Modern Language Dept. Renders 354 Translations

French Documents Lead The List of Services

Three hundred and fifty-four translations of foreign documents were made by the translation service of the Department of Modern Languages at N. C. State College during the year ending November 1, 1946.

Forty-four graduate students received certificates of reading ability in foreign languages; according to a yearly report released yesterday by Dr. L. E. Hinkle, director of the service.

Of the translations, 110, including 90 letters and 20 scientific articles, were done by request. Twenty-one additional translations of scientific articles are now being done on specific requests. Twenty-six of the translations were requested by the United States Department of Agriculture, five by the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, one by Duke University, eight by State College, and one by Dr. Nicolai Beasonoff of the Children's Clinic at the University of Strasbourg, France.

One hundred and eighty-eight translation projects were in progress during the year, 76 in French, 55 in German, 54 in Spanish, and one each in Portuguese, Italian and Russian. In addition, 56 translations were edited and published, 32 in French, seven in German, 14 in Spanish, and one each in Portuguese and Italian.

Four hundred and fifty publications, containing 27 foreign countries, containing 2,600 articles, were received by the service, classified, and listed in the card index of the service.

Ninety-one persons cooperated in the work of the service during the year under the direction of Dr. Hinkle. Mrs. Ruth Hall, instructor in the Department of Modern Languages, and S. T. Ballenger, associate professor.

Clergyman Is Making Educational Survey

The Very Rev. Charles E. McAllister, dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist in Spokane, Wash., and member of the board of regents of Washington State College, has received a year's leave of absence and is at North Carolina State College today as one leg of a national survey of state colleges and universities.

The survey is being conducted under sponsorship of the Association of Governing Boards of State Universities and Allied Institutions of which Dean McAllister is president. Much of the future of public education may hinge on action recommended to state boards by the Association of Governing Boards in meeting the problems of record student enrollments.

Among the problems which Dean McAllister will discuss with trustees of State College and other state institutions are: the preservation of State control of State colleges and universities and the protection of higher education from political influences.

As a churchman, Dean McAllister has assumed a high place in the Episcopal Church, and has refused bishoprics in several cities to remain in Spokane.

Armistice Day

The State College R. O. T. C. unit will hold a brief Armistice Day ceremony during drill hour on Oak Field at noon Monday, Col. Sam Gibson, professor of military science and tactics, announced today.

The ceremony will honor students and faculty members at State College who died in World Wars I and II.

N. C. Civil Engineers To Hold Meet Tonight

Professor Willard F. Babcock, faculty advisor of the State College student branch of the American Society of Civil Engineers, announced Tuesday that the North Carolina section of the ASCE will hold a fall meeting at the Washington Duke Hotel in Durham tonight.

William M. Platt of Durham, director of the ASCE Founder Society, will deliver the principal address Friday morning at a session which will also be featured by the presentation of technical papers by Duke and State students.

Dr. Frank de Vyver, professor of economics at Duke University, as luncheon speaker will use the subject "Some Aspects of Present-day Labor Legislation."

In an afternoon session, Professor Robert E. Stienke of the State College engineering faculty will report on the recently concluded quarterly meeting of ASCE in Kansas City, Missouri.

Duke University students who will present technical papers are E. L. Jones, Jr., on the subject "Getting Material on the Job," and Harold Decker, on "Design of Eccentrically Loaded Circular Reinforced Concrete Column." Officers of the Duke student chapter of ASCE are: Decker, president; Addison T. McCarrick, vice president; and James T. Murf, secretary.

State student chapter officers are: Floyd Seay, president, and Irving Feldman, secretary.

T. F. Hickerson, professor of applied mathematics at the University of North Carolina, will present a paper on "A New Method of Determining Land Areas."

English Dept. To Show Movie At Pullen Hall

Under the sponsorship of the Public Lectures Committee, the English department will present its second in a series of educational movies next Thursday night, November 14, at Pullen Hall.

The movie, "Of Mice and Men," will start promptly at 8 o'clock. The starkly realistic story of farm laborers in California was adapted from the best-selling novel of the same name, written by John Steinbeck. The most interesting character is "Lennie," a moron, who has a morbid desire to handle things. This desire leads to the accidental murder of a girl who becomes frightened and resists.

The object of the series of movies is to interest students in reading.

Attention All Comedians: Stunt Night Is Next Friday

Enthusiasm is running high as the prospect of another Stunt Night approaches. Stunt Night has always been considered one of the highlights of campus activities. Everyone participates and everyone has fun.

In previous years as now, STUNT NIGHT has always been held on the Friday night preceding the Homecoming game, and the organization presenting the best skit receives a valuable prize. This year the prizes will be unusually good. What they are will not be announced until the winners are selected, but you can take our word for it; they will be worthwhile.

STUNT NIGHT is sponsored by Blue Key, national honorary fraternity. Many really funny acts have come down through the years, and next week should be no exception. One stunt in particular remains well remembered. It was presented by one of the freshmen dormitories and dealt with the way

Dormitory Rooms

All North Carolina new students who are now living off-campus and desire to move into a dormitory room should make application at the Dormitory Office (in the Warehouse) prior to November 10.

Attention Veterans!

Your subsistence check may be delayed for a few days, yet. E. S. Simpson, Training Officer for the veterans enrolled at State College, states that he has received a check since office recently that there will be a definite delay in subsistence checks for the month of October.

It is requested by him that the following general rules be observed. (1) Those veterans that have not received a check since enrolling for the fall term by Nov. 15, call by his office at Room 107, Building 1911, and steps will be taken to expedite the mailing of checks to them. (2) Those veterans that receive checks for September but fail to receive checks for October should call by his office on or after November 21. This procedure will enable him to serve the more needy and urgent cases first.

Veterans who marry after beginning their training under the G. I. Bill are reminded that their subsistence does not increase automatically. Definite steps must be taken, and it is only after these steps are taken that their subsistence will be increased. These steps include applying the VA with a certified copy of the public record of their marriage and an affidavit of marital status.

All veterans are requested to memorize their C-Numbers. It is just as important to do this as it is to memorize service or serial numbers while in the armed forces.

Notices!

LOST—Black Shaffer fountain pen on October 26 between Peele Hall and Pullen Hall. If found, please return to the Y. M. C. A. desk.

LOST—Jeweled PIKA fraternity pin. Initials on the back, H. B. M. Reward if returned to Hank Millman at Pika house, 1720 Hillsboro.

The tenth annual "Logger's Ball" will be held this coming Saturday night in Frank Thompson gymnasium from nine o'clock until midnight. The dance is sponsored each fall by the Forestry Club and is an open dance this year for the first time. The "Logger's Ball" has been one of the features of the fall social calendar in past years, and promises to be a "mighty good" dance this year.

Bill Ellis, chairman of the Forestry Club dance committee, said Wednesday that final plans for the dance had been complete and that the prospects for the "Logger's Ball" were splendid.

The gym will be decorated with streamers of forest green and white crepe paper. Stacks of pulpwood and pine trees, on the floor, and a large replica of the Forestry Club key, hung over the bandstand, will complete the decorations.

The music for the dance will be furnished by Al Millman and his band. Millman will play both sweet and fast music; he will play request selections at specified times during the night.

Sponsors for the dance are pictured elsewhere in the paper, but because of technical difficulties, four of the sponsors are not shown. All of the sponsors, along with their escorts, will be presented at the dance.

Tickets for the "Logger's Ball" are on sale in the forestry office, 303 Ricks Hall. Some members of the Forestry Club also have tickets. The tickets sell for $1.50, tax included, and are either a couple or a single person.

N. C. Baptist Hold Convention at Durham

Four hundred and thirty Baptist students from all corners of North Carolina convened at the First Baptist Church in Durham for their annual Convention on November 1-3. The keynote of the Convention was "To Live Is Christ."

In the absence of State B. S. U. President Dewey Hobbs, of Wake Forest College, Ed Smith, State College student and enlistment vice president, presided over the sessions. The varied program contained song and worship services, special music, a party, forums, and addresses and concluded with the worship services Sunday morning. Among the State College students attending were Ed Smith, Alton Wilson, Tommy Garrison, Dick Duncan, Bill Garrett, John Martin, Leonard Morgan, Linwood Edge, Leon Coulter, Gus Parker, Elwood Blockwell, Craig Stone, David Wright, and John Wright.

Vesper Services Will Be Held Here Daily

Beginning Monday November 11th daily vespers will be conducted in the conference room of the YMCA at 7:30 p. m. These services will be conducted Monday through Friday of each week under the joint sponsorship of the Baptist Student Union, Wesley Foundation, Canterbury Club, Westminster Fellowship and the YMCA.

These fifteen minute programs of worship will consist of scripture, prayers, music, poetry, and meditation. They will be open to every person on State College Campus, and it is felt that every student should find time to attend at least one of these services each week. The average student spends approximately eight hours each day "learning how to make a living"; so why not spend 15 minutes each day "learning to live."

Miss Betty Wagner will be in charge of these services for these services and she will be assisted by Eugene Jones.

Movies Begin Monday
Monday night, November 11th, at 7 p. m. the YMCA will begin a weekly showing of religious films. These films will be 16mm sound and will run from 20 minutes to one hour.

Everyone is invited to attend these showings each Monday night in the YMCA auditorium. The admission is free.

The film for Monday night, November 11th will be "Who Is My Neighbor?" based on the scripture from St. Luke 10: 25-37.

A Hill meeting will be held at the college YMCA next Sunday afternoon, November 10, at 2:15, for the election of officers and council.

Homecoming Plans Completed; Gala Festivities Mark Occasion

Doug House, president of Blue Key and chairman of the Homecoming Committee, has announced the completion of plans for the 1946 Homecoming which begins next Friday with a giant pep rally and is climaxed Saturday night with the annual Homecoming Dance.

The pep rally is the first to be broadcast this year and will be broadcast by Station WRAL and rebroadcast over that station at 8:15 the same night. The "Beat Virginia" rally will commence at 6:45 with the radio broadcast beginning at 7 o'clock.

Ray Reeve, sportscaster for WRAL will be on hand as master of ceremonies to interview Gus Tebell, Coach of the University of Virginia Cavaliers, and Beattie Feathers, the Wolfpack coach.

Cheerleaders of Bruce Beaman, Inc. will lead the yells and songs. The new "Wolf-monster" mascot will stalk onto Riddick Stadium during the rally to join in the spirited occasion. A fireworks display has been promised following the yell session.

Stunts by various and sundry groups on the campus and off the campus will be staged in Pullen Hall beginning at 8 o'clock in competition for prizes which, in the words of House, "will be excellent gifts, but I'm not able to disclose their nature right now."

Masculine Beauty Contest

Feature of stunt night Friday will be a masculine beauty contest. Meredith Peace, and Saint Mary's students will be on hand to aid in the judging. Contestants must submit names to Room 203, Watauga Hall, by six o'clock, Friday, November 15.

Dormitories and fraternities are expected to be busy all next week preparing for the decorations contest which has always been the highlight of Homecoming week. This year the Raleigh Civitan Club is offering a beautiful loving cup worth $125 which will be the permanent possession of the winning fraternity decorations. Athletic equipment for intramurals will be given to the winning fraternity by the Civitan Club and the college newspaper, THE TECHNICIAN.

The half-time program at the game will be featured by the recognition of the entire team of 1927, last conference champs of N. C. State. The "Jack McDowell" team will be special guests of the college for the week end and will be feted with a banquet on Friday night and a luncheon on Saturday.

Herb Gupton and his orchestra will furnish the music for the annual Homecoming Dance Saturday night in Frank Thompson Gym. The dance will be semi-formal and tickets may be secured from any member of the Monogram Club. Chick Doak, Jr., president of the club, reported that a special meeting of the Monogram Club will be held Thursday, November 14, to discuss final plans for the gala festivities.

Music Night

Wednesday night is music nite at the "Y". Next week, Kaden's Classics will include the score from "Spellbound" by Miklos Rozsa; Overture to "Die Fledermaus" by Richard Strauss; and "Waraw Concerto" by Adamek. The time is 7:30, in the north end of the YMCA.

Juniors Will Elect Officers November 14

President: Dave Sewall, Billy Hall, Bob Schmidt, Leonard Goldman, Don Lampke.

Vice-President: Harold Stinson, R. S. Baker, Willard Midgett, Henry Alexander.

Secretary: John Boyter, Atwood, Skinner, Irv Feldman, Jack Rhodes.

Treasurer: Grady Jones, John Mackie, Willis Moody, "Pete" Peterson.

Representatives to Athletic Council: J. D. Eans, Remus Smith, Bruce Beaman, Ed Saleeby. Juniors are urged to be present at this meeting. At the last meeting, scheduled to be held last Thursday, only 60 out of 447 Juniors attended.

Dr. Easley To Speak On Bible Here Tonight

Dr. John Allen Easley will speak on the "Formation of the Bible" November 8 and 15 at 6:15 p. m. in the Faculty Club room of the YMCA.

Dr. Easley, a native of South Carolina, is well qualified for this, having received his Doctor of Divinity degree at Furman University after extensive duty at Harvard, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Columbia University and Union Theological Seminary. He is now professor of Old Testament at Wake Forest College.

Dr. Easley will appear under the sponsorship of the Baptist Student Union. All students, faculty, and their wives are cordially invited to hear him.

G. E. Personnel Engineer Interviews Students Here

Mr. D. S. Roberts, personnel engineer from General Electric Company of Schenectady, New York, visited State College November 4th and 5th in order to interview engineering school seniors.

During his stay here he met 120 students, from whom he and the heads of departments will choose those who will be offered positions with General Electric. Mr. Roberts, when asked what type of person he was looking for, stated that his company was in need of people with selling and organizing ability, as well as people with technical ability.

At the start of his tour of 128 colleges, the company gave him a rough estimate of the number of engineers who could absorb. He said his decision as to the number of people hired would be based on the amount of talent available.

"Occasionally, I run into a bevy of brilliant students who will make excellent research men. Sometimes I meet nothing but personalities, but there is room in our organization for each type. The men who are high in technical knowledge usually are low in their ability to get along with people, while those who may not be so strong in technical knowledge rank high in their ability to meet the public. These men make good sales engineers."

Brown Announces Library Revisions

Mr. Harlen C. Brown, head librarian of the D. H. Hill Library has announced that, beginning Sunday, November 10, the circulation desk in the library will close every Sunday.

Mr. Brown stated that the difficulty of obtaining workers for Sunday duty had made this change necessary.

The newly-built reserve-book section across from the circulation desk will be open every day to enable students to use the reserve books in their study whenever they wish.

A sign will be placed in the library warning students that they should not plan to check out books from the library on Sundays. However, the library will give its usual service every other day, and any person who desires to browse or use the reserve books on Sundays is welcome to do so.

Mr. Brown also stated that he is planning to make extensive changes in the arrangement of the library. The indexes will be moved out of their present cramped quarters behind the reserve book section into the space known as the browsing room.

The reference books will also be put in this room. The Freshman Collection, now scattered throughout the library, will be gathered in one place. The books now in the browsing room will be placed on the shelves left empty by the reference books.

Mr. Brown plans eventually to locate the browsing room and its heavy stuffed furniture in the empty room on the second floor of the library.

Of the North Carolina State College students already working for G. E. Mr. Roberts said that, to the best of his knowledge, they were "quite satisfactory."

"The General Electric Company operates a training program which lasts about a year and a half," Mr. Roberts went on to explain. "During this time the novice engineer gets experience in each one of the G. E. plants, meets executives connected with each department, and can attend courses in subjects connected with his work in the evening. While he holds the status of 'trainee,' he gets $1.185 per hour. At the end of the training program he knows which department he wants to enter."

When asked about the future of women in industry, Mr. Roberts asserted that they had one strike against them in the feeling that "woman's place is in the home." His company is, however, very pleased with the women they have hired, and as examples he cited Alice Clark and Katherine Blodgett, renowned for her work on invisible glass. At the present time they have eight women on the training program and every one of them is doing as well as the men.

Mr. Roberts left Raleigh for Durham and will visit colleges in the Southeast before returning to Schenectady.

EDITORIALS

Greater University Needs "Shake-Down"

The Editorial Council of THE TECHNICIAN has attempted in recent weeks to find out what makes the Greater University of North Carolina "tick." (We should say "not tick" for that is much nearer the truth.) Our findings have not only shocked us but have caused us to label the Consolidated system as it is now operated and has been operated as scandalous and deplorable. Many more and stronger adjectives could be used.

Appearing in THE TECHNICIAN recently was an editorial pointing out the mockery of our consolidation with the University of Chapel Hill. This editorial covered awarding of degrees in Engineering at Chapel Hill that should be awarded only at State College, if the by-laws of the Greater University are to be adhered to. This violation of the principles of the Greater University is but one chapter of many which prove conclusively that (1) South building at Chapel Hill (home of the administration of the Greater University) needs a thorough housecleaning of its partisan, narrow-minded, "Duke-conscious" occupants; (2) the Greater University in its entirety must be inspected by an unbiased commission to determine its failures and weaknesses and to recommend either corrective measures or abolition of the Greater University system as now administered; and (3) that, if the system is to be retained, fair and proportionate distribution of funds must be continued (appropriations have been reasonably fair in recent years) and the systematic, possibly premeditated relegation of State College and the Woman's College to a "Junior College" status must be stopped.

So many past incidents of dirty dealing are on record that we strongly feel the need of a revised Greater University or none at all. In recent editions of this newspaper we shall point out the rottenness of the present system with the aim of effecting a better higher educational system for the people of North Carolina, one that will honestly serve their best interests.

This week we have chosen a little-publicized "Escheats Fund" as the subject of our lamentations. Section 7, Article IX, of the Constitution of North Carolina, says in part:

"... also, that all the property which has heretofore accrued to the State, or shall hereafter accrue, from escheats, unclaimed dividends, or distributive shares of the estates of deceased persons, shall be appropriated to the use of the University."

We further find in Section 1, Chapter II, Public Laws of North Carolina, 1931, the following:

"That the University of North Carolina, the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, and the North Carolina College for Women are hereby consolidated and merged into The University of North Carolina."

Although we have seen no figures on the present amount of this fund (if such a statement is available), we have been told that this fund should amount to several millions of dollars. The last report to the Board of Trustees on the Escheats Fund was around 1935. The committee of the Board controlling the fund has not reported since, leaving the administering of the sum to the Controller of the Greater University at Chapel Hill.

State College has received several loans from this fund, the largest of which was $35,000 for a payment on the Book Store in 1942. No part of the principle of the fund has been made available to either State or W. C. as an appropriation or as a gift. No one seems to know just what the fund is being used for except for the loans State has been able to obtain.

In order to bring everyone up-to-date on the Escheats Fund and to insure that the fund is being put to good use, the Board of Trustees should receive a report annually from the controlling committee which includes an accurate statement of the size and sources of the fund and the disposition of any part of the fund stated in detail. A clean-up of this shady issue will make the Greater University function more efficiently.

Gotta' Get Ready For Homecoming!

Homecoming next weekend should be one of all-time greatness if the plans of Blue Key, the Monogram Club, and Golden Chain are carried out. These organizations, led by Doug House, Homecoming chairman, and working with the Alumni Association and the Raleigh Civitan Club, have planned a rousing celebration in honor of the institution's Alumni. It is heartening and commendable to note the enthusiastic cooperation of the Civitan Club and other Raleigh citizens in this venture.

A great amount of work must be forthcoming next week to prepare dormitories and fraternities for the reception of the "old grads." Open house on Saturday means that mothers, wives, and sisters of State graduates and students may visit dormitories and fraternities. Crowded as we are, a little work on our rooms and houses will make them presentable, at least, to our friends and families.

Is Permanent Peace Possible?

"Veto Power" Threatens Harmony Of United Nations' Peace Talks

By IRA HELMS

ELECTIONS—By the time this paper is out the election will be over. Without making a prediction, this column stated last week that there was a possibility that the Republicans would be in control of the House of Representatives after Tuesday. At the time of this writing, it still seems that that is not only possible but probable.

NEW YORK—The most discouraging note to be heard in connection with the United Nations came Saturday when Argentine Delegate Jose Arce expressed his opposition to the United Nations. He said that the United Nations is a "puppet show" and that it is a "puppet show" of the United States. He said that the United Nations is a "puppet show" of the United States.

This power, vested in the Security Council and coupled with the veto power, makes a farce of the United Nations. It is a specific right of the General Assembly to investigate changes in the charter. Both of these dictatorial powers should be taken from the great powers. Australia, champion of small nations' rights, has proposed that the United Nations should be a "puppet show" of the United States.

NEW YORK—The Committee of Foreign Ministers is meeting now to draft final treaties for five axis satellites (Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary, and Finland). Three major issues represent the gravest difficulties, judging from the record of the Paris Conference. The most controversial issues are: (1) The nature of the international regime which is to govern Trieste. (2) The question of free traffic and trade on the Danube. (3) The reduction of some reparations demands.

In the first, Russia is committed to support her puppet state Yugoslavia, while the U. S. and Britain are against further communist moves west. In the second, Russia has countered by saying that if the Danube should be free then why not the Panama Canal, the Dardanelles, and other important waterways. In the third, the powers which were devastated are demanding reparations. Italy has already balked at reparations tentatively set at Paris.

However, during the opening days of the General Assembly, Russia has shown something of a conciliatory attitude which may be carried over into the Council of Foreign Ministers. The Council is expected to have these five treaties completed by November 20, at which time they will begin the difficult task of drafting a treaty for Germany. In the past, there has been keen rivalry for control of the dynamic German economic and social giant; so it is reasonable to expect basic differences in the policies of the great powers. However, many observers believe that Russia has seen the futility of her past unyielding stand and may be making sweeping changes in her tactics. At the present time, this trend is most apparent in the General Assembly.

FRANCO SPAIN—The Security Council has dropped the Spanish question from its agenda, therefore the General Assembly may take any action it desires. The nature of this action will probably be to isolate Spain and, certainly, to put diplomatic pressure on her. Economic pressure may also be applied. Franco, Spain is not to participate in any of the activities of the United Nations.

UNITED NATIONS BUDGET—The United States has opposed paying 50% of the proposed 1947 budget on the ground that it would seem to give the U. S. a monopolistic interest in the U. N. The budget, as proposed, came under fire from Russia. Particularly, Russia wants a 30 to 40% reduction in staff and a curtailment of some of the activities of the U. N. The projects for curtailment were the U. N. London office and plans for a worldwide public information system. This Council smells a rat in that last demand. Perhaps Russia doesn't want any United Nations literature circulating in Russia.

PERMANENT SITE FOR THE UNITED NATIONS—The U. S. has dropped its neutrality as regards a site for the UN and has asked the General Assembly to consider San Francisco or New York as permanent headquarters. Geneva has again been mentioned as a site, despite the ghosts of the League of Nations. Many have speculated as to what the U. S. reaction would be to establishing the UN outside the U. S. This column would like to say that surely we have learned that co-operation is the only way to peace; and, further, that there would probably be no diminution of U. S. participation in the UN were it not in the U. S.

Doings of the Campus Government

The student government of this week announced the list of the students elected to the Departmental Honor Committee. The list also includes the three members from each of the departments elected to the Executive Honor Committee.

The chairman also is a member of the Student Council.

OPEN FORUM

Suggests Alma Mater Be Taught in Classes

To the Editor:

In reading last week's TECHNICIAN, I was interested in John Down's article concerning our negligence in knowing our own Alma Mater. I fully agree that we should know something about the place that has done so much in forming our school spirit.

I appreciate the fact that our school song has been published several times this year, but for our Alma Mater to rate in popularity and beauty with the rest, I offer my suggestion.

The Freshman English professors should require their students to memorize this beautiful song written for us by A. M. Fountain, a professor here at State. Maybe the whole school, but at least the verse and first chorus.

This may not be in the regular run of affairs, but I honestly believe the students will appreciate it in the long run. Let's all back our school song by learning our Alma Mater.

Very truly yours,
CLAUDIOUS DOCKERY.

Telegrams and YMCA

To the Editor:

The YMCA handles numerous calls and telegrams daily for the students on and off the campus. Much time and effort is wasted when we send a messenger to a far away town to the address of our school on a student's card in our files only to find that he has moved and no one at his old address knows his new address. The YMCA is anxious to perform this service for the students but it is necessary that we have the cooperation of the students. All we ask is that they keep their correct address on their card in our files and to report promptly changes made. No student knows when he may receive an important message late at night when all other offices on campus are closed. If we cannot locate him at the address we have, it means that we are forced to delay delivering the message until the other college offices open the following morning.

The YMCA receives numerous calls each week for student labor. Most of these jobs consist of moving lawns, cutting hedges, general yard work, and house work. The present rate of pay runs from 50c to 75c per hour. Students interested in these jobs should leave their name, college address, and schedule of free hours on the YMCA desk.

A Shot at Simmons

Dear Simmons,

To me, your letter in last week's Technician stood out like a sore thumb. It seems to me that you have no conception of what fair play and good sportsmanship are. Not panning the Freshman Class, but how could you know what traditional rivalry and good sportsmanship are at State College when you haven't been around long enough to know what a slide rule is. If you had been here in 1941 when we took Carolina's goal posts in their own back yard, spirit would have been impressed on your mind.

SHARPS AND FLATS

By HOWIE KADEN

Popular music lovers who associate some of the best in swing with the Herman Herd will be pleased with the treatment Woody gives to two ballads in his release this week. Noted for his hot clarinet passages, Woody is equally great in the vocal department as an accompanist. "No, Don't Stop!" and "Heaven Knows" in his familiar blues style. The Herd's orchestrations make even the simplest ballad a fine musical treat. Note the rhythmic trombone solo passage in "No, Don't Stop!"

For music on the serious side, we have BRAHMS'S SONATA NO. 2 IN E-FLAT MAJOR, OPUS 120. The 2nd artists are Benny Goodman, clarinet, and Nadia Reisenberg, piano. This magnificent sonata is Brahms's own song in chamber music—the last piece of chamber music he ever wrote. It was composed only three years before Brahms's death, and reflects in its calm and its subdued grace the serenity of old age. The clarinet is an instrument uniquely endowed to voice such pensive moods and gray colors; and Benny Goodman's eloquent playing contributes to the grandeur of the work. Brahms wrote two clarinet sonatas for his good friend, Herr Muehlfeld, the eminent clarinetist of the Meiningen Orchestra; and this, the second work, was first performed at the castle of the sister of the Duke of Meiningen at Berchtesgaden on September 19th, 1894.

Besides his reputation as the King of Swing, Benny Goodman has earned considerable renown as an interpreter of clarinet chamber works. He made his debut as a "long-haired" musician in a performance of Mozart with the Coolidge Quartet six years ago. Goodman and the brilliant pianist, Nadia Reisenberg, are old friends, and their present offering represents a long-time wish on the part of both to record this beautiful sonata. It is one of the major works in the clarinet repertoire, and Mr. Goodman and Miss Reisenberg add new beauty to it in their magnificent collaboration. This presentation is on Columbia Masterworks.

Test Buggy

COMEBACK—

We are a lot happier and a lot easier to get along with this week than last. MY wee wifery is even talking to me once again. It is great to see Joe Welford come roaring back the way they did against VMI. That is true greatness. We are satisfied that the Virginians have been shown, and what their university will get when it comes to town will be enough to last them a century or so.

SOCIAL LIFE—

The future loggers will pitch their annual Logger's Ball Saturday night. All the Forestry boys are going to walk on their gal's toes instead of hobnobbing. Poor females. Anyway it's shaping up like a first class shindig, so come on out, it's open to all.

More dances will be held this term. Everyone should try to make at least one of them. If we are ever going to get anywhere as far as recreation goes, we are going to have to turn out to these affairs in large numbers, and let people know that we have just as much right to have good entertainment as Carolina, Duke or any other of the country clubs.

If anyone is looking for a good little band, they may be interested in Bill Allen's Band. You can contact Bill in Welch Dormitory.

SWEATIN' IT OUT—

About all of us are waiting for that first check. We meet the mailman every day with hope in our eyes. We don't know anyone who goes as far as Joe Cline though. Joe says, "Please, Mr. Postman, when will I get my dough?" The Postman says, "Don't know, son." Then Ole Joe drags him into his room, shines a light in his eyes and gives him the third degree. Joe's hungry.

At this time we would like to offer George Smith an orchid or something for saying something that all Vets felt. George was in the Shop-up the other day buying a pencil with his credit card. Another person happened to be buying something, and when the clerk asked if he wanted it punched off his card, this character answered, "Hell no, I'm no Veteran. This is coming out of MY pocket." Whereupon our hero, George Smith, got him told in this manner, "Buddy, you better be glad it didn't come out of your skin." Only George didn't say skin.

A NEED—

The other night lights were very dim in some of the dormitories. We don't know why. We just know they were off, and that a lot of guys had midterms the next day. Some sort of trouble shooting system should be set up for cases such as that. We are in the dark enough anyway.

JOKE—

Sombody is trying to make money on the worst joke this week. Pete Burns is trying to find a laundry who will buy his slogan, which is "Rock a dry baby." We saw Dave Franklin downtown the other day and he was muttering, "It's about time, it's about time." Dave was reading a sign that said, "Ladies ready-to-wear clothing." Let's give Vanderbilt a little of the same medicine that VMI got.

for years to come. Carolina's students fought back tooth and nail, but did Wake Forest? NO! They meekly stood by and watched their goal posts go down. This phase of spirit and tradition is older than you or I, Mr. Simmons, so who are you to say that it is wrong?

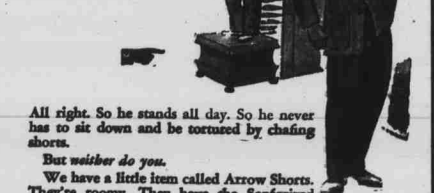

You talk of how much better Wake Forest's sportsmanship was than ours—did you notice Mr. Rock Brinkley's sick sheep excuses for their loss in every paper in the state? Or did you, too, notice that when Ogden Smith was injured in the game, the entire Wake Forest student section stood up and cheered? Or, too, did you observe the pretty brown paint on our Memorial

Tower that the Wake Forest students put there sometime following the game? Did they put it here during daylight hours? NO! They sneaked up during the early hours of morning, stole our goal posts, painted our most sacred possession, and left in the same cowardly way. They were too yellow to do either of these contemptible things in the open, and too weak-kneed to defend their own goal posts and school name. Is all this in a true spirit of sportsmanship and fair play? Answer this, Mr. Simmons!

By the way, did you transfer here from Wake Forest?

Very truly yours,
"Scipio" Jones

Dillon's Dallyings

Dear C. A.,

I don't know when to write, but at the moment all I can see is: "Dillon's Dallyings," so you are it.

What could we do to arrange a post-season game with the "upper crust" (Carolina). I've heard more people say they'll go if it could be arranged. I'm sure our team would like it, but not our opponents. We would even go to Chapel Hill for the game, however, the scenery around their stadium wouldn't be at its best, but what do we care—you know how they love that setting over there!

It seems to me if they can't play football with us, that basketball and everything else would be cancelled too. I just can't understand it.

My husband informed me we can't see any basketball games—too many students—I'll die if I can't go—and it can't even be arranged, I don't imagine.

Enjoy your column so much—

Sincerely,

KATHLEEN SHOFFNER.

ANSWER

Dear Mrs. Shoffner,

I think that your idea of a post season clash between State and Carolina is a fine one. The chances of the two schools playing a New Year's Day game are very slim; but they are not impossible. If Colonel Harrelson, Mr. Von Glahn, and other school officials could see other letters similar to yours, some action might be taken to have the two teams play a game.

I don't think a petition would be quite as effective as individual letters. I wish that each student that reads your letter would write a similar one stating that he or she would like to see a State-Carolina football game played on New Year's Day. I don't doubt that any stadium in North Carolina would be filled to see the proposed game.

I'm dumping the problem into the laps of each student. If each one who reads this column would write a similar letter to me as you did, I would personally see that each one would be turned over to the proper authorities, and I would demand an answer if the request were denied.

You've done your part; now let's see how many others will fall in line.

It's unfortunate that our gym will not hold but 4000 spectators for basketball games, but next year, we hope to have a new indoor coliseum to seat one and all.

Thank you again for your nice letter.

Sincerely,

C. A. Dillon

Here and there: Coach Williams "Doc" Newton and his ex-State stars up at Guilford College dropped their first game of the season last Friday night. Prior to the loss, the Quakers had won four games and had yielded but one touchdown. The AP poll rates State number 20, with Wake Forest 13 and Carolina 17. For the first time since I can remember, Duke failed to even get a mention. Gee, but it would be swell to see State and Carolina play a post-season game. Just think—Turner vs. Justice—a natural!

Our cheer leaders here at State should be commended for their fine spirit at all ball games and pep rallies. They are really doing their part to restore the school spirit which has been lacking since 1942. The Davidson WILDCAT, and the Wake Forest OLD GOLD AND BLACK had great praise for the spirit of the State student body shown at the State-Davidson and State-Wake Forest football games.

Duke and Carolina's basketball teams will play in Madison Square Gardens this year. Both teams will play NYU. And State's quint has been invited to play in the Orange Bowl basketball games. What a natural, Turner vs. Justice!

Predictions

Last week's games turned out to be a prognosticator's nightmare, what with all of the upsets. Charlie Daniel, Ray Reeve, and myself missed 12 each, and Mr. Doak made 14 errors. Charles Vinson of 330 Bagwell, though, missed only 5 to win the theater tickets for the week. Once again, no one guessed the score of the State ball game, so the three dollars goes over to another week. This week, we like State over Vandy, 13-0.

THE INTRAMURAL FRONT

By GEORGE HARRELL

This week is dedication week and the orchids go to the happily married men at Trailwood. Why is this column devoted specifically to Trailwood? It is not that they are better than the other teams, not because I am showing partiality, but because I believe those men deserve some recognition for their school spirit while burdened with many problems of their own and with living crowded in trailers.

During the summer term Trailwood won the softball crown. This term they tried to muster two tag football teams but managed to field only one. So far they have won one game and lost one, but you can expect them to be in the fight until the end. Trailwood entered one man in the swimming meet and this man, Wessel, won both events that he competed in. So far so good.

But out of a population of about 300, there is still a large potential of intramural athletes. With the influx of new residents and the problem of setting up a governing body of their own, besides settling domestic affairs, they haven't been able to devote much time for intramural planning. But now that most of these problems are ironed out and on the road to normality, you can expect to see more action from that part of the campus. As for you wives who expect—and need—your "hubbies" home in the afternoon to do their "homework," remember this slogan of the YMCA's over the country: "You Don't Quit Playing. Because You Grow Old, You Grow Old Because You Quit Playing."

Here's looking forward to more and better sports from Trailwood. Now let's take a look at the standings. In the three fraternity brackets the PIKA's, Sig. Epe, and Sigma Chi are on top with three wins each. In dorm bracket 1, 3rd Bagwell and Berry are pacing the play with three wins and no defeats. In dorm bracket 2, N. Watauga and S. Watauga are dominating the race, each with 2 wins and no defeats.

TAG FOOTBALL RESULTS

N. Watauga 15—3rd Syme 12
N. Watauga downed a stubborn Syme team by the score of 15-12, to remain undefeated thus far. Syme started the scoring in the first period on a pass from Roberts to Owens. The remainder of the first half was scoreless and close. Syme opened the second half by kicking off, but little did they expect to see Jones pull the ball in and race down the field for a touchdown, which he neatly did. Watauga scored again in the same period on a pass from Dick Mahone to Brantley. Mahone carried the ball over for the extra point. Cordell also blocked a Syme kick for a safety and two points. Syme fought back but could push over only one touchdown in the fourth quarter, again on a pass from Roberts to Owens.

Kappa Sigma 24—Pi Kappa Phi 9
By romping over Pi Kappa Phi 26-0, the Kappa Sigs won their first game of the season. Except for the second period, when both teams were evenly matched, the Kappa Sigs had complete control of the situation. In the first quarter Culberson passed 5 yards to Booker for a touchdown and to Cornell for the extra point. In the third period Rainey intercepted a pass and ran ten yards for a score. Culberson again uncorked two beautiful passes for touchdowns, both times to Booker. The first was for 40 yards and the second was for 35 yards. Kennison ran over for the extra point after the last score.

3rd Bagwell 2—1st Becton 0
3rd Bagwell remained in the select class of the undefeated by handing 1st Becton their first defeat of the season in the closest game of the week. With the exception of the second quarter, most of the playing was done in the middle of the field. The winning score was made by Rhodes, who broke through the Becton line to block a punt in the end zone. Hepler recovered the ball for a safety. Bagwell collected 7 first downs while Becton could get only 2.

Wolfpack Meets Vandy Tomorrow At Nashville

Coach Beattie Feathers tomorrow carries his fighting Wolfpack to the heart of the land where he achieved national recognition as a player to contest the power-laden Commodores from Vanderbilt, who are currently smarting under an impressive 19-0 win over the highly touted Auburn Tigers.

The outcome is a toss-up, but the Wolfpack, in its first out-of-the-conference game, will be in quest of its sixth win of the season. The Commodores have lost only to LSU and Kentucky, both being teams high in national standings.

Vandy as Strong as Wake State scouts Bob Suffridge and Carl Anderson warned the Wolves that "Vanderbilt's first team is every bit as good as Wake Forest," and the Commodores are expected to be the roughest hurdle for the Wolfpack in the home stretch. Feared most of all is the Commodores' line which last Saturday completely throttled the Auburn passing attack by repeatedly breaking through to toss the Auburn passers for losses. Singled out for recognition by the State scouts were John North, end, Fred Hamilton and Capt. Al Sutterfield, tackles, and Jimmy Allen, tailback. Allen was recently converted from end and emerged to lead Vanderbilt in their victory over Auburn, scoring two touchdowns himself and passing for the other.

This makes the third consecutive week a Big Four team has invaded the Southeastern Conference, Wake Forest and Carolina winning and losing to Tennessee, respectively.

Coach Feathers had nothing but praise for his team's performance against VMI last Saturday and singled several of his men for individual recognition. Followers of the Wolfpack saw shades of the Duke tussle as the line held VMI to a net of minus 18 yards rushing.

Gould In Action

Best news in the State camp is the return of Tom Gould to action and the development of George

Allen as a capable understudy of "Footsy" Palmer as fullback. Both of the men shared honors for their performance against VMI.

Cross Country Team Meets S. Carolina Here Tomorrow Morning

Coach Tom Hines' cross-country squad, victors over the Quantico Marines last Saturday, will engage the South Carolina harriers on the local course tomorrow morning beginning at 11:00. This will be the initial meet for Coach Cormick's Gamecocks.

Last Saturday afternoon, the State harriers, handicapped by a drizzling rain, downed the Quantico Marines 19-43. David Dubov of the State team led the field by finishing the three and one-half mile course in 19:57. He was followed by Cpl. Robert Lawson of the Marines.

Claude Davis, Jimmy Adams, Graham Thompson, and W. L. Kluge finished in that order to take third, fourth, fifth, and sixth places respectively for the Technen.

Following tomorrow's meet with the South Carolina harriers, Coach Hines' squad will meet Virginia here next Saturday and go to Chapel Hill on November 20 to run the Carolina team. On November 25, the annual Southern Conference meet will be run at Chapel Hill, and in this meet the State harriers will be competing with each member of the conference.
