Agronomy Club Wins Blue Ribbon At State Fair

Poverty To Prosperity Club's Main Theme; Poultry Second

The State College Agronomy Club won first place among the 11 entries in the Student's Agriculture Fair held as a part of the State Fair last Tuesday.

This year, the student exhibits featured displays on Agricultural Education, Agronomy, Wildlife, Dairy Manufacturing, Poultry, Agricultural Economics, Horticulture, Agricultural Chemistry, Animal Industry, Agricultural Engineering, and Forestry. The students used as their general theme, the importance of scientific farming and the part that science is playing in agriculture today.

The Agronomy Department entry showed the importance of pastures in advancing farming from poverty to prosperity. Jim Green of Thomasville, a senior in the department, was chairman of this group.

Second place went to the entry from the Poultry Department. It featured the latest scientific breeding and feeding techniques. Bill Chubor of Canton, a senior in Poultry Science, headed this group of students.

The School of Forestry took third place with its display advocating the production of enough timber to take care of the farmer's own needs, the processing of the timber on the local farms, and the erection of buildings by the farmers themselves. Steven Lewis of Fayetteville, a senior in forestry, was chairman of this exhibit.

Judges for the exhibits were Iva Hurst, assistant home demonstration agent of Wake County; N. C. Cole of Raleigh, an official of the Farmers Cooperative Exchange; and E. P. Sauls of Panther Branch Township.

Sides is Chairman

David Sides of Statesville served as chairman of the student exposition. He was ably assisted by Douglas Crutchfield of Madison, N. J., vice-chairman; Richard T. Duke of Potocasi, secretary-treasurer; and Bob Phelps of Windsor, reporter.

In all of these student exhibits there is the element of competition, but there is also the spirit of co-operation among the students to present a clear picture of just what they are doing at State College. In the coming years, these students will go out and apply this work for practical purposes. It is they who will guide the farmers of the future toward higher goals in farming and agriculture.

SYMPHONY REHEARSAL

The orchestra rehearses regularly in Pullen Hall on Tuesday nights. All regular members and any prospective new members are requested to be on hand promptly at 8:00 p.m.

North State Club Honors Harrelson

Chancellor Harrelson of State College, right, receives the first certificate of honorary membership in the newly-organized North State Club from E. Brown Hicks of Raleigh, center, first president of the club and superintendent of the Meter Department of the Carolina Power and Light Company. Director Edward W. Ruggles of the College's Extension Division, club secretary, looks on. Membership of the club is composed of persons who have satisfactorily completed short courses at State College. ### More Homecoming Beauties Better late than never, says the old adage. In this case, any time is a good time to run pictures of these beauties. Although you may not be able to tell it, the honey on the left is a blue-eyed blond. She's Wynn Norman of Raleigh. The Technician's DF Station tried vainly to get a "fix" on her, but the closest we could get was Hillsboro Street. Wynn was sponsored by Kappa Sigma in last week's homecoming activities and was a runner-up in the "Miss Wolfpack" contest. The starry-eyed belle on the right is Miss Peggy Outen of Charlotte. The reason for that breathtaking smile is not known, but we hazard the guess that someone just told her that she was one of two runnerups in the "Miss Wolfpack" contest. Peg was sponsored by Phi Kappa Tau.

Pika, Berry Claim Best Decorator Prize

Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity and Berry Hall won first places, respectively, in the fraternity and dormitory decoration contests held as a part of the annual State College homecoming program yesterday.

Each organization received trophies in recognition of their colorful displays during the half-time intermission at the Duke-State football game in Riddick Stadium yesterday afternoon.

Sigma Phi Epsilon and Kappa Alpha won second and third places, respectively, in the fraternity division of the contest.

Second place in the dormitory contest went to Owen Hall, and Syme Hall took third spot in the dormitory division.

The 17 social fraternities and 11 dormitories at State College competed in the contests.

Judges were Charles Stine of Frankfort, Ind., and Joe Harand of Tenafly, N. J., representing the Monogram Club; Sam Furches of Mocksville and Harvey Scheviak of Kenosha, Wis., representing Blue Key; Romeo Lefort, Raleigh insurance man and former assistant dean of students at State College; and Harry Klyman, representing the Raleigh Merchants Bureau.

College 'Y' Sponsors Speeches, Prayers; Bells To Chime

"Know Your United Nations" will be the theme of the YMCA's program next week as it joins in the world wide celebration of the fifth anniversary of the birth of the United Nations.

United Nations Day will begin officially at noon Tuesday as proclaimed by the President. Immediately following a short prayer, bells all over the world will ring out a message of peace. The bells of Memorial Tower will join other bells of Raleigh in the observance.

The YMCA's program, arranged by the World Relatedness Commission, will get under way Sunday night with film strip programs in the campus religious organizations.

Tuesday will feature a noon address by Dean Henry Brandis of the University Law School to the Freshman Assembly on World Federalism. The assembly will hear the State College Glee Club sing United Nations songs. Plans are being made by WVWP to record the program and broadcast it Tuesday night.

A dinner in honor of Dean Brandis will be given by the Campus Government and the YMCA at 2:00 o'clock. Here, Dean Brandis will give a short talk on the United Nations.

Thirty and Three members will see a film strip, The Economic and Social Council, at their Tuesday night meeting.

Two motion pictures, The People's Charter and Of Human Rights, will be shown to the Freshman YMCA meeting in the basement of Tucker at noon on Wednesday. The same films will be shown to a YMCA fellowship drive at noon Thursday and at the Baptist Student Council meeting at 6:30 that night.

The organizations using the film strips Sunday night are: Wesley Foundation, the Westminster Fellowship, the Lutheran Student Association, and the Canterbury Club. The film strips explain the organization, workings and theory of the United Nations.

The observance will be climaxed by a dinner in the Grill Room on Thursday at 7 o'clock. Dr. Malcolm E. Carroll, professor of European history at Duke, will speak at this assembly. Dr. Carroll spoke on the United Nations at last year's Institute of Religion.

Five faculty members, foreign students from the local colleges, and the student body are invited to attend the banquet. The cost of the meal will be one dollar. Tickets are available at the "Y."

Bert Gives The Bird To Wildlife Lovers

Bert Harwell, California's famed naturalist, and his exciting motion picture nature-logue, "Canada West," inaugurate the Audubon Screen Tours in Raleigh Monday night, October 23 in the Textile Building Auditorium at 8 o'clock.

The program is under the auspices of the State College Public Lectures Series and is being sponsored by the Leopold Wildlife Society.

Mr. Harwell, a skilled naturalist and wildlife photographer, joined the staff of the National Audubon Society in 1940. He has since been engaged in the promotion of a broad and constructive wildlife program to popularize an appreciation of nature among young and old. He graduated from the University of California in 1914, and later received his master's degree from the same school after graduate study at Columbia and Leland Stanford Universities. From 1929 until 1940, Harwell was Park Naturalist at Yosemite National Park where he also directed its museum and the Yosemite School of Field Natural History.

Nature-Logue

"Canada West," filmed by Mr. Harwell, is a nature-logue of that yet unspoiled area from quaint Victoria and Vancouver on the coast along the Columbia River, over the Rockies to Lake Louise, Jasper and Banff where a climax of abundant game and birds is unsurpassed on this continent. The film is presently receiving acclaim everywhere it is being shown and is one of the most popular features of the 1950-51 Audubon Screen Tours. Along with his all-color motion picture, Mr. Harwell's lectures combine a colorful presentation with his wide scientific knowledge. He delights his audiences with his many amusing and breath-taking adventures, and his bird-song interpretations and whistling to his own piano accompaniment lift his programs far above an ordinary performance.

There is no admission charge and everyone is welcomed. Come and bring a friend.

FFA Meets

The next meeting of the Future Farmers of America will be held in 114 Tompkins Hall October 26 at 7:00 p.m. There will be a guest speaker for the evening. All members are requested to attend.

Kelly Parlays Brains; Wins Scholarship

Harvey Neale Kelly of Wadesboro, a senior in mechanical engineering, has been awarded the Luther B. Cartwright Scholarship for the current academic year, Dean J. H. Lampe of the School of Engineering announced today.

The scholarship award, valued at $200 annually, was established at State College in 1943 by Lieutenant-Commander L. W. Cartwright of the U. S. Coast Guard and Mrs. Cartwright of New Orleans, La., in memory of their son, the late Lt. Cartwright, Jr., of the U. S. Air Corps.

Service Casualty

Lieutenant Cartwright was killed while on active duty in the Army Air Corps on September 27, 1942. He was an alumnus of State College, having graduated with the class of 1940.

Kelly, a native of Lumberton and a 1947 graduate of Wadesboro High School, was chosen to receive this year's award of the scholarship by a committee composed of Chancellor J. W. Harrelson, Dean of Students E. L. Cloyd, and Dean Lampe.

Good Student

Dean Lampe described Kelly as "a good student, having a scholastic average of 1.83 honor points per credit." He enrolled in the college in September 1947 and has been active in campus affairs. At the present time he is a member of the Student Branch of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences and the State College Band. He is a senior in mechanical engineering, aeronautical option.

South Noses Out North; N. C. Full Of Spindles

America's "free enterprise system" enabled Southern industrialists to surpass New England in building the nation's textile center in this region, Dr. Benjamin B. Gossett of Charlotte, nationally known textile executive, declared in an address to an audience of around 500 in the School of Textiles Thursday afternoon, October 12, 1940.

Dr. Gossett's address was the first feature of the "B. B. Gossett Lecture Series," which he established at the college. He was introduced by Dean Malcolm E. Campbell of the College's School of Textiles.

Reviews Progress

Reviewing the history of the textile industry in this country, Dr. Gossett said that New England maintained the nation's textile center until after the turn of the century but reported that there are now "more spindles in North Carolina alone than in all of the New England States."

"In fact," he said, "if you would draw a circle around Charlotte, using a 50-mile radius, you would find more spindles in the 50-mile circle than in all of the New England States combined."

Paid Tribute

In his opening remarks, Dr. Gossett paid tribute to David Clark of Charlotte, editor of The Textile Bulletin; Robert I. Dalton, Charlotte textile executive; and the late Governor O. Max Gardner, all alumni of State College and all of whom were praised for their part in advancing the textile industry.

Dr. Gossett was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Dean Campbell at the Carolina Country Club following his address.

The other day I was looking through W.V.W.P.'s record library and found to my great surprise that it has a much larger collection than one would expect from such a young station. (It has only been in existence for 5 years.)

At present the station prides itself in a collection of 2300 selections, which is far above the normal number of records in possession of college radio stations. It is also one of the few student stations in the nation that is subscribed to a transcription service.

Most of these recordings of course are of popular music, but the classics have not been neglected though, for I found quite a few recordings by the best known orchestras in the world, featuring works of composers such as Beethoven, Tschalkovsky, Chopin, Wagner and many other great composers.

As you will see in the radio program below, W.V.W.P. presents a half hour of classical music every night from 9:30 until 10:00, which is very much worthwhile listening to.

Your student station also has a fine collection of recordings by the foremost concert pop orchestras, such as for instance by the orchestras of David Rose, Buzs Adlam, Carl Chandler, Claude Sweeten and a score of others. This type of music is featured mainly on the dinner musical programs which are presented from 11:30 a.m., till 1:45 p.m., and from 5:30 till 7:00 p.m. Also on the Twentieth Century Serenade program much of this type of music is featured.

Before I conclude, I want to remind you that you can request the record of your choice on the Open House program from 10:00 till 11:00 every night, before you call, however, try to identify the chesterfield mystery melody, for which you will be rewarded with a carton of cigarets (if you are the first

According to new economy postal regulations, postal clerks are directed to return mail to the sender unless it has the complete address.

Hundreds of letters for State College students would have returned to the sender had not the YMCA volunteered to look up the correct box number.

Nearly every day the YMCA office force look up the addresses for a big batch of letters. The YMCA is doing this in the interest of the students.

However, if students will advise people with whom they correspond to put the correct box number on the envelopes, it will avoid delay in delivery and save the "Y" office force a lot of labor.

Mr. Quay then introduced Mr. M. B. (Mac) Willis, manager of sales promotion for Taylor Food Co. of Raleigh. Mr. Willis, an amateur magician, entertained with tricks of magic.

Registration cards were then passed out, and the chairman explained the qualifications and obligations of those joining the society. Refreshments were then served and the movie of the State-L.I.U. basketball game was shown.

What About Honor System?

The Campus Government spent at least a half hour of its meeting last Tuesday discussing the trials and tribulations of the treasurer in collecting for meals consumed by the representatives at their weekly meeting.

These thirty minutes could have been spent on more important subjects. . . subjects which would have done something to further the purposes of a campus government.

One topic we would like to see added to an immediate agenda is the honor system at State College. The students still continue to take tests with the prof at the front of the room. Some of the profs even have the students sign a "pledge" to denote their honesty on the particular quiz. Why should the pledge be signed if the instructor is sitting up front, whether he be reading the latest world news or watching for class dishonesty?

Will the campus government endeavor to spend more time discussing such an important matter as the honor system and less time on when and how to pay for meals?

Is Yours Worthless?

At the latest count, there were over 80 organizations on the State College campus. It wouldn't take a statistician to determine how many of this group are doing a worthwhile service to State College or to the students.

There is no doubt that every one of these clubs was founded with many high-flowing promises of glorious service to humankind. But, in the rush of too much other work, the majority of the groups have evolved to a weekly gathering with the main objective of planning for the next beer bust.

Some of these organizations fail to function because of poor leadership. Some of the outstanding men on the campus head such groups. They aren't poor leaders when they start out, but the burden of too many chairmanships, presidencies, etc., spread too thinly over all their activities, makes them not only poor leaders but also poor followers. They have too much leading to do and too much following to do!

Analyze your organization. Is it doing the service for which it was formed? If it isn't, can you change so that it will accomplish these aims? If you can't honestly answer the last question affirmatively, then scrap the organization and look for another established group that needs your services.

NSA's Scope Too Broad

This week we find that we are at odds with Campus Government President McCracken over the matter of the National Student Association.

McCracken implies in his letter that the major and most important function of NSA is merely to exist as an organization representing the nation's college students. An organization which would provide student leaders with the opportunity to meet and exchange ideas on practical campus problems would be worthwhile; a group which desires to serve as a student lobby on national issues is not.

The last national congress concentrated on national and international issues and virtually ignored any attempt at an exchange of ideas and information on campus problems.

Vote of Confidence

The Blue Bulletin recently carried an announcement stating that the chest X-Ray results were back from the health department.

Students who haven't heard from the infirmary can feel sure that there is no sign of T.B. in their lungs.

Doctor Combs asked permission to thank each student for cooperating in the early-term chest X-Rays.

Every student in turn should thank Doctor Combs for making it possible for all State College students to have a chest X-Ray. On some campuses, only incoming freshmen have this service.

The late study hours and recreation hours of college men can very easily break down the resistance to the point where TB could set in. If a student is X-Rayed only once in four years, he may be nearly dead from TB by the time he graduates, without realizing it!

Our cooperation in the picture taking is our thanks to Doctor Combs for his effort to have enough equipment on hand to handle 4,000 students quickly and efficiently.

Keep Off!

One of the loudest and longest complaints heard on the campus is that State College looks like a factory rather than like a school.

Buildings and Grounds has recently replanted several grassless spots on the campus and is erecting low, not unattractive fences to remind students to stay off.

Get your nose out of the clouds and look where you are going. Keep off that newly planted grass and off any spot on the campus where there is a little of that much needed greenery!

Let Freedom Ring!

On Tuesday the Memorial Tower carillon will join in a world wide chorus to "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land, and to all the inhabitants thereof."

All the free world will again hear the message of freedom that was sung out in Philadelphia in 1776. This time the date is 1950 and the occasion is the fifth anniversary of the founding of the United Nations Organization.

By Tuesday the UN forces will be in control of most of Korea. This is additional cause for celebration, for one of the most important actions yet undertaken by the UN will have achieved success.

This has not been done without sacrifice. It has caused the United States to increase its military strength, and has affected this campus. A considerable number of State men have been forced to put their studies aside to return to military service. The draft will take others of us now in school.

"Must Decide On NSA" McCracken In Favor

Ed. note: In keeping with the policies of THE TECHNICIAN, which allow any student to voice his approval or disapproval of material printed herein, we present the following statements by Jack McCracken, Campus Government President:

Since the time has arrived when the Campus Government must once more decide whether State College will or will not continue its affiliation with the National Students Association, I feel that I should express to the student body exactly how I feel about NSA as president of the Campus Government.

Two Parts

It would seem to me that the problem resolves itself into two parts: first, we as students must decide whether we believe in a national student's organization as such; secondly, we must also decide whether we believe that the existing NSA does or could perform such a function.

I believe that there is a definite need for a representative national student's organization. The reasons for such a belief are almost innumerable. One of the more important is that we students need a way of expressing ourselves collectively. We need, also, a central office for the dissemination of information on student affairs. In most regions, an active national organization could sponsor service programs to help local student governments financially. There are many speakers, art tours, and other cultural features which could be directed very advantageously through a central national office. A strong student's association could be a very powerful watchdog for violations of student rights. Finally, by attendance at national and regional conventions, and by the careful study of appropriate literature, campus leaders could obtain very valuable experience and information on the various phases of Student Government.

Young Organization

I believe that the present NSA performs the functions of such an organization very efficiently, which is, I think, remarkable when one considers its short period of operation. The executive staff is made up of high-calibre personnel. Few will deny this. It is already recognized nationally as the student's spokesman, as evidenced by the number of reputable national organizations which call on its officers to express the student's viewpoint on college affairs.

In three short years it has grown from a small group of student leaders and an idea to an organization of more than 350 student communities. Certainly we can expect continued growth and development. Does anyone believe, with sincerity, that such schools as Harvard, Yale, and most state universities would belong to an association of "half-baked, over-zealous liberals?"

The way in which the last congress was organized and carried out was a beautiful job of executive handling. It was not like a big fraternity week-end. On the contrary, if anything, the delegates were kept too busy.

Minority Groups Spoke

One of the most heartening aspects of the congress was that all minority groups were given every (Continued on Page 5)

CG Spends Two Hours On Incidentals

Editor's Note;

This is the second of the TECHNICIAN's weekly contributions to better inform the students on the accomplishments of their Campus Government.

October 17, 1950

The meeting was called to order by President McCracken and the roll was called. Absent were Boyles, Cockerham, Furches, Jeffords, Liflin, McCormick, Parker, Pickette, Pugh, Raper, Ricks, Savage, Scott, R. H., Shackelford, Stoll, Bullock, and Davis.

The minutes were read by the secretary and corrected.

It was pointed out by the secretary that the Council was minus one elected member who had not returned to school this year. This member was found to be a representative from the School of Education. It was deemed necessary by the Council that someone should be elected to fill this vacancy and the secretary was to write a letter to the Dean of the School of Education informing him of this fact.

Treasurer Harvey Scheviak told the Council that the present system of ordering meals for Council members on Tuesdays at noon was unsatisfactory and that unless something else could be worked out, the Council might not be able to use the present room as a meeting place. Dr. York suggested that meals be ordered for all members of the Council in advance unless a member notified the treasurer otherwise. Jeff Brooks moved to accept Dr. York's suggestion with the exception that textile student representatives be allowed to make their own arrangements for meals because of conflicting lectures at noon on Tuesdays. After much discussion, the motion was passed.

President McCracken read a letter to the Council from the staff of the 1951 Agromeck which asked if the Council desired a sponsor in this year's edition of the college annual. Hal Brown moved that the Council buy a page in the Agromeck for a sponsor's picture. The motion was seconded and passed.

McCracken brought before the Council the fact some members of the Greater University Student Council from State College had incurred some expense in driving their cars while taking the State College delegates to and from the G.U.S.C. meetings. He expressed the opinion that the members should be reimbursed for these expenses. Ralph McAlister moved to pay the expenses. The motion was seconded and passed.

The president stated that at our next meeting Mr. King of the Y.M.C.A. wanted permission to have a joint meeting of the Council and the "Y" Cabinet in order to head a speaker, Mr. Henry Brandis, Dean of the Law School at the University of North Carolina. The talk was to be made in connection of the observation of United Nations Week. After much discussion Hal Brown moved not to have the speaker for our next meeting. The motion was defeated by eight for and twelve against the motion. Jeff Brooks then moved to hear the speaker under the condition that the meeting must be adjourned by 2:00 p.m. After more discussion the motion was passed fifteen to seven.

Harvey Scheviak moved to strike the name of Buddy Boyles from the list of ex-officio members of the Council. The reason for the motion, Scheviak stated, was that Boyles was a member of the Council last year and attended only one meeting and that he was absent at this meeting of the new Council, although he had been notified of his membership and of the time and place of the meetings. The motion was seconded and passed.

A partial report on the National Student Association meeting this past summer was made by Hal Brown and Harvey Scheviak, two of the four delegates from N. C. State College. The report is to be completed at the next meeting by Jack McCracken and Charles Culp.

President McCracken reminded the members of the Council that next week's meeting would begin promptly at 12:00 noon in order that all business might be finished in time for lunch with the YMCA Cabinet at 1:00 p.m.

The meeting was adjourned at 1:55 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Robert W. Scott,
Secretary.

opportunity to make their opinions known, and that most of the delegates acted with admirable reason and maturity on the most controversial questions.

If we think it important to express ourselves on faculty and students rights, we should belong to NSA. If we would like to continue to have our opinions heard on the drafting of students, we should belong to NSA; and they will be heard. If we want valuable information on all levels of student affairs, NSA can give it to us. Finally, if we want to take advantage of the service and feature programs offered by the existing student organization, we should belong.

Some will say that the densely populated sections of the country dominate the congress and dictate the policies. If this is so, should we weaken our own region by pulling out? I say certainly not, for it was demonstrated very conclusively to anyone who attended the meetings that determined, courageous groups can exercise tremendous influence and block any objectional resolutions.

Money's Worth?

It has been said that we do not get our money's worth out of NSA. To this I would say that NSA is neither a lottery nor a stock brokerage. It should not be sold as such. If it paid $4.00 for every $3.00 invested, everyone would join. Its returns are more intangible, but for more lasting and worthwhile.

If we have not gotten our money's worth from NSA, I feel that it is because we have never really tried to. I hope to remedy that this year.

Let us realize that the association is only three years old. Can we expect it to be the perfected machinery of student affairs? Let us rather reaffirm our faith in an NSA and actively shape it into an efficient, truly representative voice of the student.

Jack McCracken,
President of the Campus Government.

Coeds Fight Al Parker, "Selections Political"

By CHARLIE HAMILTON

Six "wronged" coeds made a determined fight "in the interest of school spirit" before a polite but indifferent Pep Club Wednesday night.

Protesting that they have been subjected to unfair criticism for their alleged "lack of interest in campus affairs," they attempted to lay full blame on Al Parker for the absence of more coeds on the cheering squad.

"We were not notified of the try-outs," charged Betty Ann Cline, president of the Coed Club. She said that State College coeds may not be the best qualified, but "the girls should have a chance to compete if they want to."

Admits Wrong

"A definite wrong has been done," Club president Harold Strawbridge told the members, "but it is not a matter for the Club to decide." He explained that the Pep Club can only advise Parker on such matters.

Although Parker claims he notified the girls of the try-outs, he readily accepted any blame for the oversight. He says that in the early absence of the Coed Club, he told two of the girls of the scheduled competition and expected them to pass the word along.

The girls excused this on the grounds that it was impossible at that time for them to contact the others.

Action Demanded

"We want action now," the girls declared. "We feel that we should have been notified."

Parker replied that it was already too late because the uniforms have been ordered. He further explained that the full quota of six girls have been selected and he could not rightly ask any of them to quit in preference to State College coeds.

President Cline stressed that her group did not want to purge the present squad but only wanted future consideration.

A Promise

Strawbridge, who says that the present group is a "bad selection," promised the girls that "something will be done between seasons." He thinks there will be another squad selected for the basketball season.

A small, round faced coed charged that Parker did not run the election of the cheerleaders, but, rather, it was controlled by "politics."

Parker told this reporter after the meeting that he purposely left the bulk of the selections to the male cheerleaders to prevent any possible charge that he "ran the whole show."

Imported Cheerleaders

Strawbridge emphasized that he did not see any harm in getting girls from other schools. Parker supports this with the statement, "If the Meredith girls are interested enough to come out to the pep rallies, they should also have a chance to be a cheerleader."

Strawbridge commended the coeds for a "fine" showing of school spirit and challenged them to demonstrate their sincerity by coming back next week.

"We'll be back," commented Betty Cline after the meeting. "With the attitude of Al Parker, we'll be back."

Council Opens Debate NSA Reports Started

The debate on the National Student Association began in the Campus Government Tuesday. Hal Brown and Harvey Scheviak reported on the phases of the national congress on which they worked.

President McCracken explained that the congress was organized as follows: an initial meeting was first held to organize the group, the delegates were then divided into four commissions, each with several sub-commissions, to work on the problems and questions to come before the general meeting, plenary sessions were then held to discuss the efforts of the commissions.

Hal Brown served on the international commission which prepared a resolution favoring the administration's stand on Korea. The commission also recommended "practical cooperation" with the International Students Association and aid to all students of foreign schools interested in obtaining student self government.

Scheviak worked with the educational affairs commission and the sub-commission on the Purchase Card System. PCS was modified to become the Student Discount System and may be organized on each campus according to local conditions.

McCracken and Charlie Culp will present their reports next week and it is expected that the full discussion of State's continued membership in NSA will come up the following week.

Baby Pack Preaches To Deacons Tonight

Reversing all known religious procedure, Coach Jim Gill and his Baby Wolfpack are going to preach a sermon to the Deacons (Wake Forest variety, that is) to convert them. This conversion is just going to be the prelude to the grand conversion that will take place over at the Hollow on November 18, when the big Wolfpack converts ole Peahead Walker's Demon Deacons into good followers of the Wolfpack way of life.

Leading Mr. Gill's congregation from West Raleigh will be Captain Junior Pierce, big 205 lb. center from Plymouth, N. C. Aiding Pierce up front will be Charlie Wolf of Brevard, N. C. and Brother Glenn Nixon, another tackle from way up North in Buffalo, N. Y. A couple of other brothers from the Pennsylvania congregation, Don McClelland and Percy Riden, will further see that the Demon Deacons from Wake Forest behave themselves while the Pack is preaching to them.

Ed Hughes Offensive Leader
The main part of the sermon is going to be preached by Ed Hughes, another Buffalo, N. Y. boy, and Tommy Swanger, who did such a good job of making our country cuzzins from Chapel Hill see the light. Leading the offensive signal calling, and ball handling in Coach Gill's split T sermon will be John Steele from Indiana, Pa. Coming from Indiana, even though it isn't the state, automatically makes him a tricky ball handler, which he really is. When the ball is placed in the end zone to add stress to the sermon, Ben Allen from Shelby, N. C., the home of politicians, will kick the extra points.

In an attempt to convert the Blue Devils last week, the baby Pack didn't fair too well. Daniel Webster is about the only one that can win out with the Devil, and he wasn't around to help the Pack. Alex Webster (no kin to Daniel) almost repeated story book history in his Saturday afternoon dealings with the Devils.

This "Hellfire and Brimstone" demonstration is set for 8:00 p.m. so get there early to get good seats near Rev. Gill's pulpit.

Case's Cagers Play Pros Tomorrow Nite

By HAROLD STRAWBRIDGE

After waiting patiently for years and years, Raleigh's basketball fans will finally get a look-see at Adolph Rupp's famous Olympic Team of 1948. In an exhibition game scheduled for the Coliseum tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m. the former Kentucky Wildcats, now playing as the Indianapolis Olympians will meet Coach Everett Case's Wolfpack. Missing from the great Kentucky team will be Mr. Crying Towel Rupp, their famous college coach. To take his place in the coaching duties will be player-coach Cliff Baker another ex Wildcat.

Headlining the Olympians will be thrice All-America Alex Groza and Ralph Beard. In his first year of play in the play for pay circuit, Groza managed to score 1,496 points in 64 games to average 23.4 points per game. Coach Ev Case will attempt to match Groza's scoring with All-America Sam Ranzino, who last year scored 641 points in 33 games for a cool 19 point per game average. Last year Sammy also managed to break Alex Groza's NCAA scoring record for a single game, when he tallied 32 points against Holy Cross, to top Groza's by one point.

On hand will be two other All-America stars in the persons of Wah-Wah Jones of Kentucky and Bruce Hale of Santa Clara. Hale added the necessary experience to the ex-Wildcats, to lead them to the Western Division Championship in the NBA.

Unable to match the Olympians in scoring, Ev Case will counter with an overabundance of height in Bob Speight, 6-7, Bobby Goss, 6-8, Larry Lovington, 6-11, Paul Brandenberg, 6-5 and Eddie Morris, 6-5. These men along with last year's regulars Sam Ranzino, Paul Horvath, Vic Bubas and Lee Terrell will also go through a pre-game demonstration in different types of offense, dribbling, ball-handling, and shooting, under the direction of Coaches Everett Case and Butter Anderson.

The pre-game clinic is scheduled for 7:00 p.m. and the game for 8:30 p.m. Students will be admitted for 50 cents and their athletic book.

TKE Wallops SAM In Football

Striking quickly in the opening minutes of play on a pass into the end-zone from Charlie Moore to Len Colley, TKE jumped into a lead that was never relinquished in last Monday's 20-0 victory over SAM.

After receiving the kickoff, an attempted punt by SAM on the third down was blocked by the hard charging "Teke" line, but an off-side penalty nullified the play. The second punt, which was gotten off, was returned to midfield by the Tekes. An intercepted pass stopped another TKE threat, and the half ended TKE 7, SAM 0.

The third quarter showed no serious scoring threat by either team. However, TKE scored again midway through the fourth period on a beautiful pass play from Back Gene Pettinelli to End Jack Bowers who made a fine diving catch in the end zone. The pass for the extra point was blocked, and the score stood at 13-0. With less than three minutes left in the game, Pettinelli intercepted a Sammy pass in the flat and raced over the goal for the final touchdown. The extra point was good and the game ended with the Tekes in front 20-0.

The Teke line, led by hard-charging Bill Haas, Freddie Miller, Howard Shell, Dick Sly, and Bob Phelps, time and again broke through to tag the passer or force him to hurriedly throw wild. TKE seemed better organized this week, and they are hoping next week to avenge the loss the PiKa's handed them earlier in the season.

Wolfpack Tackles Tatum's Turtles

By BOB CURRAN

In an effort to break a two game losing streak, and also to get their first Southern Conference victory, Coach Beattie Feathers' Wolfpack will journey to College Park, Md. to battle the high riding Maryland Terrapins. The Terrapins under the direction of Coach Jim Tatum will be playing their first conference game, after playing inter-sectional tilts with Georgia, Navy, Michigan State, and Georgetown.

The Terps, are presently riding a three game winning streak, and are rated as one of the best teams in the country. The Old Liners from Maryland are looking bowlward after their stunning defeat of Michigan State, and tomorrow's game with the Wolfpack will be one of their last major obstacles.

To Face Pros

Paul Horvath, State's big center will have the tough task of guarding Alex Groza, in tomorrow night's State-Indianapolis basketball game. Horvath, All-State center for three years, is now in his fourth season of play for the Wolfpack.

Battle of Giants

Leading Coach Tatum's Terps will be co-captains Jake Rowden and Ray Krouse, two of the best linemen in the Conference. Ray Krouse will face the toughest assignment of his career, when he lines up opposite Elmer Costa. Costa, one of the most under-rated linemen in the country, in turn will have his hands full topping Ed Modzelewski and Ed Fullerton. The two Eds are the leading runners in Jim Tatum's split T offense, and they are backed up by Bob Shemonski. Leading the Pack will be Ed Mooney, Jim O'Rourke and Alex Webster. George McArthur will also be back in action after missing the Dook game because of a leg injury. Little Jimmy Smith will share the defensive burden with O'Rourke. Smith came into his own against Duke, when he continually stopped the Blue Devil attack.

Rubber Game

The game will be the rubber game in the Maryland series which goes back to 1909. In the nine games to date, the Pack has won three, lost three and tied three. Tomorrow's game will mark the fourth meeting between teams coached by Feathers and Tatum. The first meeting between these two was in the Gator Bowl game of 1947, when Tatum's Oklahoma Sooners beat the Pack 34 to 13. Last year's game ended in a 14 to 6 victory for the Old Liners, despite the fact that the Wolfpack pushed the turtles up and down the field.

Game time is slated for 2:00 p.m. in the University of Maryland's brand new Byrd Stadium, which seats 47,000. The probable line-ups:

State	Pos.	Maryland
Romanowsky	LE	Karnash
Hillman	LT	Krouse

Cox	RG	Troha
Costa	RT	Dean

Views and Previews

BY PAUL HODUL

The Wolfpack did everything but win last Saturday afternoon. Except for a few off moments the line and backfield looked very good both defensively and offensively. Ed Mooney displayed his accurate passing and shifty running ability all afternoon. His playing easily outdid the highly rated Billy Cox of Duke. Jim O'Rourke frequently dented the Duke line with his diving line-bucks through the middle. Harvey Yeates and Alex Webster also contributed some fancy stepping toward the Wolfpack cause. As for the line play dependable Elmer Costa once more led the Pack. Even though Duke was doubling on him he still managed to blast through and make some beautiful tackles.

About the only fault that I could find in the game was the erratic calling of plays. It seemed a little foolish at times to see the same play called over and over. After we made a good gain on a certain play the odds were 100 to 1 that Duke was prepared for that play on the next down. To the surprise of myself and many State rooters that is just what happened. As was to be expected the play failed miserably. A repetition on a pass play has some chance of being successful, but a repeater through the line seldom works well—and even if it does the percentages are against you. Even a weak line (which Duke certainly didn't have) will attempt to plug a hole up if a good gain was made through that position.

State's basketball team gave the Rochester Royals a good workout at the Coliseum before the Royals could claim victory. No one really expected the Wolfpack to subdue the vanuted Royals, but we all were hoping for an upset. The victory margin boils down to too much rebound strength and experience. When the pressure was on the Rochester five were as cool as esgimos. The Pack made a close game of it till the last quarter then Rochester put on a burst of points to widen the score by ten points. The remainder of the game saw State trying desperately to regain the lead, but to no avail. Clever ball handling and coolness under pressure by the Rochester team prevented the State five from knotting the score. Bob Speight showed up very well against Grade A competition. His many various and accurate shots kept the crowd thrilled all evening. Paul Horvath did surprisingly well at the pivot position considering the giants that towered over him all night. The practice sessions and exhibition games against professional teams should certainly help the Wolfpack in future operations. Much basketball experience was dished out by the pros and it is hoped that the squad absorbed most of it for their own benefit.

Berry Wins on Downs

How close can a football game be? Just ask Coach Al Skaarup of the Berry Dorm team. On Oct. 12 Al's Berry team met Cham Johnson's Owen No. 1 team in as thrilling a contest as you will see anywhere. Owen No. 1 scored on the opening play of the game on the old sleeper play but failed to make the extra point. Berry found itself with an aroused Freshman Dorm team seeking to take it's scalp. Late in the fourth quarter Berry scored on a quick pass over the center of the line but also failed to make the extra point. In the last series of plays Berry made an additional first down to take the lead in first downs to win the game by this margin.

Coach Skaarup said, "This was too close for comfort and he would have his boys out brushing up on their offensive game in preparation for the game with Bagwell No. 1 on Oct. 25. The outstanding players on offense were Charles Keely with his passing and Dick Jewett and George "Yardbird" Cathey with their pass snaging. On defense it was the great play of J. C. Laughon, Ralph Sturdivant, Bill Hall, Bill Dorsett, "Speck" Qualls, and Al Skaarup that made this victory possible.

Last week the Yellow and Golds of Sigma Chi were idle as they took a forfeit victory from the "farmers" of A.G.R. With the season half completed the Chi's lead their bracket with three wins and no defeats. Nunis and Ammons continue to shine for the leaders.

The Sigma Chi's continued their winning ways by beating the Lambda Chi's in volleyball. Outstanding for the Sigma Chi's were Davis, Ligon and Wyatt.

Pi Kappa Phi Beats Kappa Sigs.

The Pi Kappas improved their standing by downing a stubborn Kappa Sig team 20 to 6. Among the stand outs for the white and gold were Paul Johnson, Tony Thomason, Arnold White, Dick Hinson, Paul Whetstone and Maurice Atwell. Pi Kappa Phi has a return engagement with the scrappy A.G.R. team this afternoon.

The white and gold plays its second volley ball game against the Pikas Tuesday night.

Chamber Music Concerts

The Raleigh Chamber Music Guild has announced there will be four concerts presented during this school year at the new Meredith College Auditorium.

The four concerts will consist of: The Duke Ensemble, Monday, October 30; The Beal Duo Violinists, Friday, December 1; The Paganini Quartet, Wednesday, February 7; and The Guild Players, yet to be scheduled in March.

The Raleigh Chamber Music Guild this year, like in the past five years, have succeeded in scheduling the best entertainment available. The Guild purpose is to promote interest in chamber music in Raleigh on a non-profit basis.

Non-students are charged $3.60 for the season tickets, and students are given the special price of $1.80 tax included.

Tarheels Nip Booters In Soccer Opener

Coach Eric De Groat's new soccer team was handed its first Southern Conference loss 6-0, when it met our brothers from the "Hill" Tuesday afternoon on Doak Field.

The first quarter found the ball deep in Carolina territory dominated by State, because of superb foot work by Adolpho Palezuolos, Haiim Jacob and Ed Murrow. It was in the closing minutes of this period that the Tar Heel's Bud Sawyer (L.E.) pushed a ball pass State's Goalie Raol Echaurria. Although this goal was enough to beat State, Carolina continued its attack in the second quarter with two field goals by Center Forward Winsor, and one point each by Left Wing Gwynn and Center Half Beatty.

Mavrommatis Shines

Pete Mavrommatis, State's capable Center Forward, gave the crowd a display of sensational foot work, by dribbling past Carolina's entire defensive line several times during the third and fourth periods. State kept possession of the ball during most of these two periods, holding Carolina to only one more goal in the fourth period by Bud Sawyer. Newly elected Captain, John Bardavid attempted three kicks at the goal, but they were of no avail due to excellent goal keeping by Carolina's Blankensharp.

This game will prove a great asset to State because of the many shortcomings that were discovered. Shortcomings that can be eliminated, and which can help our team on to the winning road, in their game against Duke today.

KA Ekes Out 2-0 Win Over Tough Phi Tau's

Playing the heavily favored KA's on even terms throughout their hard-fought game earlier this week, the Phi Kappa Tau grid-men lost a heartbreaker 2-0.

A fumble in the end-zone provided the two points which gave the Kappa Alpha aggregation the win.

Dormitories Spend Busy Week In Intramural Sports Program

By BILL GEILER

With the new season of intramurals well on their way we find many new names on the tops of the lists. Verville has finally made their presence felt on both the gridiron and on the volleyball court. Berry also is ranked with the finest on the campus now with two good games behind them and a promise of a tremendous season.

Welch dorm, who has had a pretty easy time of it so far, continues to roll along the easy way with two forfeit victories. In volleyball it was Alexander Number One that took the loss and in handball it was Bagwell. The volleyball team is composed of J. Mercer, G. Andrews, J. English C. Price, G. Parker and J. Peirce. This team has promise of being one of the best in league. The handball team is predicting a championship for itself.

Syme Number One had only one intramural clash this week. They were defeated in volleyball by Bagwell number two in two out of three games. After winning the first game Syme blew the other two after taking a commanding lead in both contests. Standouts for Syme were Harry Anderson, Paul Sweatt and Raymond Robbins.

Bagwell No. 2 has been beaten in both of its football games by Becton and Verville. In the company of those fellows it is no wonder. However, they made very good showings in both games and with a little luck might have salvaged one or both of them. Bob Chadwick has spearheaded the team and shown fine spirit in helping intramural athletics. He is aided by Jim Murphy, J. Aplegate, C. Brown, Don Bunn, Bill Paterson, Ed Dalmos, and many other boys from the third floor Bagwell who have shown fine spirit. Bagwell No. 1, spearheaded by Bob Jenkins, has won one football game and one volleyball game to date. These have been the only contests in which the teams have participated and these are any indications as to what to expect, look out Section Three. Jenkins, Paul Wherlin, and Sid Carter have led the teams to date in volleyball and Nick Sulin has helped in Football.

Vets Powerful

Alexander No. 2 has been the only team to get close to Verville in the scoring column to date. They fielded their best team against the powerful Vet team and came out on the short end of the score because of first downs. Verville garnered one more first down than the boys from Alexander. John Almond, Bill Rodgers and Frank Richardson were the straws that almost broke the camels back. They were batting passes down all afternoon. The same offensive trio again led Alexander. Blackwelders end runs and the Richardson to Almond combination were constant thorns in the sides of the Vets. Two days later Alexander lost to Becton No. 2. Alexander did not field the same team and the offensive strength was lacking. Who can blame them with a schedule like that. Alexander No. 2 won its first handball game from Becton No. 2. Jerry Strassler and Joe Allen are the two top men for Alexander.

Bagwell Triumphs

Both Owen teams put up fine showings this week but for the lack of a few breaks might have come out on the winning side. As it was Owen No. 1 lost a heart breaker to Bagwell and could have easily been in reverse. Bagwell marched down the field and stalled on the Owen one yard line. Here the freshmen held the Bagwell boys for three downs. On fourth down Bagwell shoved over the winning marker. The same fate befell the Owen No. 1 team in their game with Berry. With the aid of the sleeper play Owen drew first blood on the first play from scrimmage.
