Coliseum Meet Starts Petition

A bloc of Monogram Club members appeared at Tuesday's student body meeting in the Coliseum to argue for a change in the Campus Government Student Supply Stores petition, but the night's big ovation went to Louis Hines who described L. L. Ivey's "angle" of the issue. Monogram President Walt Schacht met with C. G. President George Pruden Wednesday to write a new petition which will be signed by members of the Monogram Club, but some 300 of the 500 students present at the Tuesday meeting signed the original petition. When this petition is presented the resolution will also call for an audit, Pruden said Tuesday.

Led by Schacht, the group had a prepared statement which was read by Ralph Calvano, manager of the football team, who amplified the statements as he read them. Schacht was introduced by Pruden who stated that the athletics were most welcome at the meeting and that their views would be appreciated.

Calvano read a list of projects allegedly undertaken with Mop-Up profits and asked "Don't you think we, as a student body, could be of more help to State College in other directions besides tearing down that which has already been established?"

This view was supported by Walter Clark, graduate student in the Textile School and son of John Clark, the University trustee recently charged by UNC students with attempting to suppress student opinion. Walter Clark called for a rewording of the petition to call for opening the books of the Stores. He said that students couldn't get much done in changing the administration of the profits.

George Pruden has requested that all persons carrying Student Supply Stores petitions either turn them in at the Campus Government office by Wednesday or turn them over to any Campus Government member.

Schacht called upon Pruden to consider rewriting the petition in order that it might direct the Trustees of the Consolidated University to open up the books of the Stores. Pruden told The Technician late Tuesday night that the original petition would not be changed, but that the actual resolution pre-

Your favorite professor may be manning one of the twenty or more booths to be set up in Frank Thompson Gymnasium on Carnival Night, Friday Feb. 29 from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. The affair, sponsored by the college union social committee will feature a number of games and chances at which every student is invited to try his skill for a pittance. Valuable prizes will be offered.

The revenue from the carnival will be turned over to the Campus Government to be used to buy books or help pay the tuition for students who need financial assistance.

The union social committee urges everyone to attend, with a date if possible.

'Gestapo' Methods Bring UNC Battle For Student Rights

A student protest at the University of North Carolina has been made in response to a one-man campaign being waged by a North Carolina industrialist and trustee member for 30 years into student opinion on the campus at Chapel Hill.

Dick Murphy of Chapel Hill last week wrote a letter entitled "In the Name of Freedom" to Glenn Harden, editor of The Daily Tar Heel, attacking John Clark of Greensboro.

"I cannot recall or conceive of any other institution of higher learning which has permitted a man to sit on the Board of Trustees and at the same time to use the best methods of the Gestapo to intimidate students," Murphy wrote.

"In the case of John Clark the battle over conformity finds expression in the race issue," Murphy continued. "The question here is not whether one is for or against segregation, but for the right to hold an opinion contrary to that of John Clark."

"In the last year this man has written letters about students to the mayors of their home towns, and to other prominent officials throughout the State in an effort to intimidate those students because of their views, which were in opposition to his own, sowing the seeds of fear and distrust, possibly of disloyalty, and causing an untold amount of mental duress to those who are the objects of his attacks," Murphy declared. He revealed that the Dialectic Senate received a letter from Clark demanding the names and addresses of all those who had voted in favor of equal treatment for all students in recent resolutions.

Audits of "Ivey's Emporium" Released Finally To Representatives Of College, City Press

By DAVID E. MARRUS, Managing Editor

The mop-up story broke wide open Wednesday evening when J. G. Vann, Comptroller of North Carolina State College and Mr. L. L. Ivey, Manager of the school-owned supply store gave full details on the operation of the Student Supply Store.

Behind a desk strewn with the blue folders of audits made over the past five years in the Student Supply Store, Mr. Vann met representatives from The Technician and The News and Observer and outlined the financial setup upon which the store has been in operation. Sitting adjacent to Mr. Vann was Mr. Ivey who had supplied the requested audits and was present to supply any needed information and to clarify his own position in the matter which virtually overnight had attracted the attention of many influential figures in public life.

The audits, performed by the accounting firm of John F. Prescott of Raleigh, largely backed up the many circulating stories concerning sizable profits and sizable salaries which had been reputed to have been made from the operation of the supply store. It was shown from the statements of operation since Mr. Ivey took over the supply store in 1944, that Ivey had been paid a total of $162,228.44 up to the last fiscal year ending March 20, 1951.

Mr. Vann pointed out that the store was purchased in the name of a "Scholarship Fund," but that this constituted a "misnomer" and what the nature of the fund was more that of a student aid set-up. However, Vann, when questioned as to the distribution of the funds, replied that he would estimate that approximately eighty percent of the money went to athletes. Vann did say that the basis upon which he chose applicants for aid was "need, citizenship, and academic promise."

In more than seven years of operation, the supply store has contributed some $426,877.72 to the scholarship fund. Mr. Vann said that the present balance, as of January 2, 1952, was $46,191.27. The volume of sales in the book store has more or less been a reflection of the veteran enrollment it was pointed out by Ivey. In the lush years when the affluence of the GI Bill was being felt, the volume of sales rose as high as $824,000. However, with the decline of the veteran enrollment the sales for the last fiscal year dipped to approximately $560,000. Ivey stressed the fact that his percent cut of the net profits "were not costing the student anything." He said that his percentage was easily covered by the fact that he was making a higher profit than could be made under the usual circumstances. He further expressed the belief that in the elimination of the percentage clause in his contract, it would be likely that any individual would lose interest in his job, and not operate as efficiently as possible. Ivey continually stressed his complete willingness to cooperate with the students.

Mr. Vann complimented Mr. Ivey for his good management of the supply store and said that in his opinion Mr. Ivey was "one of the top men" in the field of college supply store operation. The two representatives from The Technician Paul Foght, Editor-in-Chief, and David E. Marrus, Managing Editor, questioned Mr. Vann and Mr. Ivey on the operation of Watauga Book Shop, and specifically mentioned the inequitable price being paid for second hand books, and the fact that material for sale in the book store was allegedly available gratis at other sources.

Alumni Want Guiding Hand For C.G. And Technician

Technician reporter Fleet Crowell went to Charlotte last weekend to contact the authors of the recent petition against Editor Paul Foght. He arranged to interview one of the signers, but was confronted by eleven of the men when he arrived for the interview. This is his report.

At a Sunday afternoon meeting to determine a reason for the strong action taken by members of the Board of Directors of the Mecklenburg Chapter of the General Alumni Association against the editor of The Technician, this reporter was quickly diverted from an interview to a 2½ hour panel discussion. Though showing an unfortunate lack of information about today's campus activities, this alumni group exhibited a surprising interest in student problems, a earnest desire to become more familiar with school policy and at the same time have students realize some of the benefits provided by Alumni organizations.

When questioned about the list of non-Anglo-Saxon named members of The Technician staff, the men replied that "they had gone through the paper and selected names from the most important positions on the staff."

(Those considered "important" include two men who have not served on the staff since last quarter, three members of the business staff, one reporter, a cartoonist and the managing editor and editor-in-chief.)

As justification for their petition asking for punishment of the editor because of his "scurrilous" attack on Dr. Fisher they offered this information.

1. Students should not be allowed to attack faculty and administration policies at will. A student is to be encouraged to practice self-government, but that government must at all times have "the guiding hand" of the administration on its shoulder.

2. The Technician should not take a strong editorial nor front page stand on subjects that raise students' ire, but rather should endeavor to spread goodwill around the campus. A policy of strong feeling on the newspaper's part discourages new students and gives outsiders an impression there is nothing but dissatisfaction on the State College Campus. They objected to the printing of a letter from an alumnus which complained about the activities of the Wolfpack sented to the Trustees would also request a public audit of the profits.

In a burst of mild sensationalism, Louis Hine, last tagged as the "C.G.'s voice of moral indignation," received an ovation as he proved to be exactly that with the delivery of this bit of information.

Said Hine, "I was approached by Mr. Ivey, head of the Mop-up in the hopes that I would get up in the mass meeting and represent the Ivey point of view. This I declined to do since I believe the present set up to be wrong. Mr. Ivey then offered to disclose the disposition of his profits, but when directly challenged to do so, declined."

The crowd, conservatively estimated at 500, dispersed soon after the original one hour limit had run out. Small group discussions sprang up on the floor immediately after Pruden left the microphone and continued until the Coliseum was locked.

dent body at the University of North Carolina, last night declared that "I am heartily in favor with all sentiments expressed in Dick Murphy's letter. I feel that there is a danger to freedom and thought of expression on the campus. There appears to be an increase in apathy and a decrease in the desire among students to speak out on any controversial issue."

Bowers said there not only appeared to be a fear among students on the campus of the University of North Carolina to express themselves openly on controversial issue, but the tendency seems to be mounting on campuses throughout the United States.

Murphy had based his letter on letters that Clark wrote last fall to officials of home towns of students who had brought up the question of non-segregation of audiences attending addresses and sermons of religious speakers.

The group feels that profits from Student Supply Stores should be a problem for the administration and not a concern of the students.

3. The Technician Editor and Campus Government president approached Dr. Fisher in an antagonistic manner when attempting to secure information which did not immediately concern the students. (NOTE)

During the discussion, there was pointed out the contributions and benefits provided by the alumni, which without them would not be possible. The three foundations, Agricultural, Engineering, and Textile, which, they say, make possible the superior staff and facilities, were established largely through alumni effort. The Wolfpack Club, composed mostly of alumni, makes possible the present athletic program at State and it is their hope that this program may become even more extensive and provide State College a more deserving place in the sports' world.

It is the desire of this Alumni group that an efficient exchange of ideas and information be provided between students, administration and alumni. Officers of this group are:

R. J. Barnes, President
Dwight L. Turner, Vice President

MOP-UP AUDITS—

Mr. Vann and Mr. Ivey both denied knowledge of such items, and Ivey urged students to come to him and discuss such matters. Vann expressed his confidence in the present manager of the book store, but added that he would look into the situation.

Mr. Vann denied that his interests lay with athletics, but urged that a decision be reached by the proper authorities as to the proper amount of stress to be placed upon the athletic program. He expressed the opinion that there might have to be a definite readjustment in the present program due to the fact that almost one third of it, scholarship-wise, was being supplied from the funds of the scholarship fund.

After several hours of discussion during which time Mr. Vann discussed the background of the supply store and answered any questions pertaining to the present set-up, the long sought, elusive, audits were replaced in their manila envelope, and the meeting was adjourned. Mr. Ivey expressed his willingness to help.

University Heads Defend Students' Rights

Gordon Gray Supports Right Of Expression

(Special)—Consolidated University President Gordon Gray told UNC students and alumni Saturday night that the student's rights of expression will be protected. Gray spoke at the 25th anniversary banquet of Alpha Pi of Zeta Beta Tau held in Chapel Hill Saturday night.

Outlining the administration's policy concerning student's rights to criticize, the Consolidated University chief explained that the University was constantly on guard to "protect and defend and reassert" the historic right of students to think for themselves, to express their honest opinions

... to object and to complain." But accompanying this right is the responsibility attached, he added.

"If a student speaks out, through a student publication or otherwise, in criticism of the administration or trustees, one limitation factor should be that the criticism be based on a knowledge and a correct understanding of the facts and not based on gossip or hearsay. And the other limitation as a part of student responsibility is that what he says be always circumscribed by good taste and good manners.

Students have the right to speak out as evidenced by The Daily Tar Heel, and they have the right to be mistaken, as do citizens in the state, he pointed out.

In answer to the question, "Should the administration attempt to protect an individual student against activities of those outside the University which might be libelous to the student," Gray pointed out, "society, in general has means of protecting the individual from damage and harm, whether it be libel or other kind of difficulties.

The dinner was a private affair and reporters were not invited, but a tape recording was made of President Gray's speech, and the recording was made available to the press.

The Chekhov Film Festival featuring two satires will be by the School of Design in Riddick Auditorium on Thursday, Feb. 28 at 8:00 p.m. In English subtitles, Part I, Jubilee, is based on Chekhov's "The Anniversary." Part II-Marriage, is based on "The Wedding." Both films are done by the players of the Moscow Art Theatre. A short subject, "Ballet at the Paris Opera" will also be shown.

Carmichael Calls For More Responsibility

W. D. Carmichael, Jr., called for more student responsibility in college administration in an address to the Inter-Fraternity Council banquet at the conclusion of Greek Week, February 14, but he expressed disapproval of student moves to obtain the net profits of the Student Supply Stores.

Carmichael, comptroller of the Consolidated University, stated that "The time has come when the students must assume a sound and mature responsibility for the administration of this institution. It is your college and all of us who work for it work for you."

Pointing up recent difficulties Carmichael said "... there are times when, through a lack of information or a misinterpretation of the known facts, there seems to be a breach of philosophy and effort between the administration and the faculty on one side and the students on the other. Actually there are no "sides" in this great undertaking. We are all—students, alumni, faculty, administrators and trustees—right in the middle, heart and soul."

Continuing to delve into local controversial issues the Comptroller stated "There is no question in my mind but that here at State College our students need more recreational, cultural and spiritual resources. ... Quite frankly, I should hate to see too much of the profits of the Student Supply Stores spent on facilities which I believe the Legislature will provide. Under our State laws the Legislature does not provide scholarships and, in my opinion, scholarships are the greatest single need of State College today."

In regards to complaints that too many scholarships go to athletes Carmichael said that "if a young man is a good student, gentleman, and a good citizen, he should not be discriminated against merely because he is a good athlete."

Garst Wins Venus-type Date

The date with the "Venus proportioned" gal from the Women's College was won by Tommy Garst of Tucker Dorm. The date is for the Saturday celebration of Greater University Day and was jointly sponsored by the Carolinian, Woman's College newspaper, and The Technician.

To Garst and his date, Miss Jean Griffen of Williamston, N. C., go two box seats at the UNC-State basketball game, meals from the

Ho Choy Restaurant, 508 St. Mary's; for Miss Griffen a corsage from Rainbow Florists, 2110 Hillsboro and ear rings from Weatherman Jewelers, 1904 Hillsboro. Mr. Garst will receive a pair of argyle socks from Milton's Clothiers.

Miss Griffen is a freshman at the Women's College. She reigned as Queen of the 1951 Williamston Harvest Festival and was selected by the Carolinian for Mr. Garst's date because of her fine personality—34, 24, 34.

Garst is a junior in Animal Industry from High Point. A transfer student from Miami University where he studied commercial art, his letter was selected as the cleverest entered in the contest by the editors of The Technician.

Garst and Miss Griffen will be introduced at the Greater University dance Saturday, but here is the letter that won the contest.

Ol' Snaghorn (muh pet bull) was a-lookin' purdy sad. I seen him mopin' 'round with his chin a-draggin' th' ground, an' he had a expression like a NCS student after a big Saturday night spree.

"Mornin'," I greeted him, but he jes' t'arned his back an' wandered off in his misery.

"Pappy," I said later, "Some-thin's a-worryin' Ol' Snaghorn. He ain't hisself no more."

"Welp," replied Paw, "Ain't nothin' t' do, son, but go up t' College an' find out what it is."

I said O.K., spat out muh ter-baccar, an' jumpin' in th' flivver, headed out fer good ol' Cow College. I figured if they knowed about cows up thar, they could tell me about muh pet bull, too.

I stayed at school almost two quarters, but didn't seem t' be gittin' nowhere with Ol' Snaghorn's problem. One night I was a-studyin' and a-listenin' t' muh room mate's radio (he's from a ter-baccar farm an' can afford them things) when sudden-like, I heard one o' the city fellers singin' a heart song 'bout a busted-up lover named "Cry." I got t' feelin' sort o' lonesome. Muh chin sagged down on th' desk an' dragged amongst th' chemistry equations.

I went back home an' played th' radio to th' bull 'til "Cry" come on agin. At that, Ol' Snaggy rolled plumb over on his back an' bawled an' bawled like he'd just flunked a English quizz. Then I knowed. I t'arned him out with th' cows.

But back at school afterwards, I got t' feelin' worse an' lonesomer. I got a bigger problem than Snaggy. I ain't got no extra pasture. Oh, gall, bitter, bitter wormwoods. I dunno what t' do 'cept stay away from radios.

MORE IMPELLING THAN EVER

On Clouding Issues

Yesterday morning's News and Observer suggested editorially that the petition now being signed by the student body will reopen all questions pertaining to the Student Supply Stores when it is presented to the Board of Trustees.

Walt Schacht and Buck Pruden allowed that fact to become lost in the smoke Tuesday night as they discussed possible flaws in the petition now before the students. Certainly, any petition of such nature presented to the trustees will raise numerous questions. Those questions will make unnecessary any separate petition to investigate the management of the Stores.

All of Tuesday's discussion tended to obscure the basic issue: since the students created and support the Stores through their purchases, do not they have a moral right to direct the disposition of those profits? This situation is not to be compared to that which exists in private business. The student body is a captive group of consumers with only one source of supply.

This is the situation that exists in the armed services where the profits from the operation of post stores are returned to unit funds to be utilized to benefit those who created them.

The real issue involved in the Student Supply Stores petition is just that: return the profits from the Stores to the students. Let the students make their own decision on what educational projects they want to support and then give them a voice in the establishment of those projects. The whole college will benefit when that is done.

Wanted: A Change

The college campus, long a green pastoral scene of quietude and learning, has rapidly been making a radical transformation at State College. Still present are the winding ivy and air of learning, but quietude is no more.

Yes, The Technician has heard of cars and trucks so equipped as to travel beneath the sea, but it has not heard of automobiles which utilize pedestrian walkways, while pedestrians use the streets.

This is the case on the stretch of road which extends in front of the Coliseum. On two occasions tire tracks and cars have been seen on the gravel paths while pedestrians take to the street.

Perhaps it is a fact that broken axles cost more than broken legs, and so the paths are yielded because they present a better surface. If this is the case, then pedestrians deserve a pat for their cooperation, however The Technician believing in an orderly way of life, would like to see the old system restored.

Quietude no longer pervades in the classrooms either. This is evidenced by the following quote by a professor to his class: "If any of you boys want a hundred for the term, just go down and punch the Editor of The Technician in the nose." The disturber in this case is the renowned Dr. H. A. Fisher.

Here again orderliness is to be desired, for while the right of free speech is acknowledged, the right to award arbitrary grades and arbitrary punched noses is not.

But, anything in the way of a rebuttal and in the line of duty will be cheerfully accepted.

PENNED OPINIONS

REDS, SUGGESTION

To the Editor:
The enclosed material, which is being distributed at our YMCA, seems to me to be communist in all respects. Read it over and see if you don't agree. It should not be allowed on this campus. If the people who are against UMT cannot find better reasons than these for their arguments, their cause is lost.

R. T. Hayes

Editor's note: We have read the material in question and do not believe that it is really communist inspired. Even if it were, the YMCA did not distribute the material. The YMCA sponsored an open forum on UMT and this material was distributed by Mr. Russell Branson, a minister of the Society of Friends who spoke in opposition to UMT.

The three circulars sent The Technician were prepared by the "National Council Against Conscription." The material carried the names of the members of the group and among them were: Louis Bromfield, William Faulkner, Harry Emerson Fosdick, and Albert Einstein.

To the Editor:
A petition, such as the one now circulating to acquire the Mop-up money, is a good democratic device to get action. Unfortunately, it works best only when presented to office holders who are elected by the petitioners. In our case here, the office holders are not elected by the signers of the petition; and consequently, they may react to it with anything from red-hot interest to complete indifference.

Now there is another way to get at this matter; a way that will get this question out of the realm of a game of "Whose Got the Thimble." It is honorable and democratic and is freely used. Call it lobbying if you like; it consists merely of talking directly to the men in a position to help you.

A body as large as the Board of Trustees of the Greater University is certain to be composed of the fathers, uncles, neighbors, and friends of some of the students here at State. Why doesn't every student talk things over with the Trustee he knows? (They are all listed in the Collega Catalogue.) The Trustee will be glad to get some first hand information on how things are going here at State. Under these conditions, he is certain to lend a sympathetic ear to student requests; and he will probably be as interested as the student in finding out where the Mop-up money goes.

With The Greeks

By FRANK GOODE

The fraternities are spending a quiet week recuperating from the effects of Mid-Winter's weekend; with, consequently, very few scheduled social events for the week. Louis Prima and his wild antics set the State College Greeks on their ears, and the general consensus of opinion is that he should put in his appearance at State more often.

To set things straight with the many new freshmen this year, the bushy-faced individuals that are now appearing on the campus are not "House of David" baseball players, they are KA's, starting their annual growths for the Kappa Alpha, "Old South Ball."

Two successful rush parties were held this week by Lambda Chi Alpha and Sigma Phi Epsilon. Lambda Chi Alpha is holding down the lead in the fraternity bowling league this year. At the end of the tourney, Lambda Chi Alpha leads, with Pi Kappa Alpha in second place and Tau Kappa Epsilon in third place. The Lambda Chi Alpha team is composed of; Randy Warren, Tommy Gill, Max Ward, and Theron Sanders.

Theta Chi's Regional Counselor, Randy Bruce, will be present this evening for the initiation of five new members and a banquet following, at the Reinlyn House. The initiated men will include: Joe Moore, Medonald Bland, John Porter, Buddy Matkins, and T. D. O'Quinn.

Alpha Gamma Rho pledges will entertain the brothers and their dates with a party Saturday evening after the basketball game. The party will be held in celebration of the end of the pledges "initiation" week.

The Sigma Chi's will be "getting in shape" for the Spring Term as they head for Nagshead Beach this weekend. A large Beach Party has been scheduled by many of the brothers to extend over Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

The class of '52 is now in the process of development and metamorphosis which will turn them from slide rule burdened students to executives with expandable bay windows.

However, this change is not accomplished completely through the study of various related technical courses, it is also due in part to a general development in non-technical fields such as social studies and English.

The latter is a course which invariably carries with it a blood soaked bandage as a reminder of those who fell by the wayside. However, there can be no doubt as to the essentialness of such a course. This has been concretely brought out in a recent poll conducted under the auspices of the Southern Humanities Conference by Professor Quentin O. McAllister of Meredith College (a man among women).

To quote the report, Professor McAllister has found the following to be true "Businessmen admit candidly that the best jobs go to tion of cheering has been planned to welcome 400 girls from W. C. who are arriving on the campus to help celebrate Greater University Day at State.

These cheers will be a preliminary for the victory yells after the Wolfpack meets the White Phantoms.

The cheering contest, sponsored by the Pep Club, will take place in front of the Y.M.C.A. when the W. C. lassies arrive about 5 p.m. Saturday, February 23. Head cheerleader Jerry Filicoto says the State cheerleaders will be there, and the Carolina cheerleaders have been invited to oppose. Views and Previews

JOE BENNETT, Sports Editor

I was all set to write a blistering column about last week's swimming meet at Chapel Hill. Then I changed my mind and decided to just let them bask in their ignorance over at the "Hill." After all, a win is a win in the records no matter how it's gotten. Then I read Ben Templeton's column in the February 18 issue of the Raleigh Times, and he really hit the nail right on the head. I would like to reprint that portion of the column pertaining to the meet.

The Times sports department has received several phone calls since Friday asking why this paper did not give better play to Carolina's win over State in last Thursday's swimming meet. One caller asked if the brief account was sarcasm, intended to belittle the win.

I told the caller just as I will tell anyone else that it was. The lead to the story said that the Carolina swim team "was credited" with a win. It intended to mean just that. If ever a meet and a victory had their bad points, this was one. Folks at State College are burned up. They certainly believe with fairer decisions by the judges, State would have won. Certainly there can be no pride at Chapel Hill in such a victory.

Why Carolina, which stresses sportsmanship above winning for all sports, should conduct a meet in this manner is not known, but rest assured any such contests, no matter how important, of this variety will never be given any larger amount of space on these pages. Fair play and honesty are backbones of athletics. Once these principles are neglected, the sport loses everything.

One of the victims Thursday night was State's Billy Churn, a Raleigh boy whom I know personally as one of the finest gentlemen on any team in this area. Billy thought he won the 50-yard freestyle by six or eight inches; yet, the judges did not credit Billy with first, second, or third places. How can Carolina take pride in such victories?

State Coach Willis Casey is to be commended for his conduct after the defeat. No one could have blamed Casey had he "blown his stack" with critical comments for the papers and radio.

While we're on a Carolina kick, here is something that was pilfered from Don Sapp's "Sports Roundup" in the April 7, 1944 issue of The Technician. "Here's a fact that some of you may not know. From 1905 to 1918 State did not play Carolina a single time in football. The reason: the Tar Heels were scared stiff. Yes, it's the unadulterated truth that Carolina didn't want to play the Wolfpack under any conditions.

"Time and time again State officials tried to arrange a contest with Chapel College, but the boys on the 'Hill' were always wary of the Wolfpack crew. However, in 1914 a game was scheduled between the two clubs.

"Shortly before the teams were to meet, Carolina began to take notice of the amazing feats of State's great back, A. J. Wilson" (former head of the chemistry department). "They knew their chances were none with Wilson in the lineup, so they decided that by some means he should be declared ineligible.

"An investigation resulted in which not one sane reason could be found to keep him from playing. Far from being satisfied, the Heels sought the easiest way out and refused to take on the 'Pack.'"

Tennis Tryouts

Tennis Coach John Kenfield has issued a call for all men interested in trying out for the tennis team to come by his office on the east side of the gymnasium and secure the information from him, or drop by the tennis courts in the afternoon. The courts are located behind Owen and Tucker dormitories. State now has some of the best tennis courts in the conference since they were moved from the east side of the Coliseum.

WOLFPACK LEADER—Pictured above is Lee Terrill, Wolfpack Captain, who is having his greatest year. The South Orange, N. J. guard has been slightly less than sensational in his play-making ability and on several occasions has been high scorer. His name should rank high on the list when the time for giving out honors rolls around.

2 Records Broken As Tankmen Down Tigers

By CHARLIE MOORE

State's mermen met Clemson on Saturday and swam away with the meet by scoring a 55 to 29 victory. In picking up these points State also racked up some new records in the conference and nationally. It took three freshmen to break the NCAA Medley relay. Mattson, Nauss, and Dunlap got together in the relay and established the new mark of 2:57.7 minutes. The old record was 2:59.6 minutes set by Yale University in 1950. State's Sonia also set a conference record in the 100 yard freestyle. He was clocked at 53.1 seconds.

In taking the Clemson meet, State took nine first places and finished second only in the 400 yard freestyle relay. The swim team now has a record of nine wins and one defeat.

The results:
300-medley relay: State (Dunlap, Mattson, Nauss). Time 2:57.7. New NCAA freshman record. Old record of 2:59.6 held by Yale.

State Takes Win Over Colonials Lose To Cards For Second Time Pack In 71-58 Victory Thompson Hits For 24

State's Wolfpack scored a 71-58 victory over the Colonials of George Washington Saturday night in a conference game which saw GW lose ground in their drive for a tournament berth.

Thompson Hits 24

Hard-working Mel Thompson's 24-point effort, plus an 11-point edge from the free throw line, enabled the Wolfpack to improve its second place standing in the conference to 10 victories and two defeats.

State dropped in 23 out of 28 foul shots, while the Colonials went to the line less frequently and collected 12 of 18.

For almost a half, GW made it close. State held a two-point edge, 27-25, near the end of the second period, and was ahead by six, 35-29, at the half.

Speight Hot

Then thin Man Bobby Speight, who contributed 16 points in little more than half the action, pumped in nine points in the first six minutes of the third period to help State build up a 47-33 bulge.

The Wolfpack went on to a 20-point spread, 54-34, before the sporadic Colonials came up with their best effort of the night and poured in seven points in the last minute and three seconds of the third quarter.

Cuts Lead

George Washington carried their rally into the final quarter and cut State's lead to six points with 5:39 left in the game, but Case sent Speight and Kukoy back into action, and the tide was stemmed.

Herb Applebaum, just promoted to the varsity from the JV, was a surprise starter and played the whole game.

Case Misses First Game In 32 Years

By BOB PHELPS

The Cardinals of the University of Louisville became the first team to defeat the State College Wolfpack twice this season, as they ran up an 82-67 victory in Louisville last Tuesday night.

Worst Season

The Louisville victory laid the groundwork for State's worse season since Coach Everett Case came to the campus some five and a fraction years ago. The Wolfpack now has a record of 17 and 9. Seven of these losses have come at the hands of intersectional opponents.

Coach Butter Anderson was at the helm for the night as a result of a virus infection which caused Coach Case to miss his first game in thirty-two years of coaching.

Louisville elected to use the fast break throughout the game and did so with complete success for the most part. At the end of the first half the score was 43-33 in favor of the Cardinals. The Louisville lead increased to 20 points at the end of the third quarter, and it looked as if the game would be a complete rout. At this point the Louisville coach sent in some of his reserves to play against the State reserves that Coach Anderson was using to find a workable combination.

In the next four minutes the Louisville lead was cut to only 9 points, but when the Louisville reserves were pulled in favor of regulars the spread was increased to the final 15 points.

High man for State was Mel Thompson with 18 points, followed by Lee Terrill with 12 and Bobby Speight with 11.

The State scoring went as follows:

Thompson	7	4	4	18

Tournament Race Tight As State And Mountaineers Only Teams In

Something has to give this week in one of the tightest races for Southern Conference basketball tournament berths in years.

Actually, only two clubs—West Virginia's Mountaineers and North Carolina State's Wolfpack—have mathematically sewed up invitations to the eight-team dribble derby in Raleigh, March 6, 7, and 8.

The Mountaineers soared into first place in the standings early last week and took an iron-clad grip on that position by closing out the week with three victories. West Virginia's record is now 12-1 with three tilts left. State, cast in the role of runner-up for the first time in nearly six years, has a 10-2 mark with two scraps remaining.

Seven other teams are in the battle for the six remaining places. They are Clemson (9-2), Duke (8-3), South Carolina (8-3), Maryland (7-3), Furman (9-5), William and Mary (8-5), and George Washington (7-6). None of the league's other eight quintets, has more than a mere mathematical chance of gaining a berth.

The big question, of course, is which one of the seven teams will lose out. One thing is certain—every team which finishes with better than .643 percentage is certain of a bid. For Furman, which possesses that record, has completed its conference campaign and is marking time to see what happens.

Clemson looks like a sure bet for one spot. The Tigers although they have tough games ahead, can assure themselves of a berth by taking one of their four remaining contests. South Carolina, also with four tilts, could step in by winning two.

Duke's Blue Devils, the hottest team in the league right now, can be sure with three triumphs in their last five tests.

If past performances mean anything, William and Mary's Indians will be on hand for the Raleigh fireworks. The Indians have three games left, all with foes they have already whipped once.

George Washington's Colonials apparently have the biggest assignment. Only team among the contenders with six losses, the Colonials still have a date with possession-minded Maryland. They also have games with The Citadel and Washington and Lee.

William and Mary jumped a major hurdle Saturday night when the Indians downed Maryland, 71-66. Clemson moved closed to a tourney invitation with a 77-69 decision over North Carolina. West Virginia trounced Virginia Military, 84-49, and The Citadel surprised Davidson, 62-52. Furman won a 77-76 non-conference game with Presbyterian. Richmond lost to Georgetown, 69-54.

Moez Zalfoyari in the final game to become campus champion. Trophies will be given to the winner and runner-up. The tournament was sponsored by the College Union Games Committee.

Only six games were played during the week of Feb. 11-15, as the fraternities prepared for the last week of sectional playing. This week will decide the sectional teams that will compete in the fraternity basketball finals. In many cases the race will be a close one, as in section two, where there is now a three way tie for first place. Kappa Sigma, Alpha Gamma Rho, and Pi Kappa Alpha will settle it out for the right to represent their section in the finals next week.

AGR Wins
Lambda Chi Alpha dropped before Alpha Gamma Rho by a nine point margin. The AGR's cut the nets for 28 points to the Lambda Chi's 19. Leading Lambda Chi was Morris with 7, and Holmwood and Carrow with four points each. Haddock and James headed the scoring column for the AGR's with 9 and 8 points respectively.

Kappa Alpha downed Theta Chi by 36 to 15, as Cheek hit 22 points for the KA's. Dassiter also aided the KA's efforts as he sank seven points. Sharpe and Moore led Theta Chi with four points each.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon bowed before a strong Sigma Alpha Mu team by 30 to 18. Piloting Sigma Alpha Mu down the floor were Maclaire and Sontag, as they donated nine points, apiece to SAM's scoring column. Leading the SAE's were Webster with six and Trogdon with five.

Close Win
Phi Epsilon Pi and Sigma Chi provided the evening's thrill as they battled out a close one through two overtimes. A field goal by Cocks in the second overtime won the game for the Sigma Chi's Fitzpatrick with nine, and Greenberg with seven, led the PEP's, while Frank Winecoff proved to be the high scorer for the Chi's. The final score of the game was 23 to 21.

Kappa Sigma over-ran Pi Kappa Alpha by 23 to 12, as the PiKA's failed to do much scoring through the Kappa Sigma's strong defense. Kappa Sigma was led by Thackston with nine, and Casler with eight. Hitting for Pi Kappa Alpha were Ward with five and Kennedy with four.

Sigma Phi Epsilon defeated Delta Sigma Phi by 36 to 21, as the Delta Sig's dropped their seventh straight game. Rogers was high scorer of the game with 12 points. The Delta Sig's were led by Meyers with eight, and Trulove with seven.

TKE Romps
Tau Kappa Epsilon, led by Lumly with 12 and Pettinelli with 10 points, finished the season with an undefeated record as they downed PKT 41-8 in a rough game. Phelps and Mills added seven and six points respectively to the Teke scoring.

Swimming Finals Friday Night
The Dormitory and Fraternity swimming finals will be held Friday 22, at 7:00. All events will be run off that night and the champions declared. The list of the participants is listed on the Frank Thompson door.

Becton Romps Over Bagwell
The boys from Becton No. 1 continue to subdue every team in their section with a 28-15 romp over Bagwell No. 2. However, this game was close until the last quarter when the Bagwell boys froze up. Bagwell fought back in the third quarter to tie the game up, but Becton, led by Harrell, pulled out in front to win going away. Tommy Moore led the Bagwell charges with 8 points.

West Haven Wins Over Welch
The old men from West Haven played a slow game and defeated Welch 17-14. Carl Price, the big gun of the Welch team, was held to five points, and that probably led to another loss for the Welch team.

Turlington Downs West Haven
In one of the highest scoring games of the season, Turlington No. 2 edged out West Haven 39-34. The improved West Haven made it a game with Turlington, the heavy favorite, right down to the end. The sharp shooting of the West Haven team kept them in contention until the final gun. Turlington controlled the backboards, and that payed off in another win for the unbeaten Turlington five. Smith, Scofield and Sronce led Turlington with 19, 18 and 8 points respectively. Buff was high for West Haven with 18 points.

Pack Seeks Fifteenth Consecutive Victory Over Tar Heels Tomorrow

Mayhem On Skates Comes To Coliseum

Ice hockey, a Northern form of frozen mayhem, may invade the sunny South for the first time this winter.

Workmen are installing $10,000 worth of hockey equipment in the huge Coliseum at State College. The management hopes to have it completed before the season for the organized slaughter on skates is over.

The $3,000,000 Coliseum has been used for everything from evangelistic meetings to commercial ice shows, but is best known as the home of the Dixie Classic basketball tournament and State's Wolfpack. It seats up to 15,000 persons, depending on the event being staged.

Success of the ice shows led to speculation about hockey and speculation became reality this year. Manager W. Z. Betts said he has been assured by hockey leagues that they will send teams down to play exhibition games.

"We already had the ice equipment, installed when the building was completed in 1949. We've put in lights and other equipment for the ice shows, so we figured it wouldn't take too much more to make a hockey rink out of it," Betts said.

He said he can't release the names yet of the first teams to play here. He said the first games will be exhibition matches "and if they go over we hope to make it a regular winter attraction. Eventually we may get regular league games played here every winter." "Most people in this area have never seen a hockey game," he said, "I've heard a lot of them say they would like to see at least one, so I know we can sell tickets for the first game."

"Whether we can build up regular hockey fans, like football and baseball, is something we'll have to see when the novelty wears off. But I believe a new sport in this area would go over."

The novelty of the frigid sport in a region where ice usually is limited to cubes in the refrigerator should sell, Betts thinks. "Look at the crowds the ice shows attract. It's not something you see down here every day."

Betts said he did not know of any other rink in the South suitable for the bone-cracking sport "unless you count Washington and Baltimore as South, which I don't. We should be the first down this way to have it."

Track Schedule Lists Nine Meets In Spring

Track Coach Tom Fitzgibbon has released his Spring Track Schedule, which this year lists nine meets including the Southern Conference Meet and the Penn Relays.

The opener this year will be with the strong Leatherneck squad at Camp Lejeune, N. C. The Marines

When The Wolfpack Take The Floor Tomorrow Night, They Will Be Gunning For Their Fifteenth Consecutive Victory Over The University Of North Carolina Tar Heels.

The Pack has two wins to their credit over Carolina already this year. The first was a 58-51 victory in the semi-finals of the Dixie Classic, and the second was a thriller at Chapel Hill that saw the Pack put on a terrific drive in the last period to come from behind and tie the score and go on to score the victory in an overtime period, 58-53.

Carolina has an 8-9 record in conference play this season and a 12-13 record in all games played. They have been mathematically eliminated from the tournament by the loss to Davidson last Monday, but they would like nothing better than to take a victory over State. Six years is a long time.

Leading the Tar Heels is Al Lifson, a 6-2 freshman forward from Elizabeth, N. J. He has scored well over 300 points already and is a scrappy rebounder. His teammate at forward will be Jack Wallace of football fame. Another freshman, Paul Likins, will likely start at center, and the guards will be Captain Howard Deasy and Vince Grimaldi.

For the "Big Red," Mel Thompson and Bill Kukoy will team at the forward positions, with Bobby Speight at center and Captain Lee Terrill and Bernie Yurin or Herb Applebaum at the guards.

Applebaum, along with Danny Knapp and Jerry Lawrence, was promoted to the varsity from the JV last week and will likely see plenty of action. Applebaum started the George Washington game last Saturday and played the whole game.

Another unfamiliar face may appear in a Wolfpack uniform tomorrow night for the first time. Freshman Dave Gotkin, who broke a bone in his wrist before the season started, has been working out, and if his wrist gets the doctor's OK when the cast is taken off, he may see some action.

have already begun practice for the State meet which is on March 29, and they report 150 men have answered the call for practice.

At the present the State roster lists about 40 men. This is one of the largest squads that State has fielded in some time. There are about ten men returning from last year's team. Most of the others lack experience but have made up for it in depth.

The Spring Track schedule is as follows:

- Camp Lejeune—March 29, there
- Carolina Relays—April 5, there
- Richmond—April 14, there
- U.N.C.—April 22, here
- Penn Relays—April 26, there
- South Carolina—May 3, here
- Duke—May 7, here
- Davidson—May 10, here
- Southern Conference—May 16 and 17 at Chapel Hill
- Southeastern and Southern Conference—May 24, at Atlanta
