STATE NINE BLANKS WAKE FOREST TEAM

In a Brilliant Game, Red and White Floats High Above Old Gold and Black

The Red and White floated high above Old Gold and Black when the Techs came away with the second game tucked away in their bat bags, 1 to 0. Both pitchers had plenty of stuff on the ball, but Harry Curtis had the Baptists eating out of his hand during the one hour and fifty minutes. He let them down with just two widely separated hits. This game makes twenty-nine innings Curtis has worked against the Baptists with only eight hits and four runs scored against him. Our ancient foes are already practically beaten when Curtis throws his glove in the box.

Edwards wobbled a bit in the first inning, walking two men, but a fast double killed our chances to register.

In the fourth, with one out, Redfern signed over second. The hit and run was put on and Holland singled in the same place, Redfern going to third. A throw from Dennis to third went wide and Redfern scored, while Holland came up on third. Then Edwards tightened and retired the next two men in order, but the game had already been won. The Baptists went out in order in five innings, while in ninth alone could Edwards turn them back in order.

Not a single Wake Forest runner reached third during the whole game. The most flashy fielding was contributed by the two shortstops, with Redfern showing a bit more form.

We always feel safe of a victory when we see Harry is to fling them over. The Baptists feel just the opposite, and Carolina will after next week.

TECH TRACK SQUAD DEFEATS CAROLINA

The Closest Dual Track Meet in Which State College Has Ever Participated

In one of the closest and most exciting track meets ever held in the state of North Carolina, State's track squad succeeded in nosing out the University and defeating them in the dual meet held on Riddick Athletic Field on last Wednesday afternoon. Never in the history of the college have we participated in a dual meet with the result so undecided until the last event, and never has there been so much interest taken in a track meet in this section of the country.

As for placing individual honors, it is very hard to do. Captain Blakeney of State still reigns supreme in his two-mile event, and there is no doubt that he is also the fastest half-mile man in the state. Running the half mile at the beginning of the meet, as he did in the Trinity meet, Blakeney waited at the tape for the rest of the men to finish; in the two-mile event he finished with a lead of over half a lap, and running the last lap with a speed that would do justice to a 440-yard run. Sinclair of Carolina, by a pretty exhibition of running, took both the dash events. In the pole vault Carolina took all three places, but State had in her way in the jumps, taking first and second in both the high and broad and tying with two Carolina men for third in the high.

Probably the fastest event of the afternoon was one of the freshmen events. Yarborough of Carolina taking the low hurdles with a time of 27 3-5 seconds, which was 2-5 seconds faster than the varsity time in the same event.

One thing that shows how closely the teams were matched was the fact that each received half of the total number of first places. While Carolina cleaned up in the pole vault, State took first and second places in four of the events.

Carolina took the lead at the start by winning both the 100- and 220-yard dashes, and from here kept the lead until the last event of the day, the broad jump. Here Carolina had still had a lead of 4 1-3 points and it was up to State to take both first and second places in this event to win the meet. Crater on his second jump left the ground for 20 feet 5 inches and was assured of first place. It was now up to Tom Park, our only other man left in this event, to take

EDITORIAL

They say that a flapper is nothing new under the sun, and if you are not convinced you should read the third chapter of Isaiah, and wonder if all that is said about them there applies to boys as well.

While the girls' colleges are singing of the delights of springtime and the happy anticipations of exams soon over, we might remind them that we are having some delights peculiarly our own. Those two games with Wake Forest, for instance.

How do you stand on the evolution theory? We might guess, but it's funny to watch the writers for our papers "slam-banging" at each other over the question, as well as interesting to listen to a speaker who seems to thoroughly understand the whole subject and convinces nobody but himself, trying to convince others. This wrangling has even got into the college press, and if any of our contributors can develop any new evidence, we throw open our columns for further discussion. In the meantime we had better equip ourselves, as all college students should, for a defense of our position, or otherwise we will likely be considered very ignorant students.

AS WE SEE IT

We are particularly interested in the fact that the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association has taken a definite step toward the improvement of our college press, by sending all its members a monthly pamphlet of criticisms and suggestions, and we shall look forward to the coming of this primer of the amateur press as a means of improvement of our own publication. But we wish to voice an earnest desire that this will not have a tendency to put down individuality as well as originality among our publications. We cannot expect to compete with the current newspapers, and the very fact that newspapers are not widely read by college students is an indication that the college paper should be different and something that the students want, rather than have it meet the requirements of a modern newspaper. We are trusting that our new staff will cater to the demands of a greater State College and a better college spirit rather than to the technicalities of journalism. We hope that a happy combination of these ideals will serve to give us the best paper ever for our campus.

FROM THE SIDE-LINE

We are not ready for our parting word, but the present staff has about run its race and the next issue of this paper will probably be issued under the supervision of a new staff elected for the coming year. We will still be on hand to offer assistance and suggestions and get them lined up as it were for the work of the coming year, and with the support of the student body along with that of the college authorities, we may expect a far superior paper in many ways to The Technician as we now know it.

We trust that we may be able to get the fiances taken care of in the registration fee, and if the students as a body are called upon to support such a measure, may there not be one so disloyal as to not give his hearty support. Surely we will back ourselves to that extent. And, boys, when you begin to feed the finances to old Tech. next fall you are going to see her put on a few more charms until you will be a happy chap as you pull the latest issue from your box. And then if you want your best girl to be "thrilled to a peanut," just place her on the mailing list.

Let's don't say, We Must Do It, but, We Are Going To Do It!

1922-23 "Y" OFFICERS ELECTED

At a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. members on last Wednesday evening the following named students were elected student-officers for the 1922-23 session: W. M. Cummings, president; H. N. Kelly, vice-president; W. S. Morris, secretary, and P. T. Dixon, treasurer.

In electing Cummings as president the student body may be assured that a wise choice was made, for in him they have a man who is not afraid to stand out for what he knows to be right. While we all do not always admit it, we know that the things for which Cummings stands are the things for which we, too, stand, and in the quiet hours of our life we hope that the day will come when we will have nerve enough to let the world know that we profess Christ.

Cummings comes to the task after three years of faithful service. His popularity among the students is due entirely to the Christian life that he has lived, his keen sense of right and wrong, and the unselfish manner in which he does things.

Mr. Kelly, the newly elected vice-president, also comes to his work well prepared. He is an active Christian worker and very popular among the students. His experience with the city Y. M. C. A. will enable him to give Cummings valuable assistance, and the two together should make the "Y" mean more to the students of State College than it ever has before.

Messrs. Morris and Dixon are both enthusiastic "Y" workers, and capable of handling the work assigned to them.

DO YOU WANT IT?

A weekly Technician. There has been quite a lot of talk lately about putting out a weekly paper next year, and the writer believes that it should be done. There is no reason why State College with a thousand students shouldn't be able to get out a paper each week. Of course, it would require some work; but, if properly distributed, no one would have more than he could do. If we had a weekly we could publish our program and schedules for a week ahead. Furthermore, the news being fresh, more people would read it. If you want it, we can have it. What do you say?

SPEAKING OF "MOVIES"

What do you say, fellows, that we have the very best pictures shown at the "Y" at least two or three times a week next session? Of course, we couldn't expect the "Y" to bear the expense, but by charging an admission of about ten cents we can have them. We already have the machine and the building. I believe we could very easily get the same pictures that are shown uptown. Now, don't think we couldn't get a crowd at ten cents. The people in West Raleigh would much rather pay ten cents than forty cents, don't you think? Talk it up, and let's make things so attractive out here that the fellows won't want to be going to town every night.

N. C. C. P. A. Holds Semi-Annual Meeting With Baptist Boys

Representatives of nine colleges met at Wake Forest College on the 21st and 22d for the semi-annual meeting of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association.

It proved to be a jolly good band of students that gathered over at the Baptist College for a discussion of the things that are needed for the betterment of the college publications of the state. There were reports and discussions and there was the usual run of business, but along with it all was a genuine good time shared by everyone present. The representatives of the local college spared no efforts at entertainment, and the only thing they failed to provide for the delegates was plenty of sleep and some warm weather for the swim. All were very enthusiastic in their congratulations of these fellows for the excellent entertainment of the association.

About the only matters of business transacted that are of concern to the college press at large were some desirable amendments to the constitution of the association and a movement set on foot to publish a monthly pamphlet for the purpose of supplying each member publication a sort of guide in the form of suggestions and criticisms. It is hoped that this will serve to materially improve the college publications over the state.

The colleges sending representatives were Lenoir, Davidson, Elon, N. C. C. W., Queens, G. C. W., Meredith, Carolina, and State.

The next meeting of the association comes to Meredith, and it is likely that The Technician will have a part in entertaining some of the delegates from the men's colleges.

On to Blue Ridge!

Let us hope all those who have decided to go to Blue Ridge this summer will not fail to go. Those men who have been there before know what kind of a good time they may expect when they go again. They need no urging to make them go.

It is for the benefit of those who have not attended the Y. M. C. A. conference at Blue Ridge before that this article is written. Permit me to mention only a few of the many privileges you may have there.

Everybody who attends the Y. M. C. A. conference at Blue Ridge has a religion. All of them are Christians, although various denominations are represented. All are assembled for a common purpose—to study the teachings of Christ, His purpose, His methods, and the results He achieved. It is through this study that the students are enabled to accomplish great results the next year in college.

You will have the privilege of hearing some of the best speakers of today on religious work. Not all of these speakers are preachers, but they are men who represent various walks of life: doctors, missionaries, business men, and religious workers. They do not represent Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, and such other denominations, but CHRISTIAN organizations.

The men and boys who will meet there will be college men just like yourself. They come from practically all of the colleges of the south. There will be, also, as here, a foreign element. These will include college men from Europe, Asia and Latin America.

There will be time for athletics.

Sponsor for

We want our delegation to go strong enough to carry off any championship honors that may be given in baseball, basketball, volley ball, swimming and tennis. It is easy to knock a home run on the baseball field, but the other fields and courts are fine. There is not a cooler swimming pool in the east.

Opportunities for sightseeing, both by automobile and foot, will be many. Auto trips are arranged for visits to Asheville, Biltmore, Sunset Mountain, Chimney Rock and Hickory Nut Gap. Other trips include short walks to High Top Mountain, Wolf's Den, Turkey Ridge, Brown's Pasture and Webb's Tower. Longer hikes may be taken to Ridgecrest, Montreat, Mount Mitchell, Balsam Gap, and the Craggies. All of these are interesting trips and well worth the energy required to make them. Be sure to take some marching shoes on the trip to Mount Mitchell.

Other things of interest to be noted at Blue Ridge will be pleasant weather, mountain air, excellent food, sparkling water, good sleep and beautiful views of the landscape which will be covered with a profusion of rhododendrons, mountain laurel and galax flowers.

Let's have the largest delegation this year that N. C. State has ever sent. Don't let a single pledged man fail to attend. To those who are yet doubting Thomases: think it over again and decide to go. You will never regret it, and will always be glad you went. It will be two of the happiest weeks you'll spend this summer. Are you ready? Let's go.

L. J. JORDAN.

Onions will build you up physically but they'll knock you down socially.

BLUE RIDGE BOUND

Within less than a month the students whose names appear below will be on their way to the "Land of the Skies" to attend the Y. M. C. A. conference at Blue Ridge. It is quite unfortunate that every student at State College cannot attend, for surely there is no place in the world where one could spend ten days more profitably.

William Cummings, the newly elected "Y" president, and Mr. King are going to attend the Summer School of the Southern College of the Y. M. C. A. this summer and will not return when the others do. Cummings will be the first student-president to attend the "Y" school and we are expecting him to make a big success next year.

The following named will attend the conference: M. E. King, W. C. Mock, C. D. Faucette, L. E. Raper, W. N. Hicks, H. N. Kelly, C. L. Barnhardt, W. M. Cummings, D. F. Ritchie, M. G. Williams, E. H. Curlee, H. M. Stout, E. F. Strupe and W. G. Jones.

Take It From The Air

NOT only music, but news, speeches, messages of every sort, are today being picked out of the air.

"How has this come about?" we ask.

The new impetus given to radio development may be definitely associated with the development of the high power vacuum tube, for that made broadcasting possible. And the power tube originated from a piece of purely theoretical research, which had no connection with radio.

When a scientist in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company found that electric current could be made to pass through the highest possible vacuum and could be varied according to fixed laws, he established the principle of the power tube and laid the foundation for the "tron" group of devices.

These devices magnify the tiny telephone currents produced by the voice and supply them to the antenna, which broadcasts the messages. At the receiving end, smaller "trons", in turn, magnify the otherwise imperceptible messages coming to them from the receiving antenna.

Great accomplishments are not picked out of the air. Generally, as in this case, they grow from one man's insatiable desire to find out the "how" of things.

Scientific research discovers the facts. Practical applications follow in good time.

Eddy Gives Students Convincing Lectures

Presented World Problems in a Very Apt and Interesting Manner

Dr. Sherwood Eddy, the famous international student speaker, gave a series of two lectures on "World Problems and How to Meet Them," in the college auditorium, Thursday. He presented very forcibly the challenge of the world situation and how America should meet it.

He said, "There is for America a bigger place if she will take it. There is a new awakening of class leadership of the world if she will take it. There are three great problems: the problem of national and political life, the industrial problem, and the race problem. In our political life there is danger of graft and profiteering. There is a need for college trained men, who look for bigger things than selfish ends, to lead America in the proper channels of the political situation." Dr. Eddy pointed out the crying need of the people in the slums and the need of proper co-operation of labor.

Dr. Sherwood Eddy will be remembered by his dynamic address to the students, in which he challenged them to face the world problems. Mr. Eddy is a prominent figure on the American platform and appears before thousands of undergraduates of many different colleges and universities. He is unsurpassed as a student of the modern age and the situation of the world.

As The Technician goes to press the news comes to us that Mrs. J. B. Cullins wife of Mr. J. B. Cullins, proprietor of the College Laundry, has been taken to Rex Hospital to undergo a serious operation. Mrs. Cullins is well known and liked by all the students, and we trust that she will soon be back with us.

The Pine Burr Society Organized

Will Add Greatly to Higher Standards of Scholarship at N. C. State

The dream of a scholarship society at North Carolina State College has long been dormant in the minds of the alumni, the faculty, and the students. At last this dream has become a reality, largely on account of the effort and initiative put forth by Col. J. W. Harrelson. He has been willingly and ably assisted by members of the faculty and members of the student body.

All leading institutions have a local, college organization founded with the idea of and the purpose to support and encourage higher standards of scholarship, higher standards of college loyalty, and higher aims for life. At Trinity College there is the 9019; at the University of North Carolina, the Golden Fleece; at the University of Virginia, the Raven Society. Everywhere they are found, always playing a vital part in college life and college scholarship and college progress.

The Pine Burr Society is forever a State College organization. It is not a local fraternity, and it will never become affiliated with any national honorary fraternity. It is neither professional, nor departmental in membership. Student membership will be chosen from all of our college courses leading to a degree. This organization is founded on the basic principles of the former Watauga Club of Raleigh.

The requirements for membership are two and one-half years of work in any of our college courses leading to a degree, with a grade of 85 per cent or more, without a condition. This work is exclusive of summer sessions. The second requirement is that the student be active, loyal and prominent in some phase of college activity.

The present membership of the society consists of fourteen members from the Class of '22, eleven men from the Class of '23, and nine members from the faculty. Several prominent alumni and personages have been elected to honorary membership.

Officers for this year were elected as follows: W. N. Hicks, president; T. S. Williams, recording secretary; J. W. Harrelson, corresponding secretary; Henry M. Shaw, treasurer; E. B. Owen, historian.

The Pine Burr is everywhere symbolical of the Old North State; everywhere characteristic of the plain, frank, rugged people that have lived with it. For this reason the society was so named. May the Pine Burr Society soon be a great organization known throughout the country, may its body of members help to give to the pine burr of sunny Carolina a greater and more widely known significance, may this body push forward and support the ideals and principles of the formerly great and forever honored Watauga Club. A North Carolina State organization that should be a powerful incentive to higher student accomplishment, that will be a strong element in the making of our college a greater and better college in scholarship and in every other respect. ## Rehabilitation Dept. at N. C. State College

To the Editor:

Speaking for the rehabilitation men of State College, N. C., I wish to express our profound gratitude and thanks to the Veterans' Bureau for their selection of such a worthy official as Mr. Capps to succeed Dr. T. P. Harrison as co-ordinator of the rehabilitation students of this institution, which vacancy was filled April 1st by Mr. Capps.

Mr. Capps is efficient in every way, and we are delighted to have a man of Mr. Capps' caliber, for he has a business way of doing everything. He is strictly businesslike in every way, but yet has a friendly word for each and every one.

He gets on the job early in the morning, leaving late in the afternoon, and visits practically every class, assuring both the instructors and trainees that he intends to co-operate and help them in any way possible. Therefore he proves his efficiency and shows his worthiness as co-ordinator.

We expect to accomplish much good under the supervision of our new co-ordinator, for he renders good service and expects the same, making it plain that no man can lie down on the job and get away with it. By keeping a close check on the men and making constant visits to all classes, he is able to assure himself of the attendance of each and every one.

We cannot speak too highly of his selection of instructors, for they are the best that this institution can afford, as they have proven their efficiency previous to the coming of Mr. Capps.

We wish to express our hearty approval of the service rendered by Dr. T. P. Harrison to the rehabilitation men in the past. He was a splendid co-ordinator and worked faithfully, without any complaint, and was always ready to give advice and to assist each and every one in any way possible. We regret very much to lose him, but he had more than he could say grace over, as co-ordinator for the regular students and the rehabs combined.

Thanking you very kindly, Mr. Editor, for your time and space, I am,

Very truly yours,
COY E. BAILEY.

Techs Win Easily From Lynchburg

Cline Holds the Virginians Well in Hand at All Times; Parker Stars for Visitors

On April 10th Coach Hartsell's Techs batted themselves to an easy victory over Lynchburg College, 11 to 3. Cline held the Virginians well in hand at all times and kept their hits scattered.

State started the scoring in the third, making three runs on three hits, a sacrifice and a walk. Two more markers came in the fourth on two hits, a walk and a sacrifice. The heavy hitting started in the fifth, when Lassiter, first man up, hit through the hedge in left field for four sacks. Blue next up, tripled in right center and scored on a wild pitch. One run in the sixth, two in the seventh, and one in the eighth completed the scoring for us.

Parker was the outstanding man for the visitors, getting three hits in four times up, one a triple, and played a good fielding game. The unassisted double play of Cromwell at third for Lynchburg was a feature.

Score by innings:

Lynchburg ..... 000 001 200— 3
N. C. State ..... 003 221 21x—11

Batteries: Thomas and Goff; Cline and Parsons.

STATE COLLEGE WINS THREE TRACK MEETS

Journeying to Elon on April 8th for a track meet, State easily defeated the team of that institution and won the meet by the one-sided score of 105 1/4 to 20 3/4.

On the next Friday, at Davidson, we met the Davidson squad, and here again we secured a one-sided victory, and then we held our first track meet that has been held on the college campus in years. Trinity came over to secure revenge for the defeat of last year, but was only able to secure the small end of a 92-to-34 score.

Our next meet, with Carolina, you will find in fuller detail in this paper.

STATE BEATS GUILFORD, 8-3

Most of the student body was at home for the Easter holidays, which accounted for the lack of pep in the Guilford game. However, the game was not devoid of good plays on both sides. "Specs" Cline worked out a good game, turning back thirteen Quakers on strikes and getting two hits. A home-run drive by Floyd to right and a triple by Hayworth, the visiting catcher, were the principal batting feats.

The catching of Hayworth was commendable, while Winn at second for the visitors showed the way to all infielders seen here this season. He accepted thirteen chances in great style, besides getting a double and making one of his team's markers.

Score by innings:

Guilford ..... 010 020 000—3
N. C. State ..... 001 201 13x—8

Batteries: B Shore and Hayworth; Cline and Johnson.

CAPTAIN NORWOOD

Norwood is the most brilliant as well as the most consistent fielder in the state. He is also hitting the old pill often and heavy, getting two home runs last week.

What Do You Know About Fraternities at State College?

There seems to be a current opinion here on the campus among non-fraternity men that fraternities are useless or even detrimental in a student body. Fraternity men are sometimes accused of being selfish social snobs, banded together for the purpose of carrying out their own selfish interest whether for good or bad.

Before reaching such conclusions we should first find out what type of men belong to the fraternities and then what good the fraternity is doing either for its members or for non-members. In estimating the worth of a fraternity a student should not let his judgment be influenced because he happened not to receive a bid to the fraternity. The following questions should be considered before passing judgment on an organization of this kind: (1st) Are men selected for membership on their own meritorious achievements and social congeniality? or are they selected because of wealth? or good looks? or on their ability to "leg"?

A lack of understanding is the cause of most criticism. Different fraternities have different purposes and aims; some are strictly social, some professional, some honorary, and some both honorary and professional. There are some good points about any fraternity, and the trouble is, the students do not know about it. It seems that it would be a good policy to place before the students some of the aims and purposes of the different fraternities. Below is some of the aims and ideals for which a certain fraternity stands for.

The fraternity which the writer is thoroughly acquainted with is the fraternity of Alpha Zeta. It is a national honorary agricultural fraternity and it stands for better agriculture in America, better state cooperation with other activities. This fraternity of Alpha Zeta has encouraged and tried to establish better scholarship at State College for several years. And this year it is offering a gold medal to the freshman taking the four-year agricultural course who stands highest in scholarship for the whole year. Better scholarship is badly needed at State College, and the fraternities, no matter what kind, can encourage it.

The Alpha Zeta does encourage greater participation in the leading college activities, and is willing to co-operate and help promote any cause that will be for the good of the student body or the college as a whole. This fraternity stands for clean living and high moral character and encourages and fosters conditions which are conducive to develop high moral character.

Let it be hoped that no one can say that Alpha Zeta men wear a chip on their shoulder. Far from it—we are grouped together in order to make our work most effective. The fraternity is willing to help any individual and co-operate with any movement that will be for a greater and bigger State College.

Students Will Receive Commutation of Uniforms Next Year

The following letter has been received by President Riddick concerning the uniforms for advanced course students in the R. O. T. C., which will go into effect next year:

Headquarters Fourth Corps Area,
Fort McPherson, Georgia.
April 13, 1922.

From: Commanding General.

To: The President, North Carolina State College of A. & E., Raleigh, N. C.

Subject: Commutation of Uniforms for the Advanced Course Students of the R. O. T. C.

1. The North Carolina State College of A. & E. has been selected by the War Department to receive commutation of uniforms for the fiscal year 1923, for the advanced course students.

2. The policy of the War Department is to extend the payment of commutation of uniforms to all institutions that desire it, for the entire R. O. T. C. enrollment, as rapidly as the annual appropriation for the maintenance of the R. O. T. C. will permit. At the present time commutation of uniforms can be given to the advanced course students only, at the North Carolina State College of A. & E.

3. Please state whether or not you desire to receive this commutation of uniforms for the advanced course students. As a report must be made to the War Department before April 30th, you are requested to forward your decision to these headquarters at an early date.

For the corps area commander:
H. G. BISSHOP,
Chief of Staff.

THE TECHNICIAN PLEASURES

WAR DEPARTMENT,
Office of the Chief of Infantry,
Washington.

April 14, 1922.

Lieut. Colonel Daniel D. Gregory, Retd., Professor of Military Science and Tactics, North Carolina State College, Raleigh, North Carolina.

My dear Colonel Gregory:

Thank you for the Military Number of The Technician, which was duly received.

It is the most pleasing of all the military numbers of college papers I have seen, and it reflects great credit upon the college, the military department, and the staff of The Technician.

My acknowledgment is tardy, due to many pressing duties. I have been reading The Technician slowly and have received nothing but pleasant impressions from cover to cover.

My respects and congratulations to all concerned.

Sincerely yours,
F. W. ROOWELL,
Colonel, Infantry.

SENIOR MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

The mechanical seniors are busy in designing-room finishing up and making blue prints of a toggle joint press which they started the first of they year. They feel as if a great burden was lifted from their shoulders.

The class will now take up power-plant design, which will consist of designing a power plant with all its piping and auxiliaries.

Electrical Show Is a Great Success

Exhibits Were Interesting to Those Well Versed in Electricity—and Others

The fourth annual electrical show presented by the State College Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, closed its last performance Tuesday night. The show was considered the best that has ever been presented by the Electrical Engineering Society, and was a success in every respect.

The members of the Electrical Engineering Society engaged every possible effort to present exhibits that would be interesting to those who were well versed in electricity as well as those who look upon it as an unknown wonder. The exhibits were both educational and interesting, and many took advantage of the opportunity to become better acquainted with electricity and its applications.

Through the courtesy of the Thompson Electric Company, the Carolina Power and Light Company, and the Walker Electric Company, elaborate exhibits of electrical household fixtures and necessities were presented which added to the splendor of the show.

The automatic telephone system furnished by the Southern Bell Telephone Company proved to be a very interesting exhibit, which was installed and thoroughly explained by the students in charge.

Music for the evening was furnished by The Rollickers, State College's original orchestra.

The success of this show reflects much credit on the student members and professors of the Electrical Engineering Society.

THE NORTHERN TRIP

So far our northern trip has been somewhat of a disappointment to the student body. We were beginning to look on our team as practically unbeatable. We know that our team is still playing that old State College game, because a glance at the box score will show you. But still it is also a known fact that somebody must have left the horseshoe back on the campus. It may be that they thought the track team would need it, or it may be possible that "Big" Floyd has it sewed up in his baseball uniform. Somebody please find it by next Tuesday. There is a chance in one hundred that it may be needed.

A CAMPUS MENU

On our campus there's a task,
And it's left to you and I,
To create a better spirit
And not let our friendship die.

When, across the campus strolling,
Fellow-students you are meeting,
Why not say, Goodmorn'ing, fellows—
Just a word of cheer and greeting?

By chance he may not be your classmate,
But elsewhere duty calls,
Tho' we're toiling for humanity
And a common cause.

When the whole world is against you,
And each day's a mental trial,
You can change that dull environment
If you'll only smile.

Smiles, with just a bit of cheerfulness,
Will always help your case;
It will make you feel contented,
And, somehow, rest your face.

There's no one else to do your part
Of this important task,
But with your co-operation
We may win the day at last.

Not as an individual,
Nor our college as a whole,
But through never-tiring teamwork
We hope to reach our goal.
CLINE.

I'M THROUGH

I'm Pollyanna now, you know,
And play the gladsome game;
I wear a smile where'er I go,
And blush at Worry's name.

What matter if the waiter spills
The gravy on my head?
I smile when'er my plate he fills
With hard and crusty bread.

Why worry if the milk or tea
Is strong enough for wings?
I laugh aloud in gladsome glee
At all those little things.

What matter if upon the dish
Is beef from Noah's ark?
Why worry if, instead of fish,
We get a piece of shark?

These things are easy to forget,
If we but keep in mind
That cream and cake are coming yet,
With pie of divers kinds.

So, mother, watch this smile I wear
Each day when I arrive, Though slightly worse for wear and tear,
It's good to be alive!

The Writing on the Wall
(By Hand)

The buildings on our campus are ours to enjoy and use. They are here as a result of sacrifice on the part of those who are possibly now far away from college days and from our college buildings. Of course we must expect a reasonable amount of wear and tear on college property, but there should never be abuse. Our time here is short, we will soon leave, then all college equipment and property will go to those who follow after us. The least that we can do is to leave things in as good condition as we found them; we should aim to make State College a better institution for our having spent a few happy years here.

It is not fair to the benefactors of the college, it is not fair to those who come after us, it is not fair to ourselves, to wilfully or neglectfully mar or abuse college property. State College loyalty will not uphold wilful or careless destruction; State College spirit will not tolerate the act by student or others that results in ruthless waste.

One thing in particular that has been called to my attention is, the abuse of the wall near the telephone booths in our "Y" building. Some one has thoughtlessly written a vast number of names and telephone numbers on the wall there. Under highly nervous strain or in a state of great absentmindedness someone (maybe two) has cut a lot of notches in the woodwork. The notches are symbolical of a "jane" knocked for a row of brick pyramids, I suppose.

Anyway, the result is that the wall shows up as a mysterious chart of ancient hieroglyphics. Possibly these signs meant all the world to the writer when they were written, but now to the great majority of those who see them these signs and symbols are meaningless. All that remains is an unsightly wall. Unnecessary expense will be incurred to repair the damage. Don't put your girl's telephone number on the wall —somebody else may call her; furthermore, the telephone company may change the number. Use your notebook for this purpose, or if it is a game you are playing get an official score book. The "Y" is yours to use at all times, but you have no right to abuse the building that offers you so many privileges.

"RED" HICKS.

Two powerful colored stevedores, who had had some sort of falling out, were engaged in loading a vessel at a St. Louis dock. Uncomplimentary remarks and warnings of intended violence were exchanged whenever the tw opassed each other with their trucks.

"You jest keep on pesterin' around wid me," declared one of the men,
"an' you is gwine be able to settle a mighty big question for de sciuntific folks."

"What question dat?" asked the other.

STATE TAKES ANNUAL EASTER MONDAY GAME
FROM WAKE FOREST

The fast-traveling Techs went one game higher for state honors when they defeated Wake Forest 4 to 2 in the Easter Monday baseball classic at Riddick Field.

Outfielding and outhitting their rivals, the Techs won because they played better baseball and injected a fighting spirit into the fray that just produced the runs. With better pitching in the pinches, better defense, better offense, and better generalship, victory was bound to result.

Rufus "Babe" Ruth was the hero of the battle. He garnered four safeties in five trips to the plate and robbed two of the Baptists of extra base hits by sensational catches.

Redfern at short contributed a pretty fielding stunt when he raced over second and speared a fast bounder, catching his man at first.

Curtis pitched remarkable ball for the Techs and did his best work in the pinches. With the bases full and no outs in the opening frame he retired the side with one unearned run. He pulled out of similar holes in the fourth and sixth with no runs. The visitors found him for three hits in the fifth, which netted one run.

A miser was scoring a hired man for his extravagance in wanting to carry a lantern when calling on his girl.

Pullen Wins Again

Freshmen Successfully Uphold the Affirmative of Query on Co-education

On Friday night, April 21st, the Pullen freshman debating team, composed of Mr. F. K. Rodgers and Mr. E. J. Whitaker, won the decision of the judges in the annual Freshman Inter-society Debate. The query was, "Resolved, That co-education would greatly improve the North Carolina State College." The Pullen victory was won on the grounds of argument and presentation.

The Leazar Society was represented by Mr. E. A. Poston and Mr. H. G. Moore.

The work of Pullen has been very outstanding this year. The oratorical contest, the declamatory contest, the junior debate, the sophomore debate, and the freshman debate were won by Pullen. The State College representatives in the inter-collegiate peace orators' contest is a Pullen member.

A lecture and a mock trial will constitute the last regular program of the society for this term. On Friday night, May 5th, a banquet will be given, at which time the officers for next year will be elected. This last get-together meeting will serve a double purpose—first, to celebrate victory; second, to make plans and gain momentum for next year's work.

All together, Pullen, for a flying finish—co-operation, team spirit and work has made this a great and worth-while year of literary society accomplishment.

Students Organize a Biology Club

Due to a change in the Agriculture course beginning with the fall term, 1921, the sophomores in Agriculture have the advantage of two years' work in Zoology. In view of this fact, a new course was offered, including the theories and principles of evolution. Although it is a new course in the department, it will in the future occupy an important position in the training of agriculture men, especially those who expect to deal with problems relating to animal life.

Through the interest of the students, a club has been organized for the purpose of studying biology and natural history. The club offers a splendid opportunity for the study and discussion of problems the details of which could not be dealt with in the limited time of the prescribed course. A portion of the club's work will be devoted to the study of the various branches of parasitology. This work will be of special value to the students of economic zoology. Another purpose of the club is to keep the members well informed upon the topic of the day in the field of biology. Not only is this phase of the work very interesting, but it will enable the student to meet the new issues of the day with intelligence and form conclusions based upon scientific knowledge. Through the efforts of the students and the co-operation of the Department of Zoology a successful future for the club is predicted, and a direct benefit to each member, not only through the value of practical facts, but by the aid of a broader and more complete education and a greater conception of the field of study to which life's work is devoted.
