GUSC Lists Qualifications For President

The Student Council of the Greater University of North Carolina Sunday afternoon drew up a statement of qualifications desirable in the next President of the Great University. The meeting was held in Graham Memorial at Chapel Hill with Miss Martha Fowler, of Woman's College, the newly-elected Chairman of the Council, presiding. A committee of three, Miss Sarah Denny of Woman's College, Bill Miller of Carolina, and Avery Brock of State College, drew up the statement, which, after changes and approval by the Council, is as follows:

"We, the Student Council of the Greater University of North Carolina, meeting on Sunday, April 10, do submit the following qualifications to our respective student bodies which we deem desirable in the selection of a President of the Greater University. We do this in hopes that it will stimulate discussion among our respective student bodies and assure us of consideration by the Governor and the Board of Trustees in the selection of the new President of the Greater University.

1. That he be an Educator, a man who understands, respects, and encourages free student thought. A man who believes Student Self Government one of the greatest means of developing citizenship, responsibility, and leadership essential to the welfare of our University, State, and Nation. A man who demands freedom of thought and action among faculty as well as students.
2. A man of character and great courage of convictions who stands on intellectual integrity necessary to face all situations objectively.
3. An Administrator aware of the problems peculiar to education who will look with equal interest upon the welfare and needs of the three schools. A man who can command the respect of our State Government in forwarding the needs of The Greater University.
4. A man whose knowledge and understanding will influence the affairs of our time.
5. A man who appreciates the problems and traditions peculiar to this region of the country and young enough to give many years of service.
6. A man whose life reflects religious zeal.

We hope that no means will be spared in searching the entire nation to secure the most outstanding man possible. There is no person more important to the welfare of our State than the man whose duty it is to educate the youth of our State through the realm of higher education.

The meeting was the third official meeting since the adoption of the Constitution of the Student Council. During the session, the group approved the design of a key for the Council, submitted by Bill English of State College. Among other business, the group authorized the Secretary, Miss Marilyn McCollum of Woman's College, to send a letter to Rep. Unstead with the resolution of the Council favoring a life-time seat on the Board of Trustees of the Greater University for Senator Graham.

Present from State College at the meeting were Fred Kendall, President of Campus Government; Ted Williamson, Vice-President of Campus Government; Jim Gardner, Secretary of Campus Government; Preston Andrews, Treasurer; Virgil Mims, President of Thirty and Three and Chairman of the State

Banquet Ends First Annual 'Greek Week'

BY GILBERT MAXWELL

More than five hundred fraternity men jammed the west side of the cafeteria Thursday night for the banquet that was the climax of Greek Week. The main address was delivered by guest speaker Kerr Craig Ramsey, Speaker of the House. Chancellor J. W. Harrelson and Hoyle Adams also spoke briefly.

The banquet came as an end to State College's first Greek Week. After three days of exchange luncheons and smokers, the fraternities all combined for the big affair. Lambda Chi Alpha president Art Handley, who was chairman of the Greek Week steering committee, seemed well pleased with the work done during the week. He was especially impressed with the spirit of friendship and good fellowship that existed during the three-day observance.

Greek Week opened Tuesday with exchange luncheons in all the chapters that have dining rooms. Tuesday night was chapter night, with discussions in the various frats pertaining to the history of the fraternity and State College, and a few pointers on fraternity life and its broader meaning. Quite a few faculty members and local alumni attended this phase of Greek Week.

On First Ballot

Hoyle Adams made history last night when he polled a majority of the ballots cast in the primary for President of Campus Government. This automatically elects Adams as the new President for next year, making a run-off with Mims unnecessary.

Vann Is President Dormitory Council

Alex Vann, of Becton dormitory, is the newly elected president of the Inter-Dormitory Council, according to Fred Kendall, President of Campus Government. The other officers are: Eugene Jeffords of Owen dormitory, vice president; Reuben Miller of Berry dorm, secretary; and Don Anderson of Berry dormitory, treasurer.

Head Agriculturist

Burwell Smith, a rising senior in Field Crops and Lawrence White, a rising senior in agricultural engineering were elected Editor and Business Manager respectively of the Agriculturist, at a meeting of the Ag Club Tuesday night.

Stunt Night Finals In Riddick Stadium

The stunt night finals between the social fraternities and the dormitories will be held on Friday, April 15, at 7:30 p.m. in Pullen Hall.

Gold, Syme, and Owen will represent the dormitories, and the fraternities will be represented by Sigma Phi Epsilon, Pi Kappa Alpha, and Delta Sigma Phi.

These stunts were presented during the preliminary night, and they were good. Since the contestants have had an opportunity to preview their stunts, the stunts should be even better this coming Friday night.

Due to the physical condition of Pullen Hall, existing regulations state that no standing will be allowed in the auditorium, so only those who secure a seat will be allowed to enter. Blue Key will be held responsible if anything happens, so they would appreciate your cooperation.

In addition, the Y.M.C.A. is fixing up a powder room for the ladies at the Y., so bring your date or wife to stunt night for some good entertainment.

To insure getting to see the stunts come early.

PiKA's Plan Big Doins' For This Week-End

The annual PiKA Ball, which for forty years has been an outstanding social event, will be presented Easter Monday night by the members of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity at State College. The weekend festivities will begin with an informal party Saturday afternoon, April 16, at the chapter house on Hillsboro Street for the members and their dates. Following the party, a banquet will be held in the main dining room of the S & W Cafeteria.

Sunday afternoon will be spent decorating the Frank Thompson Gymnasium for the dance, after which a picnic and cabin party will be held at Crabtree Creek State Park.

Members and their dates will entertain guests at an open house and buffet supper on Monday afternoon preceding the dance.

Forestry Club

We are sure that all who have been attending will agree that the Forestry Club has had some good programs. But, to maintain a high standard is hard work, especially if everyone does not support the club by attending meetings. Its our club, the Forestry school's only organized social function. So come on over this Tuesday night. Bring your dates, too. It is ladies night. The movie, "This is Mahogany" will prove worthwhile as well as the refreshments afterward. Also, the Furniture Option students are going to be our guests. So be at Withers 105 at 7:00 p.m.

The Ball on Monday evening will climax the weekend's activities. Dancing from 9:00 p.m. until 12:00 midnight will be to the music of Dean Hudson and his orchestra. Following the dance, a closed breakfast will be held at Teel's Supper Club.

Engineers Are Busy Selecting Queen

Each department within the School of Engineering was busy this week selecting a beauty queen who will compete for the title of Queen of the Engineers' Exposition. The Queen will be crowned at the grand opening ceremonies of the Exposition at Memorial Tower at noon April 29, and she will reign supreme for the whole Exposition and for the Saturday night St. Patrick's Dance.

The crowning ceremonies will be followed by the grand opening address which will be delivered by Dr. Clyde A. Erwin, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

It was announced this week that all engineering classes will be excused for the grand opening, and that each department will have a banner at the tower under which all men from that department are requested to gather. The Engineers Council is offering a prize of $20.00 to the department with the largest percentage attendance. This money can be used as the societies within the department see fit.

Final plans for the annual Engineers' Exposition were announced this week by the Mechanical, Electrical, Civil, and Aeronautical Engineering departments.

Among the many exhibits in the Mechanical Engineering department will be a liquid flash boil test without any apparent source of heat, a cut-away Ford chassis with the valves and pistons moving, a cam that will letter NCS, and a stress test by photoelasticity. There will also be an exhibit whereby people may press on the end of a heavy beam and see the deflection that they have set-up.

Two exhibits showing the process of a steam engine from the design board to the completed model will be shown. There will also be two gas engine exhibits depicting the same process. These student models were made in the mechanical engineering shops—which will hold open house during the exposition.

In addition, there will be exhibits on metallurgy, heating and air conditioning, and ball bearings. The latter is being furnished by New Departure Co., who used this bouncing ball exhibit at the New York World's Fair.

Radar, television, and FM will be the main attractions at the Electrical Engineering exhibit at the Exposition. At the E.E. department, you will be able to see downtown Raleigh through the use of Radar; you can see your voice on an electrical screen; and you can have your voice transmitted on a beam of light.

Man-made lightning, all types of radio sets, electrical instruments, and motors and generators will be on display. The students of this department will demonstrate and explain the principles of each exhibit.

The Civil Engineering exhibit will center around scale models of super highways, including clover-leaf intersections. A special feature will be the scale models of "before and after" of the intersection of U. S. Highway 64 and Western Boulevard, Raleigh. Another attraction will be the models of "before and after" for Raleigh-Durham Airport.

Demonstrations will be given by this department on the testing of small concrete beams and testing the properties of soils. Special emphasis will be placed on the demonstration of surveying equipment.

A model jet engine furnished by the Aeronautical Engineers, will open the Exposition with a roar at noon April 29. After the opening, the jet will be among the many displays in the Aeronautical department, which will include many model airplanes.

Wind tunnel and link trainer tests will be demonstrated and explained to the visitors by the students in this department.

Thrower Elected New President Of I.A.C.

April 5 the Industrial Arts Club and guest enjoyed a very interesting and educational lecture on and a demonstration of the uses of aluminum in school shops by Mr. Douglas B. Hobles, well known author and educational director for the Alcoa Aluminum Company.

In a short business meeting held before the demonstration and lecture, the following officers were elected for the year 1949-50: Robert Thrower, president; Warren Cartier, vice president; W. A. Cole, secretary; and D. C. Wise, treasurer.

Monogram Club Meeting Scheduled

A "smoker" will be held in the back of the Cafeteria at 7:30 on Thursday, April 21, 1949. All old members are asked to be present, especially those who have become inactive, and all men who are eligible to join the club are cordially invited.

Plans for the initiation banquet, the Big Four field day and the spring picnic will be discussed.

Undermining the Campus Government . . .

Last Thursday at noon the engineering students were scheduled to meet and select two men each from the Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman Classes to run for the position of representative to the Campus Government. There were less than 100 engineering students present. There were no freshmen present.

This is a typical example of some of the events that happen on our campus. It is a prime example of disinterest on the part of those persons responsible for seeing that the engineering students are present for their election of representatives. Thursday's meeting was the second time that the engineering students were to have met for this election. The first meeting was called off because of such a few number.

Investigation revealed that the person or persons in charge of conducting the election placed the notice of the election in the Blue Bulletin which came out immediately before each scheduled time. Then they evidently considered their job of publicity done. Not one out of 50 engineering students knew of either election—they hadn't had much chance to know of it. The majority of the students go for weeks at a time without ever reading a Blue Bulletin.

Is that all the concern that the persons responsible have for whether the students attend for something as important as the election of the men who will help form their Campus Government? Several of the students who saw the danger of not having the meeting publicized enough to draw those interested approached Fred Kendall to bring the matter up at last Tuesday's meeting. The idea was to have another re-election, this time with adequate publicity. The Council decided against it after the statement by the member from the Engineering Honor Committee, which in general was that the students just will not attend those meetings.

They certainly will not if they don't know about them.

It is admitted that Pullen Hall would not have been jammed, but many times the number present Thursday would have been there if the effort had been put forth to get them there. The freshmen, which are the liveliest group on the campus about elections and campus activities, did not have one member present—that is enough to convince anyone that SOMETHING was wrong. Their representatives were picked by men who knew a freshman in their fraternity or dormitory, without even a hint whether he was interested in being a representative.

The men who were selected to run may be the best in the three classes—we hope so—but it is common sense to expect that the more people know of such a meeting, the more will be present, and the more that are present, the better the candidates will be.

According to Hoyle

"Staff," Period . . .

Considering the limited amount of parking space available on the campus, we have always felt that more of it should be allocated to the faculty than to the students, on a percentage basis. As long as it seemed that the parking space was being divided as fairly as possible we did not hesitate to explain the situation to those students who have felt that they were being treated unfairly. But with practically the entire main campus now reserved for staff parking only, further justification of faculty needs is impossible.

The color orange is supposed to signify "caution," and it really is a caution the way the orange paint has been spread over this campus lately! We still marvel that they were able to get so much painted in the few short days we were away on vacation, and for once we are glad that some of our streets are unpaved, or they would doubtless be painted orange too, by now. Changing so many student parking areas to faculty parking has resulted in a decided overbalance in favor of the latter, since it is possible to find many unused spaces at various hours of the day.

Adding insult to injury, the recent designation of more of the Hillsboro Street space for one hour parking only has increased the hardship on students and faculty alike. The "one hour" areas seem to be only in the vicinity of our business district at the present time. It would indeed be ironic if our friendly merchants had had anything to do with that, since if it weren't for this institution they would have no reason to exist.

We believe that a readjustment of available space is now in order, because the students are certainly entitled to at least a little consideration, especially since staff areas now seem more than necessary to meet the demand. It has been a slow, relatively painless process, but the way students have been squeezed out is much like the way the camel in the old fable managed to get all the way into the Arab's tent, and immediately took it all for himself.

We believe the Traffic Committee should take another look at the situation to see if some changes can't be made. Furthermore, we think they should stop expecting the problem to solve itself when the veterans all leave or the enrollment drops off, because even before the war we never had too much space. Every community in this country is trying to find ways and means of increasing available parking space and creating more, and the State College community cannot be an exception. As we recall, even the plans for expansion under the Permanent Improvements Program do not provide for really adequate additional space. Let's plan for parking lots, as well as for buildings!

* * * * *

Hands Off . . .

At its Tuesday meeting, the Campus Government approved a motion to discipline anyone found molesting the legitimately placed posters of political candidates. The destruction is being wrought by a very few students of the smart-aleck type who obviously think they are being funny, and by even fewer partisans who think that that's the way to help their candidate. Both groups can be classified as vandals, since they are destroying property which does not belong to them. In some cases, they are even burning the posters off of the walls, thus doing more damage to the buildings than all the politicians put together.

Campaign propaganda may be an eyesore to some, and it messes up the campus for a couple of weeks, but it is a necessary evil, a part of our democratic processes. Be fair—give the candidates a chance, and don't meddle with posters unless you are authorized to do so. HBA

Unbeaten Netmen To Meet Duke and Deacs

The Big-4 will furnish two Southern Conference opponents for the rampaging Wolfpack tennis team next week. Duke will be in Raleigh Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, while State will meet Wake Forest Thursday afternoon in Deacon town.

The Wolfpack will be out for revenge in the match against the Dukesters, having dropped an 8-1 decision to them last Spring. Art Culbertson, played number one at that time took the only point for State.

However, this season Bill Weathers is at the number one slot with Art at number two, providing Coach Seeger with a potent one-two punch.

The Pack has undergone other changes also. Caldwell Ragan, playing number six last season, has shown much improvement since then and is playing number four at the present time.

Charlie Boney at number three, Pete Kohn at five, and Monty Montessanti at the sixth slot will give Coach Seeger power in every position for the encounter with the Blue Devils.

Pack Goes Against Deac Power Monday

BY JOHN LAMPE

Monday afternoon the baseballers of Coach Vic Sorrell will go against the power-laden Wake Forest Demon Deacons at Devereux Meadow. Game time is 3:30.

The game will go in the Big-4 League record books, since State has four more encounters with the men from Deacon town which will be counted in league play.

The likely starting chunker for the engagement will be Tootsie Holding, Irving Page, or Bob Smith. State's veteran pitcher, Ernie Johnson, will probably be held in reserve for the game with the Tar Heels on Saturday.

The infield should be in fine shape for the contest with hard hitting vet, Hank Utley back after being out with a pulled leg muscle. The rest of the infield will be up to par with the Pack's leading hitter Jack McComas, at short, Pinky Gardner at second, and Ned Council at the initial sack. Behind the plate will be Bill Fowler, one of the best catchers in the Big Four.

The outer pastures will be very capably handled by speedster Bill Evans in Center, Don Cheek in right, and Bill Mussack or Herb Livingston in left.

Tribes Scalps Hapless Pack Baseballers

BY PAT DOWNEY

The Wolfpack varsity nine was handed its fourth loss in a row last Friday by the William and Mary Indians. The Pack went into the present slump mid-way in the Michigan State game and has not yet been able to snap out of it.

The Indians scored four runs in the opening frame, and one more in the fifth off State's starting hurler Irwin Page, and they added seven more tallies in the last four innings off relief hurlers Bob Smith and Tootsie Holding.

Powerful hitting and four errors in the State infield made the victory an easy one for the Indians.

The high-light of the game was the curve ball pitching of William and Mary's Bob Gill. Gill held the Packers to a scattered eight hits and was credited with thirteen strike-outs.

Jack McComas was the only bright spot in the otherwise bleak State lineup.

William Fowler—Not so many years ago a bunch of young sandlottery from "Chittin Switch" to Sheboygan packed their respective suitcases and homemade lunches together and headed for that famous part of the world where ole Peter Stuyvesant bought a lump of rock for the unscrupulous price of $24.

At this point, the Indians invested the 24 bucks with Bill Veeck and settled in Cleveland, but to get back to "not so many years ago," a favorite pleasant young man now doing his best to awaken N. C. State's baseball squad from a coma that seems to be quite consistent, was one of the sandlottery to journey to the big town.

The purpose of the trip was to form a contest between those youths from various places in America and a group of youngsters from Brooklyn, N. Y. The struggle was called "Brooklyn against the World," and it was played at Ebbets Field, home of Charlie "you tell 'em, Leo" Flatbush.

Anyway, the itinerants lost, but Bill played like he always does to win. Baseball has been a strong factor in the life of the Charlotte slugger since he has been old enough to say "yer out".

The next scene takes place at Devereux Meadow, where our hero has done quite a bit of work for Vic Sorrell's struggling youths.

Formerly an outfielder, Bill has been switched to the backstop. Such a change is not easily made but Bill has fitted into it fairly well.

He is no Bill Dickey behind the plate, but Fowler's woodwork is too strong to be wasted on the bench.

Leave us hope some long distance raps will resound off Mr. Fowler's bat this season and that his teammates might supply a few echoes.

Ernie Johnson—A tall, quiet fellow with a knuckle ball that has spelled "Dutch Leonard" in upper class lettering to Southern Conference foes for the past two seasons has been having some difficulty finding himself this season.

Ernie Johnson, our knuckling friend, was quite an asset during 1946 (when State won the Southern Conference championship), 1947, and 1948. He and Curt Ramsey were the boys who could be depended upon by Coach Sorrell for regular starting assignments.

This season Ernie pitched fine ball against Cornell University for 4½ innings. However, the game was postponed due to rain and Johnson and the fans went home to the disappointment of all.

Ernie's home is in Mt. Gilead, N. C. We all hope that he finds the form that made him a threat in past seasons against opponents of the Wolfpack diamond squad.

Mural Memos

The familiar cry of "play ball" was heard all over the West Raleigh campus as softball activity continued at an accelerated pace.

The fraternity division featured five games. Pika easily downed Kappa Sig 9-1 behind the dependable hurling of Cramer. Thrower of Sigma Chi pitched a shutout over AGR, 10-0. McKim of Sigma Pi and Holland of Sigma Nu displayed a pitching duel for the fans with Sigma Pi finally winning 3-2.

The SPE's, led by the heavy stick work of Upchurch and Barnes, outlasted Pi Kappa Phi 11-10. The final fraternity game played saw PET defeat SAM 6-4.

Dormitory action for the week saw nine contests played. Hammond of 3rd Bagwell fired a 11-1 victory over 3rd Tucker. Trailwood blasted 1st Owen 13-0. Welsh trampled all over Basement Owen for a one-sided score of 12-2. Tesh of 1st Becton hurled a shutout victory over West Haven 10-0.

Heavy hitting by Sessions and Privette helped 2nd Becton trounce 2nd Syme 10-2. Basement Tucker toyed with 3rd Becton by the tune of 10-6. Basement Syme doubled 2nd Tucker by an 8-4 tally.

Second Turlington breezed past Watauga by a score of 11-4. Third Syme won by forfeit over 3rd Turlington (Get going up there).

Getting along to future doings in intra-murals, I'd like to mention the Big-4 Field Day coming up May 12. This day has been set aside by all members of the Bog-4 for intra-mural competition between the four schools in this region.

Volleyball, Handball, Table Tennis, Horseshoes, and Softball will be the events sponsored. If anyone desires to try out for Softball, he should contact Mr. Doak as soon as possible.

A badminton tournament will get underway come April 20. Other sports for this term include boxing, track, tennis, and softball. (Correction over last week).
