State Fraternities Pledge Over Hundred Men; Many Parties Held

Fraternity Boys Sigh With Relief

By JOHN THOMPSON

Following a hectic week of rushing, with all of its parties, smokers, and dances, the sixteen Greek-letter social fraternities at State College find themselves 130 men stronger. The fraternity members have uttered sighs of relief; for Rush Week is over, and they have 130 new pledges.

During Rush Week the freshmen hurried from one fraternity to another visiting smokers, parties, and dances. At these fraternity functions the rushees met the members of the fraternities and formed their opinions of the fraternity as a whole. Likewise, the fraternity members sized up the boys that they wished to rush. A silent period followed Rush Week. During this time the rushees were not to be approached by any fraternity members. This silent period gave the rushees a chance to accept or reject any bids that he may have received without pressure from fraternity men. One hundred and thirty accepted bids to pledge. These boys may be identified by the pledge-pin of their fraternity.

Pledge Sixteen

The Pikas and the SPE's lead the other fraternities in number of men pledged with sixteen each. The Sigma Chi's and the Sigma Pi's run a close second with fifteen each.

Following is a list of the new pledges. The boys' names appear first, followed by his hometown.

Alpha Gamma Rho—Richard M. Devier, Harrisonburg, Va.; Jack Claude Dunn, Jr., Elford; Alvin Thomas Hansen, Asheville; Ben Davis Harrington, Puyseg Springs.

Beta Sigma Phi—Casiano D'Annunzio, South Barré, Mass.; Bob Lomnick, Raleigh; Arthur Melville, Concord; Robert McCain, High Point.

Kappa Sigma—Norwood Council Bissell, Goldsboro; Alan Thomas Dickson, Chas-

Sigma Phi Epsilon—Julian H. Blue, Raeford; John E. Cunningham, Winston-Salem; Lloyd C. Dillon, Thomasville; Jerry K. Fehr, Charlotte; Frank R. Grant, Charlotte; David N. Lonan, Marion; Edward Musenberg, Raleigh; Robert B. Mechem, Raleigh; Harry W. Moser, Raleigh; Fred A. Nell, Greensboro; Bruce Shown above is Miss Dena Brown of Raleigh, newly chosen "Miss Wolfpack of 1949. Miss Brown will be officially crowned "Miss Wolfpack" at the intermission of the Annual Homecoming Dance by Miss Nancy Yelverton, Miss North Carolina of 1949. "Miss Wolfpack" and her attendants will be treated to a full weekend of entertainment, and each will be presented loving cups. Miss Brown was sponsored by Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

"Miss Wolfpack of 1949"

Big Homecoming Set To Begin Tonight; Prizes for Decorations

Big Pep Rally Planned For Stadium Tonight

By PAUL FOUGHT

Blue Key and the Monogram Club will sponsor a giant homecoming pep rally tonight at seven o'clock at the Red Diamond. The band and the cheerleaders will start off from the freshmen dorms to rally the crowd.

The cheerleaders will introduce some new yell songs, and will again feature the humor of "Joe Blow" Eubanks and "Henrietta" Champion. The promoters of the rally have stated that they will have "a strip tease by a beautiful and capable lady."

Fireworks Display

A fireworks display has been planned which will reach its climax with the lighting of an enormous bonfire. Maryland's hopes of victory will float skyward with the fire's smoke and flames.

Nancy Yelverton, Miss North Carolina, will be an honored guest at the rally. The newly formed Pep Club has assisted Lolo Dobson, chairman of the pep rally committee, in obtaining Miss North Carolina for this and other Homecoming events. Miss Yelverton, a student at the Women's College, is to be the weekend guest of Chancellor and Mrs. Harrelson and will be escorted by representatives of the Pep Club.

Monograms, Blue Key Sponsor Celebration

State College alumni will hold their annual homecoming program at the college this week-end.

Blue Key and the Monogram Club, two campus organizations, have arranged a wide range of events for the observance, including a pep rally Friday night, decoration contests for the dormitories and fraternities, a beauty contest, and a dance Saturday night.

The pep rally, to be featured by a fireworks display, will be held on Red Diamond Friday night at 7 o'clock. Scott Eubanks of Greensboro, head cheerleader, will direct the rally in preparation for the State-Maryland football game to be staged in Riddick Stadium Saturday afternoon. A special guest at the pep rally will be Nancy Yelverton of Rocky Mount, "Miss North Carolina of 1949."

The Raleigh Merchants Bureau will present prizes to the three dormitories winning first, second, and third places in the decoration contest and will award trophies to the fraternities winning the top places in the fraternity decoration contest. Judging of the two contests will begin Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Contest Winner Presented

Winner of the beauty contest will be given the title of "Miss Wolfpack of 1949." She will be presented at the halftime intermission during the football game and will be crowned at the homecoming dance in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium Saturday night. The dance will be held from 9 until 12 o'clock, with Johnny Satterfield and his orchestra providing the music.

Blue Key, headed by Bill Thompson of Greensboro, will give a dinner in honor of "Miss Wolfpack" in the college dining hall Saturday night at 6:30 o'clock.

Engineering Labs To Be Ready In May

The Engineering Laboratories Building, now under construction at State College, will be ready for occupancy by next May, Dean J. H. Lampe of the College's School of Engineering reported Thursday.

Dean Lampe said that the contractors have assured him that the $1,224,778 structure will be completed by the end of next April.

The building, one of the most modern of its kind in the United States, will house $95,000 worth of new classroom, laboratory, and office equipment. Among its teaching and laboratory facilities will be television, frequency modulation, and radar training equipment.

It is a part of State College's current $15,000,000 expansion program as provided by the 1947 and 1949 sessions of the General Assembly.

With the completion of the entire building program, the college, Chancellor J. W. Harrelson said, will have one of the most outstanding physical plants at any land-grant institution in the nation.

HOMECOMING QUEEN CHOSEN

By ED STRICKLAND

After days and nights of slaving over pictures of beautiful girls, the Monogram Club and the Blue Key have announced their final choice in the "Miss Wolfpack of 1949" contest.

The winner is Miss Dena Brown of Raleigh. This darkhaired beauty stands five feet, two inches, she has brown eyes, 33-inch hips and bust, and 22-inch waist.

The runners-up in the contest are Miss Amelia Shannon of Waxhaw, N. C., and Miss Ann Guthrie of Raleigh.

Miss Brown was sponsored by Lambda Chi Alpha and she will be escorted to the game and dance by Bryon Higgins, president of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Miss Shannon was sponsored by Sigma Pi, and her date will be Ed Hines, Miss Guthrie, sponsored by Sigma Phi Epsilon, will be escorted by J. P. Johnson.

Jurges for the contest were John W. Shirley, Dean of the Basic Division for the I.D.C., R. P. Savage for I.F.C., Willis Casey for the Athletic Department, Harry Stewart, Director of the Dining Hall, E. W. Rogers, YMCA, and J. H. Burnett, traffic officer.

The festivities for the weekend will begin Saturday noon at the YMCA where Miss Wolfpack will be presented with a corsage for the game with the Maryland Terrapins. Miss Brown will be officially presented to the students at half-time in Saturday's game. After the game she and her runners-up will be taken to a dinner in their honor.

Before the dance the Queen and her attendants will receive another corsage. During the dance intermission Mr. Clogston will present Nancy Yelverton, Miss North Carolina for 1949, who in turn will present and crown Miss Wolfpack of 1949.

Miss Brown will be presented with a 15-inch loving cup engraved with her name, Miss Wolfpack 1949, and a State College monogram. The runners-up will receive 6-inch loving cups.

Engineer Foundation Stress Expansion Plan

The North Carolina Engineering Foundation, in annual session at State Friday, set itself a financial goal of $1,000,000 for use in expanding the engineering research and teaching programs at the college, elected officers and directors, and heard reports outlining the technological progress made in the State during the past year.

The foundation also mapped plans to raise additional funds, accepted industrial offers for more contributions, and reviewed its past accomplishments.

C. A. Dillon of Raleigh was elected president of the organization to succeed the late Senator J. Melville Broughton. Other officers named to serve with Dillon are John W. Clark of Greensboro, vice-president; R. D. Beam of Raleigh, secretary; and J. G. Vann of Raleigh, treasurer.

Four new directors were also elected. They are Jack Blythe of Charlotte, William H. Rogers, Jr., of Raleigh, Nat D. Pierson of Raleigh, and C. L. Mann, Jr., of Greensboro.

President Dillon will also serve as chairman of the investment committee which will include R. M. Hanes of Winston-Salem and R. S. Dickson of Charlotte.

Explaining that the State's future business and industrial leaders are now enrolled in college, Dillon called on the foundation members to formulate a "long range program for engineering education" and said that it will take a minimum fund of $1,000,000 to do the job successfully.

He said that the foundation should expand its work toward supplementing the State salary scale in attracting the nation's top-ranking scientists and teachers for engineering work at State College.

Urging industrial leaders to donate their time and funds in behalf of the foundation's objectives, Dillon said that the foundation's treasury should be increased materially each year and that it should reach its million-dollar goal within a few years.

Runner-Up

Runner-Up

Pictured here is Miss Ann Guthrie of Raleigh, N. C., the second runner-up in the Miss Wolfpack contest. Miss Guthrie will be presented along with Miss Wolfpack during the half-time of Saturdays game. Miss Shannon and Miss Guthrie will act as attendants to Miss Brown during the weekend.

Little Theatre Play Pleases Reviewer

By BILL HOFFMAN

The play over at the Little Theatre takes us into a San Francisco water-front dive. There we find a tough-but-warm-hearted bartender (Ainslie Pryor) with a permanent well-dressed customer named Joe (Robert Baker Wynn). Hanging around or wandering in and out unhampered by plot are a drunkard, a pin-ball addict, a sentimental prostitute who would like to reform and join some big Collie dogs on a spacious lawn, a cad, a dancer-comedian who can't make people laugh, a piano player, a villainous head of the vice squad, an old Arab, an intellectual longshoreman, and an old Indian fighter! Bill westerner (Bill Aspaugh).

Joe almost never walks about. He manages contact with the outside world through his errand boy and stooge, Tom (Ted Jackson). Joe is the hero because he represents a respected fantasy: One who gets something for nothing. None of the others shine as brightly since they either work or have some little philosophy to offer.

I suspect, however, that the old Arab who insists that there is "no foundation all the way down the way down the line" could say considerable sentiment by elaborating on this theme. Maybe he could even steal the limelight from Joe, considering he does not suffer such distractions as playing with toys or sending a friend on complicated errands.

As usual, the set by Bill Long is expertly authentic. To further create the atmosphere, though, I was hoping for an occasional foghorn and such dim lighting as is likely to be found in a water-front joint. At least, some sort of lighting contract could be provided to distinguish night from day.

Mr. Wynne could play Joe with little emotion rather than none, but generally there can be nothing but praise for the acting. That's the beauty of the play. Almost any interpretation does it justice.

Prof. Brown Authors Guide for Engineers

A 100-page guide for professional engineers, teachers, and scientists interested in graphics—the science of mechanical drawing and of making calculations by using geometrical constructions — has been written by a State College professor and has just been published by the College's Engineering Research Department.

The author of the publication, which is designed to promote standardized drafting on an international basis, is Prof. T. C. Brown of the Department of Mechanical Engineering, who gathered material from scholars and scientists throughout the world.

More than 600 drawings from every part of the world, except Russia, were studied in compiling the publication. The study includes lettering practices, nomenclature used in various parts of the world, alphabets of lines, change tables, and other graphics subjects.

Expansion of international trade and the employment of more and more American college and university graduates in foreign countries, Professor Brown said, emphasize the need for the use of standardized procedures in drafting and make it necessary for students and industrialists to have a knowledge of methods employed elsewhere.

Copies of the booklet, entitled "A Study of Engineering Drawing and Design Practice in Foreign Countries," may be obtained by writing to the Engineering Research Department, State College.

Frosh Placement Test Scores Made Available

Freshmen and other new students, when they were taking tests during Freshman Week, may well have wondered why—or, at least, why so many. Most students probably know that the English and mathematics tests are used immediately for the purpose of determining whether a student shall be enrolled in a class in retarded math or English O. But there are other uses, too.

To some extent the scores obtained by means of these tests can be used by a student to locate particular strengths and weaknesses. Each test has subcores. The English test provides subcores in vocabulary, speed of reading comprehension, level of reading comprehension, mechanics of expression, and effectiveness of expression as well as a total reading score and a grand total English score. The psychological test has subcores in linguistic and quantitative ability. The mathematics test has scores in basic math and in algebra. Seeing how he rated in these various subtests, as among his fellow students at State College, may help a student find out why he is having trouble and possibly where and how to attack his particular problem.

Achievement Tests

The English and math tests are achievement tests. They show largely what a student's foundation in these subjects is like. A student who makes a low math score, may, after taking Retarded Algebra, find himself well prepared to go on to do successful work in later mathematics courses.

In such a case, he has perhaps made up for lack of adequate preparation in high school. Or he may not have had mathematics for a number of years and may have needed a refresher course, which Retarded Algebra provided. Others, who have had all the required pre-college courses in math recently in a good high school, who make a low math test score, and who do poorly during the first term of math at State College, quite possibly have low math aptitude. There may be reason to question their suitability for a field like engineering, where mathematical skill is important.

All college work, technical courses as well as humanities, depend heavily on the ability to get and give meaning through the use of language. Scores in vocabulary, reading ability, expression, and the linguistic score on the psychological test are valuable in judging this ability. They may help when a change of curriculum is being considered, and they may suggest particular areas where he may seek to overcome lacks. There are

A 20th Century Fox production, "Keys of the Kingdom", starring Gregory Peck, Thomas Mitchell, and Roddy McDowall will be shown at the Y meeting next week.

This full length movie will be shown in the basement of Tucker Dorm, Wednesday, October 26, at 7 p.m., and in the Y auditorium on Thursday, Oct. 27, at 7:30 p.m.

Sociology Fraternity Reorganized Here

Alpha Kappa Delta, national honorary sociology fraternity, was reactivated at its first meeting of the year, October 13. Seven new members were initiated: Paul Marsh, Tom McCall, Herman Sisk, Charles Pugh, H. J. Casabolt, J. R. Stamp, and William C. Rhyne.

Dr. C. Horace Hamilton, Head of the Department of Rural Sociology at N. C. State. He stated that the opportunities in the field of rural sociology are numerous and hoped that more students would take advantage of these by enrolling in this progressive department.

New Chapter

It was proposed that a new chapter be formulated here. In the past this organization has been an affiliate of the Alpha chapter at Chapel Hill. It now has the qualifications to become a new chapter.

After the time and place for future meetings was approved, the new officers were confirmed. They are as follows: Chairman, Paul Marsh; Vice-Chairman, William C. Rhyne; Secretary-Treasurer, Charles Pugh; Faculty Advisor, Professor Eugene Wilkening.

ways, for example, in which reading skill can be increased and vocabulary improved.

Educational Problem

Of course, one should consider other evidence besides that provided by means of tests in studying his educational problem. Both high school and college grades, degree of interest in the course, motivation, personal adjustment, health, and efficiency of study habits—all have a bearing on a student's success in college.

Freshmen and others, for that matter, who have not learned their performance on these tests, may go to the Student Personnel Office, 105 Peele Hall, where Dr. Anderson or Mr. Rogers will be glad to furnish this information and to discuss the meaning of the various scores with individual students.

Logging Equipment To Be Shown Oct. 25

The first Southeastern Logging Equipment Demonstration, featuring about half a million dollars worth of equipment in operation over a 20-acre tract of woods, will be held at the State College Animal Industry Farm, about five miles west of Raleigh, on October 25 and 26 beginning at 10 a.m. each day.

Dr. Richard J. Preston, Jr., director of the Division of Forestry, said that the demonstration will be the largest ever staged in this part of the country and that around 40 exhibitors will operate logging and milling machinery and tools at the show.

Equipment Shown

Latest models and improvements in standard equipment, Dr. Preston said, will be shown as well as a number of new developments. Power saws, skidders, tractors, loaders, and trucks will handle the logs which will be made into lumber by three sawmills.

A principal feature of the show will be the automatic sorting of lumber as well as package handling of wood and lumber.

A panel discussion of logging and sawmilling problems will be conducted by leading representatives of the lumber and pulpwood industries at the college on October 25 at 8 p.m.

Special Demonstration

Dr. Preston said that the demonstration is being held especially for "those persons who have any use for logging or milling equipment and who want to keep up-to-date on the latest methods of handling logs and lumber in order to reduce operating costs."

The event will be sponsored by the College's Division of Forestry, the Virginia-Carolinas Section of the Forest Products Research Society, and the Southeastern Forest Experiment Station of the U. S. Forest Service.

Record Concerts

The weekly record concerts, held in the Conference Room of the YMCA, will be resumed on Friday evening, October 28, from 7:30 to 9:30. These concerts are open to those who like to listen to music or who want to learn more about it. The sessions are informal, and students, faculty members, and the general public are invited to attend.

All off campus students not receiving the TECHNICIAN please leave name and address on the bulletin board in the basement of Tompkins Hall. Any changes in addresses from that on the registration card should also be left in the same place.

THE KEYHOLE

By MAX HALBER

This column is new, and like some new things, may be all wet. But if some of it soaks through and makes a splash, well . . . I'll try to keep it hot.

Most of us are wondering what a State College co-ed might possibly be studying here unless it were Education or the chances of acquiring a spouse. Neither, however, interests Tina Firemore, a freshman in General Agriculture. With a colorful life already behind her, Tina was born in California, lived in Utah, Florida, New York, Virginia, Georgia, and Pennsylvania and now hangs her hat in Tarboro. This still would be no reason to staying from a chandeller were it not for the fact that she spent two months of last summer in Europe where she went with an American Youth Hostel. Why? Well, she wanted to see the people, the country, "and just everything." So she spent half of her time (750 miles) bicycling through Germany, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Italy, and France and is "dying to go back." And she is just of age!

By now the impetus of the State Fair has pulsated throughout the state and the sadwint on the midway has been shuffled more ways than sauerkraut lies in a barrel. And so have the dollar bills in the hands of the greedy concessionaires, who will swindle the sucker out of last month's rent. Rather than spreading a feeling of good will, of genuine fun, and of state unity, past fairs; and this one, smacked all too conspicuously of the "soak-the-hick" attitude. Being assured of a healthy attendance, could not vendors maintain a reasonable price level? Partially compensating for the money hunger are the various commercial and departmental exhibits. Buncombe county representatives were making aluminum plates in their booth; ag students had enviable presentations; kiddies were fascinated by the Coca-Cola electric trains. Weather permitting, a record crowd has been predicted for this year's Fair.

The cops were on the campus again Tuesday morning. Fenderblitz had been stolen and a window cracked on a '40 Ford in front of Holladay Hall. Halloween is still over a week off; maybe the thief lost his calendar.

"By one generous act, costing us nothing and involving no sacrifice, you or I can let in the light to a child now locked in the dark for life—to a soldier blind because he fought for us where steel was flying." Thus begins a little pamphlet of the Eye-Bank for Sight Restoration, Inc. The idea, in short, is the donation of your eyes within one hour after your death to the nearest Eye-Bank. A small square cut from the healthy corner and supplanted to that of a diseased one will restore the sight of a blind person. All you need to do is to sign a release, have it witnessed, and entrust it with your next of kin. I guarantee that it won't hurt a bit and you will get your post-mortem Boy Scout badge. For information write this column or see me personally.

Federal Government Seeks College Seniors

Seniors may be interested in two recent Civil Service examination announcements. The examinations are announced to recruit college graduates and seniors in colleges who display outstanding promise for development into future federal administrators and high grade professional workers. The job classification titles used for these announcements are Junior Agricultural Assistant (Announcement No. 191) Junior Professional Assistant and Junior Management Assistant (Announcement No. 192). The salary in each case is $2,974 a year.

The options under Junior Agricultural Assistant are: agricultural economist, agricultural engineer, agronomist, animal husbandman, botanist, entomologist, fishery biologist, forester, geneticist, home economist, horticulturist, plant pathologist, plant physiologist, plant quarantine inspector, poultry husbandman, statistician, wildlife biologist, and zoologist (parasitology). Positions to be filled under the heading of Junior Professional Assistant are: architect, astronomer, bacteriologist, biologist, economist, food and drug inspector, geographer, geophysicist, landscape architect, legal assistant, mathematician, physiologist, social science analyst, statistician, and textile technologist.

Copies of these announcements and application cards may be obtained at the Student Personnel Office, 105 Peele Hall, or at any first- or second-class post office. Closing date for the receipt of applications is November 8, 1949.

WWWP Announces Program Schedule

With operational procedure based on a high standard of quality and a not-so-high frequency, Station WWWP will resume its broadcasting activities this week. If the title of the first program is of any significance the local radio addicts can safely expect much worthwhile entertainment during the terms to come. Except for an occasional buzz or hum the equipment seems to be performing satisfactorily.

The station managers are pleased to have at last realized their original goal—complete coverage of all the dormitories on the campus. During the summer, wires were strung out towards Owen and Tucker which will enable students in that vicinity to tune in the nightly programs emanating from the upper floor of the Publications Building. Previously, the station's range extended to the Becton-Bagwell area. Cafeteria music will again be furnished from 11:30 to 2:00 and from 5:30 to 7:00. The regular program schedule is as follows:

Beginning at 7:00 p.m. Gay Spirits; 7:30, Music for Dancing; 8:00, Serenade in Blue; 9:00, Special Feature; 9:30, The Best Bands in the Land; 10:00, Open House (Requests); 11:00, Songs by a Favorite Vocalist; 11:15, Compo Capers; 11:30, Concert-Memories; 12:30, Sign Off.

In all probability, the Special Feature will be an on-the-spot coverage of the activities at Brooks Recreation Center with organ interludes. In the past the Publications Board has financed the station and it will do so again this year aided by funds from the Student Activities Fees. A mass audition for aspiring announcers will be held soon. There are, however, plenty of openings on the over-all staff at present.

State Students To Present Exposition

These four students in the School of Agriculture and Forestry at N. C. State College are the officers of the Agricultural Fair which is being held as part of the State Fair this week. The student exposition, which portrays recent scientific developments in agriculture, will feature displays by 11 departments in the College's School of Agriculture and Forestry. The officers are pictured here, left to right: Noel C. Sharpe of Canton, reporter; Bill Westmoreland of Statesville, president; E. T. Hollowell of Rich Square, secretary treasurer; and John Graham of Etowah, Tenn., vice-president.

New Addition To Education Dept. Staff

Appointment of Clarence C. Scarborough, former faculty member at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, as associate professor in the School of Education at State College was announced this week by Dean J. Bryant Kirkland.

Scarborough, who has already assumed his duties, has served as subject matter specialist and associate professor of agricultural education at API and executive secretary of the Alabama Association of the Future Farmers of America.

His appointment to the State College job has been approved by Chancellor J. W. Harrelson, Acting President W. D. Carmichael, Jr., of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, and the executive committee of the board of trustees.

From Alabama
Scarborough was educated at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, where he received his B.S. degree in agricultural education in 1935 and his M.S. degree in the same subject in 1940; at Ohio State University, where he did graduate work in the summer school of 1940; and at the University of Illinois, where he earned his master's degree in education in 1949 and where he has completed the major portion of his academic work for his doctorate.

Prior to his work at API, Professor Scarborough was a high school principal in Escambia County, Alabama; a teacher of vocational agriculture in Lineville, Ala.; and a district supervisor of vocational agriculture in Alabama.

Yellow Dogs

The Imperial Order of Yellow Dogs, the society for members of the Red Coat Band, held its first official meeting of the year Thursday night, October 13. First on the agenda was the election of new officers for the school year. James Maddrey, of Ellerbe, was elected "Big Bull," James M. Clark, Jr., of Winston-Salem, secretary; and Harold D. Black, Jr., of Concord, treasurer.

Plans are now being made for the Yellow Dogs to have a society key, the design of which will be determined in a contest among the members. Those entering the contest will submit their ideas Thursday night at which time the best idea will be chosen by voting.

The Yellow Dogs help keep order on band trips and during rehearsals, and make sure that all the band members have plenty of pep all of the time.

Ceramic Officials To Meet Here Soon

Ceramic manufacturers from throughout the Southeast will hold a one-day conference on research developments in the field of structural clay products at State College on November 2. Dean J. H. Lampe of the College's School of Engineering announced this week.

Delegates will register in the College YMCA lobby on November 2 from 9 until 10 a.m., and the first session of the conference will open at 10 a.m. Dr. Krieger, head of the College's Department of Ceramic Engineering, will preside, and Dean Lampe will extend the welcome.

George R. Ross, director of the State Department of Conservation and Development, will be the principal speaker at the luncheon in the college dining hall at 12:30 o'clock. The luncheon toastmaster will be John H. Isehour of Salisbury, president of the Isehour Brick and Tile Company.

The afternoon program will be devoted to demonstrations of processes involved in the production of light-weight aggregates. A tour of the college laboratories also will be conducted.

Textile Society Hears Talk By Mill Official

Last Tuesday night at a meeting of the Tompkins Textile Society the members were honored by the presence of Mr. Charles F. Meyers, Jr., Vice President of Burlington Mills, Inc. Mr. Meyers graduated from Davidson College in 1933 and obtained his Master's degree from the Harvard School of Business in 1935. He served for five years as Vice President of the Wachovia Bank. In 1947 he started with the Burlington Corporation.

Mr. Meyers pointed out the need for well-rounded men in the textile industry. Every business needs men with four different types of talent; ability to do technical work; ability to work with people; the technique for developing new ideas; and the talent to handle figures and finance problems. The leaders in business rely on these specialized men and must know about each one of the fields to get the best out of each man.

Suggestions Made

Mr. Meyers gave several suggestions for students who are hopeful of getting ahead in business. He pointed out that in order to move ahead in your field, you must have a broad view of the whole business scope.

Those present were very impressed by Mr. Meyers' short and interesting talk. He was accompanied to Raleigh by Mr. Butler French of the Personnel Department of Burlington Corporation.

Another meeting of the Tompkins Textile Society has been planned for Nov. 1. A meeting has been definitely scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 15, with Dr. George Heaton of Charlotte as speaker.

With The Greeks

By JACK McQUINN

After six days, of what must have been enormous administrative difficulties, the spirit has finally moved the Dean's office to release the names of 129 new pledges.

On the surface it would seem that rushing activities were much more successful this year than last. At least, many more men, Freshmen and Upperclassmen, expressed their interest by visiting different chapter houses during Rush Week. However, the percentage of acceptances, overall, was a little higher last season.

Last year at this time 270 freshmen bids were extended with 110 accepting, which is about 2.5 bids given per acceptance. This year, with 372 bids extended and 129 acceptances, the average is about 3 bids per pledge gained.

Increases Interest

In summation, it appears that interest is definitely on the upswing. Also, we hope it is an indication that many who are in doubt as to "which one" have wisely decided to investigate more thoroughly and pledge later in the year. At this point we take up Ted Williamson's theme song of last year, "there should be no early fall rushing of freshmen!" This week's editorial column gives a brief idea of what we mean.

For many Greeks, including this one, Homecoming is something that can't roll around too soon. Our reasons are many and varied, but to the multitude the fact that our best girl is coming up just about makes the time between now and then a complete loss.

Full Weekend

Amusement for the weekend will be at a maximum. Friday night, Greeks and dates have their choice of viewing the State-Carolina Freshman game, the State Fair, "The Time of Your Life" at the Raleigh Little Theater, or just plain catchin' up generally (we prefer the "generally catchin' up" part). Saturday night there's the Monogram Dance and the Fair again, but most likely a rip-roaring party at the chapter house, which, incidentally, had better not be so roaring that it disturbs the neighbors.

Watch for the Tug-O-War during the halftime at Homecoming game. Uncovered for all to see will be the hairiest legs in West Raleigh.

Golf

All boys interested in playing on the golf teams, both varsity and freshman, are requested to meet with Coach Charlie Tripp on October 27 at 7 p. m. in the Field House.

Welcome Visitors

THE OLD WELCOME MAT IS OUT THIS WEEKEND to the many alumni, sweethearts, and friends who will grace our campus during the weekend. It is indeed a privilege to have you visit us, and we hope you have an enjoyable time. We invite you to take part with us in our celebration, and we are sure that you will have an even better time. Again we extend a cordial welcome.

Another Homecoming

ONCE AGAIN WE ARE ABOUT TO CELEBRATE ANOTHER Homecoming Day. Beginning tonight with the Pep Rally and ending with the dance tomorrow night, things will really be buzzing. The Blue Key and Monogram Clubs have worked long hours in an effort to bring you, the students, a weekend you will never forget. The cheerleaders have planned a top-notch program for the rally tonight, with plenty of surprises promised.

From all we can learn, the fraternities will have some of the best decorations ever presented at State College. There will be beautiful women, and all the other things that go to make a perfect weekend.

In short, the clubs, committees, and fraternities have worked hard to present an outstanding Homecoming. We are sure that everyone will have a good time if they will but give their all to the celebration. Let's get out there and yell at the Pep Rally. Let's show the team the true State College do-or-die spirit and really come out in droves.

Whether you are a frat man or dorm club man, give all you have to help your organization win the contest. You can help make Homecoming the best ever if you will! It has been said that we lack school spirit and "the ole college try" at State. Let's disprove such jibberish.

A Proposal

THIS IS AN IDEA WE HAVE BEEN TOSSING around for quite awhile.

Why not add a school of technical journalism to the curriculum here?

We realize only too well that the journalism department has been left up to the liberal arts school at Chapel Hill, but after all, some of our courses overlap with theirs' already.

We have arguments galore for this plan. First, the number of publications on the campus here outnumber those of any other campus in the state. We have eight publications and a radio station under the publications board, plus several other publications put out by many of the departments. Almost every term we hear gripes at the condition of these publications, with the question, "Why can't they be original, get on the ball, its the same old stuff. . . etc." The one answer to the problem is a technical journalism school.

Our second argument is that State has the logical setup for such a department. We have the best technological instruction of any school in the South. On top of this, our English department is abreast of the times regarding the requirements in English of a technical student. We have facilities for practice in writing through our many publicity outlets, in other words—a perfect setup for technical journalism.

A third contention that we offer is the variety of publications with which the students would have to practice what they have learned. Journalism is one subject that can be mastered only by practice, and this is a perfect way. With the variety of publications, all types of problems can be considered and analyzed. In addition to working and learning, an immediate improvement would be noted in all publications. The students would have more time to spend on the work, and they would be doing something they enjoy. This is half the battle of publications—creating genuine interest.

We feel that the program as offered would fit into the school without much trouble. It could be very easily added to the engineering and agriculture schools which could offer degrees in Engineering Journalism or Agricultural Journalism. The basic courses would be the same, with the technical courses substituted according to the degree desired.

This is an age of technological progress. However, the public has not kept up. It is our duty to inform them. This can be done best by educating men and women who will be qualified to do this important and essential job. Let's not fall behind in educating the public. Remember you are part of them. Think about it.

Can We Count On You . . .

. . . To say "HELLO" to a fellow student instead of the usual "mrph"? Too many State College students have lost the tradition of speaking to a fellow Wolfpacker when passing him on the campus between classes. There is only one thing more discouraging than to get a reply of "mrph" when a student is courteous enough to say "HELLO"—and that is to get no answer at all. A fellow who hasn't the decency to repay such a respect is discourteous, rude, and unfriendly.

After a lapse of two years, the annual HELLO WEEK has been returned to the campus by the Campus Government. In the past, the affair was sponsored by Golden Chain, the senior leadership society. We can safely say that there is a very justifiable reason for the need of the return of HELLO WEEK. Friendships that have been made at State College are strong and the relationships are congenial. However, a type of comradeship can be expanded over the entire campus by every student and faculty member . . . a type of comradeship that includes each one of us, regardless of whether we have been formally introduced or not.

We go to the same classes day after day, week after week, and undoubtedly we pass many recognizable faces each time we go, or come, from a class. A friendly nod and a pleasing "HELLO" to each and every one of these faces will make life at State richer and more enjoyable to us all. A bond of friendship among State College men is a bond well worth cultivating. Remember, as a graduate of this institution, you are expected to someday become an industrial or agricultural leader . . . and your established contacts with other future leaders in the business world may someday prove a great help in swinging a deal. Be friendly . . . be a worthy State student . . . SAY HELLO!

PDQ or SBI . . .

. . . It's going to have to be one or the other. If malicious, destructive students don't quit the destruction of library property P. D. Q., there will be some doings by the S. B. I!

Just last February the 100,000th volume was placed on the shelves of the D. H. Hill library . . . it was a proud and memorable occasion for librarian Harlan Brown and his staff. Today that same staff is desperate because of the willful destruction that is being done to many valuable volumes.

Reports from the library describe such cases of unforgivable destruction; a brand new book of short biographies with a bibliography was unmercifully clipped up, the entire Holstein section of the "Encyclopedia Britannica" was cut out, other books and magazines were similarly cut up and destroyed . . . this "vandalism" must stop.

Our college library is one of the best technical libraries in this area. Let's keep it there—on top . . . stop anyone you see willfully destroying library property!

Offer Coaching Classes

Do you need help in some of your courses, in addition to class instruction? The following coaching arrangements have been made by several departments, so that students with weaknesses or deficiencies can be helped to overcome these handicaps. Try these special classes. Don't wait too long to start, and attend often enough so that you give them a real chance to help you.

SCHEDULE OF COACHING CLASSES, FALL TERM, 1949 CHEMISTRY: Chem. 101, 102, Wednesday, Thursday, 7-8 p.m., 105 Withers, Mrs. Ivan D. Jones, Instructor.

ENGLISH: Every instructor in the English Department has an office hour schedule. Any student who wishes help can see his own instructor during these hours; or, if the student's schedule is such as to prevent his seeing his instructor at these times, he may schedule a conference at another time. A schedule of office hours will be posted on the door of each instructor's office, or outside Pullen 3, where many instructors have their desks.

MATHEMATICS: All mathematics coaching classes meet from 7 to 8 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. Instruction is given by seniors and graduate students.

IT DOES COUNT

Sponsored by the Inter-Dormitory Council

THE TIME IS NOW!

So you didn't do so well in that last math quiz? And/or you are in a deep, dense fog in C. C. Or maybe it's that last English theme that misfired. Could be that chemistry or physics or cloth calc or design or something else is giving you a bad time. Maybe you figure you'll just ride along until after midterm, hoping for miracles. And then after midterm reports are out (the calendar says they are due October 31) you'll try desperately to recoup. Fella, it won't work. Whatever you do, start doing it now.

And WHAT can you do? Put in more hours? Mmm—well, maybe. Cut down on the outside activities? Possibly. All depends. The way you use your time is more important than how much. No recreation is as bad as too much. Speaking positively, here is a list approved by the Inter-Dormitory Council of some of the things you can do to make more likely A's and B's and C's and to make unlikely D's and F's.

- 1. Coaching Classes—a schedule of these is listed elsewhere in this issue of THE TECHNICIAN and copies of the schedule were circulated last week by freshmen dormitory counselors and by the Blue Bulletin of October 12. Try these now. Don't go to just one or so and expect miracles. Don't take someone else's word that they won't help you. No two people are alike. See for yourself. 2. Talk to your instructor. He can help you locate the particular weaknesses and suggest ways of overcoming them. 3. See your advisor. Do this if things in general look bad. 4. Analyze your use of time. Do you give yourself a chance by studying when conditions are favorable—your hardest when you have the most energy, etc. Do you study too long at a stretch? Keep regular hours. Adopt an efficient routine. 5. Overlearn things which you know you are going to be held responsible for. Spend some time in review in each subject once a week rather than save it all for a cramfest at the end of the term. 6. Most important, figure out something which should help YOU, and BEGIN NOW!

OPEN FORUM

An Open Letter to the Editor of THE TECHNICIAN

Dear Editor, I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the Student Body of State College on its showing of School Spirit at the Freshman football game last Friday night. Although I was there for only a few minutes, I was impressed and greatly by the cheering and boosting of our team. At that time Duke was leading by 13 to 0, but the crowd and the team showed that "Never say die" spirit that has made State College famous in the past.

No doubt a lot of people are wondering who was that tall, slim student that got up before the crowd and so ably led the cheers for our team. Well, I think they should know it was Alex Vann, President of the Inter-Dormitory Council. Alex was a Cheerleader last year, and he certainly did a swell job last Friday night. Although that "Never say die" spirit was carried over into the Varsity game over at Durham the next afternoon, our cheering section was not at its best for a lot of the people did not know the yell. Although this was partly the cheerleaders fault for trying to introduce new yells during the game, it becomes apparent that more of the Student Body should attend the Pep Rallies where everyone could become acquainted with the yells and thus do a better job at the games. Going to a Pep Rally is not a waste of time. There is something interesting going on all the time. Every effort has been made this year to make the Pep Rallies as appealing as a three ring circus. And to prove that we are going all out for this thing, at the Homecoming game the Student Body will give several thousand Yell Sheets and something like five hundred paper megaphones will be distributed.

As you can tell, the purpose of this letter is to entice as many students as possible in to coming to the Pep Rallies, for we believe that they are as beneficial to the student as his yelling and cheering is to the football team the next day. Yours for a better school spirit, Scott Eubanks, Head Cheerleader

To the student body: It is now 10:30 p.m., Saturday night, and I am awfully dead. It is sublime in that we give it to you bet your submissive, passive, stale, and almost dead State College spirit you don't. Yes, it's been a big day. State game, the football team played a good Duke eleven, and lost 14-13. Those few of you who witnessed the game and cheered the team as it appeared to be on the march, and slighted it with equal vigor as it hit its rough spots, need no explanation of the game. Those of you who, for some reason such as desiring to support one of the other "Big Four" rivals playing at Chapel Hill, missed a good ball game, and the ball game missed you more. It missed you as you are potentially, and I am not speaking in terms of physics, electrical engineering, or the like, as the college would wish. I am speaking of you as I speak of the football team when I say that we could have one of the best and most winning teams in this section. All of us have our ideas as to the reasons for our losses to Carolina, Clemson, Davidson, and Duke, some of them are as wild as the coordinating spirit of the students and faculty of State College, not to speak of the dissension between the various schools on the campus. Regardless of ideas, where in this world did we pick up our formula for correcting the wrong? How do any of us expect to help the team by trying to put the pressure on Coach Feathers or the football players? How can anyone believe that these tactics will bring better results than backing the team all the way, win or lose. You couldn't ask for a better spirited student body when things are running smoothly, but what a supporting group we are when the going is a little rough! Even if there were a legitimate gripe concerning the coaching and the playing, what changes could be made in the midst of the season? I believe that I was subjected to the sharp criticism which has been tossed at Coach Feathers and the players, it would take more than the unnecessarily strenuous curriculum (wonder how I thought of the past losses, but up to now we have no right to expect them to be ashamed, except for themselves. And unless a drastic change is made in the general attitude throughout the campus, any wins chalked up by our football team this season will involve two victories; one over the opposing team and one over the student body. The team will be winning for the coach; not for State College and the coach. Does that answer all the question being asked concerning the "boy's" attitude toward Coach Feathers. I have lambasted the student body in somewhat the same manner that the student body has been tearing the team apart, and I believe that I have much more to substantiate my words than has the student body, because none of our losses have been walk-aways. At the beginning, I said that the school spirit was submissive, passive, stale, and almost dead. It is sublime in that we give it to outside razing and "wise-cracks" by "passing the buck" to the team saying, "They lost!" But it is always, "We won!" We are totally submitted to our studies. This whole outfit on the campus is in a deep, dark technological rut! We may study machines and statics, but we are human and dynamic. Everything we learn here should be the means to an end and I for one don't intend for studies at State to be my end! Who was the man who made a virtue out of drudgery anyway? I'll kill him by subjecting him to the student body's ridicule! We are passive in the same respects that we are submissive. Our passiveness, however, is a result of our submission to the few who somehow find time to become our leaders. If it all stopped here at school, the damage might not be so great, but what is to keep us

Dorm Doings..

The Quadrangle square dance tonight touches off the big Homecoming weekend—one of the biggest weekends in recent years. If everybody's plans come out all right. The dance tonight will involve more people than any previous dorm party, and the three presidents of Becton, Berry, and Bagwell deserve a lot of praise for getting their committees properly related so that the work would go off smoothly. Doug Watts is the Becton president. Reuben Miller is chief of Berry, and Bagwell's top man is John Dillard. The contest for a name for the Quadrangle will be only for a nickname, as the chances of getting the name adopted officially are practically nil. When the official college naming committee meets to name things around the campus a couple of years ago, they overlooked the Quadrangle, and the procedure for having a name made official is too complicated to have been looked into before tonight.

Good Decorations

One of the finer features of this Homecoming promises to be the dormitory decorations. We have already seen the plans and part of the finished pieces for some of the displays, and they are really top notch. Each Dorm Club has gone out for the bronze plaque which will be first prize with enthusiasm that will make the judges have to look long and wonder before picking the winners. Also moving along with the years is the open house idea. Committees have been set up in each Dorm to welcome visitors before and after the game. Lloyd Williams, Ellis Smith, and John Bell have elected themselves to defend Tucker's decorations championship of last year. They will have to go some to top Lem Robertson's decorations of last year.

Pep Club

A new organization at State College is cheerleader Scott Eubanks' Pep Club, a group designed to promote school spirit and serve as a nucleus for improvements in pep rallies and cheering at the games. Each Dorm Club has been invited to send one official representative to the Pep Club. The members are Bill Dalrymple. We will print the names of other representatives as soon as they come in.

Owen Dorm Club

Owen Dorm Club is initiating an extensive recreation program for its members this term. On Tuesday, October 18, all members of the Owen Club will participate in a Ping Pong Tournament in the Tucker Recreation Room. In addition to the Tourney, Owen will have a band and chorus, under the direction of Bill Raper and Russel Shouse. Another member from the Freshman dorms is that Eddie Murr has been elected new secretary-treasurer of the Tucker Club.

CAMPUS BITS

Hillsboro Parking Police have eliminated students from parking in front of the Textile building this week. A four lane drive began at the spotlight corner of Brooks Ave. and Hillsboro St. and extended to the city limits on No. 1 Highway South.

F.F.A. Meets

The State College Collegiate Chapter of the F.F.A. will meet next Thursday, October 27th at 7 o'clock in Tompkins Hall, Room 114. The program is promised to be interesting and should last about an hour.

Mr. Marion Butler, Vocational agriculture teacher of Herring High School, was the speaker at our last meeting. He stressed the need of F.F.A. work in high schools and the need of being a good adviser.

The State College Chess Club will hold its weekly meeting at 7:30 p.m., Friday evening in the Faculty Clubroom of the YMCA. A short business meeting will be held for the purpose of electing officers, so all members and prospective members are asked to be present.

Johnson Elected

Professor E. Sigurd Johnson of the Industrial Engineering Department was elected to membership on the general committee of Wood Industries Division of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers last week.

Agronomy

Twenty-one Agronomy staff members will attend the American Society of Agronomy meeting in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, October 24-28, according to Dr. W. E. Colwell, agronomy department head.

Dr. J. M. Moffie

Dr. J. M. Moffie, chairman of the department of psychology, will address the National Safety Council in Chicago on October 25th and 26th. Dr. Moffie will present a paper on "Counseling and Accident Prevention" to the Motor Vehicle section; and a paper on "Psychology and Accident Prevention" to the Textile section.

from the same passiveness in the business states, as it is not an outside of school. It would have been impossible for so many leaders to come from State College in the past unless there were times in the school's history when there was a more active attitude among the students. The staleness follows the submission and passiveness, and so comes death if we don't perk up! Very sincerely, DON McCORMICK

State Group Seeks Improvement In Physical Education

State First Aid Department

This is the only first aid offered to a student in the State College Gym. This box is on the inside of the supply cage.

State-Carolina Gyms Compared

Last spring a group of students here at State College, who are interested in improving conditions in the Physical Education Department, got together to see what could be done. This group formed the Committee for the Betterment of Health, Physical Education, and Athletics at North Carolina State College. After much consideration and investigation some rather startling facts were uncovered. One of these factors was that at Chapel Hill there is one of the best physical education and recreational programs in the country. Naturally the Committee was curious as to how such a program had been attained at Chapel Hill. In order to find the facts for themselves, eight men from State College spent one entire day at Chapel Hill inspecting the Physical Education Department and the set-up at that school.

The most startling fact uncovered was that the physical education department was entirely supported by student fees, just as the one here at State College, and not by appropriation from the State Legislature. Carolina students pay $19.50 per year for physical education and intramurals. State students pay $6.00 per year. The gymnasium at Chapel Hill is now being paid for from this fee. At Carolina each member of the student body is furnished from this fee all the equipment and clothing for physical education and intramurals, with the exception of shoes. Any student may go into the gym at any time and draw clean socks, clean towels, clean athletic supporters, clean sweat clothes and any equipment needed to take part in any sport or activity. When the student finishes at the gym the clothes and equipment are turned in, and the next time that he comes to the gym he gets all clean clothes. He may do this as many times in any day as he likes. All equipment, such as tennis balls and racquets, baseballs, bats, and gloves, golf clubs and balls are furnished to the student from his physical education fee.

Extensive Program
Besides the clothes and equipment the Carolina students have a more extensive program, a greater variety of sports and activities, and a gymnasium which is as modern as any in the United States, with adequate showers, lockers, and facilities for the most important aspects in the whole set-up is that they have an adequate staff to keep all of the facilities hygienically clean.

It would be impossible to bring to the students here at State College the merits of the set-up at Carolina with mere words. For this reason pictures have been taken in the departments of the two schools and are given here to show the contrast between the two. The physical education department at Carolina was chosen as a model because it is recognized by other colleges the country over as one of the best, and not for the usual reason of pointing out the things that the students have at Carolina but we do not have here at State. Duke also has an excellent physical education department, though not as good as the one at Chapel Hill. Even these pictures and this comparison between the two departments is not adequate to point out the tremendous advantages that such a program would be to the students at State College.

At Chapel Hill the physical education fee is $6.50 for each quarter or $19.50 for the academic year. The department of physical education is expected to utilize these fees for maintenance purposes. No instructional or leadership salaries are provided by the fee; these are paid by the State and are the only funds provided by the State. Items for which the fee is used are: maintenance salaries and wages, supplies and materials, postage, heat, power, lights, repairs and alterations, laundry, equipment, maintenance of gymnasium and fields, insurance, and bonded indebtedness. It does provide for intramural leadership or officials. The amount collected from the enrollment at Chapel Hill is approximately $150,000.00 for the academic year. The head of the physical education department makes out his own budget and spends the money as he sees fit.

Here at North Carolina State College the physical education is $2.00 for each quarter or $6.00 for the academic year, however, the head of the department has no control over this amount—approximately $30,000 per academic year at present. His budget, exclusive of instructional salaries, consists of:

Campus Group Plan Better Facilities

not better than the one at Chapel Hill is possible here at State, but —AND HERE IS THE POINT— as you know it will cost money, and the only place from which that money can come is from the students. The committee for the Betterment of Health, Physical Education and Athletics has drawn up a petition which will be circulated among the students here at State. This petition is asking for a raise in the physical education fee from $6.00 to $14.00 per academic year. If enough students sign the petition a proposal will be sent to the board of trustees asking them to approve the raise in fees and the administration of them so that the physical education department will be able to spend every cent of it in that department.

To Raise Fees

A raise in fees from $6.00 to $14.00 will be an increase of $8.00 for the year or $2.20 per term. This increase would not give State College a program such as the one at Chapel Hill, which has been almost twenty years in the making, as soon as next year. It will take several years to work up a program such as they have, but the least that a student could expect in the near future would be clean socks, towels and soap for every student at any time. And in several years all equipment and clothing would be furnished by the physical education department—and the clothes would be clean every time that a student went to the gym. It would be worth $2.00 a term for just clean socks and towels.

Facilities Inadequate

At the present time many fellows do not use the facilities of the gym because they are so inadequate. If this fee raise goes through this situation will be partly remedied immediately.

If you are interested in seeing a real top-notch physical education program here at State—get your name on that petition! The petitions will be circulated throughout the dormitories, fraternities and veteran housing areas. Off campus students, who stand to be one of the most benefitted groups, can find a petition at the Y.M.C.A. The petitions will be circulated from Saturday, October 22, through Wednesday, October 26.

Let's all get behind the biggest student project that ever hit this campus.

Frosh Meet Tar Babies In Home Game Tonight

Tailbacks Ted Potts of Alexandria, Va., and Alex Webster of Kearney, N. J., have been named co-captains of State's freshman team for tonight's scrap in Riddick Stadium against Carolina's Tar Babies.

Potts and Webster also will be the Wolves' big guns against the Carolina freshmen. Potts, a 185-pounder, completed nine of 18 passes last week against Duke and was the Baby Pack's top ground gainer. Webster, a 196-pounder, was State's top line plunger until he was put out of action against the Blue Devils with an injured knee.

In practice this week, the Baby Wolves have been scrimmaging against the varsity. Potts and Webster shared ground gaining honors with fullbacks Dick Spitz and Don Klinger and wingback Marshall Long.

Both the Tar Babies and the State frosh come into tonight's tilt with identical records, no wins against one defeat. The Carolina aggregation lost to the Virginia frosh last week, 6-0. Therefore, based on first game results, the Tar Babies will be favored.

Coach Dick Pescock will probably string along with the same starting lineup he used against Duke in last week's loss to the Devils.

Miss Minda Green Serves 24 Years

By ALLEN SKARRUP

Twenty-four years of faithful service at State College have been completed by Miss Minda Greene, secretary of Dr. J. W. Shirley, Dean of the Basic Division.

Miss Greene came to State College on October 13, 1925. She was stenographer for both the School of Science and Business and for the Department of Vocational Education.

In 1932 Miss Greene became secretary for Dean B. F. Brown of the School of Science and Business. At the time of the reorganization of the Greater University in 1935, the School of Science and Business was transferred to Chapel Hill. Dean Brown remained at State as Dean of the Basic Division; Miss Greene remained as his secretary and since that time has continued as secretary to the Dean of the Basic Division.

Zebulon Native

Miss Greene is a native of Zebulon, N. C. Before coming to State College, she taught in the Wake County Public Schools for ten years.

Homecoming Game Pits Terrapins Against Pack

Oldliners Favored

By JACK BOWERS

Still hungry for a victory after their fourth straight defeat of the year, the Wolfpack will be primed for an upset in tomorrow's Homecoming battle with the Terrapins of Maryland.

Maryland, running from the Split-T formation which has always given the Pack trouble, has disposed of VPI, and Georgetown already this season by large scores. Their only defeat came at the hands of a very potent Michigan State eleven, 14-7.

The emphasis this season for the Terps is on youth and speed. Of the squad of 62, twenty-two are sophomores. The most talked-of newcomer is Ed (Mighty Moe) Modzelewski, a 206-pound fullback from Natrons, Pa. Coach Jim Tatum freely predicts "Moe" is going to be the best runner in the Southern Conference. To support these claims, Tatum points to Modzelewski's 6 yard per try average in the Terps first three encounters.

As a complement to Moe's line-backing, Coach Tatum has speedsters Buck Earley and Bob (Shoo Shoo) Semonski running from the left-half spot. Earley and Semonski are making two of last year's regular take reserve roles. Modzelewski is forcing to the bench such letterwinners as Bob Routlette, Earl Roth and Jack Targaron.

Jim LaRue, former Duke Sugar-Bowler, holds down the other half-back position. The key quarterback spot is held down by veteran Stan Lavine. The cagey Lavine leads the Maryland scoring for the season with three T. D.'s.

Rank High Defense. Maryland uses the two-team system. On offense, sophomores are in the majority, but on defense the Terps field an all veteran outfit. After their first two games, the Maryland lads were the number two defensive club in the country. Their strong showing against Michigan State leaves them still high in national ranking.

Without the ball, Maryland lines up with Elmer Wingate and Capt. Fred Davis at ends, Ray Krouse and Chet Gierulis, tackles,

To Lead Terrapins Tomorrow

Bob Ward and John Troha, guards and either Jim Brasher or Jake Rowden at center.

Krouse Is Leader
The 230-pound Krouse, playing his third year, is the strong man of the forward wall. The Terps are touting him for "all" honors. The Pack came out of the Duke tussle without any serious injuries. However, Babe Dinan, Capt. Bob Bowlby, and Vitus Kaiser suffered minor injuries in the heartbreaker with the Blue Devils. They are expected to be ready for the Terps.

In practice, the Smith to Romanowsky passing combination which clicked so well in the Duke encounter, has been looking very impressive. Tackles Elmer Costa and Tom Morse have continued to display their brilliant form which they showed in stymieing many Blue Devil threats.

The squad has been working long and hard this week in an effort to make this Homecoming battle a happy one for all the old grads.

INTRAMURAL FRONT

By NEILL POSEY

Cold weather, self-thought "old age" or sudden strenuous activity of the intramural touch football league has resulted in an increase in demand for athletic liniment at the college infirmary. I tried the "stuff" on my "Charlie horse" which had me about lame. It was almost like giving myself a "hot foot," but the "stuff" worked. I can walk now.

The infirmary is completely equipped to take care of minor aches and pains resulting from any sudden strenuous activity. In the liniment department, nurses Ailene Mayer and Frances Adams will give you the "stuff" any time. They claim, however that they cannot take time to rub it on your skin—time, "gee" after all, they are attractive Misses.

Robert Morrison, self appointed head cheerleader of Bagwell dormitory, has come up with an explanation to the Intramural Athletic Board's perplexing problem: Why are there only 9 men on intramural touch football teams? He explains that since there is no tackling in touch football a team does not need tackles — very logical, isn't it?

The number of forfeited games in the handball league should run high. This is a minor sport and is not generally played in many parts of the South. Here at State, C. G. Doak offered to teach the game to dormitory intramural men. In four nights at the gym, only four men who had never played handball came to him for instruction. I had planned to take a couple of men from my own dormitory. Berry, but couldn't seem to find the time or more precisely, didn't take the time. I lost an opportunity to learn to play this fast and highly skillful game. Unfortunately for the handball league, others lost the same opportunity.

Mr. Miller, Intramural Athletic Director, suggests that the dormitories provide a space for trophies and certificates won by their dormitory in intramural sports. Which dormitory will be the leader, now that the idea is out?

Wiley Gouge, Chairman of the Intramural Athletic Board, appointed a Protest Committee of Larry Sandorf, representing the fraternities, Neill Posey, representing the dormitories, and Gale Perry, representing the P.E. staff.

The Director of Intramurals, J. F. Miller, appointed W. E. Smith, a Southern Conference Football Official, as Chairman of the committee with no voting power. Next week I will review the first protest before this committee.

Case Releases Schedule; 23 Opponents On Tap

Coch Coach Everett Case's 1949-50 edition of the Wolfpack basketball team will play a rugged, 23-game schedule. This does not include the games which will be played as a part of the first annual Dixie Classic, December 28-30. All home games this season, including the Dixie Classic, will be held in the new William Neal Reynolds Coliseum.

Heading the list of additions to this year's schedule is the University of San Francisco quint, last year's National Invitation Tournament champion. The Pack will meet the potent Westerners in a home tilt on January 8.

Of the 23 games, sixteen will be played at home. Some of the inter-sectional foes Coach Case has scheduled for this year are: Loyola of Los Angeles, California; the University of Michigan; LaSalle of Philadelphia; Univ. of Louisville; and Villanova College.

The Pack opens the current season December 2 in a conference tilt with the Generals of Washington and Lee here.

December 2, Washington and Lee at Raleigh; Dec. 5, Davidson College at Raleigh; Dec. 8, George Washington at Raleigh; Dec. 15, Loyola of Los Angeles at Raleigh; Dec. 19 and 20, University of Michigan at Raleigh; Dec. 28, 29, and 30, Dixie Basketball Classic Tournament at Raleigh, with Duke, Carolina, State, Wake Forest, Penn State, Georgia Tech, West Virginia, and Rhode Island State.

Wolfpack Edged in Hard-Fought Contest 14-13; Thompson Runs 90 Yards For Final Touchdown

Stars for Wolfpack Against Duke

Shown above is Tony Romanovsky, 6-1 inch State College end who tallied the Wolfpack's last touchdown on a sensational pass catch in the final minute of play.

Extra Point Costs Tie With Duke

By JOHN LAMPE

The Pack's never-say-die spirit almost won them a tie against the favored Duke Blue Devils last Saturday afternoon in the Duke Stadium. Charlie Westbrook's place-kick, which missed by inches, gave the Dukes a hard-fought, 14-13 victory over the Wolfpack before a crowd of 20,000.

With one minute left in the ball game and the Pack buried deep on their own 7 yard line, the locals burned up 80 yards in a very few seconds. Ed Mooney flipped a 15 yard pass to Bill Thompson who snagged the ball on the State 20 and took off. Getting two good blocks, he headed for the left corner of the end zone, only to be tackled on the Duke 3. The State-men were not to be denied, however, and on the next play Ogen Smith passed to End Tony Romanovsky for the second Pack TD. D. Sophomore Charlie Westbrook's kick missed the uprights by inches and seconds later the ball game was over.

T-Team Clicks

The first State touchdown came after the second quarter was five minutes old.

Switching from the Tennessee Single Wing to the T formation, Ogen Smith engineered the drive to pay dirt. The drive started with Thompson taking a Duke punt on the State 13 and running it back to the 45 where the T got into high gear. Paul Dinan took a pitch-out from Ogen Smith and sprinted around left and for 20 yards; then Smith again on a longer aerial to Dinan picked up 21 yards. On the next play, after faking a pass, T-quarterback Smith carried to the Duke 7. Paul Bruno then took over and toted the ball to the two; but Smith fumbled on the next play for a loss. However, on fourth down and 13 to go Ogen Smith threw a pass which Steve Kosilla grabbed to register the touchdown.

Duke Scores Early

The Duke T. D.'s came in the first and second quarters. Having received the opening kickoff, the Blue Devils were on their own 28 in two plays. Bill Cox passed to Friendlund on the Pack 12. From there Fullback Mounie carried the ball over in three plays.

The second Blue Devil score was the result of an end sweep, good for ten yards. Cox skirted his own left flank with 1 minute 20 seconds left in the first half. Soucek converted both points to give the Dukes the victory.

The State line played a bang-up ball game, notably tackles Elmer Costa and Tom Morse, and guards Ralph Burnett and Walter Schacht.

End Tony Romanovsky played his usual excellent game. The line broke through the Devil defense time and time again to throw the Dukes back for losses.

Welch Takes Win In Dorm League

Welch, rated the No. 1 touch football team in Section IV, upheld that rating with a 18-0 win over No. 2 Syme, October 11. A stubborn No. 2 Syme line refused to let Welch score in the first half but gave up 18 points in the second half.

In the first half Welch drove deep into Syme's territory on several occasions. Each threat was turned back by the stubborn No. 2 Syme line. The men of No. 2 Syme responsible for the rugged goal line stands were Wallace Moore, "Tubby" Hayes and Phillip Etchison.

During the third quarter Welch, lead by "Choo Choo" Gibson, began a forty yard march that was climaxed with a touchdown pass from Gibson to "Flash" Twyford.

In the opening minutes of the fourth quarter, Twyford intercepted a No. 2 Syme pass to set up the second Welch score. Gibson exploded through guard to the No. 2 Syme five-yard line. On second down Gibson connected with an aerial to Sidney Credle in the end zone for the score.

First Touchdown
Welch's last touchdown came on a pass from Gibson to "gluefingered" Turner who shook off two No. 2 Syme men to score. No. 2 Syme's line threw back all of Welch's attempted extra points.

In the statistics department, Welch made 8 first downs and 150 yards rushing and passing. The men who were outstanding for Welch were, "Choo Choo" Gibson, "Flash" Twyford, "Doak" Walker, "Jose" Francis, "Glu-fingered" Turner, "Nic" Hicks and "Crazy Legs" Hoffman. For No. 2 Syme, there were Wally Moore, "Tubby" Hayes, "Ruddy" Davenport, "Jarring John" Caldwell, Phillip Etchison, Harry Brown, Tony Thompson and Bill Simpson.

No. 2 Bagwell over Berry
On October 13, No. 2 Bagwell opened its season with a thrilling 6-0 victory over Berry dormitory. It was speedster Frank Murphy that intercepted a pass and galloped twenty yards for the only touchdown of the ball game. No. 1 Alexander over No. 1 Tucker
W. E. Furr reports that No. 1 Tucker opened the season against the powerful No. 1 Alexander in a 18-0 loss. Despite the fine shape of No. 1 Tucker, they were unable to cope with No. 1 Alexander.

Cross Country Boys Cop Fourth Straight Victory

Last Saturday afternoon in a triangular meet held at Charlottesville, Virginia, State's freshman and varsity cross-country teams scored easy victories in matches with the Quantico Marines and the University of Virginia. The Wolfpack varsity harriers won the triangular meet with 19 points. Virginia finished second with 52 and Quantico third with 66 points. Low score wins in cross-country.

In a freshman meet between State and Virginia the Wolflets copped an 18-45 victory.

Leonard Outstanding
Feature of the meet was a brilliant running duel between the Pack's Bobby Leonard of Raleigh and Captain John Hart, 1948 Olympic finalist of the Quantico team. Leonard broke the tape first with a brilliant time of 20 minutes and 52 seconds. Hart finished close behind at 21 minutes and 18 seconds.

Behind Hart the Wolfpack varsity placed five runners. Dave Dubow of Hillside, N. J., and Captain John Hunter of Raleigh, tied for third place and John Keenan of Clinton, Bud Hudson of New Brunswick, N. J., were next in line. Tyler Wadsworth, another Raleigh lad, finished ninth.

Fresh Victorious

In the freshman meet Clyde Garrison of Raleigh and Bobby Jones of Alexandria, Va., came home in front in a dead heat. Rosbury of Virginia was third, and four State men, Larry Miller, Morrison Clements, Banner Smith and Bob Gorjup were next in that order.

VIEWS ON SPORTS

By BOB CURRAN

Last Saturday night, after the Duke game, I was visited by approximately 40 members of the varsity and freshman football teams. They came to my house, en masse, and expressed their sentiments to me, concerning my two previous columns in the TECHNICIAN. My views and opinions still stand, and I still believe them to be true! This is the student's newspaper, and I will let the football team express their sentiments. They can further prove their point Saturday afternoon by whipping Maryland in Riddick Stadium. The letter follows:

October 18, 1949

Bob Curran,
The TECHNICIAN.

Dear Bob;

You are in the influential position of conveying to the student body opinions which can quickly imbed themselves in Campus thinking. In your "Views on Sports" you have seen fit to attack a man who, by virtue of his position, is not privileged to defend himself. We believe that your article might serve to crystallize an unfounded condemnation of Coach Feathers. We fear that many students will accept the idea as a ready excuse for recent football setbacks without further analysis. As a successful team we must be backed by school spirit as well as a coaching staff. Since we do the ball carrying, may we remind you that the Coach should not bear the brunt of defeat. Why enhance the despondency of a person who is already suffering the indignation brought about by our failures?

We, the team, wish to inform the student body that we are solidly behind Coach Feathers and his staff. Furthermore, we believe that he has taught us workable systems, which, under normal circumstances should produce victories.

It is not our intention to present alibis, but our relative position in athletics enables us to analyze this problem from a more unbiased approach. Also, it seems that convenient memories have forgotten a very creditable accomplishment, State College's only Bowl Team, coached by this same man.

We wish to remind you that what we eat some Saturdays is distasteful, but served as it may be, we find it's better with Feathers. Insult for injury is not a cure.

We, as a team, do represent our student body. We've got the best coach. Does he have the team and school spirit to support him? We think so; let's prove it Saturday!

Makes Sensational Run

Bill Thompson, shown above, was outstanding in last Saturday's 14-13 loss to the Duke Blue Devils. Thompson took an Ed Mooney pass and ran 99 yards to set up the final Pack tally.

Intramural Volleyball Season In Progress

Berry dormitory pulled an upset 2-0 win over last year's second place No. 2 Syme to clinch the first night of intramural dormitory volleyball on October 17.

In the first game Berry took an early 13-7 lead on the 6 point serving of Charlie Cole's and the 4 point serving of John Wheless. Edward Bond's fine net play helped stave off No. 2 Syme's mechanical addition of points. Berry won 15-12.

In the second game Berry and No. 2 Syme matched each other point for point until Berry finally gained a four point edge and won 15-11. Wallace Moore of No. 2 Syme and Edward Bond of Berry lead their respective teams.

Cole Stars
Bill Arden, manager of Berry, was pleased with the serving of Charlie Cole. Many of his serves were not returned by No. 2 Syme. They were accurately placed near the outside line and fell rapidly thus making them hard to return. Despite his short height for a volleyball player, Edward Bond was a master player at the net for Berry. Manager Arden believes that possibly Bond's play was the margin of win for Berry.

Berry's team: Manager Bill Arden, J. P. Wheless, Reuben Miller, Richard Lawrence, Edward Bond, Charlie Cole, and Richard Jewett.

No. 2 Syme's team: Manager Bill Simpson, Wallace Moore, Roger Dodson, Phillip Etchison, Jim Baker, Bill Perry, and E. F. Scarborough.

No. 1 Syme vs. Trailwood
No. 1 Syme, the other team of "Iggy" Bourroughs, Athletic Director of Syme, successfully defended its last year's number three spot with a 2-1 win over last year's fourth place team, Trailwood.

Ralph Jones, manager and star player, along with teammates Stuart Gooden and Buddy Rogers lead for No. 1 Syme. Game scores: 15-7, 6-15, and 15-10.

No. 1 Syme's team: Manager Ralph Jones, Stuart Gooden, Buddy Rogers, Jerry Leggett, Bill Creech, Jessie Martin, Harold Ballard, and "Iggy" Bourroughs.

Trailwood's team: "June" Mangrum, Wiley Gouge, C. H. Smith, J. D. Hill, Creecy Copeland and "Chuck" Kohlbecker.

Vetville vs. No. 2 Owen
Vetville, last year's first place team, soundly defeated No. 2 Owen, 15-3 and 15-1. John Martin and Bill White were active in the win.

No. 1 Burlington vs. West Haven
No. 1 Burlington and West Haven exchanged wins in their first game, 15-10, 5-15, but No. 1 Burlington won the final and decisive game 15-8.

BOOTERS TAKE MEASURE OF DEVILS IN OPENER

By BOB PHELPS

Coach Eric DeGroat's booters defeated the Duke Blue Devils 2-1 in an overtime soccer contest at Doak Field Tuesday afternoon. The State College team laden with foreign talent held the experienced Blue Devil team for three periods before D'Alonzo scored on a free kick to tie the score.

State's first score came in the second period when Mavromatis took a pass from Rivendensia in the circle and shot from three feet out of the goal. D'Alonzo tied the score in the third period on the free kick.

Overtime Contest

The score was tied one all at the end of the regular four periods and two 5 minute overtime periods were played.

In the first overtime State came very close to pushing in a score as Palazuelos missed a free kick by inches. State, however, booted in the winning goal after two minutes of the second overtime period had elapsed on C. Palazuelos' pass to Rivendensia who took a long shot and made it good. From there on out State College froze the ball and ran out the clock.

Outstanding players on the State team were many, but right half Kragas kept the Blue Devils running in circles. Dave Baxter, right fullback and goalie Zuniga played a brilliant defensive game. D'Alonzo by far played the best game for Duke with the help of Lindstrom, inside left and Weston, left half.

Duke Victorious over Va.
Duke had already beaten the University of Virginia 2-0 in its opening game.

The State booters go on to play Carolina here on October 25th and Duke over there on November 2.

FRATERNITY INTRAMURALS

The frat intramural program really shifted into high gear last week with eight touch football games scheduled and eight games on the volleyball court. Let's catch the pigskin parade first. Phi Ep's color bearers won their first game over a fighting SAE team by a score of 13-0. Phi Ep scored first when Al Brooks went 40 yards with a stray SAE pass. The try for the extra point was unsuccessful. In the second half a 55-yard Phi Ep march was culminated when "Chick" Antonucci skirted his right end for two yards and another score. The point after the touchdown was good, and the game ended with Phi Ep on top 13-0. In other games, Sigma Nu edged by the Sammys by a 6-0 score. Pickett returned a Sammy punt 60 yards to set up the only score in the game. Pickett then tossed a pass to Armstrong for the touchdown. Kappa Sig sparked again by "Cubby" Culbertson took Delta Sig by a 18-0 score. "Cubby" was just as sharp as he had been the week before when the Kappa Sigs edged Sigma Chi. Pi Kappa Phi took the measure of Phi Ep early in the week by a score of 18-0 as the Phi Ep's were completely outclassed.

Moore and Harrill were outstanding for the victors. The KA's thrashed Lambda Chi by a 21-0 score. R. H. Brown sparked the boys from KA with 13 points. In another game last week, AGR squeezed out a 6-0 victory over Delta Sig. SPE took a close one too. They edged by TKE in a thriller 12-6. Rucker was outstanding for the SPEs as he tossed for the two touchdowns passes. Lambda Chi beat Pi Kappa Tau on a forfeit when PKT failed to show up for the game. Let's move into the gym, and see how the volleyball games are going. The PiKA's were extended to three games before they conquered a stubborn team from PKT. Last years champs will have to show this reporter much more if they expect to repeat this year. Sigma Chi took Lambda Chi, and AGR beat TKE. In other games, Sigma Nu beat Kappa Sig and PEP walloped Samy. Also, Pi Kappa Phi vanquished SPE and the KA's took SAE into camp. Don't forget the handball eliminations start this week, and also the wrestling prelims are coming soon.

Four games... four defeats. Not a very enviable record. However, let us analyze these losses. Carolina 26, State 6... This game was played on even terms for three full quarters with the Tar Heels finally running up their margin in the last period on breaks which went against the Pack. Carolina, still undefeated after four games and who will probably remain so until they tangle with Notre Dame, is now the sixth ranking team in the nation. Clemson 7, State 6... Once again the Pack was on the wrong end of the score, but by the margin of one little point. With a little luck this game could have very easily gone the other way. Davidson 20, State 14... In a game played in a veritable sea of mud, the scrappy Davidson Wildcats turned an almost certain State touchdown and defeat into a victory on a lucky pass interception. Once again the Pack went down to defeat when victory was in sight. And finally, Duke 14, State 13... The never-say-die State boys after pulling a boner at the very beginning of the game, settled down and played the heavily favored Blue Devils on even terms for the remainder of the game. One little point turned a tie into a defeat. With a few breaks for the team instead of against it, the State record could have been two wins, one loss, and a tie, which considering the schedule would have been nothing to be ashamed of. Of course crying in our beer will do no good at all, so let's forget about the past and look to the future. Tomorrow is Homecoming, and since the Wolfpack is capable of giving anyone a good game on a given day, let's all go out and give the team our undivided support... win or lose.

One bright spot in this term's sports picture is the surprising strength of the crosscountry team. Coach Fitzgibbon's boys are undefeated after taking their fourth straight meet of the current season last Saturday, defeating Virginia and the Quantico Marines in a triangular meet. The other victories were gained at the expense of Carolina twice and Davidson once. Good going, boys, keep up the fine work.

Back on the subject of football... Why doesn't the Pack use more T plays? Of course, I'm no expert on the subject, but judging from the way the State offense has clicked when employing T plays as seen in the Carolina game (The Pack driving to their only T. D. on T plays) the Davidson game (using the T offensive in driving down to the Wildcat nine before the ill-fated pass interception), and the Duke game (the only offense which gained consistently against the Blue Devils), it looks as though the Pack would adopt the T altogether. Even Gloomy Jim Tatum, the coach of the Maryland Terrapins, after scouting the Pack, asked the same unanswerable question...

State's new tennis coach, John Kenfield, Jr., has had his boys practicing for the past three weeks. Losing only Bill Weathers from last year's squad which took eight of eleven matches, Kenfield is very optimistic about next season. Here's hoping that Kenfield, Jr., can produce teams of the same calibre as those put out by his father, John Kenfield, Sr., who is coach over at the Hill.

My board of EXPERTS and myself have found that it is almost impossible to predict the final outcome of football games in this era of weekly upsets. Last week yours truly erred on four games, Bailey on five, Curran miscued on six, and Editor Hancock brought up the rear with eight in the wrong column. Such upsets as Tulsa's 21-19 edging of powerful Villanova, Rice's drubbing of Doak Walker and his SMU teammates, and Northwestern's 21-20 triumph over the once mighty Michigan Wolverines, left my season's average still at .820, caused Curran's to skid down to .724, Bailey's to drop to .777, and Hancock's to fall to an all-time low of .700.

Animal Industry Club Treats Exhibitors

Livestock exhibitors at the State Fair were guests of the N. C. State College Animal Industry Club at a barbecue supper held Wednesday evening in the judging pavilion on the College Dairy Farm.

The purpose of the event was to give members of the club an opportunity to become better acquainted with livestock breeders in the State.

Approximately 150 persons attended the supper. Brief talks were made by a number of persons. In addition to the Fair exhibitors, those present included Dr. J. H. Hilton, dean of the College's School of Agriculture; Dr. H. A. Stewart, professor of animal husbandry and advisor to the club; other staff members of the Department of Animal Industry, and breeders and herdsmen of the College Livestock and Dairy Farms.

Wade Hobson of Boonville, president of the Animal Industry Club, presided at the event, which was held as one of the club's two major projects during the fall months. The other project consists of exhibiting College beef and dairy cattle, sheep, and hogs at the State Fair in order to gain experience in the care and management of livestock.

Professor Johnson Gains Recognition

Prof. E. Sigurd Johnson, head of furniture manufacturing and management training in the Department of Industrial Engineering at State College, has been elected as a member of the general committee of the Wood Industries Division of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, college officials were notified yesterday.

His election is for a three-year term beginning on January 1 and is in recognition of his professional accomplishments.

Vice President Sandy Gluck announced that the "Smoker" would be held on Thursday, October 27, in the Club Room of the Y.M.C.A. at eight o'clock in the evening. The idea of this meeting is to acquaint all of the Cadet Officers with each other and to make plans for the forthcoming activities. All past members and those interested in the Cadet Officers Association are urged to attend.

Cowan Addressed Students Last Night The Rev. T. B. (Scotty) Cowan, pastor of Everybody's Church in Lexington, Ky., addressed a gathering of State College students in the College YMCA auditorium Thursday night at 7 o'clock. His topic was "After College, What?" A native of Scotland, the Rev. Mr. Cowan was educated at Cumberland, Vanderbilt, Yale, and Chicago Universities and is a former pastor of the Norris Religious Fellowship of Norris, Tenn., which included members from 20 different religious denominations. His Scottish accent and humor added to his popularity as a speaker. He has been the main speaker at State College's "Religion in Life" observances for several years.
