C G Bounces Four Members

A decision to "enforce the Campus Government Constitution to the hilt," on the part of that body's energetic President, George Pruden, has resulted in four council members' resignation.

Said Secretary Vincent Outland, "Heretofore the council has been lax in the enforcement of the regulation concerning C. G. required attendance."

According to the constitution, elected members of C. G. are to be expelled should they miss more than 75 per cent of the meetings.

In an unprecedented move, President Pruden directed that four council members be requested to resign. They are Doug Grimes, an engineering student, Maynard Shields from the school of education, George Benning from the same school and Prof. R. C. Davis, an instructor in the school of textiles.

Two of the affected members appealed the council decision to request the resignations. Benning of education was granted the appeal and has been reinstated. Prof. Davis's request has yet to be acted upon by the council.

alma mater

Last Friday night in Pullen Hall, those who were fortunate enough to squeeze into a packed house were treated to a first rate evening as guests of the Union. Although a few saw fit to sleep through a portion of the program, those awake and under their own power discovered that the Union is more than an entry into their activities bill.

The Technician regrets that it took the students more than a full term to find some merit in their Union program, but is glad that his merit has finally been discovered.

The World Student Service Fund is again making plans for its drive beginning the second week in February. Last year, through the commendable generosity of the students of this campus, a fund exceeding $1,500 was sent to Indonesia in the name of the Frank Graham Fund.

The WSSF cause is justified two-fold; by keeping alive the facilities of education, we will assure ourselves of a future devoid of the darkness of ignorance and a future in which the people of this country, will have a common bond with those of countries throughout the world. When the Indonesian Ambassador comes to our campus, let us try to make his visit memorable through the earnest patronage of a just cause.

In the coming week the college YMCA will deal with a number of topics and problems common and pertinent to the college scene. Topics to be discussed will be such as "Religion is Everyman's Duty," "Can You Afford the High Cost of Low Living?" and "Living Is Not a Cafeteria." The Technician urges students and faculty to watch the "Y" schedule and attend as many of these events as possible, for your own good.

Prexy Gray To Open Campus Headquarters In Holladay Hall

Within a week Gordon Gray, President of the Consolidated University, will locate his State College office in Holladay Hall.

The office will be located at the head of the stairs on the second floor of Holladay Hall adjacent to Chancellor Harrelson's office. It is being furnished and will be ready in a week.

Chancellor Harrelson stated that the office which Gordon Gray will occupy is the office of Alexander Q. Holladay, the first President of State. A picture of the original occupant of the office hangs on the wall and his original desk will be used by President Gray. Chancellor Harrelson went on to say that he has hopes to have a definite schedule of when Mr. Gray is in his office so that he will be available for student and faculty conferences.

The location of Gordon Gray's new office in Holladay Hall is in line with Gray's policy of an active interest in all the campuses that compose the Greater University of North Carolina.

War Is Over; Barracks Go

The first of the barracks in the court between Peele Hall and 1911 Building to be declared surplus has now been completely demolished. The remaining four will be removed by next June or July. As classroom space in new buildings becomes available the barracks will be declared surplus and removed.

Two of the remaining quonsets are also marked for immediate removal and those remaining will also be gone by next June or July. The barracks in the area behind Patterson which now house part of the school of design will also be demolished but a definite time cannot be given.

General plans for landscaping the entire campus have been drawn up and are being effected as appropriations permit.

Date Set For '53 Rings

The Junior Class will be measured for their class rings the 22nd and 23rd of January, beginning promptly at 10 a.m. in the lobby of the Y.M.C.A. A $3.00 deposit will be required for each ring ordered.

These dates are the dates contracted for in order to insure delivery in time for the Junior-Senior ring dance, May 3. Be sure to go by and get measured.

This space, exactly two columns by four inches, was to have been occupied by a picture of the mass student meeting held last night in Pullen Hall. The picture was to have shown at least a major portion of an expected large turnout of students.

We don't have the picture because we didn't have the turnout.

This will strike most of you as being pretty funny and "tough luck." We can see where it might, because the only interest that thirty-nine out of forty of you show is to strip down to your T-shirt and read lurid books and raise hell when you aren't doing tomorrow's assignment.

Sure, you'll get your degrees. But you could have gotten one by correspondence. You wouldn't have had to take valuable living space in the dormitories that could have gone to boys who wanted to get something out of college.

We could have had a picture of the speakers announced in the Blue Bulletin if we had planned on it. They all came. They all came to address a meeting of the assembled student body by request of the Campus Government. What went on in their minds as they spoke to this splinter meeting we can't say. But we know what would have gone through our mind.

To those who came, thanks.

Indonesian Brass To Plug WSSF In February Visit To Campus

The ambassador from the Indonesian Republic will visit the State College campus in early February to assist in a drive to obtain funds for the University of Indonesia.

The ambassador, Dr. Ali Sastroamidjojo, will spend February 7 and 8 visiting the campuses of the Consolidated University as the guest of the University's joint World Student Service Fund committee.

WSSF collections on all three campuses this year will be sent to Indonesia to aid students and equip laboratories at the university. Last year's State College collections were sent to the Asiatic republic as the "Frank Graham Fund for Indonesia." Dr. Graham, first president of the Consolidated University, represented the United Nations in negotiations which established the republic.

Howard Wells, chairman of the joint group, stated that State College sent $1,500 to Indonesia last year. Wells expects that the combined UNC, WC, NCS donation will exceed $6,000.

While in Washington last Thursday to make arrangements for the ambassador's appearance, Wells filed a request with the Air Force for transportation to India next August.

An AFROTC student, Wells has been nominated as one of seven American delegates to a "World Assembly of Youth" to be held in India next December.

If Wells is named as a member of the United States delegation he plans to spend four months preceding the conference traveling through India.

A junior in nuclear engineering, Wells is editor of the Tower and vice-president of the YMCA.

Ask Halt To Dangerous Vandalism on Campus

J. M. Smith, the college engineer has reported a number of instances where vandalism has seriously impaired the safety of students making underpass crossings. In a memo to Chancellor Harrelson, Engineer Smith noted the destruction of barricades, lights and other devices erected to protect passers-by. Said he:

"In answer to your letter dated October 11 about the condition of the approaches to the pedestrian underpass, I checked on this Saturday, October 13, and find that Mr. Morris' department has laid a path of cinders through the mud that has been piled up as a result of sewer line construction and erosion deposits from storm water run-off. This underpass area is (Continued on Page 2)

Less Than 200 Students Present As Officials State, Defend Policies

Less than 200 students were on hand for the second planned mass meeting intended for the entire student body. The meeting place was Pullen Hall, 8:30 p.m., Thursday night. From 6:30 to 7:30 preceding the meeting, a mobile loudspeaker encouraged students to attend. Previously the meeting had been announced in The Technician and in the Blue Bulletin.

Campus Government President George "Buck" Pruden voiced his inability to understand the poor turnout and stated that the next meeting, scheduled for either Feb. 14 or 21, would most certainly be better publicized.

He expressed a strong desire to hold the meeting in the Coliseum with all the pertinent officials of the administration and the athletic department present.

Athletic Council chairman, Dr. H. A. Fisher, head of the college mathematics department, attempted to answer questions directed to the athletic department as did Willis Casey, Coach Everett Case and Roy Clogston, director of the college athletic program.

Asked if the college athletic program was operating in the red, Mr. Clogston replied, "Definitely yes." Said he, "It is a simple matter of there not being a greater income than there is expense."

Later President Pruden, who acted as moderator, stated that a proposal was under consideration by the Chancellor to raise the student fees. He explained that the reason the hike in fees had not been made already was because of the inability of the Student Union forces to contemplate their financial needs.

Willis Casey offered the information, based on a survey taken by Coach Case, that State is the only school in the country that distributes tickets for football and basketball games in advance.

At the next meeting a specific number and type of subjects will be chosen for airing. Definite plans will be announced in the coming weeks by the Campus Government.

Shut Wolfpack Meet To CG Prexy, Editor

Campus Government President George Pruden and Technician Editor Paul Focht were refused entrance to a meeting of college officials and leaders of the Wolfpack Club yesterday afternoon.

H. C. Kennett, chairman of the club's executive committee, said that the meeting, held in the Chancellor's office at 3 p.m., did not "concern the students."

The Wolfpack Club is an independent group whose purpose is to subsidize athletes according to a statement made last night by Dr. H. A. Fisher. Thursday night Fisher also admitted that the organization is in debt.

In a statement made to a local radio station the ejected students said that they feared the club would ask to use student funds to pay its debts. Because of this they said that the student body should be represented at the meeting.

Athletic Director Roy Clogston stated that the subject discussed at the meeting was the club's financing, but that no attempt was made to divert student funds. Kennett left for Durham immediately after the meeting and did not accept an invitation to appear at the evening meeting in Pullen Hall.

Present at the meeting beside Kennett, Fisher, Clogston and Harrelson were Bill Brannin, secretary of the club; W. D. Carmichael, Comptroller of the Consolidated University; J. G. Vann, and alumni Dave Clark, James Kilgore, Willie York and Red Beam, former Foundations head.

"Y" Honors Bomb Victim

The college YMCA published the following tribute to William H. Cochrane, Jr. who was the victim of a time-bomb explosion in Mt. Airy during the Christmas holidays.

Whereas, the North Carolina State College Young Men's Christian Association grieves in the great loss of its Treasurer and Cabinet Member of 1949, William H. Cochrane, Jr. as a member of the faculty of the White Plains High School for the past three years, Bill was very popular among his students and fellow teachers and had contributed much to the rural life of Surry County through his work with students of agriculture. His passing in early life brings regrets to his many friends.

Whereas, the NCS Y.M.C.A. is saddened over the passing of its former Treasurer and faithful Cabinet Member and wishes to record same, be it resolved,

First: That we extend our sincere sympathy to the wife and parents of the deceased and send a copy of this tribute as evidence of such sympathy.

Second: That a copy of these resolutions be placed in the minutes of this association.

Third: That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the editor of the Technician and the Alumni News.

VANDALISM—

(Continued from Page 1) the center of utility construction and will be in this status for the next three to six months. The steam tunnel and storm drainage construction have been essentially completed. We still have to complete the sanitary sewer crossing under the railroads just west of the underpass and the construction of a structure to carry the pedestrian walkway underneath the new location for new University Drive.

"Every effort has been made to keep this pedestrian undercrossing open and usable. However, barricades, lights, false-work construction, and even stakes placed to guide construction have been destroyed, removed, or otherwise disturbed by persons unknown during off-hours time.

"The destruction of barricades, lights, etc., during off-work time is not confined solely to this area. It is happening all over the campus, and by so many repeated incidents of this type persons attempting to traverse construction areas during off-hours are unduly subjected to the hazards attending the construction activity. I am wondering if this matter could be brought to the attention of staff and students with a plea for cooperation of all persons to observe the limitations imposed by barricades and to respect the hazards pointed out by the placing of construction lights.

We will continue to make every effort to maintain construction areas in as safe a condition as possible. However, it is impractical to completely eliminate hazards to the unauthorized public. We would emphasize strongly that unauthorized personnel should keep out of and away from construction areas to avoid injury to themselves as well as safeguard the work from damage by vandals."

Lombard Flick Sunday

The College Union Film Committee's regular Sunday program January 20th in the Textile auditorium, will feature Carole Lombard and William Powell in "My Man Godfrey."

The film is a comedy and comedienne Lombard gives one of the best performances of her career.

Admission for students and dates is free on presentation of students registration card. Faculty and staff with friends are admitted by College Union membership card.

Long Pull For Captain Oar Lock

By Special Correspondent

(By seagull from somewhere in the Atlantic, January 17)—“Welcome overboard, kid.” were the words that greeted me as I clambered along the keel of the Soaring Capitalist about 300 miles off the coast of Spitzbergen and 750 miles NE of Spianeland. This hearty greeting came from the man nobly dubbed Captain Oar Lock by a world enthralled by his legendary feat of intrepid courage. This was the man endeavoring to row his 6,000 ton freighter across the turbulent waters of the Atlantic.

position of Captain Oar Lock's temporary oar locks, screwed into the steel plates on either side of the keel, some fifty feet from the stern. The sea was fairly calm with an occasional thirty foot wave breaking on the bow at three or four second intervals.

until, WAP, over she goes. From then on it was a cinch. It took me four months to make Boston from New York, but I'm getting in my stride (sic) now. I intend to make Paris in time for the session in two or three years.”

Never before, and probably never again will the world witness the daring, the resourcefulness of this man, Oiler 3rd class Ming Fritz Halvah.

Halvah, dressed in a pair of natty Bermuda shorts and a four-in-hand was steadily pulling on the oars as he intently watched the Milton Berle show on a television set, supplied by a friendly sponsor, and suspended from a helicopter some forty feet above. “Captain Lock,” I said,—he interrupted with his typical warmth that had captivated the world, “Friends call me Oar,” he said. I blushed at this sudden intimacy from so great a figure, but continued, “Oar, what's the story behind this spectacular feat of yours?”

All the time that Ming Halvah was telling me this unbelievable saga, he kept rowing with the resolution of a man getting paid by the mile. There can be no doubt that this is an extraordinary man. “Oar Lock,” I said, “What about your wife and kids?” “Well,” he said “they usually visit me Tuesdays and Thursdays. I'm breaking the kids into rowing. Someday I hope my boys will do this to the Queen Mary.”

Becalmed Sea
Thoroughly drenched by the constant wash, I finally reached the

Such is the ambition of this great father. There can be little doubt in the minds of the people that this man will be the unanimous bipartisan choice for President of the country as soon as he reaches port. The recent months have brought a sea of support.

Powder Room
“Kid, I figured you'd ask me that. Pile up some barnacles and sit down. Last year, just after we had cleared the docks in New York, a fuse blew in the lady's powder room. Naturally this immediately panicked the crew and the brass who were all in there at the time. Well, before I could climb out of the boiler where I was lighting my cigar, the ship was deserted. Knowing what the cargo was—”

Best Seller
Halvah dropped his gaze from the television set and looked at the grandfather's clock strapped to the rudder with a popular brand of adhesive tape, “Almost time to knock off,” he said. I took this to mean that our meeting was over, so I gingerly stood up, picking off the friendlier barnacles and grapefruit halves. Just as I was saluting this hero of the world, Lock reached behind him and pulled out a large colorful volume. “Care to buy my autobiography?” he asked. Naturally I said yes, as I had been told it was the custom for visitors. But, upon looking for money, I found I had nothing smaller than a twenty dollar bill.

“What is the cargo, Oar?” I asked. “Sand,” he said, “we got two thousand tons of sand for the ash trays at the UN in Paris. Well anyway, I couldn't let the Hindustani-Dutch Cocaine and Opium Trading Company down, so I began to figure what to do. Not knowing much about mechanical things except maybe safe locks, I decided that I would have to row the boat. Well, that dumb captain didn't know enough to have oars long enough to reach from the decks, so I figured that with the short oars I had, the only way to row would be to turn the boat upside down. So I did.”

“That's all right kid. I got change.” It was then that I noticed that he was sitting on a sizable six drawer cash register. It took only a second for him to make change and wrap the book, by then the tender was along side and I climbed on, still waving at the smiling, sturdy, mongoloid face of Captain Oar Lock.

Four Months to Boston
This was the night, the resourcefulness that had caused the world to stand up and cheer with admiration. “Go on,” I said. Oar continued—“Well, I poured in enough water so that pretty soon the boat began to slant and lean

My last glimpse of Ming Fritz Halvah was a figure, now garbed in dinner clothes with a white tie, playing solitaire by the light of a driftwood fire nearby. The world salutes you Captain Oar Lock.

Out of Control

Last week it was suggested in these columns that Gordon Gray, President of the Consolidated University, investigate the formulation of athletic policy at our college.

The Tower, college handbook, states, "In matters pertaining to athletics at State College, authority is vested in the Athletic Council." Until last night this authority has been absolute; the Council has seen fit to answer to no other agency, group or individual. According to best authority there is no regulation requiring such action by the Council.

It is now apparent that the Athletic Council can no longer be allowed to operate as a completely independent agency. The Council stands responsible for policies and actions which have embarrassed the college and created dissatisfaction among faculty and students. Athletic ticket policy has irritated many; scholarship policy has driven the athletic program deep in debt; and the recent action reducing Beattie Feathers to freshman coach violates the apparent desires of the administration.

All of the problems arising over tickets and seating policy can easily be settled, but the debts and the Feathers affair are far more serious. Both of the latter result from an over enthusiastic athletic program which the school cannot support and which the administration does not want.

In October Chancellor Harrelson was quoted in this paper as saying "Athletics is out of control." That statement is true, but incomplete. The Athletic Council is also out of control.

Only a drastic alteration of the present organization and power of the council will bring it back in line with the rest of the college. The power of the President and the Chancellor should exceed that of the council. The proceedings of the council should be made subject to review by college officialdom and some of its authority should be taken away. Campus Government should well assume final authority over athletic tickets and seating policy.

Perhaps the council will see the error of its action. But "perhaps" is not enough. The time has come to reduce the power of this agency which has such turmoil on our campus.

Union Expansion

On Tuesday night the Directorate of College Union voted down a proposal of the General Alumni Association to erect an Alumni Memorial Building in conjunction with the Union.

The proposal offered benefits for both parties since the Alumni Building would provide hotel facilities for possible student use and the Union would provide dining rooms and lounges for the alumni visitors.

Considerable economy in the construction of the Alumni Building would also have been gained since there would be no need to include lounges or dining rooms in the Memorial Building.

However, after careful consideration the Union's policy making group refused the proposal. The basic reason for this refusal was that locating the Alumni Building adjacent to the Union would prevent or inhibit future expansion of the Union building. It was stated that the Union building could be extended only towards Scott Hall and that the Union will need all of the space.

The Directorate felt that the present Union facility will soon prove inadequate and will be enlarged. The Technician shares this confidence, and also congratulates this group for preventing steps, which would have introduced over-crowding to the new areas of the campus.

Steve Cloutier

U. S. S. White House

In line with the traditions of the press in supporting a political candidate for office, The Technician can think of no more opportune time to announce its candidate for the presidency in 1952 while he is still on dry land.

In troublesome times such as these, The Technician offers to the public the basis upon which it has selected "Stay Put" Carlsen to captain the ship of state for the coming years.

Captain Carlsen has ably demonstrated that his forte lies in the roughest waters. He has demonstrated his ability to approach any problems from all slants and angles. He has likewise demonstrated his ability to remain aloof through the worst of storms and for long pulls.

Moreover, he is not from Missouri and has never been in the haberdashery business.

With such qualifications as these, The Technician can not help but feel that "Stay Put" Carlsen is the man to supply a much needed steadier hand at the helm of this great ship of state.

Prudent Management

For the lack of a better idea, The Technician must assume that a book store is a store which stocks and depends largely upon the sale of books for its livelihood. The Watauga Book Store fits into the definition, but only in part—the sales part.

It is indeed a unique business wherein the merchant buys his stock only after his customers have signed order blanks, and therein lies the uniqueness of the Watauga Book Store. A number of classes have been completely stymied due to the fact that there are either no available texts or an insufficient number in stock.

If standard thirty-five per cent markups on books are to be charged, the standard business risks should be assumed by the management of the Book Store in placing advanced orders.

Must teachers and students fall behind immediately at the beginning of the term as the book store statement (?) continues to prosper.

"CLIQUE" RUNS WVWP

Penned Opinions

To the Editor.

Some time ago I attended a meeting of students who were interested in auditioning for part time announcing with the "student" station. As yet I have not been told the results of the audition; however, I did receive a card notifying me of a station meeting to be held on Thursday, January 10, at 7:30. Having previously expressed a desire to be connected with the station in some manner even if it were not in the capacity as an announcer, I assumed this would be an organizational meeting at which time provisions would be made as to the disposition of interested newcomers on the staff.

The meeting was conducted in a quite orderly manner by Mr. Adrian Trolmann. However, I failed to find any reason for my being there or any of the other new members present. Old business and new business was discussed by the old members for approximately an hour, and the meeting was adjourned. At no time was any mention made of the new members present or were they queried as to what they would like to do in the station. I soon gained the impression that someone had slipped up and sent the cards to the wrong people.

It turned out to be apparently a discussion among the few people who now have an active part in the radio station, and who have obviously controlled the station for a good while past. Some mention was made among the immediate staff about having obtained one or two more announcers for some future work—possibly, and there was a little discussion among them as to who could announce during the next week. Some little pleading on the part of one member of the staff finally produced a man who would announce on a certain Tuesday night. As I said, the meeting was adjourned and I walked out with a good many unfavorable impressions, and no hope of becoming a radio announcer with WVWP.

Hypnotism, Hilarity In Packed Pullen Hall

It was Standing Room Only in Pullen Hall last Friday night as more than 1,000 spectators crowded in to watch Dr. Franz Polgar exhibit his skill at mental gymnastics and hypnotism.

The lad with his hand in the air doesn't have the answer, but Polgar did. Clyde McGee was seated in the back of the auditorium when the Doctor put him to sleep. He won't get that arm down until the good Doctor pulls it down.

The shocked young man with his eye on the young lady can be identified only as "Leo." At this moment he is registering displeasure over meeting what he has been told is an ugly old man. Leo's audible comment was, "God!"

PENNEDED OPINIONS—

In view of the recent station controversy, my personal contact with the station, and the recent meeting I write the following. The impression I gathered at the meeting was that the "student" station is controlled by a very small "clique" who are absolutely opposed to the intrusion of an outsider. When I came to State College I understood that WVWP was owned by the students, run for the students, and run by the students. I inferred from the meeting that WVWP is run by students—5 or 6 of them.

Surely the inability, the narrow-mindedness, the incompetence, and utter childishness, which exhibited itself so clearly recently and which still exists within the staff, cannot ever hope to produce a well-working station.

Pack Drops Thriller To Cards Tangle With Wildcats Tomorrow

By BOB PHELPS

The North Carolina State College Wolfpack suffered its fourth defeat of the season Tuesday night at the hands of a good Louisville team, 73-68, but it came only after State had put on a sensational attempt to overcome a 16 point deficit in the fourth period.

Late in the third quarter the Cardinals held a commanding 15 point lead, and led at the beginning of the fourth by the score of 62-48. With only about eight minutes left in the game, Louisville had built their lead to 16 points at 68-52. It was then that State started to move.

Lee Terrill was fouled and canned the free throw to make the score 68-53. A moment later he hit from the floor to make it 68-55. Then it was Terrill again on a driving hook to cut the lead to 11 points at 68-57. Louisville then called time out, with five minutes and twenty-three seconds left.

After the time out period the Cardinals went into a freeze, but Terrill stole the ball and laid it in to bring the score to 59-68. Louisville made good on a technical foul try, but Speight countered with two to cut the lead to 8 points. A basket by Dick Tyler and one by Mel Thompson sliced the Louisville lead to 4 points to put the score at 69-65 at the three minute mark. Louisville then scored twice, but Thompson's hook fell and Tyler's free throw after the final buzzer made the final score 73-68.

Leading the State scoring was Mel Thompson with a total of 19 points. Captain Lee Terrill had 14 for the night, 12 of which came in the second half. Bobby Speight tossed in 13.

State's next game is against Villanova in Philadelphia tomorrow night. Although Villanova has not been setting the world on fire, State will have to play one of their better games to win. Last Saturday night they ran up 107 points against Muhlenberg. They will be led by Larry Hennessey, a star in the regular season games against the Wolfpack last year, both of which State lost.

Becton No. 2 Wins Football Championship

The Becton No. 2 football team defeated Becton No. 1 in the final game to win the dormitory championship. Becton No. 2, led by Arndt, Everhart, Temple, and Reese, showed too much form and won after a hard fought game.

Vetville Defeats Berry for Volleyball Champs

Vetville defeated the defending champions, Berry, to win the dorm volleyball championship. Smith of Vetville led his team to two out of three games for a victory over Berry.

Richardson and Rodgers Tied

Frank Richardson of Vetville and Jim Rodgers of Berry are tied for individual points in the dormitory race with 35 points apiece. Brittain of Vetville has 32, Strassler, Becton No. 1, has 31, and Alley of Becton No. 1 has 30 to round out the top five.

BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS

Berry Defeats Welch
The Berry-Watauga basketball team won its initial game of the season by downing the Welch-Gold team 31-21. Berry, led by Beasley and Young, took an early lead and kept it throughout the game. A Welch rally, led by Price, fell short and Berry won going away.

Becton No. 1 Stomps Turlington No. 1

Becton No. 1 completely swamped Turlington No. 1 with the fast break and good defensive play. Dula and Raper took the offensive honors with nine points apiece, and Harrell led the defensive play. Becton so outclassed the opponents that about three teams were used in the victory.

Vetville Tops Tucker No. 2

The Vetville basketball team out ran the Tucker team to gain a 31-22 victory. Kohlbecker led the Vetville team with seven points, but McClure of Tucker was high for the game with eleven.

Owen No. 1 Edges Becton No. 2

Owen played a determined style of ball in the last few minutes to beat Becton 23-18. Stewart topped the Owen team with 14 points and Temple led Becton with 6 points.

Alexander Defeats Bagwell No. 1

Alexander easily defeated the Bagwell basketball team by 23-10. James of Alexander was high scorer for the night with 13 points, and he was backed up by Harris, Cratts, Gearloff and Crow.

Owen Triumphs Over Bagwell No. 2

Owen got off to a quick lead and never relinquished it to gain a 19-10 victory over Bagwell. The high scoring honors were divided between Patterson of Bagwell and Hockaway and Winfree of Owen with six points apiece. Bagwell's inability to sink their shots and Owen's control of the backboards proved the deciding factors in Owen's favor.

State Undefeated In Conference Play

Southern Conference basketball teams are convinced N. C. State's Everett Case is just as good a prophet as he is a cage coach.

For proof, they glance back to early November. Case came up with this bit of prophecy about the Wolfpack Basketballers, currently seeking their sixth successive Southern Conference Crown:

"We are going to lack experience (those laughs in the background came from the league's other 16 teams), and a lot depends on our centers. If they come through, we will have a good ball club."

Needless to say, State's centers have "come through." For the Pack looks like the same invincible team which has become the basketball scourge of the land of tobacco, cotton, and peanuts.

Case's aces have a pretty fair 7-0 grip on first place in the standings. No other team has a perfect record in conference competition. For a while, it appeared Carolina's Tar Heels might give the Pack trouble, but Wake Forest cooled them off last week. The Tar Heels and West Virginia, each with 5-1 marks, are deadlocked for second place.

State is certain to remain in first for the next couple of weeks, for the defending champions take time out from conference play to try to improve on their slightly ruffled record of inter-sectional contests. State invades Villanova tomorrow night.

The Pack paraded 14 players onto the floor Saturday night to mop up on William and Mary, 82-46. Forward Bobby Speight rammed in 20 points for State and Sophomore Mel Thompson, one of those centers Case was talking about, sank 13.

George Washington's Colonials made their record 5-2 and climbed into fourth place with an easy 77-62 triumph over winless Virginia Military. Clemson moved into a tie with Maryland for fifth by downing The Citadel, 89-59, for its second win in three circuit clashes. Washington and Lee whipped Virginia Tech, 76-61, in a second division battle.

West Virginia's Mountaineers made their overall record 9-1 with a 79-60 victory over Pittsburgh. Duke, with Dick Groat grabbing scoring honors with 20 points, routed Temple, 86-65.

In other games, South Carolina tripped Georgia, 80-63; Marshall College was too much for Wake Forest, 76-68, and Rutgers surprised Maryland, 61-55.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 32...THE YAK

"Some people will do anything for laughs!"

He's far too sophisticated to be amused by slap-stick comedy! From the minute the curtain went up, he knew that you just can't judge cigarette mildness by one fast puff or a single, swift sniff. Those capers may fool a frosh — but he's been around and he knows! From coast-to-coast, millions of smokers agree: There's but one true test of cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke, on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

After all the Mildness Tests...

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

NONE of the girls were wild about this Wildcat. His hair looked like something the cat dragged in! "I'm feline mighty low," he told his Paw. "Every Tomcat, Dick and Harry on campus has dates but me!" "Yes, Siam aware of that, son. You need Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic. All the cats are using it because it's non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin. Relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Help you puss—I mean pass the Finger-Nail Test." So Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil, and now he's the most popular Persian at school, Purr-haps it's what you need! Take some small change out of your kitty and pussy-foot it to the nearest drug or toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. And ask for professional applications at your favorite barber shop. Hurry—meow is the time!

No Journalism Classes To Be Held This Term

No classes in journalism are being taught in the English Department this quarter according to L. C. Hartley head of the department.

Two sections of journalism classes were taught last quarter by Sam Ragan, Managing Editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, but registration for the course was insufficient to offer it this quarter.

Dr. Hartley said that he expects the courses to be offered and taught next quarter. An attempt will be made to hire a full-time journalism instructor next year, he said.

Journalism is a required course only in the forestry and education schools. No major in journalism or technical writing is now offered at State College.

21 Seniors To Teach In Ten Schools

Assignment of 21 seniors enrolled in agricultural education at NCS to ten North Carolina high schools for the purpose of practice teaching was announced today by Dean J. Bryant Kirkland of the college's School of Education.

The student-teachers, Dean Kirkland said, have already reported to the regular teachers of vocational agriculture in the designated high schools and have begun their work. The group will return to the State College campus on March 10 after completing nine weeks of practice teaching to make reports, to attend conferences, and to complete final examinations for the term's work.

During the nine-week practice teaching period, the seniors will instruct one or two regular high school classes in vocational agriculture each day and will hold classes for both young and adult farmers in the various communities. Each teaching center has an active Veterans Farmer Training Program in operation.

In addition, they will supervise the farming program of students in all phases of vocational agriculture and will act as advisers to the local chapters of the Future Farmers of America. While they are doing their practice teaching, the seniors will work under the supervision of the regular teacher of agriculture in the various schools and
