NORTH CAROLINA STATE COLLEGE

State-Villanova

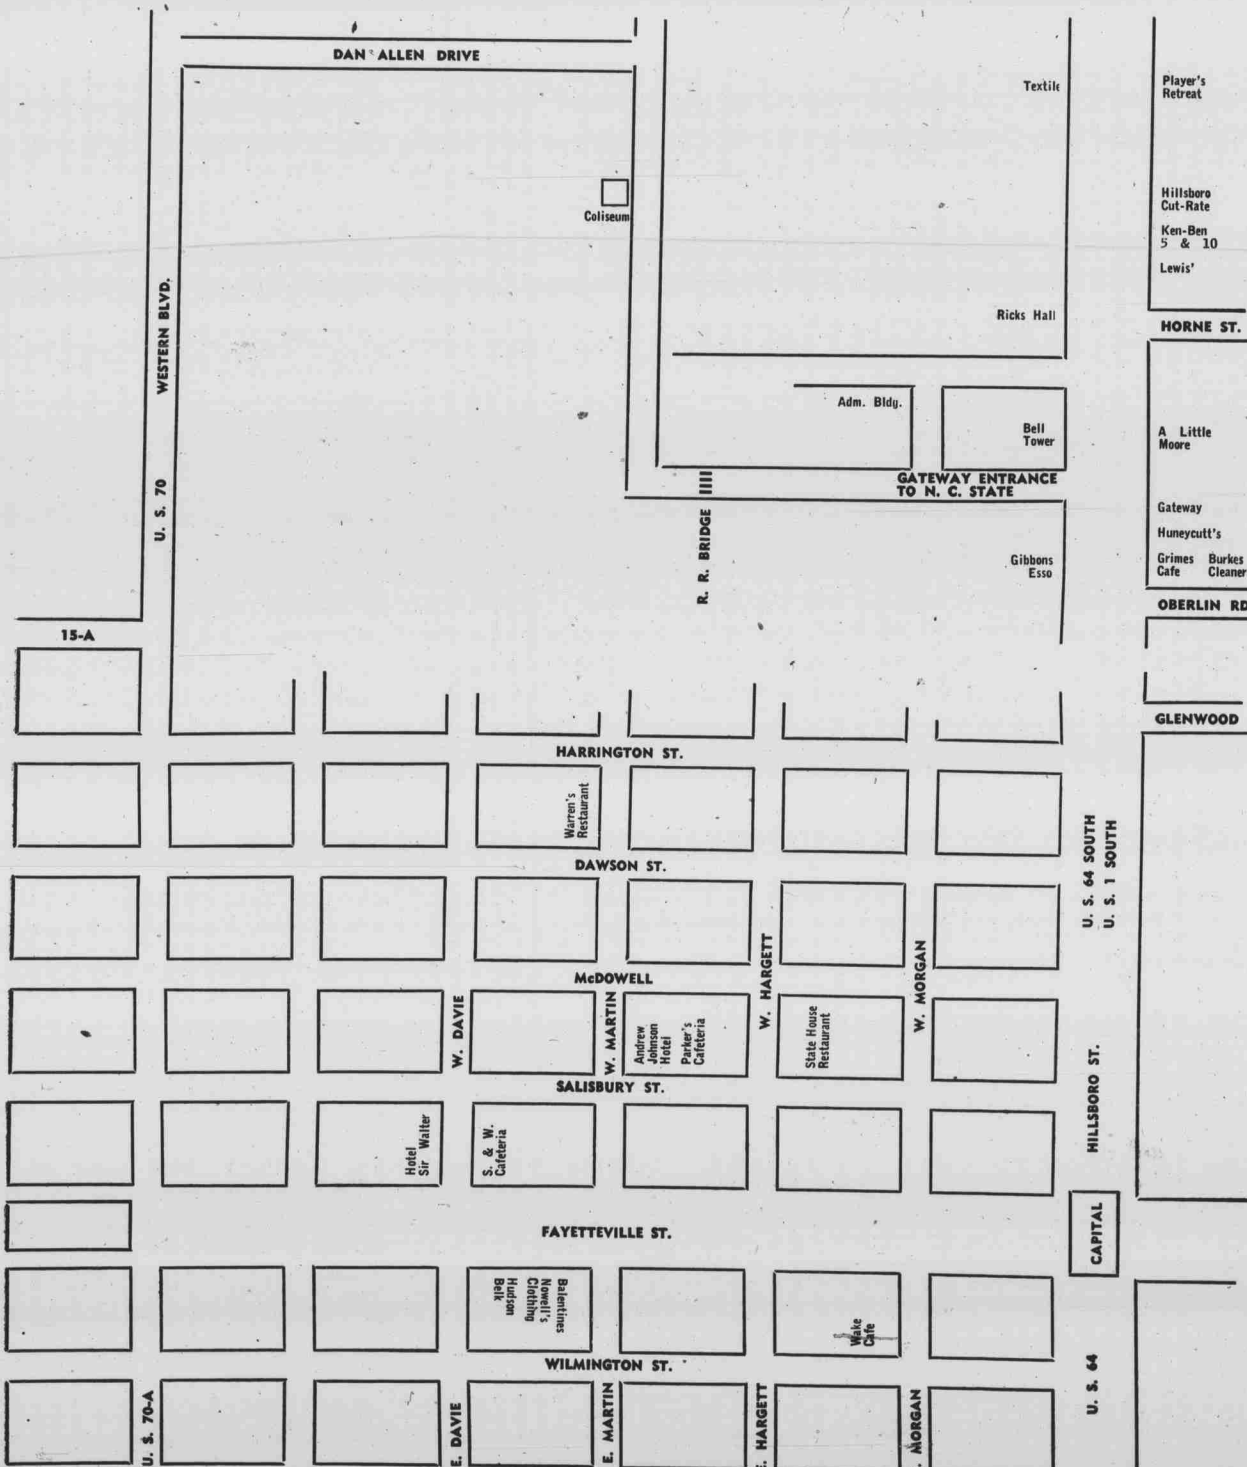

For the third time this season, State College's Wolfpack basketball squad will be faced with the rugged Villanova Wildcats' attack. Villanova has two wolf skins in their lockers now, and with Ranzino, Horvath, and Bubas out of NCAA action next Tuesday in the Coliseum, Villanova will probably be favored to make it number three.

State Drops NIT Game To Strong Seton Hall

Dukes Gets Credit For Pirate's Win

With a stretch that would make a hungry giraffe envious, Walt Dukes reached out and stopped State in virtually every rebound attempt in last night's heartbreaking 71-59 loss to Seton Hall in the NIT in New York.

The lanky Dukes wasn't the point maker for the Seton Hall Pirates, but his superior length told the story in both the rebound department and in defensive play.

State's Long Men Out

After Horvath, Speight, and Goss left the game on fouls, Dukes had a field day off the boards. There wasn't a State man who could out-reach the lanky Pirate.

State got off to a fast start in the opening minutes and it looked like the game was going to run true to form. But the unpredictable sophomore club from South Orange had other ideas about the outcome.

After a slow start, the Pirates found the range from outside and started a methodical point-tallying spree. Their full-court press didn't worry the Pack, but those long sets from outside broke the back of the favored Statemen.

Couldn't Buy One

After Seton Hall closed up the scoring to a 37-all mark with two seconds left in the first half, State came back in the second half with a heavy barrage at the nets.

But, for the boys from West Raleigh, it was a hopeless cause. They couldn't buy a basket in the second half.

Walt Dukes was the big difference in the contest, but State's complete inability to hit from anywhere on the court in the second half tied the string on the Seton Hall victory bag.

The Pack returns home next Tuesday to meet the Villanova Wildcats in the Eastern Quarter-final round of the NCAA. Villanova has taken two games from the Pack this season, and is favored to take number three.

State will be playing without the services of three seniors, Bubas, Ranzino, and Horvath, but Coach Case has a bench full of tough sophomores and juniors to throw against the Wildcats.

Tickets! Tickets!

The Athletic Department announced Monday that all tickets for the NIT and NCAA games in New York must be purchased in New York. Headquarters for both tourneys will be at the Paramount Hotel where either Willis Casey or Allan Nelms will be available. Students are warned that they must have their registration cards and their athletic

Defensive Ace

GUARD VICTOR BUBAS

State's great defensive ace, with an offensive punch, is Vic Bubas. Vic is one of three seniors on the squad who is playing his final ball games for State College in the NIT in New York. Vic is ineligible for participation in the NCAA show which is scheduled for Raleigh March 20.

Math Prof Writes Technical Papers

Dr. Jack Levine, professor of mathematics in the School of Engineering at State College, has recently written several technical papers which are to be published in the Proceedings of the American Mathematical Society.

In March Issue One paper, entitled "Collineations in Weyl Spaces of Two Dimensions," is expected to appear in the March issue of the Journal, and two others will come out later in the year. These are entitled "Collineations in Generalized Spaces" and "Motions in Linearly Connected Spaces of Two Dimensions." They are the most recent in a long, impressive list of publications to the author's credit.

Dr. Levine personally presented the second of these papers at the International Mathematical Congress, held last August at Harvard University. Officials said this is evidence of high professional recognition since his audience included distinguished mathematicians from all over the world. It was the first such Congress in many years, and was held to provide an interchange of information and the presentation of new research which marked significant developments in the study of mathematics.

Design Winner

ROBERT SAWYER

Robert Sawyer of Raleigh, above, a senior in the School of Design at North Carolina State College, won a regional award of $250 in a contest for a small house design sponsored by the National Association of Home Builders and Architectural Forum, the Magazine of Building. His entry into the competition was his first attempt to design a structure for merchant builders.

A native of Darien, Wis., and a veteran of World War II, the 28-year-old Sawyer began his study of architecture at State College in 1946.

He is married to the former Miss Ray Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Dixon of 1215 Grace Street, Wilmington. The Sawyers are the parents of two children and reside in West Haven on the State College Campus.

Accidents Costly

Highway accidents cost North Carolinians approximately $64,000,000 last year, the Department of Motor Vehicles reported as it released its 1950 accident summary.

The figure is based on a National Safety Council formula for working out economic loss as the result of highway accidents.

The State chalked up its sixth highest fatality figure of the past 20 years during the year and set new records for accidents and injuries.

As usual, the majority of accidents occurred in rural areas. A total of 18,362 were reported in rural sections of the State with 848 persons killed and 8,972 injured. Accidents in urban areas reached 9,889 and resulted in 141 deaths and 2,380 injuries.

ALL over the collegiate world, students are crying for a faculty rating system and getting it. And here at State we sit by and let our duly-elected Campus Government representatives douse our established system in a "once-every-two year" bucket of cold water.

Filreis To Represent State At Ceramic Meet

Sam Filreis of Brooklyn, N. Y., a senior in the School of Engineering at North Carolina State College, will represent the school in a national student speaking contest at the annual meeting of the American Ceramic Society on April 22 in Chicago, Ill.

Filreis was the winner of a local elimination contest sponsored by the Department of Ceramic Engineering on March 1. In addition to winning the right of presenting his paper at the national meeting, Filreis will receive the price of a round trip railroad coach ticket to the Chicago convention through the courtesy of the ceramic industry. His paper is entitled "Enamel on Aluminum."

The student speaking contest is considered one of the highlights of the annual ceramic meeting and always draws considerable interest. Outstanding papers presented there are usually published.

Four awards are offered in the national competition, each including one year's free membership in the American Ceramic Society, and cash gifts of $15.00, $10.00, and $5.00 for first, second, and third places, respectively.

A tall man, fast and hard to stop under the basket is Bobby Speight. Bob is being touted as the number one man in line for Paul Horvath's job when the graduating senior steps out of the picture after State's NIT try in New York this week. Bob has roamed the court in both forward and pivot positions this season.

All-American

Maybe this one should go on the sports page, but we have an extra inch in the chest measurement since State College's Sam Ranzino started collecting his All-America kudos this week, and we want to pay our respects to State's hero.

To date, Sam has been named on at least five major first team selections. We are proud of you, Sam.

We say good luck to you in the NIT; we wish you could participate in the NCAA; we are really gonna' miss you, Sam!

A Good Name

Many State College students and friends will follow the Wolf-pack to New York for the tournament this week.

Let's remember that we represent N. C. State College, North Carolina, and the South. Let's have a good time, but let's not leave a bad taste in the mouths of New Yorkers.

Remember several incidents which took place recently when other Southern schools went North for athletic events. The students overdid the funfest and caused malicious damage. Naturally, the whole South got a bad name from these few thoughtless students.

When State College students were in New York last year for the tournament, they made an excellent name for themselves. They dumped a lot of money in New York tills, but they also left a lot of goodwill there.

Let's have the same kind of record this year. Have fun, but be wise about it.

To Replace Bubas?

GUARD BERNIE YURIN

It will be a tough job, but Bernie Yurin may be called on the step into the well-worn sneakers of Vic Bubas when Vic hangs up his jersey after the NIT. Bernie has worked in the guard position well this year and should make an able assistant to Lee Terrell in bringing the ball down court.

Attention Students' Wives

Would you like to learn to sew, knit, crochet, embroider, or make articles of leather? We have handicraft classes every Monday night at the West Campus YMCA (for married students and wives) in Verville. If your husband is a student, we would like to get acquainted with you.

Come to the "Y" every Monday night at 8:00 and see the aluminum trays which the class in aluminum etching has just finished. The class in leathercraft is making pocket-books, billfolds, etc. If you are interested, there is still time to get in an order for materials.

We have several people who would be glad to help you with any sewing problems. The sewing machine has a buttonholer which you are welcome to use. Other crafts to be offered this spring will include textile painting, wood craft, weaving, basket weaving, work with plastics and ceramics. Bring your embroidery work or

Scholarship Offered

A one-year scholarship to the Morehead City Technical Institute, a branch of State College, will be offered to a North Carolina high school graduate or senior this spring, Director Edward W. Ruggles of the College's Extension Division announced this week.

The scholarship award, Ruggles said, will cover all tuition and fees for one year of study and will be valued at $300. All applications must be filed with the Director, Morehead City Technical Institute, Morehead City, N. C., by May 1.

Full details, including entry blanks and rules for applying, may be obtained by writing to Ruggles at State College or to the Technical Institute in Morehead City.

The Institute offers three principal curricula: Building construction technology, electrical technology, and internal combustion engines.

Seal Sale Endorsed By Governor Scott

Pointing out that "10 to 12 per cent of all children enrolled in the State's public schools have some handicapping condition," Governor W. Kerr Scott issued a statement this week strongly endorsing the annual Easter Seal Appeal which opened Sunday, February 25, and continues through Easter Sunday. "The North Carolina League for Crippled Children, which sponsors the annual campaign, is doing a magnificent service for handicapped children and adults in our State," the Governor said.

"Under the guidance of the medical Advisory Committee for Cerebral Palsy, the League is making steady progress in its program of education and improvement of facilities for the several thousand handicapped persons in this group."

The Governor said "the League is helping the State Department of Public Instruction in its program of special education for these boys and girls in teacher training courses, purchase of classroom equipment, transportation and other needed assistance.

"I am very happy to endorse the work of the League and urge the citizens of North Carolina to support its program," he said. "You can assure its success and increased services through making a generous contribution to the 1951 Easter Seal Sale."

The League's headquarters in Chapel Hill announced that the 16th annual campaign is planned "for aid to approximately 250,000 handicapped school children in North Carolina" and that committees in all 100 counties will participate in the drive.

The appeal will be made through 250,000 letters to be mailed throughout the State, lily street parades, and through North Carolina's schools which will conduct the sale of school packets and tags.

Youth Hostel Trips Are Cheaper This Year

Hosteling trips to Europe and distant parts of North America, planned for this summer, have been reduced as much as $100, according to Ben W. Miller, executive director of American Youth Hostels. Departure dates, itineraries and costs are contained in the 1951 trip schedule released today by AYH.

As an example of reduced costs, Mr. Miller pointed out that complete expenses for an eight-week trip to France, the Netherlands and Germany will amount to $550 and other foreign itineraries are only a little higher. American trips, six to eight weeks in length, start at $105.

Wide Variety

For 1951 a wider variety of itineraries is planned than in previous years, with 27 different ones scheduled. Fourteen trips are planned for various parts of the North American continent and 13 for Europe. Three of the trips are hiking and the rest are bicycle trips. One of the latter includes ten days of canoeing and another a week of horseback riding.

The popular bicycling trips through New England have been retained, as has the cross-country Rolling Youth Hostel trip, in which a specially equipped car, attached to a crack train of the Canadian National Railways, serves as the hostel while in Canada. Among the new trips in North America is one to the Caribbean area.

New Trips

New trips abroad include one to Italy, Greece and Jugoslavia and one to Israel. Itineraries that are repeated from previous years include the British Isles, France and the low countries and Central Europe.

Groups for hosting trips are composed of eight to ten persons and a trained leader. They follow a planned itinerary and travel the hostel way using train and ship only to cover long distances. They go by bike or on foot, dress plainly, often buy and prepare their own food and spend only about $1.50 a day on food and lodging.

Full information about hosting trips may be obtained from AYH headquarters, 6 East 39th St., New York 16.

More Smokes!
More Women!

Harvard undergrads have petitioned in vain to lift the ban on entertaining female visitors in their dormitory rooms. Their plea to the effect that "if we can't have the girls in our rooms we have to take them out which is something we can't afford," was regretfully turned down by Dean Robert Bender.

However, the Harvard plight has not gone unnoticed. The Cigar Institute of America, a trade organization intent on popularizing perfectos on the campus, had a suggestion to make which could not only "take the sting out of the edict but open up new avenues of pleasure for the undergrads."

The organization sent a quantity of cigars to the boys along with the Kipling admonition which not only pooh-poohed eight o'clock curfews but pretty well relegated women in general into a not so special category. "A Woman Is Only A Woman—But a Cigar Is A Smoke."

At last reports, the cry at Harvard had been changed to "Bring on the dames—and more cigars!"

Doug Martin and Gordon Nobbs placed first and third respectively in their weights in the Southern Conference wrestling tournament at VPI last week.

Martin, a third year man, scored in every match to take the conference championship in the 147 lb. class. Martin has been one of the outstanding men on Coach Al Crawford's mat squad for three seasons, and is expected to lead the squad to more victories next year.

Nobbs is a new man on the State mat. He gained a consolation championship in the 137 lb. division. The scrappy little Nobbs has been a State College favorite all season, and is expected to be a leading contender in his weight next season.

Engineers On The Road

Between March 17 and 24, all seniors in the School of Engineering at State College will leave the campus in cars or aboard chartered buses, bound for centers of industrial development.

Each of seven engineering departments in the School has planned a trip for their graduating seniors. The tours are designed to give them comprehensive views of the industry they are about to enter, and to coordinate their classroom teachings with actual industrial processes.

Coordinated Trips

Their itineraries are crowded with visits to industrial manufacturing plants, research laboratories, construction sites, and other places of interest to professional engineers—each trip coordinated with the course of study of its department.

They will visit a wide variety of industrial plants and laboratories and see a diversity of industrial processes such as are seldom open to public inspection on such a broad, comprehensive scale. Insight will be gained into construction, production, marketing, labor-management relations, and specific industrial problems in each plant visited.

Most of the groups have chartered buses for the occasion, but two of the smaller groups will travel by car. One or two faculty members from each department will accompany their students.

NY Paper Names State In Gambling Charge

Coach-FBI Say No To Fix Story

The NEW YORK MIRROR has recently attempted to associate State's Wolfpack with the New York basketball scandal. The Gotham paper outlined its case in a story headlined, "Basketball Probe by FBI Reported at Carolina State."

The story's lead read, "The FBI reportedly was investigating the North Carolina State University basketball team today, although officials of the school said it was 'news' to them."

Coach-FBI Deny

Assistant Coach "Butter" Anderson scotched these charges by retorting that, "No one is even under suspicion here."

The FBI also denies that the State team is under suspicion or being investigated. George Mulroy, assistant agent-in-charge of the Charlotte office, has stated that he knew nothing of such an inquiry.

Feds Want Sollazzo

The New York gambling expose continues with the arraignment of Salvatore Sollazzo, the ex-convict jeweler now held as the mastermind of the player-bribe ring, for federal income tax evasion.

New York sources indicate that Sollazzo will be tried for both the federal charge and the bribery charge brought by New York's District Attorney Hogan.

The trial of the 10 players from LIU, NYU, and CCNY involved in the fixes has been postponed to April 9.

Name Begin with A, B? Time To Get Lisenses

A few motorists, mostly those with surnames beginning with A or B and whose birthdays fall between January 1 and July 1, already are having to obtain second renewals of their driver's lisenses, the North Carolina Department of Motor Vehicles said recently.

Under the driver's licensing program, lisenses expire on the birthday of the motorists four years after re-issuance. Since the re-issuance program began July 1, 1947, some motorists will not have held their lisenses quite four years, the Department pointed out, but in setting up the re-issuance schedule, it was necessary to place the expiration date on the birthday nearest July 1. Expiration date in 1955 for these motorists will fall on their birthdays exactly four years from the 1951 renewal.

The Department requested that motorists seeking second renewal bring their present lisenses with them to their examining stations.

We'll Sho' Miss You!

PAUL HORVATH. Center

One of State's three graduating hardwooders is All-American Honorable Mention star Paul Horvath. Paul is making his last appearance for the Pack in the NIT basketball show in New York. Paul has been an outstanding scorer and rebound man for State all year. Paul recently climaxed a great year by being chosen as State's most valuable man.

The lisense will be accepted as evidence that the applicant has passed the road test and he will be required to take only the rules of the road, eye and road signs phases of the examination.

Persons whose surnames begin with U, V, W, X, Y and Z should now apply for driver's lisense renewals. Deadline for the group is June 30.

Lines at examining stations, at present, are short and applicants have very little trouble in being waited on.

Cooley Addresses Foreign Students

Congressman Harold D. Cooley of Nashville has urged foreign students in the School of Textiles at State College to become "ambassadors of friendship" and "take back to your native lands a message from America."

The Fourth District representative spoke to more than 400 students from 23 states and 21 foreign countries on Tuesday, March 6. His address was delivered as a feature in the "B. B. Gossett Lecture Series."

Speaking in the new auditorium of the School of Textiles, Representative Cooley suggested that the students from abroad relay this message to their native countries:

One of the highlights of his three year tenure on State College basketball jaunts was the fact that scrappy Lee Terrell got to play against his brother in the NIT last night in Madison Square Garden. Terrell is due for a lot of action when the Pack takes on a tough Villanova team in the NCAA opener in the Coliseum March 20.

Engineers Travel

(Continued from Page 5) the Electrical Engineering Department and the Chemical Engineering Department who will spend nearly a week in that vicinity. The electrical engineering seniors will work a trip to the United Nations headquarters into their schedule, and will also visit the Signal Corps School and Laboratories at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

The group from the Ceramic Engineering Department will center their visits in the vicinities of Trenton, N. J., and Baltimore, Md., with a stop-off at the Bureau of Standards in Washington on the way home.

Mechanical engineering seniors will spend most of their time in Pennsylvania, visiting a few New Jersey and Virginia industrial plants on their southward bound trip.

The industrial engineering seniors will travel near to home. They will make a series of visits to representative industries in the neighboring Virginia and Central North Carolina area, where they will pay particular attention to material handling processes, safety devices, production controls, and lay-out of machinery. Their interest will be centered in the tempo of activity, and in noting the effective coordination between the man and his task, in each of the industries that they visit.

The tour of students in the Geological Engineering Department is in the nature of a field trip to sites of geological interest. They will visit mines and quarries in operation, and other projects of extraction and development of mineral deposits. A member of the geology faculty of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute will guide them on a tour of the general geology of that area.

Cheerleader Jerry Filliciotto has announced that there will be a big pep rally in New York if State wins its opener against Villanova next Tuesday night.

The rally will be held Thursday afternoon March 23 at 3:30 near the Army recruiting station just off Times Square. Filliciotto asks that every State man wear all the red and white he can. He also requests that all musicians bring along their instruments.

W. L. Clevenger Research Fellowship Created By The N. C. Dairy Processing Industry

The dairy processing industry of North Carolina has created the "W. L. Clevenger Research Fellowship in Dairy Manufacturing" to provide a graduate training program in the School of Agriculture at State College.

Announcement of the establishment of the fellowship, to be supported by an endowment of an estimated $10,000, was made March 9 by L. L. Ray, director of foundations at the college.

Formal presentation of the endowment, which will be administered by the North Carolina Dairy Foundation, Inc., was made to Chancellor Harrelson by James D. Kilgore of Raleigh, who represented the donors.

In making the announcement, Ray said that the fellowship will offer graduate students an opportunity for advanced study in the field of dairy manufacturing and that further research investigations will result from the work.

W. L. CLEVENGER

The award will honor Prof. W. L. (Billy) Clevenger, who has been a member of the State College staff since August 1, 1923. He has served the college both as a professor of dairy manufacturing and as a specialist of the Agricultural Extension Service.

A native of Shelby County, Ohio, Professor Clevenger was graduated from Ohio State and was a dairy manufacturing specialist for the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Animal Industry in Washington, D. C.

Professor Clevenger, who is widely known in North Carolina, is secretary of the North Carolina Dairy Products Association and is an active member of the American Dairy Science Association and the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society.
