YMCA Plans Clothes Drive

The need for clothing of all kinds continues to be very great in Korea, in the refugee camps of Europe, and the Near East.

For a number of years Church student groups and the Y.M.C.A. have sponsored a collection of clothing on the Campus and in the city to help meet this great need. For the last three years, the clothing has been sent to the American Friends Service Committee in Greensboro for overseas shipment and distribution. Regarding the shipment sent them last June, they said, "This collection of clothing represents the combined efforts of the Campus Church groups and the Y.M.C.A. at N. C. State. The washing and dry cleaning was done by the College laundry without charge. Some of this clothing came from students but the most of it was given by faculty and other Raleigh citizens. The Churches helped publicize the drive. Free transportation was furnished by the North Carolina Equipment Company."

On May 7th they wrote saying "We would be most grateful to have you sponsor another drive at N. C. State."

Monday May 24th is the night on which the clothing will be collected in the dormitories. Students living in the dormitories are asked to have the clothing they wish to give ready on that night. There will be a box in the Y.M.C.A. where clothing may be brought at any time. Fraternities are asked to make their collections at their convenience, preferably on the 24th and bring the clothing to the "Y." Faculty and other Raleigh citizens are requested to do likewise. The residents of Verville and West Haven are asked to take their

Vets Must Report For Allowance

All Korean Vets wishing to receive educational allowance for May 1 through June 4 period of training should come to the Registration Office to sign the monthly certifications of training during May 25, 26, and 27. It is important that this be done during the designated period so that the matter can be taken care of prior to grade postings. Spring Finals With Donahue Big Success

By Dave Bagwell

Last weekend the fraternity men at State witnessed the best dance of the year as far as they were concerned. This dance was the Annual Spring Finals, produced and directed by the Interfraternity Council. The I.F.C. can be assured that their time was well spent and can be justly proud of the final product.

After two losers they finally picked a winner. With "The Billy May Band with Sam Donahue" providing the music, the weekend turned out to be one of the most enjoyable since I have been at State. Donahue played a varied and enjoyable program at both dances and also at the Saturday afternoon concert. Donahue first gained prominence in music circles during the swing era when he was featured in several top bands. During 1938-40 he was with Gene Krupa's group and later joined the bands of Harry James and Benny Goodman. All of this experience really showed up last weekend.

The simple but attractive decorations caught the eyes of the dancers. During intermission the figure, consisting of the old and new officers and the presidents of all the fraternities was presented. When it was all over and the sponsors were all unwound it turned out to be quite attractive.

The president of FarmHouse and his sponsor received a large ovation as they were presented. FarmHouse received its charter Saturday afternoon and was presented officially as a member of the I.F.C. for the first time. All the frats on campus extend a warm welcome to this new fraternity.

If I could find a way to end this article as well as the way I ended last weekend I would quit, so, I think I'll just fold my tent and silently steal away.

A Personal Message From
RUSSELL O. HEATER
To the People of Wake County

I deeply regret that due to unexpected illness resulting from a skin allergy, I have been unable to visit any of my friends or to conduct any active campaign for re-election to the office of County Commissioner. I have not missed but one regular meeting of the Board during this term, and I am happy to report to you that I will be back on full duty and at your service before the June meeting.

During my term of office I have sought to the best of my ability to serve the best interests of all of the people of Wake County, to safeguard the interests of the taxpayer, and to contribute as much as I could towards operating the affairs of the county on a business-like basis and according to sound business principles.

I wish to assure you that I am not a permanent office seeker. A public office belongs to the people and not to any one person, group or faction. At this time matters important to the welfare of the county are pending in connection with which the knowledge and experience I have gained in county affairs should be of value to the people.

It is my hope and I ask for re-election for one more term, not for personal motives, but for the opportunity of public service in a program of good government for the county. I appreciate the kindness shown to me, and if re-elected I will serve your interest to my full capacity, which is all one can do.

Sincerely yours,
Russell O. Heater

He holds degrees from Brown University and N. C. State.

Student Workers Needed By WUNC-TV

When the Consolidated University's Television Station, WUNC-TV, goes on the air next Fall, a wide range of interesting "Behind The Scenes" jobs will be available at the State College Studio to students wishing to volunteer their help. In addition to well-equipped studios, the new building to be erected on Western Boulevard will house scenery, art and film shops, a music library, and office space.

Opportunities are varied and include announcing, staging (handling scenery, properties and lighting in the studio), make-up, film handling, scenery design and construction, art work, sound and camera work.

Auditions are anticipated early next Fall for those interested in performing. Persons talented in acting, vocal or instrumental music, and a variety of other performing specialties will be needed.

WUNC-TV hopes to begin to build a file of available persons before the end of the school year. Some help can be used this Summer with full-scale operation planned for Fall. Applications for volunteer services may be obtained now in the Station's temporary office, Room 237, 1911 Building, from 9:00 A.M. to 1:00 P.M. and 2:00 P.M. to 5:00 P.M. daily.

"THE GUY'LL LOSE HIS SHIRT!"

"... I walks into this haberdasher just off campus, see, and ask for a white shirt. He starts givin' me this song-and-dance about that Van Heusen Century with the soft collar that supposed to not wrinkle ever. The jerk starts snowin' me with some 14-day free trial deal, that if I'm not satisfied after wearing it and washing it for 14 days, he'll gimme my dough back.

"I'm from Brooklyn, see, and I don't trust nobody. I ask the guy, 'What's the catch, buddy?' He says, 'No catch. Wear it as much and as hard as you want. If the collar ever wrinkles or wilts, you get your money back. Wash it yourself. It's easy. You just iron the collar flat, flip it, and it folds perfectly because the fold-line's woven in. If not, your money back.'

"The guy tells me it's the only soft one-piece collar in the world, that it lasts up to twice as long as other shirts and only costs $3.95 for whites and $4.95 in colors and superfine whites. I tell him he's nuts to make such a stupid offer. I tell him he'll lose his shirt. It's a kind of joke, see. I figure no shirt will live up to all that malarky.

"And y'know what? I been wearin' and washin' it now for a hunerd and fourteen days, and I still can't find nothin' wrong-with it."

$250 Scholarship Available To Seniors

Two $250.00 scholarships are being made available by the Southeastern Florists' Association to two outstanding seniors who reside in the Southeastern states, Prof. M. E. Gardner, head of the Horticulture Department at N. C. State College, announced today.

The region is composed of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Tennessee. Candidates for these scholarships will be recommended to the Growers Committee of the North Carolina Florists' Association who, in turn, will submit the names to the Scholarship Committee of the Southeastern Association for approval.

A loan fund of $10,000 is also being made available to juniors and seniors majoring in floriculture by the Southeastern Florists' Association. Under this plan, a student may borrow $500.00 in either his junior or senior year, or both. The money will be loaned to the student at no interest charge and may be paid back at his convenience.

The North Carolina State Florists' Association is offering an award of $100.00 to an outstanding student in floriculture. Professor Gardner said details concerning this award have not been completely worked out but will be available at the beginning of the new school year in Sept.

EDITORIAL COMMENT:

Wataugan: To Live Or Die?

Do the students of State College really want the Wataugan back or do they want it only so long as someone else does the work? It takes those who are willing to work to publish the present magazines and papers and unless there is more support of the group that is pushing the magazine, it can do nothing but fail.

The faculty council has "O.K.ed" a trial issue of the Wataugan and if all goes well, it should make its reappearance sometime around December and thereafter be printed four times a school year. As things are setup now, the Wataugan will be a literary, humor magazine to fill a vacant spot in type of literature that the average student spends time on now, printing and reading.

State College's students are a talented group. The tragedy is that quite a bit of this talent is going to waste undeveloped and that which is never developed will be lost. Work on a publication gives valuable training not afforded in classroom work and it is to the advantage of the individual to support the Wataugan as well as the present publications.

Unless a large number of State men try a hand at writing humor articles, jokes, and humorous happenings on campus, the Wataugan will be pushed aside again to collect dust. If you want to contribute something, to the business staff or to the editorial staff, contact Rudy Pate or Mr. Lindsay Whichard. It's up to you. Do you want the Wataugan?

The North Carolina State College Chapter of Sigma Tau Sigma, honorary textile fraternity, has elected 19 new members and four new officers, chapter officials announced today.

Editor's Outline For '54-'55 Paper Given

Perhaps the biggest change in next year's TECHNICIAN will be the publication date. Because it is felt that quite a few students don't receive their copy of the TECHNICIAN because they go home on Friday and the janitor sweeps them up on Saturday morning, the paper will be delivered on Thursdays. Of course this means that the staff will have to work on Mondays and Tuesdays which is a day earlier but with the cooperation of the campus organizations, little trouble should result. The Print Shop has assured the Editor and the Business Manager complete support and a set of dead-lines are in the process of being drawn up.

Since the plastic cut with the TECHNICIAN on it is worn out, the new flag will probably be full page width. Along this same line, a standard head will probably be set for College Union events so that any student who desires a little entertainment can find the write-up without going through the whole paper. Whenever possible a number of feature stories concerning campus "doings" will also appear; meaning less news on things of little interest to the average student. Papers with state and national news are readily available at any news-stand.

The business manager is working with the editorial staff toward a better looking arrangement of news and advertisement space. Also a closer coordination between the TECHNICIAN and WVWP seems to be assured. Perhaps this will mean a better coverage of campus events by both facilities.

Editorials, both by the Editor and Guests, should be directed toward a need of the whole campus organization. Constructive criticism will be appreciated and Letters to the Editor will receive prompt attention. Now the problem is living up to the intentions set forth. The staff will do its best.

"Browning Version" C.U. Weekend Movie

"The Browning Version" is a story of the failure of a schoolmaster as a teacher, husband, and colleague.

Schoolmaster Crocker Harris, who is stuffy and cold-bittered, is derided by his students, patronized by the headmaster, and despised by his wife. This is the story of how a simple act of kindness changes the bitter schoolmaster's life.

Michael Redgrave is magnificent as the schoolmaster, with Ronald Howard as one of his pupils.

This British-made film will delight all who attend the showing at 8:15, Sunday evening at the Textile Auditorium.

LEONARD A. BINDER Sports Editor

This being the last week prior to final examinations, the A.C.C. races in all the spring sports are coming to a close.

On the baseball front, the Clemons Tigers look to have the crown all locked up, having finished out the regular conference schedule with a record of eight wins in the twelve league games in which they participated. Due to a loss by the Wolfpack of State earlier in the week to the Duke Blue Devils by a score of 12-4, the Pack eliminated itself from all possible chance of tying the Tigers. The Terps of Maryland still have an outside chance of tying Clemson even though the former has finished out its regular season schedule with a record of six wins in ten contests. Due to two rainouts against State and Duke early in the season, the men from College Park can deadlock the league race by sweeping the pair of remaining games from the Pack and Devils.

In the first annual A.C.C. track meet held last week, the Maryland University team edged the Tar Heels of North Carolina for top laurels by the margin of less than two points. The Tar Heels held the lead down to the last event, but the

Edwards Sees State Improved In Play After Spirited Spring Drills

Earle Edwards, former end coach at Michigan State, has begun the rebuilding of North Carolina State's football fortunes and while there is evidence that the Wolfpack of 1954 will be improved over last year, Edwards is by no means a miracle man. Edwards assumed the reins of State football on Feb. 9 under a new three-year contract. Spring practice concluded on April 24 with the annual Red-White intra squad game.

The first task of the new regime was to install a new system of attack, which is based on the Michigan State-style of play, commonly called a "multiple offense." The system is devised to use the best features of three formations—i.e. single wing, double-wing and T-formation, which operates from the unbalanced line. Last year the Wolfpack utilized the split T.

During the Spring drills Edwards and his crew of assistants—Al Michaels, former backfield coach at Penn State, Carey Brewbaker, former head coach at Durham (N. C.) High, Pat Pepllar, former head coach at East Lansing (Mich.) High and Bill Smaltz, former head coach at Juniata College at Huntingdon, Pa.—worked hard at teaching the Terps copped the mile relay; while the U.N.C. men could do no better than a fifth place in this event. Thus the Maryland team retained its right to track leadership in this area, having also won the Southern Conference meet of last year.

The golf tournament was also held last week, and the Duke University squad copped the team title by a margin of ten strokes over their nearest rival. The individual crown, to nobody's surprise went to Arnold Palmer, the great amateur from Wake Forest. The play had to be cut short due to the bad weather which bothered the golfers.

This same bad weather cut short the tennis tournament to such an extent that it had to finally be called off all together. There is very little doubt in anyone's mind who had followed the results of the A.C.C. tennis matches this year that the Tar Heels of Chapel Hill would have copped the team title in the tournament. However, it would have been interesting to see just which men would have done what in the tourney. But this we will never know since due to the lack of time left in the season, the rest of the matches cannot be made up and therefore there will be no A.C.C. tennis champion crowned this season. However, since North Carolina bested all league opposition which came its way this season, they will have to be considered as the class of the loop.

THE Dorm Corner

By Jerry Armstrong

The rugged softball playoffs started this week between the "quadrangle champions," Becton No. 1 and 2, Bagwell No. 1 and Berry. This has the making for something in the potent line of a Yankee-Dodger series with the Dodgers favored.

Softball Playoff Games

The Berry-Becton No. 1 game proved to be one of many and varied circumstances for both the teams and the umpires. The Becton boys' first inning almost proved to be a moral victory for them when Overton slammed a grand slam homer into the creek with one out. Action continued in the first frame when Berry's lead off man, Armstrong, cracked a long drive over the left fielder's head and attempting to score ran over the three base coach and was called out at home plate. This was the first rhubarb of the game and was quickly put down by the "official." Parks, Becton's ole man of the mound, started the second inning action off by lining out a single to pace the way for three more runs to score. Berry's half of the inning broke the "scoring ice" for them when pitcher, Bert Weeks, smashed out a homer down the left field line. With the score 7-1 at the end of two innings, the Berry "Sportmen" unloaded seven big runs on six hits and a walk, to go ahead 8-7 in the third. The game going into the last inning with Berry ahead 8-7 seemed to be iced, but three walks, a single and a two run error gave the Bectonites the victory 10-8. Berry

The Story Of A Real Champion

By Jerry Armstrong

Several years ago an incident happened in Norfolk, Virginia, which was the beginning of one of the most colorful pages in North Carolina State College sports history.

It started one day during a track team practice at Granby High School, in Norfolk, as a tall lean blackhaired looking youth was deeply engrossed in watching the runners stride around the track in preparation for the coming meet. He suddenly got the idea that he would like to become a runner. The next day he asked his coach for a tryout. Much to his surprise, he quickly made the team and before long became a regular starter. All through his last two years of high school he worked hard at his new chosen career, always with his goal of becoming a better runner before him. His record at graduation wasn't an impressive one, but he was proud of it, even if he didn't win a race or score a point during his two years.

Leaving high school, he enrolled at the Norfolk Division of William and Mary and with dim hopes he went out for the track team. When the time came for the members making the team to be announced he could hardly believe it, there was his name on the list. He worked hard during his first year on the practice field trying to improve his ability. Many long hours of workouts in running, taking exercises, and pacing with the time watch soon showed him the way to his first success. When he finished his two year stay at the Norfolk Division his records had changed greatly from his high school days. His two year records, some of which still stand today, included 12 out of 13 races won and new school time records in the half-mile, one-mile and two-mile events.

He transferred to State College in the fall of 1951, unknown and unnoticed. His first year of cross-country was a new experience for him and he had all kinds of trouble in adapting himself to the unaccustomed four-mile course. One of the turning points in his track career happened during this first season of cross-country and he contributes it to his coach, Tom Fitzgibbons, who was one of the most successful track coaches ever to field a team at State. Fitzgibbons introduced him to a new style of running, a short pace style with relaxed timing, which he accredits as his key to success. During the first season of cross-country running he finished seventh in the state, eighth in the Southern Conference, and one hundred and second (102) in the National Cross-Country meet. Winter track rolled around and his new style was improving greatly. At the indoor conference meet in Chapel Hill he finished just a few paces behind State's great miler, Clyde Garrison. By springtime there was nothing to stop him and he won the conference mile event in almost a new State College time.

His second year at State (1952) will long be remembered by the sports fans of the Wolfpack and the track teams of the Southern Conference. The State Harriers were the dreaded team for the members of the opposition that year mainly because of two strong runners, Clyde Garrison and Joe Shockley, who had been the leaders of the conference the year before. Little did anyone expect what was to happen during the first dual meet race of the cross-country season. State won the meet with ease with Garrison and Shockley tying for honors, but first place was a three-way tie with a new comer also sharing the spotlight. Throughout the season a familiar scene began to appear more and more at the finish line of each race. Garrison, Shockley and a tall thin blackhaired boy, who with effortless motion and stride was becoming the climax of the home stretch drive for State. State at the season's end won the Southern Conference Cross-Country Dual Meet Crown with a perfect record and top honors for first place were divided among State's new "Terrible Trio" of Garrison, Shockley, and the new-comer. The conference cross-country race was held at the University of Richmond that year and the course was supposed to be one of the toughest in the conference. The race started with about sixty of the top conference runners and was expected to be an individual race between State's Garrison, who won the race the previous year, and Richmond's Jordan. Jordan took an early lead in the race followed close behind by Garrison and the new-comer. Only about a mile remained in the race and Jordan still held a fifty-yard lead, but then the new-comer from State suddenly came to life. His familiar effortless motion and grace which had been witnessed so often during the season action soon challenged Jordan and proved to be more than the "Richmond Flash" could stand and he was soon lost in the distance as the unknown harrier from State flashed across the finish mark—the winner in a shattering new conference record time of 20.43. This record still stands today and was only the first of many records to come for the "Sprinting Ghost" from State.

In the three seasons that followed, he ran twice more in the National Cross-Country Meet in East Lansing, Michigan, finishing in ninth and seventh places. Both places won him a medal for being among the top fifteen runners in the nation and also gave him the distinction never before attained by a State runner. During his last season of Spring track he won the Southern Conference two-mile championship crown leading a field of runners by forty yards and again came in first place with Garrison in the conference one-mile event. His two year record of twenty-four wins and three defeats is a State College record in the mile events. The climax of his great career came his last year of cross-country which was the last season he was eligible to compete because of the transfer rule of the conference. He was elected captain of the team and also coach because of the vacancy left by the leaving of Tom Fitzgibbons. His last year was the first for the new Atlantic Coast Conference and the championship of the conference was determined by the dual meet records. He took his team into four meets that year and set an example which was comparable for any captain. All four of the dual meets he ran in turned out to be individual races with himself as he broke the State College time record in every race and push-

TODAY'S QUIZ

WHAT MAKES A LUCKY TASTE BETTER?

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

A Lucky tastes better for two important reasons: 1. Lucky Strike means fine tobacco...light, mild, good-tasting tobacco.

2. That tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' fine tobacco... makes it taste even better—cleaner, fresher, smoother.

That's why a Lucky tastes better. And naturally, better taste is why thousands of college students prefer Luckies to all other brands.

So, enjoy better taste. Be Happy—Go Lucky!

Kappa Sig Cops Frat Track Meet

Kappa Sig's experienced track team captured three first places, set two new records, placed in all but two events, and massed a total of twenty-six points as they swept to an impressive victory in the annual fraternity track meet last Tuesday night under the lights on the college track field.

new system. Most of the time was spent on perfecting the offense and to a lesser degree teaching defense.

The Red-White game developed several improvements over last year, principally in fundamentals, blocking and tackling. Offensively the Red team, which won by 34-0 over the White squad, looked good, but neither the Red or White squad turned in anything impressive in the way of defense. Although the White team failed to score, it gained appreciable ground.

Several newcomers are certain to play a big part in the 1954 play. Quarterback Billy Franklin of Farmville, Va. turned in an excellent job at quarterback and shows promise of becoming a capable passer. Eddie West, who held the job regularly last year, was unable to participate in the Spring game because of a shoulder injury sustained in the final game of last season. West and Franklin should be the top quarterbacks next season.

Other backs who were impressive in the Spring game were Fullback Don Langston, Halfbacks Bill Teer and Ed Gelsdorf, Ted Kilyk and John Zubaty. Langston should be one of the best backs in the Atlantic Coast Conference next year. He has led the team in rushing for the past two years and his up-coming senior season should be his best. He is the fastest man on the team and has plenty of hitting power.

Two backs who did not play in the Spring game should be key men in next season's plans. Halfback Monte Seehorn was kept out with an ankle injury, but he had been one of the leaders in early drills. Harrison MacKeever, a rising soph. can be of extensive value as Langston's understudy at fullback. He hits hard and has speed.

The line has capable lettermen returning from last year, but not much depth. Several players were unable to play in the Spring game, including All-State Guard Al D'Angelo, perhaps the best lineman on the squad, who was out with a broken arm. D'Angelo, Soph. Darrell Dess, Seniors Bud Davis and Jim Frazier, converted fullback Mike Nardone and John Szuchan should handle the guards. John Bagonis, who was out of school last year, is due to return. This perhaps is the strongest line post. The tackles are a bit questionable. C. M. Price and Ben Kapp look like the leaders with capable support from Tony Leone, Hank Spivey, Ken Urgovitch and Bob Dunnigan. Each has had experience and should be improved. The center and end positions are problems. Only Dick Tonn has seen much service at the pivot of the line and his replacements are question marks. Four capable ends were graduated last year and the ranks are thin this season. Harry Lodge and Henry Brown are the lettermen with Bob Becker and John Lowe rated next in line.

That the overall picture is improved over 1953 does not indicate that there will be any great improvement in the won-lost record. The opposition appears to be equally as rough as last season with such teams as Maryland, Duke and West Virginia due to be national powers, a tagline certainly not due to be State's lot in 1954. Wake Forest, North Carolina, Virginia Tech and William and Mary probably will be heavy favorites over the Wolfpack with only three clubs, Richmond, Florida State and Furman rated perhaps on a par with State.

Much will depend on the progress made during early season practice in September and in early contests before any real judgment can be made of the caliber of State's 1954 team.

now meets Bagwell No. 1, loser of the other first round game, and Becton No. 1 clashes with Becton No. 2 in the winners' bracket.

Bagwell's No. 1 "Dragnets" outfit but failed to outscore the team from Becton No. 2 in a 7-4 first round game of the playoffs. Bagwell took the lead in the first inning by the score of 2-1 on consecutive hits by Seamon and James. The second inning proved to be the deciding one of the game when Becton broke the game wide open on five hits, two walks and two errors to unload five big tallies and push into the lead for the inning and the remainder of the contest. Bagwell pushed two more runs across in the second in a losing effort as the "Upper Bectons" scored again in the final frame to clinch the victory 7-4 and moved into the winners' bracket.

Badminton

The playoffs in the badminton series saw Syme No. 2 go down to defeat at the hands of Becton No. 2 by the best two of three matches being hauled in by Keyt, Sutherland and Lineberger of Becton.

ed the State Harriers to their third straight conference cross-country title. His final time of 20:50 is now the record for State College in cross-country.

The saying that every champion has his day of glory is fitting here and to the "Sprinting Ghost" came the plaque presented to him by the team he captained to victory. He received the gold plaque, looking with his usual calm manner down at the inscription, which read . . . BUZ SAWYER, Coach and Captain.

Individual scoring honors for the evening was shared by three men; Honeycutt, Sigma Nu, first in broad jump and second in 440 yd. run; Broome, PKA, first in shot and second in discuss; and Cameron, SAE, first in discus and second in shot. They each had a total of eight points.
