Last week it was announced that the service fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega, would erect bulletin boards in all the classroom buildings on the campus. For this there is great need.

However, the need is for bulletin boards or some device that will physically set apart all important college community events from other miscellaneous announcements. The Technician would like to compliment APO on a step forward in the right direction, but as yet the full realization of distinct bulletin boards has not been reached. Instead, long narrow signs with the words "College Community Events" printed in red have been placed over a portion of various existing bulletin boards by APO.

These signs do help to center important notices, but by no means do they insure that these notices will not be buried by an oversize lecture poster tacked on adjacently. As was stated earlier in this column and several weeks ago in the widely circulated "White Paper," the real need is to have definite channels and means of keeping the student in touch with all college affairs daily. Only in special bulletin boards can the Technician see a good and lasting solution to this very serious problem.

Again, a compliment is due Alpha Phi Omega for its very great interest in student problems and the solutions to these problems. And again, The Technician urges this group not to stop now.

CG Constitution Amended After Penalty Debate

The question of the proper punishment for stealing a book caused a debate at Tuesday's Campus Government meeting that resulted in the unanimous approval of three changes in the Campus Government By-Laws. All three must be voted on again before becoming effective.

The debate on reasonable and proper punishment came when the Council was asked to approve the verdicts for two Honor Trials. The second of these was a trial for petty theft and the jury's recommendations were for a leniency not indicated by the Campus Government Constitution.

When the Council approved the trial proceedings, Joe Mason, prosecutor in both trials and chairman of the committee now revising the CG Constitution, stated that he hoped that the Faculty Council would over-ride Tuesday's decision when reviewing the case.

In an effort to describe an exact penalty for certain Honor System offenses in the future Mason advocated the three amendments to the By-Laws which the Council accepted on first reading. The revisions read as follows:

ARTICLE IV

SECTION 4. The giving or receiving of aid on quizzes and examinations is a serious offense and punishment shall be at the discretion of the Council in case of conviction. Changed to read:

The giving or receiving of aid on quizzes and examinations is a serious offense and verdict upon trial by the Council shall be:

1. Guilty or,
  2. Not Guilty
  - a. A verdict of guilty requires a sentence of either:
    - (1) Suspension from school for 1, 2, or 3 terms upon discretion of the Council.
    - (2) Dismissal, never to re-enroll at North Carolina State College.
    - (3) A second conviction shall result in permanent dismissal from the college.

Faculty Members State Recreation Top Need

The money which the Student Government receives from the mop-up profits should be spent for new student recreational facilities according to three faculty leaders. Primarily for new playing fields and equipment for intra-mural softball, football and tennis say J. W. Shirley, Paul Derr and J. J. Stewart.

Shirley, dean of the basic division, said he thought the money should be spent for student needs, both physical and cultural, for which the state legislature could not be expected to vote funds.

He considers a baseball field equipped for night games of primary importance as well as more tennis courts.

In the cultural field he believes the debating team, the glee club and the band are groups which need and should have financial support.

C. P. Derr, head of the P.E. department suggests a plan whereby students receive clean gym clothing, towels and soap each time they take gym. Such a plan is in operation at Carolina where students are charged ten dollars per quarter to cover the cost. The plan might be financed at State out of the new funds.

Mr. Derr also expressed the belief that more equipment and facilities were needed for intra-mural sports.

J. J. "Jack" Stewart, dormitory director, said student needs lay in three main areas, intra-mural sports equipment and playing fields, social and recreational rooms and cultural and social activities. He would like to see at least one recreation room in each building on the campus. Recreation rooms which would be tastefully furnished and well stocked with games of all kinds as well as ping pong tables.

He also thinks there is need of a playing field suitable for night games.

It is the opinion of all three men that the disposal of the money is entirely the responsibility of the students themselves.

C. G. Allocates First $20,000 For Projects

$10,000 To Rec Rooms As Student Program Starts

Meeting Thursday night for the fourth time in two weeks the Campus Government allocated the first $20,000 of the minimum $40,000 promised for student projects as a result of last week's bargaining session between student leaders and Administration officials. The first projects to benefit are the recreation rooms for the dormitories which will receive $10,000, intramural fields which will get $3,250, a non-sectarian chapel for the YMCA which will obtain $4,000, the band and orchestra which will get a total of $2,000 and the D. H. Hill Library which will get $750 to be spent on recent books for the open shelf collection.

Notice

All students are urged to send suggestions regarding athletic seating policy, which will be worked out in the near future between the Campus Government and the Athletic Department.

Bring your suggestions by the Campus Government Office in the Publication Building and drop them in the mail slip in the door.

The special session of the Council, which lasted for two hours, was called by CG President George Pruden when he was informed that the first money for student projects was available for allocation. When he opened the meeting Pruden remarked that it was necessary for the Council to determine which projects should receive top priority and that the newly formed Student Development Council would continue the work and allocate the remainder of the money next quarter.

All of the $10,000 allocated to the dormitory projects is to be spent for recreation rooms under the direction of Dormitory Director J. J. Stewart. Discussion led by CG Vice-President John Dhan and Ag. School alternate Kent Troutman indicated the opinion that the money spent for dormitory projects should represent each of the three major campus areas: upper campus, quadrangle and west campus. The Council then voted $3,500 for Alexander dormitory, $3,500 for Syme and $1,500 for Berry. A fund of $1,500 is to be provided in the event that the cost of any project exceeds the original estimate.

The Council directed that $3,200 should be spent to survey and estimate a construction program for intramural playing fields that "could be constructed in stages as money becomes available."

The new Student Development Council was charged with the task of supervising the alteration of a room in the YMCA as a non-sectarian chapel.

Plans for the creation of the Student Development Council as a new student planning agency were announced last week and were made public by the CG last night.

The new organization is to have 15 members; 13 are to be elected from 13 separate student groups and the remaining 3 represent the Dean of Students, the Dormitory Director and the Dean of the Basic Division.

The basic purposes of the SDC are to "have a representative on the college Development Council to present the students' . . . programs," to "have two representatives on the Scholarship Fund committee," and "to study the development of the social, recreational and cultural programs . . . and to make specific recommendation to appropriate bodies."

Pruden stated Thursday that he expected that the new body will meet at an early date next quarter.

Bankers' Hours

The college Business Office will be closed on Saturdays beginning this week. Regular business hours will be 8:30 to 1:00 Monday through Friday. If the new schedule proves an inconvenience to a number of students the office will reopen for a short period on Friday afternoon.

Student Rate Offered For Next Ice Pageant

Through the efforts of Mr. J. G. Vann and Mr. W. Z. Betts, in cooperation with representatives of Campus Government, The Technician and the College Union, a special concession will be made to all State College students who desire to buy tickets for the Hollywood Ice Revue which opens March 25 at the Coliseum.

Special rates will be in effect only for the opening performance. Student discounts are as follows: $3.00 tickets reduced to $2.00, $2.50 tickets to $1.75, and $2.00 tickets to $1.00.

As soon as tickets are ready for sale, announcements will be made as to the location and time of ticket sales. A coupon in the athletic book will be designated as exchangeable for a ice show ticket at the student price.

It is planned to make these student rates available to other colleges in the city and immediate area if they are interested in co-operating.

The Hollywood Ice Revue features Barbara Ann Scott, famed Canadian Olympic figure skating champion recently turned professional. This will be the first time that the Hollywood troupe has appeared in Raleigh.

Frosh Elected To CG

Three new members from the freshman class were sworn in during the Campus Government's Tuesday meeting. From the School of Textiles came Joe Hester, from Design, Gerald Page and from Education, Jerry Wood. President Pruden then thanked the retiring Freshmen representatives for their interest in Campus Government and asked them to try and increase the interest in their own schools.

Any student tried for stealing, or of knowingly possessing stolen goods, shall be given a verdict by Article IV, Section 4.

The 1952 Senior class has elected to donate several television sets to the College Union.

All seniors who have not paid their $1.00 dues are encouraged to do so during spring registration. A booth will be set up in the gymnasium for the specific purpose of collecting the late dues.

IN 25 WORDS OR LESS

I Like State College Because .....

"I like State College because it trains young men for service during both peace and war."

So spoke the late Josephus Daniels, editor of the News and Observer, secretary of the Navy under President Wilson, and ambassador to Mexico under President Franklin Roosevelt.

Through the years, State College alumni have achieved wide recognition in military life. Among the top-ranking alumni in the Navy are Vice Admiral David Worth Bagley of Raleigh, war-time commander of the Western Sea Frontier with headquarters in San Francisco, and Rear Admiral Paul Hendren of Chadbourn, who is on duty somewhere on the West Coast.

Top Army man among State College alumni in World War II was Major General William C. (Bill) Lee of Dunn, known as the "father of the Army's airborne command, who died in June, 1948. Since his death, the college has established a military scholarship in his honor.

N. C. State alumni who held the rank of brigadier general during World War II included Sam W. Connell of Warrenton, Archie A. Farmer of Wilson, Pierre Mallett of Asheville, James W. Townsend of Greensboro, and C. L. Keerans of Charlotte, who was reported lost in action over Sicily.

Also a graduate of the college and its ROTC course is Chancellor J. W. Harrelson of State College, a veteran of both World Wars. Colonel Harrelson was deputy chief of the Army's Specialized Training Program in the Fourth Service Command during World War II.

State College, which now lays claim to one of the finest military traditions in America, first included military courses in its curriculum in 1894 when a young naval officer, Lt. Richard Henderson, was assigned to teaching duties on the campus.

Oddly enough, the Navy even though a member of its staff first started the military program at the college does not have a formal training course at the institution today. N. C. State, together with Cornell University and a school at Flint, Mich., had the chief responsibility, however, for supplying the Navy with reserve engineering officers skilled in Diesel science during World War II.

First ROTC uniforms used at N. C. State in 1894 were gray fatigue suits, valued at $7.75 each. Today the campus, on drill days, is alive with Army khaki and Air Force blue as the 1,500 cadets—comprising the largest such regiment in North Carolina—go about their duties.

Over 5,000 of the alumni, including more than 2,500 officers, served in World War II. More than 200 of these were killed in action.

With the nation involved in another armed conflict, State College men are again in the thick of the fighting and are playing key roles in hundreds of home front duties essential to the country's national welfare.

Mr. Daniel's remark made in an address at the college several years ago seems as timely today as when he made it.

Statistics Department Attracts Wide Attention

The Institute of Statistics of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, which maintains departments at the University in Chapel Hill and State College in Raleigh, is rapidly gaining in its significance as a key international center of education and research.

That is the conviction voiced here by Dr. Barend de Loor, professor of statistics at the University of Pretoria in the Union of South Africa, who took time out from his studies in the Department of Experimental Statistics at North Carolina State College for an interview.

"This Institute," said the good-natured South African educator as he relaxed between classes at State College, "has made a world name for itself. There are two big institutes in the United States. The other one is at Iowa State College."

Dr. de Loor, a heavy-set gentleman with a big grin and a top-notch record of professional achievements behind him, is undertaking his studies at North Carolina State College and the University in Chapel Hill under a traveling grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

Visiting scholars like Dr. de Loor provide an "invaluable exchange of information and ideas for the Institute of Statistics," according to Prof. Gertrude Cox, director of the Institute who maintains headquarters at State College, and Prof. J. A. Rigney, head of the Department of Experimental Statistics at State College.

"Sometimes we learn more from our visitors than they do from us," said Professor Rigney.

Miss Cox explained that the Institute "profits a great deal from the visiting scholars," that the guests broaden the outlook of the faculty, and that the exchange program enables the Institute to develop a more comprehensive program of teaching.

As an indication of the importance attached to the work of the Institute of Statistics by the United States government, the Institute has been designated to participate in the Point Four technical assistance program for the Latin American countries.

"Laughs In Life Dept."

Mies van der Rohe, world renowned German architect proved himself sure and untroubled by the future during a Monday afternoon seminar sponsored by the School of Design in Riddick Hall.

A fifth-year design student asked, "Mr. van der Rohe, now that you have done the Farnsworth House (his first in five years) which exemplifies everything you believe in and advocate, where will you go from here?"

Countered Mies, "Don't worry about me!"

Got Troubles?

Maurie Goldberg owns a campus camera shop at Syracuse University. A couple of weeks ago his shop was robbed of $3,000 worth of equipment.

Maurie treated the event with his customary, stoicism, but the Syracuse Daily Orange hit the ceiling.

The Orange characterized Maurie Goldberg as "a woe-beridden 23-year-old with a tremendous penchant for having misfortunes befall him . . . and always smiling through the very worst of it."

The camer shop thief was called a "mean little man" by the Orange.

Briefly, the Orange traced Maurie's trouble-dented career: "In four years he has undertaken at least six major business ventures, been involved in seven partnerships, lost and replaced various odd thousands of dollars and somehow earned a degree, to boot."

Then there was the time Maurie locked himself out of his own house in the middle of the night, having run in his pajamas to see an accident. And the time he discovered his phone wires were being tapped, because his roommate was "slightly pinko."

Doggett Honored

The outstanding senior engineer at the North Carolina State College School of Engineering is Wesley Osborne Doggett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Banks C. Doggett.

Selected on the basis of scholarship and personality, Doggett was awarded a gold watch by the Engineers' Council at the annual Engineers' Ball. The watch was presented by Dr. J. H. Lampe, Dean of Engineering, and was inscribed with Doggett's name, class, and the name of the College, and the award "Outstanding Senior Engineer."

Doggett's scholastic average at State College amounts to 2.87, which means approximately 90% of his grades have been A's. In addition he has been extremely active in extra-curricular activities.

He is president of Thirty and Three, a local leadership fraternity; and vice-president of Phi Kappa Phi, the national scholarship fraternity. He is also a member of Tau Beta Pi, the national engineering honor society; Phi Eta Sigma, a freshman scholastic society; the Arnold Society of Air Cadets; the Cadet Officers' Association; and the Student Publications Board.

With The Greeks

By FRANK GOODE

The fraternities, as the rest of the campus, are settling down to a quiet weekend preparatory to attacking a vigorous week of studying and finals. The Kappa Alpha's, however, are planning one big splurge before attempting to contend with their final exams. A stag party beginning Saturday afternoon and ending sometime Sunday will insure them of some recreation before the big week of exams. The party will be held in a cabin "somewhere along the Neuse River," nobody seems to know exactly where the cabin is, but the KA's are confident that they will find it before the party ends, on Sunday.

Delta Sigma Phi celebrated their "Founder's Day" last Saturday evening with a banquet and a program following. Thad Eure, Secretary of the State, was the guest speaker for the evening and presented an interesting talk to the brothers, pledges, and alumni.

New Officers

Four fraternities held their annual elections last week for their new officers. The newly elected officers for Phi Kappa Tau are as follows: Wayne Beal, Pres.; Harry Heilig, Vice Pres.; Bobby Helms, Sec.; Ray Bradley, Treas.; and Tommy Cottingham, Steward.

The new year's officers for Pi Kappa Phi will be: Ira Hefner, Pres.; Ken Sledge, Treas.; Dick Dixon, Sec.; Jack Fisher, Ass't. Treas.; Bill Williams, Historian; Eddie Avent, Chaplain; and Jim Goldner, Warden.

Sigma Phi Epsilon will have as their officers for the coming year, the following men: John Cunningham, Pres.; Wesley Styres, Vice Pres.; Jack Russell, Treas.; Richard Quickle, Comptroller; Carlton Davenport, Historian; Bob Westbrook, Steward; Dale Jones, Ass't. Steward; and T. E. Ricks, I.F.C. representative.

Newly elected officers of Kappa Alpha are: George Cornelison, Pres.; Howard Cox, Vice Pres.; and Sonny Hines, Secretary.

New Men

On Monday night, Sigma Pi welcomed three new brothers into the fraternity. The new men are; Don Council, John Springthorpe, and David Tate. Four new pledges took their oaths to Sigma Nu fraternity on Monday evening. The new pledges are; Bob West, Bill Ryan, Bill Maready, and Jack Burnette.

Pi Kappa Alpha will hold an "English Party" on Friday evening in honor of two English boys who are leaving State College to work in the textile industry. The party will be held in honor of Jerry Palmer, and Donald Garret.

Alpha Gamma Rho will hold a "Tacky" (Come as you are) party tomorrow evening. The members and their dates will enjoy a program followed by refreshments.

Alumni Paper

Sigma Nu and Pi Kappa Alpha are each initiating a new alumni newspaper this week. Pi Kappa Alpha will edit their paper termly, Sigma Nu will initiate a monthly newsletter. The newsletters will be sent to the respective fraternities alumni and chapters throughout the United States.

HOT SCRAMBLE

Seconds after a telephone alert to a nearby Air Force base to "scramble," pilots hustle to their jets. In minutes, the stubby, swept-back interceptors thunder skyward.

This is the real thing. Pilots call it a "hot scramble." Live ammo rides in their guns. It starts when an Air Force radar station detects an aircraft which cannot be identified. A telephone call by direct wire galvanizes the jet crews into action.

Modern air defense requires lightning-fast, dependable communication. That's why our radar defense system is interlinked by a web of direct telephone lines.

Some of today's college graduates will be piloting Air Force jets. Others will be welcomed into the Bell System where they can help, in peace or war, in the tremendous job of meeting the communications needs of our nation.

Accomplishments and Expectations

Much good has been accomplished by and for the student body during the past two weeks, but as yet unrecognized is the fact that the value of the immediate accomplishment is far outweighed by the future value of the student agencies recently created.

Forty thousand dollars is a lot of money, especially to an impoverished student, and it will provide for several vitally needed improvements. However, the creation of such agencies as the Student Development Council

Important Balance

Committee study is a term which is usually fraught with the connotations of unproductiveness produced at a rapid rate. In the dynamic society of Washington, committee study is usually the eventuality of any measures which involve the country during an election year.

However, it is the hope of The Technician that the committee study to which the Student Supply Stores will be bought will prove to be highly effective in straightening out a problem which has been strengthened by too many years of growth.

The selection of the committee has been nominally left up to the Governor of the state. Whether a formality or not, Mr. Scott is in an excellent position to select the best suited and most interested parties for his office as one which has well travelled inroads into the most highly esteemed circles in the state.

It will not be an easy task for the men who are selected, for the job will entail, and should entail, much time for the needed careful investigation. Not only must they investigate the very basic foundations of the stores, as to their position on the campus, but they must go much further. Charges have been made that the store is not being run as profitably as and the Student Supply Stores Advisory Board bode even more good as an instrument for developing leadership in our student body.

Through these agencies the student body has a direct channel through which to deal on equal footing with the top officials in the Administration. Here, University officials and students will learn of each others' efforts and aims. Here, students will have the opportunity to create high level policies, and will obtain the type of training that is too often missing from the list of accomplishments of graduates of this or any other institution.

possible. Charges have also been made that employer-employee relationships are far from satisfactory.

All this must be looked into and weighed against the experience of those on the committee. And above all, the question of store-student relations must be looked into and improved. The stores occupy an all too important position in student life for them to be considered as poxes as they are today.

This is not only a State College study, for the duties of the committee also include similar investigations and studies of the supply stores on the other two campuses of the Consolidated University. However, it is the hope of The Technician that the committee because of the unified investigation will not see the need of arriving at a unified solution identical for all three campuses.

At the University, the profits from the store are used to subsidize the salaries of the teaching staff, but at State, the need is greatest for scholarships, and the committee should not lose sight of this fact.

It is not an easy job that the committee will be dedicated to. But, the need is great, for the price of campus morale is in the balance and a good and fair decision must be reached to off-set this balance.

Freedom Of The Press

Freedom of the press will never die.

If it ever does, the funeral will be a double one. Two draped caskets will be lowered simultaneously into a jagged-edged grave carved in the soil and rocks of America. The epitaph will probably read: "Here they lie together. They're buried together because they were born together and they passed away at the same time. Without the other, neither could exist alone. Here lies free journalism and democracy!"

Personal liberties are the dominating characteristic of the country we know and love. It's the point we carry around in the backs of our minds when we brag about America. It's the wall that forms the bulwark against our enemies—the wall against which many stones have been hurled—stones that have always bounced off. The impregnability of our country is directly proportional to the freeness of our people. And no freedom is more important than that of the press.

Just what is freedom of the press?

It's the right of those engaged in disseminating news to relate the facts to the people. It's the right of criticism, and if necessary, a bit of scorn. It's the right to not only record facts but to voice opinions.

Freedom of the press is not just the privilege of someone wealthy enough to own a newspaper or a newspaper editor blasting away at another individual. It's also the opportunity to speak out by a person living so far back in the wilds that it takes days for his paper to reach him—after the news has been many times rehashed and other events have changed the headlines.

What right does college journalism have to enjoy this God-granted freedom?

Many of the top journalists of tomorrow are college editors today. They're the guys who desire to burn the midnight oil, after the text books are closed, to present the written truth to their fellow students. They're the individuals who are constantly searching and working beyond the normal call of duty of a higher institution, realizing that in a large institution campus-wide publications are the only medium of communication that reaches the entire student body.

They're putting into practice the idea that such an institution must not just teach its students how to separate or put together atoms. If a college is not teaching people how to live, why to live, and to hand over a better system of living to future generations than the one in which we live, that college is failing in its purpose.

Fighting for our rights for hundreds of years on the battlefields has not been enough. We've got to continually keep strengthening the weak places in the walls at home. It's the duty of every American to do everything in his power to preserve our country and the form of government we represent. It's the duty of every citizen to preserve a basic and unsubstitutable freedom—freedom of the press—whether it be the most circulated journal in the country or a college weekly.

It's also the duty of every American citizen to condemn and to fight back at those who are attempting to destroy this freedom.

Bill Carpenter.

Personalities

To the Editor
The Technician
N. C. State College
Raleigh, N. C.

I hereby wish to express my greatest disapproval of the statements made on the editorial page of The Technician of Feb. 22 with reference to Dr. Fisher.

Since I have been at State College only a relatively short time and do not know the merits of the apparently long standing feud between Dr. Fisher and your Mr. Fought I have no intention of taking sides in the original controversy. However, I was present at the class when Dr. Fisher made the statement which you quoted and it was most apparent at that time that Dr. Fisher meant this remark to be a joke and nothing more. It would take indeed the mentality of a child or some extreme vindictiveness to deduce Dr. Fisher's intention of passing out arbitrary grades in his class. Neither vindictiveness nor infantile mentality has a place on the campus of an institute of higher learning. Furthermore, to accuse a teacher of partiality or intended partiality in passing out grades is a serious charge and it might be well to exercise more restraint than is evidenced from the fact that you make such a charge in print.

As far as the right of free speech is concerned I think Dr. Fisher has certainly more right to express his personal feelings within the confines of a small class than Mr. Fought has to use a college-supported publication as a means of carrying on a purely personal feud.

If anything, then it is only the quality of Dr. Fisher's sense of humor that is questionable but certainly not his merits as a teacher at State College. If this sense of humor is so objectionable to Mr. Fought then I think it is time for him to retire from the controversy and to resign his position. Without wishing to put the faculty of an institution upon a pedestal, I nevertheless feel that such public manifestations of personal ill-feeling between individual members of faculty and student body are in extremely bad taste.

Ernest Stern

Editor's Note: We hope that Mr. Stern will get as big a kick out of the "personal" gift of $40,000 made by Messrs. Carmichael, Vann, Pruden, "our Mr. Fought" and others, as he did out of this "personal feud."

Combing The Campus

By ELLIOT KABBASH

Question: What project would you consider most important with the funds available for student, cultural, social, and recreational advancements.

Frank Swanger, Soph., Textiles

I believe that the money could best be spent on a better recreational system for the students at State. The recreation room at the "Y" is most inadequate for the number of students using it, and therefore many students must be turned away. Allocation of these existing funds toward a campus-wide recreational system would be a definite step ahead for State College.

Wait Schacht, Sr., Textiles

Before you worry about sinking $40,000 be sure what the students want. Many different social, cultural, and recreational projects have already been tried but the vast majority of the interest in campus activities. I would like to know exactly what additional projects could be tried.

Eddie Cornelius, Fresh., Textiles.

Outdoor athletic facilities—baseball diamonds, better football fields, basketball courts, etc., for intramural athletics and for just plain recreation.

Bill Ahart, Grad., Ind. Psychology

Here in State College, we have students from all parts of the world. It would certainly be fine if we could get acquainted with a few of them. Let's try and arrange it.

It would only cost a few bucks for coffee and doughnuts, and we could even slip the student-guest speaker a fin or two.

Entitled "Research Rebuilds the South," Fortune's article cites scientific programs at N. C. State and Duke as among the most significant in the South.

The article's first illustration is a big picture in color of the nuclear reactor which is now under construction at State College. A picture of Duke's Dr. Paul M. Gross is included among the leading research men of the South.

The magazine makes reference to the work of the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station at State College and mentions particularly the station's contribution to a new process for cucumber pickles.

Conner Appointed As Research Head

Appointment of Prof. N. W. Conner as director of the Department of Engineering Research in the School of Engineering was announced recently by Dr. J. H. Lampe, dean of engineering.

Selection of Professor Conner for the high executive post in the School of Engineering was approved by President Gordon Gray of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, Chancellor J. W. Harrelson, and a special committee of the Board of Trustees.

Professor Conner has been acting head of the department since last fall when Dr. W. G. Van Note resigned to become president of Clarkson College of Technology in Potsdam, N. Y.

A member of the NCS faculty since September, 1937, Professor Conner is widely known throughout the country for his research and teaching achievements in the field of engineering.

In his new capacity, he will be the chief administrative officer of the college's Department of Engineering Research, which coordinates the experimental work and the research facilities of all departments within the School of Engineering and also administers research projects sponsored in the School of Engineering by industrial firms, professional organizations, and State and Federal governmental agencies.

Research services provided by the School of Engineering during the past few years have had a significant effect in the plant locations of several industries in North Carolina and have led to the solution of technical bottlenecks of North Carolina municipalities, State governmental divisions, and both small and large industries.

They crossed swords with the wrong man when they engaged this swashbuckling senior in combat! At first, he was foiled by the tricky, "one-puff" . . . "one-sniff" cigarette mildness tests. It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke, on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

Views and Previews

By JOE BENNETT, Sports Editor

Last Saturday night's game with Cincinnati marked the final regular season appearance of three Wolfpack stars, Captain Lee Terrill, Bob Cook, and Pete Jackmowski.

Terrill, one of the most popular players ever to don a State uniform, has performed brilliantly for the past three years. Although primarily a playmaker, this season he started hitting the nets for double figures, and in several games was high scorer. He finished out the regular season with 19 points against Cincinnati.

A fitting climax to his career was his selection to the All-Conference First Team by the Southern Sportswriters Association.

Bob Cook and Pete Jackmowski have been two of Case's most able reserves the past couple seasons and probably would hold down a starting berth with most any of the other teams in the conference.

What's your fan club going to do without you, Pete?

State's Bob Mattson broke three conference records in the Southern Conference Swimming Meet last week and is being hailed as the best swimmer in the Southern Conference.

He set new records in the 100-yard breaststroke, 150-yard individual medley, and the 220-yard freestyle.

He was the lone triple winner in the meet while three others, including two Pack swimmers, won double crowns. Frank Naus set a new record in the 440-yard freestyle and won the 1,500-meter freestyle. And both these boys are only freshmen. Don Sonia took the 50- and the 100-yard freestyle events. Al Stenberg took a first in the low diving.

Eight firsts out of fourteen events in a 17-team conference meet. Pretty good for a team that was "defeated" in a dual meet in this same pool.

I recently received a letter from a "fan" in Chapel Hill who had a few comments on a piece in this column about the State-Carolina swimming meet. He said, "Your remarks regarding the swimming match can be disregarded, as they were merely whines of the loser. . ."

If he will get somebody to read that column to him, he will discover that they weren't my remarks, but remarks quoted from an impartial observer, which can hardly be construed as the whines of a loser.

I have never heard anyone at State College "whine" about losing an athletic event and doubt if I ever will.

State Team Defeated By VMI's Matmen

LEXINGTON, Va., Feb. 23—Virginia Military Institute's wrestlers handed North Carolina State's grapplers a 16-11 licking here tonight in a Southern Conference match.

The victory gave the Keydets a 4-2 record for the season, while State's mark now is all even at 4-4.

Percy Riden, the Wolfpack's heavyweight, made a game effort to give the losers a tie in the final match, but VMI'S Ted Mariani rallied to earn a draw and preserve the victory.

- 123 pounds—Sideris (NCS) decisioned Blekmore, 1-8.
- 180 pounds—Buie (NCS) decisioned Cole, 8-0.
- 187 pounds—Robertson (VMI) decisioned Tomlin, 9-8.
- 147 pounds—Brown (VMI) pinned Taylor, 5-08.
- 157 pounds—Carter (VMI) decisioned Pope, 8-2.
- 167 pounds—Nowitzky (VMI) decisioned Wagoner, 6-0.
- 177 pounds—Kaiser (NCS) decisioned Sanders, 8-4.
- Unlimited pounds—Mariani (VMI) and Riden (NCS) drew, 4-4.

Pack Tankmen Win Over Miami

State College slacked off their power today but still managed to take a win over the University of Miami. The sun tanned boys had some good competitors but they were unable to match the Wolfpack. State took the meet by a 45 to 39 score. Coach Casey's men took seven first places and Miami took three, the 50 yard freestyle, 100 yard freestyle, and the 400 yard freestyle relay.

An excellent exhibition of diving was put on by Coffee, an unofficial diver for Miami. He scored 115 points which is an unofficial pool record.

State seems to be in excellent shape for the Southern Conference meet to be held in Carolina's spacious pool on February 28, 29, and March 1. State will enter the meet with only one defeat on their record. This defeat was by Carolina and it is still very questionable.

Mattson Triple Winner In Loop Swim Meet

State Sets Four Records In Eight Wins At Carolina

Bob Mattson, sensational State freshman, shattered three records to become the only triple winner in the Southern Conference Swimming Championships. The Wolfpack took eight of the fourteen first places in the meet with the other six going to Carolina.

Regarded as one of the conference's most versatile swimmers in years, Mattson broke the record twice in the 100-yard breaststroke, set a new record in the 150-yard individual medley, and broke the record twice in the 220-yard freestyle.

Mattson did the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:01.3 in the finals to break the old record of 1:03.8, set last year by Carolina's Barry Wall. Wall was runner-up this year. In the 150-yard individual medley, Mattson raced in ahead of Wall in 1:32.5, surpassing the old record of 1:34.3 set in 1949 by Jimmy Thomas of Carolina.

Mattson hung up a time of 2:12.5 for the 220-yard free-style in the qualifying trials to better the old mark of 2:14.6 set last year by Donnie Evans of Carolina. In the finals, Mattson finished with a time of 2:11.6, nosing out Evans by two strokes. Mattson also holds the conference dual meet record of 2:11.4 for the 220 which he set earlier this year.

Mattson wasn't only record smasher for the Pack. Frank Naus set a new record in the 440-yard freestyle and won the 1,500-meter freestyle. Naus came in with a record-setting time of 4:45.5 in the 440 to break the old record of 4:58.5 held by Evans of UNC.

Terps Win Indoor Conference Crown

By CHARLIE MOORE

State's indoor track team was unable to cope with the elements and the intense competition that were present at the 17th Annual Southern Conference Indoor Games, and as a result were only able to snare 10 points. State's heralded distant runners were the contributors of these points. Hard running Clyde Garrison picked up 5 points by winning the mile and added 1 more by placing in the 880 yard run. William "Buz" Sawyer finished second in the 1 mile run to add 3 more points to the State total, and little Joe Shockley came in fourth in the 2 mile run to add the other point to the total making it 10 for the Wolfpack.

The State team, working under the handicap of not having an indoor track showed promise of developing into a better scoring unit as the outdoor season approaches. Most of the new men competing for the first time in their life gave a very good account of themselves even though they were unable to break into the scoring column. Kennedy showed up well in the hurdles and broad jump. He went out 19 feet 9 inches for his best jump. Footballer Thomas Swanger went to the semi-finals of the 60 yard (Continued on Page 8)

Pack Downs
Furman, 73-68

N. C. State's Wolfpack held off a furious Furman attack in the form of Frank Selvey and Neil Gordon last night to win the opening round of the Southern Conference Tournament, 73-68.

State held a two point lead with two minutes to play. On an out-of-bounds play, Thompson committed his fifth personal foul. Furman sank the foul shot to give State a one point lead with 1:43 left. Gotkin took the ball out and the Pack went into a freeze. With less than a minute to play Brandenburg broke loose and increased the lead to three points.

Speight Hits 28

Furman brought the ball quickly down court, but missed their shot and State took the rebound with less than twenty seconds left. Speight tapped in a rebound just before the buzzer sounded to give him 28 points for the night.

It was close all the way as the Pack never opened their lead more than nine points. A quick spurt by the Hurricanes just before half time tied the score at 41-41.

Selvey Sensational

The first half was dominated by the sensational shooting of Furman's Frank Selvey. He hit for 21 points in the first half, and had 27 when he fouled out midway in the last period. Neil Gordon, 6-9 center went out a few minutes later with 17 points, mostly on tap-ins.

State lost everybody but Bob Speight from the starting five via the foul route, but Case came up with his strong reserve bench to preserve the win.

The four top fraternity basketball teams met last week to battle it out for the right to claim the fraternity basketball championship. The first game found the Sigma Chi's winning over Alpha Gamma Rho at the half, by a slender three point margin. The AGR's slowed down during the second half due to the loss of three of their key men on personal fouls, while Sigma Chi put on a scoring sprint and raced way ahead to win by a score of 45 to 33. Starring for the Chi's, with 24, was Bobby Holt. Leading the AGR's were Garman, with ten, and Haddock, with nine.

Sigma Nu was forced to forfeit due to an ineligibility ruling. Sigma Alpha Mu took over the vacancy and was defeated by the TKE's, 34 to 29. Hitting for the TKE's were, Pettinelli and Phelps, with ten and eight points respectively. Soling cut the nets for eleven and Lavner for eight as they led Sigma Alpha Mu.

The final games of the tournament will be played this week.

Mat Champs

Sigma Chi dominated the wrestling finals winning six out of the eight matches to cinch the first place post. Sigma Pi and Pi Kappa Alpha tied for the second and third places with one win apiece. The winners of the individual matches are as follows:

State Downs Bearcats
77-64 In Season Final

By BOB PHELPS

North Carolina State's Wolfpack scored its twentieth victory of the '51-52 season last Saturday as they subdued the Bearcats of Cincinnati 77-64.

For the Wolfpack it was the season finale and it left them with a record of twenty wins and nine losses. Two of the losses were at the hands of Southern Conference opponents, while the other seven were by intersectional foes.

The 13 point final margin might tend to indicate an easy State victory, but it was anything but that. State started to hit early in the first half and had an 18-13 lead at the beginning of the second period. In the second quarter the Bearcats began to hit from outside and pulled within one point at 38-37 by half-time.

Cincinnati led 42-41 early in the third quarter, but the Wolfpack came right back to take a seven point lead 62-55 early in the fourth period. At this point the Bearcats got hot and with slightly over four minutes left in the game State again led by only one point at 65-64.

From here on in the State men ran the Bobcats into the floor. Two free throws and a basket by Bernie Yurin, two field goals by Mel Thompson and single field goals by Bobby Speight and Captain Lee Terrill brought the final thirteen point margin.

Speight got 21 points and Terrill got 19 to lead the scoring for State.

The State scoring:

Terrill Picked
All-Conference

Two great All-America ball players, Dick Groat of Duke and Mark Workman of West Virginia, led the 1952 All-Southern Conference basketball team announced today as they stamped the field as double unanimous choices.

Repeating on the official All-Conference, they rated first team nominations on every one of the record-totalling 49 ballots in the vote of the Southern Conference Sports Writers Association. That gave 245 points to each of the stars who sparked their teams into the annual conference tournament at Raleigh this weekend.

A third senior, Lee Terrill of State, made the All-Conference selection.

Freshman

However, youth moved into the foreground for the other two spots. Freshman Dickie Hemric of Wake Forest, whose team did not make the tourney, was the third vote-getter in the association ballot, with 190 points. Sophomore Frank Selvy of Furman, which plays in the cage tourney for the first time since that school joined the conference, polled 170 points to round out the select five.

For Groat it was his second year as unanimous selection. For two players, Dwane Morrison of South Carolina and Bill Chambers of William and Mary, it was a promotion from the third team to the 1952 second team. Jay Handlan of Washington and Lee, the nation's all-time No. 3 scorer, dropped from the first team to the second five this year. Also on this second All-Conference are Bobby Speight of State and Johnny Snee of Clemson.

Three Captains

The All-Conference stars, all except Hemric of Wake Forest, will be able to display their best competitive abilities in just a couple days as their teams begin play in the conference tournament.
