Homecoming Begins Tonight

DINAN PICKED FOR CG VEEP

Bonfire, Dance Girls Open Big Celebration

A giant bonfire and dance on Red diamond at 7 tonight will usher in States 1951 Homecoming. Saturday afternoon will see the Wolfpack tangling with William and Mary's Indians and Saturday night the soft strains of Buddy Klein's orchestra will feature a dance at the Coliseum.

Pop Taylor has been asked to speak at the bonfire and well over two hundred girls from Meredith, St. Mary's and Peace have been asked to attend. Music will be by sound truck.

Miss Kit Armistead, this year's "Miss Wolfpack" will grace the game and dance. She will sit on the 50 yard line at the game and will be presented a loving cup at half time. At intermission time Saturday night she will be crowned Miss Wolfpack. She is from Kinston.

Miss Armistead was sponsored by Kappa Sigma fraternity and will be escorted by Mr. Emmett Morrison.

Dormitory and fraternity house decorations will be judged beginning tomorrow morning at 9:30. Three cups will be awarded to fraternity winners and plaques will go to the winning dormitories. All entrants are cautioned that they must submit a complete statement of their expenses to Blue Key. This statement must show that no more than 25 dollars was

Ag Representative Beats Sappenfield

John Dinan was elected new vice president of the Campus Government at the C. G. meeting last Tuesday. He replaces Hank Smith, who has been called back into active service by the Armed Forces.

Dinan, a representative from the School of Agriculture, was recommended for the office because of "the interest he has demonstrated in student affairs and because of his ability to get along with students and administration alike, a trait necessary for the success of the office holder."

The new vice president, a senior in Animal Husbandry, is a native of Miami, Florida.

Dinan is a good student and leader, as is exemplified by his membership in Alpha Zeta, an honorary agricultural fraternity. He is active in the Ag Club and Animal Husbandry Club, and he is business manager of "Meat and Milk, the Scientific Way," the annual publication of the Animal Industry department.

His ability to get along with the students is shown by the fact that he is Chief Counselor for Owen and Tucker Dormitories.

Other Business

In the line of other business, President Pruden announced the appointment of a committee to advise on the allocation of funds from the Student Activities Fee. The

Attention Fishers

The College Union Outing Club invites all red-blooded fishermen (and fisherwomen) on an overnight fishing trip to Morehead City, Saturday, October 27, 1951. An interesting time should be had by all the brave souls between singing around the campfire, catching fish, swimming and trying to sleep under a blanket of stars.

Each outer would need to bring a sleeping bag or blankets, fishing equipment if he feels lucky, and an appetite. An ordinary hand-line should work as well as a rod and reel off some of the area piers. There will be three meals at the beach, one of which will be a fish-fry.

A number of cars are already signed up to make the beach trip starting sometime Saturday morning and noon. If you are interested, drop around to the College Union Office in the north basement of Holladay Hall and sign up before Thursday, October 25.

SOCIAL SUCCESS

Topic Of Consternation

By BOB HORN

At N. C. State, the proper host noted his guest's growing impatience. He knew that the serving time for refreshments was long past due.

A mat of unshaven faces stared him up, down, and sideways. He cursed the idea of having given the party in the first place, and on Thursday of all days. Seven students had accepted his invitation. Why not . . . he had given them a lead that was hard to refuse. His hint of a promise of a beverage that had become a rarity almost overnight was responsible for the large turnout.

Their cheeks a biliously healthy shade of pink, a result of a straight homogenized cocktail diet, the ensemble refused to release their stare. The phone rang. One of the guests was calling to explain why he would be late. An assignment of an extremely critical nature had been thrust upon him. All the physics and chemistry tables had to be revised in order to adjust to the crisis. Seems the specific gravity of alcohol was being substituted for that of water in order that a correct scientific standard could be maintained.

As he hung up the phone the host glanced toward the living room. The guests had finally occupied themselves with the main topic of consternation, the water shortage.

Said an overt guest, "At one of the schools a couple of students whipped themselves into a paganistic frenzy as they held a ceremonial dance around a ceramic idol—the God Rain. Next day's weather bulletins substantiated their claims as to the effectiveness of the ritual as the gutters brimmed full from a two-inch rainfall."

As he stood listening, a 3,000-watt bolt of "Offendez-moi, a compound of stale underarm deoderant, foot powder and strong-smelling bath soap almost succeeded in knocking him down. An acute attack of nausea followed. He reeled and found himself beside the cellar door. Descending the stairs he experienced a moment of relief from the strain which was upon him. It was short-lived. He jerked on the light and stood before his workbench.

It was littered with thick chunks of glass, the shattered remains of a gallon jug, the jug in which he had for weeks so assiduously hoarded the precious fluid with which he had tantalized his guests. A fool, a blundering idiot, he thought himself. Why had he not been more careful? Any halfwit should know

Water Use Drops 49,000 Gallons Thursday

Water consumption dropped 49,000 gallons Thursday when the second bathless and shaveless day was observed. Showers in the gymnasium and the pool were also taken out of use for the day. Tuesday, the first bathless, shaveless day, brought a saving of 8,000 gallons.

Only one person was found violating the voluntary program on Tuesday or Thursday. C. H. Nichols, 162 Tucker, was reported to have used the showers on Thursday.

Average daily consumption school year '50-'51	246,818 gallons
Consumption 8 a.m. Saturday to 8 a.m. Sunday	246,358 gallons
Consumption 8 a.m. Sunday to 8 a.m. Monday	243,868 gallons
Consumption 8 a.m. Monday to 8 a.m. Tuesday	256,043 gallons
Consumption 8 a.m. Tuesday to 8 a.m. Wednesday	248,916 gallons
Consumption 8 a.m. Wednesday to 8 a.m. Thursday	260,136 gallons
Consumption 8 a.m. Thursday to 8 a.m. Friday	212,760 gallons

Union Film Series Open's With Ford Flick

The College Union movie committee will present the first in a weekly series of movies this Sunday at 2:30 P.M. in the Textile auditorium.

The movie to be shown is John Ford's "The Long Voyage Home" starring John Wayne, Thomas Mitchell and Barry Fitzgerald. There will also be a short subject. Adapted from several plays by Eugene O'Neil the story concerns merchant ships and the men who sail them.

Admission for all students is free but registration cards must be presented as identification. Faculty and dates will be charged a .50 cent admission fee.

spent on their display. The awards are presented by the Raleigh Merchants Bureau.

The Monogram club will hold open house after the game and there will also be a dinner at the cafeteria for the sponsors, their dates and Miss Wolfpack.

Two bands will be on hand at the game as well as sponsors from the fraternities, the dormitories and other clubs on the campus.

The Homecoming dance will be held in the Coliseum from 8 to 12 with Buddy Klein furnishing the music.

As in previous years, Blue Key and the Monogram Club are jointly sponsoring all Homecoming activities.

The committees from Blue Key and the Monogram Club that have planned the Homecoming programs are as follows: Publicity, Clyde Garrison, Morrison Clements, Ken Harrison, Harvey Sheviak; Entertainment, Jerry Mann, Buck Pruden, Paul Brandenburg, Eddie Morris; Decorations, Tom Fite, Paul Foght, George Spain, Bob Scott, Bernie Yurin, Bobby Gauss, Bill Kukoy; Miss Wolfpack, Marcel Martin, Haiim Jacob, Eugene Younts, Roy Karriker; Dance, Bill

Despres, Leo Terrill, Don Cheek, John Graham, Jack McCormick, Bob Cok and Randy Warren.

CAMPUS GOVT.—

chairman of the committee, Richard Pitts, made a report to the Council on their actions to date and brought the matters before the Council for their approval.

He announced the committee's allocation of $120 to Blue Key to be used by the dormitories for homecoming decorations. He also presented a request from the Music Department for $1,100 for the band, orchestra, and Glee Club. This request was tabled after a suggestion that an itemized statement of what the money would be spent for be presented to the Council, since this one allocation would take a third of the $3,000 fund.

The Council approved the payment of $900 to cover expenses of the annual Freshman Banquet, held during Orientation Week.

State Student Legislature . . . .
Quite a bit of discussion was held over the issue as to whether State College would participate in the State Student Legislature which will be in session November 29 through December 1. The Council finally decided to participate and send official delegates. Pruden was granted permission to appoint three members of the senate. He appointed Louis Hines as the first senator and asked him to help with the selection of the other two men. Those chosen for the Senate will contact men on the campus who would be interested in serving in the capacity of representatives.

The next big order of business was the views of the Council on Faculty Evaluation. Approval of the system was unanimous; however, Professor Brown, a faculty representative, suggested that the system be broadened to include the Athletic Department and the Administration. It was reported that the Basic Division is very interested in a workable evaluation system. They have drawn up a proposed questionnaire which they plan to use at least in their own department.

The Council elected Walter Kasmin as the additional member to the Athletic Council.

At the end of an hour, the time limit which the Council tries to observe for their meetings, there were still a few items of unfinished business. Consequently, Pruden called a short meeting next Tuesday to finish the remaining business on this week's agenda.

Engineering School Begins Project "Grampa" As Part Of U. S. Navy Development Program

By EDITH PILCHED
"Grampa" commands respect, awe, and a lot of attention in the School of Engineering.

"Grampa," however, is far from enjoying a ripe old age. He is, in fact, in his earliest infancy. It is his growth and development that attract attention at the college. "Project Grampa" is a short name for a Graphical and Numerical Photoelectronic Analyser, an electronic device for the automatic analysis of data.

A program of research and development has recently started at the School of Engineering, from which Grampa is expected to emerge in two years. During this period the work will be supported by the U. S. Navy's Bureau of Ships in accordance with a contract recently signed by Naval and college officials.

All research associated with Grampa's development is under the direction of Dr. Victor S. Carson, professor of electrical engineering and director of electronics research in the School of Engineering.

Dr. Carson, an internationally known radio propagation specialist, conceived the idea of this electronic computer several years ago, while directing field research in Alaska and the Canadian Arctic. At that time, he was serving as chief scientist with the Air Force's Ground Electronic Laboratories. Recently he obtained the Navy's support for Project Grampa, which requires a research staff of six electronic experts working with him.

Grampa's principal purpose is automatic analysis of radio signal strength records and records of static taken during extended tests of radio systems. Such system tests often require continuous records for a year or more, producing thousands of feet of paper graphs. Heretofore, manual methods of analysis have been required, employing a force of several mathematicians and computing machine operators—a slow and expensive process.

When completed, Grampa will do the work of six trained mathematical computers in about one tenth of the time and will render a more complete analysis than is possible by human methods.

He is equipped with as many as 20 electronic eyes, each having its own optical system which includes a magnifying glass. An accomplished draftsman, Grampa produces three or four graphs at once. At the same time, he does some fancy and rapid statistical calculations, writing down the results during the process. He continually alters and corrects these results as more information comes into the view of his critical eyes.

He never tires, no time out for refreshments, no nose powdering—no human frailties. Grampa is a scientific wizard, satisfied to do nothing but work.

Can't Be Color Blind

Of course, Grampa does not exist as a completed individual yet. Electronics engineers are now working on his vital gears. George N. Webb, research engineer on the project, is working on his color perception—because Grampa must be able to distinguish between the red, inked lines containing the desired information, and the black, cross-sectional lines that comprise the graph.

When Grampa is completed, he will be able to make important studies on weather, tides, and other geophysical phenomena, time and motion studies, and many other recorded data. He will be of great use to Navy, Air Force, and Signal Corps scientists in reducing accumulated reams of recorded data to highly significant information.

EAST MEETS WEST IN NEW RELAY EVENT

You've heard of the Penn Relays. But have you ever heard of a relay where the hurdles are mountains, the average stride is thirty miles, and the track stretches coast to coast?

It's the Bell System's Radio-Relay and it brings East and West together in one of the most important events in the history of communications.

Telephone construction crews have just recently completed the coast-to-coast Radio-Relay system. Today, Long Distance calls ride on radio microwaves, beamed through the air from tower to tower. And, for the first time, television programs have been flashed from coast to coast.

The new system supplements the thousands of miles of wire cable that already tie the nation together. It helps make America's vast communications network even stronger and more flexible. And it could hardly happen at a better time. The demands of defense are heavy and urgent.

HOW Radio-Relay WORKS. Microwaves travel in a straight line. So relay towers are usually built on hilltops and spaced about thirty miles apart. Just as a runner picks up the baton from another runner; so each tower picks up microwaves from its neighbor, and with complex electronic equipment amplifies and focuses them like a searchlight, then beams them accurately at the next tower. And hundreds of Long Distance calls ride the beam at the same time.

Take A Look, Alumni

The mass exodus which has been going on for the past sixty-two years will be somewhat halted and reversed this Saturday as State College holds its homecoming ceremonies and welcomes back a multitude of graduates.

In a literal sense this is not a homecoming, for the alumni who have been active in a spiritual and financial role have really never left the campus. This is evident in the numerous programs and improvements backed by the alumni.

This is also evident, unfortunately, as one is ever constantly reminded of the deplorable situation exposed in athletic scandals at several colleges. Alumni bodies throughout the country have often exerted their tremendous strength and influence in the wrong channels. And in the relatively short years that it takes to buy a squad and win a cup, the good of the lifetime of a college can be seriously endangered.

If these scandals could be immediately forgotten it would be a redeeming factor, but the scars are deeply cut into the academic picture. In some cases, the damage is now irreparable.

We don't believe in keeping skeletons alive, but we think that the topic is most timely this year at Homecoming, for the benefactors return to see the result of their work. We would urge the power behind our college to divert their funds to channels which will bring only lasting glory and continuing success to our alma mater. In this policy there can be no regrets.

SHARPS and FLATS

By DICK TAIT

During the past years, the attention of the citizens of Raleigh has turned, more and more, to the displays of musical and dramatical abilities. This has been proven by the mass turn of people who partake in such events as produced by the Raleigh Little Theatre and the Music Association of Raleigh. But, where does this talent lie? Well, just look around. It's everywhere.

Yes, there's huge resources of talent found in this city. It is something that is common both to young and old, regardless of race and religion, and, each day, this little something is brought out in someone new, raising him or her to the heights of success in show business.

The latest talent, making its debut on the Raleigh stage, is found in a beautiful, blue eyed young lady who attends Hugh Morson High School. Her name is Sarah Fuquay. Keep her name in mind, for I'm sure she is beating a path to the "musical stage-door" already. Sarah brought down the house when she sang "Because of

You" at the Village Theatre. It was this little number and a dreamy soprano voice that won her the privilege to represent the city in the Southern Belle Contest.

To say that Sarah has a good voice is a grave understatement. It is exceptional. She has feeling. She has quality. She has—well, to best describe it, one person commented, "When I heard her sing, the blood in my body seemed to rush to one spot and my mouth gaped open. That girl can sure sing."

It is funny how a good voice, especially belonging to a beautiful girl like Sarah, can affect people. Sarah is no professional—just an amateur. But amateurs hit the "big-time" every day. Who knows? With her voice and personality, Sarah may soon rank among the better popular verse singers in the years to come. With work, she can do the trick. I'm betting that Sarah Fuquay will make the grade in the long road to success.

In the 75 years since Johann

Town and Gown

Geographically speaking, State College has been a part of the city of Raleigh for some sixty-two years. However, spiritually speaking we will not venture to estimate the time, for the occupation of the many bosoms of Raleigh is without a doubt a part-time job.

Fortunately, through the ages students have acquired a somewhat carefree reputation. We say fortunately because otherwise college would be a dull affair. However, in the eyes of the neighboring populus, which seem to have great penetrating value, students, like little boys, are composed of snakes and snails and puppy dog tails.

While this alone could be a claim to glory, it is in our case rather the cause of our notoriety. Raleighans recently in their unfortunate plight have looked "toward the hills" and think that they see the students of State College, who, in their minds, are completely oblivious of the situation, wasting precious water.

We must respectfully correct this impression, for the students could never be more aware of a problem, and never more careful in their use of water. Furthermore, if one or two students are out of line, one could hardly say that this is an indication of the general behavior. Before this impression is accepted, we would ask the people of Raleigh to look to their own municipal court.

Students are young and immature, but time is the healer, and considered sufficient in itself. We would suggest to the citizenry that it bow to the superior methods of nature. Mutual cooperation will lead to mutual understanding and mutual benefit. We don't want leniency, but we do want the town people to carefully weigh their opinions before they express them. Retractions are always too late and too inconspicuous.

We hope that the next few years will see the completion of our College Union building which will bring with it a wealth of new activities, many of which will interest the general public. We further hope that the next few years will see a narrowing of the breach between school and city, so that as State College emerges into a new era it will be an era of unsurpassed cooperation and good-feelings.

The Power Of Advertising

By PAUL FOGHT

This week we would like to say a few words about the power of advertising.

During the past summer we managed to earn our bread and butter by assembling words to be carefully enunciated by dulcet-toned radio announcers. The purpose of this was to induce the listener to rush right out and buy the product. Now, however, we hear of a guy who caused people to rush out to buy a non-existent product.

This character is named Art Hellyer, and he holds down one of those midnight disk shows up Chicago way. Seems this clown put a thing like this on the air one night: "Buy SLURPS! Guaranteed to remove from your blood the rust caused by eating too much iron in food."

"When your trial package of SLURPS arrives, feed two tablets to the postman. If rigor mortis sets in within three minutes send the postman to us, express collect and we will refund double the money you owe us!"

This nonsense brought in orders from more than a hundred eager listeners in six or seven states.

Another interesting example of the power of advertising came to our attention Saturday night when the French motion picture "Mamon" opened in town. In this instance it was the idiocy that resulted from straight-faced advertising.

The advertising for the picture conveyed the idea that it was nothing less than a fabulous sex orgy recorded on film. This was effective enough to fill the theatre, but those who came did not come in the proper spirit to appreciate the true value of the picture. Being disappointed with the film, the audience put on its own performance.

Let's face it, advertising is a dangerous thing; it's too darn effective.

Still on advertising. We're sorry that you missed the interpretation of the come-on barkers at the State Fair girlie shows that our usually well-oiled friend from the ROTC gave down at Pete's. Maybe he'll do a repeat performance for you boys out on the drill field.

Last May, a meeting was held to discuss the merits of housing freshmen in the same dormitories as upper-classmen. As a result, freshmen and upper-classmen are now being housed together. This week's question, asked of the following freshmen is, "Are you satisfied with the present housing system, or would you prefer having the freshmen housed in a separate dorm?"

Edwin Manchester, Wildlife Cons. and Mgt.

I would rather live in the dorm with mixed upper-classmen and freshmen because it is probably somewhat quieter and more in order. Also, if you have any problems in homework there are upper-classmen around to help out.

Thomas Parker, Textiles.

I believe that freshmen should be placed with upperclassmen in order that these freshmen learn sooner the real meaning for going to college.

Buddy Hall, Elec. Engr.

Some boys like living with the upper-classmen, but I find that they are no help. Studying is very difficult because these upper-classmen make more noise than all the freshmen put together.

Joe Stephenson, Wildlife Cons. and Mgt.

Living in a dorm with upper-classmen is better because the upper-classmen may be able to give a little advice to the freshmen. As for the freshmen having better school spirit when staying together, I do not think that the absence of upper-classmen will effect it.

James E. Mundy

I feel it is better to have part freshmen, and part sophomore, junior and senior students in the same dormitory, because they who have been here for at least one year can set somewhat of an example for the freshmen, and help them with their problems.

Howard Greenberg, Tex.

The dormitory system as it now stands is actually a cross-section of the student body. A freshman in the same dormitory with upper-classmen feels that he is a part of that cross-section, and this makes him feel more at home. Sometimes problems come up that make the freshmen seek the advice of the more advanced students.

Homecoming promises to be an enjoyable weekend for all the fraternities on campus. Various activities are being planned by the numerous houses including the Saturday football game, suppers, dancing, and house parties. To mention a few, Sigma Chi is planning a buffet supper after the game, followed by a party at Truby's. The PiKAs are having a supper after which there will be activities for brothers, pledges, and dates.

Don Pike, head of the Homecoming Committee, is hard at work planning decorations for the PiKA house. The Sigma Pi's are having a meeting of the Iota Province which includes Wm. and Mary, Wake Forest, and N. C. State, on Saturday morning. At night there will be a big house party in conjunction with the Sigma Pi Alumni Club.

Athletic competition got off to a fast start with football, volleyball, and handball scheduled for the fall term. As of Monday, October 15, the four sections in football were headed by PKP and Kappa Sigma, PIKA, SPE and TKE.

Sigma Chi and SPE head the volleyball leagues with two victories each. Kappa Alpha advanced to the quarter finals of the handball tournament, while the other contenders will be decided in eliminations this week.

As fraternity reporter, I will try my best to have complete coverage on all fraternity events each week. With co-operation from each house, I'm sure that this goal will be reached.

Columbia Masterworks has released two new recordings of Mozart's masterpieces, "The Marriage of Figaro" and "The Magic Flute," performed by distinguished members of the Vienna State Opera who are steeped in the authoritative Mozart tradition.

Two stellar casts, including such outstanding artists as Erich Kunz, Elisabeth Schwarzkopf, and George London, are heard with the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra under the direction of Herbert von Karajan.

Each opera is issued on three 12-inch L. P. records, with complete libretto. The recitative secco in "The Marriage of Figaro" has been omitted but all dialogue is included in the libretto.

Based on Beaumarchais' comedy of the same name, Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro" is a treasure-house of lovely melodies and a blend of sparkling humor and pathos.

"The Magic Flute," the composer's last opera, brings together florid coloratura passages, arias of folk-line simplicity and some of Mozart's finest vocal music.

Three of the present top five quarterbacks for Duke University's football team are freshmen. Jerry Barger, Sam Eberdt and Worth Lutz are the frosh, with the other two being senior Gleen Wild and junior Dave Lerps.

Duke University (then Trinity College) banned football in 1895 after rumors had circulated that the sport had become professionalized. The ban lifted in 1919.

Angel Angles by The Arch Angel

While there are a number of characters around who feel that men should go to State and ladies should go to Meredith and never the twain should meet, there are others, thank goodness, who want to find a common meeting ground and never, never leave it. It is for them—uninformed freshman or backward senior—that this column is respectfully written. To the cads who referred to us "little innocents" as "inmates" and "Devilish dolls" goes my sincere desire that the day never comes when they get anything but a busy signal at 3-6461!

Meeting the "dolls" was not so hard for those who came when called, but, boys, Society Rush Week is over this year so might as well quit driving out at 9:30 for a free picnic with bushels of girls and apples—which reminds me—didn't your mamas teach you not to grab? There are other ways of getting dates. Blind ones are easier to obtain since freshmen at Meredith have to be chaperoned by juniors and seniors this semester. Since the freshmen girls snag all the dates (on the theory that they haven't learned what an average State senior means by "I'll teach you Campusology"), there are always lads looking for someone to date the "chaperon." Really, they're not so old; they just act that way.

It is really a thrill though for Meredith to get a chance to air its views in The Technician. We always got mentioned in The Wa-taugan but never had a chance to talk back. And since 61% of us prefer State Wives to any other collegiate animal, any chance to further our cause is welcomed. Despite the false propaganda recently given out by The Technician, someone at Meredith wants YOU!!

Rural Sociology Dept. Adds and Subtracts

Professor E. A. Wilkening has been granted a leave of absence from the College until July 1, 1951. He left State to teach and engage in research at the University of Wisconsin. His vacancy has not been filled.

Wilkening came to State in the Fall of 1946. He is a Missourian and a graduate of his native university. He received his Doctor's Degree at the University of Chicago in 1949.

The results of Dr. Wilkening's recent research here will soon be published by the Agricultural Experiment Station. The bulletin will be entitled "Acceptance of Improved Farm Practices in Three Coastal Plains Counties."

New Graduate Student
Charles Freeman, a Quaker social worker with five years experience in India and Palestine is doing graduate work in Rural Sociology here this term.

Freeman is married. His wife, who is a native of Allahabad, India, is taking courses in Education and Sociology at Meredith College.

The graduate student did work in fishing villages in India where he helped the fishermen organize marketing cooperatives with the financial assistance of the Indian Government. He hopes to continue his work in India after he has obtained his Doctor's Degree in Rural Sociology.

Wolfpack And Indians To Battle In Stadium

JOE BENNETT, Sports Editor

Views and Previews

By PAT DOWNEY

Tomorrow's game with William and Mary will mark the last appearance in Riddick Stadium of thirteen Wolfpack Seniors. These men have established themselves as outstanding performers, and they will be remembered and missed by Wolfpack fans long after the final whistle blows tomorrow.

Most outstanding of the Senior gladiators is "Big Elmer" Costa. This is Elmer's fourth year of varsity competition, and he has been playing the same outstanding brand of ball game after game. "73" has proved to all that he has played against and played before that he is All-American in every respect. But unfortunately it takes more than mere ability to obtain this coveted title. Publicity and plenty of it is necessary. If Costa doesn't make all everything this year it won't be because of any lack in ability.

The other twelve men that will be playing their homefield finale are Captain Jim O'Rourke, Vince Bagonis, Walt Schacht, George McArthur, Tom Tofaute, Jimmy Smith, Vitus Kaiser, Fred Beaver, Bernie Allman, Jim Swart, Howell Sharpe, and Bob Fleming. It would take a book to expound on the virtues of each of these men, but one brief look at the names will show the great loss we will suffer at the close of this season.

There isn't much that can be said after the great game in Durham last week. The outcome wasn't decided until the final minutes of play, and there hasn't been a more thrilling game played in these parts in many years. Win or lose it was a terrific game, and I feel sorry for the many students who chose not to go see it.

The smell of basketball is already in the air. Coach Everett Case has started practice, and it looks as if he will have another winner this year. Only Ranzino, Bubas, and Horvath are missing from last year's lineup, and added to the remainder of last year's squad are the 1950 freshman team and a very impressive crop of yearlings that will be making their debut this year.

The prediction averages are still too low to print, but we did show an improvement last week. I promise they will be in next week's paper regardless of how bad they may be. Here are twenty-five more:

TKE Downs PKT 22-0 In Opener

TKE scored a 22-0 victory over PKT in the season's opener for both teams last week. The Tekes struck quickly on a pass from Charlie Moore to Dick Sly in the end zone. The extra point try was no good.

On the following kickoff, the ball was bobbled in the end zone and TKE's All-Fraternity End Bob Phelps fell on it for TKE's second score within a minute. "Buz" Sawyer, fleet wingback, scored the extra point on an end run to make the score 13-0.

With PKT backed up to their own 5-yard line, an attempted end run was stopped in the end zone by Fred Miller for a safety to boost the score to 15-0.

Just before the half ended, TKE's other All-Fraternity star, "Pos" Lumly, connected on a pass to Bob Phelps in the end zone. It was Lumly again on an end run for the extra point. This made the score 22-0 and ended the scoring.

TKE made several threats in the second half, but could not hit on any of them. The big Teke line, led by Sly, Welch, Bennett, and Miller, halted all of PKT's threats.

Off Campus Students To Play Intramurals

Director of Intramurals Johnny Miller has made the following announcement for off-campus students:

Every student regularly enrolled at State College has the opportunity to play with some team in each sport during the entire year. The sports conducted this fall term are: tag-football, volleyball, handball and boxing, and an open tennis tourney. Each dormitory athletic director can sign up two off-campus students in tag football, two in volleyball, two in boxing and one in handball. This means that 112 students living off the campus can get on a team if they are interested. All you have to do is to contact any dorm athletic director with whom you would like to play. In fact some of you better known athletes will probably be "contacted" by the director himself.

"If as many as four off-campus teams can be organized by some 'live' students, the intramural department will be glad to arrange schedules, provide fields, supplies and officials. I can keep in touch with managers but it is not possible for the department to contact, form teams, and keep in contact with individual students scattered over Raleigh. If any group of students has a team and would like to play some games, if you will contact any fraternity or dormitory athletic director, I am sure they would like to arrange a practice game. Anyway you have the opportunity to play on a team. The rest is up to you as an individual."

Booters Drop 4-2 Decision to UNC

The State College Booters opened the soccer season at Chapel Hill Tuesday as they dropped a 4-2 decision to the Tar Heels.

The Pack dominated the ball throughout the first quarter, but were unable to score. Early in the second period Hiam Jacob of State broke through for the first score, but Carolina came back with two quick tallies before the half ended.

Joe Baykara tied the score for State in the third period, but U.N.C. went ahead with their third goal, and clinched the contest with another in the last quarter to make the final score 4-2.

The Wolfpack will be looking for their first victory of the season (Continued on Page 8)

Tribe On Warpath For Big Four, State After Homecoming Win

By BOB PHELPS

Tomorrow afternoon the North Carolina State College Wolfpack will meet the William and Mary Indians in the annual Homecoming football game.

The Pack will be trying to get their first Southern Conference victory of the 1951 season. At present State is at the bottom of the Conference standings with four losses and no wins. These losses have come in their last four games.

In the series between the two schools, the Wolfpack holds a 5-3 edge in games won but all three of the defeats have come in the last three seasons. In the first game played between the schools, State ran all over the Braves to the tune of 81-0, however, the Wolfpack would settle for an edge of one point this season. The Indians are a two touchdown favorite.

Tribe Upsets Deacs

Last week-end, the Tribe knocked Wake Forest from the Conference lead by taking a 7-6 victory over the Deacons. In doing this, the Indians completely outplayed the favored Deacons and broke a four-year string of triumphs by the Baptists. It also broke a two-game losing streak for the Tribe who had lost to Oklahoma and V.M.I. While they were knocking off Wake Forest in Richmond, the underdog Wolfpack was playing it's best game of the season in Durham. Unable to score from scrimmage since the Catawba game, State broke loose for three and led the Blue Devils 21-13 going into the fourth quarter before finally bowing out 27-21.

Heavyweights

Against the State men the Indians will throw the biggest line that State has faced this season. With such huskies as Tackle Joe Megale, 210-pounds; Guard Sam Lupo, 205-pounds; Center Ted Filer, 225-pounds, Tackle Charlie Copeland, 225-pounds; the Braves will be able to field a line that averages 207 pounds. The lightest men are Guard Linwood Cox at 183 pounds and End Jack Lewis at 185. The William and Mary offensive effort will be led by Halfback Ed Mioduszewski (pronounced Medda-CHES-kee), a 180-pound speedster, who averaged 6.4 yards per carry against Wake Forest, and Quarterback Dickie Lewis. William and Mary's touchdown against the Deacons last week came as a result of a Lewis to Mioduszewski pass.

Elmer's Tune

The Wolfpack will go along with a line led by Big Elmer Costa. Elmer, who weighs in at 220 pounds, played sensational ball against Duke. In all he made six tackles alone and assisted teammates with nineteen more. Helping Costa throttle the Indian attack will be other linemen who have done a whale of a job all season. End Dave Butler and Tackle Jim Britt played well in the loss to the Blue Devils. Offensively State will lean heavily on Alex Webster, who tallied one touchdown against Duke and set up the other two with his brilliant passing. Lost to the Wolfpack for the season is Tackle Fred Beaver of Asheville, who sustained a broken leg in the Duke game. Captain Jim O'Rourke will probably not see action because of a shoulder separation.

Now that the Wolfpack has found a scoring spark, they could very well give the Indians a rough afternoon. "We're still improving," Coach Beattie Feathers says, "and I know we're capable of winning against William and Mary. They're tough, but our boys are hungry for a victory and Saturday might be our big chance."

Distance Men Take Two

By CHARLIE MOORE

States Cross Country team has gotten off to a fine start this season beating Davidson, 17 to 46, and then coming back to beat Carolina in the wind and a steady down pour of rain, 18 to 42. The Staters proved to be good mudders in spite of their injuries. Garrison and Shockley tied for first in the good time of 21:12, followed by freshman John Barden with a 21:37. State allowed only one Carolina man to get in before our five point counters came across the finish line. Our three cripples, Buz Sawyer, John Smith, and Eddie Beall finished in a tie for fourth place with a time of 22:00. They were followed by U.N.C. Captain Gordon Hamrick, last years 4th place winner in the conference meet. Eighth place was States Darrel Winslow with a 22:22; in ninth was Robert Webb of Carolina 22:30; tenth Morris Osbourne of Carolina in 22:33; followed by two State men, Bobby Leonard and Joe Wells with 22:37 and 22:39 respectively. This has made the eighth time that State has beaten the Carolina team in dual, State, and Conference Cross Country meets.

The run should be one of the best of the season and students are urged to be in the stands next to the State track at 4 p.m. Friday where they can view about 3/4 rds. of this thrilling event.

Next Friday the State team goes to William and Mary, and then the following Wednesday, October 31 they run U. of Richmond here. The following Monday, November 5 on our course, the all important State meet will be run at 4 p.m. Everyone should try to be on hand to see this acid test for the State crown which the Wolfpack holds. The ten trophies that will be given for the first ten places, and the team trophy for the State Champion, are on display in the Coliseum trophy case.

Coach Fitzgibbons would like to have more out for cross country running. Those taking physical education can switch to this wholesome and enjoyable fall sport and gain their credit in Physical Education. See Mr. Fitzgibbons at his Coliseum office or in the Training room to try out for Cross Country.

Pack Drops Thriller To Blue Devils 27-21

Duke Ekes Out Victory In Waning Minutes As State Offense Scores

By MAYNARD SHIELDS

The win-thirsty State College Wolfpack broke out with a flurry of touchdowns and extra points last Saturday, but a Freshman Quarterback named Barger and two guys named Smith led the Duke Blue Devils to a hard-earned 27-21 victory over Coach Beattie Feather's boys.

The game started out quickly to be a one-sided affair with the Blue Devils scoring two quick touchdowns. But then the Wolfpack offense caught fire and before the rush was over the Blue Devils were trailing the underdog State team by 8 points.

Duke Scores Twice

With Barger in the Quarterback slot, the Blue Devils got off to a quick 13-0 lead. Duke kicked off to State and just minutes later they got the ball when Al Webster's punt traveled only nine yards. A penalty against Duke put the ball on the State 23, but Barger fumbled on the next play and State's Butler recovered for the Wolfpack. State failed to gain and Webster kicked to the Duke 37 yard line. The Blue Devils then moved 63 yards in 14 plays with Fullback Jack Kistler plowed over from the 2 yard line for the first Duke touchdown. Green's extra point try went wide of the goal.

The second Duke touchdown came when Duke's Lutz intercepted one of Al Webster's passes on the State 42. Duke scored on 11 plays with Charlie Smith taking one of Barger's pitchouts and running it 9 yards to score. Green then kicked the point and Duke led 13-0.

At Last

The Wolfpack then fought back to score two touchdowns. It took just 12 plays for them to score the first one. Webster passed to End Steve Kosilla, but this was called back because State was offside. Then on third down Webster passed to Fullback Jim O'Rourke on the Duke 49 for a first down. Webster then ran for another first down to the Duke 38. Seconds later he again passed to O'Rourke for another first down on the 27. Then came the play that set up the touchdown for State. Al Webster faded back to pass to Jim Moyer. Duke's defensive back, George Grune, came up and hit Moyer before he caught the ball. Pass interference was called and this gave the ball to State on the 3 yard line. Fullback Jim O'Rourke then cracked over for the touchdown. Ray Barkouskie kicked the first of his three extra points.

State scored again on just 8 plays, after Butler recovered another fumble on the Duke 32. Webster heaved another pass to Jim O'Rourke and he ran the ball down to the 8 yard line. State was penalized to the 13, and then Webster faded for another shot at Jim Moyer. Grune again hit Moyer before the ball got to him and interference was again called giving State the ball on the 1 yard line. Webster then circled his own right end for the second State touchdown. Barkouskie kicked his second extra point and State led 14-13.

In the second half, Piney Field fumbled the ball and Paroli recovered the ball for State on the Duke 23. Webster carried the ball down to the Duke 12 yard line, and then came the play that fooled everyone, including the fans. On a reverse play, Moyer took a handoff, ran to his left and pitched a perfect pass to End Steve Kosilla, standing in the end zone. Barkouskie kicked his third extra point, and State led 21-13.

Strong Ground Attack

Duke then cut the margin with a series of running plays and a pass. With Kistler and the Smith boys handling the ball, they traveled down to the State 12 yard line. Then Red Smith ran off left tackle for the touchdown. Green kicked the point to bring the score to 21-20.

In the final period, George Grune carried Pott's punt to the 37 yard line. With Barger and Red Smith sparking the drive, Duke went all the way to the State 2 yard. Charlie Smith carried the ball over left tackle for the score. Green kicked his third extra point to give Duke a 27-21 lead.

PRESSURE FOOTBALL

Miami Goes North To Secure Talent

(Editor's note: The following are excerpts from an article in the Chicago Daily News by Harry Grayson.)

MIAMI, Fla.—The University of Miami simply went out and got itself a football team to fill the Orange Bowl.

The Hurricanes' rise as a pigskin power matches its growth since President B. F. Ashe negotiated a $5,000,000 loan from the Federal Housing Authority after World War II.

But Miami's much-publicized fishing course is taken by only one football player, guard Joe Bartolovich, a sizable Southern gentleman from Struthers, Ohio, a complete whack on angling, who has won several prizes in South Florida tournaments.

There's a sailing course, but no credits are given, and none of the gridiron combatants take it.

Three years ago authorities seriously considered giving a course in bridge, but dropped the idea because they considered it too tough.

POSITIVE proof that it is possible for a football star to flunk at Miami of Coral Gables is Bob Stafford. The 205-pound left tackle was declared ineligible for failure to maintain his scholastic average.

IN THE interest of true journalism it must be reported that extraordinary football players not acceptable scholastically elsewhere get in at Miami.

The university is refused admittance by the far-flung Southeastern Conference, which limits its members to a measly 140 athletic scholarships.

There's the story of Anthony Constantino, a sophomore at a listed 21 and the darndest half-back you ever saw.

Everybody wanted Pud Constantino when he was the Blizzard of Blairsville (Pa.) High, but quickly found that the trick was to get him into school.

Coach Blaik inspected him in the interests of the U. S. Military Academy, but, like the rest, discovered Constantino hardly was a prospect for the classrooms.

BLAIK telegraphed his former aide, Gustafson: "Get Constantino and he'll keep you in a job for three years." Had they been playing freshmen then, Blaik would have made it four years.

Constantino visited numerous campuses in the spring of 1949, finally decided to matriculate at South Carolina. He was sent to Augusta (Va.) Military Academy for credits.

Constantino reported back at South Carolina a year ago, but didn't like it, or it might have been that the registrar didn't approve of his transcript.

Anyway, Constantino knew in which direction to head, although he should have telegraphed for

Rah, Rah, For Good Old P. U.

By MAYNARD SHIELDS

Have you ever wondered just exactly what the football coach of your local favorite team thinks about during a game, or for that matter, during the whole season? What is it that makes a clean cut American football coach pull his hair, chew the grass in front of the bench, or lightly kick the waterbucket over.

Well, lets look at some of the coach's problems. First of all, before the beginning of the season, he starts wondering, "Well, what kind of a schedule am I facing?" Will I have 11 men on the field for the first game? Will Osmosis and Smith and the rest of the boys report in good shape, or will I have to call on the cheerleaders for some help?" He will have to wait for the answer to these and many other problems.

After 5 or 6 weeks of practice (the coach has lost 25 or 30 pounds and his hair has become a little thinner) the boys finally begin to look like a football team. Then there comes the opening game with Saunooke Tech which is rated as 45 points better than the home team. This is an important game because Saunooke has a 25 game winning streak going and the local newspaper boys figure (by some sort of crystal ball) that the local team is a surprise team and can beat Saunooke. The coach knows the stands will be howling with hundreds of alumni and fans.

(Let us pause briefly now and take you into the mind of the coach) pause—"Well, I wonder if the boys are ready for this one? Gee, I hope they know all of their instructions. I gotta win this year because my wife and kids have gotta eat. Where did I put that box of aspirin that I had. Well, there's the whistle, here we go again."

Well the game goes fairly smooth until some opposing halfback decides that he is a deer (animal) and sets out to prove it by running four or five touchdowns. By that time the coach has taken his box of aspirin and he settles down to wait the inevitable end of his transportation. Instead, he hitchhiked to Miami, arriving unexpectedly at 10 p.m.

For years Miami stalwarts have been aided by the Quarterbacks Club. Such items as dental bills were taken care of by the Quarterbacks, who in 1940 purchased a plot of land which became the university's first practice field.

Last winter a Gridiron Club was organized, with charter membership at $100.

This outfit paid the expenses of prospects brought to the curious campus this year, gave each member of the 1950 squad a gold ring. The Orange Bowl Stadium's growth has paralleled Miami's progress. Double-decking brought the capacity to 59,500 in time for the Georgia Tech-Kansas game, Jan. 1, 1948.

Hoopsters To Start Sixth Year Under Ev

By CHARLES MOORE

N. C. State's "Fabulous Five" will swing into full practice sessions around November 1, a month before its regular season opener with Furman U. here at the Coliseum. Varsity workouts were started October 15, and Junior Varsity tryouts have been going on a couple of weeks.

Returning again for the sixth year, the coach that "has ruled the Southern Conference with an iron hand" is coach Everett Case. Assisting Case will be Carl "Butter" Anderson, and former Wolfpacker Vic Bubas. Bubas, who graduated from State last year, has been appointed Junior Varsity coach.

There are eight returning lettermen and several freshmen prospects who, according to preseason reports, are expected to hold their own in competition for a varsity position. Coach Bubas stated that the staff is "very pleased with the freshmen obtained this year," and according to capabilities of boys, they should bolster the rather inexperienced squad. No starting lineup has been announced yet because of the tense competition expected among the squad.

The eight lettermen returning include Bob Cook and Bernie Yurin, who underwent operations last year. Both boys seemingly have recovered from their operations. Cook had a knee operation, and Yurin a shoulder operation. The other six returning lettermen are Captain Lee Terrill, Eddie Morris, Bobby Goss, Bobby Speight, Bill Kukoy and Paul Brandenberg.

Up from last years freshman aggregation are several men who will ably assist the Wolfpack cause. Among them are three N. C. boys, James Stevenson of Winston-Salem, Kim Buchanan of Raleigh, and Doug Kincaid of Greensboro. The others are Bobby Adams, Lexington, Ky., Dick Tyler Newburg, N. Y., and Herbert Applebaum of Bronx, N. Y.

Some very good freshmen prospects have appeared on the State Campus this year, and a standout among them is Charles Hadden. Hadden is an 18 year old 5 feet 11 inch Ky. boy who fits in at the guard position. He is a true star of stars. He was selected the most valuable player in the Ky.-Indiana schoolboy playoffs. He scored 19 points in this game.

Another freshman Wolfpacker is Dave Gatkin, a "wonder on the basketball court." Dave is a former Brooklyn schoolboy.

This year the Pack will play host to such outstanding teams of the nation as Eastern Kentucky, Bowling Green, Villanova, and the U. of Cincinnati. Cincinnati was the highest scoring team in the nation last year, and N. C. State was second. This game should be one of the highlights of the season. Other such teams appearing here in the Coliseum are Fordham, Texas Tech, and U. of Pittsburgh. Coach Case has already dubbed this seasons schedule as "more or less a suicide schedule." With such a rugged schedule lined up for this year, the attendance should go over last years record. Last year State College led the nation in total attendance with 280,000 on-lookers. St. Johns of New York was second.

For the interest of the many State students who live in the New York area, State will be in the Garden on Thursday, December 20, going against Manhattan College.

In a final word, Coach Case, is not too optimistic about this years squad, because of the loss of his three regulars, Ranzino, Bubas and Horvath. He also said that "this year's team is rather an inexperienced one." This is the same team that pushed Illinois in the N.C.A.A. at Madison Square Garden last year.

few moments left to play when State's Potts faded and threw a long pass which Swanger caught on the Duke 40 yard line. Lea came in fast and stopped Swanger on the 29 yard line. That ended the Wolfpack threat and a hope for an upset.

Duke rolled up a tremendous advantage in yardage, gaining 331 yards to State's 78. At times, the Wolfpack had trouble figuring out just who had the ball in Duke's tricky split-T formation. State's line played heads-up ball for most of the game as shown in the fact that they recovered five Duke fumbles. State threw 18 passes and completed 8 for 164 yards. Duke attempted just five passes and completed only one of them for 18 yards. The game was a hard-fought, hotly contested game all the way, and it was also a tribute to a band of underdogged State College men who were supposed to lose by 13 points.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 26 THE ROOSTER

You have to get up early in the morning to put one over on this cock-of-the-walk! When it came to making "quick-trick" experiments of cigarette mildness, he stated flatly, "That's strictly for clucks"! How 'ya going to keep 'em down on the farm—when they know there's one convincing way to prove cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test... the 30-day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as a steady smoke—on a day after day basis. No snap judgments. Once you've enjoyed Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

Terps Lead Conference

Maryland's gridiron "shock troops" stood alone today as the only undefeated football team in the Southern Conference. And there was a growing consensus of opinion the Terps will remain that way right on through the campaign.

For Maryland, after trouncing two family foes, ran up against what was supposed to be a stern test Saturday night in all-victorious Georgia. When it was over, Coach Tatum's Terps had humiliated the proud Georgians 43-7.

It was sweet revenge for Tatum and his tenth ranked Terps. A year ago, they made the same visit to Georgia in the season's opener with hopes of an undefeated season but came away with a 27-7 loss.

Wake Forest and Clemson, the league's other unbeaten clubs a week ago fell by the wayside. Underdog William and Mary edged Wake Forest 7-6. Lloyd Q. Hines, a 135-pound combination placekick specialist and sophomore, team manager, booted the Indians winning point.

This was revenge, too, for the Indians. Wake Forest battered the Tribe last year 47-0.

Clemson suffered its first loss Saturday night when the Tigers were trimmed by College of the Pacific 21-7. Clemson had gone 16 games without a defeat.

Like Maryland and William and Mary, Washington and Lee's Generals also sought and gained revenge. The Generals hadn't beaten Virginia since 1937 when they trotted onto the field Saturday. Less than three hours later, they'd blistered the Cavaliers by 42-14. Gil Bocetti's masterful quarterbacking in the General's split-T attack was the difference.

Duke had to come from behind before the Blue Devils finally overcame State 27-21. Behind 21-13 in the fourth period, the Dukes drove 90 and 37 yards to hand State its fourth straight conference defeat.

North Carolina's Tar Heels appeared to be holding back as they toyed with South Carolina and polished off the Gamecocks 21-6. The Tar Heels meet Maryland Saturday and they didn't want to show any more than necessary.

West Virginia thrashed Richmond 24-0. Little Presbyterian upset Davidson 14-12. George Washington romped over winless Virginia Tech 38-13. Stetson squeezed by Furman 21-20, and the Citadel routed Newberry 41-7.

This Week's Schedule

FRIDAY—Furman vs. The Citadel at Orangeburg, S. C.
 FRIDAY NIGHT—Wake Forest at George Washington; Washington and Lee at Miami (Fla.).
 SATURDAY—U.N.C. at Maryland; Virginia Tech vs. Duke at Norfolk, Va.; William and Mary at N. C. State; Geneva at West Virginia; V.M.I. at Virginia.
 SATURDAY NIGHT—Davidson at Richmond.

By JIM TWYFORD

Welch Wins Two
 The Welch-Gold football team took the lead in Section 4 by winning two games last week. In the first game, Welch downed Becton No. 2 in a slow but hard fought game on first downs. Ray Pope led the way for Welch with his long runs that made the first downs.

In the second game Welch came out on top of Owen No. 2 12-7. It was a team victory for Welch that held Owen to one first down. Again Ray Pope led the way by passing for Welch's two touchdowns. Dairymple and Price were on the receiving end of the passes. Welch looks like the strongest contender for the laurels in Section 4.

Turlington No. 2 Leads Section
 By winning two important games this week, Turlington No. 2 is in the lead in Section 3. In the first game, Turlington stomped Bagwell No. 2 by 32-0. This was a new team that will prove a threat to any of the top contenders. Two of the touchdowns were runs and passes accounted for the other three touchdowns. Ends Mathis and Signor and backs Scofield and McCullers showed the way for Turlington. Scofield's brilliant blocks paved the way for the two runs for touchdowns. Mathis caught one of the touchdowns heaves, with Signor taking the other two passes all the way. However Mathis will be out for a few weeks due to a wrenched knee. Willy Patterson, for Bagwell, kept the game from being a complete rout with his great line play.

In the second game, Turlington won over Owen No. 1 by a forfeit.

Turlington No. 1 Beats Tucker No. 2

In a close game, Turlington edged Tucker 2-0. When Marshall of Turlington crashed through Tucker's line and blocked a punt, Turlington took the lead and never released it.

West Haven Downs Bagwell No. 2
 The West Haven volleyball team continued its winning streak by defeating Bagwell in two straight games. The first game was close, but the men from West Haven took the second one going away. Patterson and Reynolds of Bagwell made the first game close, but they couldn't control the West Haven power.

Bagwell No. 1 Rallies to Beat Turlington No. 2

Bagwell No. 1 pulled away from an 8-8 tie in the first game to win in stride, but they had to overcome a 13-8 deficit to take the second (Continued on Page 10)

ARE YOU MISSING OUT

A good citizen is one who joins in with his community activities, and makes what contribution he can to its welfare. The Intramural units have now gotten together in an organized group and are looking to a big year. They will win some and they will lose some, but they get a lot of fun together which they will always remember. However, there are some students who seem satisfied to just "sit" and let the world go by. I want to appeal to them to quietly have a talk with themselves: "Am I making a mistake by not joining in with my schoolmates? Am I missing out on something that I should appreciate?"

I personally think you are missing out on a great deal, and I would like to tell you what:

1—The best and most lasting friendships made in college are a result of playing together on teams.

2—The happiest memories of your college life will come from your experiences in Intramurals.

3—To be a good citizen, you must know how to mix with others, to give and to take. You must be a fair-shooter, good sportsman, and willing to sacrifice self for the group. Intramurals give this opportunity in a practical, not theoretical way.

4—Your health now and in the future, your school work will improve, if you break up a daily routine with exercise that is fun.

5—It is understandable that most all organizations have a few men who have labs and cannot play on certain days for an hour, but it is known that many students do have the time and are just wasting time by remaining idle.

6—The reputation of your unit and its officers depend on the spirit and enthusiasm they can arouse—but you are the big loser if you do not try to make any contributions to the activities of the college you choose to be a part of.

J. F. MILLER,
Dir. of Intr. and
Intramural Advisory Board

Former Pack Stars Now Coaching

Dick Peacock

A graduate in Textiles at State, Dick Peacock, is one of two former Wolfpack stars on the coaching staff. Dick, a native of Lexington, N. C., played center under Coach Beattie Feathers in 1946 and 1947 following his discharge from the Army Air Corps where he served as a bomber pilot.

Prior to his entry into service Peacock played two seasons under Coach Gordon (Chubby) Kirkland at Catawba College. He transferred to State after the war to enter the School of Textiles.

Peacock became State's first full-time freshman football coach after World War II when he was named to that post in 1949. His team won three games and lost two. Last season Peacock moved up to the varsity as assistant line coach and he will serve in that capacity again this season.

Well-versed in the Wolfpack style of line-play, Peacock works primarily with the State centers on both offense and defense. He also aids Line Coach Al Rotella with other line positions.

Last season Peacock's accurate scouting of State's opponents proved a big factor in the winning of several games. His report on Maryland's Terrapins was re-

Gwynn Fletcher

Named to the State staff as Assistant Backfield Coach during the past summer, Gwynn Fletcher, a native of Barium Springs, N. C., starred for three seasons at tailback for Coach Beattie Feathers Wolfpack from 1946 through 1948. He is a State College graduate in Industrial and Rural Recreation.

Gwynn enrolled at State in 1946 after a hitch in the Navy during World War II. Prior to entering service he played freshman football at Davidson College. Fletcher understudied Tailback Howard Turner during the 1946 season and performed brilliantly as both runner and passer. Despite a hand injury following the 1946 season which kept him out of the 'Gator Bowl game in Jacksonville, Fla., Fletcher came back in 1947 to spearhead the Wolfpack team to five wins, and a tie in nine games.

For the past two seasons Fletcher has acted as assistant freshman football coach. This year he steps up to the varsity squad and will handle general assignments, concentrating primarily on work with the Wolfpack backfield and helping Coach Feathers. Fletcher is a welcomed addition to the State staff. His knowledge of the Wolfpack style of play is expected to prove valuable to the squad.

Coach Fletcher is married and he and his wife and son make their home in Raleigh.

Indian Movies

Indian students here at State will show the following movies at the Textile Auditorium on Monday, October 22 at 8:15 p.m.:

1. Republic Day Celebrations
  2. Indian Art Through the Ages
  3. Freedom Marches On
- The three movies will last approximately 45 minutes. The public is invited.

better than to hang a pipe wrench directly over a glass jug. Of course he could not have anticipated the nail's pulling out of the board, but he should have had more sense.

Upstairs, the party had gained momentum. As at similar Tuesday and Thursday social gatherings, beer and champagne flowed like water. Even the soberest of the sober became subject to frequent periods of inebriation. Complaints concerning the unfitness of 7-up and coke chasers were common. A few brave souls had tried distilling last year's apple cider, but found it entirely unsatisfactory.

There was nothing, absolutely nothing that could adequately be substituted for good old water chasers—especially from the "We don't drink anything but scotch," snobs point of view. Someone remarked that the electric razor company executives were intoxicated with joy over the H<sub>2</sub>O shortage as sales zoomed. Production couldn't keep pace. In the South—the industry experienced a hey-you-all-day.

Back downstairs the host stood brooding. As he was thinking that all was lost, his eye caught a reflection from another jug under the bench. He reached down over behind some paint cans and pulled out a gallon of white liquid. It looked like denatured alcohol. One whiff disproved that assumption. Neither was it turpentine nor kerosene. What then, was it?

Suddenly the realization struck

Ranzino Again

Chicago—The 12-player collegiate squad selected to face the Rochester Royals of the National Basketball Association on Friday night in the 12th All-Star cage classic at Chicago Stadium begins practice at Loyola University on Monday.

Adolph Rupp of Kentucky, the All-Star coach, has ordered twice daily drills through Saturday.

The All-Star squad includes: Don Sunderlace, Illinois; Sam Ranzino, N. C. State; Whitey Skoog, Minnesota; Ray Ragelis and Jake Fendley, Northwest; John McConathy, Northwest Louisiana; Jim Slaughter, South Carolina; Mel Hutchins, Brigham Young; Emilio Sinicola, Niagara; Ernie Barrett, Kansas State; John Kiley, Syracuse; and Mel Payton, Tulane.

Women In Engineering

By FRANK GOODE
Coeds? They're all over the place! The State College campus, in the process of getting its face lifted, has been further beautified by the addition of several new coeds. The faculty has also experienced a marked improvement in its facial beauty. For those of you who are tired of directing your questions to male countenances, we have several new female members on the faculty. The change in physiognomy will be a much-welcomed relief.

Females seem to be invading the realm of science and mechanics at State College. State now has between 75 and 100 girls on its campus, many of whom are enrolled in the Engineering School.

First Girl Grad

The first girl to graduate from the State College School of Engineering was Catherine Stinson of Raleigh. Miss Stinson received her Bachelor of Science degree in Aeronautical Engineering in 1941. She now holds the post of Chief of Staff of the Specifications Division in the CAA.

Some of the Coeds now enrolled in the School of Engineering are: Huan Yun Hsung, graduate student in Chemical Engineering; Emily Brown, Civil Engineering; Mary Josephine Wirtz, Geological Engineering; Esther Lee Robinson, graduate student in Physics; Mary Ellen Short, Mechanical Engineering; and Evelyn Hodges, Chemical Engineering.

Faculty

The faculty has added two more women to their staff this year, which gives us a total of four women teachers. Mrs. Minnie W. Harris, of the Physics Department, came to State from Campbell College in 1946. Mrs. Harris is originally from Columbia, Missouri. Miss Anna Mae Harris, of the Math Department, also arrived at State in 1946. Miss Harris is from Virginia, where she taught at Mary Washington College until coming to State College.

The two new women faculty members are Mrs. John T. Richardson and Dr. Elma Lanterman. Mrs. Richardson has replaced Bill Parks as Coordinator of Student Affairs for the School of Engineering. Parks left State College to accept a similar position on the personnel staff of Consolidated Aircraft in Atlanta, Georgia.

Coordinator

The new coordinator will be in charge of scheduling engineering student interviews with industrial and government representatives who visit the campus for the purpose of seeking future employees. She will also have contact and do coordination work with student organizations within the school, particularly the Engineer's Council.

Mrs. Richardson is a native of Raleigh. She is a graduate of Saint Mary's and the University of North Carolina, and holds a B.A. in education.

Dr. Elma Lanterman has joined the staff of the School of Engineering as Assistant Professor of Physics. Dr. Lanterman received her Master's and Doctor's degree at the University of Indiana. There she occupied the positions of Graduate Teaching Assistant in the Chemistry Department and, more recently, Research Assistant in the Physics Department. For the past year she has held a research fellowship from the Office of Naval Research. Dr. Lanterman is particularly well qualified in the fields of crystallography and X-ray techniques.

The connection between two Duke football players, tackle Tank Lawrence and defensive guard Ralph Torrance, is so close that even their last names rhyme. Both are from Macon, Ga., where they attended Sidney Lanier High for Boys.

Worth (A Million) Lutz, flashy Durham High School back last year, is fast becoming the most versatile back on Duke's football team. He plays three defensive backfield positions and is an offensive quarterback. He played fullback in high school last year.

of mistakes and his empty aspirin box in his pockets and goes home for the coming season of sleepless nights. (By the way, Saunookeie did score that 45 points and a few more for good measure).

The season drags on and so does the coach, with the team losing the fans harping, and even the wife and kids beginning to ride him. After a schedule of 8 games, in which the team loses 7, (that game won incidentally, was a 95 yard touchdown run that little Willie Jones ran after a buddy had told him that he had passed a Physics exam and that 35 other students had failed.)

At the end of the season, the football stadium becomes a silent field of battle covered by the numerous cleat marks and signs of football. The helmets and uniforms are cleaned and put away for another season, and the coach settles down to worrying again. Now let's go back into the mind of the coach again. ("Well, that sure was a tough season. Where am I going to get the players to replace the three teams that I lost. I wonder if Benedictine and Sledgeowitz will pass enough courses to stay in school. I should be getting a phone call about my new contract! Well, I can always get me a job selling pencils if they decide they need a new face to coach the team. (End of second pause)

Well, perhaps we have exaggerated things here in a few places, but it was all an attempt to show some of the problems of a football coach today. So the next time you see your team being driven all over the field and into their dressing room, don't stand up and sneer at the coach and the team. They have their problems as well as you and I. Give them a break and remember "You can't win them all."

Leopold Wildlifers Will Look To The North

The Leopold Wildlife Society and its guests are going on another pictorial tour of Alaska. The guide and narrator will be Dr. Reinard Harkema, Professor of Zoology at N. C. State College. Dr. Harkema will, with the aid of color slides, bring some of the grandeur of A'un Alaksha, the great land, to the people of Raleigh.

During his lecture on "Scenic Views of Alaska" Dr. Harkema will take the audience through sections of the Chugach Mountains on the northern perimeter of Prince William Sound, the Wrangell Mountains which rise to the northeast of the Chugachs, and the Alaska Range which forms a towering arc about 125 miles south of Fairbanks. Among the towns visited during this tour will be Circle, Hot Springs, Fort Yukon, Nome, Valdez, and Chitina, the ghost town of Alaska.

Two weeks ago, Dr. F. S. Barkalow spoke to the Leopold Wildlife Society on "Some Alaskan Wildlife Problems" and illustrated his lecture by projecting seventy-five color slides. "Scenic Views of Alaska" is Dr. Harkema's answer to the requests of the Wildlife students and the public "to see more." The lecture will be given in Patterson Hall, 8S, Tuesday, October 23, 1951. Plan to be there.

PHOTO CLASS

The Amateur Photography Class, sponsored by the Raleigh Recreation Department began last week with a good reception.

There is still plenty of room for those who wish to register for the classes. You may register by phoning the Recreation Department. The classes are free to the public.

The classes are each Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Recreation Department at Pullen Park. They are under the supervision of Sam Howard of State College.
