Thornhill Plays For Greeks "Big Event"

The Annual Mid-Winters Dance, featuring Claude Thornhill, will be held tonight and tomorrow night in Frank Thompson Gym and Memorial Auditorium.

Termed the "biggest event of the year for fraternity men" by Hank Odom, Inter-Fraternity Council president, the dances are sponsored by the Greek letter fraternities through the cooperation of the IFC.

Dick Phelps is chairman of the dance committee and has announced the schedule for the big social affair.

In Gym Friday

Thornhill will make his initial appearance Friday night at 8 o'clock when he plays for an informal dance in Frank Thompson Gym. This dance is for fraternity men and their dates only, because of the limited space in Thompson Gym.

The Mid-Winter program will end Saturday with a formal dance in the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium at 8 p.m. Guest bids for this dance may be secured from any fraternity member.

A free concert Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Textile Auditorium will give the general public an opportunity to hear Thornhill.

Dance Committee members are: Shep Griswold, Howie Golenpaul, Johnny O'Briant, Dewey Evand, J. B. Stewart, Don Harkey, James Plemmons, Frank Perkins, and Grady Tharrington.

Member Dearth Causes Merger As AIEE And IRE Join Hands

An effort to end a duplication of student activities has resulted in a decision to coordinate the activities of the student chapters of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the Institute of Radio Engineers.

The organizations, both dealing with electrical engineering and open to students of the EE Department, are national societies. They have operated independently of each other in the past. Because of the continued decrease in enrollment, the department concluded that it could not support two organizations to the full benefit of the students.

On January 31 the societies held a joint-meeting, at which time it was suggested that they merge to form a joint student chapter. A committee was appointed to draw up a constitution which was to be modeled after one used at several other schools. The committee members are: Doug Groce, Chairman, Charles Saunders, William Burney, Wallace Smith, and George Ferrell.

Immediate Merger

The committee is scheduled to present their proposed constitution to the two student groups on March 6. At this meeting they are expected to recommend an immediate merger. March 6 is the scheduled date for election of new officers, and it is hoped that these officers will be elected to serve a joint chapter.

If the plan is carried out it will have a definite purpose to fill. This purpose: To better benefit each student in the department. Leaders of the movement feel that the joint chapter will enjoy a better turn-out for meetings, will be able to obtain better speakers, and will result in better all-round efficiency. They believe that it will make for a stronger organization in membership, leadership, and finances.

Don't Join Up Now; Draft Story Changed

The Selective Service has laid down a formal ruling under which many thousands of college and high school students will have a chance to enlist in the service of their choice even after their summer school term ends next summer, according to an Associated Press report from Washington.

A 30-day postponement of induction is provided for these students.

Under law, inductions of students called up while they are in school are postponed automatically until the end of the school year. But at that time they would be called immediately.

The new policy provides that a student, even if he has been ordered for induction will be allowed to apply for a 30-day holdup of his induction notice, stating his purpose to enlist. The postponement would begin at the end of the school year.

Then, at the end of the 30 days, his draft board would make a check. If the student had enlisted, his case would be closed. If he hadn't, he would be drafted.

Selective Service officials said they feel the new policy will allow the student to devote his entire final month to his studies, instead of spending time scouting around recruiting stations. Many students

Student Scalpers' Scalps Scalded In Purge Of Student Book Sales

The Campus Government Tuesday scheduled a trial for three students accused of scalping tickets at the State-Duke basketball game here and postponed action in the case of three other students charged with allowing non-students to use their athletic books.

Seven Council members and two faculty members were appointed to a jury to try the scalping offenders whose names were turned over to college authorities after City, County and State plainclothesmen allegedly caught them in the act of selling tickets above Athletic Department prices.

Names of defendants in both cases will be permanently withheld for their protection.

Action in the cases of the owners of the three athletic books was postponed until the Investigations Committee determines the exact nature of the alleged violation. It was not clear whether the students were charged with selling their athletic books or whether they only allowed the non-students to use them free of charge.

Shun Jury Duty

The Prosecuting Attorney and two Jurors went on record as disqualifying themselves for jury duty if they were scheduled to try the athletic book cases. The Prosecuting Attorney declared that he would be forced to withdraw because "I always take my girl to basketball games on student books."

One Juror said that he could not consciously convict a student for transferring his athletic book because he thought the "students have been given a raw deal on seating." The second Juror stated he would withdraw only if the trial involved the use of a student's book by another student. He did not think it would be fair to punish three students without punishing "all 4,000 violators (the entire student body)."

Trial Secret

The trial of the scalping defendants, which will be secret, is set for Wednesday, February 21. The Court will return the verdict to the Campus Government Council with a recommended penalty. The Council cannot change the verdict, but in event a defendant is found Question: The Student Government has done away with the student rating this year. What is your opinion of the student rating of teachers?

William D. Holt, Jr.
Sr. Tex.

I think the student rating of teachers-program could be one of the greatest ideas ever installed at

State College if it were presented in the correct manner. If a solution could be found where the students could actually see some results, their attitude might change immensely. However, the manner in which it is presented now makes it totally ineffective.

Richard Pitts
Soph. I.E.

I think the student rating system is a good thing and should be continued. However, the students should realize that it is a serious matter and rate the professors accordingly.

Jim Cooke
Soph. Civil Eng.

I think that the student rating system of instructors is a good thing to have. It gives the student a chance to express his feelings about the instructors, and it also lets the instructors see themselves as students see them.

Haywood Henderson
Soph. M.E.

I believe that the student rating system can be a great asset to the school. If the great majority of an instructor's students think him poor, there is obviously something lacking in the instructor or his method of instruction.

Bill Caddell

I think the rating system should be conducted every year. It gives the student a chance to express his

It Pays To Look Well

Student's Stores?

There are two facts which the committee investigating the Student Supply Stores will undoubtedly unearth. They are that the profits of the stores are substantial, but cannot be greatly reduced; and that these profits are not employed to the direct benefit of the student body.

It is doubtful that the prices of many items sold by the Mop Ups and the Book Store can be reduced. Prices for many articles are Fair Traded and the retailer, in this case the Mop Up, is bound to maintain them. Certainly, other retailers in Raleigh handling similar merchandise will protest price reductions as discriminatory.

The profits from the stores are supposed to be used for scholarships. IFC President Hank Odum has charged that after he failed in an attempt to win one of these scholarships he learned the $20,000 dollars from Mop Up profits had been put into the field house. You don't know anyone who holds a scholarship paid for by the Mop Up, and neither do we. If Mop Up profits cannot be reduced, they certainly can be put to work for the student body.

We suggest, and hope that you will demand, that the profits from the Student Supply Stores be turned over to the College Union where they will be used to the direct benefit of every member of the faculty and student body.

Let's make it the "Student's" Supply Store and make it work for all of us!

Fox In The Dark

We have a bit of news for the 200 students who enjoy their evening meal in the cafeteria's Grill Room every evening when it is not being used for some other purpose.

To those of us who have recently learned the true meaning of the phrase, "A stab in the dark," as we fumbled for our franks and beans with only the light of feeble candle flame to guide our efforts, there is news.

Harry Stewart, cafeteria manager and one-time favorite target of H. H. Scheviak's incisive editorials, done it a-purpose. Foxy Harry figures that we won't sit around after our meal to read the evening paper if there isn't any light to read by.

It won't work. Our thirst for knowledge is far too great and the urgency of the news too insistent to permit us to be put aside so easily. We'll out-fox you, Foxy, and bring a flashlight with us next time.

Questions and Suggestions

The vote taken to gauge campus interest in an honor system has not been tallied, but it has already brought to light considerable confusion as to the value of the idea.

One remark often repeated is, "I don't cheat and I won't cheat, but I am not going to turn in my friends who do."

Such a remark indicates a belief in personal honor but not in an honor system. If this individual, thinking only in terms of his personal honor, votes for an honor system, it will fail, for the strength of the system is in its enforcement. If this student will not "turn in his friends," the honor system will end in chaos.

Other students have remarked that they would support an honor system, but would not vote it in themselves. Their vote to support an honor system in the present balloting should actually be counted as a negative vote. These individuals have not grasped the role of the system as a phase of student self government. Let them go elsewhere to find an authoritarian college administration willing to do all of their thinking for them.

One important criticism of establishing an honor system here is that it won't put an end to "the poop." Some students regard the gathering of advance information on quizzes in the same light as outright cheating. Certainly, if a professor insists on giving the same quizzes year after year "the poop" is as effective as a copy of the quiz stolen from the professor's office.

Some schools require instructors to place all of their old quizzes on file in the library where they may be studied by all students. This virtually forces the instructor to make out new exams every time he teaches a course. Such a system might be an important adjunct to an honor system at State College.

Forthcoming, An Answer

Last week the TECHNICIAN printed a letter written in Korea by an embattled Marine who still wonders just what he's fighting for.

To help us all to find that answer, the TECHNICIAN will soon begin a series of articles on communism written with the cooperation of Dr. V. Pikner of the Economics Department. Dr. Pikner will draw on his many years of personal experience and study in presenting his analysis of the current crisis.

To learn the true picture of the Korean people the TECHNICIAN has written to Charlie Kim, former president of the Cosmopolitan Club who returned to his homeland in December. We can only hope that Charlie will be able to answer our letter and describe his people's situation for us.

A Big Order

The Council members who disqualified themselves for Jury duty in the recent athletic book trials did so for good reason. All three admitted violating the same rule.

Their action brings to attention a situation that is accepted by the Student Body and Athletic Department as matter-of-fact. Officials admit that strict enforcement of the transfer rule is impracticable.

In the past the Athletic Department has kept books of violators. There is no reason to expect that CG can stop a practice that the Athletic Department has been unable to cope with by making an example of three students.

Waltz Me Again Willie Is Busy Saturday Tune

The dancing instruction sponsored jointly by the College Union and the Inter-Dormitory Council are proving to be very popular, reports Jerry Erdahl, College Union Director.

"This program is indicative of future plans for the Union even though we do not yet have a building," says Erdahl. "We are always interested in new ideas that the students might have for programs that will add to the enrichment of their school life."

Two hundred and sixty students attended the second instruction period last Saturday, said Erdahl. The classes are given from 4:00 p.m. to 5:15 p.m. every Saturday afternoon in Frank Thompson Gym and will continue weekly through March 10.

Mrs. Ruth McSwain, Physical Education instructor at Hugh Morison High School, is the dancing instructor. She is assisted by a student dance committee of which John Fulton and Wade Foy are co-chairmen.

Debaters Tour East For Direct Clashes

The State College debate team left Raleigh Tuesday for three inter-sectional direct clash debates with teams at Rutgers University Wednesday and at the University of Pennsylvania and Swarthmore College Thursday.

The team, accompanied by Prof. Edwin H. Paget, is composed of Rachel Ammons and Bruce Roberts, both of Mars Hill. Miss Ammons is within one vote of national individual ranking in direct clash debating, and Roberts is within two votes of that honor.

Professor Paget, director of debating at State College, said the debate topic on the trip will be "Resolved That the Non-communist Nations Should Form a New International Organization."

This series marks the seventh consecutive year that Professor Paget has taken State College teams to Rutgers, Swarthmore, and the University of Pennsylvania for the February debates.

No results of the debates were available at press time.

NEW FRIENDS?

Almost everybody likes to meet new friends—new girl friends, new boy friends—but often it is hard to know how.

Here is a pleasant, easy, interesting way to meet new friends. Look through the first issue of THE GIRL FRIEND Magazine, now on the newsstands. You'll find the pictures of twenty-two young women and twenty young men, who tell you all about themselves and why they'd like to hear from new friends. One of them may be the new friend you are looking for.

There will be an appropriate program with fellowship and refreshments. Organizations from the girls' colleges in Raleigh are being invited.

Ag Engineering

The American Society of Agricultural Engineering is now sponsoring a drive to increase its membership. All students in agricultural engineering, Freshmen and Sophomores included, are urged to come out and take part in the meetings. The meeting time has recently been changed from 7:30 to 7:00 each Thursday evening. These meetings are held in room 300 of the Agricultural Engineering building.

Honor System Yeas Shy Of Favorable Vote

Dissatisfaction marked Tuesday's CG Council discussion of the Honor System voting and last week's visit of L. L. Ivey, Student Supply Stores manager.

Ken Hansen reported that only 78 per cent of the engineering school voted support of an honor system with only 62 per cent of the textile students and 67 per cent of the design students indicating their support. Results from the three remaining schools were not complete.

Council members seemed agreed that this vote did not favor the installation of an honor system. Hansen remarked, "We shouldn't start unless we can get 90 per cent of the students behind it." The Council will take no action to dispose of the question, until results on the voting are complete.

Dissatisfaction over the answers given by L. L. Ivey when interviewed last week was apparent as the Council voted approval of a motion to allow the Council's investigating committee to study the Mop Up's operations. President McCracken termed the advancement of this motion a "legitimate request."

Additional questions put to Ivey last week involved laboratory kits, scratchpads and profits.

Laboratory Kits

Laboratory kits came in for a discussion as Ivey declared students do not get a discount by buying a whole lab kit. These kits, he explained, were made up in the summer according to requests made by departments. Also, to sell kit items separately would mean very long lines during the registration rush.

Ivey emphasized that he would be glad to make adjustments on kits where students do not need all the kit items. However, he said that adjustment requests should be held until after the big quarterly rush. These adjustments will be either refunds for each returned item or an exchange for another store item of comparable value.

Scratchpads

Ivey also had an answer for the query of why high quality paper is used for scratchpads rather than the cheaper pulp paper. Manufacturers, he said, are able to sell all the high quality paper they want to and, consequently, manufacture little pulp paper into scratchpads.

Ivey did not know what the profits of the Student Supply Stores were last year nor where they went. He did say that $12,000 of this year's profits are labeled for the new tennis courts.

He said the YMCA is paid $2,500 a year for rent of the Student Supply Store in the YMCA building.

Commendations to the 75 students who each contributed a pint of blood in the Raleigh blood bank drive, were extended by Ralph McCallister whose CG committee organized the recruiting drive on the campus. He stated that Bagwell, Becton and Berry dorms had been especially active in surpassing the school's goal of 50 pints.

BOB CURRAN, Sports Editor

Before I make my semi-annual statement about the Carolina-State basketball game, I'd like to review the past weeks happenings. The Pack lost to Dook. Well they didn't exactly lose, but to read the papers last Sunday, set me to wondering. Groat outscored Ranzino, Dook stayed within ten points of the Pack, which makes two moral victories for the Blue Devils. Thank goodness they still pay off on the final score. As for Groat outscoring Ranzino, he sure did. Anything I could ever write would not take away or add to the great playing of Dick Groat, but without Groat the Blue Devils would really be hungry. Even with the brilliant Groat, they don't get the game of winning basketball too well.

Tuesday night the Pack sort of evened up for the shel-lacking they took from Louisville a week or so back. Ranzino, Bubas, Speight and Horvath scored a total of 82 points between them, which is fair in any man's league. When the game ended three of them were still going strong, so the Tar Heels are liable to be in for a lot of scoring tomorrow night. With Co-Captain Hugo Kappler back in the Carolina line-up, the Pack is going to need a lot of scoring to keep that winning streak intact. Right now the victory streak stands at eleven, but to make it an even dozen will be tough.

With the departure of Darrell Royal to Tulsa, and Jim Gill to the Hill, Coach Beattie Feathers' coaching staff is left a bit short. Undoubtedly another coach or two will have to be hired. Why not keep the job in the family, and hire former Wolfpack star Gwynn Fletcher? Fletcher played for the Pack for three seasons, and scouted and coached for another two, so he should be very familiar with Coach Feathers' different systems. If he isn't, the Athletic Department is going to have a tough time finding somebody that is. He'll not only be a popular selection as far as the players are concerned, but also with the students and alumni as well. And when you can keep the student body and the alumni happy at the same time, you've got it made.

Each year about this time, I make my annual appeal to the Athletic Department about moving the State-Carolina basketball game from Woolen Gymnasium to the Coliseum. So once again I'll make it. Why not give the student body of this school a break, and bring that game over here? For the past four years the State student body has had to make the trip to Chapel Hill to see the State-UNC football game, and this coming season will make it five in a row. The reason given for this is that Keenan Stadium holds about twice as many people as does Riddick Stadium. William Neal Reynolds Coliseum holds about 12,500 people, and it will be a cold day in Hades when they get that many people in Woolen Bandbox.

As a closing thought, I'll leave you with this in mind. Next week at this time, it will either be an even dozen for Everett Case, or I'll be heading north with Zane Robbins of THE DAILY TAR HEEL chasing me.

Epstein Leads PEP; Sigma Chi Undeclared

By T. E. RICKS

Epstein took the weekly scoring honors for the second week in succession when he led his team to victory with 15 big points. The P.E.P. boys out-played the Theta Chi's (26-15). Hux was top man for the losers with 8.

As a result of their game, the S.P.E.'s and the Nu's stand tied for second spot in Section III. The fast Nu team out-shot the S.P.E. men 30-16. Foster led both squads with 9 points, and Washburn of S.P.E. made good on 6. The two teams both have a 2-2 record.

Pika Nips KA

Pika came back after their first defeat of the season last week to tag K.A. by an edge of 11 points, which was contributed by Ward.

Miller of K.A. came in second on scoring with 8.

Even action throughout the game spelled victory for the S.A.E. team, who trounced P.K.P. 24-8. The winners tapped up 12 points in each half, at the same time holding their opponents to 4 points per half. Webster of S.A.E. was good for 13, and Fox of P.K.P. contributed 4, half of his team's points.

Chi's Top Pi's

Sigma Chi remains undefeated in Section II. Their 33-21 spark against Sigma Pi marked their fourth straight win. But LeGrand from the losing team took the game honors with 10 points. Buie contributed the edge for the winners.

In a game that set a new team scoring record for the season, A.G.R. spilled the P.K.T.'s 41-15. It

What Will Scott Do To Stop Case's Wolfpack?

By PAT DOWNEY

The Wolfpack invades Chapel Hill tomorrow night, and many sport fans are wondering what sort of strategy Coach Tom Scott will have cooked up for Ev's boys.

Coach Scott has been rather unsuccessful so far when it comes to beating State. Last year he tried a zone defense leaving Joe Harand free to roam and shoot at will, while his defense concentrated on the remaining State players. That bit of strategy backfired, for the "Butcher" dropped in 13 points that night.

Tried it Again

Carolina tried the same thing again this year with some success. Bobby Speight was the guard left free this time, and for some reason Bob could not buy a basket.

Coach Case had the remedy for this situation in the form of Lee Terrill. Lee replaced Speight in the lineup and proceeded to fire away. He sank five out of his first six shots from the floor and finished the night with 13 points.

It is doubtful that the Har Heels will try a defense that leaves one man free tomorrow night because the State bench is loaded with men that can score. Coach Case can substitute until he finds a red-hot combination.

Full Court Press

If Carolina should use a zone defense they can look for a full court press from State in retaliation. State's press has been very effective against Carolina. On one occasion the Wolfpack pressed the Chapel Hillians for forty minutes, and in that game the Tar Heels had difficulty getting the ball past the mid-court stripe.

In this year's game in the Coliseum the Carolina players were bothered a great deal by the close guarding game. They rushed their passes, double dribbled, traveled, and made many other mistakes that hurt their cause tremendously.

Coach Scott will no doubt have a scheme to use against the press. Legal blocks can be set up easily to shake a man loose. The main factor is for the players to remain level-headed, and this is where the Tar Heels have their greatest trouble.

The amiable Thomas has a difficult task before him. The only sure way of stopping State is with a gun. Who knows? Maybe he'll try that!

GUARD EDDIE MORRIS

Guard Eddie Morris, another one of Coach Everett Case's red hot sophomores, has also applied for the guard spot, that will be left open when All-Southern Vic Bubas graduates this June. Morris, who is also a leading candidate on the baseball team, recently made the headlines when he held the nation's leading scorer, Bill Mikvy to seven points, before fouling out. Morris is from Winston-Salem, N. C., and he was an All-State star at R. J. Reynolds High School.

Bagwell Defeated By Turlington 27-17; Vetville Bests Berry In Overtime Thriller

Each week another of the charmed circle takes its initial dive into the beaten class and out of the charmed circle of the unbeaten. This week was no exception as Bagwell No. 1 felt the sting of old man Law of Averages. Playing without their star, Brackett, the boys from the top of the hill could not get started. Jim Welles tried to take up the slack but it was just too much. Thus, only two teams now adorn the unbeaten circle, and as this paper goes to press even that may be changed. The final score of the Bagwell-Turlington game was 27-17 in favor of the Turlies.

As for Turlington it was a really joyous night. Their victory placed them in a tie with Bagwell for first place in section No. 4. Probably the most deciding factor in the game was the superior height advantage enjoyed by the Turlies. This enabled them to control both backboards and thus came the victory. Outstanding players for the Turlies were Reavis with ten points, and Saville and Blue with four points each.

Vetville 29 Berry 25

Berry and Vetville hooked up in a real battle the other night and it was the Vets that had the top score when the final gun went off. At the end of regulation play the score stood all tied up at 26-26. Immediately after the start of the overtime period Vetville sank two quick goals and that was the ball game. The final score, Vetville 29-Berry 25. High scorers for Berry were Dick Kemper and Dick Jewitt each scored eight points.

Welch 31 Bagwell 20

Welch continued on unbeaten with a decisive triumph over a game Bagwell No. 2 team. After building up a 9-0 lead early in the game, Welch coasted to an easy 31-20 victory.

Using a fast break to the best of their advantage, Welch just outran their rivals. C. Price, J. Moore and E. Harbelt were the leading scorers for Welch with 12, 12, and 6 points respectively. Leading Bagwells belated second half attack was Willy Patterson who rang up 9 points.

Tucker No. 1 20 Becton No. 1 19

After building up a lead of 15-7, Tucker suddenly lost it's shooting eye and Becton came on to knot the count. From this point on it was all defense, with each team getting short lived leads. When the final tally came in it was Tucker by one point. It was a tough one for Becton to lose as it was their second loss by only one point and left them out of the running for the championship. Jack Alley a substitute center for the Becton team was the hero of the second half spurt that was almost enough to turn victory into defeat. Alley ended up with six points to his credit, thus giving him high scoring honors for the Becton outfit. The scoring for the Tuckerites was pretty evenly divided among all the players, with David Crofts, Bud Casler and Bill Price leading the attack. That game was Tucker's third win in four starts and definitely puts them in the running for the title of champions.

Syme No. 1 2 Alexander No. 2 0

Syme No. 1, the only other undefeated team on campus besides Welch, had a pretty easy time of it when they hung up victory number five. The boys from Alexander No. 2 failed to show up for the game and it went down in the books as
