Campus Gov't Survey May Develop New Student Parking Areas

The Campus Government Council turned its attention towards the parking situation on campus at their meeting Tuesday.

Charles Sappenfield, chairman of the Investigations Committee, reported to the Council the findings of the committee to date. He reported the possibility of the students using the parking spaces along the street behind Tompkins and Winston Halls and the area behind the Riddick Laboratories. However, these areas have not been authorized for student parking yet.

A question was raised at the Council's last meeting as to whether the Faculty Council could even legally set up parking spaces. Sappenfield had the answer to that Tuesday. He said it seems they "can do anything they 'darn' well please!

On recommendation by the Council, the committee will make a survey of the various parking lots on campus. The number of spaces usually not occupied will be checked in an effort to obtain these for student parking.

"First Come, First Served" Policy

The committee reported another alternative to the present parking situation. It was merely a suggestion, and no action was taken. This is the alternative: that there be no reserved parking spaces on campus. The situation would be (Continued on Page 2)

Betts Demands $1100; Forces Junior-Senior Into City Auditorium

By PAUL FOGHT

The Junior-Senior Dance, one of the campus's largest social events will be held in Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium this year, not in the Coliseum. James Bryan, Junior Class president, announced that the dance committee had been forced to make this decision Tuesday night when Wilmer Z. Betts, Coliseum manager, demanded rentals exceeding $1,100.

Ten Join CE Group At Dinner Meet

Ten new members were initiated into Chi Epsilon, national honorary. Civil Engineering fraternity, on Friday, November 9.

The formal ceremony was held in the faculty room of the YMCA. After the initiation, the old and new members joined in a banquet at Johnny's Supper Club on the Louisburg highway.

The new members, under the direction of Master-of-Ceremonies Howard Morris, furnished the entertainment at the banquet with several short skits and talks.

Chi Epsilon was established to recognize the student engineer with high scholastic ability. It is founded on the belief that a fraternity with the broad principles of scholarship, character, practicality, and sociability would be an incentive to greater achievements in the civil engineering profession. Chi Epsilon tries to aid in the development of these characteristics in the undergraduate engineer and, thereby, contribute to the improvement. (Continued on Page 2)

Even had the committee elected to meet the Coliseum's demands Bryan was told that Betts would "object" to the presence of Seniors at the dance. Betts informed Bryan that the present Senior Class "owed" the Coliseum $410.

Seniors Not Admitted

When the present Senior group was billed $710 for the use of the building for the Junior-Senior last year H. G. "Hank" Smith, dance chairman, paid only $300, the basic rental for the building. As a result, Bryan states, Betts informed him that, "I think I will object to the Junior Class holding a dance in the Coliseum until last year's class has paid its debt."

Bryan stated that when he objected to this Betts replied, "I think that I may object to any Seniors attending the dance if it is held in the Coliseum."

Auditorium Cost $250

As a result of this ultimatum and the high rental fees, dance committee chairman Sonny Hines has made arrangement to hold the dance in the Auditorium where the maximum rental is $250. When this decision was made public Bryan exclaimed, "It looks kind of bad for the Junior-Senior Dance to have to leave the campus when we have (Continued on Page 2)

We're Right At Last-- Hillsboro A. Speedway

Is Hillsboro Street the speedway and hazard it is often proclaimed to be? A traffic survey made by J. McCree Smith, college engineer, found traffic moving on Hillsboro at the rate of 17 cars a minute between 7:50 a.m. and 9:00 a.m. In another survey Smith found traffic moving through the Pullen Gate, main entrance to the campus, at the rate of 5 cars a minute during the same period.

The studies were repeated between 4:20 p.m. and 5:10 p.m. and the same results were obtained.

As a result of the survey at the Pullen Gate on October 30, a new traffic signal has been installed. Although the Hillsboro Street survey showed enough traffic to warrant a signal in the Chamberlain Street-Morrison Drive area, one cannot yet be installed. Smith has been told that the city budget will not permit such an expenditure.

The results of the survey are as follows:

7:50 a.m. to 9:00 a.m.
Pullen Road, 2 way traffic, 325 vehicles
Pedestrians crossing Pullen Road, 35 persons
Pedestrians crossing Hillsboro St., 41 persons

Quarterly Has Second Annual Fiction Event

The Second Annual Fiction Award sponsored by The Carolina Quarterly was announced today by Ted Duval, editor of the magazine.

The Carolina Quarterly will award a prize of $50 to the author of the best short story submitted not later than March 1, 1952. Manuscripts must be from 1,500 to 5,000 words long and authors must be enrolled in a college or university at the time their work is submitted.

Judging this year's contest will be Jessie Rehder, member of the English faculty at the University and an authority on the short story form, and Richard Walsler, member of the English department at State College and noted North Carolina writer.

"Mutation," last year's prize winning story, was written by Donald Betts of State College and appeared in the spring issue of The Carolina Quarterly. Last year's judges were Paul Green, noted short story writer and dramatist, and Daphne Athas, an outstanding novelist of North Carolina. The story chosen for the award this year will also be published next spring.

Culture Heads Holiday

Glee Club, Orchestra Concertize Tuesday

The Men's Glee Club and the 40-piece Symphony Orchestra will present a concert in Pullen Hall Tuesday night at 8:30 under the direction of Christian D. Kutschinski. This is the first concert of the year for either group and is the second of two pre-Thanksgiving cultural programs to be held on the campus next week.

Major Kutschinski has stated that the groups will present a varied program.

The Orchestra will open the program at 8:30 p.m. with the brilliant overture "Russlan and Ludmilla" by Glinka, and a movement from Mozart's G minor Symphony, after which the Glee Club will present a thirty-minute program before the Orchestra continues with the professional march, "The Entrance of Montezuma" from the opera "Azora" by Henry Hadley. The program will be concluded with the Fred Waring setting of the "Battle

State College students may attend by presenting their registration permit. All employees of State College may attend for $.50.

The concert is sponsored by the State College Chapter of Mu Beta Psi, honorary music fraternity, and there is no admission fee. Doors will be open to the general public at 8:10 p.m., and the program will begin promptly at 8:30.

such a beautiful building right here. We still want to use it. We don't want to be pushed out!"

While the basic nightly rental for the giant building is $300, additional charges are made for removing and re-erecting the bleacher sections. These charges run as high as $412.50 for removing and replacing the end bleachers. The cost for completely clearing the building, installing spot lights and providing for electricians and special guards could exceed $1,300.

Investigated

The high rental fees demanded by the Coliseum management first came under fire from the student body in 1950 when the IFC was quoted rents for its dances which forced it to hold the events elsewhere. As a result of the ensuing debate, Chancellor Harrelson announced the formation of a 12 member Coliseum Planning Committee on last January 26.

The group, headed by Director of Athletics Roy Clogston, included staff, faculty and student representatives. The student members were Jack McCormick, Henry Odum and Charlie LeGrand.

Chancellor Controls

McCormick has stated that the committee met twice and passed two motions which are now in effect. The first of these made the manager of the Coliseum directly responsible to the Chancellor and established an advisory board to aid the Chancellor in supervising Coliseum operations.

The second motion stated that there were six major student events requiring the use of the Coliseum. The Junior-Senior Dance was one of the six.

In McCormick's opinion, the work of the committee seems to have come to, "precisely nothing."

Appologies

The story "Faculty Merit Rating Readied" in last week's TECHNICIAN should have stated that the new rating form is the work of the Personnel Committee of the Basic Division.

Dr. H. G. Kincheloe heads the committee and the members who developed the form were Jenkins, Foster and Gardner.

handled entirely on a "first come, first served" basis for faculty and students alike. The idea that this solution was fantastic was blotted out when a Council member cited several examples of where such a solution had been successfully employed in the face of just such a situation on other campuses.

Professor T. C. Brown pointed out the fact that driving on campus as it now exists is hazardous. Traffic between classes and at the noon hour is so heavy and wreckless that it is dangerous for pedestrians. Brown said he is quite surprised that there have not been accidents because of this. Then he suggested that there be no parking on campus what-so-ever. With Tradition, especially at Thanksgiving and Christmas, always reigns in America. Just as traditional as turkey and cranberry sauce is the Angels of Meredith's preference for State College men. Dividing the other forty per cent into the other three of the "big four" as well as various sundry schools in the rest of the world leaves poor pickings for them. This preference is often explained by proximity—which means that there is only a five minute bus ride between us. Nevertheless tradition must get its just due.

Years and years ago when Meredith called the old Grand Hotel home and the present campus was the Tucker farm, there was a split in the Baptist circle about where the "new" Meredith should be located. Naturally Raleigh felt that life would be impossible without our little hatted heads bobbing around Fayetteville Street, but Wake Forest also had designs on this body of educated females.
They too wanted to see the Meredith Angels everyday and offered to share part of their campus, their library, and incidentally, their company. The OLD GOLD AND BLACK got lyrical and said that it was like throwing "pearls before swine" to let Meredith move out beyond State. Whether "swine" referred to State or to the Prison Farm has not yet been determined, but the proximity of both had been used as arguments against the new site.

The loyal supporters of Meredith stood firm for their rights as a separate and complete school, however, and although statistics are not available, it's a safe bet that these same supporters exercised other rights in the selection of husbands from the ranks of farmers and engineers rather than of preachers and playboys.

Life Can Be Beautiful

In part, man's striving on earth can be traced to a natural desire for recognition by his fellow man. This week The Technician makes a strange request of its readers—that they control this striving to the extent of not being "Mr. Million." While there is doubtlessly some notoriety which will be attached to the individual who will be so-named, we would urge our readers to avoid it.

Mr. Million will be the millionth soul who does not survive his automobile wreck, and any publicity will be ill begotten. Experts, fatality specialists, say that the toll will reach one million by December or January, and they are seldom wrong.

Within a few days, families will begin to assemble for the traditional Thanksgiving Day dinner. Those families that will find all members present or accounted for will no doubt offer a silent prayer, for as the year progresses, so too does the traffic toll of deaths.

Close to nine hundred persons have been killed in traffic accidents within the state of North Carolina only. Increase this proportionally, and multiply it by forty-eight, and you will see the results of sheer human carelessness and ignorance.

Hospital food is notoriously bad, so why not plan to eat your Thanksgiving dinner somewhere else, but plan to eat a dinner in any event. When you go along at seventy miles an hour, think not only of yourself, but of the man in front of you who is probably just as anxious to get where he is going. At seventy you have as much a chance of stopping in time as you have of living to tell the tale. Nil.

This sort of thing has been thrown at you from all sides, from the radio, in the newspapers, even at football games. If it makes you think twice before you cross the orange line, or take a hooker before you drive, The Technician will have accomplished something. There's hardly ever time for regret, but a lifetime to mourn.

DEM

Restrospect

Last week in these same columns, The Technician described what it considered to be the existing academic picture at State College. The picture was far from a pleasant one. But then, neither are the thoughts which occupy the minds of many students who have come to college for an education.

This is to assure those who read the editorial in question, that there was more behind it than a school-boy gripe. It was not merely one week's crusade, soon to be forgotten, nor was it the proverbial "shot in the dark." It was, The Technician hopes, a beginning in the right direction, ending with the realization that it is today's students who are the real, interested supporters of our institutions of higher learning.

We would express our gratitude to those Professors who welcomed the criticism as an opportunity for improvement. These are the men in whose able hands we are satisfied to lay the task of educating a generation.

Combing The Campus

By ALAN NISHBALL

By ALAN NISHBALL
 This week's question was selected because of the current campus discussion of the worthiness of sponsor pictures. Thus far, four organizations have decided not to place sponsor pictures in this year's AGROMECK. This week's question is:
 Of what value do you find the sponsor pictures in the AGROMECK?

George Nelson, Junior, M.E.:
 I find the sponsor pictures of no true value. In my opinion they just add to the size of the book and add nothing to better it. I think in its place should be something that pertains to the school.
 Edward Askew, Soph., Textiles:
 I find the pictures of no value and think they should remain if there is nothing better to take their place. They do express some appreciation to the head of the organization.

Ed Early, Soph., M.E.:
 I believe that the sponsor pictures promote attention to the organizations, and show appreciation to the one having the picture put in. Roany Thomas, Soph., Chem. and Dyeing:

None. They make only one guy proud. I think that organizations should have one small sponsor picture for each member instead of just one large picture of one girl.
 Don Hoffman, Jr., Textiles:
 Very good idea. They add color to the book. They have no personal value.
 Ben Kirkland, Junior, Agr. Education:
 In my opinion the sponsor pictures have value for only those who are pictured and their sponsor. These pictures have little value for other people because most people don't know them. These pages in the Agromeck could be better used for snapshots of school activities.

Agromeck Sponsors

To The Editor:
 It has come to the attention of this writer that the time-honored and country-wide tradition of sponsor pictures in a college annual has become controversial on our campus. The Agromeck, in upholding this tradition, serves to reward those individuals who find the time and spirit to make our college a better institution, by allowing them to imprint their desired sponsor on the permanent records of State College. For this service the Agromeck asks no reward or profit, for its purpose on this campus is to publish an annual that the students may be proud of.

It can well be understood that the cost of printing an annual such as the Agromeck is enormously high, considering of course that the times we live in are those of rising costs. However, the Agromeck maintains its fixed fee of forty dollars for each sponsor page, thirty-eight dollars of which is for engraving costs exclusively. This leaves two dollars per page left in the annual's credit account. But, as mentioned previously, the Agromeck does not run on a profit basis.

If not for the fact that a few departments in the school hesitate to pay fully for their place in the yearbook and that former advertisers have deemed it necessary to cut down, the yearbook would be financially independent. But since this is not the case, the Agromeck has to dig down into its pockets to make up this amount. It is an amount that is by no means small and one that relies on credit such as the two unattached dollars from the sponsor page.

True, two dollars from each sponsor page and from each of the many organizations in the annual do not make a fabulous sum of money, but it is money that enables the Agromeck staff to put into the hands of every student a publication that has brought the highest commendation from national yearbook surveying committees.

Without such financial resources as those obtained from sponsor pictures, your yearbook would be another run-of-the-mill publication. The Agromeck's budget, as have many others, been forced to take a staggering cut. Let it be said here that the yearbook cannot absorb such a cut, unless it can obtain the support required for the continuance of complete sections, such as the Features.

Just as a Phi Beta Kappa key is the mark of an intelligent individual, your yearbook is the mark of a good, wholesome, and thriving school. The Agromeck travels to many corners of the U.S. telling of an outstanding Southern college. The Agromeck is N. C. State's publication, it is your yearbook, and it is published with the aid of those two extra dollars from the original forty that the Agromeck charges for a representation of initiative, intelligence, and cooperation in making our school great.

Frank Soling.

Editor's Note: THE TECHNICIAN will shortly mail a check for two dollars to the Agromeck to cover any expected revenue from the sponsor page which it discontinued. THE TECHNICIAN urges the other three organizations to do likewise. We would suggest that the Agromeck is not "digging down into its own pockets" when it demands the publication of sponsor pictures, but rather into the pockets of the students through student-supported organizations.

Compliments

To The Editor:
 We of Apartment 5, 112 Cox Avenue wish to take this opportunity to compliment THE TECHNICIAN for the fine editorial by DEM, "Through Faculty Eyes" of 9 November, 1951.

We imagine you will receive much comment on the material presented and sincerely hope so. The questions at hand are burning ones and should be the concern of all faculty and students. Therefore, a vote of confidence for DEM's admirable stand and the hope that some constructive solutions may resolve from this initial move.

But let's not say "why take a student seriously." Let's prove that students can be taken seriously and see if our faculty will respond as they should.

Respectfully,
 Dale A. Blosser
 James E. Sligh.

To the editors:
 Dear DEM:
 It's high time THE TECHNICIAN started putting its editorials in plain language. "In The Eyes of The Faculty" is a straight forward outline of what thinking students are thinking.

As long as a college assumes responsibility for its students instead of to its students, and as long as the individual students are effectively kept from achieving any sense of responsibility for their (Continued on Page 5) affairs, then we can be sure that the college will be no better off twenty years from now than it is today.

Give us more such editorials and more of us will continue trying to do something to make NCS worth the consideration of our children.

Respectfully submitted,
 Sherman Pardue, Jr.
 Harry J. Spies.

Athletics

To the Editor:
 I want to blow my top just a bit. I think it is time to start a rebellion, or something to get some things straightened out around here. The athletic condition seems to be getting worse instead of better. Personally I think athletics should be for the students and by the students, instead of running it as a public entertainment program. The way the students and faculty are treated getting tickets makes one believe that the coliseum is run for others and the faculty and students are a necessary evil. If the athletic department is not a part of the college, then why do they use students to play the games. "Can't we start a movement to give athletics back to the students and the college" is our motto and cry.

The North Carolina State College Orchestra and Glee Club will present their first program of the year at Pullen Hall on Tuesday, November 20. The orchestra will perform for the first half of the evening, and the glee club will take over in the second half, the program commencing at 8:30 p.m. The two groups will combine their talent for the finale of the evening's events.

Opera At Pullen

After a short delay, due to misinterpretation of the time schedule, the opera "Hansel and Gretel," sponsored by the State College Union, got underway. Heading the cast of Humperdinck's immortal opera, was Janet Sobel (Hansel) and Lucille Acampora (Gretel). These two operatic songstresses carried the bulk of the performance, and, through their fine acting and musical abilities, the show proved to be a great success.

Lucille Acampora, must, at least, be praised for her fine qualities both in musical and acting ability. Her splendid soprano added the necessary touch, turning a "faux pas" into a beautiful and enchanting opera.

The theme of the opera centers around two children of very poor German family, who, having spilled the milk for the evening's meal, are sent to the woods to pick strawberries. When the time comes for them to return home, they find they are lost.

In despair, the two children fall asleep, and, upon awakening, they find themselves in front of the dreaded witch's house. The witch tries to kill them, but the two racals drop the pellet on her instead. Being found by their parents, the world is found to be just as rosy as ever. Much happiness ensues.

Perhaps the greatest thrill arises in the second act when Hansel and Gretel sing the famous evening prayer. It could not have been done more beautifully. This one song alone is enough to carry the opera on any road to success.

This was one of the first programs to be sponsored by the Student Union, and the turnout to such a fine program was atrocious. There will be more programs coming, both musical and non-musical, so let's get out and see them. They will always be free you know. Make a point to back up something the student body, for years, has been screaming for. Don't let good things be wasted.

Cincinnati Symphony

The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, one of the top-ranking symphonic ensembles in the country, played before a capacity audience of Civic Music members in Memorial Auditorium on Wednesday November 7. Conducting the 85-member organization of virtuoso players, was Thor Johnson, a very young and a very able American.

The first selection for the evening was Bach's "Sinfonia in E-flat," which is a piece in three movements. The second selection was a more or less "Dramatic" Symphony, with great tonal action. It was Brahms' "Symphony in C Minor." After intermission the orchestra came back with a very modernistic type of virtuoso piece, the "Cumberland Concerto."

This is a score of work commissioned by Thor Johnson and the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra. It is a very new piece, being begun on April 5, 1951 and completed in Sewanee, Tennessee, on August 5, 1951. Apart from the customary string and wood instruments, the "Cumberland Concerto" includes a baritone tuba, alto saxophone, vibraphone, gong, suspended cymbals, harp, and amplified piano. Although the word concerto connotes a classical form, the materials of the music are of the twentieth century.

At the finish of this last piece, the orchestra received a tremendous ovation, and for its encore played the "Swan Song." Still spellbound, the audience called for another encore and as a finale, the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra played "The Invitation to the Dance."

GUSC Here Sunday

The Student Council of the Greater University will meet in the second floor lounge in the Riddick Engineering Laboratories on Sunday.

George Pruden heads the eleven man State delegation and Jane Sarsfield of Women's College is the Council president.

The time of the meeting, the first at which State College has been host this year, has been set at 2:30.

The Council of the American Association of University Professors has passed a resolution that opposes the subsidizing of athletes. The council represents 42,000 instructors at 896 colleges.

In its resolution the council said it "condemns the payment of money or the granting of its equivalent to any student by any organization or any individual where the primary reason for such payment or grant is the participation of the student in intercollegiate athletics."

Just what the effects of this resolution will be is hard to predict. In all probability it will pass completely unnoticed. Unfortunately our educators do not have very much influence in matters of this nature. Policy is formed by trustees, influential alumni, and, in many cases, politicians. So this resolution will remain in the files of the A.A.U.P., and it will be promptly forgotten by everyone.

But I think that this resolution is a very good example of the trend that is being taken by our leaders. The win-at-any-cost attitude that most of the backers of college athletics have, has drawn a great deal of criticism, and from all indications something is going to be done to straighten the situation out. Full scale investigations are being conducted to determine the extent of professionalism in college athletics and the influence gamblers have in the sporting world. If these investigations turn up any more herrings the effects could be disastrous.

Intercollegiate athletics are in for a thorough housecleaning. So thorough that it may shake the house down.

Trouble really does come in bunches. After losing the key men of his 1950 Cinderella team in "the great expose," Coach Nat Holman of City College of New York has found that his troubles are just beginning. The famous coach had worked up a squad of sixteen men, and he was well on his way to a good comeback when he had seven of his most experienced players whisked away from under his nose. Uncle Sam took three of them, and one other came down with appendicitis. The other three, it was disclosed, were playing ball at a mountain resort during the summer and were declared ineligible by the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference. Such is the life of a basketball coach.

Turlington Runs Over Bagwell
The Turlington No. 2 football team, featuring running plays, easily defeated Bagwell No. 2, 22-2. Garman scored Turlington's first touchdown on a five yard run, and Smith added two more scores on a fifty yard punt return and a two yard end sweep. Sigmon and Mathis took alternate passes in the end zone for two extra points and Pipher and McCullers caught the Bagwell safety man in the end zone for a safety to end Turlington scoring.

The Turlington defense was the mainstay of the game, holding Bagwell to one first down. Scofield, Mathis and Sigmon were the stalwarts in the Turlington line. Patterson, Reynolds and Moore were the outstanding players for Bagwell, but the freshmen from Turlington were too much for them and they racked up their fifth straight win.

Becton Continues to Romp
Weeks continued to pass and run Becton No. 1 to victory, running for one touchdown and passing for two more, one to Strassler and the other to Capper. Strassler also figured in the scoring again by taking a handoff and passing to Capper for another TD. Capper led the scoring parade with two touchdowns.

The Becton defense, led by Armstrong, Bray and Raper, completely outcharged the Bagwell line and held them to one first down. This game completed Becton's regular season play with a six victories and no defeats record. Becton has remained unscored upon throughout the season.

Fourth & Syme Triumph Over Bagwell

The Fourth and Syme football team, led by the brilliant passing of Bob Stuart, completely outplayed Bagwell for a 19-0 victory. Gaddy and Williams were on the receiving end of these passes. Womble set up one TD with a 35 yd. run, and Robison blocked two punts to set up the other two scores.

Terps Running Away With Southern Loop

Maryland's third-rated Terps battle North Carolina State's low-ranking Wolfpack on Saturday.

Most football observers would label such a game as a breather in which the Terps, undefeated after seven games this season, will beat the oft-abused Wolfpack into gridiron humiliation.

Not Maryland mentor Jim Tatum. Tatum and the Terps remember last year. Maryland had a little special nook all picked out in which to knock the Pack. The Terps had a big edge in first downs. Out-gathered the Pack in rushing and thrashed Coach Beattie Feathers' charges in passing.

But the Wolfpack had the edge in the one thing they pay off on—the score. State won, 16-13. Too, Tatum knows very well that Feathers has made a habit in recent years of coming up with a stunning upset. So far this season the State team hasn't raised an onlooker's eyebrow, and Maryland is its final chance.

So Tatum and the Terps figure there's a busy week ahead.

Maryland, sparked by Jack Scarbath's passing and "Mighty Mo" Modzelewski's running, sweetened its Sugar Bowl chances Saturday by routing Navy, 40-21. The Terps touchdown fuse was ignited by a 100-yard run by Navy's Frank Brady early in the battle. Brady's run put the Terps behind for the first time this year, but not for long.

Wake Forest's unpredictable Deacons dampened—probably ruined—the chances of Duke's Blue Devils to win the Southern Conference championship. The Deacons whipped the Dukes, 19-13, with Bill Miller making two touchdowns for Wake Forest.

William and Mary climbed into a tie for third place in the conference standings by downing Virginia Tech, 28-7. W & M held to a 7-7 tie in the first half, got its offense to functioning like clock work early in the third period. Within eight minutes the Indians shoved over three touchdowns.

South Carolina's Gamecocks surprised West Virginia, 34-13. Quarterback Dick Balka threw bullet passes to lead the Gamecocks to their fourth league triumph in seven tests. After a close first half, Balka heaved a payoff pass to Ed Walt Shea on a play covering 53 yards to remove doubt about the outcome early in the third stanza.

Alex Webster, State's big tailback, crashed over for three touchdowns as the Wolfpack crushed Davidson, 31-0. The victory was State's second in seven conference contests.

Except for Maryland and Clemson, conference elevens ran into difficulty Saturday in games with outsiders. Clemson, paced by the passing of Tailback Billy Hair, trimmed Boston College, 21-2. Hair made one touchdown himself, passed to Glenn Smith for the other two.

Tennessee, the nation's number one team, outclassed Washington and Lee's Generals, 60-14. W & L's touchdowns came on passes from Gil Bocetti to Bob Thomas. After the game, General coach George Barclay, whose squad was beaten

Terp Will Be Wary As Pack Returns To Scene Of Upset

By BOB PHELPS

Tomorrow afternoon the Wolfpack plays its final game of the season when it meets the University of Maryland at College Park.

Much the same situation exists this year as it did last year. Last season the Terrapins were the eighth ranked team in the nation and were riding a three game winning streak. When the game was over, however, the State team had scored a startling 16-13 victory.

This year they are in the number five spot nationally and are sporting an unbeaten and untied season record. To date they have rolled over Washington and Lee, George Washington, Georgia, Carolina, Louisiana State, Missouri, and Navy.

Going into the State game, Maryland leads the Southern Conference in total offense, rushing offense, and rushing defense. In addition, they are in the first five in total defense and team punting. The Terrapins have gained an average of 388.9 yards per game, with 287.6 of these coming on running plays. They have held opponents to an average of only 94.4 yards per game on the ground.

The big reason that Maryland rates so high among teams in the Southern Conference is the running of Ed Modzelewski. He ranks fourth in the Conference in rushing with 614 yards gained in 88 carries. Also helping make the team total high is the passing of Quarterback Jack Scarbath, who took over last week when Navy clogged up the Maryland ground attack in the first half. He threw two touchdown passes and completed 13 of 23 tried for 236 yards. Ed Fullerton went over for two scores.

State will counter with Alex Webster, Jim O'Rourke, George Suda, and a line led by Tackle Elmer Costa.

Webster, who has racked up a total of 1,127 yards in 243 plays is currently ranked second in the Conference in total offense. He has been ranked among the nation's top twenty stars all season. He is also the Southern Conference's number three kicker, with an average of 39.6 yards on 28 punts.

Alex has crossed the opponent's goal line 14 times this season for a total of 84 points. He has to gain a total of only two yards to break Ed Mooney's 1950 record of 1,128 yards in one season for a State player.

O'Rourke, who was playing his first game for State at the tailback slot, looked good in last week's 31-0 romp over Davidson. He gained a total of 129 yards. George Suda picked up 68 yards on 16 tries at the Davidson line.

Big Elmer Costa will be playing his last game for State this Saturday. Last year he was named "Line-man of the Week" for his work against the Terrapins. Steve Kosilla, who has caught 19 passes for 210 yards and two touchdowns, is ranked tenth in pass receiving in the Conference. He will probably be on the end of several Wolfpack passes during the course of the afternoon.

Although their season record is a not too healthy, three wins in nine games, the team is confident that they can win if they can take the physical beating and keep their key personnel in the game.

Coach Feathers will take 32 men to College Park for the game. Only 29 men played in last year's victory.

FOOTBALL

PIKA won the Section 2 title by beating a never-say-die SAE team in a thrilling contest which ended in a 6-0 score. Dewitt led the winners with his brilliant running and passing. His pass to Simpson in the third quarter resulted in the PIKA's score, but the whole team played an inspired game.

Sigma Phi Epsilon stayed on top in Section 3 when they won over Sigma Nu, 6-2, in a rough game. Millsaps intercepted a pass and ran sixty yards for the score. Bill Cook of Sigma Nu trapped an SPE player behind the goal to account for his team's two points. Green was outstanding both offensively and defensively for the losers.

Gain Tie

Sigma Chi tied up the race in Section 1 by virtue of a 6-0 victory over Kappa Sigma. The win puts the Chi's in a tie with the PKP outfit, and a play-off will be necessary. The touchdown which put them in the play-off was the result of a pass from Ammons to Qualls.

In another 6-0 affair, Kappa Alpha trimmed PKT. McGillis caught a fifteen yard pass from Cheek and crossed the goal for the TD. The game featured pass interceptions by Cheek of Kappa Alpha, and Rodney of PKT.

Lumley Stars

Tau Kappa Epsilon kept rolling along undefeated and beat a winless PEP team by the margin of 26-0. Lumley was outstanding for the Teke's as he was influential in each of the four TD's. He ran the first one over and passed to Pettinelli, Sly, and Moore for the other three.

AGR beat SAM by forfeit, Sigma

Chi did likewise over Delta Sigma Phi, and Sigma Pi beat Lambda Chi due to the fact that the Chi's were using an ineligible player.

HANDBALL

Sigma Alpha Mu won the handball championship on November 8 when they beat Phi Epsilon Pi in the two singles contests after losing the doubles. Lavner beat Lubert in the opener, 21-10, but the Phi Eps doubles team of Epstein and Arkin came on to win 21-12. In the deciding match, Margolis took Brettler by 21-10. In the consolation game, Sigma Nu beat Kappa Alpha to take third honors.

Selections were made for all-fraternity handball, and the men selected for this honor are: Margolis (SAM), Soling (SAM), Brettler (PEP) and Lavner (SAM).

VOLLEYBALL

Sigma Phi Epsilon won the Section 2 flag when they beat the PIKA's in three games. The SPE's took the first 15-13, lost the second 6-15, but took the deciding contest in a runaway, 15-3.

Kappa Alpha beat Lambda Chi in two straight sets by scores of 15-7 and 15-13. By losing this game the Lambda Chi's took over the cellar position in Section 1.

Sigma Chi took the Section 1 title when they won over SAE in three sets. After losing the first by 8-15, SAE battled back into contention by taking the second, 16-14. They seemed to run out of gas in the last set and dropped it 15-1.

Pi Kappa Phi lost its fourth straight when Sigma Pi took them in three sets; 15-9, 9-15, and 15-5. PKP occupies the lowest position in Section 4 while the Pi's are one step above them in the standings.

There will be no occultations of stars or planets worthy of note to naked eye observers during 1952. Is it true that chemistry's outstanding contribution to civilization is blondes?

Pack Mauls 'Cats 31-0

O'Rourke, Webster Spark Pack To Win

By JOE BENNETT
Sparked by Alex Webster and Captain Jim O'Rourke, Coach Beattie Feathers' Wolfpack rolled over Davidson College, 31-0, for their second conference win of the season. Webster scored three of the Pack's five touchdowns and O'Rourke scored one.

Webster Scores Three
Webster scored his first touchdown just five minutes after State came into possession of the ball. Davidson received the kick-off, but could not move the ball and kicked to the 50. State's 50-yard scoring drive took just nine plays climaxed by Webster's plunge over tackle for the touchdown. Barkouskie converted and State led, 7-0.

Davidson again received but could make no headway, and Ham Wade kicked out on the State 26-yard line. The Wolfpack immediately started to move once again, but this time the drive was stopped on Davidson's 30 when an O'Rourke pass was intercepted.

With Quarterback Jack Ruth doing the passing and End Dick Kelly the receiving, Davidson took to the air. The 'Cats moved down to State's 12-yard line, but on the next play Fullback Henry fumbled and Barkouskie recovered for State.

An offside penalty pushed the ball back to the six, but on the next play Webster cut off tackle for 47-yards to the Davidson 47. A pass from Webster to End Jack Thompson was good to the Davidson 27. From here Webster bulldozed his way for his second touchdown. Barkouskie missed the conversion, but the Pack led, 13-0.

Costa Recovers Fumble
Just one minute later Webster scored his third touchdown. Fullback George Suda's kick-off went dead on the Davidson 5. Quarterback Ruth made four on a sneak, but on the next play Elmer Costa recovered Brown's second straight fumble on the 'Cats 5. Big Al went over center on the third try to push State's lead to 19-0.

Another State drive was halted on the 1-yard line after an 84-yard drive when a bad pass from center got away from O'Rourke just before the half ended.

The 'Cats took to the air again in the period as they moved from their own 8-yard line to State's 15, but here they bogged down as O'Rourke and Webster turned in some fine work on pass defense to take over the ball on downs.

O'Rourke led a 75-yard drive early in the fourth period that reached to Davidson's one-foot line, but tries by O'Rourke and Freshman Fullback Don Langston were unsuccessful.

O'Rourke Scores
Davidson kicked from the end zone to midfield, from where Webster and Langston moved the ball to the 'Cats 11 in five plays. O'Rourke replaced Webster in the tailback slot, and on two plays bucked over for the score to give State a 25-0 lead with just two minutes remaining.

Ruth hit for 16 to their own 30 as Davidson again took to the air, but was dumped on the 19 by Tackle Jim Swart on the next attempt. The next pass, intended for Halfback Johnny Guiton in the flat, was intercepted by State End Bernie Allman on the 28 and returned to the 12 before he was stopped.

On the first play Sophomore Tailback Paul O'Hara pitched a touchdown strike to End Paul Smith. Smith barely caught the ball as he crossed the goal line, but Field Judge John Todd ruled that he had possession as he stepped over the end zone corner marker.

Davidson gained only 78 yards

BOB WARD, G
U. of Maryland
Bob Ward, All-America guard from Elizabeth, N. J., has been a mainstay of the Maryland line for four years. Last season he averaged over 50 minutes a game. He was chosen Lineman of the Week this season after the Georgia game, playing most of the game with a broken finger.
Ed "Mighty Moe" Modzelewski, Terp halfback, has been one of the stalwarts in Maryland's strong ground attack. To date this year he has gained 614 yards in 88 tries and stands fourth in rushing in the conference.

Harriers Win Conference Crown

Garrison Wins, Sets New Record

By CHARLIE MOORE . . . Clyde Garrison of N. C. State retained his Southern Conference cross country championship and led his teammates to a team victory Monday at the conference meet at Duke University.

Sets Record
Finishing in front of runners from nine Southern Conference schools, Garrison set a new record over the four mile Duke course. His time was 19 minutes and 51 seconds, 20 seconds better than the time set by Creamer of Maryland in last year's dual meet at Duke.

The State team took the title from defending champion Maryland with a score of 39 points as Maryland placed second with 45 points.

The University of North Carolina finished in 3rd place with 94 points, Duke was fourth with 115. Then came V.M.I. with 138, West Virginia 151, Davidson 152, and William and Mary with 259. Richmond did not score.

Garrison was pushed by Maryland ace Tyson Creamer, but the State Junior was able to step away and cross the finish line 25 yards ahead of him. Creamer was followed by teammate Tibbetts.

Six Strong Men
State was able to finish 6 men in the first 25. They were: 1st, Garrison, 19:51; 7th, Shockley, 20:35; 8th, Sawyer, 20:37; 11th, Beall, 20:45; 12th, Smith, 20:47; 24th, Leonard, 21:17.

Coach Tom Fitzgibbon of State was presented the team trophy by Coach Heath Whittle of Davidson, President of the Conference Cross Country Coaches Association. Coach Whittle also presented the State Coach a trophy for the dual meet championship of the season. Trophies were also given to the first 25 finishers of the meet.

The summary for the men winning individual trophies:

- 1, Garrison, State, 19:51; 2, Creamer, Maryland, 19:54; 3, Tibbetts, Maryland, 20:07; 4, T. Stockton, Davidson, 20:24; 5, Beuhler,

- Maryland, 20:25; 6, Barden, UNC, 20:31; 7, Shockley, State, 20:35; 8, Sawyer, State, 20:37; 9, Russell Thoburn, W. Virginia, 20:40; 10, Marshall, Duke, 20:42; 11, Beall, State, 20:45; 12, Smith, State, 20:47; 13, McLain, VMI, 20:49; 14, Tate, Duke, 20:51; 15, Sanders, Duke, 20:53; 16, Hamrick, UNC, 20:53; 17, Thornton, Maryland, 20:57; Webb, UNC, 21:03; 21, Browning, Maryland, 21:04; 22, Bailey, VMI, 21:09; 23, Weber, W. Virginia, 21:13; 24, Leonard, State, 21:17; 25, Marx, UNC, 21:19.

The Syme and Fourth's defense was the best of the year holding Bagwell to a minimum of yardage and not allowing any first downs. Becton Edges Welch

With one long pass and an intercepted pass, Becton No. 2 edged Welch-Gold 14-7 in a hard fought game. Becton, led by Temple and Everhart, scored two quick touchdowns and then had to fight off a Welch rally, led by Price and Pope, to gain their second victory of the season.

West Haven Trims Bagwell

The West Haven volleyball team had to go all out to edge Bagwell No. 2 in a close two out of three games. West Haven took the first game 15-11, Bagwell came back in the second 15-10, and the West Haven boys had to fight hard to take the rubber game 16-14. Spike shots by Robison was the main factor in the Bagwell team's strength.

In the other volleyball games, Verville defeated Becton No. 1 in two out of three games. Davis, Capper and Clark were the mainstays in the Becton team play, and Bagwell No. 1 stopped Burlington No. 2 in two straight games.

TWO ATHLETIC directors, Paul Brechler of Iowa and Guy "Red" Mackey of Purdue, touched on the problems of inter-collegiate athletics.

"We must treat athletics sanely, not emotionally," declared Brechler. "The time has come when we must all look into our programs, evaluate them, and do something about the problems that we find."

"If we don't we may lose something which is invaluable to the individual."

CROSS COUNTRY—

Now that State has the Southern Conference title, they are eligible for the National title to be run at Michigan State College in East Lansing, on November 26. Coach Tom Fitzgibbon has expressed his desire to send 5 of his Statesmen to the N.C.A.A. meet, but the question of available funds is one that may keep them from competing, and this question is one that is foremost in the minds of the Athletic Council here at State College.

rushing against the stout Pack line as Costa and Bob Paroli and Guards Walt Schacht, John Nicholson, and Vince Bagonis turned in yeoman performances. Costa halted dozens of Davidsons attempts to crack his side of the line and was the most outstanding performer on the field.

One Yard for Record

Webster, showing little effects from a bad eye injury sustained in the Louisville game, missed setting a new offensive record for a State player by a scant yard. He gained 155 yards rushing on 22 rushing plays and completed one pass for 20 yards to give him a total of 175 yards for the afternoon and 1,127 yards for the season. Tailback Ed Mooney holds the State record at 1,128 yards set last year.

O'Rourke cracked the Davidson line for 118 yards on 23 plays and completed one pass for 11 yards to gain a total of 129 yards. Suda gained 68 yards on 16 ground attempts.

The total of 372 yards gained on the ground by State was the largest amassed by the Wolfpack this season and one of the biggest totals scored in the past five years under Coach Feathers.

The Athletic Council must give the green light before Fitzgibbon's men take off for East Lansing. It is expected that the Executive Committee of the council will meet on Wednesday, November 14, to decide on the all-important question.

PRESSURE FOOTBALL

Lone Star State Gushes With True Tales Of Fantastic Bids

By HARRY GRAYSON
(Another of a series that takes you on a campus-by-campus tour for the inside story of pressure football and how it gets that way.)

DALLAS, Tex.—Southeastern Conference colleges, notably Louisiana State and Tulane, are strong competitors for Texas schoolboy football stars, as are Oklahoma and Kansas of the Big 7.

The Southwest Conference rules are that a boy may be given tuition, books, room, board and $10 a month spending money. He can accept no financial aid other than that, theoretically, except in the form of a summer job.

There are all kinds of stories about $5,000 offers, automobiles, jobs for fathers, etc. They are hard to track down, but there is a certain amount of truth in them.

They pay behind the barn, under the table and in the back room, just like they used to in the days of ringers.

The worst result is in the attitude of the kids, who have their hand out all the time.

THE SOUTHWEST Conference had a somewhat spotlighted stool-pigeon policy invoked at its spring meeting. In other words, the seats of higher learning are supposed to tell on each other.

Executive Secretary Howard Grubbs, who quarterbacked for Texas Christian in 1928-29, is charged with policing duties.

The brighter Texas prospects frequently find it difficult to make up their minds and are swayed in many ways.

One of the more amusing stories has to do with Texas landing Tom Stolhandske in a rather round-about way.

A big fullback at Baytown, young Stolhandske — pronounced Stole-hand-ski — reportedly was bulldozed by the fact that he and his father were given a trip to Sweden. The old man wanted to see the old country.

THE KID, all 6-feet 2, 210 pounds and 20 years of him, is now a junior, and the Steers' first-string offensive right end and a potential All-America.

Gil Bartosh, the Texas Christian mainspring of this fall, really was the will'-o'-the-wisp' of the lot. Texas practically rushed Bartosh off his pins, had him on the campus.

One night, the remarkable quarterbacking passer and runner showed up at Rice, saying he planned to enroll.

The next morning he was gone, turning up at Texas A. & M., where he stayed a few weeks. Then he wound up at TCU.

Bob Easley of Houston is the latest case. The conference committee tossed the book at Easley, costing him his freshman season and one year of varsity eligibility at Baylor.

The ruling came about because Baylor alumni took Easley to a professional game in Dallas and out for what was termed lavish entertainment.

It was specified that he would lose the two years if he entered Baylor. He decided to enter, regardless.

Union Film

This Sunday the College Union film series brings the British picture "Major Barbara" to the campus. Based on the play by George Bernard Shaw, "Major Barbara" stars Leslie Howard and Wendie Hiller.

The film will be shown in the Textile School auditorium Sunday at 2:30. Admission is free to students; date tickets are 50 cents.

badly by both Maryland and Tennessee, commented:

"Tennessee could beat Maryland any time. General Bob Neyland has the strongest and best balanced team I have ever seen." Maryland blasted the Generals, 54-14, but Bocetti, W & L's great quarterback, played only a few minutes.

Eighth-rated Georgia Tech walked Virginia Military, 34-7, in a game which was close for only the first few minutes. Virginia's Cavaliers handed North Carolina their sixth loss, 34-14. Army was too much for the Citadel, 27-6, and Stetson University turned back the University of Richmond, 19-14. In a game Friday night, Furman trounced little Newberry, 33-13.

School lesson for grown-ups

120,000 equals the approximate number of school-age children injured or killed in traffic accidents last year.

That's our problem to solve, now that school is back in session. And there's only one answer for drivers: slow down near schools, playgrounds and in residential areas. Stay alert! Let's reduce that figure of 120,000 to the smallest possible fraction!

Phi Kappa Tau has won the fraternity scholarship cup for the second year in a row, and for this reason deserves double congratulations. Their average for the academic year 1950-51 was over 80 per cent, four points above the all-men's average on campus. The winner of the individual scholarship award was Wesley Doggett of Sigma Chi with a straight 3.0 average.

Off to Maryland

N. C. State fraternity men will be well represented at the State-Maryland game this weekend. Over twenty men from Sigma Pi will make the trip, and after the game some fraternity men who live in Maryland will give some parties and arrange activities. Several of the SAM's are planning to visit the SAM chapter house at the University of Maryland. Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu and Phi Kappa Tau will also be represented at the game.

Initiations

Sigma Nu initiated three boys on Monday, November 12. The initiates were Bob O'Connor, Lester Foster, and "Bombo" Gilbert. Phi Epsilon Pi initiated their faculty advisor, Eric DeGroat, of the State College Department of Physical Education, as associate member on November 5. Alpha Gamma Rho added these names to their pledge class: Bob Conover, Larry Dallery, Ralph Warren, Percy Strickland, and Leroy Jackson. The Sigma Chi pledge class elected Clyde Byram as their president.

Sigma Nu will hold "Sigma Nu

Sunday" on November 18. All the Sigs go to the Pullen Memorial Church at this time. Alpha Gamma Rho will hold a fellowship supper on Friday, Nov. 16. Theta Chi will hold a house party on Saturday night. Sigma Chi will have a Pirate's party on Saturday for pledges and brothers. A prize will be awarded to the person with the best costume. Tau Kappa Epsilon is planning a party for pledges and members at the house this weekend.

Pi Kappa Phi plans to have a brother's party at Crabtree Park. Sigma Nu started work on their basement during the week. Their purpose is to create one large cellar. This entails the tearing down of walls, but with all the boys chipping in, the work should be finished in the near future. Sigma Alpha Mu recently redecorated and painted their entire downstairs, and a good portion of the upstairs rooms.
