Track Squad Rapidly Rounding Into Shape

Stiff Workouts Every Afternoon Separating the Wheat From the Chaff

Hard workouts every afternoon 4 o'clock to 6:30 have dwindled our track squad down considerable, but still the number of men who are hard at work is a pleasing sight to those who are interested in the success of this year's team.

Coach Taylor's find of "Bill" Morris was truly a "godsend," for this young man easily shows his heels to any man on the squad in the dashes. Captain Blakeney is in much better form this year than he was last year, and is expected to set a new record in the state before the season is over.

One thing that had been worrying the coach and manager was the fact that Randolph was letting sweet milk get the better of him, and he suddenly awoke to the fact that he was about 15 pounds too heavy. But now this matter is soon to be settled, for Coach Taylor was struck with a brilliant idea. Perhaps the half-mile would help. Is it? Well, just ask "Randy."

Developments with the javelin are indeed pleasing, and, what had been expected to be our poorest event, will now turn out to be one of our strongest. Park and Crater are certainly doing well.

Our track meet with Carolina, which had been scheduled for Saturday the 1st of April, has been postponed on account of the condition of the track to Wednesday, April 26th.

The following is our track schedule for this year:

April 8—Elon, at Elon.
April 15—Davidson, at Davidson.
April 22—Trinity, at State.
April 26—Carolina, at State.
March 3 and 4—State Meet, at Trinity.
.....—South Atlantic Meet, at University of Virginia.

Congratulations to Meredith

On Saturday night, Meredith Playmakers put out a very creditable performance under the title of, "What Happened to Jones?" The plot was indeed interesting and the players acted their respective parts well.

State College was well represented in the audience and came away satisfied and pleased with the entire show.

Freshmen Plan to Burn Their Caps

A Big Celebration is Planned for Tonight on the Old Athletic Field

At 7 o'clock Friday night N. C. State College will celebrate on the old athletic field in a general pep meeting, accompanied by a huge bonfire. The freshmen will burn their caps and a custom will be thereby established which we hope will live on our campus.

The roll of the Freshman Class will be called and every freshman will be required to deposit the major portion of his cap. However, the white "F" of the cap may be retained as a souvenir. Every member of the Freshman Class is supposed to be on hand before 7 o'clock, and any absentees will be dealt with by the Court of Customs. Every freshman will bring a generous supply of wood for the bonfire.

The whole affair will be in charge of the Court of Customs. After the burning of the caps with due ceremony, talks will be given on baseball, track and Student Government.

It is hoped that every student of State College will be on hand to help make this occasion one of the memorable events in the college year. Let's turn out and keep the spirit of N. C. State alive.

State Loses First Game of Season

Furman Comes Out on Top in Opener; Loose Playing by State's Infield

State College opened the baseball season by losing to Furman of South Carolina, due to loose playing of the infield.

Curtis, on the mound for State, pitched an extra good game, and deserved to win, as he allowed only five safeties and struck out five men.

The game opened by "Babe" Ruth smashing out a two-bagger, but the visitors tightened up and he failed to score.

The scoring started in the second inning, when Curtis walked the first man up and Johnson threw wild to second, which put the runner on third. Curtis errored a bunt along with a boot by Redfern, allowing the first score of the game. State scored twice in the same inning, when Red-

Student Government Election

The Biggest Event of Our College Year to Take Place Saturday

Next Saturday, April 1, we are scheduled for a double victory: a baseball game and the election of Student Government officers for next year. This will be a busy day, but a joyous one. All of these events are startling proof of the wonderful growth of the Red and White.

On next Saturday, the day of the election, the polls will be open all day, from 7 a. m. until 6 p. m. The list of men nominated for the various positions is posted on all bulletin boards. Look the list over carefully and pick your men for the various offices. Let your inner devotion and loyalty to State guide you in your choice of who shall be directors of our college government. Don't forget—put a big circle on your calendar around the date, "April 1." We must win the baseball game and the Student Government election. Don't forget your part, don't forget your vote.

In one short year, Student Government has proved its inestimable worth. The general attitude has entirely changed. I could name a number of things that have resulted from the new free spirit, which could never have been accomplished by mere college authority, military regime, or by force on the part of a student class or section.

In the years to come the election of Student Government officers will be one of the biggest events of the spring term. The day of the election should be and no doubt will be an annual college holiday. It is surely a day that is worthy of being made a "big occasion." What Student Government will mean to the future progress of our college is more than any man can predict.

Student Government is one of the youngest, but one of the most important elements in student life at North Carolina State College.

There is very little hokus-pokus, or very little doubt as to the value of the often overworked and often misconstrued college spirit. Some have an idea that college spirit is "a something" that the college owns as a matter of private property. Another conception is that college spirit is put on as a uniform, as soon as one becomes a member of the student

Leazar Wins Senior Inter-Society Debate

First Public Debate Proves to Be Successful; To Be An Annual Event

On Friday night, March 16, the annual Senior debate between the Leazar and Pullen societies was held. The question debated was, "Resolved, That the Philippines should be granted their independence." Messrs. C. R. Barbour and L. R. Harrill of the Leazar Society able upheld the negative, while Messrs. L. J. Jordan and C. W. Pegram of the Pullen Society upheld the affirmative.

Judge Clark, the Rev. Mr. Ellis and R. A. McMillan acted as judges for the debate. The decision as announced by Judge Clark was a victory for the Leazar representatives. And he said, "If the best speaker was to be announced, that there was no doubt as to Mr. C. R. Barbour holding the title."

This was the first inter-society debate to be made a public affair in several years, and we are pleased with the successful outcome of this one. At the close Dr. Riddick expressed his gratitude of the fact that the debate had been so ably discussed, and that he was desirous of having this debate one of the big events of each year. We assure Dr. Riddick that he has voiced the exact sentiment of the societies, as it is their aim to give the literary societies a more prominent place at N. C. State.

The preliminary for the Sophomore inter-society debate was held March 24. Messrs. W. E. Bridges and R. H. Scott were chosen to represent Leazar in this debate. These and they are sure of giving the Pullen men something to think about on Friday night, March 7th.

President Riddick Addresses M. E. Society

The M. E. Society had a very interesting and helpful meeting March 14, 1922. The program consisted of speeches by the faculty.

Dr. W. C. Riddick spoke on "The Objects and Principles of Engineering Societies." Prof. D. B. Worth spoke on "The History, Organization and Functioning of the A. S. M. E." And Prof. L. L. Vaughan gave the society some suggestions as to the Mechanical Engineering Show which the society intends to have in May.

"Nature is calling." So are the bleachers down on Riddick field.

Those small orange-pink cards—otherwise baseball tickets—look very promising indeed to lovers of the national sport.

We are going to suggest another reason for short skirts. They are probably an advantage when it comes to running for office.

We have decided not to run a basketball special, as we had planned. We could let you know why, but we wish to keep the information within The Technician office.

When one of our Agricultural students told us that he had been observing some prize-winning calves we began to wonder if he had been to a fair or whether he had been standing down on Fayetteville Street.

OUR LEADERS AGAIN

A few weeks ago we were discussing what should constitute the qualifications of our student leaders for the next year. We wish to continue the discussion here by emphasizing some additional qualifications, the chief among which should be character. No institution can hope to live without character, and if we wish to cut the throat of Student Government we can do it in no better way than by selecting leaders without character. Bartol says, "Character is the diamond that scratches every other stone." And if we are to progress it must be at the hand of leaders who have this priceless gem of character. Before considering a candidate, let's satisfy ourselves that he is thoroughly grounded upon the principles of character, and we shall have taken the most important step in our selection of an important office.

It need hardly be mentioned that any important student office should be filled by one having executive ability. This qualification will vary in importance with the office itself, so let's fit the proper student to the proper office. Here, again, is a place where we can each one display tact and a keen sense of judgment in our support of a candidate.

As a final qualification, we should be sure that the candidate will be willing to work at the job he is given. It would seem that some offices are accepted because of the honor that it attached to them, which is nothing short of a dastardly thing to do. We don't like to mention it, but there has been an altogether too decided a tendency to shirk one's duty in filling an office entrusted to him by his fellow-students. So a very desirable characteristic of an officeholder is a willingness to work, and such a characteristic might compensate in part for a deficiency in other desirable qualifications.

Perhaps the best way to size up a man as to his various qualifications is to determine his attitude in the past toward different campus activities. We can get a pretty good idea as to what we may expect from a man by finding out what he has already accomplished. At any rate, let us not forget that these are important days in which we are living and that we have some important offices to be filled. So, Talk, Think, and, when the time comes, Act.

Do You Really Want a Greater State College?

Fellow students, if you will kindly permit me, I shall say a few words about some things which vitally concern the progress and welfare of our institution. You know, and I know, that this our beloved college is not just what it might be; nor what we hope some day to have it be. We have adopted as our college slogan, "A Greater State College," but now honestly, fellows, do we always so conduct ourselves as to have a reasonable assurance that some sweet day in the near future this will be a greater State College?

There are a number of things that have taken place on our campus from time to time which have had an undermining effect upon our rather good foundation for a greater college. You know what these things have been, and so I won't attempt to list or enumerate them. But there are two specific things that I wish to call attention to. The first of these was, perhaps, done through thoughtlessness; but its results were nevertheless effective, so far as inconveniencing the college was concerned. The thing to which I refer is the hole shot through the water tank and causing the loss of considerable water. The other thing I have in mind was not done through thoughtlessness or indifference, but through disregard for principle and ignorance, a most unfortunate combination, and if allowed much headway will add seriously to the detriment of our college. And, fellows, I can see only one way to stop such procedures, and that is for the better element of this college to stand firmly against such conduct. It may cause some of us to lose some popularity among the indecent element of our college, but what do we care about popularity when duty and the welfare of our college is at stake?

I tell you, fellows, the only way to have a "Greater State College" is to want it bad enough to make some sacrifice for it. It will not only necessitate the doing of our duties in the classroom and on the athletic field, but we have got to go deeper than that and live clean lives. Are you interested enough in your college to make your life count for clean living and good conduct upon this campus? If so, let's do it—what do you say?

I wonder how many of us are interested enough in a Greater State College to meet in a group every morning before beginning the day's work, to ask God's richest blessings upon our student body and upon every phase of our college activities. Well, I am glad to say that some among us are doing this every morning, in addition to going to chapel. Then these fellows are backing these prayers with clean lives. And it is my candid opinion that if all of us really cared enough to do this thing, that State College would get a front seat in the college section of our country—a position that all think rightfully belongs to her, and that the majority of us are earnestly striving to see her get and keep.

Fellows, now is our chance, and notwithstanding the setbacks that have come to us, we are, I feel sure, making rapid progress toward a Greater State College. I believe we will all agree that our "Student Government," under the wise and capable leadership of "Big Floyd" and backed by the faculty and students, has thus far proven a great asset, and if all of us will give it our heartiest co-operation, I see no reason why it should not prove a still greater asset. So let's end up strong this year and make this the best year in the history of our college, and lay a foundation for a still greater progress next year.

Dr. Gorrell Addresses "Le Club Francaise"

On Thursday night, March 16th, Dr. J. H. Gorrell, of the Department of Modern Languages of Wake Forest College, addressed "Le Club Francaise" on the subject, "The Paramount Importance of the French Language and Literature."

Dr. Gorrell is well known throughout modern language circles in North Carolina, and is recognized as an authority.

The clearness and purity of the French language was contrasted with our own by Dr. Gorrell. He spoke of the supremacy of the French language and its almost universal use. He urged that all take an interest in this language, not only because of its commercial and diplomatic use, but for its literature. Dr. Gorrell spoke on the customs of the French people and dissipated some of the wrong impressions which are current. He said that a Frenchman thinks straight and consequently his language is straight. He stressed the point that the French language is the clearest in the world, and that the literature in the language is the most interesting.

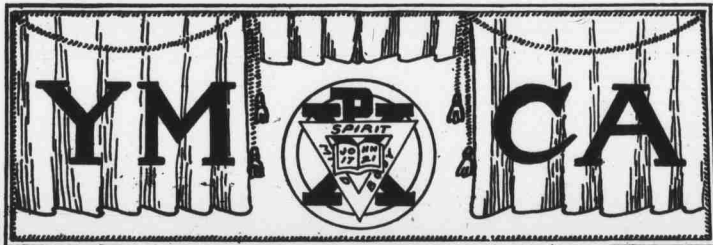

Dr. Gorrell closed his address by urging the members of the club to learn thoroughly the French language.

Dr. Gorrell spoke in a very pleasing manner and illustrated his points by very humorous anecdotes taken from his own experience while a student in France. L. U. BAILEY.

Pegram: "Professor, you are coming to the Ag reception Saturday night, aren't you?"

Little David (Prof.): "No, I'm sorry. I haven't got anything to wear."

Pegram: "Don't worry about that. There will be lots of girls there in the same fix."

GEORGE SHERWOOD EDDY TO VISIT STATE COLLEGE

George Sherwood Eddy, who is perhaps the greatest Christian leader of the students of the world, will visit State College April 27th. Mr. Eddy is a graduate of Yale University in civil engineering. However, his work has been along the line of "Human Engineering." He is known the world over as a great Christian statesman. From travel, observation and study, he probably knows as much as any man alive about present world conditions.

So great a man is Mr. Eddy, and so worthwhile is the messages that he brings, that the faculty has given two and one-half hours off from college time, in order that State College men may hear these great addresses. This is perhaps the greatest concession ever given to a visiting speaker in the history of the college.

Mr. Eddy will give three of the following addresses:

1. The Challenge of the Present World Situation.
2. The Challenge of America's Problems.
3. The Challenge of Campus Problems.
4. What Shall I Do With My Life?
5. A Rational Faith for the Modern Student.

We wish that it were possible for him to give every one of these addresses.

DR. ROBERT H. H. GOHEEN SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

Robt. H. H. Goheen, M.D., a medical missionary who has spent 15 years in India, visited the college on the 24th, and spoke in chapel, telling of the wonderful progress of medical and agricultural missions in India. It was of special interest to State College men to hear of the work that missions are doing in introducing modern methods of farming, improving the stock and conducting model farms.

Dr. Goheen talked to a number of men who are interested in the missionary enterprise. Missionary interest is growing at State College, and with the increasing need from technically trained men on the foreign field, it is only a question of time until a number of men from here will be going out in this great work.

FLOYD TALKS TO FRIENDSHIP COUNCIL

Mr. A. G. Floyd explained the working of Student Government to the Friendship Council last Sunday afternoon. Following his talk, an open forum was conducted, and Mr. Floyd answered a number of questions the members asked him about Student Government. He pointed out that the duty of upholding Student Government and of enforcing its laws rested as much on each individual student as it did on the officers of the Student Council.

The members of the Friendship Council appreciated very much Mr. Floyd's talk, which resulted in answering a number of questions on which they were not clear. The purpose of the council is "to create, maintain and extend throughout the student body high standards of Christian character." Therefore it is bound to uphold Student Government.

THE BLUE RIDGE DELEGATION A RECORD BREAKER

State College is going to have a record-breaking delegation at the Blue Ridge Conference this year. Twenty men have already decided to go, and there are others wanting to go. The problem now is to get more money in order to send more men. In order to do this picture shows will be put on during the month of April for which admission will be charged.

Man-Made Lightning

FRANKLIN removed some of the mystery. But only recently has science really explained the electrical phenomena of the thunderstorm.

Dr. C. P. Steinmetz expounds this theory. Raindrops retain on their surfaces electrical charges, given off by the sun and other incandescent bodies. In falling, raindrops combine, but their surfaces do not increase in proportion. Hence, the electrical pressure grows rapidly. Finally it reaches the limit the air can stand and the lightning flash results.

And now we have artificial lightning. One million volts of electricity—approximately one fiftieth of the voltage in a lightning flash—have been sent successfully over a transmission line in the General Engineering Laboratory of the General Electric Company. This is nearly five times the voltage ever before placed on a transmission line.

Much valuable knowledge of high voltage phenomena—essential for extending long distance transmission—was acquired from these tests. Engineers now see the potential power in remote mountain streams serving in industries hundreds of miles away.

Man-made lightning was the result of ungrudging and patient experimentation by the same engineers who first sent 15,000 volts over a long distance thirty years ago.

"Keeping everlastingly at it brings success." It is difficult to forecast what the results of the next thirty years may be.

Furman again scored in the fourth frame, when her hard-hitting receiver hit a home run to the far extremities of the field.

The visitors again repeated its scoring in the sixth inning, directly caused by errors by Redfern and Tayloe.

The game had few feature, although the hitting and base running of Johnson and the steady fielding of Norwood and Blue shone out above the others. For the visitors, the pitching of Padgett featured.

Lest You Forget The Agromeck

Early last fall the newly elected staff of the '22 Agromeck set out upon the long and tedious task of collecting and assembling the material for our college annual. For six long months we have worked, spending every spare moment, trying to make this year's annual live up to our advertisement of the keenest year book ever assembled. Now, then, our task is nearing completion, and as we look back over our work we feel deeply grateful to every man in the student body who has aided us in the slightest way. For we fully realize that without the co-operation of the student body we could never have gone thus far.

In answer to the daily question of, "When will The Agromeck be out?" we will say that, with exception of about ten pages, all manuscript copy is in the hands of the printer. These ten pages will be in his hands by the first, so that there is no reason why our annual should not be out on time.

But, listen! In order to bring our book to a successful finish we must collect every payment that is unpaid. Already enough work has been done to put us in the hole. But we have gone ahead, trustin gevery man, and believing that he will make a payment of every cent he owes. The printers and engravers are calling to us for the first payment. We must pay. And so we appeal to the subscribers.

Your R. O. T. C. checks will soon be here, and when they come, don't forget The Agromeck. Pay your class fees, get together and pay your club and society dues, don't let them hang over.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarettey aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

SPORTS

Former State College Stars

During the past four years the coaches at this institution have developed several stars in the baseball world.

George Murray, who has been the idol of four years in college baseball, is a member of New York Yankees' pitching staff; and is showing up extra good both in hurling and hitting.

"Dick" Burrus, our former first baseman, is with Columbus team of the American Association, and is considered the best first-sacker in the league.

Joe Deberry, former captain of our 1921 team, is pitching for Louisville of the same league, and has shown the real stuff in the training camps.

Peele Johnson, star third baseman for the past four years, is with Raleigh, and is rated high in the list of infielders of the league.

Baseball Prospects

Coch Hartsell's Charges Are About Rounded Into Shape

The prospects for a championship baseball team are excellent, as material for a winning team is abundant, although some of it is new, and has not been given the final test.

With Captain Hugh Norwood and five other monogram men back from last year's team, whose experience should enable them to be the real nucleus of a winning team, together with the new men that are showing up as real ball players.

The "receiving" staff, which has been weak offensively in the past seasons, should come through this year with a good record. Passour, who for the past two years has done the bulk of the catching, looks better than ever before, as he has regained his "throwing" arm and his hitting is greatly improved. He is considered the "brainiest" receiver in the state. "Red" Johnson has shown more stuff than any new candidate for the "receiving end." He is a good hitter, fast base-runner, and he has a good arm. "Red" should come through as a regular. "Dutch" Holland, also, has proved himself a good "receiver," and can be relied upon to hold down the job.

The job at first base will be held down by "Red" Lassiter. This youngster, who throws from the port-side, looks like a second "Dick" Burrus. He is an excellent fielder and heavy hitter. "Red" will also be used in the role of pitcher, when a left-hander is needed. "Ray" Williams will hold down this job when "Red" is pitching. He is a steady player and handles himself well. "Big" Eller, a mighty slugger and a fairly good fielder, should come through before the season is over.

Second base will be handled again by "Buck" Blue, whose former experience should cause him to have a good season. "Buck" has shown great improvement in his fielding and batting ability.

The shortstop position goes to Geo. Redfern, a letter man of last year's team. This young ball player should come through as "All-State" shortstop, as he covers more territory than ever before and fields with the smoothness of a "big leaguer." His batting has shown a vast improvement, and he should end the season with an average not less than .330. "Kid" Tolar, a member of last year's squad, also is showing up good and should come through if called upon. "Shag" Johnson has also shown promise of a good fielder.

The problem which has not yet been solved is over at the "hot corner." "Jess" Tayloe has shown up better than any other of the candidates. This youngster, who has a level head and a wonderful arm, is also a good fielder and a natural hitter. "Gib" Arthur is also showing up fairly well and has lots of experience, but is not as fast as Tayloe. He should come through before the season is over. "Puss" Erwin, another experienced contender for this job, has shown up better than his rivals from a hitting point of view, but is not as fast a fielder and needs improvement in his throwing.

The outfield will be made up of a heavy-hitting combination and good gardeners. Captain "Hugh" Norwood will hold down his regular position in center field. This experienced "All-State" outfielder should have a great year, as he is a heavy hitter, batting from either side, and the best fielder and base-runner on the squad.

"Babe" Ruth will also hold down his regular job in the outfield. "Babe" is extra fast, good fielder, and a heavy hitter, and looks to be "All-State" material.

The call for the other outfield job will be from the trio, consisting of "Big" Floyd, "Dutch" Holland and "Sam" Redfern. The entire trio are good hitters and good "fly" chasers. All should be called "regulars," as there is little to choose between them.

The pitching staff should have many victories to its credit when the season closes, as the staff is made up of a strong personnel.

Harry Curtis, the only letter man of the pitching staff, and who made a good record last season, will be called upon to do the bulk of the "hurling." This young hurler, with his easy delivery and level head, should come through as a regular, therefore placing himself head of all of the pitchers in the state.

"Johnny" Cline, a big right-hander, should rate second to Curtis, as he has plenty of "goods"; and he is being counted upon to pitch his share of the games.

"Jim" Allen, who was the mainstay of last year's Freshman team, also shows great promise of a good season. He has wonderful "stuff," and as soon as he regains his control will be called upon to work.

"Foy" Beal, "Nick" Carter and "Legs" Vance are other hurlers that should develop. The former has the advantage of former experience and should come through as a regular.

The other promising newcomers are "Bill" Wearn, Dan Stewart and "Johnny" Hill, the latter especially as he is a good utility man.

RIFLE TEAM NOTES

F. T. Vance was elected captain of the Gallery Rifle Team. His choice was a happy one. Lanky is the best shot on the team and by far the most popular member.

Our rifle team went down in defeat for the first time this season, when the University won the final stage of the Fourth Corps Area competition, 844 to 774. This places State second in the cup race.

The Florida outfit is, by the way, our old rivals at this game. Last year at the R. O. T. C. camp, State gave them the licking of their young lives with the service rifle. They came to camp cocked and primed to carry away the event. Their team has an outdoor range and had been training for the match, but State made a regular "State finish" and walked away from them at the final stage.

The team is entered in the National Intercollegiate, and with the new rifles and ammunition they will, without a doubt, make a good race. Every man is out to beat Florida.

111 FAYETTEVILLE STREET

Ft. McPherson, Ga., dated February 21, 1922:

"It is contemplated that, within the limits of funds available, reserve officers will be called to active duty, by organization, at Camp McClellan (near Anniston), Alabama, or at Fort Benning (near Columbus), Georgia, for two weeks beginning about July 15, 1922. Officers will be excused from this call to active duty if they cannot render the service thereunder without serious disadvantage to their business or professional interests.

"It is desired that you state now whether you desire to be called for the duty in question. If you answer in the affirmative at this time you may, nevertheless, be excused later on your request, should events unforeseen at this time arise later which would make it a hardship for you to render this service. On the other hand, it should be borne in mind that even though you apply for this duty it may not be possible to call you for it, due to the fact that it is not yet known what funds will be available. Your answer is desired at this time so that intelligent action can be taken in your case as soon as it is learned what funds will be available."

He: "Mary, your dresses are simply terrible."

She: "I know, Jack, but I simply can't wear them any shorter. You know I've been operated on for appendicitis once."—Octopus.

POETS' CORNER

QUIZZING ZIPPY

Oh, Zippy, we all love you,
Of course you know we do.
So come and sit beside me,
That I may question you.

Who is it roasts the dining hall,
And keeps us on the rack,
And calls it Nellie's Hot Dog Stand?
Me thinks 'tis Zippy Mack.

Who is it says the chicken's tough,
The cabbage over green,
The stew is bad, likewise the spuds?
Me thinks 'tis E. O. Breen.

Who is it gives a lusty yell,
In naughty words, not merry?
I may be wrong, but think, perhaps,
It may be Singletary.

Who is it swipes the festive pie
And gives his lips a smack,
And calmly walks out eating his?
We know it's Zippy Mack.

So let up on the dining hall,
Your anger deep pray smother.
Like Polly Anna "Play the game"—
Just take this tip from "Mother."

FARMER'S LUCK

His horse went dead and his mule
went lame,
Then he lost six cows in a poker game.
A cyclone came on a bright summer day
And blew the house where he lived away.
Then an earthquake came when this was gone
And swallowed up the land where the house was on.

Then the tax collector came around,
And charged him up with the hole in the ground.
Then the poor fellow moved to town,
Bought him a Ford and frolicked around.
But he hadn't been there long before he found
The price of gas would keep him down.

So as an unlucky fellow he was mighty hard to beat,
He couldn't raise a tune in meetings
or a dollar on the street.
He couldn't catch an idea, he couldn't catch a train,
And it turned off dry when he prophesied rain.

He was one of the most well-mean-
ingest fellows here below,
But it turned off hot when he prophesied snow.
And there never was a jingle of the dollars or the dimes
When he prophesied the coming of the hallelujah times.

It wasn't his fault, I reckon—the Lord just made him so,
And he put the mules to kicking
every time he hollered whoa!
And when he starts to glory along
the heavenly race,
It is ten to one he'll miss the road
and hit the other place!

An Ode to Spring

I'm tired of rain and winter and indoor ceiling walls,
I welcome the pipping grasses in nature's stately halls,
When I can stroll through the woodland, under a dappled sky,
And whisper adieu to the winter clouds as they pass swiftly by.

I'll hurry away to the sluggish brook,
still cold from the winter's chill,
Many secrets I'll learn from the endless chat with the neighboring rugged hills,
Where the dogwood calls me to its side, and there 'mid sweet aroma
I'll share with it the falcon's song which dies with ending summer.

We walk alone, just she and I, thru forest and fragrant air,
Like a maiden in a courtly mood she has life and love to spare.
The new-born flowers she offers me,
tulips and daisies grand—
Oh, Spring! my life I'd freely give if I could win thy hand.

The world is full of gladness, it has a lovely guest,
For Spring and happiness and love and cheer are always nature's best.

Oh, Winter! with your howling winds, your fleecy snow I do adore,
But please exchange your place with Spring, because I love her more.
CLINE, '24.

Sanderson: "In the rear, sir."

Miss Rocks: "I'll marry you on one

Mr. Knox: "That's all right; I en-

A KISS

A kiss is a pronoun because it always stands for something.- It is masculine and feminine gender, therefore it is common. It is a conjunction because it signifies an act. It is plural in number because it calls for another. It is unusually in opposition with a hug, at least one is sure to follow. A kiss may be conjugated, but never declined.—Exchange.

body. The facts in the case are: college spirit grows, it grows on the inside of the man, it could better be called "student spirit." And Student Government is very essential to the development of the higher type of college spirit. The kind of college spirit that is manifested only on the day of a big athletic event is a poor spirit, hardly better than no spirit at all. College spirit should be lived on the campus and off the campus. It should be manifested in the classroom, in the dormitory, in every phase of college activity.

As to its value, just ask the athlete. He can tell you of the big game that meant so much to the college, when in the last few minutes his strength and fight were slipping fast, things for a moment began to whirl 'round and 'round—the game most over. Then with a powerful roar a familiar yell from the throats of a thousand husky, loyal supporters came drifting across the field. One fleeting glance showed that every supporter in the bleachers was on his feet, crying, "shake it off, old man—fight 'em! fight 'em!" The mist suddenly cleared, those trained muscles of steel that had been so nearly exhausted a moment ago sprang back into life and action. A clear, steady brain guided the play—the game is over, another victory is ours!

The same spirit that makes college athletics great and worthwhile, that makes a championship team when without it there wouldn't have been a chance, should and will make the reputation of the college in scholarship, or in any other respect, the greatest in the whole country.

As I have said, true college spirit is within the man, it is the inner devotion and loyalty, it is the man, and the important fact is, this spirit grows and grows and grows if the man will only give it a chance under proper conditions. College responsibility (obligation voluntarily assumed), personal interest in the college and college activities, work, and fair play are all vital to the growth of college spirit. Our assumption of the responsibility to govern ourselves offers us the chance to develop a great spirit through honest effort and fair play.

But why the long discussion on how to have a great college spirit, when every State College man knows the joy and power of the true "Tech spirit," summed up in the words, a greater and better State College always.

W. N. H.

Collegiate Press Service

Elon College, N. C., March 20.—A unique and delightful entertainment was given here last Friday evening when the Y. W. C. A. put on a County Fair in the men's gymnasium. The principal feature of the entertainment came in the form of the free attractions, consisting of comic readings, dialogues and popular songs rendered by the Y. W. girls, while gay decorations, side shows, fortune tellers, wienie stands and clowns gave to the whole the touch of a real county fair. A faculty "take-off" in which a sham faculty meeting was cleverly executed by the students, proved to be a very amusing climax to an evening of enjoyment. A silver offering was taken at the door, which will go towards the construction of a Y. W. C. A. hut.

Pullen Wins Junior Inter-Society Debate

The first of the series of four inter-society debates of the spring was held on Friday night, March 3, in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. This series of four debates between the different classes is each year a big gun in the work of the literary societies. Much interest is always created and there is strong, friendly rivalry between the teams.

The query debated was, "Resolved, That the electoral college should be abolished, and the president elected by the direct vote of the people." The victorious Pullen team was composed of Mr. I. L. Langley and Mr. Mr. W. R. Anderson, while Leazar was ably represented by Mr. A. M. Fountain and Mr. D. B. VanSant.

Dr. C. C. Taylor, Dr. B. W. Wells and Prof. T. L. Wilson served as judges for the occasion.
