Capel Wins Jr. Prexy In First Secret Vote

Jessie Capel was elected president of the rising Junior Class in a close election over Jack Daughtry, in the first election of class officers on the general campus ballot in the history of State College. Due to small attendance at most class meetings, election of class officers on the general ballot may be adopted by the other classes. Many people have recognized the problem in the past but, this year's sophomore class was the first to take any positive action. Under this system there is a general class meeting to nominate two candidates for each office before the general elections.

A group of students in the school of textiles has a complete slate of candidates headed by Capel with Bob Sample for vice-president; George Lourigan for secretary and Bob Turner for treasurer. Ag student Jim Hilton, son of the dean of the School of Agriculture, won over textile man Bob Sample. Another Ag boy, Bobby Cone, beat out textile man George Lourigan for secretary and, Textile student Bob Turner was elected over Ag Engineer Bob Tayloe.

The score for the Junior Class stands two to two for the School of Textiles and the School of Agriculture, with the other schools seemingly taking little interest in class elections.

Below is a complete tabulation of the final results:

President—
Jessie Capel	130
Jack Daughtry	110
Vice-President—
Jim Hilton	141
Bob Sample	93
Secretary—
Bobby Cone	156
George Lourigan	72
Treasurer—
Bob Tayloe	102
Bob Turner	129

Jr.-Sr. Bids Available

Those students who did not pick up their bids to the Jr.-Sr. Ring Dance at the YMCA on Thursday night, may pick them up at the door of the Coliseum beginning at 8:00 p.m. on Saturday night. However, you must have paid your class dues in order to attend and request the bid.

It is rumored that Miss April Stevens will be present at the dance as an added feature.

New CG Constitution Up For Vote Tuesday

Campus Government members gave up their dinner hour again on Tuesday in favor of a steady constitutional revision diet. Preceding the main course were several a la carte selections which were quickly consumed along with the time usually spent on more pertinent matters.

President Pruden reminded those present that CG's banquet is scheduled for tonight at the Village Restaurant at 6:30. Members past, present, and newly elected are invited to this dinner-dance.

Next, up stood President-elect Outland in his capacity of Clerk of the Honor Court to read a trial result. He informed the assemblage that a student was convicted of unlawfully taking money from another individual on the campus. The accused was put on probation for this offense.

The spotlight then shifted to the head of the constitutional revision committee, Joe Mason. Mason, a little disheartened but none the less determined reported on the progress of his committee. The road had become rough, he said, as the administration was close on his heels. There was the incident which involved eight students charged with cheating on an economics test. All but one was acquitted, only because that individual had pleaded WVWP's 560 kilocycle transmitter was taken off the air Wednesday evening at the request of the Federal Communications Commission. It was reported that the station was over-radiating its signal. Station officials reported that repairs would be started immediately. Another transmitter will continue to operate on 580 kilocycles.

Russell, Kefauver Bow As Ike Wins On Campus

Fifty-three per cent of the four-hundred and three votes that brought victory for Ike Eisenhower in the student presidential ballot were cast by Democrats who crossed party lines to show their alliance to the "White Knight" of a hopeful Republican party. The total vote was eight-hundred and twelve.

Running a not-too-close second to Eisenhower was Estes Kefauver, Democratic hopeful and coonskin cap admirer. Kefauver polled one-hundred and seventy-three votes. Less than one per cent of the total vote for Kefauver however were Republican backers, illustrating a considerable less bi-partisan support.

Not too far behind Kefauver however was Richard Russell, a staunch advocate of all things southern. Russell polled one-hundred and nine votes of which some eight per cent were Republican and Independent and some five per cent were Dixiecrats.

The remainder of the hopefuls were more or less "also rans" with Warren leading with forty-six followed by Taft with thirty-nine and Stassen with twenty. The man with the corncob and the old braided cap who has been campaigning from New York's plushiest hotel, MacArthur, polled fifteen.

In the gubernatorial race, it was a decisive victory for William Umstead who polled four hundred and forty-six of a total of eight hundred and three votes cast. A little bit more than two for one, Olive trailed with two hundred and fifty-two. In the "also rans" division, Seawell support numbered twenty-five while Dunaway polled seven-teen.

The whole poll was especially characterized by a very light faculty vote. Of some eight hundred and fifty ballots prepared, only thirteen were used. Kefauver polled the most, seven, while Eisenhower ran a poor second with two. Warren, Taft, and Humphrey all polled one. The only write-in was for Adlai Stevenson.

Fifty per cent of Eisenhower's backing was again Democrat, while Warren's vote was from an Independent. In the gubernatorial race, Umstead didn't fare as well, running second to Olive who polled six votes to his four. Write-ins were cast for Frank Graham and Kerr Scott.

Generally speaking, State students adhere to the customs of the locality, being predominantly Democrats, approximately sixty-one per cent. Approximately twenty-five per cent call themselves Republicans while the Dixiecrats make up less than one per cent. Looking at the complete picture, some thirty-five per cent of the total vote for the various candidates were from a different party other than the one which backed the candidate.

Class Rings

Mr. Lee Blackwell, representative of L. G. Balfour Company, who has the contract for the rings for the Class of 1953, will be at the YMCA all day Tuesday, May 6, to hear any complaints and to arrange for any alterations or repairs that need to be made on Balfour rings.

Voluntary Teacher Rating Begins In Monday Classes

The faculty met in a general session in Pullen Hall this afternoon to be oriented on the "Student-Teacher" evaluation questionnaire which Campus Government will distribute to the teaching faculty beginning Monday.

This questionnaire will replace the faculty merit rating test last used in 1950. Prepared by a CG committee headed by Dave Yandle, the quiz will give students an opportunity to comment on their teachers' methods, knowledge and skill. Use of the new instrument will be voluntary for both teacher and student. An instructor need not give his classes the questionnaires and the students are not required to answer them.

A letter from CG president George Pruden which will accompany the questionnaires stresses the point that these questions are to be answered for the sole use of the instructor. The answers to the questions are not to be shown to administrative officers, although the instructor is encouraged to discuss the results with his classes.

A Damning Debt

There exists today the possibility that the financial heads of this Consolidated University have conspired to permit the existence of a financial situation which resulted in the unsanitary conditions which the Wake County sanitarian found to exist in the college cafeteria.

The cafeteria was given an unsatisfactory "B" sanitary rating because of conditions yet uncorrected because of a lapse in the remodeling program in the cafeteria. Improvements in the cafeteria, the manager has stated, must be financed from the revenue directly received by the eating place. Since cafeteria income is currently declining, new equipment and furnishings cannot be added quickly.

If it is also possible that the cafeteria has been forced to carry a large debt on its books then this debt also prevents the cafeteria manager from making the changes which would correct all of the conditions which the health official recently called unsanitary.

At the time of the last sanitary inspection such a large debt did exist on the books of the dining hall.

Small Vote Gives CG Jobs To Ward, Carlson and Ricks

Few Contests As 876 Cast Ballots; Howard Wells Upset In YMCA Race

Tommy Ward took the "Veepship" of the Campus Government in a breeze with 664 votes. His opponent, John Gilkey, had 212 votes. To T. E. Ricks went the position of C.G.'s secretary. It was Ricks, 512 and Bennett White 324.

Bob Carlson came through as the Campus Government's treasurer with a total of 527 votes in contrast to Ingram's 348.

Faculty representatives to Campus Government were chosen on two, three and four year basis. It was Mr. Moose over Mayo, 524-296 for the two-year term. In the three-year stint it was Reed over Hamby, 391-386. McKean, for four years, won over Bishop, 460-295.

Bill Fulcher is the "Y's" new president. He took the lead over Willis' campaign manager, Howard Wells, and beat him 489-379. The Secretary's race was fairly close. Fulp whipped Cool, 483-367. Congleton became the "Y" treasurer. His vote was 447 as matched with Clark's 368.

In the athletic trophy world the name of Terrill came round again and again. But, "Big Elmer" was in there too. The final results showed Lee with 571; Elmer with 327.

Max Thurman and Don Powell walked away with the senior representatives' seats on the athletic council. For Powell it was a whopping 381, for Thurman, 306, and then Farrar with 155 and Davis with 268.

Lloyd Cheek was top man for the junior representative on the athletic council. He bested Paul Waggoner 463-341.

Leroy Jackson became president of the IFC as he defeated Derro 200-42. This was decisive. Likewise, but not so pronounced was the Williams' win over Strickland, 140-104. Sonny Hines is the new IFC secretary with 142 votes. Sunderland can thank the 101 voters who supported him in a fairly close race.

Dick Pitts now heads the College Union. He defeated Jim Milam 659-172.

Angel Angles by The Arch Angle

Well nothing sensational has happened here at Meredith College lately—no new art on the water tank, no billy goat running loose in Johnson Hall, but we do have a lot of frantic dashing to and fro trying to get ready for State's Junior-Senior.

Walking through the halls you hear such comments as: "Shall I wear my red or pink dress. Herman thinks I look so much better in the red, but I don't think it does justice to my complexion, do you?"

Take Susie for instance—now she'd just love to wear a short evening dress, but a great problem confronts her—she's a wee wee tall for her age—just 6'4", and her boyfriend, Clarence, is a little retarded in his growth (he's 5'5") and almost anyone knows you've got to wear high heels with a short dress, and everyone knows you simply can't with boys like Clarence.

Mabel has another problem—She can't decide which lipstick will go best with her dress. Should she wear the "Shocking Pastel Pink Paradise" or the "Blue Red Smear Proof"? So be careful if you wander out to Meredith anytime before this Saturday night because you might be knocked down in the rush of getting ready for the big dance.

Speaking of Junior - Seniors, Meredith held its Jr.-Sr. banquet the other week. Someone remarked after it was all over that those State boys sure could eat. The dietitian thinks so too.

Here's wishing that all the State boys who date Meredith girls have a wonderful time this weekend, and all you others—well maybe you'll see the light soon.

Thank You Note

I wish to thank those of you who supported me in my campaign for campus government president. I am sure that our school will progress under the accomplished leadership of Vincent C. Outland.

Owen Dormitory recently celebrated the arrival of warm weather with a picnic in Pullen Park. Members of Owen Dormitory Club and their dates enjoyed a wiener roast in Pullen Park on Friday evening, April 18. This outdoor affair was planned and promoted by the social committee of Owen Dorm under the supervision of the IDC area Social Director, Roy Congleton, and the I.R.R. Department. Bob Speight was chairman of the event with the committee consisting of Jackie Daughtry, Dewey Adams, and Tom Cooley.

On Friday night, May 2, Turlington Dorm will put aside their studies to enjoy the fun, food, and fellowship of their annual picnic. Girls from Rex Hospital will be on hand for the event, and a string band of mountaineers will furnish music for square dancing. There will also be recorded music for smooth dancing, and plenty of eats for all who attend.

Tucker and Alexander Dormitories will have their spring picnics on Friday, May 9, at 6:30 p.m. Men in these dormitories should make plans now to attend by paying their dorm dues to Bill Ayscue in Tucker, and Turner Williams in Alexander.

Top Military Students

Thirty-nine top-ranking juniors at North Carolina State College have been designated as "distinguished military students" in recognition of their attainments in the Army ROTC units.

Announcement of the list of honor cadets was made today by Col. Leroy C. Wilson, professor of military science and tactics at State College, who said the group would be tendered commissions in the Regular Army upon graduation if they continue to maintain high standards in their work.

All students in the group, Colonel Wilson said, have demonstrated "outstanding qualities of leadership, high moral character and definite aptitude for military service" and have also made notable academic records.

Sigma Phi Epsilon journeyed to Greensboro last week to attend their annual Sig Ep's Sweetheart Ball. Chapters attended from Duke, Carolina, Wake Forest, Davidson, and State. The big weekend started off with parties on Friday afternoon and evening. Saturday, at 5:30, a banquet was held in the O'Henry Hotel, followed by the Ball, which was held in the King Cotton Hotel. On Sunday, the chapter made their weary way back to State. On Friday afternoon and evening the chapter will hold a picnic at Truby's. The pledges of Sigma Pi have challenged the active members to a duel on the softball field, the losers to take their punishment in licks to be administered by the winners (rumor has it that the game is fixed). Two new men were pledged by Sigma Pi. They are John Knight and John Herther.

White Rose Formal
The Sigma Nu's will travel to Durham this evening to attend their annual White Rose Formal. The big dance will be held in Durham's Hope Valley Country Club, with Sigma Nu chapters from Carolina and Duke also in attendance. Herb Gupton's band will play for the event. Parties will be held at the house to combine the Friday night Ball with State's Junior-Senior Dance tomorrow evening.

Tau Kappa Epsilon held a dedication party on Saturday in honor of their new basement recreation room, which was a long, long time in the completion; two years to be exact. They point with pride to their accomplishment, displaying to all their visitors the junior sized Pike's Peak in their backyard, which was once the terra firma under their abode and the high water mark from the great flood of 1951. At the time they were the only fraternity at State College boasting a swimming pool. Well, it's all finished now, except for a few minor details, and they believe that it has the charm and decor to match Ciro's or the Cafe Rouge.

Kappa Sigs Open House
Kappa Sigma will hold their annual Open House at the Sir Walter Hotel tomorrow afternoon, from 4:30 to 9:00. The Open House will be held in honor of the Saint Mary's Senior Class. Herb Gupton's Dixie-Land Band will perform for the occasion. The Kappa Sig's extend an open invitation to all fraternity men.

... Is Yet to Come

Belief in omens, like the study of character through phrenology, is considered a highly doubtful policy, and only resorted to by politicians in their campaign. Yet, The Technician must still go out on its limb by saying that the omens for a successful Campus Government next year are highly favorable.

Near precedences have already been set both in the number of bona fide candidates for elective offices in Campus Government, and by the overwhelming majority which carried Vince Outland into office in what was intended to be a primary vote.

Campus Government has had tremendous progress over the past year. It has elevated itself from just one more non-representative student group to its present enormous status as a well informed vital spokesman for the entire student body. It has become a model to student bodies of other schools who are entering the same period of growth and who are fighting for the same aims that the students of State College have been fighting.

It will be an experienced Campus Government next year, well versed in the needs of State College. Its President will be symbolic of all that CG will stand for. Outland has unflinchingly devoted much of his time to CG over the past years. He is respected by both student and administration, and he has constantly worked to better the relations between both.

The students will look to Campus Government next year for their needs; for CG will have the power to interpret their wants and allocate funds. While as yet no decision has been rendered by the group studying supply stores, it will be up to Campus Government to handle any funds, in cooperation with the administration. It will also be up to Campus Government to make sure that an equitable agreement is reached, and that further violations in the operations of the stores are not tolerated.

In short, a lot of things will be up to Campus Government. A need for a new system in the honor court has been cited, and should receive very careful attention. A need for more direct public relations with the campus has been cited and should be provided for. Students should not have to undergo hazards in their daily campus life, but should be able to subscribe to a group insurance plan. This plan should have adequate coverage in cases of any unforeseeable emergency. New strength should be infused in the IDC which could well become an efficient companion and sister to CG.

Our cartoon pictures the personifications of these problems fleeing on toward the new Campus Government. Let us hope that by the same time next year, there will be very few if any of these "creatures" surviving.

The professional organizer of the Wolfpack Club has told a group in Gastonia that the club owes the cafeteria $74,000. This amount is many times more than would be necessary to accomplish all of the remodeling currently necessary to bring the cafeteria up to par with the Wake County health officials.

The Wolfpack Club is private organization which has not deemed it necessary to explain its actions to the student body. It is incorporated as the N. C. State College Student Aid Association and is in no way a part of the college although it maintains offices in the Coliseum. As a private corporation the cafeteria management, and the business office of this college, could not allow the Wolfpack Club to accumulate such a debt unless pressure was being brought to bear from "top management."

The debts of the Wolfpack Club, which recently totaled $109,000, should never have been allowed to accumulate, but now that they appear to have caused the health of the student body to have been placed in possible jeopardy their existence is damning.

Affairs *****
of State
By Bob Horn

You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink. You can spend a considerable amount of money and build a reflecting pool, but you can't make it reflect. . . not when it's full of trash and junk and all the refuse one could possibly toss in when passing by.

Last week the pool in front of Holladay Hall was drained because it had become mosquito infested. In its bottom was one of the worst messes you'd ever want to see. The wilted blossoms and dead twigs would have been bad enough in themselves, much less the coke bottles, paper cups, cigarette butts, candy and gum papers which added to the litter.

It takes some real brainy, upright student to think of tossing trash like that in a pool which was constructed as part of a campus beautification program. Bet you two to one that the same type of individual makes a lot of noise about the dull appearance of the campus when he gets a chance.

Eventually, goldfish were to be placed in the pool in order to keep it mosquito-free. But, where in the world the administration could find a species of fish tolerant to a super-saturated solution of nicotine juice, broken glass and defused coke is a mystery. It would be almost criminal to admit any fish to those murky waters. They'd be floating on the top within an hour.

Today the pool is reflecting again. But what of tomorrow? If there is a solution to the problem of keeping trash out, other than relying on the decency and common sense of the student body, let's hope that it is soon forthcoming.

The time is anytime, the place was Uzzle's Soda Shop. A foreign student approached Mr. Uzzle for the purpose of ordering his breakfast. This, however was no ordinary repas. The student insisted that his eggs be prepared in a particular fashion.

The water, before inserting the egg, had to be a certain temperature. It also had to be boiled for a certain time, and then, at the critical point the hen extrusion had to be gently lowered into the water. Here it was allowed to remain for another specified period of time. This was calculated in seconds.

Having performed this somewhat tedious operation successfully, Mr. Uzzle placed before his customer the piece de resistance. Did the student sit and marvel at this culinary triumph, this gastronomic delight? Did he devour each tasty morsel as would an Antoine's gourmet? He did not.

Music In The Nite

The State College Orchestra, augmented to 45 players, conducted by Christian Kutschinski, will present a symphony concert in Pullen Hall Tuesday night, May 6, at 8:30 p.m.

The program will consist of: (1) Prelude and Fugue in D minor by Handel (transcribed for symphony orchestra by the late Hans Kindler, founder and for 18 years conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra); (2) Symphony in D minor by Cesar Franck; (3) Intermezzo no. II (Introduction to Act II) of the opera "The Jewels

BY M.H.

There was music all over Memorial Lane last Thursday afternoon. It seems that the I. & R. Recreation head lost a PTA piano from his trailer as he rounded the curve. I understand that the air around him was blue as he surveyed the damage and blushing little maidens hurried past that awful spot.

Apparently the only way to get a handsome turnover and a quick sale on Hillsboro Street all a merchant has to do is to fold and put up big sale posters. And following LEWIS'S precedent, MILTON'S Clothing is opening its cupboard to bargain hunters. The only question is: How much old and inferior stock has ever so slyly crept among the previously displayed merchandise? Take heed, you bargain hunters!!

Someone might ask facetiously: Has the CCC been revived again? Last Saturday afternoon while another visiting committee of the Greater University trustees were here at State to acquaint themselves with school problems, et al, trustee Dave Clark entertained Roy B. Clogston and Malcolm E. Campbell in Charlotte. But then, perhaps, affairs at State were televised and the three C's didn't miss anything.

Clothes indubitably make the man. . . . And how impressed our little dolls are when we pick them up at Meredith, clad in dashing tux, ever so gallantly holding doors open for them lest any of the hoops in their skirts might be squashed. And how we squirm and perspire in the damn monkey suits after the third dance. And how we squirm some more when we think of the rental fee of the garment, for how many of us do own a tux? Thus, I challenge the sagacity of the recent IDC decision for formality at campus affairs. While a formal dance or event is pretty and all that sort of rot, perhaps some of us prefer comfort and consequent enjoyment, especially during the impending warm weather, to convention.

With one wolfish gulp, the entire Uzzle effort was consumed. The patron, apparently satisfied, then left the establishment without a word. Mr. Uzzle, however, was unphased by this performance, having encountered many similar situations as he served foreign students. It's an avowed Uzzle policy to please the customer at all costs, which you must admit, is most commendable.

Of the Madonna" by Ermanno Wolf-Ferrari, and (4) Overture to "Rosamunde" by Franz Schubert.

Sponsored by Mu Beta Psi, honorary music fraternity, there is no admission fee, and students, faculty, staff and the general public are cordially invited.

On Sunday afternoon at 4:00 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium, the State College Glee Club, the Symphony Orchestra and Band will also be heard in special numbers, and as accompaniment to some of the massed choral numbers to be presented at the Choir Festival. Again, the performance will be open to the general public without charge. Doors will open at 3:40 p.m.

Red-White Game Tonight As Pack Unveils Split-T

Sixty-five candidates for Coach Horace Hendrickson's 1952 Wolfpack football squad will stage their annual Red and White spring football game tonight at 8:00 p.m. in Riddick Stadium in the first public display of the newly installed split-T formation attack.

The Pack, which has been getting in 20-days of off-season drills, is expected to be an improved team over the 1951 squad which won only three of ten starts. The new style of play, which replaces the single-wing, will provide for a more wide open brand of ball than the Wolfpack has played in the past.

Hendrickson and his staff of assistants which include Line Coach Mike Karmazin, Backfield Coach Bill Hickman, General Assistant Beattie Feathers, and two special coaches, Tim Temerario of the Cleveland Browns and Dan Edwards, outstanding end with the New York Yankees, believe that the current squad will be one of the most spirited to represent State in several seasons.

Although Hendrickson isn't predicting the Wolfpack will come up with a world beater in September, the former Duke University All-Southern quarterback thinks the split-T will take the best advantage of the material available.

Pilot Problem

Biggest problem which has faced the State staff this spring has been the selection of a capable quarterback. Top man in the early work has been Rod Franz, a freshman from Charlotte, who has experience in the split-T attack gained in three seasons with Central High. Franz is a good passer and a capable ball handler. Two others, Carl Wyles of Buffalo, N. Y. and Gerard Gaier of Paterson, N. J., have looked promising and likely will see plenty of action this season.

The Wolfpack team will be built around a dozen veterans, some of whom will occupy new positions. Captain Ray Barkouskie has been switched to tackle after three years as a blocking back in the single-wing. Tackle Jim Hillman, a 230-pounder, has been moved to guard, and Tackle Bob Paroli, a standout freshman last year has been shifted into the center spot.

Other key personnel include four end lettermen, Steve Kosilla, Harry Lodge, Bernie Allman, and Dave Butler, Tackle J. C. Britt, Guards John Bagonis and Roland Fredricks, and Halfbacks Alex Webster, Ted Potts, and Dickie Bethune, and Fullbacks Harvey Yeates and Don Langston.

Webster Again

Webster, who scored ten touchdowns gained 1,358 yards for a new school record last year, has been a standout in the Wolfpack backfield in the spring work. The 200-pound senior from Kearny, N. J., who was a second team All-Southern last year, has taken to the split-T like a duck to water and his brilliant running has brought a gleam to Coach Hendrickson's eye.

Along with Webster, two fullbacks, Langston and Yeates, have looked impressive. Yeates, who was strictly a defensive specialist a year ago until he suffered a broken leg, likely will be the Wolfpack top plunging ace. Langston, a sophomore from Lexington, Ky., will give him capable support. Opposite Webster at the other halfback slot, two men are looking good, including Dan Tacker, a 170-pound freshman

Fort Wayne Cage Club Drafts Groat, Terrill

Dick Groat of Duke and Lee Terrill of State were draft choices of Fort Wayne in the National Basketball Association's seventh annual league meeting. Jay Handlan of Washington and Lee was also a choice of Fort Wayne.

Other choices included:

Milwaukee: John Snee of Clemson and Mark Workman of West Virginia.

Minneapolis: Dwight Morrison of South Carolina.

Syracuse: Harry Moore of West Virginia.

Thinclads To Meet Gamecocks Tomorrow

By CHARLIE MOORE

South Carolina will engage the cindermen of North Carolina State on the State track at 11:30 Saturday morning May 3.

The Gamecocks finished second in a triangular meet with Davidson and Clemson last week. Though the results of this meet do not show any impressive times, the rain soaked track must be considered. South Carolina will bring a balanced team to West Raleigh.

State will be out after the South Carolinians and will be counting heavily on every one of its men. If Kennedy can iron out his leg trouble, he and Charlie Moore should be able to pick up several points in the high hurdles. Jerry Splawn and high jump mate Alexander should help the cause considerably in their events. Splawn holds the North Carolina scholastic broad jump for 1947.

Jim Purdie, the fast improving two-miler, should be at a higher peak this week than last when he finished behind Joe Shockley for a second in the two mile against North Carolina. Shockley continues to run beautifully and also his long-haired Virginia pal "Buz" Sawyer is doing likewise.

A very interesting meet is in store for the students and the visiting alumni since South Carolina will be seeking a revenge win over the Wolfpack. State copped the last meeting of the two teams at Columbia, S. C., two years ago.

Turney, Cavaliere Are Big 4 Batting Leaders

Duke and Richmond Leaders In Conference

With the college baseball season moving into its final three weeks, it appears more and more that Duke's Blue Devils and Richmond will be top clubs in the Southern Conference playoffs May 15, 16 and 17 at Raleigh.

The Dukes, odds-on favorites to take the Southern Division crown, ran into their biggest stumbling block in weeks, Saturday. Rain stopped the Blue Devils. They were scheduled to play third-ranking Wake Forest and were seeking their tenth straight conference victory.

Coach Jack Coombs' stars have really found their batting eye of late. Since Ohio University handed them their second licking of the year on April 11, the Blue Devils have mopped up on every foe. They brushed off Wake Forest, regarded as the most likely team to topple Duke from the Southern championship, by 8-1 last week.

Duke is now riding along, with a 13-1 conference mark. South Carolina's Gamecocks, who have climbed ahead of Wake Forest into the runner-up slot, have won five and lost two. Wake Forest's record is 6-4, and North Carolina and North Carolina State are tied for fourth, with 5-4 efforts.

Defeated Favorites

Richmond's Spiders, current pacesetters in the Northern half of the spacious circuit, have won all four of their loop outings. Already, the Spiders have knocked off two of the teams with high hopes of grabbing the Northern bunting—Maryland (2-2) and Washington and Lee (3-3).

Richmond, however, doesn't have the strangle hold on first place in the Northern division that Duke possesses in the Southern. In fact, George Washington's Colonials are in a pretty nifty spot to bump the Spiders off their lofty perch.

Two newcomers to the Big Four Baseball League, both of whom didn't play in a single loop attraction last year, are tied for the batting lead through last week's games.

The newcomers are second baseman Jack Turney of State, a freshman from Gastonia, and center fielder Benny Cavaliere of Duke, a senior who didn't play in regular Big Four games last year due to a broken ankle suffered in the first game of the season. Both are hitting .400.

Three more Duke players, outfielder Dick Johnson (.381), pitcher Bob Davis (.357) and shortstop Dick Groat (.348) follow those two in the averages.

Duke, with a 5-0 league record, is the top hitting club with a .310 average. N. C. State is runnerup with a .246 mark.

Turney leads in most hits, 10, while Johnson and Cavaliere are tied in runs scored, with 10 each. Groat has taken over the run-batted-in-lead with 13.

Southern Loop Plans To Restrict Schedules

The Southern Conference, long a breeder of football bowl teams, is considering dropping out of the post season contests by restricting fall playing dates.

Conference Commissioner Wallace Wade Friday announced an agenda of limitations on athletics which will be considered at a meeting of member schools in Richmond May 9-10.

Topping the list is a proposal by a special conference sports committee that football be restricted to 10 games played between September 19 and the first Saturday in December. This would automatically rule out the bowl spectacles.

The suggested move follows one-year suspensions handed Clemson and Maryland several months ago for violating a conference rule which provides that teams must receive conference permission before accepting bowl bids. Both schools were denied permission.

The sports committee, headed by Athletic Director R. A. Fetzer of the University of North Carolina, also recommended limitations on the number of baseball games and on basketball and football practice seasons.

A full meeting of the conference in Richmond will consider the recommendations. The proposals would limit off-season practice sessions only in football and basketball—but would definitely limit seasons in all sports.

The proposals would allow member schools to play ten football games and would limit basketball seasons to 22 contests.

For each sport, the recommendations call for the following seasons:

- Football—September 19 through the first Saturday in December.
- Baseball—March 20 through the conference tournament or the end of spring semester, whichever is earlier.
- Basketball—December 1 through the conference basketball tournament.
- Golf—March 20 through the end of the semester or quarter.
- Indoor track—December 1 through the conference indoor track meet.
- Lacrosse—March 20 through the end of the semester or quarter.
- Outdoor track—March 20 through either the conference meet or the end of the semester or quarter.
- Soccer—October 1 through the first Saturday in December.
- Swimming—December 1 through the conference meet.
- Tennis—March 20 through the conference tournament or the end of the quarter or semester.
- Wrestling—December 1 through the conference tournament.

Wolfpack Golf Team Defeats The Citadel

State defeated The Citadel, 13½-12½, and both sides gave par a licking in a Southern Conference golf match at the Carolina Country Club.

Charlie Smith of The Citadel salvaged low medal honors for the losers by shooting a sizzling 67 over the par-72 CCC course. State's Morris Brackett was three under par, with a 69. Brackett won, 2-1, over The Citadel's Bill Lowry who shot a 70.

State's Paul Smith and Bill Zauber fired par 72's. Paul Smith's fine round went for naught, however, as he was the victim of the hot five-under-par round by The Citadel's Smith.

The summary:

Brackett (S) beat Lowry, 2-1; Picard (C), beat B. Smith, 2-0. Best ball: State 1½, The Citadel 1½.
C. Smith (C) beat P. Smith, 3-0; Holt (S), beat Cobb, 2-1. Best ball: The Citadel 3, State 0.
Crockett (S) beat Layton, 3-0; Zauber (S) beat Saunders, 3-0. Best ball: State 3, The Citadel 0.

and Dickie Bethune, who was knocked out of action last year with a leg injury. Ted Potts, a rising senior with three years of experience, is also due to help out considerably.

Good Spirit

State will have to count strongly on inexperienced freshmen and sophomores to carry the load in the reserve ranks this year and this fact is cause for considerable concern among the State coaching staff. Few of the replacements at the key spots will have more than junior varsity experience and more than likely several freshmen will have to fill in, particularly on defense.

Most pleasing to Hendrickson and his staff in the spring drills has been the spirit of the squad.

"The boys are working hard and I don't think I've seen a bunch more eager to make good," Hendrickson commented Sunday.

"We can go a long way with this desire to play and although we'll have plenty of problems facing us, I'm convinced we'll make a creditable showing with our first year under the split-T," the Pack coach concluded.

Hinkle blanked the Theta Chi's as Kappa Sigma won in the third inning by 11 to nothing. Aiding his own cause, Hinkle powered a ball far over the outfielders' heads for a home run. Hitting another home run for Kappa Sigma was Nickleson. Alpha Gamma Rho took the lead with ten extra runs over Delta Sigma Phi in the third inning, thus winning the game by virtue of the ten run lead rule. Kenett homered for the AGR's, while Meyers did the same for the Delta Sig's. The final score of the game was 13 to 3.

Sigma Phi Epsilon was led by a score of 8 to 1 at the end of the fourth inning, by Kappa Alpha. They rallied for three more runs in the top half of the fifth, but failed to gain any more against the pitching of Kappa Alpha's Dunlap. Sigma Pi won over Sigma Nu by an 11 to 1 score, in the third inning. Porter turned in a fine pitching job for Sigma Pi.

Lambda Chi Alpha's Ward blanked Phi Epsilon Pi with an eight to nothing score. Snisell pitched for Phi Epsilon Pi. Pi Kappa Phi dropped before Sigma Alpha Epsilon by an eight to four score. Aiding the SAE's cause, were Womble and Ratchford with a home run apiece. Lambda Chi's Malmquist drove in a run as he homered in their 6 to 4 victory over Pi Kappa Alpha. Stewart homered in the fourth for the PiKA's, as he led off the inning.

Held scoreless until the fourth inning, Alpha Gamma Rho tallied four runs to change the score to 12 to 4 in favor of the Kappa Sig's. Kappa Sigma retaliated with two more runs to win the game 14 to 4. Harte homered for Phi Epsilon Pi in their 17 to 6 win over Phi Kappa Tau.

Tennis

In the Phi Kappa Tau victory over Sigma Phi Epsilon, Roddey won a singles match and Smith and Sloan took the doubles. Lassiter and Carlson took the doubles with Ward taking a singles match to put Pi Kappa Alpha in the winning column against Kappa Alpha.

West Virginia (2-2) are all deadlocked for third place.

Clubs which finish first and second in each division will automatically qualify for the conference tournament, won last year by Duke.

Rain, wet grounds and cold erased the entire schedule Saturday when 13 of the conference's 17 teams were slated for action.

CAMPUS GOVERNMENT—

(Continued from Page 1) guilty was he convicted. The acquittals caused a rumbling which vibrated to the highest echelon of the administrative chain. The result—Chancellor Harrelson appointed Dean Shirley of the Basic Division, head of a committee to investigate the matter. The implication was that the administration's faith in the students had been shaken by the trial outcomes.

Mason is certain however, that his revised constitution will remedy the ills of the document now in force. Next week the council members will approve the Mason revision at the first reading in order that it can be thoroughly discussed by all the students before it is submitted for a second and final reading. This antecedes acceptance after two weeks.

While discussing the revisions, Mason casually mentioned a sweeping change in the representation arrangements incorporated in the new document. Said he, "We have limited the representatives from schools to one man in order to minimize a balance of power being held in any one school."

Instead, the next batch of representatives would be chosen on a

You Too Can Be On Ice

The ice rink of the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum at State College is now open for public ice skating. Director W. Z. Betts announced yesterday.

The rink, Betts said, is open each night from 7:30 until 10:30 o'clock and from 2:30 until 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoons. There is no skating on Sundays.

Betts said the rink will be closed May 2-5 for the Junior-Senior Dance at State College. The dance is scheduled for Saturday, May 3.

population basis, one per dorm, and one per every 200 students thereafter. This announcement touched off a luke-warm reaction which became hotter as legislator's after legislator's hand rose to protest or defend the idea. President Pruden, noting this lively interest, called for a night session in which to continue the discussion.

The council members left prepared to spend next Tuesday noon and late evening in a fine tooth combing session with the revised constitution.

STUDENT-TEACHER—

The instructor will examine and evaluate his own questionnaires and he will be given an evaluating scale. CG-man Yandle stated Monday that the actual distribution of the forms would be through departmental Honor Committees.

The new "Co-operation" quiz has already been tested in the Basic Division. H. D. Rawls, chairman of the Basic Division personnel committee, stated that he believes that the new voluntary evaluation will "foster greater student-teacher co-operation."

At a meeting for representatives of The Technician and WVWP,

Rawls and Yandle stated that the previous system of faculty evaluation was dropped because it "was not valid." Yandle asserted that "Proper evaluation of a faculty member involves more than student opinion alone. Publications and other factors such as advanced degrees must be considered."

Both indicated the belief that the questionnaires to be used this spring do not represent a final development. They maintain that this evaluation is better than the last but still is far from perfect.
