd. Syme won over S. Watauga, 3rd. Becton won over 3rd. Bagwell, 2nd. Alexander won over 3rd. Burlington, 2nd. Burlington won over 2nd. Bagwell, and 1st. Burlington won Trailwood No. 2.

The next matches will have to be completed by November 6 or the team that has players on the court in the gym will win by forfeit.

In the fraternity bracket, Sigma Phi Epsilon won over Lambda Chi Alpha, Pi Kappa Phi won over Delta Sigma Phi, Kappa Sigma won over Sigma Pi, Alpha Lambda Tau won over Sigma Alpha Mu, Sigma Nu won over Sigma Chi, and the PIKAs won over Kappa Alpha.

The next matches in the bracket are to be played by November 6 also. The schedule is posted at the gym.

ing the scoring in the first quarter with a 15 yard touchdown jaunt and passed to Jones for the extra point.

In the second period Sigma Pi came roaring back to score but failed in an attempt to make the extra point.

After a few forfeits earlier in the season due to misunderstandings on the part of a few managers, these same teams have come roaring back to show the world that they have the fight and spirit to stay in the race, regardless of a loss.

After forfeiting their first game because of a misunderstanding, 2nd. Bagwell came flashing back to show the campus they were still in the game.

Coach Case Prepares 19 Man Squad For Opening Contest

Coach Everett Case's courtmen, moving into their fifth consecutive week of training, tossed aside pre-season nimbleness and knuckled down to the task of applying the all-important fundamentals to the fastest game on record.

Coach Case shuffled his squad incessantly in an extensive effort to determine the smoothest-working combination available.

With the season opener against Cherry Point's highly-regarded Marines less than five weeks off, Coach Case declared himself pleased with the keen interest and enthusiasm shown and indicated some open fights were in the making for the starting berths.

Fourteen freshmen, who are expected to bear the brunt of the State attack, make up the nucleus of the team.

Interest centers around the development of the large number of mid-westerners on the squad who are essentially freshmen.

The Wolfpack should be in good condition for the game.

Could This Be True?

Kilroy Trampled To Death By Horde Of Co-eds Leaving Class Building

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 25.—(UP)—Kilroy, the GI war hero nobody ever saw, will be buried on the University of Minnesota campus at noon today.

An eight-piece brass band dressed in derby hats and tuxedos will play the funeral dirge.

The University's student newspaper reported that Kilroy died suddenly yesterday morning. Little was known of the phantom GI, but his name was familiar to every American soldier of World War II.

His name—written on troop cars and bombers and carved on buildings and restaurant tables in every part of the world—came to mean that the American soldier had arrived, and had the situation well in hand.

The walls of almost every GI barracks and quonset hut from Tokyo to Paris still bears his sad lament:

"Kilroy was here!"

Palbearers recruited from the University's 15,000 student veterans said his cremated remains would be buried under a tombstone: "Kilroy is here!"

The student newspaper reported that Kilroy had been taking classes under the GI Bill of Rights. He was trampled Tuesday under the saddle shoes of a horde of co-eds leaving a class building, it said, and died Thursday at 1 a. m. at University Hospital.

The paper had carried a picture of Kilroy the day before he died. He was swathed in bandages. Only his eyes were visible.

"Kilroy remained a phantom to the last," said one of the students.
