THE N. C. PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETS IN GREENSBORO

The fall convention in the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association was held in Greensboro on October 28-29 at the North Carolina College for Women. It proved to be a most interesting and successful meeting. All of the colleges in the state, with the exception of Flora McDonald, had representatives there, either from their newspaper or magazine staff or from both. Eleven colleges in all were represented. There were Davidson, Trinity, Elon, Salem, Guilford, Carolina, Meredith, Wake Forest, G. C., Lenior, N. C. C. W., and N. C. State.

Besides the business program which consisted of addresses from experienced newspaper men, a most enjoyable social program was carried on throughout the conference due to the hospitality of the N. C. C. W. Students.

K. S. Nissen was sent to represent N. C. State. The spring meeting will be held at Wake Forest and Miss Anne Cantrell of N. C. C. W. was re-elected president.

DR. SEERLY SPEAKS ON "MANHOOD" AND "WOMANHOOD" AT STATE COLLEGE

Dr. F. N. Seerly, Dean of the International Y. M. C. A. Training School at Springfield, Mass., visited State College, October 25-26.

Dr. Seerly is giving one month of his time visiting the colleges in four states presenting the subject of clean living. While at the college he delivered two masterful addresses, one on "Manhood" and one on "Womanhood." These were heard by eighty per cent of the students and were highly appreciated by all who heard them.

Some men think that Dr. Seerly is the best man who has visited State College under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. in the last three years. He is a physician, a psychologist, a fluent speaker, and an ardent Christian. The appeal he made for clean manly living, and for respect and chivalry to women was indeed a strong one.

Commenting on his visit to State College, Dr. Seerly said, "I never

The Student Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers gave a dance in the Engineering Building Tuesday night. Music was furnished by the "Rollickers" of State College, and the event was enjoyed by all present.

The evening's entertainment was the first of a series of similar events planned by the social committee, which is fortunate in having as its

THE STATE COLLEGE AGRICULTURAL FAIR

For the past year or more there has been talk and discussions of an agricultural fair for State College. There was very serious talk of having one of these fairs in 1920, but due to it being a new adventure for State College and the shortness of time, the idea was abandoned and the corn show was held in its place. We all know what a success this corn show was. It was an achievement any college would be proud of. But when the old agricultural students came back here in September, we decided that a corn show was good within itself, but we should have more than merely a corn show for a college like this one. So the agricultural students present at the Agricultural Club decided to have an all-round agricultural fair for 1921. Committees were appointed and arrangements have been made for this fair. The day set for this fair is November 18th, which is Friday before our big football game of the 19th.

College agricultural fairs of this kind have been held in many of the northern and western agricultural colleges; they have not only proved a success from a material standpoint, but have created a spirit and developed a loyalty among the students that is more far-reaching than any other one thing could have been. It is not only educative from the standpoint of learning the good products, good qualities from the bad, but it will train men to be leaders, learn how to organize, and how to put over big things.

The details of the different exhibits and contests have not been worked out, but will say that prizes will be offered on corn, tobacco, cotton, wheat, oats, potatoes, cattle, poultry and a few other things. This list will be made out and posted right away. We have at the present time raised more than $200 in the form of prizes, and we expect to get a great deal more. Somebody is going to have to work for these prizes, so every agriculture student should begin making arrangements to get some of these products. The farm crop may be gotten from any place. So write home or some other place and get or have selected while Talking about pep, we've got it. Even those who have been here three years say that they have never seen the like of it. Now let's carry it to Norfolk.

Those of you who enjoyed reading the editorials of last time need not give credit to the editor for them as he was away on a trip. Editorials were mailed back but got in too late for publication. Thus the work of getting out the last issue fell to the managing editor. He would make us a pretty good editor don't you think?

WHAT WE ARE AFTER.

It would appear that the purposes and aims of the Technician are pretty well understood upon the campus, but we feel that we may well speak a word in regard to our policy concerning fault-finding. We are not opposed to criticism. We expect to criticise and we hope to be criticised. We welcome any articles or suggestions that are given in a true spirit of constructive criticism. You may write as much of such material as you please and we will give it every consideration for publication. It is one of the best ways in which to help our college, our paper, and ourselves as students.

Again we have no objection to "fun-flinging." If you can pull a good joke on some other department or some student, of course we will be glad to get hold of it. We hope to make the Technician a means of distributing good healthy fun over the campus and we consider it one of the best means of maintaining a good college spirit. We will try to use all of such material that we can get.

But the thing that we are strictly opposed to is this matter of finding fault with everything that happens to come your way. All such articles submitted for publication will be strictly discriminated against. If you see something wrong and think you know how to right it, tell us about it. If you are a grouch we can't handle your junk.

M. E. SOCIETY HOLDS INITIAL MEETING

McKinnie Elected President

The society got off to a flying start this year. The following officers were elected and installed: O. C. McKinnie, President; W. T. Iarding, Secretary; H. M. Shaw, Treasurer. At the first meeting the following men were initiated: Barber, Clay, Culpepper, Crockford, Dedmon, Duncan, Graham, John, Martin, Memory, Norris, Rickards, Smith, Underwood, Van Sant, Wells, West, Willis.

The next meeting we had with us the faculty members of the society who gave us short talks. It is hoped that these men will give us talks during the year on professional subjects.

The A. S. M. E. has adopted a series of social affairs during the year, and if they can be judged by the one held last year they bid fair to be very successful.

The A. E. M. E. has adopted a pin for the student branch of the society and the order has already been sent in for pins. These pins are similar to the parent pin, containing the colors of the college and the words "Student Branch, N. C. State."

DOINGS OF THE LEAZAR SOCIETY.

After the usual preliminaries following the opening of school the Leazar Literary Society has settled down to real work. If we are to judge the year's work from the start, we are facing the best year in the history of our Society.

We have taken in some twenty odd members of the "Newish" class besides several of the older men. They are showing a lively interest in the Society and promise to be great workers.

The first Inter-Society contest comes off Tuesday, November 1. It is the annual Declamation Contest. There are several members trying for the honor of representing our Society against the Pullen. Among them are Singletary, Van Sant, Harrill and Glazener. Our president, E. C. Tatum, is ruled out on account of having won the medal last year. His place will be hard to fill.

There seems to be a prevalent idea on the campus that because State is an engineering and agricultural College there is no need for the Literary Societies. It is all the more reason we should have them and it to be regretted that the Pullen and Leazar has such a small enrollment as compared with the number of students in school. Both societies have made a drive to right this mistake and we hope that the time is not far distant when our societies will be on par with the other college societies.

harvesting, some corn or other crop. Get busy on this right away.

The amusements which we have planned for this fair will be another interesting and attractive feature. We expect to put on a minstrel show that will make you sit up and take notice. Mr. D. B. Wilson, of the Farm Crop Department, has charge of this phase of the amusement. Any agriculture students who have any talent for this kind of work, see Mr. Wilson or Mr. Adams or Mr. Bill Mourol. There will be a parade over the streets of Raleigh on the morning of the 18th.

All right, agriculture students, one and all, "let's hit the line hard," and make this the greatest thing undertaken by any agriculture college of the south. As Dr. Taylor says, "Let's put State College on the map." There are plenty of people in this state that don't know what we are doing up here, and even some may not know what we are supposed to be doing. Let's show them that we are alive and are doing something. North Carolina is one of the leading agriculture states of the south, and why not make this the leading agriculture collere of the south?

Come to the Agriculture lub where we may be able to get in touch with you, so you can help us in this work. "All off for the State College Agriculture Fair on November 18th."

Everything for QUALITY —nothing for show

THAT'S OUR IDEA in making
CAMELS—the Quality Cigarette.

Why, just buy Camels and look at the package! It's the best packing science has devised to keep cigarettes fresh and full flavored for your taste. Heavy paper outside—secure foil wrapping inside and the revenue stamp over the end to seal the package and keep it air-tight.

And note this! There's nothing flashy about the Camel package. No extra wrappings that do not improve the smoke. Not a cent of needless expense that must come out of the quality of the tobacco.

Camels wonderful and exclusive Quality wins on merit alone.

Because, men smoke Camels who want the taste and fragrance of the finest tobaccos, expertly blended. Men smoke Camels for Camels smooth, refreshing mildness and their freedom from cigarette aftertaste.

Camels are made for men who think for themselves.

V. M. I. AND STATE BATTLE TO A TIE

In the best game of football seen on this campus in years, the State College "Wolfpack" and the V. M. I. "Flying Squadron" battled to a no decision game here last Saturday before a crowd of about five thousand. The consistency of the "Wolfpack" entirely offset the erratic brilliancy of the Cadets who were entirely played off their feet in the first half. Called back on the second play of the second quarter to make the last three yards, Sammie Homewood, who had just placed his team in scoring distance, carried the ball over for a touchdown.

State kicked off to V. M. I. who ran the ball back to their 35 yard line, but after three plays they fumbled and State recovered on her opponents 40 yard line. Park punted and it was V. M. I.'s ball on their 20 yard line. End runs gave them two first downs but then the "Wolfpack's" defence stiffened and, the ball went over on downs. An offside penalty on the first down made it 15 yards to go.

Holland skirted the end for 13 yards and Faucette made it first down. Homeward and Holland then gained 9 yards between them and Pierson made it another first down.

With the ball resting on V. M. I.'s 32-yard line, State College uncorked the punch that makes its name dreaded in the football world. A pass, Faucette to Homewood, carried the ball to the 7-yard line and the quarter ended with the play on the third down and three yards to go.

With the beginning of the second quarter the ball was carried over by Homewood on the second play, Faucette kicking goal.

Except for the touchdown, the second quarter was without notable incident, neither team carrying the ball into the other's territory and both kicking frequently, with Park having the best of it. The quarter

CAROLINA SUCCUMBS TO POWERFUL WOLFPACK

Once more have Carolina supporters invaded Riddick Field. Once more has their team battled itself across its white lines, once more have their cheers echoed across our campus, and once more have States loyal supporters seen our Red and White banners triumph over the Blue and White.

Nine thousand people crowded into Riddick Field on Thursday of Fair Week to see the elevens representing the two great state institutions fight the battle that would probably determine the football championship of the state. This crowd was furnished the only real thrill of the game in the third quarter when Captain "Runt" Faucette grabbed a free fumble and raced thirty yards for the touchdown that gave his team the victory. He then maintained his unbroken record by kicking goal, and bringing the score to 7 to 0. Twice during the first half Carolina had been in a position to score, and twice her backs failed to find a hole in State's defense that would let them through to the last white line.

But State does not owe her victory to the brilliant run of Faucette or to the splendid punting of Tommie Park, who twice, when called upon behind his goal line to punt his team out of danger booted the pigskin for seventy yards or better, but rather to eleven men playing as one machine for the glory of STATE.

State's line was impregnable. Carolina's backs could make no appreciable gains when they resorted to line bucking, but in Captain Lowe and Johnson they have two men who are especially apt in the handling of passes, and on these two men Carolina relied to make most of their gains. Time after time Tech forwards broke through and threw them for a loss, while most of States gains were through holes opened up by their superior line.

The game was remarkable clean and slow, the only penalties inflicted were for offside play.

Neither team made a substitution until the third quarter and Hartsell made only two changes in all, both of them taking place in the final period. However, State's touchdown was followed by a steady trickle of relief men from the Carolina bench.

ended with the ball in V. M. I.'s possession on its own 30-yard line.

The second half opened with V. M. I. fighting harder. V. M. I. kicked off and Park, forced to punt, booted one 65 yards. The cadets then started down the field from their own 15-yard line, taking the ball to State's 40-yard line, when the aggressive Wearn recovered an opponent's fumble, and Park again booted the ball upfield, it being again run back to the 18-yard line. V. M. I. was forced to kick, and after one first down, State took a hand in the fumbling game, the ball going to the Cadets on their own 25-yard line.

At this juncture the Cadets began to find their passing game and clung to it tenaciously for the remainder of the contest. A succession of passes, varied with a few running plays, with invariably failed to gain, sent the ball to State's 10-yard line, where the ball rested at the end of the quarter.

Park kicked 55 yards and the ball was run back to State's 35 yard line and the ball was again carried to the 10-yard line only to be again lost, a forward pass being grounded behind the goal line and going to State on its 20-yard line for scrimmage.

On the third down, Park kicked 45 yards and Farley pulled the most spectacular play of the game, running the ball back the entire distance of the punt and placing it on the one yard line and Costello pushed it over on the next play, Venable kicking goal and tying the score.

Statistics of the game reveal the fact that State College was superior in three departments of the game, line play, punting and following the ball. The "Wolfpack" gained 86 yards through the line as against 61 yards for V. M. I., while the Cadets were thrown for losses aggregating 17 yards as against a loss of 7 yards for State. In punting Tom Park sent his spirals for a average distance of 43 yards. But State's greatest advantage was its ability to keep up with the ball. With each set of backs fumbling four times,

State regained three of their own and three of their opponents.

VARSITY, SCRUB AND FRESHMAN TEAMS EMERGE VICTORIOUS

Three times in as many days State College teams met opponents on the field, and three times they came off the field victors with out having a point scored against them. They amassed a total of 46 to 0, and in these three games only one man appeared on the line-up twice, and then he was in one game for only seven minutes. This is an enviable record, fellows; these men have worked hard for N. C. State so lets all get behind them and work for bigger, better athletic teams at old State.

OUR DINING HALL.

State College is making such a rapid advance that we out grow many of the old customs and habits long before we realize that the time has come for the setting of new and higher standards.

Self-government is making unnecessary the Prep School type of rulings and regulations that have necessarily been imposed on us. This is an institution for men; we can and are making it the greatest institution of its kind in the south. All that is necessary in order to continue this advance is to continuously solve the problems of our college community as they come up. The master key that will solve all our problems is co-operation, spiced with patience and the State College spirit. Co-operate with our football team, and the South Atlantic championship will be ours. Every true State College man is for "STATE" in athletics, scholarship, advance and gentlemanly conduct.

In the rapid advance that we are making we have forgotten a very important detail in the making of a cultured and educated gentleman. Is it worth anything to a man to have good table manners? This is a characteristic that every man must develop. Have you ever been embarrassed when you go out to dinner, or in your own home by a rude act at the table, caused by your habitual conduct in the College dining hall? Of course you have.

Ours is one of the best dining halls to be had, in spite of the fact that it is being worked beyond its capacity at present. Plans are now under way for its enlargement in order that it may accommodate our growing student body.

How does our conduct in the dining hall measure up? Honestly, in comparison with other advances our table manners and dining hall conduct is as obsolete as the method of cooking used by Dan Boone and his Indian friends. Had you thought of it? No, we have been too busy with other things.

Now lets face the issue with the Old State College spirit and put over another good deal. Pass the buck on to your friends and classmates.

We are governing ourselves. The dining hall is ours. Conduct in the dining hall should not be a matter of compulsion on the part of the dining hall officials, the Military Department, or the Senior Class. It is every State College students responsibility. Naturally, standards must be set and of course we want them set so high that our dining hall will be on a plane with other college activities. Let's make our dining hall a place to which we are proud to bring friends and visitors.

A dining hall committee has been appointed. Bill Wearn is chairman. This committee is to simply lead in the advance, while every student is to play "interference" by means of co-operating, while the State College student body makes another touchdown. Dining hall regulations will be made and after sanction by the House of Student Government will be published and posted.

Should we smash down the doors in a mad rush to satisfy our appetites?

Should we yell and hiss, and act disorderly about standing while the others are coming in?

Should we rattle dishes and talk while thanks are being returned to God for His blessings?

Should we yell and whistle because the food is not just what we might desire?

Should we continue to eat and act disrespectfully while announcements are being read?

No, State College men I know that we are the type of gentlemen that do not approve of such behavior, because we know that this does not tend to lift us and our College. The trouble has not been due to a poor spirit or a disrespectful attitude, but to mere thoughtlessness. There is and shall be no greater spirit than ours.

On days of games and on the day before games or some big college event, boost State College by many and strong college yells. Put the old pep and fight into them, but don't yell and shriek at random and without reason. Our athletes do not desire or admire this type of support. In fact it does harm rather than good, besides being out of a college man's place.

Unity, reason, patience and a spirit to fight to the last ditch is what makes our college team win. The same characteristics must show up in our support to all college activities.

The dining hall committee claims your co-operation, State College men, in the uplifting of our standards of dining hall conduct. In the near future more definite moves will be made. But begin now to give your support and suggestions. The time is ripe—come on let's go. State College forever first, and in every respect.

W. N. HICKS.

SHALL WE HAVE A LARGER PAPER

At the last minute there has been handed in a number of articles that should go in this issue of the Technician. We are sorry that some of them will have to be omitted due to lack of space. It was for this reason that some of the articles were carried over from last time. Of course our managing editor will do the best he can and reject only such things as he has no room for. But is it right to restrict him in this way? Why shouldn't we have a better and larger paper? Some may ask: Why not more reading matter and less advertisers? For this simple reason that it is going to cost over $1,000 to get cut the paper and only 250 students have subscribed to it. Are you sure that you don't owe it to yourself and your college to subscribe if you have not already. If you have already subscribed, you can do us no better turn than get us a new man. Let's see who is behind us, not only as a paper but as a college.
