Coliseum To Open With Game Dec. 2; Betts Named Manager

To Play Host To
Washington and Lee

By JIM HOLLINGER
The Reynolds Coliseum and the basketball season will open simultaneously December 2, it was announced this week by W. Z. Betts, manager of the indoor stadium. Plans have been made to open the arena with the Washington and Lee game, which is the season opener for the Wolfpack. Not all work on the building will be completed by December, and it will probably be March before the entire structure is completed, Betts said.

Seating Arrangement
The coliseum manager has conferred with an engineer on the temporary seats to be installed and the following arrangement will be used for basketball games. The temporary floor will be laid in the center of the arena with bleachers on each side. Each end will have 12-foot tiered platforms with rows of folding chairs. The temporary seats will hold about 3700 people, while the capacity of the permanent seats is 7814.

Special Events
A wide variety of entertainment is being planned for the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum. In time the Coliseum will see circuses, boxing, concerts, ice shows, conventions, grand opera, and fairs. No plans for events can be made until the building is completed, but Betts promised Ringing Brothers Circus and an ice-capade. Spotlights for boxing and plays will be installed, and when the money for a stage is raised, even grand opera can be scheduled.

Betts promised to bring to the Coliseum every educational, recreational, or entertaining show that he can book. State and national conventions can be held in the 12,000-seat capacity.

Fancy Press Box
The press box will be furnished with adjustable chair units which will be adjustable to either a typewriter table or a writing desk. The radio announcers will sit opposite the press box on the east side, and the scoreboard hangs from the roof in the middle of the arena.

Public-Address System
Sound engineers designed a public address system for the finest possible voice and music reproduction. With every foot of the interior receiving the same sound intensity. Two 75-watt high fidelity amplifiers with inputs from AM, FM, phonograph, microphone, or telephone line will provide the sound power. There will be seven microphone inputs around the walls and one in the center of the roof, and the interior will be extensively treated with acoustic materials. The lighting and the acoustics will be the finest possible.

New Regulations Now Effective

By MAX HALBER
Concomitant with the beginning of the new school year several new regulations have been installed which in most cases will benefit the students more than ever in the past.
Under Scholarship Requirements, Sec. 1, par. (b) states that "A year of residence . . . is any school year (September-June) at State College or another collegiate institution in which a student completes two or more terms."
Good news for those who find it difficult to pass 10 hours per term is contained in Sec. 2, par. (a). "A student must pass a minimum of six hours of work in his first term of residence and he must pass a minimum of eight hours during each succeeding term. A student failing to meet these minimum requirements shall be dropped from the college rolls."
Straddlers of the C-coverage may be interested in par. (c): "A student who does not have net quality points equal to credit hours (less than a C average) in September of his second year of residence, or any September thereafter, shall be dropped from the college rolls and shall not be eligible for readmission for the fall term unless the deficiency is made up by attending a summer session at this institution. Transfer students will be allowed at least one year of residence at this institution. EXCEPTION: A student dropped for the first time under this rule (Sec. 2, par. (c)) remaining three of this institution for one academic year, and qualifying under Sec. 1, par. e, may be readmitted at the opening of the fall term upon the recommendation of the Dean or Director of Instruction, of the school concerned."

For the "lovelorn, married, or apron-stringed scholar there is cause for three hand stands in Sec. 1 under Class Attendance: "Students are expected to attend all classes. All students classified as freshmen remaining three of this institution in any scholastic year are allowed a total of five unexcused class absences per term throughout the entire year without loss of credit points. One credit point is lost on the sixth unexcused absence, and one for each three thereafter. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors, so classified at their first registration in any scholastic year, are allowed a total of eight unexcused absences per term without loss of credit points. One credit point is lost on the ninth unexcused absence and one for each three thereafter."

Dr. Lockmillier was educated at Emory, Cumberland University and the University of North Carolina, which awarded him the Doctor of Philosophy degree. In addition, he did summer study and research in 1937 at Oxford University, in England, and in 1940 at the University of Chicago. He has traveled in Europe, Canada, Mexico, and Cuba.
The formal program in observance of the college's founding will be preceded by an academic procession which will form on the lawn of Memorial Tower on Monday, October 3, at 11:45 o'clock. Col. Samuel A. Gibson, commandant of the College's Department of Military Science and Tactics, will be the chief marshal during the procession.
Special music will be provided during the program by the State College Orchestra, directed by Major Christian D. Kutschinski, head of the Music Department. The invocation will be pronounced by the

Founder's Day Program To Be Held Monday

State College will observe the 60th anniversary of its founding with an elaborate program next Monday, October 3.

The announcement of the special observance came from Chancellor J. W. Harrelson, who will preside over the main service to be held in Pullen Hall, October 3 at 12 o'clock noon.
The program will be sponsored by the Senior Class, headed by President Avery Brock of Mount Olive, and arrangements for the event are being made by the Public Lectures Committee, headed by Dr. L. E. Hinkle. Brock stated earlier this week that the members of the Senior Class were urged to get into Pullen Hall and seated as early as possible and plans are being made to seat them in a body.

Dr. David A. Lockmillier, president of the University of Chattanooga in Chattanooga, Tenn., will deliver the principal address. His topic will be "North Carolina State College in the Nation's Service."
Former Professor
A former State professor and department head, Dr. Lockmillier is nationally known as an outstanding Southern educator and historian. He is author of "North Carolina State College, 1889-1939"; "The Consolidation of the University of North Carolina"; "Magoon in China: A History of the Second Intervention"; "Sir William Blackstone"; and other books.
Dr. Lockmillier resigned his position as head of the Department of History and Political Science at State College in 1942 to accept the presidency of the Chattanooga institution.

College Athletic Department Adds New Staff Members

During the summer two new additions were made to the State coaching staff. Thomas M. Fitzgibbon, former head trainer and track coach at George Washington High, Alexandria, Virginia, was named head trainer and track coach. He brings a brilliant scholastic and collegiate record to his new post. Dick Peacock, a graduate in textiles, was named freshman football coach of the Wolfpack in August.

Fitzgibbon is a 44-year-old native of Wisconsin. He received his early experience under T. C. Jones at Wisconsin and later moved to the University of Toledo where he worked with Dr. G. W. Spears. He holds a B.S. degree in physical education from Wisconsin.
A veteran of two years in the Army in World II, Fitzgibbon served as an instructor in a medical detachment.

Following the war Fitzgibbon was named to his post at Alexandria, where he turned out some of the most successful track teams in the history of the Virginia High School Athletic Association.
Peacock is a native of Lexington, N. C., where he was a star prep school center. He performed on college fields for Catawba in 1942 and 1943 and after three years in the Air Corps in World War II transferred to State where he played two seasons at center.
Dick is regarded by Coach Feathers as "a fine addition to our staff, who I'm sure will do a top notch job with our freshmen."

Peacock is State's first full-time freshman coach since 1942. He will be assisted during the five-game freshman season by four former State varsity players who have finished their eligibility.

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR RUSH WEEK; BEGINS SATURDAY

Frosh Note!

The attention of all freshmen and all new students is directed to the unwritten rule that the only monogram recognized on this campus is the monogram duly authorized by the Athletic Department of North Carolina State College.

The Campus Government requests that all students refrain from wearing the monograms they earned at other schools, as such monograms, esteemed though they may doubtless be, tend to detract from the varsity letter of this institution. This is a tradition which is observed at almost every college in the country, and all students are asked to cooperate. There is no objection, however, to wearing the sweaters awarded at other schools, provided the letter is removed.

Violations of this tradition have been noted and called to the attention of the Campus Government by members of the Monogram Club of State College.

L. F. C. Warns Fraternities; Many Parties Scheduled

By JOHN THOMPSON

The Interfraternity Council has announced the plans for the rushing and pledging of freshmen during the fall term.
Beginning Saturday, October first and lasting through Monday, October third, the first phase of rushing will begin. This period of time is known as "Visiting Days." During these visiting days the freshmen receiving invitations will have an opportunity to visit the chapter houses of the fraternities. Woody Bass, President of the Interfraternity Council urges the freshmen to accept these invitations, if at all possible. It is important that the freshmen visit the chapter houses of the fraternities which have extended invitations to him.

Date Card Rule

At the fraternity house each freshman will be required to fill out his "Date Card" in triplicate. One of these copies is retained by the student, one is retained by the chapter, and the third is turned into the Dean of Students' Office. The freshman is warned to distribute his time among the fraternities. He should not allow one fraternity to monopolize all of his dates.

Officially, rushing will begin at 12:00 noon Tuesday, October 4, and will close at midnight, Saturday, October 8. The hours for rushing are from 12 noon to 12 midnight. During this period of time known as "Rush Week," the social fraternities of State College will give numerous smokers and parties.

Silent Period

Following "Rush Week" there will be a silent period lasting from midnight Saturday, October 8 to noon, Tuesday, October 11. During this time no freshman is to be approached by a member of a fraternity.

Freshmen receiving bids from fraternities are to accept or reject their bids within the period from Wednesday, October 12 to noon, Saturday, October 15, by reporting in person to the Dean of Students.

A rule barring conversation concerning fraternities with a freshman by a member of a fraternity before noon, Saturday, October 1, was announced by Woody Bass, President of the Interfraternity Council. Freshmen and applicants are cautioned to attend all regular college duties during Rush Week. No student will be excused because of fraternity activities.

Polk died suddenly in Washington, D. C., on June 11, 1892, while serving as head of the National Farmers Alliance, the largest and most powerful farm organization in American history. The Peoples Party convention was slated to meet on July 4, 1892, just four weeks following Polk's death.

Polk was born in Anson County on April 24, 1837, grew up on his father's farm, and went to Davidson College for one year. He later married the former Sarah Pamela Gaddy, also of Anson, and they were the parents of six daughters and one son, who died in infancy. Only one of their daughters—Mrs. D. H. Browder of Arcadia, Fla.—is still living.

History Prof Writes Biography of Colorful Farm Crusader

A full-length biography, entitled "Leonidas LaFayette Polk: Agrarian Crusader," has been written by Dr. Stuart Noblin, faculty member in the Department of History and Political Science, and will be released for public distribution next week.

Dr. Noblin, who has been a member of the college's faculty since September, 1947, first became interested in the late Colonel Polk while following a course in Southern history at the University of North Carolina. His book is the first full-length study of Polk.

The biography, which is being published by the University of North Carolina Press, is 325 pages long. The list price is $5.
Commenting on Polk's rise to fame and his influence in State and national affairs, Dr. Noblin said: "If he had lived four weeks longer, it is generally believed that he would have received the Presidential nomination on the Peoples Party ticket."

Misunderstanding

Dear Sir:
This is to apologize for a misunderstanding that arose at the Greater University Day Dance last Saturday the 24th of September.

State College students had received the information that the dance was to be "strictly informal," however the Dance Committee refused admittance to those who were not wearing coats and ties. I tried to get the Committee to allow the countless men to enter anyway, but the Committee was powerless to do so because of the rock-ribbed rules of the organization.

We secured as many coats and ties as possible for the use of the students, but unfortunately there were not enough to go around. I regret very much the occurrence and hope that few men were inconvenienced by the "coat and tie" rule.

Personnel Dept. Offers Job Survey Fits Man To Job

What job field or what industry offers the best opportunities? Sometimes a student will ask a question like this. Of course, there is no answer. Admittedly it is possible to find the job field in which the highest salaries are paid, or in which the average salary is higher than in any other, or in which more people are engaged than in any other, or in which it now appears there will be many jobs for years to come. But that does not guarantee that you will get the highest salary, or any particular salary, or even a job if you pick that vocation. And, anyway, the job outlook in a given field should not be the chief consideration in picking a vocation. Far more important are the particular abilities and interests of the individual man. A man poorly suited for a vocational field, even the very best job field as the outlook point of view estimates, will have a hard time getting a position and probably won't be happy if he does. And the reverse: a man who is really well suited for a type of job will probably get a job in that field even if openings are very few.

Answer Not Easy
The answer to the question of vocational choice is not really really easy. For one thing, most of us could each do a great many different things well. The object, then is not to find that one niche which is the only one into which you really fit. Rather, it is, as best you can, to pick one of several fields which are promising.

How can you make a choice of this sort? For one thing, find out about the kind of work done in several occupations in which you are interested. You can do this by consulting occupational information files such as that to be found in the Student Personnel Office in Peels hall, by talking with men in that kind of work, and to some extent by means of try-out jobs.

Try An Inventory
Take inventory. What have been your strengths and weaknesses in your school work, in your work experience, in extra-curricular activities? What hobbies have particularly interested you? What kind of reading do you like? These are all clues. Aptitude and interest tests can help. And, in any case, you may want to talk to a vocational counselor for assistance in evaluating these different indications of your vocational promise.

The Student Personnel office offers this kind of service. Dr. Anderson and Mr. Rogers invite you to come in sometime to 106 Peels hall if you are interested.

Professor and Wife Study Collection

Rare Tar Heel Volumes Found In Prof's Unique Collection

Roger Marshall's Library Shelves 1702 Edition

By AURELIA D. WALLACE

One of the most unusual private collections of rare early North Carolina literature belongs to Roger P. Marshall, professor of English at State College.

As a part of his library, Professor Marshall, collector extraordinaire, has collected over the years between 50 to 75 rare books, dozens of photostats, and first editions which reflect over 200 years of colorful Tar Heel history.

His special collection of books by North Carolinians or about North Carolina writers and ranges from an "Abridgement of Raleigh's History of the World," published in 1702 by Sir Walter's only grandson, to "The Conjure Woman," (1899) by Charles Waddell Chestnut, includes a ponderous photostat of the first book ever printed in North Carolina, "Acts of the Assembly of the Province of North Carolina," printed in 1761 by the famous early colonial journalist, James Davis, and even to honey-sweet romances by a Raleigh lady novelist.

Rare Volumes

Within the last five years Marshall has acquired a variety of photostatic copies, adding a few items each year as the "pay-as-you-go" limitations of a professional salary permits. He now has photostatic copies of such rare items as the earliest extant copy of the first Tar Heel newspaper, The North Carolina Gazette, published in the reign of George II, and "Spain and the Spaniards," General James Johnston's "Growth" book of travel, published on the eve of the Civil War.

"My interest in books began almost in childhood," explained the professor as he indicated with a sweep of his hand after wall of historical records. His quiet Raleigh study. His father was the late W. F. Marshall, one-time editor of The Gastonia Gazette, associate editor of The Progressive Farmer, and co-editor of North Carolina Education with the late Dr. E. C. Brooks, former president of State College.

Each Tells Story

Now the study and half the blue living room are paneled to the ceiling with hundreds of the unusual and interesting volumes that he and Mrs. Marshall, both native Tar Heels, have collected. Nearly every volume has a story behind it, as well as in it, and each one means something special to its owners. For instance, rarest book in the collection is a frayed, yellowed volume, a first edition of a colorful novel of Indian life called "Eoneguak" or "The Cherokee Chief." Printed in Washington, D. C., in 1839, this very first North Carolina novel with a Tar Heel setting was written by poet, senator, and lawyer Robert Strange of Fayetteville.

"I think 'Eoneguak' is just as good as much of James Fenimore Cooper's best work," the professor commented, pulling the volume from a stack of books on his knees and flipping its aged pages. "It's even better in some ways—it has better humor, better women, and its characters really come to life!"

What a collector's nightmare! Marshall had before actually finding one of the very few existing copies of this museum piece! He started fruitlessly combing musty bookstores back in 1925. Finally, he ordered the book, then worth $42.50, through a dealer who advised that he could obtain a copy from Scotland.

Gets Bargain

"Eventually the dealer reported that the book had been burned and sent others in its place. Years later, I learned of a copy in a second-hand store in Miami and bought it for $41," he said. Now, other copies of "Eoneguak" are so rare that they are kept under lock and key in Duke University and University of North Carolina libraries.

And what value are books like these except as hobby material or museum pieces? None, says Professor Marshall, who hopes that an adequate anthology of North Carolina writers will be published. Because no such book exists now, he believes it would fill a great need in North Carolina's literary and historical records. All these books, still full of vigor and interesting insight into the state's early exis-ence, are now hidden away from the general public.

Melodramas Others, not for sale at any price, have to be photostated, page by page, from the original, perhaps in a library or a private collection. An example is an odd-looking copy of two plays by an early Pasquotank lawyer, Lemuel Sawyer, a congressman who dashed off melodramas in his spare time to amuse his fellow souls.

Because book collectors are relatively few, many of them mistakenly think, as Marshall once did, that they are more or less alone in their interests. "I am sure many Tar Heels share my amateur interest in rare North Carolina," he declared, "and will perhaps be encouraged to continue their interest." He said that he would be glad to have anyone so interested to get in touch with him.

C. A. McKeeman Gets M.E. Professorship

Appointment of Clyde A. McKeeman of Calais, Maine, as recipient of the L. L. Vaughan Professorship of Mechanical Engineering has been announced by Dean J. H. Lampe.

McKeeman will head the new curriculum in heating and air conditioning which is being offered at the college for the first time this fall. He will work under the direction of Prof. K. P. Hanson, head of the Department of Mechanical Engineering.

Approve Appointment

He was recommended for the position by eminent engineers and educators, and his appointment has been approved by Chancellor J. W. Harrison, Acting President W. D. Carmichael, Jr., of the Consolidated University of North Carolina and by the executive committee of the board of trustees.

The new teaching program, which McKeeman will direct, will cover a four-period and lead to the Bachelor of Science degree in heating and air conditioning. It will also include short courses for industrialists and experimental work involving manufacturing problems.

Honors Prof

The professorship, which was established by the North Carolina Association of Plumbing and Heating Contractors, was named in honor of Prof. L. L. Vaughan, who served on the State College faculty for 41 years until his retirement this summer.

Handball Clinic

Mr. Doak will conduct a handball clinic for freshmen dorms October 10, 11, 13, 14, at 7:30 in the back of the gym. This is done because freshmen dorms find difficulties in this activity. Athletic Directors should find about six men in each unit and send the down to observe the demonstrations and rules of play. Any other organizations having trouble are invited.

Forestry Club

With a full quorum of Senior members present, the Forestry Club of the Division of Forestry held the first meeting of the year on Tuesday evening in Withers Hall.

The date for the Rollo—annual forester's field was set for Saturday, October 29. The Rollo will be held at the Hill Forest north of Durham.

At the next meeting, Tuesday evening, October 4th in Room 105 Withers, all regular and special officers for the first half of the school year will be elected. Everyone registered in any forestry curriculum is urged to attend the meeting and vote in a slate of active, qualified men. There were over 90 present at the first meeting.

Aero Majors To Meet

The Institute of Aeronautical Sciences will meet Tuesday in Page Hall room 102. Freshman and sophomore Aero students should attend the meeting to see an example of I.A.S. activities.

Dr. A. G. Guy, noted local metallurgist, will speak on High-Temperature Alloys in Gas Turbines.

At last week's meeting Professor R. W. Tritt urged seniors to consider the new fifth year in Aeronautical Engineering now being offered. Associate Professor Michel was introduced to the group.

The meeting is 7 p.m. Tuesday night in Page room 102.

Farm Life Described By Former Student

An illustrated article on small farming by P. Frank Goodwin of Apex, Route 3, Chatham County, as told to Dr. Frank H. Jeter, agricultural editor of State College, appears in the October issue of The Farm Journal, a national monthly magazine having over 2,700,000 readers.

The article, entitled "They Can't Run Me Off," is described on the cover of The Farm Journal as "a note of confidence from a family farm." It tells how Goodwin bought a farm of 102 acres and has developed it into a paying business, free from debt.

Goodwin, the article says, studied civil engineering at State College for three years, married Leona Yates, and borrowed money to buy the farm, which Goodwin said was "badly abused."

The farm now includes a modern home, a farm pond and swimming pool, a balanced crop and livestock program, fertile pastures, registered cattle, and abundant gardens and food crops.

Chess Club

The State College Chess Club will meet in the Faculty Club Room of the YMCA, on Friday, Sept. 30, at 7 p.m. All persons who wish to join must do so in order to vote in the elections to be held the following Friday.

With The Greeks

By JACK McQUINN

Related greetings to ex-Greek Editor Ted Williamson and his bride, the former Miss Carolyn Arden. When Ted gets his color back completely here's hoping he'll come by the office and drop a few lines on just how such a fine little Magnolia Blossom is hunted, trapped, and supported.

During my ramblings over at "the Hill" this past week-end it happened into the KA House. Just as I crossed the threshold I overheard one man soundly berate another for opening a can of beer while there were ladies and co-eds present in the House. Incidentally, upon checking I found the gentleman who took such a dim view of the situation was a member of another frat. Of the six people I have told the story to since, three rolled in the dirt laughing at the absurdity of the thing, two explained that they would be "dog-goned, or cetera," and one declared the action as the beginning of a New Age at Carolina.

Back over at State our I.F.C. had a few problems of its own. Meeting last Thursday noon under the Chairmanship of Woody Bass, Delta Sigma Phi, a request from one or more of the High Llammas of our institution was studied. The need was expressed in this note for a set of so-called minimum rules for our local frats. A committee consisting of Woody Bass, Charles Boney, Emmet Bringle, and Hoyt Adams was appointed to originate these rules.

Latest word is that this Committee has agreed upon a set of rules which will be passed on to our individual fraternities for study. After fraternity review, they will come before the next meeting of the I.F.C., October 6, for approval. The Fraternity Life will have the final say, however.

The seriousness of this new code will be apparent to those who read it next week.

A tentative date for the Pledge Dances has been set by the I.F.C. If things work out the dances will be held the 18th and 19th of November. As for the band, early ru-more center around Ray Anthony, Dean Hudson, and Hal McIntyre. Intrastate football games begin October 5 with games scheduled between Sigma Chi and Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Pi Kappa Alpha, and Pi Kappa Tau and Sigma Pi.

Boning up the hardest for the season are the Pi Kappa Phi's. For long a lot shorter on scores than gamma, the boys are giving it a college try this year. Although a little lighter from the loss of "Iron Man" Rufus Hering and "Stiek" Deyton, the team has looked good in the last several practices. Big P. L. Love is featured at guard, "Heavy Boy" Post at center, and the fast Central High combination of McCullough, Moore, and Neal in the backfield.

The Pikes are still moaning the loss of Levi Bridges but expect to take the SAE's on the opener. Some of their big guns will be Kelly Batson and Bouncin' Bull Corbitt in the line with Don Spencer and Louis Cramer in the back positions. No comments so far from the SAE's.

To name a few, Sigma Alpha Mu will count on Gene Gold, Jim Freehoff, Herb Brenner and Howard Schenkman. No practice has been held in the Sammie camp yet.

The SPE's supposedly well off in the material as the result of healthy pledging last year, will put forth a likely crew. Among those mentioned to defend the glory of Sigma Pi Epsilon are Scotty Rogers, Joe Upchurch, Jim Broadwell and Jim Holloway.

A.I.C.H.E.

The American Institute of Chemical Engineers will meet Tuesday, October 4, at 7 p.m. in room 113 of Winston Hall. All freshmen Chemical Engineers are invited to attend. The film, "Story of Lubrication" will be shown.

Soccer

All those interested in playing on the soccer team are asked to report for practice on Doak Field any afternoon after 3:30.

State Lecture Series Given By English Dept.

Lecture dates for the free public seminars in contemporary American literature were announced today by Dr. Lodwick Hartley, head of the English Department.

These lectures, given by the English Department in cooperation with the D. H. Hill Library, are a continuation of a series instituted last year. The series last year included programs on Thomas Wolfe, Robert Frost, Eugene O'Neill, Eudora Welty, and William Faulkner.

This year the lectures, all given in the College YMCA auditorium at 8 o'clock on the evenings indicated, will include the following:

October 11, "William Saroyan," by Professor Robert Baker Wynne; November 1, "F. Scott Fitzgerald" by Prof. Edwin H. Paget; November 22, "Erskine Caldwell" by Prof. Richard C. Walker; January 10, "Ernest Hemingway" by Prof. Henderson G. Kinchelo; January 31, "Katherine Anne Porter" by Professor Hartley.

Book displays on each author, arranged by Mrs. Katherine A. Edsall of the library staff, will be an important part of each program. The seminars are designed both for college students and for the general public.

Help!

Six ambitious men are needed by Watauga business manager Jack Alston to help him on the business staff. If you are interested in working on a humor mag, get in touch with Alston at room 130, Syme Hall.

Visitor

Henry Turkel, M.D., of Detroit, Michigan, will visit the Poultry Science Department, October 7, 1949. Dr. Turkel is a well known bacteriologist and is the inventor of the Turkel sternal infuson needles, as well as the new muscle biopsy needle for diagnosis of trichinosis. Dr. Turkel will spend some time with Prof. F. W. Cook.

Dorm Directors

A single athletic director for each dormitory has been appointed by J. J. Stewart. In the past each floor of a dormitory had its own athletic manager or director.

The following are dormitory athletic directors: William M. Austin, Alexander; Slocum H. Fogelman, Bagwell; Robert E. Debban, Beeson; Neil Power, Berry; W. H. Burroughs, Syme; William V. Griffin, Turington; Sidney Credit, Welch; Ben Doney, Owen; Arthur P. Jervey, Tucker; and W. H. Hoffman, Goid.

Sears Scholarship Given To Ag Men

Twenty outstanding North Carolina farm boys have been awarded Sears Roebuck Scholarships and have enrolled for the fall term, according to Dr. C. H. Bostian, associate dean of the School of Agriculture.

Dr. Bostian said that the scholarships are valued at $100 each and that the winners were chosen on the basis of academic achievements, 4-H Club and FFA records, and financial need.

The list of recipients follows: Roy B. Allison, Horse Shoe, Route 1; Albert Atwood, Winston-Salem, Route 2; Charles B. Beale, Jr., Youngville; James C. Davis, Lauanda; William C. Dorsett, Edland, Route 1; James D. Foster, Ruffin, Route 1; Tommy F. Foster, Jr., Blanch, Route 1; Richard W. Goode, Jr., Mount Olive, Route 3; Victor Hugh Lytton, Long Island; Edwin H. McGee, Funder.

Birch L. McMurray, Rutherfordton, Route 1; Clyde B. Mabry, Jr., Norwood, Route 1; Devero Martin, Unaka; Raymond L. Penland, Franklin; Joel W. Sims, Polkton, Route 1; Rufus H. Warren, Roseboro, Route 2; and James H. Whelless, Louisburg, Route 4.

Military Department Has Reorganization

The Military Department reorganized during the summer to meet joint instructions from the Departments of the Army and Air Force. Under these instructions, the Army ROTC and the Air ROTC are on the same level and each is headed by an officer of the Army and Air Force respectively. Colonel Samuel A. Gibson, Infantry, U.S. Army, continues as head of the Army ROTC under the designation Professor of Military Science and Tactics. Major James J. England, U.S. Air Force, will head the Air ROTC under the designation Professor of Air Science and Tactics. The Military Department will continue as a department of the college and will be headed by Colonel Gibson, the senior officer on duty at the college.

Colonel Gibson, as head of the Military Department, will coordinate Army and Air ROTC under joint policies announced by the Departments of the Army and Air Force and will be responsible to the Chancellor of the college for the administration of college policies pertaining to military training. The new organization is a part of the plans for unification of the Armed Services, the implementation of which have been in progress since the passage of this bill by Congress.

New Appointments

Major Harry G. Benion, Infantry, has been appointed Executive Officer of the Military Department and Army ROTC and Captain Elwin O. Brown has been appointed Executive Officer of the Air ROTC. Master Sergeant George A. Marsh is Administrative Assistant of the Military Department and Army ROTC and Master Sergeant Edmund Sivik is Administrative Assistant of the Air ROTC.

Tours Completed

A number of officers and non-commissioned officers on duty with Army and Air ROTC completed their tours of duty at the college during the summer. Lt. Colonel Eugene A. Doss, Major William D. Vaughan, Major Leo M. Kane and Captain John R. F. Bond formerly with the Army ROTC have left for new stations in the U. S. or overseas. They have been replaced by Lt. Colonel William A. Craig, Major Chester D. Nielson, Captain Leo Rachmel and Captain Daniel W. McElwee. Captain John A. Edwards, Air Force, has been replaced by Lieutenant John T. Nave.

Master Sergeants Henry P. Leighton, Paul C. Harmon, Richard W. Parker, George A. Protridge and W. L. Camper, Jr., have been replaced by Master Sergeants George A. Marsh, Robert W. Vaughan, William C. Weatherman and Sergeants Paul W. Dabbs, and James J. Paul. Master Sergeant Allen K. Debnam has been assigned for duty with the Air ROTC.

Russian Offered Again This Fall

A private course in elementary Russian will be offered again this fall, it was announced today by Dr. Valentin Pikner, who will teach the course. The instruction will be sponsored by the Modern Languages Department.

Classes will be held at night at a time agreeable to the class. Both beginners and advanced students will be accepted, Dr. Pikner said. The course will last until the end of the winter term.

The course will offer no college credit, but records will be kept and later turned over to the Modern Language Department for filing. Registration for the course will be held in Dr. Pikner's office on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 10-11, and Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday from 11-12.

The new organization will not change Military registration procedures nor will it affect the organization of the State College ROTC Regiment.

Increased enrollment in Basic and Advanced ROTC courses for both Army and Air ROTC is expected this fall.

A Clean Slate . . .

With the beginning of a new school year, the editors of the TECHNICIAN decided that several changes should be made in the school paper in order to present to the students a more "newy" newspaper.

One change which you probably have noticed is the change in size. We felt that in order to present a more readable paper we must put out a regular size page. We also believe that by using the large size we can use larger and better "cuts." We have increased coverage on important stories, and also we can use more feature stories.

Another improvement which we are attempting to make is a more complete coverage of intramural sports. In years past, it has been next to impossible to give the type of coverage to the intramural news that should be given in a college paper. With the help of the Intramural Athletic Board, the TECHNICIAN will attempt to bring improved coverage in campus sports.

From time to time, additional changes will be made in the style of makeup and headlines in an effort to present more variety. We invite any student to offer any criticism which he feels will improve the paper. The TECHNICIAN is published by the students. It's your paper, help us to make it the best college weekly in the South.

Onions On The Menu . . .

AN OPEN STATEMENT TO HARRY STEWART AND ALL STUDENTS AND FACULTY MEMBERS WHO ARE INTERESTED IN A "SQUARE" MEAL AND DEAL IN THE GRILL ROOM . . .

Last spring term there was hardly a justified complaint about the food served in the Grill Room of the dining hall during the evening meals. In fact, it is, in some opinions, thought that praise should be given to the planning staff for the quantity, quality, and service of the meals in the Grill Room. However, this term it is a completely different story.

So far, the menu has listed five choices of meals. The cheapest one is the order of spaghetti for 50 cents. The other four meals range from 90 cents up, and consist of chopped steak, beef steaks, and ham.

The menu used last spring included a choice variety of entree, appetizers, salads, etc. Each one was very reasonably priced; the entree ranging from 69 cents and up. A quality meal consisting of appetizer, meat, two vegetables, salad, rolls, drink and desert could be had for approximately one dollar.

"But alas, 'tis a sad story we see today." One dollar purchases only a small, dry, boney, "shoe-leather" steak surrounded by some overdone French fries, rolls, and coffee.

Since Mr. Stewart has taken over the duties of menu-scheduling in the Grill Room, and has not returned to the favored menu of last term, many customers have been quite disappointed—to say the least.

The purpose of this editorial is not to condemn, but rather to voice an opinion which seems to be shared by many others. Undoubtedly, as in the past, Mr. Stewart will strive to make the conditions suit the students as nearly as possible. It's up to those who cater to the Grill Room to voice their views if they would prefer the return of the previous type of menu.

It's in your hands now . . . take over.

Elsewhere on this page is a letter from Alex Vann, president of the Interdorm Council, who is presenting a proposal which should be of interest to all students who want a better place to play on the State College campus.

Within a few weeks, the TECHNICIAN hopes to bring a clearer picture of what the real facilities are for recreation on this campus as compared with those offered at Carolina. In this way, we believe we can show conclusively why the committee is interested in improving our recreational facilities.

Be sure to read the letter in the Forum, and consider what the writer has to say. You will be asked to cooperate with him soon.

OPEN FORUM

To the Editor:

Last spring I was invited to take a tour of the Physical Education Department and participate in a discussion concerning the physical and recreational program offered to the students at Chapel Hill. Throughout the tour and the discussion, I was increasingly surprised to find such an elaborate department in one of the schools of the Greater University. I discovered that the opportunities the students are offered to participate, the recreational program, and the facilities made available to the students are far superior to anything State College has to offer.

Along with some of the other students from our campus who were on the tour, I began to work as chairman of a committee called the "Committee for the Betterment of Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Athletics at State College." It is the purpose of this committee, with the approval of the student body, to increase and to better existing supplies and facilities in our Physical Education Department. The committee also proposes to acquire a program of physical and recreational activities equivalent to, and if possible, more functional than the program now operating at Chapel Hill.

As stated previously, the activities of this committee are in the interest of the Student Body. Through publicity and personal contact by members of this committee, the program proposed by the committee will be presented to the Student Body for its approval in the near future.

ALEX VANN

(Editor's note: The Committee for the Betterment of Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Athletics at State College is composed of Hoyle Adams, Hank Odum, Eugene Jeffords, Woody Bass, Buddy Boyles, Herman Bemberg, and Joe Hancock.)

P.E. SERVICES

(Editor's Note: Services available to students enrolled at Chapel Hill, but not available to North Carolina State College Students.)

- B. Facilities and equipment are available more frequently to students not participating in inter-collegiate athletics at all times of the day.
- C. A highly regarded program of physical activities for women students is in effect.

TRAFFIC REGULATIONS

ONE-WAY STREETS

- The following streets are designated as one-way streets:
1. Memorial Drive from Pullen Road to Watauga Drive.
 2. Quadrangle Drive from University Avenue to the railroad.
 3. Primrose Avenue from Morrison Drive to Watauga Drive.
 4. Driveway south of Patterson Hall.
- All other streets on the Campus, except those completely closed to traffic, are open to two-way traffic.

PARKING

1. No Parking. On many of the campus streets parking is allowed on one side only. On some streets no parking is allowed. All No Parking areas are marked by "NO PARKING" signs stencilled on the street.
2. Limited Parking. Parking for a maximum of ten minutes is permitted in areas marked off by WHITE painted lines. These may be used by anyone.
3. Visitor's Parking. A limited number of spaces are reserved for visitors only. They are marked by YELLOW and WHITE double painted lines.
4. Parking by Permit. Parking for automobiles or other motor vehicles is allowed by permit only in the CAMPUS PROPER. The parking permit is a red and white sticker, serially numbered, and rectangular in shape. It must be displayed on the motor vehicle to permit parking in the CAMPUS PROPER. Parking spaces in this area are painted with YELLOW lines.
5. Student Parking. All motor vehicles driven by students are prohibited from being parked in the CAMPUS PROPER north of the railroad, with the exceptions of the ten-minute zones and on Quadrangle Drive from the YMCA steps to Railroad Street and on Railroad Street from Pullen Road to a point in line with the east wall of the stadium. They may be parked south of the railroad, on or east of Pullen Road, on the city streets, or in the areas adjacent to the dormitories.

For 1949-50, students living in temporary quarters in the CAMPUS PROPER may park their motor vehicles adjacent to their homes.

REGISTRATION OF VEHICLES

All student motor vehicles must be registered and must display a State College registration sticker, which is red and white, round in shape, and serially numbered. Vehicles must be registered with the Traffic Department within one week after the student enters school or procures a motor vehicle.

SAFE DRIVING

All the laws of North Carolina highways are applicable to the Campus. The speed limit on the campus is 20 miles per hour.

VIOLATIONS

Any infraction of the foregoing regulations will be deemed a violation and will be treated accordingly. First violators will be heard by the College Traffic Violations Bureau and given a warning. Persons with two or more violations will be cited to City Court or placed on college probation, in the discretion of the Bureau.

Ag Club To Hold Annual Smoker

A large crowd was welcomed to the first meeting of the Ag Club last Tuesday night in Withers Hall. An introduction of officers was held for the benefit of new members, and a report of all clubs in the Agriculture Club was given.

Vice-president Leon Holland read the revised specifications which are set up to achieve points in order to obtain an Ag Club Key.

On October 4, the Ag Club will meet in the west end of the Cafeteria for its annual "smoker." This meeting will begin at 8 p.m. Refreshments, cigarettes, and a lot of fun are on tap.

Bagwell News

The students at Chapel Hill certainly have nothing on us. We have all kind of social activities too. One of these socials will be heading your way this Saturday night. It will be in the form of an "ole fashioned" dance which will be held in Pullen Park from five until six o'clock. By having it at this particular hour, you will have plenty of time to get ready for the State-Clemson game. The cost will only be fifty cents a person. (By the way, if you need a stimulant before the game, chasers will be furnished.) Let's all attend and enjoy the wonderful fellowship.

The Bagwell Dormitory Club is composed of all Bagwell occupants. The officers are John Dillard, President; Slocum Fogleman, Vice-President; and Joe Kayler, Secretary-Treasurer. Dormitory Club Floor Representatives are as follows: Weldon Cable, Robert Carr, Robert Chadwick, Luke Conrad, John Dillard, Jack Eller, Slocum Fogleman, Harry Halstead, and Robert Hartsell. Inter-Dormitory Council Members are John Dillard and Weldon Cable. Activities Fogleman, Athletic Director; and Robert Hartsell, Publicity Chairman. The Building Manager is Marvin Godfrey.

Dorm Parties

The entertainment season will open with a bang on Friday night, September 30 when Beaton dorm stages its annual party in Pullen Park. The get-together will be in the nature of a weiner roast to be held between 5 and 7 p.m. Tickets will cost $.50 for the individual and his date.

On the following night the spotlight will be on the Bagwell party also to be held in Pullen Park near the octagon. The hours are from 5 to 6 p.m. just before the Clemson game. To each even corner there are three bags and two drinks will be allotted. For these refreshments a charge of $.50 will be extracted from each prospective merrymaker.

Temporary Jobs Open For Clerical Workers

The State Employment Service announced this week that it has openings for temporary clerical workers to do census work. Students' wives are being considered for these positions, the Employment office announced. The work will be on an eight-hour day basis, and the job is expected to last until December.

To qualify, the worker must be over 21, have a high school diploma, and must be able to conduct an intelligent interview. Interviews will be held in the State Employment Service office, 313½ Fayetteville St. on Monday morning.

Dorm Doings . . .

Well, here we are—back to start another school year, which will be about like last year and the year before. You plod through your many years and beanpoc hours and credit points and you get your degree—maybe.

But this year is beginning on a different note from any other in the past. This year is the first full year for the Inter-Dormitory Council. Those of us who were here last year are already acquainted with the Council and some of its functions, and many of the new State men have already met many of their Dorm Club officers. For the benefit of you who are still unfamiliar with the organization, each dormitory has a Dorm Club with the usual officers and floor or section representatives. The president of each Dorm Club and one other representative chosen by the men in the Club sit as members of the Inter-Dormitory Council, which in turn has its officers and committees. Alex Vann is president of the Council. He is assisted in carrying on the work of the Council by an executive secretary and an assistant executive secretary, who handle the details of planning social events and other Council projects. Also, Mr. J. J. Stewart is on hand to help iron out the wrinkles that arise from time to time.

Secretary Biggerstaff
This year, the Council has Don Biggerstaff as its Executive Secretary. Don will be in charge of making arrangements for social affairs and being sure they get on the calendar. He is well qualified for the job and has many contacts which should prove beneficial to us all. Don has already lined up several events, and is showing a marked ability to round up female women for parties, dances, and stuff. All we've got to say is more power to him.

On hand to assist Don will be Sam Furches, who hasn't been around as long as Don, but who has some pretty good contacts of his own. The social end of the Council's burden seems to be in good hands. As if to attest to the shape of things to come, there are several dorm parties on hand for the very near future. Bagwell and Turlington, are throwing parties this weekend, and there is talk of an Owen Dorm dance with about one hundred fifty lucky girls from one of the local colleges to lend color to the event. You will be able to read more about these affairs and the men who participate in them after we get our information bureau set up a little better. And if you hanker for a shindig for your dorm, tell your president or floor representative about it. He'll get busy and pretty soon you'll have party galore.

Other Functions
While the social aspect sounds good, the Council sponsors other things which are equally important. One of these is the intramural program. Athletic directors in each dorm organize teams to compete in the Dormitory League. As this is football season, your floor needs to help with the pigskin struggles. Also, there are volleyball teams and later in the year there will be teams in just about every sport. By playing intramurals, you can contribute to dorm life and you will meet a lot of other fine State men. By all means, help your poor athletic director.

Most of the old dorms were completely reconitioned in the summer, and really look good now. We can best show our appreciation of this fine work by striving to keep our rooms and halls as clean as possible. If we can save the college the expense of cleaning the dorms, they might be able to spend the money on something else we want and need.

IT DOES COUNT

Wolfpack Downed By Tar Heels, 26-6 In Game Held Before Capacity Crowd

Cross Country Boys Win Season's Opener

State's cross country team won their season opener against Carolina's Tar Heels last Saturday by 25-33.

Wolfpack harrisers grabbed 5 of the 7 places, with John Hunter and Bobby Leonard finishing in a dead heat for second. Their time for the rocky course was 22:20.

Bud Hudson edged out Carolina's Otis Honeycutt to take 6th place. Dubow, Varmon, and Keenan were next in line for the Red and White.

State's Tyler Wadsworth and Carolina's Bill Patterson put on a hot battle for the 11th spot. Patterson made a determined bid to pass Wadsworth in the stretch, but with an extra spurt the Wolfpack's runner nosed out Patterson by 3 seconds.

Student I.R.E. Holds First Meeting

The annual smoker of the student branch of the Institute of Radio Engineers was held Monday evening in Withers Hall.

Short talks on the value of membership in the professional society were given by Dr. Hoadly, Dr. Carson, and Dean Lampe.

Student branch president Rodrick Coward described the activities of the IRE and urged all EE students to join both the local and national organizations.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served and memberships were taken.

Wives Club

The Student's Wives Club will hold its first meeting of the school year Tuesday night, Oct. 4, at 7:30 in the West Campus Y.

All student wives are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

Shoe Rule

Cleated shoes will not be worn by players in the intramural touch football leagues, is the latest ruling by the Intramural Athletic Board.

Another touch football rule change regards the fumble. After a fumble the ball is dead on the spot and it remains in the possession of the team fumbling, except, of course, when the fumble occurs on fourth down.

Passes Decide Issue

By JOHN LAMPE

Playing before 44,000 thrilled fans in Kenan Stadium, the Wolfpack of State College and the Carolina Tar Heels battled on even terms for three quarters before the Tar Heels could muster enough scoring strength to put down the Pack 26-6.

All-American Charlie Justice proved to be the deciding factor in the ball game. Justice, bottled up by the powerful State line, had to take to the air-ways to carry his team to their first Southern Conference victory.

The Choo-Choo had a hand in three of Carolina's scores. In the closing minutes of the first quarter, he passed to end Ken Powell in the end zone from the 10-yard line for the T.D.

In the fourth quarter Justice was responsible for Sophomore Skeet Hesser's ruckback of a State punt. Taking a kick from State's Ogen Smith, Justice executed a clever handoff to Hesser who travelled 63 yards down the sidelines to score.

The third Tar Heel score came as the result of two pass plays. From his own 21, Justice passed to Powell who ran the ball to the Wolfpack 48. Two plays later he again passed to Powell on the 'Pack 7. The Asheville Choo-Choo then skirted his own left end for the T.D.

The final Carolina score came in the closing minutes of play. State, trying desperately to score, had a pass intercepted on their own eighth yard line. Sophomore Verelich snagged the ball and scampered over for the score.

The 'Pack had three opportunities to score but could only capitalize on one of them. Midway in the third quarter tailback Bill Thompson plunged over from the three yard line for the Big Red's first and only score.

On the opening kickoff State made a determined effort. Fullback Jim O'Rourke, getting excellent blocking from his teammates, toted the ball to the Carolina 29 yard line before being hauled down. Then three plays later Bill Thompson, on a running pass, hit end Tony Romanowsky on the Carolina 15 for a first down. Two running plays by Thompson carried the ball to the two, but the Tar Heel forward wall held and Justice and Co. took over on downs.

Mr. Kenfield, the new tennis coach, would like to meet all candidates for the varsity tennis team in the Monogram club room of the gym at 8:30 P.M., Monday, October 3rd. He would also like to see all candidates for the freshman tennis team at 8:30 P.M.—immediately following the varsity meeting.

Aviation Unit

Naval Reserve Volunteer Aviation Unit 6-32 meets each first and third Tuesdays at the Naval Armory on the campus. The next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, October 4th at 8 p.m. All former Naval and Marine personnel are invited to attend.

State made its second bid in the closing minutes of the first half. Ed Mooney returned a Justice punt to the Tar Heel 41. The 'Pack's Ogen Smith and fullback Dick Johnson highlighted a drive to the 38. There Smith tossed to end Roland Simon for a first down on Carolina's 15. Smith then connected with Sophomore end Bob Branyn for another first down on the 5. Smith again threw but Bunting intercepted behind the goal line to end the threat.

Touch Football Rules Changed This Year

Touch football rules will follow official football rules as in years past with a few exceptions. The exceptions are:

1. A player must be on his feet when blocking an opponent. (15 yard penalty will be strictly enforced.)
2. A player cannot take hold of a ball carrier. Instead he must tag (not hit) the ball carrier with both hands simultaneously. (15 yard penalty will be strictly enforced.)
3. A fumbled ball is dead when it strikes the ground, the down remains with the team who fumbled, except on the fourth down. In case of a kick-off or a punt, the rule does not apply until after one of the teams gains possession of the ball.

The Intramural Athletic Board, organized only last year, will have the last word concerning protests, forfeits, and postponements in the intramural leagues.

Protests to the Intramural Supervisor made on the field of play and overruled by him may be appealed to the board. Only protests involving the interpretation of rules will be honored. Sustained protests will require the game to be replayed.

Fifteen minutes after the scheduled game time is all the time allowed before the official may declare the game forfeited. The use of an ineligible player likewise forfeits the game. Continued forfeiting by a team will remove that team from the schedule and thus deprive it of award points.

All games will not be officially postponed until the scheduled time of play.

State To Engage Clemson Tigers In Night Game At Riddick Field

Home Opener For Pack

By BOB CURRAN

Tomorrow night at Riddick Stadium the State College-Wolfpack will meet the Clemson Tigers in the home opener for the Wolfpack footballers.

Both teams will be seeking comebacks after their defeats of last Saturday. Clemson had a 15 consecutive game winning streak, the longest ever held by a team in the Southern Conference, broken by the Rice Owls. The Wolfpack will be trying to rebound from the 26-6 defeat handed them by the Country Club Pros.

Mathews Leads Tigers
The Tigers will be banking on Ray Mathews, their 180 pound tailback, to carry on for Bobby Gage, the great triple threat of 1948. Frank Howard, in his tenth season as Clemson coach, will still have last-terms Fred Cone, Jackie Calvert, Dick Hendley and Carol Cox performing in his backfield.

Clemson has been hard hit by graduation at the guard and tackle positions, and they still have not found a capable replacement for All-Southern Frank Gillespie. John Poulos and Glenn Smith will be likely starters at the ends, with the center position being held down by the team captain Gene Moore.

Beattie Feathers will be relying on his starting backfield of Capt. Bob Bowley at blocking back, Bill Thompson at tailback, Babe Dinan at wingback and "Toothy Jim" the scoring punch that was so easily O'Rourke at fullback, to give him jacking in the Carolina game.

VIEWS ON SPORTS

By JACK BOWERS

Well, the first game of the season is over and the Pack suffered a 26-6 licking at the hands of Justice and Company over at Chapel Hill Saturday. The score, however, does not indicate the Pack's true strength. For three periods, Coach Feather's men battled Carolina on even terms and looked as though they were ready to nip the Tar Heel's bowl aspirations in the bud. So much for the Carolina game. The Tar Heels are out of the way and Clemson is next.

The Wolfpack's pass defense must improve if they are to get revenge for last year's 6-0 defeat at the hands of the Tigers. Although the Tigers' 15 game winning streak was broken by the Rice Owls' 33-7 victory, the South Carolinians are still a tough ball club. That game also was much closer than the score indicated.

Coach Frank Howard's men will be on the rebound, but they are definitely weaker than last year's squad. Clemson defends its loop title with a power-laden backfield but with a line shot to pieces by graduation.

Five regulars and four competent reserves are missing from the forward wall which spearheaded the undefeated Tigers to a 24-23 win over Missouri in the Gator Bowl last January. Only Gene Moore, center and captain-elect, and John Poulas, senior end remain. However, there are 22 lettermen on deck.

Fred Cone, senior fullback, and Ray Mathews, tailback, are the answer to any coaches' prayers.

Mathews won high scoring honors in the conference last season with 13 T.D.'s, and made the All-South Carolina and the All-Southern Sophomore team. Cone is just a step behind Mathews as a runner. There are few better line plungers in the loop.

History Prof Writes

Colonel Polk was elected to the North Carolina House of Commons in 1860 and served in the Civil War with two North Carolina Regiments—the 29th Regiment, commanded by Zebulon Baird Vance, and the 43rd Regiment, in which he held the rank of second lieutenant. While a member of the latter regiment, he was re-elected to the House of Commons in 1864.

Soon after the war, he was a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1865, which sought to restore North Carolina to the Union.

During the Reconstruction Period, he was not in public service but returned to Anson County to rebuild his fortune by operating a farm and store. He built the town of Folkton in the 1870s and founded a weekly newspaper, The Ansonian.

Since he grew up on a farm, he was interested in agricultural problems and agitated for the formation of a State Department of Agriculture. He drew up a plan for such a department and became North Carolina's first agricultural commissioner in 1877, a post he held for three years.

During the 1890s, he was a corresponding editor of The Raleigh News, and after the consolidation of the Raleigh News and The Observer into The News and Observer, he held the same position.

Colonel Polk was secretary of the State Fair in 1881 and established The Progressive Farmer in 1886. As editor of The Progressive Farmer, he called for the organization of farmers' clubs, plugged for the equality of agriculture, and campaigned to give farmers a voice in State affairs.

"The first and most fruitful accomplishment of his farm campaign," Dr. Noblin said in an interview, "was the establishment of North Carolina's Land-Grant College—now N. C. State College.

The legislature of 1887 provided funds for the college's establishment, and the school was first opened to students in 1888.

"This successful fight for the founding of State College impressed leaders of his denomination—Baptist—and they called on him to lead in the struggle for a Baptist school for girls. He did and became the first president of the board of trustees of Meredith College, which observed its 50th anniversary this week."

Colonel Polk was elected three times as president of the Interstate Farmers Association and during that period became interested in the work of the Farmers Alliance, a national farmers order which was expanding greatly at that time. He became secretary of the North Carolina branch of the alliance and was chosen national president three years later. At the time of his election as president, the alliance had 2,000,000 members.

As president of the alliance, he continued his battle for the equality of agriculture and waged a strong fight against sectionalism. He died at 65 while he was continuing to unite the farmers of the South and West.

Dr. Noblin, whose biography of Polk is his first major literary effort, is a native of Rdaford, Va. He was educated at Davidson College, where he was awarded his A. B. degree in 1933, and at the University of North Carolina, where he earned his M.A. degree in 1935 and his Ph.D. degree in 1947.

He is married to the former Evelyn Blanchard of Hobbesville, Gates County, who is assistant catalog librarian at the D. H. Hill Library of State College.

Exchange System May Be Used Here

The School of Design has been invited to begin an exchange of professors with the Architectural Association School of the University of London, college officials reported today.

In a letter to Dean Henry L. Kamphoefner of the College's School of Design, Furneaux Jordan, head of the London school, stated that the invitation for the exchange of professors is being made to both State College and Harvard University.

Chancellor J. W. Harrelson said that the invitation from the London institution is "an exceptional compliment to a young school."

"The School of Design," he continued, "deserves the recognition, because it has an outstanding staff and has attracted national attention since its establishment about a year ago. It is on the way to fill a real need in the Southeast."

Dean Kamphoefner was invited to teach at the London school during this fall until the Christmas holidays but will not be able to accept the invitation for another year because of previous commitments at State College.

Several members of the School of Design staff are expected to begin during the fall of 1950 as exchange professors with one member at a time going to the London school while one of the London professors comes to State College.

The Architectural Association School is reputed to be the leading European school of architecture at the present time.

Animal Nutrition Meet Scheduled Oct. 24-25

A two-day Animal Nutrition Conference, featuring addresses by several top-ranking authorities in the field of nutrition and feeds, will be held October 24 and 25, Dr. D. W. Colvard, head of the College's Department of Animal Industry, announced today.

The conference, which is expected to attract over 200 feed manufacturers and scientists from throughout the South, will be sponsored by the college in cooperation with the North Carolina Feed Manufacturers Association which will hold its annual meeting in conjunction with the conference.

Delegates will be welcomed to the conference by Dr. Colvard and Agriculture Commissioner L. Y. Ballentine, who will speak at the opening session in Withers Hall at the college on Monday morning, October 24, at 9:30 o'clock. Prof. Roy S. Dearstyne, head of the College's Department of Poultry Science, will preside over the opening meeting.

Other speakers to appear on the Monday program include W. F. Redding, Jr., of Asheboro, president of the North Carolina Feed Manufacturers Association; A. T. Pennington of Nashville, Tenn., president of the Southern Mixed

Feed Manufacturers Association; W. E. Glennon of Chicago, Ill., secretary of the American Feed Manufacturers Association; H. L. McGeorge of Memphis, Tenn., an official of Royal Statolife Mills; and Dr. E. R. Collins, agronomy specialist of the College's Extension Service.

The group will attend a banquet at the Sir Walter Hotel in Raleigh on Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

Principal addresses will be made at the Tuesday meeting by T. J. Cunha, a faculty member in the Animal Industry Department at the University of Florida; L. W. Ruppel, head of the Department of Dairy Husbandry at Texas A. and M. College; and H. M. Scott of the Department of Animal Science at the University of Illinois. C. W. Tilson of Durham, general manager of the Farmers Mutual Exchange, will preside over the Tuesday session.

Delegates will tour the college farms Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. Colvard said that there will be no registration fees.

Brief Sketches

BERNIE ALLMAN—Converted from blocking back in Spring practice because of his excellent defensive ability, Allman, a sophomore, will be called upon as a reserve end this season, but with more experience at the flank he might develop into a first line star. Lacks height, but is hustler. Hometown: Parkersburg, W. Va.

GENE FERRELL—Another sophomore end prospect. Saw plenty of action on freshman team, but still needs experience. If he develops, as expected, will see more action as season progresses. Starred for Needham Broughton High in Raleigh in 1947 and was selected to several All-State elevens. He is also excellent baseball player. Hometown: Raleigh, N. C.

MIKE MALK—One of the best reserve centers. Likely will see more action this year. Played Jayvee ball in '46 and saw some action on varsity in 47-48. A bit light for rugged line play, but a good competitor. Majoring in Agricultural Economics. Hometown: Lakewood, N. Jersey.

JOE DANEU—A coming sophomore guard prospect, Daneu may have to wait another year before seeing much action. He played regularly as a freshman, but still needs experience. Has weight and ability, but lacks speed. Made All-League and All-County honors at Palisades High in Palisades Park, N. J. Studying Textiles. Hometown: Palisades Park, N. J.

WALTER SCHACHT—Called another Watts by his coaches, Schacht is small of frame (5-9) and light of weight (179 lbs.), but tough as leather. A product of a great high school team at Alexandria, Va., Walt is likely to see plenty of action this year. His play is similar to that type used by Bernie Watts. He slashes through opposition lines with plenty of speed and makes lots of tackles behind the line of scrimmage. Earned his varsity monogram as a freshman last year. Hometown: Alexandria, Va.

WINGBACK GEORGE McARTHUR

GEORGE McARTHUR—Another sophomore from whom much is expected. McArthur has speed and durability and is particularly good as pass defensive man. George does many things well and will certainly see plenty of action at the wingback slot. Ability in open field is probably not exceeded by any man on team. Hometown: Paterson, N. Jersey.

RALPH BURNETT—Veteran of the 1946 'Gator Bowl team, Burnett did not play in 1947 because of a torn knee cartilage, which he received before the season opened. Last year Burnett returned and played briefly. Now a senior, Bernie is due to have his best year. Probably will not be a starter, but certainly will see action as a reserve. Love of football is perhaps the greatest on squad. Married, two children. Studying Chemical Engineering. Excellent student. Hometown: Pampa, Texas.

JAMES MADDOCK—Earned letter at State in 1944 as freshman when he captained war-time outfit. Played last year after three years of Navy service. Named most valuable player on squad in '44 and awarded Person Trophy. Is expected to be big aid to State end play this year. Good pass receiver. Excellent student. Studying Textiles. Hometown: Tarentum, Pa.

RAE TURNER—Tough defensive man, Turner earned his first varsity letter last season. Is also used on end-around play and has plenty of speed. Saw extensive action in Carolina game last year when team had to call on reserve strength because of injuries. Turner likely will see plenty of action this year. Hometown: Leaksville, N. C.

VINCE BAGONIS—Top sophomore guard on varsity. Bagonis blocked four punts for the 1948 freshman team and looks like a real threat for a starting assignment this season. Tough and rugged at 195 pounds, Bagonis is a great offensive blocker. Coaches predict in another year, Vince will be a starter. Lacks only fitness to put him on first team this year, but he's definitely due for extensive action. Line Coach Al Rotella predicts that Bagonis will block at least two punts this year. Hometown: Luzerne, Pa.

ROOM for couple or two boys. Nice suburban home. Will offer breakfast if desired. Owners work. Living room privileges. Call Mr. Smith at 2-4928 after 6 p.m. On bus line.

C.; Peter Koch, New York City; Burton Sokol, Detroit, Mich.; Monroe Bretler, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Kenneth Gottlieb, Haddon Heights, N. J. Third row, left to right: Jerome Kabel, Forest Hills, N. Y.; Howard Jacobs, Bronx, N. Y.; Philip Segal, Greensboro, N. C.; Bernard Manton, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Robert Goodman, Indianapolis, Ind.; Bernard Diamond, New York City; Arnold Corwin, Bronx, N. Y. Fourth row, left to right: Lawrence Linker, Bronx, N. Y.; Harris Rubin, Far Rockaway, N. Y.; Norman Korostoff, Far Rockaway, N. Y.; James Roche, Hewlett, N. Y.; Allen Brooks, Bronx, N. Y.; Robert Friedman, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Charles Bondy, Rockaway Beach, L. I. George Payet of Ridge-wood, N. J., another member, is not pictured.

Hancock missed four for an .800 mark, staff member Curran erred on five for a .750 average and ex-Sports Editor Bill Haas brought up the rear with six miscues for a .700 mark. The running of Mathews, and Cone, and the passing of Carol Cox will provide the Tigers with their major offensive threat.

This week the staff will be joined in the predictions by guest expert Hoyt Bailey.

CHARLES WESTBROOK—Will have a tough road to get ahead of Mooney, Thompson and Smith at the tailback post, but is definitely a good candidate. Last year on Westchester (N. Y.) County team in high school. Studying Industrial Recreation. Hometown: Tarrytown, N. Y.

RALPH CALVANO—Another watch-charm guard, Calvano played Jayvee ball last year. Veteran of four years in Army and at 27 is oldest man on current team. Probably will see little action this year, because of guard depth, but is regarded as promising reserve. Acts as Elmer Costa's bodyguard during off season. Hometown: Paterson, N. J.

STEVE KOSILLA—Ranked along with Branan as sophomore prospect. Likely to see some limited action this year. Particularly good as offensive blocker. Named All-Westchester (N. Y.) County team in high school. Studying Industrial Recreation. Hometown: Tarrytown, N. Y.

JAMES SWART—Although he has failed to earn a letter in two years at State, this Wilmington, N. C., lad may come into his own this season. Rugged competitor at 210 pounds, Swart will be playing this year more frequently. Studying Agriculture. Hometown: Wilmington, N. C.
