1953 Red Cross Drive Underway on Campus

State College students and faculty members contributed a total of $2,513 to the 1951 Red Cross fund raising campaign. This sum represented 78.6 per cent of the quota.

The 1953 Red Cross Fund Raising Campaign is to be conducted until March 31. State College is looked upon to do its part again this year as it was last.

On a national-wide basis, $93,000,000 is the goal of the 1953 Fund Campaign, an $8,000,000 increase over last year's quota—necessary because of expanded defense blood collections and processing of thousands of additional pints of blood for conversion into gamma globulin, the new weapon against paralysis from polio. When the nation-wide goal is pushed up, the local goals must be upped accordingly. State College will be called on to contribute even more this year than it did during 1952.

Students from approximately 1,000 colleges and universities participate as adult Red Cross members.

Scabbard and Blade Honors Nineteen From Company G, Third Regiment

By JULIAN LANIER

Nineteen new members of Company G, Third Regiment, of the National Society of Scabbard & Blade were presented with distinctive fourragers at a parade held in their honor on March 6. New members from both the Army and Air Force ROTC were recognized at the parade held in Riddick Stadium at noon. The awards were presented by Cadet Lt. Col. William E. Berner, Captain of Company G, which is the State College chapter of Scabbard & Blade.

Scabbard & Blade is a national honor society with local chapters, called companies, located in eighty-nine leading colleges and universities which have ROTC programs. Active members are chosen from outstanding cadets of the advanced course of Army, Navy and Air Forces of the institutions in which companies are located. Membership is by election only.

WSSF Plans To Canvas Campus

World Student Service Fund Will Open Drive Next Quarter for Funds to Help Struggling Indonesian School and Students

By BILL BRITTAIN

State College students will have the opportunity to help their fellow students on the other side of the world when the World Student Service Fund drive gets underway on the campus the first week of the spring term. All contributions from N. C. State College will be earmarked for the University of Indonesia, although the WSSF is the American part of a world student relief organization. Indonesia, a newly liberated country in the old Dutch East Indies, won its freedom with the help of the mediation of Dr. Frank Graham, former president of the Greater University of North Carolina.

The money raised last year was used to provide microfilm equipment for the University of Indonesia. The University could not afford to buy the books necessary for an adequate library; and if they could afford them, many of the needed books are out of print. However, with microfilm equipment, a more nearly adequate library can be assembled on film at a much lower cost. The film can also be easily copied so that several branches of the university can simultaneously use the same literature. Microscopes and mimeographing equipment have been among the items which were furnished by

A total of 36 officers were recently elected to head the organization of the Dormitory Club for the 1953-54 school year. Final election returns are now complete from every dormitory on the campus. Each dorm recently voted for a president, vice-president, and secretary to represent its members in the forthcoming year. These officers compose the nucleus of the Dormitory Club, one of the largest and most representative student organizations at State College. The presidents, and vice-presidents of this group also compose the Inter-Dormitory Council which coordinates activities among the dormitories. This group will meet shortly for the purpose of electing Council officers.

It will be the job of every dormitory officer to know as many students within his dormitory as possible in order to better represent them, and to work for the best interests of his dormitory. Each student within the dorms should also know who his dorm officers are, for it is through these officers that any problems, questions, or suggestions pertaining to dormitory life should be handled and presented to the IDC. The following is a summary of your officers for next year.

Alexander Dorm will have as its president, Druid L. Crofts, of Lexington, North Carolina. Crofts is a junior in Industrial Arts Education, and serves in the Dormitory Club at the present as Athletic Director and Counselor in Alexander. George H. Porter, a sophomore in Agriculture Education from Goldsboro, was elected vice-president. George has been quite active in dorm intramurals, and is a member of Campus Government, and the Ag Club. Walter "Hank" Spivey will serve in the capacity of secretary for Alexander. A rising sophomore in Agriculture, Hank comes from Weldon, N. C., and is a member of the varsity football squad.

Ag Engineers Pick Leaders; Entertain

At their meeting on March 5, the North Carolina State College Student Branch of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers elected a new slate of officers for the spring term. Those elected were—Bill Brittain, President; Neal Barnes, Vice-president; Paul Wagoner, Secretary; Talmadge Burgess, Treasurer; Donald Craft, Reporter; Bryce Haywood, Newsletter Editor; and Glenn Bailey, Assistant Editor.

The winter term social for the ASAE was a square dance. R. L. Bailey and his Ridgerunners provided the music. It was held Friday, March 6 at the BSU Camp just outside of town. Winners were roasted between dances and the more than 35 students, faculty, and guests had a wonderful time.

CUSC Dubbed Gag Of Student Expression

'Virginian,' 'Topper' Due This Weekend

The Barter Theatre of Abingdon, Va., will present "The Virginian" Saturday night, March 14, in Pullen Auditorium, at 8:30 p.m.

"The Virginian" has been called the "granddaddy" of the "horse-operas" and was first produced in 1904.

The Barter Theatre is a nationally known stock company.

The event is being sponsored by the College Union Theatre committee. Students and dates or family will be admitted by registration cards, staff and faculty by College Union Membership cards and all others by $1.80.

Topper, a lighthearted farce from the pen of Thorne Smith, will be shown at College Union Movie-time Sunday night.

Featuring Roland Young, Constance Bennett, and Cary Grant, the film takes an entertaining peek into the madcap world of its author.

The plot centers around the efforts of a young married pair, who live by a code of sophisticated nonsense, to free a stuffy, middle-aged bank president named Cosmo Topper from the dull, routine world in which he lives.

After the couple are killed when the husband places an uninhibited toe to the accelerator of their mammoth foreign roadster, they come

Jim Adams, Chairman of Carolina C.U.S.C. Delegation, Resigns After Labeling Council Waste of Time

The President of Carolina's CUSC Delegation, Jim Adams, has resigned from that position in a huff after firing a broadside at the group and its recent actions. Adams said that the Consolidated University Student Council has "served only as a gag for student opinion."

The Daily Tar Heel carried a front-page story on March 6 which lists the Adams' grievances against the Council. In accepting the Adams resignation, Ham Horton, Carolina's Student Government President said, "I don't intend to appoint anyone to fill his seat at the present time. I'm inclined to agree with the things said in his resignation."

The CUSC is composed of delegates from each of the three schools in the Consolidated University. Tom Sully, also a Carolina student, is president. Paul Wagoner is Chairman of the State College delegation.

The purpose of the group, as outlined in the Constitution, is "to act as a liaison between the student body of the Consolidated University and the administration of the Consolidated University."

In his resignation statement Adams also stated, "This program of consolidation is not working and by its very nature cannot work effectively when problems and opinions on the three campuses are entirely different and cannot be voiced in a consolidated manner."

He said this point was illustrated

"when a delegation, or delegations, of the CUSC, though not directly concerned, will not venture forth to further the cause of consolidation by supporting directly concerned with situations affecting one group of the Consolidated University Student Body."

On Sunday, March 1, Jim Adams appeared before a meeting of CUSC at State College and presented several tentative resolutions concerning the Consolidated Administration. The meeting was reported in the March 6 Technician. One of the most controversial resolutions offered by Adams read as follows:

The CUSC cannot successfully perform its liaison function—that of improving relations between the Consolidated Administration and the student body if students are given no share in the responsibility of making of decisions which affect them. Student opinion should be given more weight by the Consolidated Administration, and should be given consideration before the Consolidated Administration has come to a decision concerning a given matter. This statement is based on the belief that student opinion is heard in too perfunctory a way, and that the CUSC is placed in the untenable position of having either to whitewash Consolidated Administration decisions, or to add to the animosity and ill-feeling already in existence by voicing the objections of students to administration decisions.

The last paragraph became the subject of an animated debate which found the State and Woman's College delegations chiming together to ask, "Isn't the animosity and ill feelings to which the resolutions refers prevalent on the Carolina Campus?"

Members of the Woman's College Delegation and the State Delegation rose to say that the relations between the students at both institutions and the Consolidated Administration were entirely satisfactory and that there was most certainly not any animosity or ill feelings between the two in existence. These delegates pointed out that Gordon Gray maintains office hours regularly at both institutions once a week for one day, Monday being the day which he spends at State College.

Henry M. Ramseur from Morganton heads up the Bagwell Club for the year to come. Henry is a rising senior in Animal Industry, and is a member of the Agricultural staff. He is an Athletic Director in Bagwell this year, and has been very active in intramural sports activities. Vice-president for the Bagwell boys is Craig L. Barnhardt, Jr., a junior in Civil Engineering from New Bern. Craig also has been active in all sports in the intramurals program, in Lutheran church activities, and is a member of the Arnold Air Society. Albert L. Pruden of Roanoke takes over the job of secretary. Coming to State after one year at Campbell Junior College, Albert is now a sophomore in Mechanical Engineering with an Aero option.

In Becton dormitory, Willie N. Parks, a Navy veteran from Portsmouth, Virginia, will step into the position of president. Willie is now a senior in Industrial Engineering. Colbert L. Dilday of Colerain takes over the vice-presidency. Colbert is a sophomore in Agricultural Engineering. Secretary for Becton will be Richard W. Johnson of Germantown. Richard is a junior in Mechanical Engineering, a member of the Baptist Student Union, and has taken an active part in the intramurals program.

Jack McDade retained the position he now holds in the recent election, and will again represent the Berry boys in the capacity of dormitory president upon his return next year. One of the few men ever to succeed himself within the Dormitory Club, Jack is one of the original "BBBB" (Bashful Boys from Berry Basement) having lived in Berry dorm ever since his sophomore year. In addition to being dorm president, Jack is Athletic Director of the Inter-Dormitory Council, has served as dorm athletic director, and is a member of the AIME, and the Engineers Council. James "Jim" B. Cook was elected as vice-president. A junior in Civil Engineering, Jim hails from Monroe, North Carolina, is a member of Mu Beta Psi, and the ASCE. Henry George Hartis, a transfer student from Appalachian State Teachers College, will hold the office of secretary. George's hometown is Matthews, N. C., and he is a veteran of the U. S. Army. He is a sophomore in Chemical Engineering.

Fourth dormitory will have as its president, Elbert C. Griffin of Monroe. Elbert is a junior in Agricultural Economics, and a former Eagle scout. Vice-president for Fourth will be Edie A. Criner of Winston-Salem. Edie is a sophomore in Furniture Manufacturing and Management. Charles T. Weatherly, a sophomore in Animal Industry, from Greensboro will serve as secretary.

James "Brad" Wiggins was voted in as president of Gold dormitory. Brad came to State from Wilmington, and he is now a junior in the School of Design. Ovidio Restrepo of Medellin, Colombia, South America, will hold the job of secretary. Mario is a sophomore in Textiles.

President of Owen dormitory will be Albert "Al" P. Parker from Charlotte. Al is a junior in Electrical Engineering, and has been active in dorm intramurals. Lloyd Cheek, retiring president of Owen, will hold the office of vice-president next year. Lloyd is from Gibsonville, and he is presently vice-president of the Inter-Dormitory Council. A member of Sigma Chi fraternity, Lloyd has also been active in intramural sports. Tony Frantz of Charlotte was elected to the office of secretary. Tony is a freshman in Mechanical Engineering with an Aero option.

Stadium dormitory's new president will be Robert Wooten Parker of Macclesfields. A sophomore in Animal Industry, Robert is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, and the College 4-H club. Sherwood Chesson, sophomore in Agricultural Engineering, was elected as vice-president. Sherwood is from Roper, and is a member of the ASAE. Secretary for the dorm will be Herbert G. Privette of Zebulon. Herbert is a sophomore in Civil Engineering.

Carol R. Baker heads the Syme organization as president. Carol is a sophomore in Agricultural Engineering, and his hometown is Nichols, South Carolina. Olin Trull, freshman in Ag Engineering from Monroe, will take over as vice-president. Secretary for Syme will be James E. Webb, Jr., a freshman in Forestry, from Swannanoa.

Tucker dorm elected as its president George H. Lourigan of Kenosha, Wisconsin. A junior in Textiles, George is on the staff of the Textile Forum, and holds a Cooper scholarship. He is quite active in the Aquinas Club, and was a member of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary society. Roany B. Thomas of Newport News, Virginia, succeeds himself as vice-president of Tucker. Roany, a junior in Textile Chemistry, was vice-president of his sophomore class, and is chief counselor of Tucker. Herbert C. Kaplan of Carteret, New Jersey, a freshman in Forestry, was elected to the office of secretary.

Joe K. Cochrane of Union Mills, was elected president of Turlington. Joe is a freshman in Civil Engineering. Vice-president of Turlington for the year to come is Bealus A. Smith, Jr. of Stanfield. Bealus, a sophomore in Agricultural Education, is on the staff of the Agriculturist. The office of secretary will be filled by Dow V. Perry of Taylorsville. Dow is a freshman in Civil Engineering.

Welch Dormitory elected as its president, William "Jack" Alston of Concord. Jack is an Army veteran, and is now a junior in Construction. Vice-president for Welch will be Charles Edward Trevaathan of Dobson. Charles is a junior in Electrical Engineering. Walter Herbert Barnes, a junior in Mechanical Engineering from Taylorsville, was elected to the office of secretary.

"The only trouble with getting to class on time," comments the Cavalier Daily, University of Virginia, "is that there is seldom anyone there to appreciate it."

Editorial—

Carolina's C.U.S.C. Delegation Keeps State and Women's College on Guard

On the front page is the story of the resignation of the Chairman of the Carolina CUSC delegation. Since the Editor is a member of the State College CUSC delegation and was present at its March 1 meeting, he feels better qualified than usual to comment on the subject.

As far back as September, whenever CUSC met the matters which were brought before the Council, including ratification of the Constitution, invariably found the Woman's College and State College delegations banding together in an effort to act as a restraining force to counteract the remarkably consistent tendencies of Carolina's delegation to go "off the deep end." The latter delegation always seems to have notions which strike the former delegations as weird. These notions are not peculiar entirely to Carolina's CUSC delegation either, their Student Legislature traffics in them also. As an example: The Carolina Legislature ratified the CUSC Constitution for a period of one year only and provided for a yearly review session; however, should a new legislative body decline to review and afterwards renew the Constitution, CUSC would be automatically dissolved, one of the three member organizations having withdrawn.

THE TECHNICIAN thought it highly presumptuous of the Carolina Legislature to act in this manner since the method of provisional ratifications is something which should first be discussed and approved by the entire Council.

At any rate, normal procedure calls for the Council's Executive Committee to meet before the whole Council does for the purpose of preparing an agenda. When the Carolina delegation appeared here on Sunday, March 1, with a list of involved resolutions which they wished to submit to the Council for its consideration, the regular procedure had not been followed.

Through no fault of theirs, the Executive Committee had not been able to meet because the members' schedules conflicted.

On Sunday Carolina's Chairman stated at the outset of the meeting that the resolutions which he offered were "in the nebulous stage." They were nebulous all right, and if we forced ourselves a bit we could think of a few more colorful adjectives to describe the condition they were in . . . more like impossible. So what happened. As usual State and W. C. began reading between the lines of the resolutions, and they did not particularly like what they read. The first word of (Continued on Page 7)

ATHLETES-- A Special Breed

With Special Responsibilities

Indications are that an editorial which appeared in the March 6 Technician left an impression in some sectors that this newspaper and its editor were out to give the athletes a rough time. That is not so. The Technician is concerned only with those students and/or athletes who consistently indulge in practices which adversely affect student welfare and detract from the progress and welfare of the entire College. The athletes referred to last week will be treated no rougher by us or by the Campus Government Honor Court before which they are scheduled to appear than they deserve to be. They brought this trouble upon themselves and they should be willing to accept the consequences.

And speaking of trials, C. G. President Vincent Outland informs us that of the sixteen cases which have been tried by the Honor Court, eight, or one-half have dealt with athletes. That record doesn't speak very well for them, does it?

The simple truth of the matter is that although athletes do not comprise a separate and distinct race of people, they nevertheless are looked upon as a special breed. We are all inclined to notice how they as a group or as individuals behave because they are the recipients of publicity which keeps them in the spotlight. They are heroes of sorts whose lives are not entirely their own.

From the time a child is old enough to be out running with the neighborhood gang, he learns that a good athlete is a man to be admired and emulated. To the kid in the sandlot the athlete is a hero, there's no getting around it. And the hero-worshipping does not abate as the child reaches adolescence. He continues to hold the athlete in high regard, or at least he will continue to do so until such time as he is disillusioned by athletes who do not measure up to standard. Fortunately these are in the minority.

It would be unreasonable and unrealistic for any of us to expect all athletes to conduct themselves in such a mannerly order that their deportment would never be the object of investigation or criticism; however, every athlete has a sort of undefinable responsibility in regard to his conduct and behavior, particularly the public side of it. Because he enjoys a position of prominence in this land and on this campus of ours he should never cease to be aware of this responsibility and should try to conduct himself accordingly.

Perhaps too, a good bit of the trouble which has lately been encountered in connection with athletes at State, not to mention the big-time scandals, could have been avoided or minimized if higher standards of selectivity had been employed when determining who was to represent State College on the field of sport. Perhaps by raising the standards and by utilizing more native North Carolinians State College will eventually be represented by athletes who are all top-notch characters of the same calibre as the many fine athletes who are now members of the student body.

We remain open to suggestion.

We Suspected Abe All Along

Obstacles to Overcome

Those railroad ties which were installed, epds up, out in front of Alexander, Turlington, Owen and Tucker Dorms are not accomplishing much except to stir up an awful lot of resentment on the part of car owners in the neighborhood. The Canteen has been accommodated rather handily, its front yard having been cleared for service trucks, but the remaining usable parking space was considerably reduced by the post installations. Not only are the things a nuisance, they also give one the impression that a tank barricade has been thrown up in the area. Rather unsightly, we think, but they do compliment the split-rail fence around the Coliseum which was erected to keep people from trampling the shrubbery. Hurry up and grow, shrubs.

Another legitimate gripe has arisen as drivers attempting to leave the area get trapped by incoming or outgoing Coliseum traffic after they have parked between the row of posts and Dunn Avenue. Coliseum patrons frequently use the parking places also. Surely something will have to be changed since the students cannot be expected to park behind the dorms in the mud. We are fortunate to have Dean Talley and Jack Stewart working on the problem. Good luck to them.

the TECHNICIAN'S recent subscription drive. We couldn't have done it without them. Their efforts are most sincerely appreciated.

In attempting, on our own, to define what the "Missions"—if you'll pardon the plurality—of the University are, we are immediately struck with a concern over what one mission should not be, and that is the establishment of the University as one of the foremost athletic powers in the South.

THE EDITOR'S

When are we going to hear some new cheers initiated by the Cheerleaders themselves. Getting mighty tired of their joining in with an amplification of "Hip, Hip, Hooray." How original.

If we were to list two of the basic criteria which should be used as a basis for the selection of a new Chancellor, we would forthrightly insist that this individual possess qualities which, in conjunction with one another, would distinguish him as an EDUCATOR-ORGANIZER.

All unsigned editorials, unless otherwise marked, are written by the Editor-in-chief.

A way to roast an old chestnut has finally dawned upon us. Print the paper in French to solve the problem of the editorial Oui.

THE TECHNICIAN owes the Kappa Sig's an apology. They did not accept the guest bids which other IFC members had offered them. Dean Talley manned the door at the Mid-Winters dance and saw to it that no unauthorized persons tried to crash the gate.

There is a bulletin board in the Coliseum on which Everett Case, the Wolfpack's capable basketball coach, posts information and notices which affect his players. Two weeks ago an editorial written by TECHNICIAN Sports Editor Jerry Armstrong on the week of Feb. 20 was prominently displayed on the basketball bulletin board along with a notation from Coach Case which read, "Does the Shoe Fit?". The title of the article, you may recall, was, "Is it Whether You Win or Lose?"

We note, significantly, that the Phi Assembly, debating society from the University of North Carolina defeated three bills in succession at its weekly meeting, held on Feb. 20 in the Well-Winfield ballroom at the Woman's College. The bills brought before the assembly proposed (1) that the United States withdraw from the United Nations; (2) that prohibition be reinstituted; and (3) that the University of North Carolina and the Woman's College be consolidated. The last bill was defeated mainly by an adverse vote of the Woman's College students. The debates were under the sponsorship of the Woman's College Chapter of N.S.A.

Sunday Campus Scene: Three kids paddling a small mortar mixing box around in the fountain beside the Nuclear Reactor. Not much future in the going round and round, but it looked as though the kids were having a whale of a good time.

For those who are wondering just what in the devil is going on with the TECHNICIAN flag changes from week to week, here is the word. The final object is to have a block of identification lettering which will not vie with a black headline for attention as the old flag did. Patience, one more try ought to do it.

At the beginning of the school year the present editor openly stated that if he succeeded in doing no other one thing during his tenure in office he would at least come up with two capable candidates who would pair off for the editorship race in the coming Spring election.

As of two weeks ago, the picture looked healthy. Two capable men, one the managing editor, the other the news editor made known their intentions of seeking the editorship. Then, in one day, the bottom fell out. The managing editor was forced to withdraw from the race due to differences of opinion concerning his draft status which developed between himself and the mighty militarists. To Carolina he must go to get a degree yet!

Thus it is that one man will again offer his lone name to the student body for their approval in the Spring election. He has already been approved by the Publications Board. Fortunately, he has shown great aptitude for the job, and a willingness to work and learn which should serve him in good stead when he assumes the responsibilities of the office.

Congratulations are in order for Jack McDade, the new IDC prexy. Jack, who seldom smiles and who appears to be bitter at the world most of the time, isn't at all. He is through, quiet, capable and energetic. IDC has made a good choice.

Allow us at this time to express our appreciation to Pop Taylor, Miss Thompson and all the other folks in the Alumni Office who contributed so much to the success of

College Union To Form New Group

New Committees Formed
New Members Needed
When Building is Completed

Now that the College Union Building is well underway, many new committees will be formed so that the interests and needs of the students can be met.

The new building will have photography equipment for student use. The photo lab will be equipped with lockers for all committee members, three developing rooms, seven contact printers and enlargers, three washers, two dryers and mounting tables. Any student is eligible for committee membership. The committee will plan brief courses for beginners on use of equipment and developing negatives and printing, and give advanced training in photography techniques and sponsor the photography exhibitions of student work.

The Hobby Committee will establish the rules governing the use of equipment and facilities of the Hobby Shop. They will encourage development of skills in woodwork, metalwork, the graphic arts and poster design. It will also be their responsibility to arrange for exhibits of the many different hobbies of students.

A Library Committee will be responsible for buying a small range of magazines, books and hometown newspapers for use by the students in the main lounge. The committee will arrange for book reviews, talks by authors and displays of books written by local professors.

Since graduate students are frequently left out of many activities on campus, it is hoped that a Graduate Club can be formed. This club will arrange for its own dances, discussion groups and other social functions.

It is sincerely hoped that any students who are interested in working with these new committees, or on the committees already established, will come by the College Union office, 135 1911 Building, and sign up for a committee. The new committees will be in the process of foundation during the next few weeks. The College Union is your organization and it needs your support. Any North Carolina State student is eligible.

Fountain and Conner Make 'N. C. Engineer'

Two North Carolina State College professors are authors of articles appearing in the current issue of the North Carolina Engineer, official publication of the North Carolina Society of Engineers.

The N. C. State contributors are Dr. Alvin M. Fountain of the English Department and Prof. N. W. Conner, director of the Department of Engineering Research.

Dr. Fountain wrote on the topic, "The Engineer and His English," and Professor Conner's subject was "Research and Development—A Necessary Industrial Process."

As a result of a campus-wide vote, the Social Standards Committee at Duke University, N. C., has ruled that students going to and from gym classes and field trips need no longer wear raincoats over blue jeans.

It's the size of the FIGHT in the man!

That's right! In the U. S. Air Force, it's not the size of the man in the fight—it's the size of the FIGHT IN THE MAN! And Aviation Cadets must have plenty of it. For Cadet training is rugged. If you're good enough . . . tough enough . . . smart enough . . . if you can take it while you're learning to dish it out, you can have one of the most fascinating careers in the world. You'll be equipped to fly the latest, hottest planes. You'll be prepared to take your position as an executive, both in military and commercial aviation as well as in industry. And while you're helping yourself you'll be helping your country.

WIN YOUR WINGS! It takes little over a year to win your wings as a Pilot or Aircraft Observer (Navigator, Bombardier, Radar Operator or Aircraft Performance Engineer). But at the end of your training you graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE? To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate. In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will give you a physical examination.
3. Next, you take a written and manual aptitude test.

4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet training class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

WHERE TO GET MORE DETAILS:

Visit your nearest Air Force Base, Air Force Recruiting Officer, or your nearest Air Force ROTC unit. Or write to: Aviation Cadet, Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

Duff Says 18 Yr. Olds Should Have the Vote

Queried by Students on TV Show Pa. Senator States "If He's Old Enough to Risk His Life He's Old Enough to Vote"

Senator James H. Duff (R. Pa.) said last week that 18-year-olds should be permitted to vote in every state. He was interviewed by four college students on "Junior Press Conference" televised over ABC-TV.

"If a boy is old enough to risk his life for his country," he said, "he should be permitted to vote. It has been my experience that, by and large, the 18-year-old is just as wise as people in other age brackets."

The movement to lower the voting age has already received support from segments of the college press and from various student organizations. The National Student Association, in a recent meeting of its executive committee, voted to "put its enthusiastic support behind the movement."

In Minnesota, a bill to lower the voting age to 18 years has been introduced in the state legislature. Supporters of the bill say it has "better than a 50-50 chance of passing."

"Junior Press Conference" originates in Philadelphia at 1:30 p.m. every Sunday. Begun last October, its contract has just been renewed for another 13 weeks.

Veterans in 3 States May Lose 900,000,000

North Carolina-Virginia-West Virginia GI's Will Lose That Much if Lapsed Policies Die

Veterans in the North Carolina-Virginia-West Virginia area stand to lose nearly $900,000,000 in lapsed GI term life insurance during 1953, unless they reinstate and renew those policies before the expiration date of their policies.

In making this announcement, based on a sampling of Philadelphia district office records, Veterans Administration said the policies involved are lapsed term National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) that were issued to two groups of World War II and post-World War II veterans in this area.

The first group were 100,000 World War II veterans who took out NSLI policies while they were in service during the year 1945. The second group were 10,000 World War II and post-World War II veterans who took out term policies while they were in service during 1948. The first group had policies with 8-year terms to run, and the second group's policies had terms of 5 years, both of them expiring during the year 1953.

If veterans in both groups do not wish to lose altogether the insurance coverage under these policies, they must reinstate them before the policies expire, VA said. Otherwise, under present laws, they will not be eligible for further GI life insurance.

Policies may be reinstated by applying to a Veterans Administration office. If the policy has been lapsed for three months, the veteran must pass a physical examination. The payment of two monthly premiums is also required.

Ag Engineers Finish Interesting Quarter

The North Carolina State College Student Branch of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers have had a wide variety of programs during this term. One of these was a talk by Mr. John Gray, Head Extension Forester, on the preservation of fence post and other wood products on the farm. At another meeting Mr. W. A. Stephen, Extension Beekeeping Specialist, told of his trip to a beekeeper's conference in Europe. We then had "Smokey" Bailey and his Ridgerunners who entertained the group with hill-billy music. Then on February 19, Mr. John W. Weaver, Jr. gave the club a report on the happenings at the Southeast Section meeting of the ASAE, which he attended in New Orleans.

The club is planning to publish a leaflet to be sent to the high schools in North Carolina to help the field of Agricultural Engineering to become more well known. It is also hoped to get more interested students to enroll in Agricultural Engineering.

Many of the Ag. Engineering students voluntarily attended the State Section meeting held in Riddick Auditorium January 23 and 24. There were two panel discussions, one on crop mechanization and the other on irrigation in North Carolina. There were also many other reports on subjects of interest to Ag. Engineers. At the dinner meeting held at the Chez Gourmet several of the students put on skits to entertain the group.

COUNCIL—

opposition was the signal for a long, drawn-out battle to begin.

The boys from State even stopped staring at the beautiful Secretary (a member of the Carolina delegation) and lent their energies to the fight. The Chapel Hill crew wouldn't admit it, but they were still miffed at Gordon Gray because he reversed his position on the Saturday Class issue and ended up favoring them. It was clear that the Carolina CUSC Delegation had attempted to use CUSC to further their "No-Saturday-Class-Cause" by knocking on President Gray's door with their unexpressed but implied "cause" uppermost in mind.

Gordon Gray, for reasons known only to him—unless he too sensed what the Delegates were up to—passed out word that he was tied up, or words to that effect. His refusal to grant the Delegation admittance really stirred up the proverbial hornet's nest.

The Daily Tar Heel hopped on the besieged President to deliver a sound editorial thrashing which we are just righteous enough to think was in extremely bad taste. As for the assertion that the Consolidated University Student Council is a gag for student opinion—it isn't anything of the sort; furthermore, it shows no inclinations of becoming such.

The editor of The Carolinian at Greensboro has also taken a dim view of the attitude which manifests itself whenever people from Carolina meet people from State and W. C. on common ground. There follows an editorial in the next column on the subject which speaks for itself, and rather eloquently too:

WHERE SKIES ARE CLOUDY FOR GRAY

The Weather Report

Lately the clouds have hung dark and massive above the head of one, Gordon Gray, who happens to be, among other things, president of the Consolidated University of North Carolina. There was the cyclone of alumni last fall, outraged because the football team hadn't stomped every other gridiron eleven in the country, and demanding the head of Carl Snively on a silver platter. There was a clap of thunder from those who control the purse-strings as the University appropriations were sliced to a fraction of the original requests. A hurricane is threatening from the direction of Washington, with Red-hunting winds moving at many colleges per hour. Several quick showers have moved down from the Trustees in the past three years, some of them of typhoon proportions.

But the noisiest storm to descend on the presidential office recently originated at the Chapel Hill campus. When the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees lowered the boom last fall with a demand for Saturday classes at Carolina, the Tar Heels rushed to the coattails of Father Gray, hoping he would help them put those nasty old trustees in their place. Feeling that such questions as the advisability of Saturday classes would be more properly left to the judgment of faculty and administration, Mr. Gray upheld the viewpoint also shared by the students and many of the faculty. But when the Executive Committee held out for Saturday classes and the faculty committee suggested a semester system as the best plan for clearing up a situation which had reached an impasse. At the meeting of the entire Board of Trustees Monday, Mr. Gray upheld the Executive Committee's report and urged the Board to support it.

Now while Gordon Gray is not infallible, he is also no fool. And he knew that such action wouldn't exactly win him popularity votes from the Chapel Hill students. But the man whose capabilities have been recognized by three United States Presidents (representing both parties, incidentally), had enough integrity to take his stand in the face of overwhelming student opposition—opposition that made itself wildly vocal this week in the DAILY TAR HEEL, which yelled, "... while Gray could have made an issue of the principle of the thing by offering his resignation, he acted otherwise." Which is, we think, a pretty barbed comment.

The Climate of Opinion

So, since Mr. Gray is so idle—since he only has to deal with trustees, legislature, administrations, and faculties of the three colleges, parents, alumnae and alumni, and budget committees—the Consolidated University Student Council delegation from Carolina decided that he should have more direct contact with the students. And last week they wrote Woman's College asking if we had any grievances about Mr. Gray's lamentable neglect of his students—if we didn't think he ought to attend student meetings, etc.

There's No Doubt About It ...

the chairman of the Carolina Delegation, Jim Adams, had said that the Council ought to present a unified front. Replied Margaret Crawford of the Woman's College Delegation, "What are we supposed to have, Consolidated animosity?" A debate ensued for practically two hours, at the end of which time someone suggested that the whole matter be referred to the Executive Committee. This was done.

Jim Adams concluded his resignation statement with the remark, "There is no personal animosity on my part toward any member of the CUSC, but I have reached this decision purely on the basis that I cannot work to any really profitable ends."

Another of the Carolina resolutions suggested that Gordon Gray distribute periodic press releases to the students. This suggestion was well-received by a majority of the CUSC delegates.

New Books Displayed in Library Exhibit Funds Derived from Comptroller's "Package"

Money Donated by CG Buys New Books Seen in Library Display

The books and book covers which were on display in D. H. Hill Library during the last two weeks in February represented part of a 248 lot purchased by the library with money donated by Campus Government.

Campus Government donated $750 to the library last spring to be used for the purchase of non-technical books. This was part of the first $20,000 which C.G. received last May from the Student Supply Store settlement. The settlement resulted after investigations, spearheaded by The Technician, of the business affairs of the Supply Store.

Campus Government also voted funds for renovating the social rooms in Tucker and Alexander dormitories. Mr. Jack Stewart, director of student housing, stated that some improvement in the lounge facilities were made but that considerably more remains to be accomplished.

Included with the library display was a complete list of the books purchased and the prices paid for them.

Mrs. Anne L. Turner, Head of the library Order Department was responsible for ordering all the books and helped Miss Mary Ellen Senter in selecting them.

With finals approaching the students of State College, fraternity activity has been cut down to a minimum.

Phi Epsilon Pi held an open house celebration last Saturday afternoon which met with great success. They are now planning to redecorate the house.

Lambda Chi Alpha had a visit from their traveling secretary who was well satisfied with the condition of the chapter.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon has pledged Arthur Park, James Ingram, Thomas Nemery and Sidney Briley.

Tau Kappa Epsilon is holding a going away party this Saturday night for Bob Felps, one of their alumni, who is going into the Navy.

Sigma Nu has its Regional Conference this April 4 and 5 at Presbyterian College. There will be 5 Chapters of Sigma Nu participating in the affair which will include a basketball tournament. The Nu's are also planning a "before-finals" party on Saturday night.

Sigma Alpha Mu held elections of fraternity officers and the following men were selected: Steve Cooper, pres.; Arthur MacLaire, treasurer; (Continued on Page 9)

Dr. Sethi Visits College

"America is better than I had pictured."

This was the comment of Dr. B. L. Sethi, principal of the Government College of Agriculture at Kanpur, India, following a one-week visit to North Carolina.

Dr. Sethi came to the Tar Heel State to observe work being done at the State Department of Agriculture and the Schools of Agriculture and Education at State College.

North Carolina was one of seven states he visited. His study was concerned with the coordinated activities of all agricultural groups involved in the overall plan of resident teaching, research, and extension, as well as vocational agriculture and the State Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Sethi was impressed by the high degree of integration he found existing among these large groups and the progress being made in agriculture through their cooperative efforts.

Editorial

To the Editor:

Your item "For the Record" in the February 27 issue of the TECHNICIAN was of great interest to me. Thank you for coming out with the information. There are quite a few "Vetvillains" who did not believe that there had been sixty thousand dollars turned over from Vetville funds to the Coliseum fund.

Another item of interest to you might be the fact that during the last two fiscal years over fifty-six thousand dollars profit has been netted from those same Vetville rents.

Attempts have been made to persuade the Administration Office to funnel some of those profits back into Vetville in the form of badly needed improvements. Two specific items that have been frequently called to my attention have been:

1. Garbage cans should be provided with screened enclosures to reduce the possibility of the spread of disease due to flies and rats—we have some big ones out here—and to keep stray dogs from overturning them to get at the garbage.

2. More parking areas should be provided. A greater part of the car owners are now forced to park on the sides of the narrow roads out here. This introduces a definite hazard to the children of Vetville in that they could easily dart from behind one of these parked cars and be struck by a moving one.

One needed item that has been provided has been a good playground for the children of Vetville. The efforts of Chancellor Harrel-

Plant Development

Another phase of Du Pont production activities offers challenging work for the technical man

D. S. Warner, B.S. in M.E., Purdue '47, and G. R. Prescott, B.S. in Met. E., Columbia '49, discuss improvements for stainless steel liners in tubes carrying corrosive materials.

In most Du Pont manufacturing plants you'll find two groups of engineers working side by side to make operations more efficient—to reduce costs and improve quality. The specialized work of one group, the production supervisors, has been rather fully discussed in the Digest.

Equally vital is the work of development men—the men responsible for advising management when operational changes should be made for economic or technical reasons.

Engineers from several fields of training are employed in development activities at Du Pont. It seems to have a special appeal for the man who can take on a big problem, analyze its parts, and come up with a thoughtful, reasoned solution.

Individual development studies may begin in a number of different ways. Often they are sparked by the imagination of the engineer himself, who, of course, must be familiar with production costs, activities of competition, and recent or impending technical improvements.

Studies also may be inspired by suggestions of production supervisors or sales personnel, obsolescence of equipment, advances in competitive products, or the presence of unsatisfactory profit margins.

In a single study, the engineer may draw data from laboratories, semi-works and plant-scale experiments, prepare an estimate of profits and investments and consult with numerous specialists on various phases of the problem, both within the Company and outside.

Having collected data from these many sources and perhaps from an independent study of his own, the plant development engineer must then assemble and evaluate the material and prepare a recommendation that is based on sound engineering judgment.

Whether a product or process improves from the standpoint of competition, profit and efficiency depends, in great degree, on the quality of its plant development work. The development engineer's job is a responsible one at Du Pont, and the work of a good man is soon noticed.

HAVE YOU seen "Chemical Engineers at Du Pont"? New book describes initial opportunities in many fields, tells how experiences are varied to prepare men for administrative and management positions. For copy, write 2521 Nemours Bldg., Wilmington, Delaware.

Views and Previews

JERRY ARMSTRONG, Sports Editor

The Wolfpack Golf Team held its first formal practices this past weekend with a round at home course Raleigh Golf Association on Saturday and an all-day play at Pinehurst on Sunday.

Tommy Crockett, a veteran from last year's squad, who is expected to be one of the big guns on the State team this season, shot the best score at RGA with a five-over-par 76. At Pinehurst on Sunday, Crockett made one of the rarest of all shots in golf. He holed a 180-yard five iron shot for a double-eagle two on the 475 yard par 5 eighth hole! Tommy shot a respectable 6-over par 78 on Pinehurst's famous No. 2 course even though he had a few bad holes.

Coach Roy Clogston thinks he has one of the potential greats in the Southern Conference in Melvin Dietch, a freshman from Chattanooga. "Dietch has a fine swing, and hits long and true drives. He hits many drives around 275 to 300 yards and is exceptionally accurate with them. His scores are in the middle and high seventies now because of poor judgment of distances. He should become one of the best golfers in the Southern Conference if his short game improves," says Clogston.

Another bright spot on the golf team is Frank "Peanut" Jones, a freshman from Danville, Virginia. He was a semi-finalist in the Virginia State Amateur last year, and has been shooting in the middle and high seventies lately. He should be of considerable value to the golf team this year.

Crockett, Dietch, and Jones seem to be assured of starting spots on the team this season, but Coach Clogston and Student Assistant Maurice Brackett agree that will be a scramble for the three remaining places. Among the boys who will be fighting for the positions are Pete and Bill Smith, veteran brothers from last year's squad, and Jim Woolen, Henry Margotta, Dan Ames, Dick Hill, Dave Sontag, and David Kelley.

Around and Back

Wake Forest in last week's winning of the Southern Conference Tournament did more than merely win a conference title. They ended one of the winningest streaks ever to be held in Southern Conference history. Coach Case and "Butter" Anderson had amazed one of the most fabulous records ever to come out of the Southern sports world. For one thing they had won the Southern Conference championship crown six years in a row.

Prior to the upset victory for Wake Forest, North Carolina State had been beaten once in 37 tournament games, St. John's in the 1952 N.C.A.A.), since the advent of Coach Everett Case in west Raleigh. They had won 20 prior Conference Tournament contests in the same seven years.

"Goose" Tatum Will Lead Famous Basketball Team

A game in the fourth annual World Series of Basketball, featuring the 1953 College All-Americans versus the famed Harlem Globetrotters, will be played in the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum at North Carolina State College Wednesday, April 1, at 8:30 p.m.

Announcement of plans to hold the game here was made by W. Z. Betts, director of the Coliseum, who said the All Americans and the Trotters will cover 19 cities in 19 days during the coast-to-coast world series tour.

The opening contest will be in New York's Madison Square Garden Sunday afternoon, March 29. Jack H. Gardner, now completing his 10th season as head basketball coach at Kansas State College, will coach the 1953 College All American squad.

Gardner and his Kansas State squad are currently gunning for their fourth Big Seven Conference title over a six-year span. The Wildcats have been at or near the top of national basketball polls since the start of the season.

The 42-year-old Gardner, a native of California, has been coaching A.A.U., high school and college basketball for the past 16 years, during which time he won 8 championships with his teams.

The complete schedule for the world series tour follows:

March 29, New York City (Aft.); March 30, Toronto, Ont.

tario, Canada; March 31, Philadelphia, Pa.; April 1, Raleigh, N. C.; April 2, Hershey, Pa.; April 3, Indianapolis, Ind.; April 4, Milwaukee, Wis.; April 5, Chicago, Ill. (Aft.); April 6, Laramie, Wyo.; April 7, San Francisco, Calif.; April 8, Los Angeles, Calif.; April 9, Denver, Colo.; April 10, Kansas City, Mo.; April 11, St. Louis, Mo.; April 12, Cincinnati, Ohio; April 13, Cleveland, Ohio; April 14, Detroit, Mich.; April 15, Buffalo, N. Y.; April 16, Boston, Mass.

Big Four Scoring

Dickie Hemric picked up all the marbles in the Big Four scoring race. The big 6-6 Wake Forest sophomore took the individual lead early in the season and set a pace the rest of the way that completely outdistanced his opponents.

Hemric, a center from Jonesville, scored 602 points for an average of 25.1. His nearest rival was teammate Jack Williams, who averaged 20.1 points. Co-captain Bobby Speight of State finished in third place, with a 17.2 mark.

They Captained a Great Team

Co-Captains Bobby Speight and Bill Kukoy played their last game for the Wolfpack last week in the Southern Conference Tournament, but they won't be forgotten soon. Both men have been key figures in the Case system for several years and have established a place for themselves on the list of State's great players.

Phi Epsilon Pi—3-7	Sigma Pi—3-7	Lambda Chi Alpha—1-7
Theta Chi—2-8	Phi Kappa Tau—2-8

Six games were played among the fraternities to wind up the schedule. Sigma Alpha Mu scored an uproaring victory over Phi Kappa Tau, 82-14. Playing with only five men, P.K.T. couldn't keep up with the fast breaking Sammys. Dick Rudikoff broke the individual fraternity scoring record with 37 points. Julian Lanier added 13 and Herb Weiss 8 to the scoring punch for S.A.M. and Beele with 5 points was top man for the P.K.T. The Sammys also set a new single game scoring record with their 82 points.

Sigma Pi trampled over Delta Sigma Rho 49-25. Thacker racked up 20 points for Sigma Pi while his teammates, Snead and Taylor scored 11 and 8 points respectively.

Harrison had 13 for Delta Sigma.

Pi Kappa Phi won a thriller over Kappa Alpha 25-23. Kern netted 14 and Howell 6 for P.K.A., while York tallied 12 for K.A.

Sigma Nu scored an easy victory in registering its tenth win of the season by beating the Pi Kappa Alpha 42-19. Burnette scored 17 and Agnew scored 9 for Sigma Nu. Bassett scored 7 for the P.K.A.

Phi Epsilon Pi conquered Theta Chi 39-26. Arken and Saffer had 10 points each for the P.E.P., as Buckner scored 12 for Theta Chi.

Sigma Phi Epsilon went on a scoring rampage as they walloped T.K.E. 54-20. Brady had 17, Yoder 16, McGee 13, and Rodgers 10 points for S.P.E. Crabtree led the losers with 13 points.

A committee of fraternity men is in charge of soliciting in the fraternities. A collection was taken at the Cincinnati basketball game, when Bobby Speight made a statement in favor of the drive.

John Crosby is chairman of the drive at State and Joe Saltz is treasurer. The committee chairman include Job Jeter and Roy Congleton, dormitory solicitation; Lloyd Cheek, fraternity solicitation; Louise Hine, organization solicitation; Bill Howard and Bill Brittain, publicity; and Devero Martin and Aubrey Hancock, special events.

President Eisenhower, in a letter to W. J. Kitchen, Executive WSSF Secretary, stressed the important role which the Service Fund plays in furthering the cause of educational advancement in those parts of the world where educational facilities leave much to be desired. The letter follows:

BIG FOUR—

Every phase of the scoring was led by Hemric. He scored 206 field goals compared to 201 for Speight. In free throws, Hemric got 190 against 168 for Mel Thompson of State.

Seven players in the Big Four scored over 400 points, but Speight's 498 was the closest to Hemric's 602. Williams hit for 483, and Thompson got 466. Two Duke players followed, with Bill Reigel hitting for 413 and Bernie Janicki getting 407. Davey Gotkin of State scored 403.

The highest single game total during the season was also a Hemric performance. He got 44 in a losing performance, 101-99, to Duke in an overtime game; however, he fouled out before the extra period got underway.

Sixteen players in the Big Four, all of whom saw action in the Southern Conference tournament, averaged over 10 points per game for the season. Carolina and State had four each; Wake Forest and Duke had three each.

The leading scorers are: Carolina—Al Lifson 14.7, Vince Grimaldi 14.5, Bud Maddie 11.4, Jerry Vayda 11.3; Wake Forest—Hemric 25.1, Williams 20.1, Billy Lyles 10.4; Duke—Reigel 16.4, Janicki 16.3, Rudy D'Emilio 14.8; State—Speight 17.2, Thompson 16.1, Gotkin 13.9, Bill Kukoy 10.4.

Duke's team offense still is the highest in the loop, and State's offense is the toughest according

Wolfpack Eighth

State continued to meet and defeat all comers here recently when they defeated the "Deck Men" from Bainbridge 59-25. The Pack took eight firsts, four seconds, lost one, and tied one event to completely master the meet.

One of the outstanding performances of the meet was Frank Nauss's winning of the 200-yard breast stroke event. Frank generally swims in the freestyle section, but Coach Casey wanted to prove he was an all around swimmer and not just a freestyler.

Tommy Dunlap, Raleigh's hero, continued to flatten his opponents in the back stroke category. He took first place easily and this was not one of his faster times.
