Gym Fire Misses Ammo

"Only a miracle" saved a charred box of live ammunition from exploding during a two-alarm fire in the Military Department's supply room in Frank Thompson Gymnasium early Monday afternoon, Military Custodian Horace C. Thomas revealed Tuesday.

His statement came after a more thorough search on Tuesday of the smutty Army and Air Force supply room uncovered a charred wooden box containing the target range's daily supply of ammunition. Discovers Fire

The fire, which was discovered at 1:10 p.m., by Gym Custodian Harold Haynes, resulted in damage to clothing and office equipment estimated at $1,000. Haynes says that he located the blaze after observing smoke pushing up between the east wall and main floor of the Gym.

Fire Chief A. B. Lloyd said he believed the fire was caused by a smoldering cigarette in a wastepaper basket and stated that his men had difficulty in gaining entrance to the building since the heavy doors leading into the ROTC supply room were locked.

Doors Locked
After calling the Fire Department Haynes related that he ran around to the supply room located in the southeast corner of the Gym basement and tried without success to enter the locked door. The flames appeared to have originated from a wastepaper basket, he stated, and spread to nearby desks and storage counters.

Tech. Sgt. James A. Thompson says that he, Cadet Regimental Supply Sgt. Samuel R. Blake and an unknown student left the room at 1:00 p.m., after issuing supplies to some 20 members of the Drum and Bugle Corps.

Ties and Insignia
Supplies hardest hit by the blaze, explained Thomas, were ties and insignia. Three desks were destroyed along with some property records and many of the uniforms will require cleaning because of smoke damage, Thomas said.

Thomas pointed out that no records of supplies issued to students were destroyed. These records, he explained, remained safe in a steel filing cabinet.

Both Thomas and Haynes praised the Fire Department for their speed and efficiency. Thomas said "the good efficiency of the Fire Department did much to hold the water damage down."

U. of Md. Students Kill NSA By Heavy Vote

College Park, Md.—The University of Maryland's petition-demanded referendum sent the National Student Association down to defeat by 607 to 422 after heavy voting.

The vote settled the question of affiliating with NSA after a four-year debate which was brought to the fore again when the student council voted NSA in by a one-vote margin.

Non-Political Vote

A significant factor concerning the referendum was that voting was not generally governed by political affiliation. The ranks of the parties, Greek organizations and independents were not congealed, but were more or less fluid, often being split sharply.

An interesting facet of the referendum was that the students who voted in the Engineering building defeated the proposal by 3-1, while the remaining voters defeated the proposal by only 4-3.

Opposing Arguments

Opponents argued that the money NSA would cost should be used for campus activities, that student interest is completely lacking and that NSA has an impractical, unrealistic constitution.

THE DIAMONDBACK, campus newspaper, reports that only 37 persons attended an NSA forum held the night before the election. Five of these were participants and four were faculty members.

Dance Lessons

The IDC and the College Union will sponsor a series of dancing lessons for beginners starting Saturday, February 3. The lessons will be given in the Gym from 4 to 5:15 p.m. Dancing partners will be provided by local girls' colleges.

Denies Hillsboro Charge; Johnson Will Cooperate

By PAUL FOGHT

Hillsboro Street's "Death Valley" is not as serious a problem as pictured according to Raleigh's Director of Public Safety, Carlisle Johnston. However, on Monday Johnston stated that he is anxious to cooperate with college officials and student leaders in sponsoring a safety education program on the campus.

Johnston and his aide, Police Captain J. H. Hayes, quoted the results of a speed survey conducted on Hillsboro last summer to prove that there is very little speeding done on the street that is usually pictured as a "rat race" or spillway.

Radar Check

On June 26 the Police Department clocked all traffic passing the intersection of Hillsboro and St. Mary's Street with a radar plotting device. During the one hour test 589 cars were clocked at 35 miles per hour or less and only eight vehicles were found to be traveling between 36 and 41 miles per hour.

Johnston and Hayes claimed that the four traffic lights on Hillsboro between Oberlin Road and Brooks Ave., are set to control the traffic at a speed of less than 25 miles an hour. As for any pedestrians who might be crossing between the lights, the police do not have enough officers to enforce the law on pedestrians. Captain Hayes stated that there are only two motorcycle patrolmen operating out of the downtown area during the day.

Pedestrians Warned

Pedestrians are warned, however, that if they are injured while violating a traffic code, they, and not the motorist, will be cited to court.

In reference to the possibility of establishing a reduced speed zone on Hillsboro, Director Johnston said that he would like to establish the area as a school speed zone. Reduced speed zones were recently established for all the Raleigh city schools, but they cannot be enforced as speed zones since the state law sets the speed for residential sections at 35 miles per hour and provides no exceptions.

No Law

A motorist traveling less than 35 but more than the posted speed in a school zone cannot be cited for speeding, but only for failure to operate his car in a reasonable and prudent manner. This arrangement, says Johnston, "has as many loop holes as a piece of Swiss cheese."

In 1949 the Legislature took away the municipalities' power to regulate speeds in an effort to do away with the "speed traps" which once flourished in the state. Amendments to this law, which was called "ambiguous and unsatisfactory" by the Department of Motor Vehicles will be sponsored in this session of the Legislature.

CG Backs Pep Club

Committee To Check All Means Of Support Scheviak's Motion Squashed 15-7

By CHARLIE HAMILTON

The Campus Government Tuesday defeated Treasurer Harvey Scheviak's motion to "withdraw any and all sponsoring support" from the Pep Club and voted to investigate all possible means that CG might take to co-ordinate future activities of the two organizations.

College Union Pics Displayed in Library

A photographic exhibition showing the facilities and activities as student unions in various colleges and universities throughout the nation is now on display in the lobby of the D. H. Hill Library at State College.

The exhibit includes 50 photographs and is designed to acquaint the public with the work of student unions. The display was prepared by the National Association of College Unions.

The showing is open to the public without charge and will be featured through February 3. The library is open Monday through Saturday from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m., and on Sundays from 2 until 10 p.m.

The exhibition was shown at the University of Minnesota prior to its State College appearance. It will move from State College to the University of Florida after February 3.

Arrangements for the local displays were made by Jerry Erdahl, director of student union activities at State College.

By a vote of fifteen to seven the Council killed Scheviak's revised proposal. Last week he introduced a motion proposing that the Council "withdraw all financial and moral support" from the spirit promoting group.

Explaining the word, "sponsoring," in his amended motion, Scheviak said that when the Pep Club was organized last year it was sponsored by the Campus Government and was so stated in the Club's Constitution. He declared that the present size of the Club indicated that the organization was capable of functioning by itself and, therefore, needed no further help from CG.

Following the defeat of the withdrawal motion, Hillarey Daughtry called upon the Council to determine how the Pep Club could best serve the Student Body and recommend action that CG might take in the future to aid the Club in accomplishing its aims.

Daughtry's motion was approved and referred to the Investigations Committee by President McCracken for further study.

As for financial support given the Pep Club by CG, McCracken revealed that CG has given no money to the Club this year. The $200 received by the Club for this year's operation came from the Student Activity Fees, he said.

When the question was raised as to what a withdrawal of CG support meant, McCracken stated that no money would be appropriated by the Council to the Pep Club thereafter, and that he, as a member of the Student Activity Fee Committee, would feel obliged to convey the Council's wishes and go on record as opposing any further Pep Club appropriation by the Fee Committee.

In addition, he said, it would mean that the Council could no longer approve the Pep Club's request for midstripe seats at athletic events. Under the present agreement with the Athletic Department, the Council must approve this privilege.

Harold Strawbridge, Pep Club President, appeared before the Council meeting to defend his organization against Scheviak's charge of last week that the Pep Club has not benefited "the students as a whole." Strawbridge stated that his group has "tried and that is all God expects."

The Pep Club, he stated, compiled 6,000 handbooks last September giving cheers, athletic event schedules and address space and had distributed them to students and alumni. His organization sponsored pep rallies last fall, including a cavalcade to the Wake Forest game. Also, he said the Club organized a send-off for the basketball team when they departed for the Villanova game this month.

Strawbridge said that the Pep

Coliseum Study Group Named By Harrelson

Chancellor J. W. Harrelson has announced the appointment of a 12 member Coliseum Planning Committee to make a detailed study of the operation of the big arena and submit recommendations for its future operation to the Administration.

The committee, which is composed of representatives of the four campus groups using the building, is charged with the job of recommending policies for admitting private groups and setting rate schedules.

Private groups would include civic organizations, commercial shows, and any other body not directly connected with State College activities.

In addition, the 12 appointees will attempt to determine a standard basis for charging rental fees.

The student body, the Athletic Department, the Military Department and the Agriculture Extension Service are all represented on the body.

Roy B. Clogston, Head of the Athletic Department, is committee chairman and W. Z. Betts, Coliseum Manager, is secretary. The student body is represented by Jack McCormick, Henry Odom and Charlie LeGrand.

Clements Wins $500 To Study Textiles

Joseph L. (Joe) Clements of North Wilkesboro, a senior in the School of Textiles at State College, has been chosen as the winner of the $500 Textron Scholarship for the 1950-51 academic year, Dean Malcolm E. Campbell announced recently.

Dean Campbell said that Clements is the second student to receive the scholarship award, which was established in the School of Textiles by Textron, Inc., of Lowell,

JOSEPH L. CLEMENTS

Mass., and is administered by S. H. Lander, vice-president, Textron Southern, Inc., Anderson, S. C. The first recipient of the honor was William M. Barnhardt of Charlotte, who was selected last year.

Unusual Qualities

Clements was chosen, Dean Campbell said, because of "his outstanding scholastic accomplishments and a demonstration of unusual qualities of leadership." The student, Dean Campbell continued, has also shown that he has abilities which will qualify him for leadership in the American textile industry.

A top-ranking student, Clements has been active in intramural athletics, has served as secretary of the Interfraternity Council at State College, is a past president of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity,

Junior Class Meeting

There will be a Junior Class meeting on Thursday, February 1, at 12:00 noon in Pullen Hall. Juniors are urged to attend this meeting because a matter of great interest to all Juniors are on the meeting agenda.

The purpose of this meeting will be to select and vote on the presentation of the contract to the manufacturer of the Class of 1952 rings. Representatives of three companies will be present at the meeting to present their bids and display some of their companies' products. Juniors are reminded that the majority vote of those present at the meeting will determine which company the contract will be awarded to.

There will be an opportunity for Juniors to pay their class dues if they have not already done so. The Class Finance Committee has made arrangements to collect dues at this time. The amount of the dues is $5.00. Those wishing to attend the Ring Dance must make this payment before they receive their dance bids.

is a member of the Tompkins Textile Society, and is a member of Sigma Tau Sigma, national honorary textile fraternity.

Clements, a 1942 graduate of North Wilkesboro High School, enrolled in State College's School of Engineering immediately after his graduation from high school, but his studies were interrupted by a three-year hitch in the U. S. Navy during World War II. He returned to the campus following his service with the Navy and was awarded a degree in engineering in 1949.

After obtaining his engineering degree, he became interested in textiles and entered the School of Textiles at the college. He is now working toward his B.S. degree in textiles.

Clements is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Clements of North Wilkesboro. He is married to the former Miss Mary Gage Barber of North Wilkesboro, and they have a baby daughter, Martha Gage. The Clements family is residing at 1213 1/2 Dixie Trail while he is a student at State College.

Veep's On The Ball

We believe that the proposed changes in the Campus Government Constitution which were presented to the Council for study this week are more than worthy of the Council's closest attention.

The major feature of the proposals is the coordination of the School Honor Committee with the Council. Every member of the Council would become a member of his School Honor Committee. This committee will presumably discuss the problems and questions of its school's students and will then take them to the Council through its Council representatives.

A new meeting calendar would be established with the apparent hope of getting the Honor Committees, and the Council and its committees all pulling in the same direction without becoming lost in a moras of triviality.

The Honor Committees and the Council's executives and standing committee chairmen will hold their meetings on the first Tuesday in the month. The Council would meet on the second and fourth Tuesdays and the standing committees would meet on the third Tuesday.

Anyone who has experienced a Council meeting will be tempted to say that the boys stopped too soon when they cut the Council down to two sessions a month. It has been suggested that one meeting a year would suffice.

Such statements are more than a trifle extreme. Campus Government can stand a lot of revitalizing, we admit, and Veep Hal Brown's proposals could do a lot of good.

PRF

Golden Rule

Campus Government President Jack McCracken and Coach Ev Case made an appeal to the students at the VPI game Tuesday night to cut down on the booing of referees and visiting teams.

Case asked that the Golden Rule be applied. It's an old appeal, but one that still holds good. True, we don't always get the carpet rolled out when we play away from home, but the actions of other schools shouldn't reflect on our actions.

The appeal by both Case and McCracken was a timely one, but we wonder if the right people were listening. During the Dixie Classic when most State students were home for Christmas, we heard as much hell raising against refs as we hear now that the students are back.

Nevertheless, there are some guilty students. Let's have a quiet student section when the decisions are made and a noisy one when the points are racked up.

Low Spirit?

For several months we have listened to various groups and individuals rant and rave that the spirit at State College has gone to hell.

We don't think so. . . .

How can you define school spirit? Is it the volume of the yells at a ball game? Is it the attendance at a club meeting? Is it the work a man does on his school paper? Is it regular attendance in class?

It's all of these and a lot more; and, when you take the whole problem into consideration, the spirit is not at a dangerous low at State.

In the first place, we are a technical school, with little time for fancy partying, huge train caravans to bowl games, bonfires with 4,000 men present, etc.

True, our energies are spread a little too thinly over the campus. We dabble in too many things to make a success of any one of them.

Maybe a concerted effort by everyone in one or two of his favorite activities would present an aura of better school spirit; but, on the whole, we are spending as much of our time in all the activities as the students at any other school.

We've even been accused of not having a close-to-the-heart feeling for State College. I doubt that, too. By virtue of the fact that we even call ourselves "Cow College" we demonstrate that we are proud of the Ag School.

We also have our "Lintheads," our "Slip Stick Boys," our "Tree Measurers," and all the familiar nicknames. But with all the divisions, we are still STATE COLLEGE and we are proud of the fact that we are here.

Men At Work

For the students who have been crying for some action from the Campus Government, there is news.

One of the major projects in the hands of CG now is the study of the Honor System. The problem is now in the hands of a committee.

To make the Honor System a part of the CG Constitution, the STUDENTS must approve the amendment which will add it to the present constitution.

Between now and the time when you will be called upon to vote on this amendment, much information will be presented in THE TECHNICIAN, in club meetings, in class room discussion, and on the campus in general.

If you don't understand the amendment after its presentation, it will be your duty to question members of the Campus Government and get the information you need.

Vote when the time comes, but know what you are voting for.

For Whom The Bell Tolls

The students at Chapel Hill have a little bell; probably you have heard it.

They always toll out the score when they are winning a ball game. It's a doleful sound when you listen to it count out the unhappy total of the winning Tar Heels.

It's never been tried at a State College basketball game, but we sure would like to see some enterprising State student get a bell and toll out the score tomorrow night at half time.

And while he tolls the bell, we'd love to hear State's students chant out the numbers.

Just a suggestion for you, Parker. And maybe not the best in the world after all.

Dorm Doings

The Inter Dormitory Council of State College will sponsor an informal dance at Frank Thompson Gym tonight from 8 to 12.

A parade of girls from Raleigh and the local schools will dance with the dorm men to the music of Gene Wallace and The Statesmen. Wallace will have his entire 15 piece band and a vocalist on hand for the affair.

Extra entertainment provided by the Industrial Recreation department will include four of State's foreign students who will sing and

Dorm Elections

Here's a word for politicians and prospective politicians. Dormitory elections are beginning February 1. Officers and Floor Representatives will be elected then. Don't forget to cast your ballot for the man you want to direct the work of your dorm.

Dormitory Awards

An important event which will take place in the near future is the selection and awarding of trophies to the most outstanding athletic play selected Latin-American tunes.

The dance and entertainment is brought to the students free of charge through the courtesy of the local musicians union and the IDC. Bids may be obtained from the social chairman of each dorm.

Bagwell-Becton Dance

Those who attended the Bagwell-Becton dance last Friday night went away well pleased. Judging from the conversation of several girls after the dance, they enjoyed the dance as much as the boys did.

The boys in Berry are planning a big party at Sunset Lake on February 2. They will take food and refreshments along, and music for dancing will be provided by the old juke-box.

director of the dorms, and to the person who has contributed the most to athletics at State.

These awards are made possible through Mr. L. L. Ivey, Director of the Student Supply Store. The awards will be made at half time at a basketball game in the near future.

Open House

Spruce up, Freshmen, and tidy up those rooms. Faculty-Freshman open house is coming up soon. The exact date has not yet been decided. The purpose of the openhouse is to acquaint the freshman instructors with their students. The instructors will be invited to visit student's room at a date which will be announced later.

With The Greeks

By FRANK PERKINS

Lambda Chi seems to be in the partying mood, as they had a party out at Sunset Lake last Saturday and are planning to have a Monte Carlo party Wednesday of next week.

Their party at Sunset Lake was confined mostly to rushing and apparently they had good results because everyone seems to have had quite a rare time.

Their Monte Carlo party will be quite a gala affair because everyone will be wearing all kinds of costumes. This social gathering should afford the brothers and pledges a big week-end before mid-winters.

Some time ago Phi Kappa Tau had a small combo to furnish music out at Crabtree Park. Was the Combo expensive? I should say not, because the combo was composed of some of the more talented Phi Tau brothers who are in the band at State. The evening was ended by a big and colorful square dance. This event wasn't a rush party but several rushees were present. Sigma Nu is trying to interest the brothers and dates in Bridge and Canasta every Friday night as they have a Bridge Party followed later by refreshments and dancing. This Friday night they have on tap a small informal party for brothers, pledges and their dates.

Sigma Pi had several Alumni down after the LaSalle game and they were entertained by a small party at the house. A week after mid-winters they will have their second annual Orchid Ball and their Founders day Banquet at the Hotel Sir Walter. A large party is in the planning stage after the Duke game for the Alumni and brothers who will be returning for the conference clash in basketball.

Costume parties are in full swing this term as TKE plans a French Quarter party which is to come off sometime during the first of February. They tell me some of the TKE's are thinking about sending to France to borrow some "French" clothing to add as much color to the party as possible. This evening should turn out as one that will be remembered for quite a long time.

Club had received fifty midfield seats at last fall's football games and has recently received thirty mid-court seats for all home basketball games. He pointed out that at no time has the Pep Club requested more seats than it has members. These seats, he said, are used by Pep Club members only and no dates are allowed in the section.

He saw no cause for jealousy over the Pep Club's seating arrangement and emphasized that they were a just "reward" for working members of the Club.

Of the $200 received from the Student Activity Fee Committee, $132 was spent for the booklets and the remainder was applied for expenses of pep rallies, soundtracks and goalpost decorations, Straw-bridge stated after the meeting.

After the meeting he quoted Assistant Basketball Coach "Butter" Anderson's remark to him about the Villanova send-off, "Anderson told me that 'as long as we have backing like this we can give any team plenty of hell.'"

Corn And Cow Experts As War-Vital As M.D.'s

"A nation of all privates and no scientists would be in peril no less than one in which the opposite were true," said Dr. W. E. Colwell, head of the Agronomy Department, in an address to the Ag Club on Tuesday night.

In pointing out the jobs the agricultural scientist can do in the war effort, he stated that of 2,519 questionnaires sent out during the last war, 32% of the men drafted were placed in such positions where their time could be utilized as much as 50% for the jobs in which they had been trained. A large number of these were men with Ph.D. degrees.

Dr. Colwell went on to say that "agricultural science was just as important as medical science;" people must have food, as well as medical care.

He stated that the crop increases in production in the United States are due to the work of the agricultural scientist. He further urged the need for more such scientists.

Bill Austin, club president, reminded the members that Governor W. Kerr Scott will be the speaker at the meeting next Tuesday night in 118 Withers Hall. The meeting time will be changed from 6:30 to 7:00 for this meeting only.

Mark Clark To Speak At Carolina Forum

The following schedule of speakers of the Carolina Forum of the University of North Carolina has been released.

Feb. 6—General Mark Clark, Feb. 17—Edward R. Murrow, March 5—Senator Estes Kefauver, March 22—Senator Leveritt Saltonstall.

These speakers will make addresses on the above dates at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Their appearances will be sponsored by the Carolina Forum which is a student organization dedicated to presenting prominent speakers to the student body and to the people of the state.

General Clark, the first speaker, is at present Chief of Army Field Forces of the U. S. Army. He gains (Continued on Page 6)

Busy Mothers Notice: State Has Day Nursery

Vetville Day Nursery, located in U. K. 16, Vetville, is a student organization. Its purpose—to take care of student's children while the mothers are working.

The Nursery is primarily for the use of students, but other children will be accepted until the enrollment reaches 24.

Governing the organization is a Board of Directors composed of seven parents having children (and who isn't nowadays), six from West Haven, and Vetville and one outsider. The board now consists of the following: John Whitley, chairman; Hiram Casehalt, vice-chairman; Edith Róose, secretary and treasurer; Fletcher Stanley, Gerald Naylor, Henry Róose, and Dwight Brenneman.

One of the better child supervisory institutions in Raleigh, the Vetville Nursery is licensed by the State Welfare Department. A well-rounded program of activities has been adopted. Accents are on group discipline, physical and mental growth, and healthful recreational activities.

Mrs. Barbara Mellor, the new director assumed her duties in December. She is a graduate of Utah State College where she majored in child development and has had experience as a kindergarten teacher. She will be assisted by Mrs. Mildred Whitley who has been acting director.

John B. Whitley, Chairman of the nursery's Board of Directors wishes the students to know this: He says, "Students, this is your nursery, so come visit it, use it, and invite others to use it so that its operation may be continued to help other students who will come after we have graduated."

The Inquiring Reporter

Has worry over the world crisis had any effect on your college work?

Peter Konichek

Freshman, Nuclear Engr.

Yes, it has. I've decided that not only should I get good grades because I'm in school, but because of the threat of impending military drafting. Raising grades is apt to be pretty hard, though, since everyone is going to try to stay in the upper fourth of his class.

Gerald T. Barnes

Freshman, C.E.

Yes, I believe it has affected my grades. There seems to be an air of insecurity and uselessness of good work going around the campus. I believe the students should be given some idea of their standing concerning the draft situation.

Olin Coleman

Sophomore, Ag

The world, in my opinion, has always been in a crisis; and I have been concerned about it, but worrying about it will do no good. No, worry over the world crisis has not had any effect on my college work.

Burke Probitsky

Freshman, Ag

Yes, the threat of war with Communistic forces has provided me with a difficult problem in planning my education. With the draft situation as it is, I may be drafted at any time. Such an occurrence would naturally interfere with my school work and upset my educational plans completely. The only solution is to wait and see.

Sophomore, Textiles

No. It's something that involves all of us, but worries won't help boys like me. I'll end up in the Army sooner or later, but I believe in predestination and I'm happy that way.

Dlebert M. Broughton

A definite worry (concern) has resulted over the world crisis. It's sort of hard to give something all you've got when it seems useless! If a definite "light" could be seen, a different outlook could be assumed.

Little Theater Sponsors Play-Writing Contest

For those who might be interested in becoming future Shakespeares, the Raleigh Little Theatre is sponsoring a playwriting contest open to residents of North Carolina only.

The prize will be $100—one hundred fish—and the deadline is February 15; the winner will have the pleasure of seeing his play produced by the Little Theatre in the outdoor amphitheatre here in Raleigh as the last presentation of the current season, sometime in May.

The chances of anyone's writing a good three-act play between now and February 15 are remote, but if you happen to have one kicking around in your desk drawer—engineers often mix them up with their slide-rules—you might try to get it in shape.

The play has to be in three acts, typewritten and double-spaced; needless to say, it should be in English, and as many of the words as possible correctly spelled.

Incidentally, the next offering at the Little Theatre, which is on Pogue Street about three blocks off the campus, will be Detective Story, a melodrama about life among the plain-clothes men in New York City. It's by Sidney Kingsley, who also wrote Dead End, and has just finished a very successful run on Broadway of over a year.

Detective Story opens at the Little Theatre on February 1, next Thursday, and will run through February 9. Several State College men are in the cast, and tickets for the show are available at special student rates.

Dorm Murals Shift To Water Sports

By BILL GEILER

The basketball season is nearly half over now and only six teams remain in the unbeaten class. The Freshman teams have shown some amazing aggressiveness in their play and it looks like they are going to give the older boys a run for their money when the final showdown comes around. Tucker No. 2 is leading the way in their section and show no signs of having to change that status.

While the interest has been in Basketball this past week, another sport has shown itself on campus. The qualifying heats in swimming were held last week and from the looks of things it's anybody's race. Here is the news from the home front on that sport.

Tucker:
For Tucker it was Ray Beal, Craig Barnhardt, and Bob Brooker all qualifying for the finals. The medley team of Tucker also qualified.

Bagwell:
Except for the backstroke Bagwell No. 2 qualified a man for every event. Gilbert Thompson led the way qualifying for three events. Paul Langley made the grade for two events and Rod Horton for the other single event. The relay team also qualified. It looks like Bagwell wants this one very badly and if their boys are as good as their past performances seem to indicate they will give someone a lot of trouble.

Welch:
For Welch it will be Jim Twyford and Gene Nicks carrying the load. Jim qualified in two events and Gene Nicks in one.

Becton No. 1:
For Becton it will be Knowles and Greenberger in the 25 yd. freestyle, Bales and Greenberger in the backstroke and Strasser in the 100 yd. freestyle. The Becton medley team of Knowles, Bales and Dobbins also qualified.

Turlington No. 2:
Turlington No. 2 placed four men in the finals. Deal, Pippenger, Parker and Crews are the boys who carry the hopes for the Turlies. An interesting sidelight on their story is that Deal and Pippenger were the champions last year as Turlington No. 2 walked off with the honors.

West Haven 33, Turlington 27
Starting for the Turlies in the game were Kimmil and Wright on the defense and Mauney and Smith on Offense. No scoring total is available for West Haven.

Syme No. 2 26, Owen No. 1 23
Owen held the lead in a hard fought ball game until the middle of the final quarter when Syme came alive and took over. Offensively it was Hopkins who poured an amazing total of sixteen points through the hoop for Owen. I say amazing because Owen only scored 26 points. This fellow must be good and will bear watching in the future.

Bagwell No. 1 18, Becton No. 1 15
An inspired Bagwell team came through in the final minutes to grab a win against one of the best teams in the dormitory league. Led by Walter Baskett, who scored half of his teams points, Bagwell found its mark and came out on top after a fairly rough second half. J. C. Whiturst and Sid Carter played sterling defensive ball for the victors. On the other side the scoring was pretty evenly divided. Dobbins, Watts and Paine each garnered four points.

Tucker No. 2 39, Alexander No. 1 13
Alexander No. 1 offered little opposition as Tucker No. 2 coasted to an impressive win by the score of 39-13. The losers were simply outmanned and were never in the ballgame. The dead-eye shooting of Jerry Johnson led the winners with eight points, followed by Joe Hamerick with seven. Hamerick and Bud Casler controlled the backboards and Druid Crotts did an outstanding job on defense. Outstanding players for Alexander were Joe Berryhill, John Emerson and Lou Furches. Tucker No. 2 meets their test Wednesday when they come up against a revitalized Bagwell team.

Tucker No. 1 43, Owen No. 2 35
The height of Tucker No. 1 proved to be the controlling factor for the victors. The game was not won without a strong fight from the Owen team. Yvars and Barnhardt led Tucker No. 1 to the victory through the points column while Laughter proved to be the best on defense.

Bagwell No. 2 19, Berry 18
After leading 16-2 at the half, Berry suffered defeat at the hands of a spirited Bagwell team. Edgeron and Moore provided the points for Bagwell while Morgan, Kemper, and Billings tallied for the losers. Bagwell won the game in the last 5 seconds when Patterson stole the ball and passed to Moore who dropped the ball through the net for the win.

MARK CLARK—

ed prominence during the past war as commander of the Fifth Army which conquered Italy. His recent book, "Calculated Risk," has gained wide recognition.

Edward R. Murrow is rated as one of America's most distinguished news commentators. He is an authority on world affairs and is known as a pioneer in the broadcasting field.

Senator Kefauver has gained a reputation as one of the most able men in the U. S. Senate. He is currently chairman of the Senate Crime Investigation Committee. His speech at Chapel Hill will occur shortly after this committee has made its official report.

Senator Saltonstall is one of the most capable men in American public life. He has a long record of service to his native state of Massachusetts and the nation.

These speakers are being sponsored by the Carolina Forum as a public service. The chairman of the organization, Robert Evans, has extended an invitation to the general public to attend free of charge.

are bound to give State a lot of trouble.
Sam the Record Man to Lead Pack
The Wolfpack starting five will probably consist of Ranzino, Horvath, Bubas, Terrell and Brandenburg. Ranzino is still hitting at a twenty point per game clip, and he never fails to add more proof to the already overwhelming evidence that he is truly an All-America. His record breaking 47 points against VPI last Tuesday night attested this.

Paul Brandenburg, the likely starter at the other forward spot, is looking better at each outing, and he is rapidly gaining veteran poise and confidence on the court.

Paul Horvath is in the midst of his best year at State. He is second to Ranzino in scoring for the current season, and he has a cool 40 per cent average from the floor. Horvath's rebound work has been invaluable to the Pack this season, and against Carolina, a team sadly lacking in height, he should have a good night.

All-Southern Vic Bubas has been turning in his usual sterling performance each game. Bubas has fully recovered from the ankle injury which kept him out of action at the turn of the new year, and since his return to action he looks faster and better than ever.

After a slow start, Lee Terrell has come back into the form he showed last season, and Terrell has earned a starting berth despite his deficit in height.

Reserves to See Action
State's reserves, who have meant the difference in many games, will see plenty of action. Forward Bill Kukoy in the true tradition of the numeral 79 set by Warren Cartier, has proved himself to be the man to have in the game when the chips are down.

Bob Cook and Bob Speight add rebound strength to the Pack, and along with Bernie Yurin, who improves with every game, the Wolfpack bench will be loaded with reserve strength.

Promises to be Thriller
The game promises to be a good one in true Big Four tradition, and the Wolfpack will have to pull out all the stops to take this one.

A preliminary scrap between the freshman teams of State and Carolina is slated for 6:30 P.M. The State freshmen will be led by former All-State Kim Buchanan.

No doubt Sam will leave the State Campus and reach even greater heights in pro-ball, or whatever career he undertakes, but the exploits of "Wham Bam Thank You Sam" Ranzino will long be remembered wherever people congregate to discuss basketball.

Leathernecks Pin Pack Strange Outstanding

By JOHN THOMPSON

Coach Al Crawford's wrestlers lost by a score of 23-9 to an undefeated Lejeune team last Saturday night in the Coliseum.

This loss to Lejeune gives the Wolfpack Grapplers a 2-2 record for the first four meets. Big Bill Norris, heavyweight; Ralph Kitteredge, 177 pounder; Martin Sabin, 167 pounder; and Charles Barnhardt, 123 pound All Navy Champion of 1950 led the Marines by getting falls. Doyle Strange, Josh Chamberlain, and Doug Martin won decisions to lead the Wolfpack.

Summary

- 123 pound—Barnhardt (L) pinned Buie 1:39 of second period.
- 130—Strange (S) decisioned Adams (10-3).
- 137—Thompson (L) decisioned Nobbs (5-4).
- 147—Chamberlain (S) decisioned Hess (8-3).
- 157—Martin (S) decisioned Moore (10-3).

Chi's Swamp PEP

By T. E. RICKS

Basketball was slowed up last week as a result of the games that were postponed because of the Wake Forest-State game on Tuesday night. However, the games scheduled for the 18th were played as planned.

Chi's Win Again

The Sigma Chi's racked up their second straight victory when they took PEP 30-13. Although the game stood "tit for tat" (9-9) at the halftime, it was all a Sigma Chi show in the second half. They made 21 of their 30 points, and at the same time they held the PEP's to 4 points. Lofin sparked the Chi victory with 12. Epstein was top PEP man with 4.

Lambda Chi Alpha dropped their first game of the season to TKE (37-26). It was the Teke's second victory. Lumley was high man for the winners with 11 points. Eubanks ran a close second to Lumley by tapping up 10 points for the Lambda Chi squad.

Pickett High Scorer

Pickett's five field goals and one free throw (good for 11 points) were instrumental in the Sigma Nu-PKP game. The Nu's came back after losing their first game to defeat PKP 27-20. Fox was high scorer for PKP again last week with 6 points.

PIKA remains in number one spot in section 1 after their 18 point win over PKT. Ward and Christian, with 10 points each, wrapped up 20 of the PIKA's 29. Barr and Heilig, with 4 each, were good for 8 out of 11 of the PKT points.

Table Tennis Starts

Table tennis preliminaries got into the fraternity spotlight this week. The winners of the preliminaries go to the quarter finals on February 7. The semi-finals will be played off the same night. The final contest will be on the 22nd of February.

Because of the uneven number of fraternities participating, the Delta Sigs had two different matches to play in the prelims. They won their matches against AGR by forfeit, but the PIKA's took them 3-0 in their game. PEP won all three of their matches with the SPE's. So the PIKA's and the PEP's meet in the quarter finals.

CHESTERFIELD LEADING SELLER IN AMERICA'S COLLEGES

BOB CURRAN, Sports Editor

In the January 12 issue of THE TECHNICIAN I made the following statements. "The Wolfpack Basketball Team has up a very impressive record of 14 and one against some of the top basketball talent in the country. When I say top basketball talent, that automatically excludes Wake Forest, even though the Pack was exposed to them in the Dixie Classic. The Carolina 'Playboys' haven't made their annual appearance as yet, or I'd be forced to change that top basketball talent to something more fitting of Tom Scott's team."

"Here at State College we're supposed to have a pretty good reputation for sportsmanship, but if there are any more repeat performances of booing when an opposing ball player shoots a foul shot, our reputation will be about as worthless as Carolina's basketball team."

Zane Robbins, sports editor of THE DAILY TAR HEEL, used those statements to go on the biggest "sour grapes" kick ever seen at Chapel Hill, and they've had some big ones over there. He accused me of hinting that Tom Scott, the Carolina Basketball Coach, isn't capable of producing a winning cage team. He further accused me of name-calling, mud slinging and having no love for UNC. To top everything off "zany" Robbins wrote a discourse on Coach Everett Case, that I will quote parts of.

Before I start quoting, I'd like to get the "zany one" straightened out on a few points. If I was going to hint that Tom Scott wasn't capable of producing a winning basketball team, I'd have reviewed his past record with Carolina. If I was going to go on a name calling jag, I'd have figured out something real cute, like THE DAILY TAR HEEL does when they refer to All-America Sam Ranzino as Mad Sam, or to the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum as the Moosilium and the Cowliseum. And lastly, if I had no love for UNC, I'd keep quiet about the whole thing, and leave the Carolina student body as misinformed as "zany" Robbins left them.

Now to get on with my quotes of "zany" Robbins' column.

"Curran made slight mention of Tar Heel Basketball Coach Tom Scott and hinted that the amiable Kansan isn't capable of producing a winning cage team. Now, that's hardly fair. Give State's beloved Everett Case the average Southern Conference team and give Chancellor Robert House the present Wolfpack outfit and then blow the whistle. A coach must have good material to produce a consistent winner, you know."

Speaking of Case, it might be well to add that the gray-thatched Wolfpack mentor hasn't added as much to Southern basketball as some like to think. Sure, he's a great talent-baiter and has an uncanny ability of luring hardwood axes to State, but as a coach just what has he done?"

Lack of space forces me to omit just exactly what Everett Case has done since coming to State College, but any reliable Record Book will show that Everett Case is the greatest thing that has ever happened to Southern basketball. On second thought, check the rest of this paper, and I'll list the basketball achievements of Everett Case, since coming to State College.

I'll quote two more paragraphs from "zany" Robbins' column, and I'll call it quits for good. "Case, N. C. State, and North Carolina in general have drawn considerable fire from rival coaches because of the unbearable hostile crowd that attends the Wolfpack games and because of Mr. Case himself.

"There would be little use to deny that fact the State has a great basketball team. ("zany" has just made one of the few true statements of his career.) The Wolfpack is without doubt one of the finest outfits in the nation—but it would have a much finer name were it not for the rowdiness of its fans and coach."

Last year in the final few minutes of the State-Carolina basketball game at Woolen Gymnasium, the game had to be halted while the court was cleared of programs and other refuse thrown there by the cultured student body of Carolina. And "zany" had the nerve to call the State fans rowdies.

That's about all I'll quote from "zany."

What say tomorrow night when our cultured cousins from the big city come over to the Coliseum to see their team in action, that we give them a royal welcome, okay? This way will eliminate all future writings of "zany" and our cousins from the Hill can rest their cultured eyes. Before I call it quits, I want to let you in on a little secret. I just checked the word "zany" in the dictionary, and it means "clown" or "fool." What an appropriate name.

Circus Comes To Coliseum; Carolina Tar Heels Perform

By PAT DOWNEY

Tomorrow night Coach Tom Scott of UNC will once more bring his hapless Tar Heels into the Moosilium (as our beloved brethren from the Hill have so quaintly tagged our pride and joy) to try to end a streak of losses handed them by the high flying Wolfpack, that now totals ten in a row.

The Tar Heels have a team that is capable of ending that streak, even though their Conference record of 4-4 and their overall record of 7 wins and 11 losses does not indicate as much. Many of those losses came at the hands of some of the toughest competition in college basketball, and the team has been plagued by injuries since the beginning of the season.

Tar Heels Gunning for Conference Spot

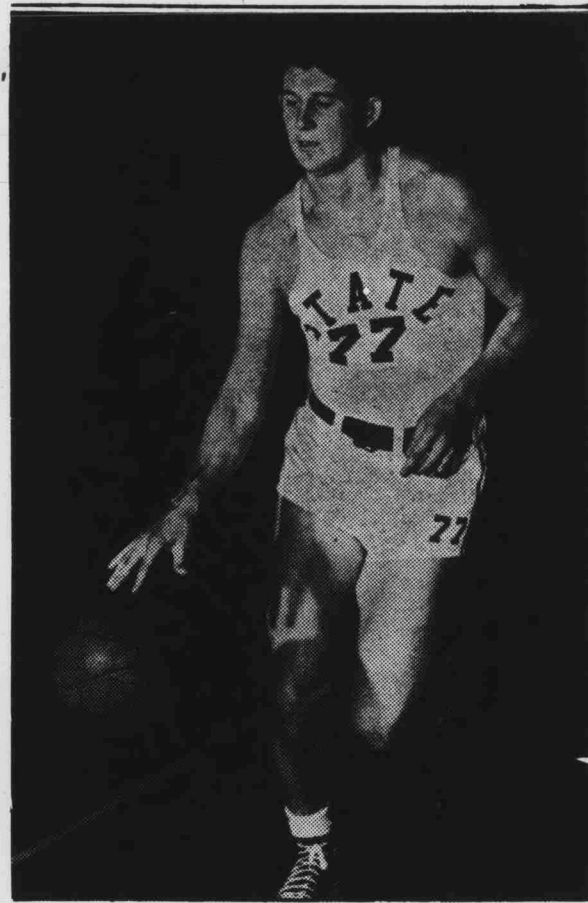

The Tar Heels will have more incentive to win, since they are battling for a berth in the Southern Conference Tournament. They are now tied for ninth place in the loop standings, and another loss right now will put them closer to the bottom.

The Carolina team is by no means lacking in individual talent. State fans will long remember guard Howard Deasy for his 19 point performance in the Coliseum last year. Deasy has a very fine set shot, and can rebound with the best of them. And despite his towering 6'6" height he can drive in with the grace of a gazelle.

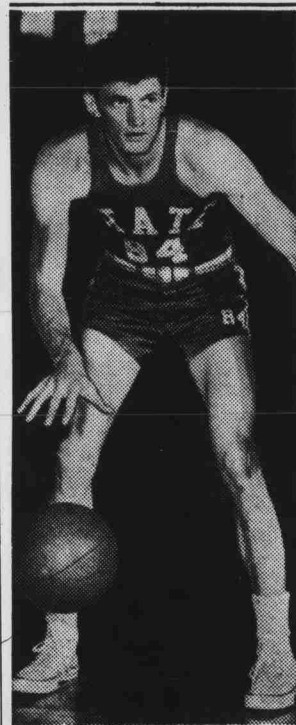

Deasy's partner at guard is doubtful, since co-captain Charlie Thorne is recuperating from an ankle injury, and he will see only limited action. Dick Patterson will probably get the nod at the other guard position, although his regular spot is at forward.

with a shoulder separation, but he has recovered, and will see plenty of action.

The Tar Heels will miss the services of co-captain Hugo Kappler, scoring ace from Brooklyn, N. Y. who has been sidelined with a broken wrist. Replacing Kappler up front will be Vince Grimaldi, last year's freshman star. Teaming up with Grimaldi at forward will probably be big Jack Wallace, and both of these capable performers

It Took Ten Years And One All-America; Ranzino Sets New Conference Scoring Mark

By PAUL HODUL

It wasn't too long ago when Coach Case first entered the portals of North Carolina State College. At the outset of his dramatic career the reaction of the students and the surrounding populace was one of anticipation and bewilderment upon seeing the various shapes of homo-sapiens that journeyed with him to the West Raleigh Campus.

It wasn't more than a few months however, when everybody realized that the Wolfpack mentor had accomplished the impossible. He had molded the Wolfpack into a national power, feared by the traditional basketball powers the country over.

Dickey Sets First Record

A necessary cog in this sudden rise was a scrappy red-headed, dynamic personality named Dick Dickey. Game after game Dick proved his true greatness as a basketball player. The ultimate height of all this colorful playing were two All-America selections, and innumerable records that seemed unbreakable. When the red headed wonder finished his playing last year, he established a scoring record of 1,644 points for a four year career.

As would be expected in true story book fashion the amazing did happen, and this sensational record was broken.

It took the talent and poise of another truly great ballplayer to accomplish this feat. Last Saturday night (no one seemed to notice it in the excitement), but All-America Sam Ranzino broke Dick's scoring record of 1,644 points when he scored 14 points against the La-Salle Explorers to bring his total to 1,658.

The following Tuesday against V. P. I. Sam again set another record. This time it was a 47 point total for one game, which is the highest any player has ever scored in the Southern Conference. The old record of 45 points was set by George Glamack of North Carolina University in 1941.

The struggle for these honors was not an easy one for Sam to accomplish. In each game he plays he is always guarded by the opponents top defensive man. Even though the odds have been great at times, Sam has managed to keep his furious pace.

Sam could be termed as a natural on the hardwood. Everything he does seems to indicate that he was born a basketball player. Shots that would be difficult for many
