C G Passes New Union Fee

Unanimous Vote Raises Total To $15.00 A Year; Need Stressed

The $3.60 per term increase in the College Union fee was approved in Tuesday's Campus Government meeting by a unanimous vote, with one member abstaining from the vote. The total annual Union fee will rise to $15.00 next year.

During the discussion on the measure Union president Jack McCormick stated that the Union had been advised to retain the services of the necessary personnel six months in advance of the building's opening. This was done he said, and one such individual has already made a suggestion concerning food service which was incorporated into the building plans. It saved the hiring of three full-time kitchen helpers.

As he expanded his explanation for the fee hike, McCormick mentioned that a 10 by 27 foot mural is to be painted on a snack bar wall. Manual Bromberg from the School of Design has already been commissioned to execute the work. The exact theme is not known.

In summing up, McCormick said, "We were caught in a bind! Even though the State has been overly generous in their appropriations, through no fault of theirs, building costs rose tremendously. Borrowing was resorted to, but this was not enough. We need the additional money which would bring the fee for the Union to $5 a term per student."

Before the Council voted on the issue, C.G. President Pruden reminded the student legislators that they might well be on the brink of making a momentous decision. The Council then unanimously approved the Union request for more money with one exception. George Thomason, junior representative from the School of Engineering abstained. Thomason argued that his con-

Another Trustee Group Will Visit Saturday

The visiting committee of the Consolidated University Board of trustees will spend Saturday on the State campus. The committee will interview students, faculty and administrative officials in its annual effort to keep up to date on the college's business and academic affairs.

Students and student groups are invited to appear at the committee's afternoon session beginning at 2:00.

Last week the committee visited the Woman's College where Arch T. Allen, Raleigh, served as acting chairman in the absence of Victor Bryant, Durham, committee chairman.

Members of the committee included Wade Barber, Pittsboro; David Clark, Charlotte; Percy Ferebee, Andrews; C. A. Cannon, Concord; Mrs. R. S. Ferguson, Taylorsville; O. Max Gardner, Jr., Shelby; James H. Clark, Elizabethtown; R. L. Harris, Roxboro; Mrs. Virginia T. Lathrop, Asheville, and William Saunders, Aberdeen.

College Union Film

"Ride the Pink Horse" a fast paced melodrama will be presented this Sunday by the College Union.

The story concerns a war veteran who comes to a small New Mexican town intending to blackmail a rich former pal. He is befriended by a Mexican Carousal operator and a young Mexican girl and with their help escapes death at the hands of his powerful pal. Robert Montgomery and Wanda Hendrix are the stars.

Time is 2:30 p.m. Sunday April 27 in the Textile Auditorium. Admission for students and dates is free.

High School Scholars Visit Here Tomorrow

A varied program of entertainment and education has been planned for North Carolina State College's second annual observance of "High School Day" tomorrow.

Dr. Roy N. Anderson, chairman of the "High School Day" committee, said both juniors and seniors in the State's high schools have been invited to attend the day-long affair.

Special exhibits and tours have been planned by the Schools of Agriculture, Design, Education, Engineering, Forestry, and Textiles in an effort to explain the functions and achievements of State College for the benefit of the visiting students.

Coach Everett Case and the college basketball team, winner of the Southern Conference championship, will conduct a basketball clinic during the noon hour. In addition, there will be a concert by the college's Red Coat Band, directed by Major C. D. Kutschinski.

Sleeping accommodations will be provided for all high school boys who may wish to spend Friday night on the campus.

Dr. Anderson said the college cafeteria will be open to serve the high school students but urged the visitors to bring a picnic lunch if possible.

Last year's program drew several hundred high school students. Dr. Anderson said that there are indications of an even larger attendance this year.

Dr. Clyde A. Erwin, State superintendent of public instruction, was scheduled as the principal speaker at the opening of the 20th annual Engineers' Exposition at noon today.

Following Dr. Erwin's address, the exhibition halls were scheduled to open and will remain open until 10 p.m. tonight. The exhibits will

To Vincent Outland went a lion's share (559) of the nearly 1,000 votes cast for the Campus Government presidency in Wednesday's primary. Outland registered such a startlingly clear majority as to prompt from C.G.'s election committee-head, Al Payne, a declaration that a run-off would not be necessary.

Last Chance

Junior Class President Jay Bryan has announced that bids to the Junior-Senior will be given out again next Thursday, May 1, in the YMCA from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

For the press the winner had this to say. "I wish to commend Buck Pruden for his excellent administration of the Campus Government during the past year. I will do my best to carry on the policies which he has advocated and which I have wholeheartedly supported."

Far in arrears were Louis Hine with 244 votes and "Willie" Willis with 171. The low Willis vote was a distinct surprise since he had done extensive campaigning, particularly in the Freshmen strongholds. Torchlight processions which bore the earmarks of a Quo Vadis preview, along with a baby-kissing routine were a notable part of the Willis pre-election ballyhoo.

When informed of the primary landslide, Buck Pruden said, "Campus Government is in very capable hands. Vince has been well trained for the job." Yet to be tabulated are 29 votes from the Forestry Camp.

The lately arrived ballots from the Forestry Camp which could have affected the low man for senior representative to the Athletic Council did not appreciably alter the tabulations as shown below.

Lee Terrill made a strong showing for the Alumni Athletic Trophy and will go into the run-offs with Elmer Costa, second man on the primary totem poll. Votes cast for Terrill totaled 417; for Costa, 165.

Lloyd Cheek and Paul Wagoner will be paired off in the finals for Junior representative to the Athletic Council. Cheek had 229 votes; Wagoner, 342.

Four men qualified for the run-offs to seat a Senior representative to the Athletic Council. Top man was Powell with 232, Thurman next with 217, Davis third with 198 and Farrar last with 104.

The final election will be held on Wednesday, April 30.

Jenkins Wins Vetville Post After Tough Campaigning

Odus Jenkins, a rising Junior in Nuclear Engineering was elected mayor of Vetville in a close race over Pete Jackmowski, a senior in Industrial and Rural Recreation, on Tuesday. This election climaxed one of the hottest campaigns in Vetville political history.

Jenkins, a former alderman from one of Vetville's eight wards, served actively on the Vetville board during the last school year. The election committee declined to give the exact vote tabulation for any office in the interest of harmony.

At the same election Evelyn Morgan, wife of design student Bill Morgan, was elected secretary-treasurer of the Vetville city government. For the combination job of fire-marshall and deputy sheriff, John Marshall was able to cop the largest number of votes. Due to an election tie Ida Bell and Edith Scott will jointly serve as recreational director.

Nita Wise and Hilda Brown are to handle publicity for Vetville and at the same time they will continue to publish "The Vetville News," a mimeographed weekly circulated among the families of married students living in the independent little extension of the west campus.

It is probably wrong to refer to Vetville as a small settlement since nearly a thousand people live in the Contest Will Seek Mr. Formal Model

The big search of the season begins April 28 when the exciting new "Mr. Formal" contest gets underway to find "Mr. Formal" on the State campus. First prize in the jackpot will be a complete "After Six" summer formal outfit. In addition, each member of the winner's team will receive beer mugs emblazoned with the school seal. Sponsored by "After Six" Formal Wear, the tryouts are part of a national contest to be held on campuses in every part of the country.

The winner on this campus will be eligible to take part in the national contest for the title "Mr. Formal U.S.A." The national winner will receive as prizes a $500 Savings Bond, plus a week in New York City, all expenses paid, during which he'll make a round of night clubs and parties, meet and escort some of America's most

Tommy Ward

Tommy Ward, candidate for the vice-presidency of the Campus Government, is a Junior in Textiles from Greensboro. He outlined a four-point program which follows.

1. Pushing forward with the "get up and go" policy of this year's Campus Government.

2. Making a thorough study of the athletic seating arrangements at NCS in comparison with other schools and eventual adoption of the most suitable plan.

3. Unlimited cuts for Juniors and Seniors with a "C" average, (If we don't realize what it takes by then, will we ever?)

4. Continue present policy of trying to get special student rates for Coliseum events.

Ward has previously served on the Council as the freshman representative from the Textile School during the 1950-51 season. Other experience includes membership on the Agromeck staff, Social Functions Committee, Intramural Advisory Board, Interfraternity Council, 30 and 3, and he is presently the circulation manager of the Textile Forum.

Bob Carlson

Bob Carlson, a junior in industrial engineering from Greensboro, is running for treasurer of the Campus Government. Carlson bases his qualifications on past experience and interest in helping C.G. to progress. He was Vice-president of the Freshman Class, Secretary of the Engineer's Council, is a member of Theta Tau, honorary Engineering fraternity, the Monogram Club.

Keeping the students informed of the financial status of the Campus Government, its expenditures and allocations, will be a major plank in the Carlson platform. He would also attempt to invigorate the C.G. meetings by voicing opinions which would reflect the views of a majority of the student body on matters of finance.

science would not allow him to vote on this measure because he thought that he might be "shoving something down the student's throats." He went on to say that of the fifty engineering students he approached concerning the fee hike, not one was aware that C.G. was considering a proposal. After due deliberation, thirty of the fifty decided to go along with it. Thomason could only surmise that these fifty people had not read The Technician's report of C.G.'s last open meet of Tuesday, loudly advertised by a sound truck which circled the campus encouraging students to attend the session for the purpose of expressing their views.

In spite of the fact that thirty of the fifty people had favored the proposal after it was explained by him, Thomason still declined to commit himself by voting either way. He even insisted that his action be written into the minutes of the meeting.

VETVILLE—

area which would ordinarily cover only a few city blocks. Out-going mayor Bob Richardson bases his population estimate on the fact that better than three hundred families live on what was once called "Fertility Hill," not without some reason.

Then it is not surprising that Vetville should have a full fledged town government, but it is surprising that so few dormitory and off campus students know about virule community just south of Dunn Avenue and west of Tucker Dorm.

Did you know that Vetville has a tax system?—or that there was a special deputy of the sheriff's office who is elected by these married vets?—that Vetville claims to be a separate entity within the City of Raleigh? Yet all these things are true.

There is a voluntary tax of fifty cents per family for each of the school terms. The City of Raleigh once sought to include Vetville for the purpose of collecting the city automobile tax. City politicians took a second look when it became apparent that they would have to allow six-hundred vets and their wives vote in city elections if they were forced to pay the tax.

If the scope of community and political activities were not enough to impress one with the realness of the town of Vetville then its financial scope should. In contrast to the meagre fifty cents a term collected in taxes by the town government, incumbent mayor Richardson estimates that the college collects more than 50,000 dollars a year in rents from the veterans while the cost of operation is probably no more than half of the total amount collected.

Incoming Mayor Jenkins emphasized that he would work to get a greater part of the funds spent for things that directly benefit the vets and their families such as better maintenance of the dwelling units and more recreational facilities for their children.

Saturday's portion of the Engineers' Exposition will be a feature of the second annual observance of "High School Day" at State College. All juniors and seniors in the State's high schools have been invited to attend the Saturday program.

Would the person who picked up laundry bundle with the name Bill Fulcher on it and containing 4 shirts (2 sport and 2 dress), kindly return same to Bill Fulcher, 301 Berry Dorm. or to laundry??

This bundle was picked up in the laundry on Friday, April 11. All the shirts bear the mark "Fulcher." Thank you, Bill Fulcher.

glamorous beauties. In addition, "Mr. Formal U.S.A." will have an opportunity to audition for a Hollywood movie studio.

Walter Kasman, a Senior in the School of Education, is an uncontested candidate for the position of Business Manager of WVWP, student radio station.

Applications for the "Mr. Formal" contest will be accepted from all mens' college organizations, fraternities, athletic, dormitory or independent groups. Any group may enter a team of from 6 to 30 men, from their number. Preliminary judging will take place at the Huneycuts Inc., where teams will try on the new "After Six" "Stain-

Shy" dinner jacket. Then, each team will select its own "Mr. Formal," who will be entered in the final judging to determine who will be "Mr. Formal" at State College.

For details on how to enter, contact Bob Cabaniss at 9131 or Gerald Washburn at 2-4843. The contest begins April 28 and continues through May 23.

New IDC President Airs Old Problems At First Meeting Of New Council

By JULIAN LANIER

The social and recreational program, the intramural athletic set-up, and the delegation of new powers to the IDC received a thorough airing on Wednesday, April 16, when the new President Floyd Sweet called his first meeting to order.

Both old and new members of the Council were present with the old members doing most of the "airing," and the new members listening to the "perils of public office," getting an idea of the problems they must cope with in performing their duties during the forthcoming year.

Bill Herrmann, IDC Social and Recreational Chairman, was then called on to give a report on his activities during this school year. Herrmann gave a brief resume of the work and duties of his office during the year, reviewed some of the problems which were encountered, and offered several suggestions toward improving the social and recreational set-up for the next year.

Among these suggestions was a proposal that the present social-rec set-up be reorganized. At present the campus is divided into three dormitory groups with a chairman for each group. Herrmann proposed that in the future there be appointed one chairman for each dormitory within the areas in addition to an overall chairman for each group.

In this way, the load would not be placed squarely on the shoulders of one man to plan the social and recreational activities of several dormitories. Another proposal made was that there be appointed one chairman for each dormitory and one overall chairman for each area.

Next on the agenda came a report by Jim Rodgers, IDC Athletic Director. Rodgers went over the campus athletic program for the benefit of the new members, and reviewed the activities of his office for the past year. He stressed the fact that during the past two years, the intra-mural athletic program on the campus has been greatly improved and expanded, with a noticeable decrease in the number of forfeits in the intramurals.

Rodgers concluded with recommendations that an effort be made to secure more money for intramural athletics, for equalizing Directors' salaries, and for providing better playing fields, equipment and facilities. The retiring Director also announced that bowling would in all probability be soon introduced into the intra-mural program.

Publicity Director Jim Twyford stated briefly some of the problems he had confronted during his term of office and urged that there be much better communication between the future Publicity Directors and the activities of the Council committees.

During the old and new business session of the meeting, it was proposed that the IDC sponsor one big dance each year, similar to the

New Teacher Quiz Begins On May 5; Aim To Improve Co-operation

On Monday, May 5, Campus Government will unleash a flood of 20,000 copies of a "Student-Teacher Co-operation" questionnaire. The new form, prepared for the Council by a committee headed by David Yandle, will replace the faculty merit rating questionnaire last used in 1950.

The purpose of the new exam is to allow students an opportunity to comment on their teachers' methods and skills. However, use of the new instrument will be voluntary for both teacher and student. An instructor need not give his classes the questionnaires and the students are not required to answer them.

A letter from CG president George Pruden which will accompany the questionnaires stresses the point that these questions are to be answered for the sole use of the instructor. The answers to the questions are not to be shown to administrative officers, although the instructor is encouraged to discuss the results with his classes.

The instructor will examine and evaluate his own questionnaires and he will be given an evaluating scale. CG-man Yandle stated Monday that the actual distribution of the forms would be through departmental Honor Committees.

The new "Co-operation" quiz has already been tested in the Basic Division. H. D. Rawls, chairman of the Basic Division personnel committee, stated that he believes that the new voluntary evaluation will "foster greater student-teacher co-operation."

At a meeting Monday for representatives of The Technician and WVWP, Rawls and Yandle stated that the previous system of faculty evaluation was dropped because it "was not valid." Yandle asserted that "Proper evaluation of a faculty member involves more than student opinion alone. Publications and other factors such as advanced degrees must be considered."

Both indicated the belief that the questionnaires to be used this spring to not represent a final development. They maintain that this do not represent a final development. They maintain that this evaluation is better than the last, but still is far from perfect.

SOUP AND FISH? The happy ball pictured here may have been the last informal IDC dance as the new council proposes strictly formal affairs.

Engineers' Ball, or the ROTC Ball, in place of the numerous smaller dances which have been the policy thus far. The Council agreed to consider this matter later on after the members had heard more opinions on the subject from the student body.

Also during the meeting a motion was made and passed that at least two representatives from each dormitory be required to attend each IDC meeting. If at least two representatives are not present, the dormitory not represented must abide by any rulings made at the meeting even though it is not represented when the ruling is made.

Some mention was made of the recent editorials which have appeared in the Technician pertaining to the IDC, and the following facts were brought to light: The IDC was formed with three main objectives in mind; (1) to establish, sponsor, and direct a program of intra-mural athletics among the dormitories. (2) to provide social and recreational programs for the dormitory residents, and (3) to give the students themselves a chance to appoint other students to the various paid positions to run these programs.

The IDC is not a law-making or Judiciary body as it is now organized; however, it could assume such duties providing the Campus Government specifically delegated such powers to it.

Prof. Donald Rulfs of the English Department has just issued in book form his history of "The Professional Theater in Wilmington, 1858-1930."

The book is one in a series of studies in North Carolina literary and cultural history now in progress by faculty members in the Department of English.

Little 'Oscars' Given To Union Dramatists

Jesse Capel was judged "Best Actor" for his portrayal of Nathan Hanks in the Sigma Chi production of "Swamp Spirit" on Friday night in Pullen Hall. Sigma Chi was one of three fraternities participating in the College Union sponsored Dramafest. "Best Director" award for the best-produced play went to Charlie Moss of Phi Kappa Tau. The PKT's did "The Pot Boiler." The SPE's did "If Men Played Cards Like Women Do," for which effort their director was given a cup, as was the director of the Sigma Chi production.

The Union drama committee is hopeful of producing one three-act play for the next season's presentation.

There were 1,600 more persons killed in U. S. motor vehicle accidents last year than in 1950.

Guest Book

By tomorrow night there will be among the many autographs in the mythical State College guest book the signatures of some seventeen men and women, generally not known to the world at large. These names will all have been added within the past week, and with the exception that all the people are graduates of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, they have little else in common.

That is, if a genuine interest in the welfare of the University, and in particular State College, is to be considered to be little else. For these seventeen names constitute the names of those on the two trustee-appointed committees that will have come to observe conditions on the State College campus and recommend any necessary improvements.

The first group of seven names comprise the special committee that was appointed to study the operations of the student supply stores on all three campuses, but in particular here at State College. This committee picked a hot Saturday to come to Raleigh. This committee met in a hot room with poor ventilation and inadequate seating. This committee met for six hours and gave of its time to any party which had sufficient interest to request an appointment.

Bandwagon In The Dust

The primary battle for Campus Government President in the spring elections started out as a spirited, hard-hitting fight, but somebody's aim slipped to below the belt.

For several days last week it was rumored that a smear campaign against candidate Vincent Outland would be started by his most vigorous opponent, Giles Willis. This Tuesday a small number of mimeographed sheets appeared purporting to tell how "Outland sells his class down the river!"

Willis's campaign manager denied any association with this publication, but immediately offered to halt the circulation of the material.

Outland, of course, immediately denied the entire tale.

The charges and counter-charges are becoming serious. Since the questionable ma-

The men and women listened courteously and attentively. They took notes and asked pertinent questions. It will be incomprehensible to some that this service was performed gratis. The only payment that will be exacted will be the acceptance and follow through of their recommendations.

The students can have no truer friends than those persons that comprise this committee for without a doubt their interests are one. It is most gratifying to The Technician to see that mature men and women, busy with their own lives, can stop and look back and remember their college years. And remembering, return and lend much needed help to the students of today.

Glancing once more at the book, one would see that the last ten names compose the membership of the Visiting Committee of the Board of Trustees.

Here again, men and women stop and return and evaluate today's conditions on the campus, comparing their findings with the picture during their own days, seasoned with their awareness of current happenings, conditions, and requirements.

Such visitors are always welcome at State College, for like the polite guest, they too bring a gift for the host. Their interest.

terial that appeared this week bore no signature it may be that control of the campaign has gotten away from the candidates.

When the temper of the campus has reached the point where it is possible to hear rumors that athletic coaches and athletic teams have organized to oppose a candidate for campus election, campaign fever is at the breaking point.

Campus Government should investigate both charges and the counter-charges being made in the current campaign. The processes of free and democratic election are delicate and easily bruised. The present charges constitute offenses which endanger the future and the reputation of student elections.

An investigation is plainly called for. When a boxer hits below the belt he is penalized; if there has been any hitting below the belt in this primary election the offender must also be penalized.

"Full Of Sound And Fury"

There was a time when a writer named Shakespeare was the big noise in literary and journalistic circles. This same gentleman was the fellow who once set down "a tale told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

Now in our own time come other writers, two in number, who tell us that the Consolidated University is a hot-bed of communism. The reds, we are told, are rabid and rampant among the ivy'd halls of State, UNC and the Woman's College.

One of these scribes tells his dreadful tale on the pages of several technical magazines he publishes. The other shouts his awful tale over the ether for the benefit of a fertilizer manufacturer.

If there were ever any communists associated with the University they are long gone. No communist could ever expect to find a refuge in President Gray, the Board of Trustees or the University's visiting committees.

This being true, it seems possible to apply Mr. Shakespeare's words to certain contemporary journalists . . . "full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

Question—What do you think of the food in the cafeteria?
Howard Wells, Junior, Nuc. Eng.

I have no complaints about the food nor the prices in the cafeteria. I do feel that something should be done to create a better atmosphere.
Vincent Outland, Senior, Ind. Eng.
The food is fair when one eats

there once in a while but like any other eating place the food gets worse the longer one continues to eat the same food day in and day out. A change of menu once in a while would help.
R. Duncan Cuyler, Grad., Entomol.

Good—occasionally meat may be contaminated with gasoline.
Dick Morenus, Senior, Mech. Engr.

I think the cafeteria food is reasonably good for the price, although rather monotonous. The desserts are quite good.
J. Toro-Villa, Arch., Junior
I think the food in the cafeteria should have more variety and a little cleaner in the kitchen.

A. Jaramillo, Frosh, Mech. Engr.

Needs more variety in the food.
W. L. Doughem, Instructor, Gas Technology

Very good, reasonable priced.
Warren Boone, Frosh, Agr. Eng.
I think the food could be improved by offering a greater variety. The food offered, however, is good for the price.
Gilbert Villo, Jr., Tex.

I think the food is all right for a month. After a month you have already memorized the menu.

PENNED OPINIONS

Politics, etc.

To the Editor:

In an effort that you and the students at State College might know the facts concerning the malicious rumors which have been spread about the Junior-Senior Dance committee's awarding of the contract for commercial photography at this year's dance I am writing this letter.

At the beginning of the school year I appointed the Junior-Senior Dance committee, composed of four sub-committees, the one under discussion being the floor committee, which among numerous other jobs was assigned the task of securing a contract with a commercial photographer for the Dance. That sub-committee chairman, Vincent C. Outland and his assistants were advised to secure such a contract in the following manner since there were no college regulations concerning this. Obtain a reasonable number of bids from local photographers and then decide according to price, quality or work, and availability of the photographer who should get the contract.

The committee functioned properly, and awarded the contract to one Samuel Howard of Raleigh at the price of $1.50 per 8 x 10 photograph. About one week ago one Howard Wells, also a member of the dance committee informed me that his father can do the work for $1.00 each and he insists that he will "raise quite a noise" if the committee did not reconsider and give the contract to his father.

Here is the answer to all concerned. The committee was by no means obligated to award the contract to the lowest bidder—remember, quality or work, availability of photographer's service and the reputation of the photographer are as important as the price.

Furthermore the committee has functioned satisfactorily, properly, and in the interest of the Junior and Senior class. It is believed that this issue was brought up for political reasons and for the purpose of belittling Mr. Outland in the eyes of the students during the coming elections, being that Mr. Wells is campaign manager for Outland's opponent.

The findings and recommendations of the floor committee for the Dance shall stand as they are.

JAMES C. BRYAN,
President, Senior Class.

To the Editor,

Many students have probably heard of the proposal, passed last Tuesday by the Student Council, calling for a raise in the Student Union fee to five dollars per term per student, effective next fall. Some students, not fully informed of the facts, will be opposed to this proposal and to the Council for passing it. Therefore, I think that it is necessary that the following facts, which were brought up at the Council meetings, should be presented to the students so that they will not blindly condemn the Council for recommending the raise in fee.

(1) The present program of activities covers a wide range of activities in which students can take a part.

(2) Future plans of the Union provide for a greatly expanded program of activities for students. Here are some of the features of the new building, which will be in full operation within eighteen months: snack bar (capacity three hundred); free telephone service; movie room; eight meeting rooms; photographic darkrooms, television, six lounges.

(3) If a student attended every program of the Union this year, he would have received the equivalent of seventy-six dollars worth of entertainment. If he were to attend every program planned for next year, he would receive the equivalent of over one-hundred dollars worth of entertainment.

(4) The Union will be one organization on this campus which will reflect the will of the students. On the proposed Union board of directors there will be ten students and seven staff members, one of which will serve in an ex-officio capacity. Also, the Union is designed to be entirely self-supporting. Thus the student, not the administration, will have the power of forming the Union policy with no outside interference.

These are the chief facts presented at the last two Council meetings. The Union, however, has many other advantages, too numerous for this confined report.

On the basis of these facts, the Council voted to recommend the raise in fee. The proposal was, I believe, an action which will definitely promote the welfare of the students; I am content to be judged by this action.

Conn. Encourages High Scholarship

Storrs, Conn.—(I.P.)—The University of Connecticut has recently established a very small number of University Scholars under regulations adopted by the University Senate, according to an announcement by Provost Albert E. Waugh.

There are to be selected each year, not to exceed four students who are completing the work of their sophomore year who will be named as University Scholars and given a number of privileges. At the end of the junior year others may be added as long as the total number from the class never exceeds six. Thus, if the full quotas were filled there would be six seniors and four juniors for a total of ten University Scholars among over 6,000 students in the University.

The regulations provide that the University Scholars are to be chosen solely on the basis of scholarship and are to be the highest standing students in their classes. In addition to the waiving of all those University fees which may legally be waived, the University Scholars will work on tailor-made programs which relieve them of almost all the red tape to which ordinary students are subjected.

After having completed the general college requirements of the first two years University Scholars will be relieved of all further ordinary requirements for graduation. Each Scholar will work under a special faculty committee of three who will guide his program and when he has satisfied whatever requirements they lay down for him he will be awarded his degree.

It is intended that the very best students in the institution should thus be permitted with competent advice pretty much to write their own tickets.

The largest continent is Africa which has a total area of 12,563,807 square miles, but, Asia with approximately eighty per cent of the area of Africa has over ten times the population of Africa.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation was created upon an order of the then Attorney General Charles J. Bonaparte in 1908.

Honor System

"... rise and face the Court"

By PAUL FOGHT

Nine solemn men, two professors and seven students, file into the Conference Room on the second floor of the YMCA building. The time: any of eight different evenings thus far during this school year. Their purpose: to determine whether some State College student has violated the codes of his fellows. Their identity: an Honor Court jury.

Because the proceedings are secret, few students, other than those who have been accused or who have served as members of the Court, have been aware of the existence of this institution. Acting as an adjunct of the Campus Government the Honor Court is charged with enforcing the provisions of the Honor System. Although it remains little-known, this agency can sentence an accused student to permanent suspension from State College.

All members of the Court are also members of the Council of Campus Government. The President of Campus Government serves as President of the Court, and the Secretary of Campus Government also serves in the capacity of Clerk of Court. The Prosecuting Attorney is appointed by the President and the accused student may appoint his own defense counselor. Jury members are drawn from the Council.

Eight Trials

During the past year eight trials have been held and guilty verdicts have been returned in seven of the eight. All of the verdicts except the one acquittal have been upheld by the Faculty Council which reviews all of the trials. The one acquittal is now being investigated by a Faculty Council committee headed by Dean Shirley of the Basic Division. Joe Mason, CG Prosecutor, has indicated that he feels this investigation may result in a return to the old system of strict proctoring on all examinations.

Mason is not entirely satisfied with the present system himself, however, and has announced that he will recommend drastic changes in present procedure to the Campus Government. Mason says that the present system encourages the jury to return a sentence that is more lenient than should have been indicated by the evidence. In none of the eight trials this year, Mason states, has the jury returned the sentence he has requested.

"The biggest difficulty," Mason avers, "is the attitude of the student and the faculty." The problem, he says, is that neither "seems to realize the gravity of the violations under the present Honor System. There is usually evidence presented as to the guilt of the accused, but the jury does not take the responsibility of placing the guilt on the defendant. They usually consider many other factors besides the actual evidence presented."

Administration Failure

In a reference to the Faculty Council investigation of the Honor System Mason charges that "the administration has failed to live up to its responsibility . . . in upholding an honor system on this campus. The administration does not have any faith in the ability of the present Honor Court to handle its own affairs. This is one fault that must be rectified before the Honor System can be made to work."

Mason has proposed a reorganization of the Court which would, he states, correct most of the present difficulties and still maintain the Honor Court as a student institution.

The Honor Court would be separated from the Campus Government according to the new plan. A judge, defense attorney and prosecutor would be elected by the student body in general elections. The judge so elected would have complete control of the judiciary system and every trial would be conducted according to procedures prescribed by the honor codes.

No Defense

In a majority of the trials that have been conducted this year the defendants have appeared without a defense attorney. The present Campus Government constitution states that every defendant is entitled to be represented by a faculty member or by a fellow student, but few have taken advantage of this fact. Mason believes that the new system will benefit the defendant by automatically providing a defense attorney.

While juries are drawn only from the CG Council under the present system Mason proposes to call future panels from the entire body of students and faculty members.

The plans for the reorganization of the Honor Court will be presented to Campus Government during the next two weeks. The Council will consider a complete revision of the CG constitution at the same time.

Girls' Club Formed

Ann J. Brown, secretary in the State College News Bureau, has been elected president of the Campus Girls' Club at State College.

The club, formally organized on March 12, has 28 charter members and is designed to provide an expanded program of social activities for the secretaries and other women employed at State College.

The new organization also plans to work closely with the College Union is conducting many of the union's functions.

Other officers who will serve with Miss Brown as president are Jean Harrell, vice-president; Louise Raby, secretary; and Katharine Arnold, treasurer.

Faculty advisers are Jerry Erdahl, director of the State College Union, and Roberts C. Lasater, director of the Baptist Student Union at the college.

Dorm Party Successful

Berry and Bagwell dorms combined financial resources on Thursday, April 17 to put over one of the most successful inter-dorm parties of the year. The event was held in Pullen Park at 6:00 p.m. and was in the form of a wiener roast. Refreshments included hot dogs, cole slaw, cold drinks, marshmallows, and girls from Dix Hill who arrived around 7:00 p.m.

Both dorms turned out in considerable numbers and all those who so desired were furnished dates from the eight carloads of girls who attended at the invitation of Bill Herrmann, Area Social and Recreational Director.

Arrangements for the social were directed in Berry by Bill Herrmann, and in Bagwell Dorm by Chairman Hugh Leatherman.

N. C. Symphony Here

Those who look on symphonic music as strictly for the longhairs have a surprise coming this week.

The North Carolina Symphony Orchestra will play a varied program, including the finest music, and even the musically untutored will have much enjoyment in store.

Playing more concerts on tour than any other orchestra in the world, and playing them before all types of audiences, has given Director Benjamin Swalin a keen insight into the desires of North Carolinians.

The appearance here will be at the Meredith College Auditorium Wednesday, April 30 at 8:00. Tickets are now available at 205 Peele Hall or may be purchased at the door. Student memberships $1.20.

Ag Dean Rejects Offer Of Illinois To Remain Here

Dr. James H. Hilton will remain as dean of agriculture at North Carolina State College and has requested the administration of the University of Illinois to remove his name from any further consideration for a similar position at that institution.

A faculty committee at the University of Illinois had recommended Dr. Hilton to President George D. Stoddard and the board of trustees as that university's next dean of agriculture to replace retiring Dean H. P. Rusk.

The deanship at the University of Illinois is considered one of the highest positions of its kind in the United States.

President Gray and Chancellor Harrelson expressed gratification that Dean Hilton will continue his work at State College and said they believe the institution's functions and services in the fields of agricultural education, research, and extension will be strengthened and expanded under Dean Hilton's guidance.

"I honestly believe," said President Gray, "that this is one of the very bright things that has happened in North Carolina since I was elected president of the University in February, 1950. I hope that the people of North Carolina will understand and appreciate the significance of Dean Hilton's decision to stay with us."

In his letter to President Gray and Chancellor Harrelson, Dean Hilton stated that "the loyalty and support of his staff in the School of Agriculture and the wonderful support of the people of the State for the agricultural program and for State College" were the deciding factors in reaching his final decision.

"I have," Dean Hilton declared, "an abiding faith in North Carolina, my home state, and in the progress she is destined to make."

THE KEY HOLE

—BY M.H.—

Among the latest newcomers to our family of publications ranks SNATCH, snatched straight from the School of Design. Of course, we like rugged individualism and "Freedom of the Press," but I hope they don't jack up the publications' fee for this little editor-less newborn.

During the last great hate we were acquainted with concrete and steel tank traps and amphib landing craft barriers. On the highways we grab for the hand-brake when a new, black Ford with a long antenna and red nose is seen hovering sadiistically behind an embankment. Both devices intend to slow down vehicles. We don't have either device on the campus, but just drive down Dunn Avenue toward Owen Dorm or come up University Avenue from the laundry toward Polk Hall between Riddick Engineering and C. E. Annex! Unless your dad is a dealer in shock absorbers you can't afford to drive over these chasms just one and a half times.

Last Saturday the special committee to investigate the Student Supply Store met in President Gray's office to straighten out recently publicized inadequacies and discrepancies. Of course, everyone likes to look his best, so two days before the meeting the S.S.S. was prettied up. And good manners are "nice," too, so with compliments of the S.S.S. a dozen cokes-on-the-house were sent to the participants of the meeting. It's good to have such thoughtful neighbors on the campus, now isn't it?

A recent report from Japan states that prostitution is the biggest going business there, the Korean War the second biggest. From England comes word that public necking and other lewdness on certain U. S. Air bases is now taboo. Looks like the old Hershey bar, Chesterfield flag, and "Yankee Ingenuity" are soon coming to a crucial moment in their "purchase value." So far, wherever American soldiers have overstayed their welcome, the ambassadorship to their country has deteriorated geometrically. The motto seems to be "When abroad, don't do as tho' you are at home."—I bet Uncle Joe is standing right there with pencil and notebook.

Technician Wins Award

The Technician received an honorable mention award from the Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company of Chicago this week. Said James S. Kemper, Chairman of Lumbermens, in a letter to Paul Foght, "It is a pleasure to inform you that your excellent editorial treatment of the subject of holiday safe driving has been awarded Honorable Mention by judges of the 1951 College Newspaper Contest on Safe Driving. Your splendid job of selling holiday safety to your fellow students is appreciated."

Enclosed with the letter was a certificate award.

the Technician SPORTS

Views and Previews

JOE BENNETT, Sports Editor

I have had reports from several quarters that The Technician is being accused of neglecting to publicize the golf team. To the golf team, I would like to extend my apologies. The lack of publicity on these pages may be attributed to several things. First and foremost is the lack of publicity about the team turned out by the sports publicity director (seems to me I've heard this song before), and the lack of any publicity or scores turned into us by the team manager.

With our skeleton staff it is almost impossible to cover every athletic event each week. We would like to, but it is not possible. We would be more than glad to give space to the golf team or any other team for that matter each week. Believe me, we have not been slighting you intentionally. Allow me again to apologize.

To those of you who may not know that State College has a golf team, it has. Their record so far this year is four wins and three defeats.

Last Friday and Saturday saw the first appearance of hockey in the Coliseum and in the South. To those spectators who had never seen a hockey game before, the game was a bit confusing. But everyone present seemed to enjoy themselves and this new sport.

Now there is even talk of the possibility of having a Raleigh team in one of the hockey leagues, or with the advent of rinks in some of the larger cities in the area, even a new league in this area.

While this does not seem to be an immediate possibility, it is something to think about. When will sports reach the saturation point in this area?

From September to May, schools of the Big Four have athletic events scheduled almost every day. Even now they have difficulty in scheduling events so they won't conflict with the other schools' events. How will they react to a new sport moving into compete with them for the choice dates and the sports fans almighty dollar?

And how will the student react to having to compete with noise and disturbance created by events in the Coliseum while studying? There are enough things now to detract one from his studies around here. I hope that when the time comes for those in charge to decide this issue, that they will give it much careful thought before acting.

Red-White Game To Be Played At Night

Football, a little out-of-season perhaps, but none the less acceptable, will stage a short comeback on Friday night, 8:00 p.m. in Riddick Stadium. The event is the annual Red-White game to be played for the benefit of its sponsors, the Monogram Club. This will be the first showing of a Horace Hendrickson coached team which has been practicing for three weeks in preparation for the game.

Since May 2 and 3 are the dates on which many NCS Alumni will hold their annual class reunions, a large crowd is expected. Featured will be a new split "T" offense packing plenty of punch. Assisting H.H. is a new staff composed of Beattie Feathers, Bill Hickman, Mike Karmazin, Dan Edwards and Tim Ternerario.

Frat Intramurals

By FRANK GOODE

Kappa Alpha fell before Sigma Pi in a 15 to 5 battle which ended in the fourth inning, due to the lead of ten runs possessed by the Sigma Pi's. Scoring in every inning, the Pi's were aided in their efforts with home runs scored by Caddel, Balog, and Kennette, while Cornelson slashed one for Kappa Alpha.

In a high scoring game that turned out to be a very heated contest, and which was extended into the sixth inning, Delta Sigma Phi defeated Theta Chi by 22 to 20. Shields, Berkstreser, and Trulove pounded out a home run apiece for the Delta Sig's, while Boydshapp and Bland laid the wood for two for the Theta Chi's.

Chi's Win

Sigma Chi scored five runs in the first and 16 in the second inning of play to win over the AGR's by a score of 21 to 5. Pressley hit a long homer in the second for the Sigma Chi's. Phi Kappa Tau fell before Pi Kappa Alpha 16 to 4, in a game that was completed in the third inning due to the new ruling of a lead of ten runs automatically winning the game.

State's Tennis Team Wins At Charleston

The North Carolina State College tennis team defeated the College of Charleston, 5-1, here Friday. The last doubles match was called off because of darkness.

Morris beat Fernandez, 6-8, 6-10, 6-1. Aksell beat Fischer, 6-4, 6-3. Slaughter (CC) beat Jones, 6-4, 6-1. Kline beat Nichols, 6-2, 6-3. Breunberg beat Eason, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3. Morris and Aksell (S) beat Fernandez and Fischer, 6-1, 6-1. Slaughter and Nichols (CC) tied (called) Garman and Duffett, 7-5, 3-6.

Carolina Track Team Trounces State Club

Carolina's track team romped to a 100% to 30% win over State's Wolfpack in a Southern Conference track meet held here Tuesday. The Tar Heels completely dominated the sprints and a majority of the field events to win going away. State's only first places came in the mile, two-mile, broad jump and high jump.

Jerry Splawn of State scored firsts in both the high jump and broad jump and Dick Cornell of Carolina won firsts in the high and low hurdles, third in the high jump and third in the javelin to take high scoring honors.

The summary:

Shot putt: 1. Morris (UNC) 2. McAllister (UNC); 3. Griswold (UNC), 44 ft., 11 in. High jump: 1. Splawn (NCS); 2. Alexander (NCS); 3. Cornell (UNC), 5 ft., 10 in.

Two mile run: 1. Shockley (NCS), 9 min. 52 secs. 220-yard low hurdles: 1. Cornell (UNC); 2. White (UNC); 3. Moore (NCS), 25.3.

One mile relay: Won by Carolina (Flowers, Lennon, Cain Reimer), 3:34.3.

Turney Third In Big Four Batting

Bill Werber, Duke first baseman who was selected as the most valuable player in North Carolina's last Big Four League last year, is the top loop batter through the first two complete weeks of action.

The Blue Devil star is hitting .375 in four games. Dick Denny, catcher for Duke who has gone to bat only half as many times as Werber, is credited with the same average.

Next in line is N. C. State sophomore Jack Turney, with a .355 mark, followed by Dick Johnson of Duke, with a .353 average.

Duke leads in team average with an impressive .309, while State trails with a .252 mark. Duke leads the league with a 4-0 record and State is second with a 3-3 slate.

Johnson and Dick Groat of Duke are the top run scorers with eight, while Benny Vavaliere of Duke is second with seven. Roland Brinson of State had the most hits, nine, and Turney and George Thompson of State each have eight.

Three State men, Brinson, Eddie Morris and Johnny Yvars lead in doubles, triples and stolen bases, respectively, while Groat and Billy Lea of Duke leads in runs-batted-in with eight each.

These averages are for Big Four games only.

Wolfpack Defeats Davidson, 9-3 Blanked by North Carolina, 3-0

Thompson & Edmunds Pitch Three Hitter

State's Wolfpack combined tight pitching and timely hitting to wallop Davidson College Saturday, 9-3.

State's Mel Thompson and Jack Edmunds combined to limit the Wildcats to three singles while the Pack combed Davidson's Andy Courts and Jim Smith for 10 safeties.

The Wolfpack went ahead in the second inning with one run, but the Wildcats quickly tied it up in their half of the inning. State then batted around in the third frame to push four tallies across while the 'Cats could get but one in their half of the inning.

The Wolfpack added three more in the sixth and one in the ninth. Davidson got their final run in the seventh.

Shortstop Johnny Yvars was State's top batsman with four hits in six trips to the plate.

Duke And Spiders Head Conference Divisions

Before the 1952 baseball season opened, Coach Mac Pitt scratched his head at Richmond and sagely observed:

"Pitching is our biggest problem right now."

Pitt was feeling not a little sorry for himself as he recalled the loss of Ralph Graves and Roy Paulette through graduation and Billy Mitchell and Jerry Frampton to the armed forces.

"Of course, we're hoping a couple of our pitchers will develop before the year's out," Pitt added, "but we've got a long way to go."

Richmond's opponents in the Northern Division of the Southern Conference already are wishing Pitt and his Spiders had a lot longer way to go. For the Spiders, after dropping their first two starts, have come along to win six games in a row, three of them in league competition.

Tough Foes Ahead

The sudden spurt by Richmond has them comfortably on top of the Northern Division race, with a 3-0 mark, with George Washington and Washington and Lee trailing in second place with 2-1 records.

How good the Spiders are and how long they're likely to stay on top of the heap may be determined this week. Richmond has a tough conference schedule.

State Fails To Score As Port Gets Victory

Carolina's recent anemia at the plate came to a halt Tuesday afternoon as the Tar Heels turned in a 10-hit attack to whip the State Wolfpack, 3-0, in a Southern Conference and Big Four game here.

The Tar Heels came up with something new in the rediscovery of their early season hitting form, combining it with the steady pitching of Righthander Chalmers Port, for their second win this year over State. The combination was good enough to lift the Tar Heels from the Big Four cellar when Wake Forest today bowed to Duke, 8-1, thus replacing the Tar Heels at the bottom.

The hitting spree was staged against Lunsford Lewis, ace right-hander of the Wolfpack team, whose chief fault was a temporary weakening in the third inning and eighth.

Four consecutive singles in the third accounted for Carolina's first two runs. Lewis held them at bay for the next four frames on two safeties, but in the eighth, Connie Gravitte banged a double and scored later on a long fly to center by John Stowe.

Two Runs

What proved to be the margin of victory came early when the Tar Heels opened the third with the top of their batting order. Mark Herring singled sharply to left and Bruce Holt also singled to left. Fred Dale loaded the bases on an infield hit, making the situation ideal for Gravitte, batting in the clean-up slot.

Gravitte was equal to the occasion, delighting a crowd of 2,000 partisan fans with a ringing single to deep leftfield. The blow sent Herring and Holt speeding across with the game's first two runs.

Lewis got tough after that. But the damage to State had already come, swiftly and surely. Lewis came out of the hole without further damage by throwing out Dale at third on Bobby Henning's fielder's choice, forced Stowe to pop up, and then struck out Bill Reeves.

In the eighth, Gravitte opened with a double and came in with the third and final run when Stowe lifted a long fly to centerfield.

In the Southern Division, it's all but a walkaway for Duke's potent Blue Devils. Duke racked up five straight loop triumphs last week to move up to an 11-1 conference mark, 3½ games ahead of runner-up Wake Forest and four games in front of South Carolina.

There were five family fusses on Saturday, all but one of them in the Southern Division. The only Northern Division clash saw William and Mary edge out Virginia Military, 3-1, on a combined two-hitter by Jimmy Carter and Bill Twomey.

Billy Lea belted a three-run homer and a two-run double as Duke walloped North Carolina, 13-5, in the Southern Division. In the same area, Knobby Knobel's grand slam circuit blast powered Clemson to a 14-4 win over The Citadel.

In other Southern Division games, North Carolina State trimmed Davidson, 9-3, behind the three-hit hurling of Mel Thompson and Jack Edmunds, and Wake Forest whitewashed Furman, 6-0, behind the four-hit pitching of Don Woodlief.

George Washington stepped outside the circuit to blast Virginia, 14-7, but West Virginia found the going rough and dropped both ends of a twin bill to Penn State, 4-2 and 6-2.

JOHNNY YVARS:

Mr. Shortstop

By PAT DOWNEY

There are some guys in this world that you just have to like, and on the top of this list of likable guys is Johnny Yvars (rhymes with see-gars). Johnny is State's very dependable and hard-hitting shortstop, and the 20 year old sophomore shows promise of even greater things to come.

We called John and asked him for an interview, and he couldn't have been more pleased if it had been Life Magazine calling for a feature article. "An interview? Gee whiz, that would be swell. I've never been interviewed before," was Johnny's reaction.

We then made the long trip to Tucker Dorm and found our way to room 230, and as we entered the room we could detect a feeling of sadness.

"How did the game with Carolina go," we asked. "We lost 3-0," said Johnny. "We had eight hits today, but we just couldn't get any runs."

We then invited Johnny to start talking, but he is such a modest guy that we had a hard time getting him to talk about himself.

"My home is in Valhalla, New York," said John. "It's a little town, only 3,000 population, but it really is pretty up there. It is up in the mountains and real close to a big lake, and we go hunting and fishing all the time. They are my favorite hobbies next to baseball."

"I started playing ball when I was four years old. There are three boys in the family, and my father gave us a glove before we learned how to walk. He wanted us to be ball players, and he played with us, coached our teams, and did everything he could to teach us how to play. My mother wanted us to play ball also, but I guess she had no choice because we always had the house full of balls, bats, and gloves."

"I played in Valhalla Junior High School and then three years with White Plains High School. Then I played three years with the American Legion before coming to State."

"I wanted to join the Army when I got out of high school, but my mother and father wanted me to go to college first. I'm glad I did now because a college education is the most important thing in the world. My sister Terry had a lot to do with it too. She is my favorite, and she is always looking out for me to see that I do the right thing."

"Coach Dave Baxter taught me a lot when I was playing with the freshman team. He corrected some of my faults and really got me started on the right track."

When Bob "Footsie" Gardner, Johnny's roommate, heard we were talking about freshman ball, he interrupted to say "Put in there that Johnny hit over .500 his freshman year." This statement brought a violent wave of protest from Johnny. "Aw come on. Don't put that in there," he said. "Just say that I had a pretty good year. I'd never hear the end of it if the fellows thought that I told you that."

"I played a little semi-pro ball last year with the Valhalla Merchants, and this year I hope to play in Clarksville, Virginia with some of the other boys from the team."

"It is a pleasure playing with the guys here at State. We have a good club, and I think we are going to get a lot better. If we can make it into the southern division play-offs, we'll win the Southern Conference title."

Johnny is majoring in Industrial Recreation, and, quite naturally, he wants to make baseball his career. "I'll probably play pro-ball for a couple of years to see if I can go anywhere. That is after the army gets me of course. If I can't make it as a player I want to be a coach."

We then asked Johnny about the home run he hit last week in the Wake Forest game. "That was lucky," he said. "I only hit four all last year. I'm just not a home-run-hitter. I try to hit for distance when I'm at the plate because the coach likes to see that long ball when there are men on the bases. But I don't hit them very often."

Next we asked John if he had any particular weakness at the plate. "I can hit a fast ball better than anything, but the word is getting around, and now the pitchers won't give me anything but curves. I can hit the curves, but I would rather have that fast one." Johnny's .350 batting average is evidence that he doesn't have too many weaknesses in the batting department.

We turned next to his fielding and asked if he has always been a shortstop. "I have been playing shortstop ever since I can remember," said John. "That is my favorite position. I would be lost anywhere else."

Johnny was really loosened up by this time, and the conversation was coming more easily. "My brother-in-law Frank used to take movies of us when we were batting so that we could correct any flaws that we had. One day he came out to a game and was taking pictures of me every time I went up to bat. I had a miserable day. Frank kept shooting and shooting pictures, and I couldn't get the ball out of the infield. Then on my last time up, I finally got a hit, a home run over the left field fence. I was so proud running around those bases that I thought I was going to burst because I knew that Frank was getting it all on film. I ran over to Frank all excited to see if he got it all, but darn if he didn't run out of film back in the seventh inning."

"Another time back in my first year of high school I was sitting on the bench and our team was at bat. One of the boys on my own team hit a high foul ball that was coming down right near the bench. As soon as I saw it coming I jumped up and grabbed a glove, and I parked underneath the ball and waited for it to come down. The 3rd baseman from the other team tried to push me away so that he could make the catch, but I pushed him back and made a perfect catch for the putout. I thought I'd never hear the end of that one. Imagine, putting out my own teammate."

We then asked John if he has a girl friend, and he blushed and showed us a picture of a very pretty girl. "Her name is Mary Sue Umstead, and she is 'Miss Garner of 1952,'" said John. "She really is a sweet girl and I like her a lot."

As we rose to leave, Johnny jumped up to see us to the door. "Nobody has ever interviewed me before" he said, and as we said goodbye we knew that we were just the first of many sportswriters who will interview John Yvars because he is right on the heels of his brother Sal, and it will not be long before Johnny is up there with him.

STATE-CAROLINA—

Meanwhile, Port held complete command over State's batting order. He gave up seven scattered hits and was in trouble in only the first and third innings.

State Threatens

The hefty righthander appeared to get rougher and rougher as the game drew to its conclusion. But he was wobbly in the first frame. After retiring Roland Brinson on a grounder from third to first, Jack Turney smashed a two-bagger to right center, and went to third base when Port unlimbered a wild pitch.

He got Johnny Yvars on a fly to right, and big Eddie Morris powered one into deep centerfield, which the fleet-footed Bill Reeves gathered in to retire the side.

In the third, and with one out, Brinson sent a grounder to Bruce Holt at third, which he fielded in routine fashion until he made his throw to nip Brinson. Holt threw the ball into rightfield foul territory, a considerable distance from first base, and Brinson panted around to third on the three-base error.

Port walked Turney, and then Holt made up for his error by tossing out Brinson at the plate on a grounder by Yvars. Morris rolled out, ending the State threat.

Gravitt was Carolina's leader at the plate with two for three, and Turney led the State hitting with two for three. The Gastonia youngster slammed a double in the first frame, and singled sharply to right in the eighth.

The victory gave Carolina a 2-4 Big Four record. State continued in second place with a 3-4 mark.

Minneapolis Minn. (ACP) — Estes Kefauver has a slight edge over Robert Taft as Presidential choice among college students, according to results of the ACP National Poll of Student Opinion.

The Poll indicates that Kefauver has his best support from students in the South, and that he and Taft are about even in the Midwest.

In the West neither candidate seems especially strong, with students in that section casting more "no opinion" votes than students anywhere else in the nation.

As a senior from New Mexico Western College puts it, "Anybody but Taft, but not particularly Kefauver." Students across the nation were asked: If Robert Taft and Estes Kefauver oppose each other in the coming Presidential election, which man would you prefer to win?

The results:
Kefauver 45 per cent
Taft 38 per cent
No opinion 17 per cent

ASME Plans Meet Tue.

The next meeting of the A.S.M.E. will be held on Tuesday, April 29. The meeting will start at 7:10 p.m. in Room 216, Broughton. Professor J. S. Doolittle will be the featured speaker of the evening with a talk on Steam Turbines. Professor Doolittle is the co-author of the thermodynamics book used as a text in the engineering department.

"Taft, I think, is too radical in his views," is what a pro-Kefauver freshman at Kansas City University says. And a sophomore coed at Mundelein College, Illinois, declares, "Taft's isolation would ruin the country in two years."

In a poll taken before President Truman announced he would not run again, students were asked to state their choices on Truman vs. Taft and Truman vs. Warren.

Results show a slight plurality for Taft (but a gain for Truman over his vote three months ago) and an overwhelming majority for Warren.

Old South Ball

The KA's will entertain their chapters from Duke, Wake Forest, and the University tomorrow, for the annual Old South Ball. The big weekend will commence Saturday noon with a large banquet to be held at the Carolina Country Club. Following the banquet, at 4 p.m., the Kappa Alpha's will parade down Fayetteville Street, in full regalia (including flowing beards). The Ball will be held Saturday evening in Memorial Auditorium, with Larry Clinton furnishing the music. The large weekend will culminate with a Sunday afternoon picnic to be held at Sunnybrook Farm.

Phi Epsilon Pi will hold their annual ball tomorrow evening in the Sir Walter. A cabin party at Crabtree Park on Friday evening will start the eventful weekend for the Phi Ep's. On Saturday afternoon, a cocktail party will be held at the house. Following this will be the formal banquet and ball, which will be held in the Sir Walter. A party at the house will culminate the week's festivities.

Sailor's Ball

On Saturday afternoon and evening, Delta Sigma Phi will hold their annual Sailor's Ball at Truby Upchurch's. A large picnic will be held in the afternoon, with swimming as an appetizer, following which the Delta Sig's and their guests will dine, and dance.

A rush party in the form of a smoker with movies, was held by Delta Sigma Phi on Wednesday evening. On Thursday evening, Sigma Nu held a smoker for rushees, and on the following evening a party for the rushees and their dates was held.

Pi Kappa Phi will open their newly renovated basement this evening with a large party. Tomorrow the fraternity will journey to Crabtree Park for a Saturday afternoon picnic.

The highlight of fraternity activity on the campus during the last week, took place at the PIKA house, as Pi Kappa Alpha celebrated their 44th Annual PIKA Ball. The big weekend was started off on Sat. afternoon with an informal cocktail party held at the house. A banquet at the S and W followed, with an informal party at the house afterward. W. D. Carmichael was the guest speaker for the evening banquet. On Sun- at the various Raleigh churches. A picnic at Crabtree Park, from 5:30 day morning, the members took their dates to the Easter services till 12:00, finished off the long and enjoyable day. On Monday evening an informal buffet supper was held at the house for the members and their dates, after which, the group adjourned to the Sir Walter's Virginia Dare Ballroom, where the Duke Ambassadors were on hand to furnish the music for the formal dance. The Queen of the Ball was crowned during the dance, she was Miss Cornelia Dowd, of Charlotte, accompanied by Howard Sprock, also of Charlotte.

New Officers

Three fraternities announced their new slate of officers for the coming year. Phi Epsilon Pi's new officers are: Dave Koch, Pres.; Burton Davis, Vice Pres.; and Bob Harte, Treasurer.

The new officers for Delta Sigma Phi are as follows: Rex Childers, Pres.; Bill Perry, Vice Pres.; Elvin Jones, Secretary; and Buddy Kline, Treasurer.

Sigma Chi announced their new officers to be: Frank Winecoff, Pres.; Jesse Capel, Vice Pres.; Joe Trollinger, Secretary; Rolland Wissemann, Treasurer; James Moore, Pledgemaster; George Winecoff, IFC representative; and Gene Cocke, House Manager. Also elected was Stinky Styres, Chief Bitcher.

Kappa Sigma and Theta Chi both held Saturday afternoon picnics at Crabtree Creek Park, last week. The picnics lasted late into the evening, with a big time had by all. Alpha Gamma Rho will hold their Founder's Day Banquet tomorrow, at the Tar Heel Club.

The Sigma Pi's will entertain their brothers from Wake Forest tomorrow, with a buffet supper and party, preceded by an afternoon of softball. The Pi's pledged two new men Monday evening, Carlton Strange, Jr., and Jim Caddell. Phi Kappa Tau is sending four of their pledges through "preparation week" during the next few days.

Lane Visits Lambda Chi's
Lambda Chi Alpha entertained Frankie Lane at their house on Tuesday evening after his performance at Raleigh Memorial Auditorium. Lane, an honorary Lambda Chi Alpha, and Miss Patti Page entertained a large Raleigh crowd with a very enjoyable performance.

The Sigma Nu's traveled via haywagon to Truby's on Friday evening, where they dined and danced until the wee hours of the morning. On Sunday morning they attended Easter Services in a group.

Psychology Counselors

Because the results of the counseling service offered last year by the Psychology Department were so encouraging, the service will be featured again this year on Saturday, May 3 and May 10. It is open to all interested high school seniors in North Carolina.

What Do You Say?

During the Winter term the banking hours in the business office were reduced and the office was closed entirely on Saturdays. The bank manager, through the Blue Bulletin, solicited student opinion as to the advisability of this move and stated a willingness to return to the former hours if the new arrangements proved inconvenient for a large number of students. Thus far, only two such requests have been received by the manager. The silence, on the part of the student majority is therefore taken as an affirmation of the new business office hours.

Barbecue For ASAE

Mr. Robert S. Winstead, regional supervisor of the New Holland Machine Co., spent Monday afternoon interviewing Agricultural Engineers for prospective employment. Tuesday night, Mr. Winstead was the guest speaker at the weekly ASAE meeting.

Wednesday afternoon, faculty wives entertained student members of ASAE with a barbecue supper at Crabtree Park.

A survey of the human debris left in the wreckage of the ice show departure revealed some mighty interesting things. The girls, it seems, displayed a voracious appetite for parties, consumed liquor in heroic quantities, and aided and abetted in all the fun-making that they possibly could.

The advertisements which preceded their show stated that they were "arriving fresh from a triumphant engagement in Madison Square Garden." That was the understatement of the year. Never did a group come so near to bursting with energy. There was Mary, Queen of Scotch, and her effervescent lady-in-waiting, Bubbles, both of whom to the parties lent their last full measures of emotion. They ran the nocturnal marathon neatly under par... which is the best way of describing how everyone else felt after the gals departed. Even the perennially partying architects were exhausted.

A few of the celebrators however, did not escape the ravages of the late hours, wine and song. Said one male escort of his date from the Follies Frigidigere, after a particularly tiring sprint around the punch bowl, "You could tell just by looking at her what a good time the rest of us had."

Beachbound? Here's some sound lore which may save some painful moments. According to the old reliable Consumer's Research Report, Gaby sun-tan lotion is the best of the commercial brands. It's sticky and smells a bit, but when mixed with said, beer and gin, no one will notice. Also, when lying in the sun, protect your eyes by placing a few small shells over them. These, nature has provided in abundance. Cheap too!

Dr. Hartley, head of the English department, referring to his article on the shortcomings of NCS students in spelling said, "Did you notice that the word 'deficient' was incorrectly spelled in the line which read, 'the students are deficient in spelling'?"

lege's Psychology Department stated that the clinic is equipped to test students ability, aptitudes, interests and personality since they are important factors in deciding on a vocation.

The counseling program will be held in Room 111-A, Tompkins Hall from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 3 and on Saturday, May 10, from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.

When good fellows

Rolfe Neill, president of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association, has released plans for the group's annual convention to be held in Chapel Hill May 16 and 17.

The two-day session will have its headquarters in the Carolina Inn. Seminars will be conducted in various buildings on the campus, Neill said. Plans call for seminars to be conducted in news, business, and sports. Various newsmen from throughout the state will conduct the group discussions.

Neill called for entries in the annual writing contest to be submitted by Monday, May 6. They are to be mailed to him, care of The Daily Tar Heel.

Registration will begin Friday at 11 a.m. Friday, May 16, at the Inn. Seminars will be held that afternoon and a special event is set for that night. Saturday will be spent in other seminars and will be climaxed with an award banquet that night at which a nationally-known newspaper figure will speak.

Lindsay Spry, assistant business manager of the Technician, is vice-president of the group and Paul Foght, Technician editor, is a past president.

State Thespians Lead Little Theater Cast

"Front Page" a new play by Hecht and MacArthur will open at the Raleigh Little Theater Monday night April 28 to run till Sunday May 4. In an effort to attract State students the Little Theater has set a special price of a dollar-fifty instead of the ordinary two dollar charge.

State College people are well represented in the cast of the play by five students and one faculty member. Faculty member Leslie J. Lasky from the school of design takes the lead role as a brilliant newspaper man who is about to give up journalism to please his wife to be.

The students in the play include John Parnag, Joe Zak, Pete Jacobson, Ed Wagoner, and Gerry Conger. Parnag is cast as a philosophical but dumb cop. Pete Jacobson plays the part of the condemned murderer who escapes and is recaptured during the play.

Joe Zak acts the part of an underworld topedo and general "Con" man; while Ed Wagoner passes for one of the reporters who loaf around the press room of the Chicago police court.

This play which might best be called a Drama-Comedy has for its locale the press room of the Chicago police court. The fast moving action centers around the events leading up to the time the convicted murderer was to have been executed, his escape, and recapture by our reluctant news man.

One member of the cast compared "Front Page" to last year's production of "Detective Story" which had a successful Little Theater run before it came to Raleigh as a movie. This play has a plot which holds strict attention; although still allowing humor to make its appearance at many points.

The Little Theater extends a cordial invitation to its patrons old and new to turn out for this performance.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 40...
THE WHALE

Poor guy was submerged in a veritable sea of cigarette tests! He didn't know whether he should "blow"—or just jettison the whole job! But he fathomed the matter when he suddenly realized that cigarette mildness can't be judged in one quick spout! Millions of smokers have found, too, there's a thorough cigarette test!

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness Tests...

Camel leads all other brands by billions
