Assumes New Post Before September 1

Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray was unanimously elected president of the Greater University of North Carolina at a meeting of the Board of Trustees in Chapel Hill Monday, Feb. 8, at 5:30 in the Y. On the agenda that night will be the ratification of a constitution, election of officers, and a discussion of policy to be followed.

Young Democrats

Plans have been announced for the formation of a Young Democrat Club at State College. The first meeting will be Wednesday, Feb. 9, at 5:30 in the Y. On the agenda that night will be the ratification of a constitution, election of officers, and a discussion of policy to be followed.

Veterans Guidance Clinic Re-Activated

By BOB HOHN
As a result of hundreds of requests the Veterans' Guidance Clinic in Tompkins Hall was re-activated early in January. The increase in demand for vocational advancement in recent months is attributed to the fact that such guidance is generally a requirement for change of training or courses. Because of this, State College, with approval of the Veterans' Administration central office in Washington, re-activated the guidance center.

Young Democrats

"I am deeply honored by this action of the trustees. I am happy to accept this great opportunity which they have given me to serve North Carolina and its people. I will be available no later than Sept. 1, 1950, and as soon before that date as the requirements of the Department of Defense permit."

For the Job-Lorn

Anyone looking for a job should know that for best results he should carefully plan a "strategy" for the job hunt. There are proven techniques just as in selling another kind of product. An employer is interested in buying abilities. His unspoken question to a would-be employee is "What can you do that I want to have done for me?" It is the applicant's problem to organize the job hunt so that he effectively presents himself and his abilities to a prospective employer.

Well Qualified

Yesterday the announcement was made that Gordon Gray, Winston-Salem millionaire and now Secretary of Army, had accepted the offer to become president of the Greater University of North Carolina.

The TECHNICIAN has no fault to find with the committee's selection. While a few were chagrined that an educator was not chosen for the position, we feel that President Gray's background as a lawyer, business executive, and as a statesman more than qualifies him for the position of President of the University.

We welcome the new President to the University family, and wish him all of the success in his new career.

Please Join In

During this week the students of State College will be asked to contribute to WSSF. This drive for funds to aid students in the war devastated countries is a worthy cause and all members of the State College community should contribute.

When the representative from your area asks for your contribution, give generously. It will be appreciated.

Our Congratulations

The TECHNICIAN congratulates the Duke University Monogram Club for sponsoring the Big Four Monogram Club basketball tournament. The contests, which will feature basketball games between football players from Duke, State, Wake Forest, and Carolina, will be staged in the Duke gym this week to aid the March of Dimes campaign. All of the Big Four Clubs are to be commended for aiding in this worthy cause.

New Ideas

What the students want to read in their campus newspaper has always been a problem to college editors. It seems that no matter what is printed there is always a cry for something different.

No matter how hard they may try, even a newspaper staff may run stale of ideas, and it is up to the readers to freshen them up with new ideas. In the way of new ideas, for instance, we plan to run an inquiring reporter column in the near future. If this is the type article you like, let us know. We are interested in making the TECHNICIAN the students' newspaper. After all, you pay for it.

Bouquet

Along with all the barbs and sharp criticisms which the Technician has occasionally thrown towards Chancellor Harrelson, we would now like to insert a bouquet of our sweetest-smelling flowers.

Last week the Chancellor undertook to personally welcome the sponsors for the Mid-Winter Dances by means of a tea for the boys on the dance committee and their dates. The idea itself is not what we're applauding (although no one will deny that it's a good one); rather we like the idea of our Chancellor making the first step towards better acquainting himself with the students and the students with him.

True, the tea affected only a very small minority of the many students at State College, but through other occasions where it is possible for the Administration and students to mix, both factions which are so traditionally opposed at our school may come to realize each other good and bad points. The Administration can't do without us. . . we can't do without the Administration. . . why not coordinate the two groups as much as possible instead of separating them?

The object of this puzzle is to find each of the words in the word list in the puzzle. Each word can be used only once. All the words in the list are in the puzzle. When correctly completed, every letter in the puzzle will have been used once and only once.

In order to solve the puzzle, pick a word from the Word List. Find the first letter of the word in the puzzle. Then find the second letter in the word. The second letter must be adjacent to the first. Never move diagonally. Continue in this manner until you have found the entire word. Now try another word. Some words may seem to appear twice in the puzzle, but it is correct in only one place.

The correct solution appears on page 4.

AROUND THE TOWER

By SANFORD GLUCK

The most ambitious and long-range Campus Government project to be presented in many a year was introduced to the student body last week. In referring, of course, to the Purchase Card System. To try to predict the far-reaching effects of this program would be folly—likewise would it be disastrous to attempt to forestall its immediate outcome. If successful, this could substantially lower the cost of living of every student on this campus. It will take time to accomplish this mission, but with the backing of the students there is no reason on earth why it should not come to pass.

Receive Discount

As was explained in a previous Technician, the Purchase Card System enables students to receive a discount upon presentation of their Purchase Card to any of the authorized business enterprises. This discount will purchase basic necessities from the Campus Government for one dollar. It can easily be seen that the dollar investment by the student will be recovered after a few purchases.

The benefits to the merchant are obvious — giving a discount will tend to increase sales, which in turn will lead to greater profits. The benefits to the student are even more numerous. No one will deny that the cost of living in Raleigh is high, but there is pitifully little that we can do about it. This statement can be emphasized by a survey conducted by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor in Washington, showing that the cost of living in the city of Raleigh is fourth highest in the nation. For a city which has colleges in its area, and which depends to a great extent upon the students from these colleges for civic support, this is indeed a ridiculous situation. It was for this reason that the Purchase Card System was started in this city.

Despite repeated attempts to enlist the aid of the Raleigh Merchant's Bureau with this program, the Campus Government received nothing but discouragement. A delegation from the Raleigh Merchant's Bureau did attend one of the Campus Government meetings, in order to present a list of reasons why they did not wish to adopt P.C.S. They also returned the courtesy and allowed a group of students from the Campus Government to attend one of their meetings and present our side of the situation.

Main Objections

The main objection that the Raleigh Merchant's Bureau had to P.C.S. was that it amounted to preferential discounts. This cannot and should not be denied. However, it should neither be an objection, nor should it be a method of stimulating trade. This practice has even been occasionally encouraged by the Federal Government. The basic economic law upon which the Purchase Card System is founded is: To sell more units at less cost per unit.

Another objection advanced by the Bureau was that by adopting this program we would destroy the present good relations between the College and the Raleigh Merchant's Dorm Doings..

It seems that quite a large number of the boys decided to go home and various other places for the past weekend. At any rate, a large number had vacated the dorms. (Taking a breathing spell before midterms, I guess.) All the dorms had a quiet weekend and this gave the remaining fellows a chance for quiet study and concentration. (Steroid girls were also studying for exams.)

Elections

The dorm club elections are really getting underway. Several clubs have already held their primary elections and the ones that did not hold them last week are doing so this week. It seems that the competition is getting pretty hot in some of the races.

The dormitories and their respective returns are as follows:

Turlington—Dwight J. Ham, present Social and Recreational Chairman, received the largest number of nominating ballots for the president's position. However, it is rumored that he will have opposition in the finals. The candidates to be run off in the final elections are: Charles Stoddard and Bobby Wright for Vice-President; Bob Smith, Emory Wilson and William Leary for Secretary-Treasurer. The Turlington candidates are beginning to turn on the heat and the competition is expected to get pretty keen before final election time.

Alexander—Two nominees from each floor have been chosen. The officers will be elected from this group. The leading contenders are C. H. Seeberry, Robert Philip, Marshall Vernon, Leon Coulter, Bill Stanford, and Frank Diener.

Becton—Looks as if Robert Scott and Dobbins are the leading candidates for president and vice-president, respectively. Will give you the other returns next week.

The clubs primary returns not listed this week will appear in this column next week.

Welch Meeting

If you have never met a group of pranksters and razzers, you ought to attend one of the Welch Dorm Club meetings. They are really one big happy family.

Sidney Gracie, Publicity Chairman, and Charlie Gibson, President, gave me a copy of the publicity that they are putting out to drum up interest. Here it is. Take it for what it's worth!

The Welch Hedcock Club, a subsidiary of the Welch Dorm Club, will hold its regular monthly meeting on February 8th.

J. E. Jones, exclusive agent for the Club states that due to the great demand for membership some applications will have to be turned down. Bill Charlton, who is called "Snowman" by the girls at the dormitory parties, will be in charge of the program. Entertainment will be furnished by the Glen Maxwell, Sam Calhoun and Dwight Beatty.

One of the business matters to be discussed will be a request by Nicks Hicks to have the phone moved to his room.

IT DOES COUNT

Sponsored by the Interdormitory Council

So you didn't do so well in that last math quiz? Are you in a deep, dense fog in C.C. Or maybe it's that last English theme that misfired. Could be that chemistry or physics or cloth calc or design or something else is giving you a bad time. Maybe you figure you'll just ride along until after midterm, hoping for miracles. And then after midterm reports are out (the calendar says they are due Feb. 6th) you'll try desperately to recoup. Fella, it won't work. Whatever you do, start doing it now.

And WHAT can you do? Put in more hours? Mmm—well, maybe. Cut down on the outside activities? Possibly. All depends. The way you use your time is more important than how much. No recreation is as bad as too much. Speaking positively, here is a list approved by the Interdormitory Council, of some of the things you can do to make more likely A's and B's and C's and to make unlikely D's and F's.

- 1. Coaching Classes—Schedules are posted at various places on the campus and copies of the schedule were circulated last week by freshman dormitory counselors. Try these now. Don't go to just one or so and expect miracles. Don't take someone else's word that they won't help you. No two people are alike. See for yourself.
2. Talk to your instructor. He can help you locate the particular weaknesses and suggest ways of overcoming them.
3. See your adviser. Do this if things in general look bad.
4. Analyze your use of time. Do you give yourself a chance by studying when conditions are favorable—your hardest subject when you have the most energy, etc. Do you study too long at a stretch? Keep regular hours. Adopt an efficient routine.
5. Overlearn things which you know you are going to be held responsible for. Spend some time in review in each subject once a week rather than save it all for a cramfest at the end of the term.
6. Most important, figure out something which should help you, and BEGIN NOW!

A limited number of guests will be present and refreshments will be served by Bob "The Coca Cola Kid" Shaw.

Another Social

With a weekend break in the Dorm Social Calendar, Turlington and Alexander are making plans for their party on February 10th.

This social whirl will get underway at 8:00 at the Gym. Summy Cagle and his Statesmen will furnish music for the affair.

Girls (limited number) will be present, however, if you have one you wish to bring, you may do so.

All occupants of Alexander and Turlington are invited to attend when their club dues (50c) have been paid.
E. J. Willis, President of Alexander Club; David Fletcher, Jr., Social Chairman Alexander; Bill Griffin, President Turlington Club; and Dwight Ham, Social Chairman Turlington, are in charge of arrangements.
Good Dance
Have you heard any reports on the Syme-Welch-Gold party that was held at the Armory last Friday night? Ask anyone that indulged in the fun and merrymaking how they enjoyed the evening.

Wolfpack Defeats Wake Forest In Close Contest, 57-50

Horvath and Ranzino Lead In Conference Victories

State College's rampaging Wolfpack added another conference victory to the record Thursday night with a hard-fought 57-50 victory over Wake Forest.

The Deacons, who were playing a "home" game in the coliseum, kept on even keel with the Pack up until the final minute when the locals pulled away to win by seven points. The contest was a rough and tumble affair, with a total of 40 fouls being called.

Paul Gets 15

For the Wolfpack, it was rangy Paul Horvath who led the scoring with 15 points. Forwards Dick Dickey and Sam Ranzino were next with eight and ten points respectively. Big Al McCotter, top-notch Deacon center, capped scoring honors for the night with 22 points.

As was expected, the contest was a typical State-Wake Forest game with plenty of rough action. The first half was a nip and tuck battle with the lead changing hands seven times. At no time did the Wolfpack get a comfortable lead, and at halftime they led by only one point.

Never Headed After intermission, the Wolfpack had better success with the Deacon defense and were never headed. After getting a fairly comfortable lead the Pack seemed content to hold down the score, and at times the game slowed down to a walk.

However, the Deacons kept in the game all the way, and it wasn't until the final minute that the Pack was assured of victory.

Al McCotter was the work-horse of the Deacon offense, and his fine rebound work in the first half kept the Deacons in the game. His efforts in the second half were not enough to provide the margin of victory. The next highest scorer for the Baptists was Najewy, with eight points.

State's next game with the Deacons will be Saturday night at the coliseum. A capacity crowd of 12,000 is expected to be on hand.

Trounce Furman

In a game played at the Coliseum Saturday night, the Pack trounced the Purple Paladins of Furman, 74-38.

The South Carolinians managed to keep pace with the Pack for most of the first half, but near the end of the period the Wolfpack poured on the steam to go into a 25 to 17 lead at intermission. After halftime the Pack took over complete control, and it was only a matter of how large the margin of victory would be.

High Scorer

Center Paul Horvath was again the high scorer for State, with 13 points. Kerr of Furman was high scorer for the evening with 17 points.

Coach Sorrell Gives Call For Indoor Baseball Practice

Coach Vic Sorrell said Wednesday that he will open drills for State College diamond hopefuls this week, with early sessions set for the basement of the Coliseum.

"I intend to call out only the pitchers and catchers this week," said Coach Sorrell, "but you can't keep the other fellows away and most of the boys will report and start throwing the ball around. Most of our early work will be inside, but if the weather continues as warm as it has been and we get the field in shape, we will go outside for some workouts."

Sorrell indicated that he will depend primarily on sophomores this year, players off the state championship freshman diamond team last year.

Only a few holdovers remain from the Wolfpack variety of last year.

Irvin Page and Bob Smith return for mound duty and Catcher Billy Fowler is back, although the Charlotte boy may be shifted to another post this season, perhaps third base.

Firstbaseman Don Check also returns, but will be moved to the outfield. John Norrell and Buck Livingston are a couple of other infield holdovers.

Welch Edges Alexander

By SID CREDLE

Welch edged No. 2 Alexander 23-21 in a hard fought overtime game on January 23. "Tubby" Jones' charity toss in the overtime period proved to be the margin of victory for Welch.

In the overtime the only point scored was by Jones of Welch.

In the first half the scoring-lead changed hands several times. At one time No. 2 Alexander was leading by 7-3 count. Welch overcame this deficit on quick goals by Gibson and Credle. At the half the score was tied at 11-11.

At the start of the second half Welch took an early lead but it soon vanished before No. 2 Alexander's fast break. In the last minute of play with No. 2 Alexander trailing 21-19, Frank Richardson of No. 2 Alexander made the most spectacular play of the game. Richardson after receiving the ball from a tap at a jump dribbled the entire length of the court and made the goal that tied up the game.

The outstanding player for No. 2 Alexander was Richardson who tallied 8 points.

The players who turned in a good performance for Welch were Charles Gibson, "Flash" Twyford, Felton Turner and Hugh Conner.

Latest Theatre Play Is Termed Success

By BILL HOFFMAN
"Heaven has no rage like love to hatred turned Nor hell a fury like a woman scorned."

Mrs. Vera Simpson emits this fury of Medea, who is deserted by a selfish and hypocritical husband (Jason), with a vitality and passion that saps your strength to watch. There are times when she could drop to a cold, indifferent pitch to emphasize sadistic pleasure rather than maintaining her fervor throughout. Such an interpretation produces contrast giving more terrible moods greater impact. But this fine line of taste could hardly deny Mrs. Simpson's performance a tremendous yet judicious applause.

Dramatic Achievement
The entire cast filled their parts with honest, dramatic achievement. Frances Carson as the nurse, and Mary Crone as the first woman of Corinth acted with a sensitivity and temperance that adds an optimism to the drama without shifting the stage from Medea. Alfred Pannell gave a convincing portrayal of Jason.

The play was well-cast and shows evidence of keen direction. The set, the lighting, the music had integration and effectiveness as the result of know-how and hard work.

Welcome Change
The Greek tragedy is a welcome change from insipid "naturalism" of contemporary drama. It contains a forcefulness and magnificence of morals that is lacking in the clever-talking detective or the casual man-about-town.

SAE's—

in their search for the wrappers, all contributing their share to the cause.

The reason for the long delay in announcing the winners was due to the last minute rush of wrappers that poured into the contest headquarters in the final days of the race. In the period of four days over one and a half million covers were received by the contest judges.

The Philip Morris division manager said that the contest was a big success and that more contests in the future may be possible. He said that the fraternities at State College were very cooperative in making the "Scorecast" a success.

crete technology, soil studies, pavement performance investigations and traffic studies.

"The contributions of this organization in the development of techniques for the interpretation of soil types and land forms from air photos have gained national recognition. The research organization under his direction has also participated extensively in cooperative research endeavors with the Civil Aeronautics Authority and with the U. S. Corps of Engineers."

Former Faculty Member
Professor Woods, a former faculty member at the Ohio State University and a former soils engineer with the Ohio State Department of Highways, was educated at Ohio State and is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the American Society for Testing Materials, the American Concrete Institute, the American Road Builders' Association, and the Highway Research Board.

In 1945, he received the annual Highway Research Board Award for preparing a paper on highway materials.

State College's School of Engineering, Dean Lampe said, realizes the needs of the State road-building program and hopes to make its facilities and research scientists available to offer technical services which may fill some of the needs.

Veterinary Meet Held Here Last Week

"Milk production is profitable only when the reproduction of the dairy animal is normal," Dr. R. C. Klussendorf of Chicago, Ill., assistant executive secretary of the American Veterinary Medical Association, told delegates to the 12th annual veterinary conference at State College recently.

Dr. Klussendorf told around 175 veterinarians from four states that "a regular check on the reproduction of dairy cows is one of the best ways by which you can make money for your clients."

Other Speakers
Other speakers on the Thursday morning session were Dr. F. H. Fox of Cornell University and Dr. L. M. Hutchings of Purdue University. Both delivered technical talks relating to new developments in veterinary medicine.

Speakers on the Thursday afternoon program were Dr. H. R. Rollins, State veterinarian with the North Carolina Department of Agriculture; Dr. Martin H. Roopke of the University of Minnesota; and Dr. Hutchings.

Four-Day Program
The speakers were introduced by Dr. C. D. Grinnell, veterinarian of N. C. State College and chairman of the conference. The conference, sponsored jointly by the North Carolina Veterinary Medical Association and State College, will be concluded Friday following a four-day stand.

Principal speakers on the final program Friday will be Davis S. Weaver, assistant director of the State College Agricultural Extension Service; Dr. Mark L. Morris of Rutgers University; and Dr. Fox.

The annual banquet session of the conference was held at the Tar Heel Club near Raleigh Thursday night at 7 o'clock.

State Students Attend Conference

Ten State College students attended the North Carolina Methodist Student Conference in Greensboro, February 3-5.

Dr. Mack B. Stokes, Professor of Christian Doctrine, Emory University was conference speaker, and he used as a theme, "The Christian Faith and the Campus Mind." Said Dr. Stokes, "We are so busy with small things that we don't have time for great things. The natural drift of the mind is to diversity, multiplicity, and distraction."

Lead Discussion

Mr. E. W. (Bill) Rogers, of the State College YMCA, and Miss Juanita Stott, of the Registrar's office, assisted in leading in the fellowship discussion groups on Friday and Saturday.

Accompanying the state group were three delegates from Peace College and four from Meredith.

State students attending were: Karl Harrod, Ralph Cool, Glenn Hardesty, Johnny Fulton, Oscar Merritt, Leon Ballance, John Umbarger, George Martin, Harvey Bumgardner, and Charles Cole.

Agricultural Club

The Ag Club met Tuesday, February 7, in 118 Withers Hall at 7 p.m. At this meeting, the proposed Ag Club Certificates were presented and discussed by the group. The Ag Education department was in charge of the program.
