These Candidates Among First To File For Office

Nuclear Conference To Be Held Here

A conference on nuclear engineering education, first of its kind to be sponsored by an educational institution, will be held in the Civil Engineering Building at State College Friday morning at 10 o'clock, Dean J. H. Lampe of the College's School of Engineering announced today.

The conference, which will be centered around the college's new curriculum in nuclear engineering, will attract scientists from several of America's top-ranking educational institutions and governmental agencies.

Representatives

Representatives will be present from the Atomic Energy Commission, the Rockefeller Foundation, the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, the Research Corporation of America, Duke University, the University of North Carolina, the U. S. Naval Academy, the Office of Naval Research, the U. S. Bureau of Mines, and State College.

In making the announcement about the conference, Dean Lampe said that under the leadership of the Physics Department, the School of Engineering at State College has devised a curriculum in nuclear engineering which will be opened to prospective students in the fall of 1950.

The new academic program, he said, includes a complete undergraduate course of study and either a fifth year or a master's degree program of post-graduate study.

Proposal

"It has been proposed," Dean Lampe said, "that a nuclear reactor of about five kilowatt power output be constructed on the State College campus. It is to be the core of the instruction and research program in nuclear engineering education. Tentative designs of the reactor, such as can be drawn from the unclassified literature, have been drawn up.

Preliminary study indicates that a low-power reactor is feasible for campus operation and would be a tremendously effective instruction and research tool; that enough information is available to operate a reactor as an endeavor largely unclassified and on a research program; that the radiation from the reactor would be of assistance to a number of research groups in the region surrounding Raleigh."

Consideration of the factors involved in the new project will be made at the conference.

Dr. Clifford K. Beck, head of the State College Physics Department, is a former scientist with the Atomic Energy Commission and later worked with the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies.

Chorus Appears Here

The Utah Centennial Chorus, under the auspices of the State College YMCA, will present a program of music at the Y auditorium Friday, April 7, at 8 p.m.

The Utah Centennial Chorus is an outgrowth of the Centennial Celebration of the State of Utah which was held in 1947, and which commemorated 100 years of growth and development of that state and other parts of the West under the leadership of early Mormon pioneers. Fulfilling an ancient prophecy, these pioneers truly made "the desert blossom as a rose." (Isaiah 35:1)

The Chorus, under the direction of Serge Huff, is composed of missionaries of the Latter Day Saints Church who are self-supporting through family savings, and has appeared before many national dignitaries, including our own Governor Scott, the Legislature, the Prince of Siam, and many others. Their program is well received by all who hear them. Within the group is to be found a concert pianist and a concert violinist.

The Chorus presents a widely varied and colorful program featuring sacred, popular, and humorous selections as a good-will gesture of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

(Editor's note: In all fairness to those candidates who filed for office before the original deadline, the TECHNICIAN is running stories and pictures of them in this edition. Candidates who file between now and the deadline April 12 who want publicity through the TECHNICIAN must have their pictures and other information into the TECHNICIAN office before 5 p.m., April 10.)

Each spring there is a great deal of activity during the Campus elections. Students get fired up over the campaigning and political rallies and a great deal more D'esprit de corps is promoted among students in general. Such is the case this spring as a band of active students announce their candidacy for office.

For President

First and foremost of the offices is that of President of the Campus Government. One candidate has filed for and been approved for the office. He is Jack McCracken, a junior in Mechanical Engineering from Winston-Salem.

McCracken's experience consists of: Past Freshman Class President, Junior Class Secretary, member of Greater University Student Council, Ex-Officio member of Student Council, former member Inter-dormitory Council, Chairman Honor Committee of the Mechanical Engineering Department, Chairman of the Aeronautical Society, and in addition, the following organizations: Tau Beta Pi, Pi Tau Sigma, Theta Tau, Blue Key, and Lambda Chi Alpha the social fraternity.

Platform planks are: Education toward adoption of an Honor System, promotion of a definite Scholarship Program, Creation of more interest in Campus Government affairs, Clarification of athletic ticket dispersion.

Vice-President

At present, candidate Scott Eubanks, is unopposed for the position of Vice-president of the Campus Government. He is a rising senior in Mechanical Engineering from Greensboro. His experience and associations are listed as follows:

Head Cheerleader for the 1949-50 season, Vice-president of ASME during 1949-50, principal organizer of the Pep Club in the fall of 1949, Sophomore Dance Committeeman, Junior Dance Committeeman, member of the Watauga Staff and a member of the Advisory Board of the Southern Engineer.

Says Eubanks, "If I am elected, I intend to get the faculty, administration, and the students to set up on a permanent basis and to take an active part in joint meetings of these three groups."

Head Cheerleader

Al Parker, a rising junior in Agricultural Education from Clinton, is seeking the position of Head Cheerleader. He has been a regular cheerleader for the past year and may be recalled as having been the leading yell man at the NCAA Tourney at Madison Square Garden. He is a member of the Pep Club, and the acrobatic team.

Parker is an advocate of shorter, livelier yells, more school spirit, the establishment of a trophy between the football and basketball college teams in Wake County.

The Agriculturist

James R. Hinkle, a rising senior in Animal Industry from Salisbury is a candidate for the office of Business Manager of the Agriculturist. He is a member of the Ag Club, Animal Industry Club, the YMCA, Business staff of the Agriculturist and Meat and Milk.

Hinkle is also the Philip Morris campus representative. The election for this office will take place at the regular Ag Club meeting, Tuesday, April 11, in Withers Hall.

Watauga

Robert Davenport, a rising senior from Tarboro, is a candidate for Business Manager of the Watauga.

Davenport has announced his intentions of cooperating with the Editor of the Watauga in an effort to put out six of the best issues of that publication that State College has seen in a good many moons. He has been Associate Business Manager this year and worked on the business staff last year also. He has worked on other campus publications during the

Annual Pika Ball To Be Held Here Easter Monday

The forty-second annual Pika Ball is scheduled to begin this weekend with active members and alumni participating in three days of festivities. The Pika Ball is a tradition on the State College Campus, and it always comes on Easter Monday.

This year the Pikas have made plans for many activities. Starting the weekend off with a bang, the Pikas have planned a cocktail hour on Saturday afternoon to be followed by the traditional banquet at the S. and W. Cafeteria on Saturday night.

Sunday

On Sunday morning, church will be attended. Some even plan to attend Sunrise Services. On Sunday afternoon, the boys and their dates meet in Frank Thompson Gymnasium and begin decorating for the Big Ball on Monday. A picnic at Crabtree Creek follows the decorating.

Monday afternoon the fraternity members will welcome back the old timers and many faculty members. Chancellor Harrelson, Dean Cloyd, and Dean Wood are among those that have been extended invitations. The festivities of the week end will come to a close on Monday night with the formal ball in Frank Thompson Gymnasium. Sonny Durham and his Orchestra will provide the music for the dance. The Pikas will be decked out in white dinner jackets to distinguish them from the others present.

Arnold Society

On Friday March 3 at 3 p.m. nine AFROTC juniors and seniors left for the First National Conclave of the Arnold Society of Air Cadets held Saturday March 4 at the University of Cincinnati, birthplace of the organization. The students went by car to Pope Field, Ft. Bragg, where they boarded a USAF C47 for the flight to Cincinnati.

At the Conclave, the State Squadron, formerly known as Old and Wing, was officially designated as Squadron 04, presented a Squadron guidon, and Arnold Society ribbons for all members present. Thirty-four Squadrons at land grant colleges throughout the nation were represented. Bill Mashburn and George Martin served as official delegates for the local Squadron.

Final Filing Date Set For April 12

By BOB PHELPS

The campus wide election slated for April 13 and 20 have been set up to April 20 for the primaries and April 27 for the final election by the order of the Campus Government at its regular meeting Tuesday. The deadline for candidates to file their intentions of running for office with Dean Wood has also been set up from noon on Monday, April 3 to noon on Wednesday, April 12.

The number of students filing for positions on the Campus Government was negligible, with one student filing for President and Vice-President, none for Secretary, and two for Treasurer. The men filing their intentions to run for editors and business managers on the various campus publications was also scanty with all positions having no opposition at all.

The reason for postponement of the elections, according to the Campus Government, was that there was not enough publicity given to the students by the TECHNICIAN and the campus bulletins and publications. Another reason given was that the honor committees of the various schools on the campus had not held the school primaries to select representatives to run on the ticket in the final elections for the places on the Student Government. This was to be done two weeks preceding the final elections, but was overlooked and not carried out.

Those men who have filed with Dean Wood's office for the various positions on the Student Government and the campus publications as of Monday, April 3 are as follows: for President of the Student Government, Jack G. College Handbook Given New Name

Following a motion by its editor, the Publications Board and the YMCA Executive Committee approved the adoption of an official name for the college handbook. The publication has previously not been known as anything but the college's Handbook. The title chosen was The Tower.

As of last year the publication was divorced from the YMCA in favor of the Publications Board supervision. This move was designed to make available funds from the Publications Fee paid by the students.

The Tower has long been considered one of the more important campus publications because of its association with freshman orientation. It is actually a supplement to the College Catalog, and in its condensed form is responsible for the student's primary impressions of State College life.

The handbook is published by the students, just as the Technician and Watauga, etc. The new name, it is hoped, will lend added distinction to the publication. Presently editor Harvey Schevick and Business Manager Charles Culp are responsible for its circulation.

There will be a meeting of the Sophomore Class in Pullen Hall, Thursday, April 13, at 12:00 noon. Easter

If each of us were asked the question, What is the meaning of Easter?, immediately we would begin to state the events which took place during Holy Week. All of us would commence our reply with the fact that Palm Sunday is the Sunday before Easter, when Jesus rode into Jerusalem. We would follow that with the idea that on Friday, he was crucified. Some might mention his betrayal, Judas, while others might add to that the information that He was called before Pilate to be tried. And finally, all of us would tell of the Resurrection which we commemorate each Easter Sunday. The details of this event would vary as did the other descriptions. What we are doing is certainly typical of the scientific, technological world of which we are a part and in which we operate. We merely state the facts without taking time to consider the significance of the events and what was their meaning and what great truths they were ushering into the universe and into humanity. Let us this Easter season consider three great theological ideas which were told by God at Easter time.

In the first place, Easter tells us in a most vivid fashion that the greatest gift of God to this world is humanity, that is to say, people. God is more interested in people and how they live than any other phenomena in the universe. He shows this by the gift of the most holy one in human history as a sacrifice for people whoever they are and wherever they may be. Akin to this fact is the great idea that this holy man of Galilee tells us more about God and His love and His goodness than anyone this world has even known. And it is this man, the most sinless, dedicated, God-conscious person in history who God chooses to make the great sacrifice. Yes, one of the great ideas given to us by God at this season is that the supreme thing in the world is human personality.

The second great truth which God tells at Easter season is that it is God Himself who initiates love for mankind. Our love is only a matter of love-in-return. If we study the history of the first century in which Jesus lived and the conditions of life during that era we readily agree that the world by its actions and by its standards did not warrant nor merit such a great revelation as God was giving them through the sacrifice of this "good" man. It was because God loved humanity, so much that he initiated his feelings for mankind through this great event. Another significant fact that is told through the scene of the "Cross" is that God's love can forgive and cleanse all, no matter what the wrong might be. When the Master prayed, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do," he was saying to us that even if you commit the greatest sin or misdoing against Him, his love is big enough and great enough to forgive you. Truly, it is God Himself who initiates the love for man and not man paying his respects to God.

The last thought which God tells through the Easter message is that of immortality. This means that there is something about the human person that is eternal. We call it, Soul, or psyche, as in the Greek word. Immortality is not to be confused with the idea of Resurrection of the body. The Jews already believed in a resurrection of the physical body. This new idea is to be conceived of in spiritual terms. Immediately after death one's soul goes back to the source from which it came, (God), and rests there in peace. This fact has had a great influence on the world just as it did on the disciples during Jesus' day. It means that there is more to life than the mere earthly existence. The life on this earth and how it is lived does affect the hereafter but the soul whether a sinner or a saint is eternal and immortal—it never dies. The event that Christ rose from the grave and was witnessed either in physical or spiritual form by those who knew Him earlier reveals this truth to us. Surely, if God is interested in people and has initiated His love for them, it logically follows that he would make the soul (the real person) immortal and eternal. This is the third great truth which God tells us at Easter, that the soul will never die.

May we during this Easter time think of the great events which took place and of their real meaning and significance. Easter should challenge us to be a better person. We should not only take a part in Easter, but let it and its great truths become a living and vital part of us.

AROUND The TOWER

By SANFORD GLUCK

When three individual colleges were consolidated, in 1931, into the Greater University of North Carolina, the plan was opened for many great things on the part of the University as a whole, the three colleges of which it was composed, and the student bodies of these schools. No one can question the advances that the Greater University has made in the brief span of not yet twenty years. It is one of the finest and largest educational systems in the South. The Colleges themselves have provided a broad education for its many students, and within the three units one can study anything from art to zoology, and from teacher education to religion. On the student level, however, conditions are primarily the same as they were at the time of consolidation: three separate colleges with no connection at all. Out of this unfortunate condition grew the Greater University Student Council.

Enthusiastic Response

In the Spring of 1948 Jess Dedmond, then president of the Student Council at the University of N. C., conceived the idea of a tri-school Student Council, and began to approach student leaders at the Womans College and at State about it. The response was enthusiastic from the start, and in December, 1948, twenty five representatives from the three campuses met at Chapel Hill to discuss the formation of such a Council. Work was begun immediately on a Constitution and, under the leadership of State College's Hoyle Adams an imposing set of principles and ideals was evolved. The Constitution, which was adopted by eleven members from each institution, and they were compelled to meet at least three times per year (so far the Council has met five times since last September).

The first concerted act by the Greater University Student Council was a request made last April to State members from each institution at the three Schools not be raised. Unfortunately, this request was received after most of the men had made up their minds, and it did little good.

List of Qualifications

Soon after ex-President Graham was appointed to the Senate the Council met and drew up a stipulated list of qualifications which it was hoped the Selection Committee for the new President would seriously consider. This resolution was given much publicity, not only on the three campuses but also throughout the state.

Among the other projects taken up last year was a request that students be allowed to sit in on meetings of the Chancellors. The request was granted recently, and at their next meeting two students from each school will be present.

The 1949-50 school year started off with a bang by celebrating Greater University Day at the State-Carolina football game. The dance following the game was arranged by the Council, and it was only the first of many tri-school social affairs to come. The projects undertaken by the G.U.S.C. this year have been varied, and most of them will have to carry over to next year to show results. Some of the members are compiling a grand list of similar organizations on each campus with an eye toward promoting activities between the tri-school groups at each school. An exchange intramural sports program is being studied, whereby the winning intramural baseball team from State will play the winning team from Carolina. The Womans College representatives have written a radio script depicting the history of the G.U.S.C. This play will be recorded and subsequently sent to radio stations in the state to be used as publicity for the Greater University. Groups are also working on exchange programs and a Greater University song.

Accomplishments

These are only a few of the things which are being accomplished by the Council. Even though it is less than two years old, the Council has helped immeasurably to increase understanding and relationships between the three schools. We at State have many school customs and functions which are being considered by the other two units—and, conversely, they have presented many new ideas which it would profit us to adopt. The Greater University Student Council is the one student organization embracing the three units through which these ideas can be presented. The possibilities of the Council are limitless, and in time it can become an extremely powerful body. The supreme hope of the Council is that it will help coordinate our three branches to such an extent that the connotation of the words "Greater University" will come to mean "GREATEST University."

With the Greeks

By JACK McQUINN

By virtue of I.F.C. approval, Theta Chi and Alpha Kappa Lambda will establish colonies at State College. I.F.C. Prexy, Woody Bass, took time out from his duties on the Council last week to publicly commend both Greek groups and welcome them to our community. Theta Chi is perhaps better known to State members from each institution having chapter at Duke, Wake Forest and Carolina. Alpha Kappa Lambda hails from west of the Rockies.

Elections

Campus Greeks will soon go to the polls faced with the question of electing interfraternity Council Officers for the coming year. The president, by way of the fraternity rotation system, will come this year either from Sigma Nu or Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Delta Sigma Phi and Alpha Gamma Rho will furnish candidates for the vice-presidency. This column will carry in the next issue a complete listing to date of candidates for I.F.C. offices.

Treasure Hunts

Dean Wood's office has recently received complaints concerning objects purloined, borrowed, or cetera by Greek neophytes on their nocturnal errands. The word is that this business not only has to come to a screeching halt, but articles borrowed must be returned. It should be obvious to chapter officers that to permit further treasure hunts of this nature will eliminate what few privileges our "Great White Fathers" have left to us. One article in question is a dress manicure from Meredith College. Although Dean Grant of that institution is probably ready to agree with her students that "boys will be boys," she would some kind like to see the gizmo returned. "Don't mind us, confess; who stole the 'woman'?"

New Officers

Sigma Alpha Mu elected the following new officers at their last chapter meeting: Prior, Mort Pudnos; Exchequer, Howie Golenpud; Recorder, Shelley Urowitz; Historian, Morton Gluck; Steward, Bill Margolis.

Lambda Chi Alpha

Gamma Upsilon of Lambda Chi Alpha is presented this week in our series of fraternity sketches. XA was founded at Boston University in 1909. Through the years it has grown until it is now the largest national fraternity, with 130 active chapters located at prominent colleges in the U. S. and

EE Convention

The annual convention of the southeastern student branches of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will be held at Georgia Tech, Atlanta, Ga., April 12-15, according to committee chairman Louis Gordon.

Other members of the committee, in addition to Chairman Gordon, senior electrical engineering student from Macon, Georgia, are electrical engineering students R. B. Kapp, junior from Macon, Ga.; R. S. Duggan, senior, 312 N. Shelton Ave., Wauclama, Fla.; John Hembry, senior, 823 Briarcliff Road, Atlanta; L. O. Hunter, senior, Trenton, Ky.; Edwin L. Scott, junior, 4553 Club Drive, Atlanta; W. Frisby, junior, Casper, Wyoming; Roger L. Hallock, senior, 4011 Deepwood Road, Baltimore, Md.; R. E. Lowrance, senior, 108 North Avenue, Atlanta; R. E. Gardner, senior, 415 Grinnell St., Keywest, Fla.; A. W. Boelkeheide, senior, Northville, S. D.; Ralph Gilmore, senior, 1244 Highway 99 So., Grants Pass, Ore.; and R. Dealing, professor of electrical engineering.

Colleges and universities sending delegations include Auburn, Alabama, Clemson, Duke, Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana Polytechnic, L.S.U., University of Louisville, Mississippi State, North Carolina State, South Carolina, Tennessee, Tulane, Vanderbilt, V.M.I., V.P.I., Virginia and the Citadel.

New Diesel Engine To Be Shown Here

A full-sized cut-away diesel locomotive "B" unit, built by the Electro-Motive Division of General Motors Corporation for display at the Chicago Railroad Fair, will be brought to Raleigh by the Southern Railway System for exhibit on April 6-7, to engineering students and faculty members of State College, Southern Railway employees, and the public. The exhibit will be placed at the No. 3 track at the Raleigh Passenger Station.

On Tour

The locomotive unit is currently being taken by the Southern Railway System on a tour of its lines for inspection by college and university engineering students, employees of the railroad and others. It is arranged so that visitors can study operation of the machinery from the exterior of the car, or go inside for a close-up view of the diesel engines, generators and other machinery.

The unit is 51 feet long and weighs 189,000 pounds, it is said to be the largest slow-motion cut-away portable mechanical exhibit ever constructed. The outer covering of the 1500 horsepower, two-cycle diesel engine has been removed at various places to provide "portholes" through which visitors can observe the moving machinery. Lights have been placed inside the engine so that the operation is clearly visible. In addition, mirrors have been installed to bring into view parts of the machinery that would otherwise not be visible through the "portholes."

Visitors can see the pistons moving up and down inside the cylinder, connecting rods transmitting motion to the crankshaft, and can see the flow of fuel oil, lubricating oil and cooling water through the various lines and passages.

Mechanism Shown

The sides of the steam generator have been removed to show its mechanism. This small unit, which occupies about the same space as a medium-size household refrigerator, provides heat for the passenger cars and generates enough steam, when in operation, to heat homes in four city blocks in the coldest weather.

Twenty-five percent of all drivers involved in fatal automobile accidents in the U. S. last year were between the ages of 18 and 24.

Alumni Elections

Twenty-two alumni of State College are seeking 13 posts in the institution's General Alumni Association, officials of the association reported today.

Former students of the college will vote for the candidates of their choice in a mail election. Ballots will be mailed to all active members of the association this week, and the polls will close on Monday, May 15, at 4:30 p.m.

Presidential Candidates

Guy F. Lane of Rameur and Edward U. Lewis of Tarboro are running for the presidency of the association—a post now held by Henry E. Kendall of Raleigh, chairman of the State Employment Security Commission.

Lane is industrial and power products sales engineer for the Johns-Manville Corporation in eastern North Carolina, and Lewis is a tobacco buyer for the W. B. Lea Tobacco Company of Rocky Mount. Both men are members of the Class of 1925. Lane was graduated with a degree in mechanical engineering, and Lewis specialized in textiles.

OPEN FORUM

AN OPEN LETTER TO COLLEGE SENIORS FROM SECRETARY OF LABOR TOBIN:

You college seniors are members of the largest graduating class in the history of United States collegiate education. You and your classmates may total half a million—a peak number not likely to be reached again in the near future. Last year about 422,000 students received degrees—a record at the time; next year the number of graduates is expected to decline somewhat.

The very size of the graduating class will intensify the competition for jobs when you seek employment. Furthermore, it is likely that there will be fewer job openings for new college graduates this year than there were 2 years ago, or even last year.

This is not to say the outlook is bleak. In some localities and in some occupations there will be jobs in abundance. And our economy is so strong and prosperous that the long-range growth possibilities are bright, for we as a Nation concentrate efforts to expand employment opportunities to keep pace with the growing labor force. Nevertheless, the fact remains that, on the average, you who are graduating this year will have to hunt longer and harder for jobs than immediate predecessors before you to find the job you want and for which you are trained.

Thus it becomes increasingly important that you get as much information as you can about where the opportunities lie—in what industries, in what occupations, in what sections of the country. To provide such information to college students, I am having prepared a series of short articles on job prospects for publication in college newspapers. I am attaching these articles, which discuss the general employment outlook. Succeeding articles will cover occupations for which large numbers of this year's graduates will be trained.

This abbreviated national picture of the outlook for college graduates should be supplemented with more detailed information from campus placement and guidance bureaus and local offices of State employment services affiliated with the Labor Department's United States Employment Service. These services can add the local and regional high lights which may alter or accent parts of the picture as sketched. They can also provide those professional counseling, testing and placement services that have proved so valuable to facilitate the process of finding a satisfactory job.

It is my hope that, with an understanding of conditions in the field of your choice, you men and women who graduate this year will specify find employment where you can best use your knowledge and skills and contribute most to the society that made possible your education.

We need the work of your hands and minds and the devotion of your hearts if our country is to grow and its citizens prosper.

Yours very truly, MAURICE J. TOBIN Secretary of Labor.

April 4, 1960

Editor of The Technician North Carolina State College Raleigh, N. C.

Dear Ed,

The recent rigors of registration have catalyzed a rude awakening to a quarterly phenomena. As the years pass along here at State and books are sought at the beginning of each term, it is very seldom that one can dash in the bookstore, deposit the required gelt, and receive all the books requested. Indeed it is seldom at the beginning of the term that one can dash in the bookstore. To further define these unhappy conditions it must be stated that the books requested are texts for regularly scheduled courses. On arrival at classes on the first day the professors inquire, "How many have books for this course?" In cases of the above phenomena the reply is four or five raised hands with cries of, "The book store is out!", from the remainder of the class. Then the professor exclaims that something is radically out of adjustment because he had requested the book store authorities to obtain a certain number of books which would have been adequate for this class. On the basis of this evidence I ask: What is wrong with the operators of the book store? If the publishers are consistently late on delivery, why not order earlier? Can it be that they who order books wait until after registration before ordering? Many people would be inclined to say that the service rendered by bookstore organizations is less than a little to be desired. I think it stinks!

Let us suppose that we are in a 10-week school term and let us suppose that the books are one week late in arriving. On this basis we have spent 10% of the term without our texts. Let us suppose that is not a negligible quantity. Should the books be two weeks late... Gad! What a horrible thought! There have been some cases where books have not arrived during the whole term.

Some may think it quite jolly to officially lack books at the beginning of the term and take sadistic joy in the writing of the instructor as he attempts to teach in an equitable manner. These thoughtless persons forget that in reality the material to be read is accumulating and that the time allotted to its study will be shorter, and that anything which hinders the instructor also hinders them. The overall result is that the student does not get the full benefit of the classes for which he is paying.

It is high time that some action be taken by those in authority in our college to eliminate this shameful situation. If the bookstore regime feels that it is unable to cope with the problem, then let some one who can take control.

Yours truly, Name Withheld

Chess Tournament

The winter term chess tournament to determine the State College Chess Champion was concluded with Richard Gustafson, a senior in Chem. Eng., and former club president winning over Bill Foster in the closely played finals. Robert F. Beck and Bill Foster were recently elected president and vice-president respectively. The Chess Club meets at 8:00 p.m. every Friday in the Y.M.C.A. Visitors are welcome.

Outlook Good

Despite a sharply increasing competition in engineering employment during the last few months, nearly all students who completed their courses at Georgia Tech in September and December, and more than 70 percent of those finishing at the end of March, have been placed in jobs, according to Dean Fred W. Ajax, in charge of placement. Starting salaries today for Georgia Tech graduates with bachelor's degrees range from $200 to $300 per month, with the average being about $255. However, those with master's degrees earn, on the average, slightly more than those with bachelor's degrees.

In a recent report, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said that "engineering is one of the fastest-growing professions in the country and the number of engineers may increase by as much as 100,000 in the period of 1948 to 1960, to a total of about 450,000."

Minister Interviewed

America is now in the midst of "a great religious revival," Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, pastor of New York City's Marble Collegiate Church, said at a press and radio conference here today. "The emotional element," Dr. Peale stated at his press-radio conference, "is secondary to the rational and practical application of Christianity in this revival now sweeping the country."

Wonderful Job

The nation's radio stations and newspapers, he continued, "are doing a wonderful job for religion." Religious leaders also have added to the movement, he said, "by learning at last to talk the language of the people and by getting Christianity down to earth."

This revival, Dr. Peale declared, "takes the form of a discovery of Christianity as an indigenous part of life—a usable personal utility." As a word of advice to people stricken with hysteria about the H-bomb and the A-bomb, Dr. Peale said that peace of mind comes from "being calm and not getting excited." "Keep yourself quiet inside," he admonished, "and stop being twitery. You can then think and be rational. Get quiet and then start thinking. Put your faith in Al-

Job Outlook For Graduates Appears To Be Bright

With about 500,000 college students graduating this year—the largest number in our country's history—the job outlook for the new college graduates is generally good. It is not, however as good as in 1947 and 1948.

The outlook is clouded by three factors: the large number of graduates who will be seeking jobs; a moderate increase in the total number of unemployed persons; and the filling of war-created shortages of college graduates in some specialized fields by the large graduating classes of 1948 and 1949.

Economy Strong
Basically, the economy of the country is strong and there is a general consensus that production and employment will remain high during 1950. However, the big problem facing the economy is that of constantly providing more goods and services and utilizing fully a labor force that is growing at the rate of 600,000 to 700,000 workers a year. Even if employment continues during 1950 at about the same level as last year, it is expected to do, unemployment will increase and jobs will be harder to find.

Graduates seeking information on expanding industries or sections of the country need to remember this basic fact: most of the jobs taken by this year's college graduates will be, as usual, those which have been vacated by other workers. Deaths and retirements at the top of the occupational ladder create the largest number of openings at the bottom. It follows that most of the openings will occur in the large industries and the areas where there are now the heaviest concentrations of employment.

To emphasize that most job opportunities occur as a result of turnover is not to belittle the number that arise through expansion. Growing markets, technological improvements, and the development of new industries and additional services all create job openings for inexperienced workers with the proper training.

Employment Trends
Employment in certain parts of the country is growing more rapidly than in others in the long-run. This is true on the West Coast, the South Atlantic region and Texas. However, the supply of workers in some of these areas—the West Coast for example—has increased more rapidly than job opportunities. Moreover, in rural areas of the country generally the need for workers in some of the professional fields is greater than in cities.

For many college graduates of the class of 1950, the fact that American industry is in a period of intense competition for markets will be the major reason for success in finding employment. Industry responds to competition by pushing advertising and sales efforts and by cutting production costs, streamlining operations, replacing obsolete equipment, and redesigning products and plants. These activities provide opportunities for professionally trained workers and for young and vigorous people with sales ability or imagination in the advertising field.

General Observations
General observations about conditions in the job market tend to hide widely varying situations. Prospects are excellent in some occupations, industries, and areas. In others, where wartime and post-war shortages have now been filled, many graduates will find it difficult to get jobs.

In teaching, for example, there is at once an acute shortage of personnel in the elementary schools and a growing oversupply at the high school level. For the current school year, only one elementary teacher was trained for every three who were needed. On the other hand, four times as many students completed training for high school teaching as were required.

Stiff Competition
Other professional fields in which stiff competition for jobs is expected in the next few years include: Law, journalism, and personnel work. In engineering, the number of graduates will exceed the number of openings in the early 1950's; after the next 4 or 5 years, the employment situation for new graduates is likely to improve in this rapidly growing profession. In chemistry, competition will be keen during the next few years among persons without graduate training; the outlook is better for those with graduate degrees.

There will probably also be an oversupply of business administration graduates. A surplus of new graduates has already developed in the field of accounting.

Liberal arts graduates with work experience or specialized training will find it easier to get jobs than those with only a general undergraduate education.

Good Prospects
Prospects for new entrants are good in health service occupations. There is a current shortage of nurses, and demand for nursing service will probably continue to rise. In medicine and dentistry those able to enter and complete training will have good opportunities; however, competition is very keen for admission to professional schools. In pharmacy the supply of new graduates has almost caught up with the demand; the profession may be overcrowded in the long-run if enrollments in pharmacy colleges continue at present high levels. Good opportunities are expected also for other occupational groups important in health service, such as veterinarians, medical X-Ray technicians, medical laboratory technicians, dental hygienists, physical therapists, occupational therapists, and dietitians.

Soph Hop Near

Bill Lee's collegians from E.C.T.C. have been chosen by the Sophomore dance committee to play for the coming Sophomore Hop on April 22.

The selection of the Collegians is in keeping with the previous year's success in securing a small name band capable of producing good dance music.

The Saturday night dance will begin at eight o'clock and last till midnight.

Dance bids will be given only to those members who have paid their class dues. The seventy per cent of the class who have not yet paid their three dollars will be given the opportunity to do so during the morning and noon meal hours on April 3 and 4 at both entrances to the Cafeteria.

Smith Elected New Vice-President

Due to the graduation last term of Charlie Musser, Campus Government Vice-President, the Campus Government was forced to elect a new Veep from among its members to finish out the rest of the school year. Burwell Smith, Senior in Agronomy, was elected to the job. He is also Editor of the Agriculturalist, and a member of Alpha Zeta, Blue Key, the Ag Club, the Y.M.C.A., the Publications Board, and Alpha Gamma Rho. Musser is now working in Asheville for the Forestry Extension Division, after having officially left school last week.

Members of the Campus Government were also asked to bring in suggestions to be sent to Gordon Gray concerning improvements throughout the school. The Greater University Student Council is compiling a list of these suggestions from the three branches, and then plans to send a compiled letter to incoming-President Gray for his consideration.

Teacher Rating has reached a temporary deadlock insofar as tabulating the papers goes. It was decided to have this tabulation done at Chapel Hill through I.B.M. machines, but it is not definite whether or not these machines will be available. At any rate, I.B.M. machines or not, there will be Teacher Rating later on this term.

"Good Wife" Diplomas

It has been announced by the Promotions Committee of the Campus Government that cards will be mailed to all married seniors relative to the presentation of "Good Wife Diplomas" at commencement. All seniors who would like for their wives to receive this "diploma" are requested to fill in the desired information and return the card promptly. The deadline is Saturday, April 29.

The committee also requests that a student knowing of a married student who graduated last term who might like one of these "diplomas," to turn the graduate's name into the campus government at once.

The "Good Wife Diploma" is a certificate which is presented each year at graduation to students' wives for their many sacrifices made while their husbands attended school.

Mixed Picture

The picture facing this year's graduates is a mixed one. Business conditions as a whole are continuing good. In spite of this high level of business activity, the growing labor force and growing productivity may well result in high levels of unemployment. The picture for job opportunities is equally mixed. Some occupations are oversupplied with graduates, and the competition will be intense for the available jobs. Other fields have a demand for jobs which far outweigh the available supply of trained people to fill those jobs. Those whose training lies in the crowded fields have several alternatives open to them. First of all, they would be well advised to explore the possibilities of entering any fields closely allied to their field of primary interest, where there may be more openings. They should also explore the possibility of graduate training to equip themselves with more specialized skills.

Federal Scholarships

The current discussions of federal scholarships to aid worthy individuals in obtaining college educations should be of considerable interest to State College students.

Several proposals are being discussed in the Congress and by prominent educators. These proposals have been incorporated in the platforms of several politicians. Strong opposition to these has arisen, particularly from those who fear that the Federal Government will become too influential in determining educational policy.

Scholarship Bill
On January 9th the President of the United States notified Congress in his budget message that he intended to submit the draft of a bill to provide for a federal scholarship program.

He proposed the expenditure of $1,000,000 in the 1951 fiscal year to establish and initiate the scholarship program. Thus, it is possible that the Federal Government may begin the granting of scholarships by July, 1951 if Congress takes favorable action.

In December of last year the American Council on Education convened a conference to discuss the basic issues involved in the proposed legislation to provide a Federal program of scholarships.

Necessary Program
This conference agreed to necessity and desirability of such a program and formulated a suggested formula for the organization of the program.

A grant-in-aid of $750 per academic year to each recipient while an undergraduate was suggested. It will be noted that the proposals which have been advanced to date are intended to aid prospective college students not yet enrolled in any institution of higher learning.

Primary Purpose
The American Council on Education states that the primary purpose of such a program must be to assist students who would not otherwise be able to continue their education and to supplement scholarship funds available through the states and private institutions.

The Executive Committee of the National Student Association, in which State College holds membership, has adopted the following resolution:

F. F. A.

The F.F.A. held its first meeting of the Spring quarter Thursday, March 30 at 7 p.m. A good attendance was on hand for the meeting, and the quarterly program was put underway.

The program, which would have consisted of music and a short talk, was suspended to allow those present to attend the showing of the State-Holy Cross basketball game. The meeting was adjourned with refreshments served by Russell Gaylord, program chairman.

F.F.A. meets again April 13 at 7 p.m. in Tompkins Hall. An excellent program is being planned.

Wolfpack Meets Duke In Season Opener

Clogston To Be Interviewed For Minnesota Position

Deacs Top Pack In Practice Test

The Demon Deacons of Wake Forest took an 8 to 0 win over State College at Devereux Meadow Tuesday afternoon in a unique contest which saw the winning pitcher also in the role of the loser.

Practice Tuesday's contest was in the form of a practice game, and Wake Forest's mechanical arm limited the Wolfpack to only three hits, while the Deacs, who were more accustomed to the contraption were able to pound out 11 safeties.

The game will not go into the books as a regular contest, but was staged merely for the benefit of fans who were curious to see the "arm" in action.

Wild Stages

At several stages in the game the machine had wild spells and had to be adjusted so as to pitch the ball. During the course of the contest the "pitcher" walked six men and struck out one. In the seventh inning when Wake Forest's Jim Fulghum pounded out a circuit drive, the crowd began to chant for a relief hurler.

So far as the contest itself was concerned, it was all Wake Forest. Harry Nicholas, star Wake Forest pitcher; Third Baseman Gene Hooks, and Leftfielder Joe Fulghum slammed pitches over the leftfield barrier. Nicholas' blow came with the bases empty. Fulghum unloaded his with two on and Hooks socked his with one aboard.

Three fast double plays enlivened the action. Each team worked well in the field and the Deacons had the advantage of good batting practice. State, unfamiliar with the mechanical monster, didn't fare so well, and one of its hits was a scratchy type which was awarded when a ball hit near the net in front of the gadget and un-nerved Nicholas.

Follies To Include Local Basketeers

Junior League members are busy rehearsing every day for the "Follies of '50" which will be given Thursday evening, April 13, at 8:30 o'clock in Memorial Auditorium. They are professionally directed by Mr. Bill Latta of Jerome Cargill, Inc. Mrs. Maurice Thiem is talent chairman.

Wolfpack in Performance

State College basketball team, with Coach Everett Case, will be featured in a scene called "In the Locker Room." Another, "You're Welcome," has Mayne Albright as master of ceremonies, and Anna Riddick and Billy Worth. Thad Eure, Secretary of State, appears in "A Beach in the Nineties."

A rumba will be one of the features of the show, with Mrs. Sam Allen and chorines. Among League members who will dance in the chorus groups are Mrs. Alexander Badger, Mrs. George Paschal, Mrs. George Worth, Mrs. Lorenz White, Mrs. James Stephenson, Mrs. William Poe, Mrs. Graham McLeod, Mrs. William B. Bandy, Miss Mary Helen Wilson, Mrs. Alec Andrews, Mrs. James Wright, Mrs. James Little, Mrs. Tom Norris, Mrs. Charles Lee Smith, Mrs. Robert Howison, Mrs. Leslie Williams, and Mrs. Sam Allen.

Amusing Skits

"Mountain Justice" is the title of one of the amusing skits to be presented. Participants are Charles Poe, Aldert Root, Bradford Johnson and Mrs. Charles Bradshaw. Another one designed for laughs is "Grossome Twosome" with Mrs. Bradford Johnson and Paul Hoover, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Paschal, James (Jimmy) Little, and Bob Biggs will appear in an Indian scene called "Buckskin Bobb." Ainslee Pryor, Saravette Royster, Al Pennell, Jimmy Stephenson, Haughton Ehringhaus are among the well known people who will be seen in other skits. Mrs. Charles Williams, Dr. James Edwards, Mrs. Robert Hanley, men's choruses, girl's choruses, mixed choruses, and Frank Faucette, all sing of romance in solo, duo, and ensemble.

Take On Deacons On Easter Monday

Coach Victor Sorrell's baseballers, after a successful jaunt through not so sunny Florida, will open their conference season tomorrow afternoon against the Duke Blue Devils over in the tobacco city.

Boasting a record of three wins in four games, the 1950 edition of the Pack diamond men seems to be considerably improved over last year's mediocre aggregation. The Florida victories, which came at the expense of Rollins, Stetson, and Jacksonville Naval Air Station, showed that the lads Sorrell brought up from his Big Four Freshman camp of last season have really proved to be the proverbial shot in the arm. Catcher Bill Wilhelm, first baseman Billy Smith, outfielder Charlie Westbrook, and second baseman Paul Dinan, all sophom, along with veteran Bill Fowler, have supplied the punch in the wins to date.

Meet Deacs Monday

After the Duke tilt, the locals will tangle with Wake Forest, the defending unofficial conference champs in the annual Easter Monday classic at Devereux Meadow. The Deacons, losing only three men from last year's powerful Eastern NCAA champs, have won five of their first six engagements. They hold wins over Elon, Catawba, Michigan State, and McCrary Mills, while their lone defeat came at the hands of a surprising Elon College nine.

Sorrell's probable starting nine will include Don Cheek, Bill Fowler, and Charlie Westbrook in the outfield; Bill Smith at first, Paul Dinan at second, Roland Brinson at short and Ned Cervel at third. Bill Wilhelm will be behind the plate, with freebatter Irv Page doing the tossing.

Coach Gooch of the Deacons will probably counter with his usual starting lineup with the exception of Catcher Russ Batchelor who graduated. The fortunate Deacon coach will use either Harry Nicholas, his number one chunker, or lefty Moe Bauer, who racked up three straight over the locals last season.

Game time will be 3:30.

Ranzino Named On Helms All-America

State's high-scoring basketball forward Sam Ranzino added another All-America feather to his cap with the announcement from the Helms Foundation that the Wolfpack star had been selected to its first-team squad of 10 men.

Ranzino, who broke the NCAA tournament scoring record with 322 points against Holy Cross and ran up a season's mark of 624 points in 33 games for an 18.9 average, thus saw his name added to the fifth All-America squad selection of the season. Other selectors who have picked the black-haired Italian led from Gary, Ind., are the Associated Press, Look Magazine, Sporting News, and the Italian-American Press.

Best on Free Throws

Shootin' Sam's statistical record for the season shows that he took 721 shots from the floor, making 241 field goals for a 33.4 accuracy. Ranzino led the State team in free throw accuracy, converting 142 tosses in 197 attempts for a 72.1 per cent accuracy.

The complete Helms Foundation team, named this year for the 31st season and recognized as one of the most outstanding All-America selectors in the nation, includes Bob Cousy of Holy Cross, Bill Sharman of Southern California, Hal Haskins of Hamline, Paul Unruh of Bradley, Dick Schmitzner of Ohio State, Irvin Dambrot of CIGNY, Don Lofgran of San Francisco and John Pilch of Wyoming along with Ranzino.

Ranzino becomes the second State basketball star to be selected by the Helms Foundation to its first team. Forward Dick Dickey was accorded the honor in the 1948 season. Dickey was named on the Helms outfit released yesterday to a third-team position.

Ranzino, a six-foot, one-inch junior, has another year of eligibility remaining with Coach Everett Case's Wolfpack.

VIEWS ON SPORTS

By BILL HAAS

Just Rambling: In the recent Carolina Relays, several Wolfpack teams and individual stars marked up new records. Herb Goldberg chalked up a new 100-yd. dash time with a 9.9 clocking. Herb's new record betters the old mark set in 1942 by Mike Andrews, another State star. Andrews' time was 10 seconds flat.

Other outstanding Pack marks were set by the 440 relay team and the freshman distance medley relay team. Chambers, Wadsworth, Goldberg, and Splawn won the championship in the dash relay. The frosh distance team was composed of Cohn, J. Poplin, Garrison, and Bobby Jones.

The outlook on the cinder paths for the Wolfpack this year points to one of the best seasons ever booked up at State.

More red faces dep't. . . . The Helms Foundation, said to be the best critic of All-Americans, named Sammy Ranzino to the first team and Dickey to the third team. Now who's sorry that they didn't look a little further South for their 1950 All-Americans?

Can't get away from basketball without a little more griping about the manner in which the mythical greats are chosen. There's entirely too much emphasis placed on the score a man makes. True, the game has gone offensive, so to speak; but there are defensive aces who deserve mention.

Another thing, let's get back to the old system of picking the All-Americans by position. The recent East-West All Star game in which Dick Dickey participated is a good example of what can happen. Naturally, the forwards are the outstanding men because they are the point-makers. In the East-West game, there were too many forwards and centers. Dickey was forced to play in a guard position. Dick can adapt himself to any position, but after a full season at forward, you can't switch for one game and do any great work. Dick racked up one point in the contest.

The same would be true if one of those All-America clubs took the floor. Chances are, there would be four forwards and possibly a center on the floor. I'd like to see one more old fashioned All-America selection with two forwards, two guards, and a center.

The old eligibility wolf is clawing at State's door again. This time it's Joe Harand. All the double talk that is going around is hard to interpret. Your guess is as good as mine as to why they have a count against Joe. Oh, well, when you are on top, you must expect opposition from every angle.

The Southern Conference could very well throw away the old eligibility rule book and write a new one. No other conference in the country has as many ways of knocking off the good players!

Intramural softball is now in season. In the dorm league, we pick Number 1 Becton to take top honors. With Charlie Harrell doing the pitching, how can the Becton Boys lose? TKE has a fine chance at the Fraternity championship. Howard Lumley is the main reason for this outlook. "Pos" was an outstanding freshman basketballer for the Pack and he can twirl the old apple with the best. If these two teams do win in their divisions, I'd suggest an intramural series for an interesting exhibition of pitching duels.

Sam Ranzino and Dick Dickey were the N. C. State representatives. Clyde Lovellette, huge University of Kansas center, John Azary of Columbia and Dick Schmitzner of Ohio State completed the all team.

Ranzino and Dickey combined to total 57 points against the Crusaders in the NCAA tournament.

Annual Military Ball Planned For April 15

Governor Invited

Three representatives from the Military Ball Dance Committee visited Governor Scott last Wednesday afternoon to personally invite him and Mrs. Scott to the dance. The three men were: Bill Mashburn, President of the Arnold Society of Aid Cadets; Gil Newton, President of the Cadet Officers Association; and Sanford Gluck, member of Seaboard and Elada and Chairman of the Dance Committee. It was hoped by all those working on the dance that the Governor and his wife would attend, as it has been a long time since they have been to a State College dance.

Tentative Acceptance

The Governor accepted the invitation with many thanks, but was not positive about being able to attend the dance. He has to go to New York that week to sign bonds, and is not sure whether or not he will be back by Saturday night. However, he did say that if at all possible he and Mrs. Scott would be at the Military Ball.

Plans for the Ball are progressing very well, and everything points to a very successful dance. One of the high-spots of the evening will be the traditional Grand March. Through an archway of crossed sabers the Regimental Staff, the Battalion Commanders, the Dance Committee, and the officers of the three organizations sponsoring the dance will walk with their dates. A Master of Ceremonies will recognize the Sponsors and invited guests, and a figure will be formed by those walking through the Grand March.

Music

A contract has been signed with Roy Downs to supply the music for the dance. He and his band have played at the Plantation Supper Club in Greensboro for the past year, and are very well known throughout this part of the country.

As usual, each one of the military branches will provide a display to be put up inside the Gym. These displays are the result of a lot of hard work by the Committee and the members of the Military Department.

Tickets to the Military Ball are on sale each Drill day at the East end of the Cafeteria after Drill and also at Holiday Hall by the O. D. every day until the dance. Since the date of the dance is April 15, which is not too far off, those who intend to go to the dance are urged to purchase their tickets immediately. The Gym can hold only 600 couples, and that number is being rapidly approached.

The Inquiring Reporter

By JACK McCORMICK

Why do you think students do not take a more active interest in their Campus Government?

Sam Furches, Jr. Ag. Ed.

The students don't take an interest because they don't know enough about it. If we could "educate" them on the policies, powers, and working procedure, they might begin to take some interest. If we could get them to read articles in the Technician and talk to their representatives, I think that we could create more interest, but how we're going to do that I don't know.

W. Ned Wood, Ass't. Dean of Students

First, there is a lack of communication between the average student and the student government. Second, the average student does not have that feeling of belonging and being represented by the student government.

perhaps because the manner of selecting the representatives is a departure from the usual procedure used in everyday politics. That is, representatives are selected by organization or department and not by campus geographical areas.

Third, perhaps the students feel that too large a percentage of the energies expended in student government projects are going into activities not in the interest of the students at large, and into activities not of service to the student body.

Melvin A. Dewar, Jr. Chem. Eng.

Most of us are just too lazy to take an interest in anything that doesn't involve our own personal pleasure and entertainment.

Staff Meeting

There will be an important supper meeting of the TECHNICIAN staff Monday night at 6:15 in Dining Room "A" of the cafeteria. Plans for the annual publications banquet will be announced and final arrangements for the North Carolina Press Convention will be made at this meeting. It is important that every member attend.

Turlington Dorm Officers

Turlington Dormitory Club Officers and Representatives—1950-51. Seated—Bob Wright, V. Pres.; Bob Smith, Sec.; Ben Humble, Pres.; Charles Shackleton, (A) V. Pres.; Standing—Joe Brown, Tom Hunter, Emory Wilson, Jack Balog, Joe Greco.

Dorm Doings..

In addition to the installation of new presidents, vice-presidents, secretaries, and floor representatives in the dormitories this quarter, several changes have been made in the appointed positions of Social, Recreational, and Publicity Chairmen.

Cliff Walton will now publicize the doings of Bagwell Dorm in place of Robert Hartsell who handled the job last year. Robert Long and Douglas Knowles are taking over the Social and Recreational Chairmanships in Becton, formerly held by Hugh Stokes and Edward Hollowell. In Owen, George Gilbert is filling the Publicity position vacated by Scott Sidham. Bernard Bridges will take the over-all job of Social-Recreational-Publicity Chairman of Gold Dorm this quarter to replace William Hoffman, who is now assistant to Sam Furches, Executive Secretary for the I.D.C.

All of the dormitories are looking forward to the best sports quarter ever. What with such sports as horseshoes and softball, there should be a wide and vigorous participation and competition. From the social point of view, we all know what aspect of living is highly spirited at this time of the year, and most of the Social Chairmen are anticipating some all-out affairs in the way of a picnic. Most of them are planning a picnic and a dance combined, or just one of those separately. However, there seems to be a leaning toward the picnic if a choice must be made. "There are more possibilities at a picnic" is the way Wiley Corbett, Social Chairman for Bagwell puts it. "We had one down at Crab Tree Creek Park last spring, and everyone had a very fine time."

All in all, it looks like a zestful spring quarter for the boys in the dormitories.

last two years gaining the experience which qualifies him for the position.

Paul Focht, a rising junior in Textiles, is a candidate for Business Manager of the Technician. Focht is captain of the debate team and a Degree of Honor member of Pi Kappa Delta, forensic

He has been active in dormitory activities and is a representative of the Tucker Dorm Club. Focht has served on the business staff of WVWP and the College Handbook. He is now a member of the staff of the Technician.

Focht states that he intends to cooperate with the editorial staff in putting out a more readable and interesting paper.
