Class of '57 Is Biggest For Engrs

Engineering enrollment in the freshman class at North Carolina State College School of Engineering is at an all time high according to a statement made recently by Dr. J. H. Lampe, dean of engineering at the college.

In a record breaking class of 1,512 students classified as freshmen, 837, or more than half, are enrolled in the School of Engineering.

Dean Lampe comments on the unprecedented enrollment of freshman engineers by saying, "It is a source of real pleasure to me and to the School of Engineering that we are given a growing opportunity to train North Carolina's engineers of tomorrow."

According to registration in fields of engineering more students chose mechanical engineering with civil engineering running a close second.

Notable increases have come in chemical engineering and nuclear engineering enrollments.

Enrollment by departments is: ceramic 5; chemical 64; civil, including construction 226; electrical 193; geological 12; industrial, including furniture manufacturing and management 68; mechanical, including heating and air conditioning and aeronautical 237; and nuclear engineering 32.

In the overall enrollment the School of Engineering has registered 1,925 of the 4,055 total registration at the college.

Pershings Rifles to Perform On Sat.

The Pershing Rifle team, under the command of Cadet Captain Roy E. Congleton, will participate in the homecoming parade tomorrow. The parade will begin at Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium and will end at the Stadium.

They will also put on a four minute demonstration of precision marching movements during the half time festivities of the game with William and Mary. They will serve as honor guards for Miss Wolfpack, who will be introduced during halftime.

The Pershing Rifle team is a crack drill unit made up of outstanding sophomores and freshmen.

Attention Vets

Geologists Attend Shelby Meeting

Six members of the teaching staff in the department of geological engineering took part in the annual meeting of the Carolina Geological Society in Shelby October 24 and 25.

Attending the meeting were: Dr.

J. L. Stuckey, head of the department; Dr. J. M. Parker, III; W. G. Steel; and C. E. Howard and E. C. Nixon, graduate students.

A group of students in geological engineering were present at the event.

W. G. Overstreet of the U. S. Geological Survey delivered the main address. Field trips and panel discussions completed the program of the two-day session.

Miss Wolfpack

President Gray and Trustees Tour Campus With State Student Leaders

Trustees of the Consolidated University of North Carolina studied the far-reaching functions of North Carolina State College and toured the dormitory area and other sections of the campus during a recent visit.

They were the second group of trustees to participate in an orientation program initiated by President Gordon Gray, who accompanied the trustees to Raleigh from Chapel Hill, where they spent a day observing and touring the operations and facilities of the University of North Carolina.

Chancellor Carey N. Bostian greeted the visiting group in his Holladay Hall office and discussed the State College's goals, functions, and achievements in a brief address.

Student welfare at State College claimed a major share of the trustees' attention. They met with student leaders and toured the student housing areas on the campus. This part of the program was arranged by J. J. Stewart, director of student housing at the college.

Heading the student leaders who met with the trustees was Billy Barnes Oliver of Selma, president of the State College Campus Government.

An inspection trip to the college's nuclear reactor, the world's first college-owned facility of its kind and the first open without restriction to the public, also was on the agenda. Dr. Clifford K. Beck, head of the college's Physics Department, explained the functioning of the reactor for the group.

The trustees also observed the College Union Building, now nearing completion on Hillsboro Street, and heard a talk on agricultural research projects by Dr. Stanley G.

Bigger Crew To Chase Dorm Dirt

Five more janitors have been assigned to the dormitory cleaning staff and seven additional men are available if and when needed.

The improved service resulted from meetings of Mr. Rorie, Superintendent of Buildings, and all dormitory building managers. Campus Government also had a committee investigate the cleaning situation after numerous reports were received that the dorms were not being cared for as well as last year.

Dormitory cleaning was handled by Mr. Jack Stewart, Director of Student Housing, last year but during the summer the job was transferred to the Campus Engineers office. Reductions in the cleaning staff were made which resulted in poor cleaning service.

Mr. Rorie expressed his appreciation to the building managers for meeting with him and said that he will endeavor to give good service at all times.

Frosh Exec Offices To Be Filled Soon

Nominations for the freshman executive offices will open Nov. 2 at 12 noon and close Nov. 6 at 3 p.m. The offices open for nominations are: president, vice president, secretary and treasurer. A student may nominate himself by going by Dean Talley's office in the basement of Holladay Hall and signing the list of nominees.

Campaign posters are restricted to bulletin boards and must be taken down 24 hours after election.

Rocket Expert Ley To Speak Nov. 6

Dr. Willie Ley, a leading world authority on rockets, space ships, man-made satellites and interplanetary travel, will speak in Pullen Hall on Friday, November 6, at 8:00 P.M.

Dr. Ley has brought the conquest of space within man's reach in our time. As detailed in his many books, writings, and lectures, we now have the information and the engineering skill to realize without delay a revolution in rapid transport and to create interplanetary bodies for the advancement of travel, communications, and scientific research. His lectures tagger the imagination and provide a new dimension in audience excitement and entertainment.

Willie Ley was born in Berlin in 1906, studied at the Universite of Berlin and Konigsberg in East Prussia, concentration on paleontology, astronomy, and physics. He was, from his early high school days, fascinated, not only by all aspects of scientific fact, but by the history behind scientific discoveries. He had planned to be a geologist until he became interested in theoretical work being done on rockets and space travel. In 1927 he became one of the founders, and later Vice President, of the German Rocket Society. After Hitler's advent in Germany, Willie Ley left for an extended vacation in England, came to America in 1935 and is now an American citizen.

In this country, Dr. Ley has been science editor of New York newspapers, a research engineer for the Washington Institute of Technology and consultant to the Office of Technical Services of the Department of Commerce. He is a contributor to many scientific and popular publications, including "Look," "Saturday Evening Post," "Collier's," "Natural History," and many others. His many books include: Days of Creation, The Conquest of Space, and Rockets Missiles, and Space Travel. He is a technical advisor to a television series, and is in great demand for his popular treatment of profound subjects, as lecturer with both professional and lay audiences.

Admission will be by registration cards for students, and College Union membership cards for the faculty and staff, with dates and wives admitted free. Otherwise, admission will be $1.50 per person.

Dr. Ley is sponsored by the College Union Forum Committee. There will be a coffee hour after the event.

BSU Convention Stars NCS Choir

Approximately 1,200 Baptist students from forty colleges will gather in Winston-Salem next weekend for the annual Baptist Student Union Convention. The opening session will begin at 7:30 Friday evening. The convention will end after the morning worship service on Sunday morning. All sessions will meet in the First Baptist Church. As in the past, the meeting will be interracial.

The program will be built around the theme, "Worship and Work." Worship, discussion and fellowship will be the main activities of the weekend.

The sub-divisions of the theme will be presented by Dr. Nels Ferre of Vanderbilt University and Dr. John Oliver Nelson of Yale Divinity School. Other program speakers will include Dr. Emily Lansdale, president of Carver School of Missions and Social Work, and Dr. Roger Crook, Meredith College Department of Religion. Approximately twenty-five faculty members, laymen, student workers and pastors will lead small discussion groups.

Anne Tunstall, a major in Botany here at State College and president of the North Carolina Baptist Student Union, will preside at the sessions of the convention.

A highlight of the program will be the North Carolina BSU Choir, composed of sixty singers from twenty colleges. The choir, organized only this summer, is directed by F. D. Soloman, a sophomore in M.E. here at State College. State College students selected to sing in the choir are Dick Johnson, Wesley Brown, Kenneth Vaughan, Eugene Biggerstaff, Charles Kirk, Donel Kelley, Bobby Capps, Vaughn Crabb and Willis Derden.

State College students wishing to attend the convention must register in the BSU office in Pullen Hall not later than November 1. The registration fee is $1.00. Students will be entertained in private homes in Winston-Salem. Total costs for the convention, outside transportation and registration fee, should not exceed expenses for a normal weekend on campus.

2,318 Speeding Arrests in Sept.

State Highway Patrolmen arrested 2,318 Tar Heel motorists for speeding in September making a nine month total of 20,670 speed law violators apprehended by the patrol.

Driving without an operator's license followed closely in the list of violations reported by the patrol for September. It came to 1,198 with reckless driving in third place with 694.

The three violations customarily head the list of motor offenses reported monthly by the Highway Patrol.

The report further revealed the following miscellaneous violations: faulty equipment, 747; failing to stop for stop sign, 647; improper passing, 393; improper lights, 334; driving on wrong side of the road, 221; following too closely, 201; and failing to give the right-of-way, 191.

Combined the September figures made a total of 7,372 North Carolinians found guilty of moving violations. Out of state offenders added another 1,211.

EDITORIAL COMMENT:

THE EDITOR SAYS:

Local Paper Unfair To State

An article in the News and Observer last week concerned the actions of several State College students at one of the fair side shows.

The story was written in such a way as to cast considerable discredit on the students.

The style was that used by News and Observer reporters when reporting on wife beatings, executions or other events at State prison and State College student doings.

In this particular case the students appear to have deserved no better treatment than they got and the style of writing used may be what most News and Observer readers want.

But we can't understand why it is necessary to report only the disreputable doings of a small percentage of the student body and never the affairs in which the majority indulge. We admit that panty raids and such probably have more news value but one in a while, just for a change, we would like to see a story on a dance in the Coliseum or a church supper meeting or a hike in Hanging Rock Park.

In closing we hope that if the News and Observer does not have a phobia about State College students that they will scout around and find another whipping boy.

Letters To The Editor

Last night I gazed into my crystal ball and quickly covered it, terrified by what was revealed to me in one brief glance.

I saw an impending holocaust brought on by mankind himself who in his rapid technical advancement did not learn soon enough how to get along with his fellowman.

I saw a great leader who was aware of impending catastrophe and wanted to warn his followers. I saw his one effort at warning reduced to futility by economy-minded colleagues who threw a screen of confusion around his warning.

I saw an apathetic nation. One that had a consuming interest in the winners of athletic contests and the means of extricating a fictitious baby from a drainpipe, but uninterested in measures that could be taken to defend themselves against impending extermination. Reality was not recognized.

I saw a civilization's progress of many centuries eradicated by one grave error.

I then smashed my crystal ball and tried to go to sleep. Sleep would not come. Philo

Student Body 80% Carolinians

North Carolinians make up slightly more than 80 per cent of the current enrollment at North Carolina State College.

This was reported recently by the college's Office of Registration, which said the student body of 4,061 includes 3,272 Tar Heels, 637 from other states, 144 from foreign countries, and eight from United States territories.

All but one of North Carolina's 100 counties have representatives in the student body. In addition, there are students from 36 other states, the District of Columbia, 42 foreign countries, and four United States territories.

Wake County, with 357 students, led the other North Carolina counties in the enrollment breakdown. Other counties sending more than 100 students to State College this term included Guilford and Mecklenburg, with 164 each, and Forsyth, with 128. Mitchell County this term does not have a student registered at the college.

New York topped the out-of-state enrollment, with 149 students. Virginia was second, with 115.

Veterans Meet

The first meeting of State College war veterans (Korea and World War II) was held on Oct. 21, in the Y.M.C.A. Auditorium. This assembly was called in order to find out whether they wished to organize into an association, such as the World War II veterans had on the campus.

At this discussion many beneficial suggestion, as to the aims and endeavors of this new fellowship, were aired.

A few veterans met later in the week to plan a new constitution. Their views were all in favor of aid to the college and spirit where possible.

The next organized meeting will be held on Nov. 4 at 7:00 p.m. in the Y.M.C.A. Auditorium. Every veteran is urged to attend.

THE Dorm Corner

BY JERRY ARMSTRONG

In full accord with the grievances caused, I would like to apologize for the mistake in last week's corner report. The Becton No. 2 football team was charged with losing a forfeit game to Berry's "Huskies." This game should have been won by Berry on forfeit from Owen No. 2 instead of Becton No. 2. Opportunity sometimes knocks on the door in strange ways some say and this seems to be one of those cases. Becton No. 2 shouldn't only be given credit for this mistake lost, but also their overall athletic record this year is probably the best on campus in the dormitories. The Becton boys under the fine leadership of athletic director, Otis Terrell, have amassed a string of perfect records in football, volleyball, and tennis.

Gridiron

Becton No. 2 overpowered an unorganized Berry team by the score of 13-0. The passing of Reeves was the standout of the game and completely surpassed the defenses of the "Huskies." In the first part of the game Becton took an early lead by via of a pass play from Reeves to Sherril, which was good for the first tally. Nye, Sherril, and Reeves combined to pave the way for the final score as the Becks moved the length of the field on successful first downs.

The "Dragnets" of Bagwell No. 1 proved to be the highest scoring unit last week by downing the boys from Welch-Gold-Fourth 25-0. Bagwell started the scoring parade on the third play of the game when Ed Hill tossed a short pass to Craig Barnhardt who found a hole in the defense and went fifty yards for the score. A second tally came when Bill Hawkins intercepted a pass and scored with a thirty yard gallop. With a few remaining minutes in the first quarter, the "Dragnets" added their third score when a pass play from Hill to John Hame connected. No scores were made throughout the second and third periods, but a final one came in the fourth, when Hill again connected with a touchdown toss to Joe Pearson.

Tucker No. 2 and Syme had the most unusual game of the week as both teams finished in a 6-6 deadlock. A winner is determined in a case like this by giving the win to the team having the most first downs. Syme won the game three first downs to Tucker's two.

Tennis

Tennis moved right along this week with two more teams being eliminated. Berry was put out by Becton No. 2 and Owen No. 2 by Tucker No. 2. The tennis championship this year will be determined by eliminating all the teams except the remaining ones who will compete in the double elimination championship tournament.

Volleyball

Becton No. 2 team continued to move along the victory path by taking an easy victory via a forfeit over Alexander No. 1.

The "Big Boys" of Jim Causby took their third consecutive win last week, 15-12 and 15-10, over Tucker No. 1. The Syme team played with only five men but these proved to be quite enough to gain the victory.

Craig Barnhardt's Bagwell "Dragnets" had too much of a Alexander No. 2 team on their backs in their match last week as they lost the best two out of three matches, 2-15 and 5-15.

McDade's Berry "Huskies" bounced back from last week's defeat by taking the boys from Bagwell No. 2, 15-2 and 15-5. Godfrey,

Pro Grid Roundup

BY MIKE JACOBUS

Last weekend's professional football teams played a full schedule of six games and next week marks the half way point in the season for the "play for pay" gridders. Otto Graham and the Cleveland Browns appear to be headed for their eighth consecutive Eastern Division Championship. They struggled through ankle deep mud to overcome the New York Giants by a 7 to 0 margin. An unusual happening in that Lou "The Toe" Groza missed a field goal attempt when the Giants were off side enabled the Browns to score the only touchdown of the contest. The Browns under the direction of Stanfield, Kurdi, and Taylor were the outstanding players for the Berry squad.

Coach Paul Brown are unbeaten in five games and hold a full game lead over the second place Pittsburgh Steelers who won over Green Bay on Saturday, 31 to 14. The Detroit Lions hold a slim lead in the Western Division. They rallied from a 10 to 0 deficit at halftime to best the San Francisco Forty Niners 14 to 10. Los Angeles beat the hapless Chicago Bears 38 to 24 in Los Angeles. The Philadelphia Eagles romped over the Cardinals of Chicago 56 to 17 to administer the worst defeat the Cards have ever been handed in National League history.

In other games the Baltimore Colts, newcomers to the pro league, played excellent ball in handing the Washington Redskins their second loss. With an enthusiastic home crowd looking on they rang up a 27 to 17 score.

Next week the Lions meet the Los Angeles Rams in the game that could decide the winner of the Western Division and also determine who will meet the Cleveland Browns, who seem to be a sure thing to lead the Eastern Division.

LATEST COLLEGE SURVEY SHOWS LUCKIES LEAD AGAIN!

Last year a survey of leading colleges throughout the country showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette.

This year another nation-wide survey — based on thousands of actual student interviews, and representative of all students in regular colleges — shows that Luckies lead again over all brands, regular or king size... and by a wide margin! The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better.

Smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste, and the fact of the matter is Luckies taste better — for 2 reasons. L.S./M.F.T. — Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. And Luckies are made better to taste better. So, Be Happy — Go Lucky!

From a national standpoint, the biggest game of the grid season to date was the contest of last week between Notre Dame and Georgia Tech. This was a battle of two undefeated elevens. Both teams have had excellent records in recent years and thus to the majority of the nation's football enthusiasts this was truly a dream football game. Notre Dame entered the contest a one touchdown favorite and the fact that they came out on top by thirteen points was to many people who witnessed the game only incidental.

During the second quarter of play the coach of the fighting Notre Dame eleven, Frank Leahy was stricken with a severe case of muscle tightening and subsequently collapsed in front of all of his players. This collapse of their almost legendary coach moved the hearts of every Notre Dame player from All American Johnny Latner right down to the lowest substitute on the team. All the Irish players thought that their coach had been stricken down with a heart attack. The team went into an immediate coma and was lucky indeed to go off the field at the half in front by a 7-0 margin.

The scene in the Irish dressing room at the half was a ghastly sight to behold. There on a table in the middle of the room lay coach Frank Leahy writhing in agonizing pain with the Notre Dame doctor working over him in an effort to alleviate the ever present agony. All the Notre Dame players were in tears. They did not know what was going to happen to their revered coach and teacher and what is more important their friend. The coach was fully conscious throughout this ordeal and after a few minutes Leahy motioned for the captain of the Notre Dame squad to come over and have a few words with him. After talking to Captain Penza for a few minutes the call was summoned for the Irish team to take the field for the second half of play against the powerful Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech. The Notre Dame athletes took the field crying like five year old children. They forgot their simple pass patterns and Tech marched for an immediate touchdown to tie the score at 7-7. This was indeed the crucial moment of the game and perhaps the season for the followers of the Notre Dame eleven. Would the "fighting Irish" fall apart because of the tragic attack which befell their coach or would they pull themselves together and go on to muster together all their football savy and win this game for their ailing mentor. Well almost everyone knows that the Notre Dame eleven went on to win the game from Tech by a 27-14 score. However the most important thing that the Irish followers have to be thankful for is the recovery of their coach without whose guidance this victory would never have been achieved.

Soccer Team

The varsity soccer team, which is having another successful season under the capable coaching of Mr. De Groat lost a game last Saturday to a very strong and experienced Maryland team by a count of 4-0. The team had previously tied Duke and Carolina and had lost a contest to Roanoke College. The soccer teams needs the support of the students here at State College. The home games are played down on the baseball field and they are almost always very hard fought and exciting. If some of you students want to watch some thrilling sports competition, a visit to the soccer field to see the varsity or the freshman home games would be well worth your while.

Homecoming

This week is homecoming week-end at State College. The Wolfpack gridders will take on the William and Mary Indians here at Riddick stadium. Needless to say, the State squad would be grateful if as many of the students as possible came out to cheer the team on to a win. William and Mary has a very good team and State will be looking to get back into the win column after two straight losses to big four teams. The contest ought to be a good one from start to finish so let's get behind the team and spur them on to a victory over the Indians.

Unbeaten

Forty-four teams in the nation are unbeaten and untied through last week's football games. Of these teams there are only four that may be considered "football powers." These are Maryland, West Virginia, Baylor, and Notre Dame. Among the Giants who dropped from the ranks of the above last week were Georgia Tech, topped by the Fighting Irish and Michigan State who dropped a decision

Florida A. and M. is the only team that is unscored upon and they have held the foe from crossing their goal for five games. St. Olaf College has racked up 269 points in six games. This is an average of almost 45 points per game and that is just about good enough to win in any league.

Only $4.50?
Fantastic!

Walking away from the ruins of his flying saucer, the tiny creature opened his emergency kit. Peering into it with his middle eye, he beheld a stack of greenbacks, packs of chewing gum, and a sheet of instructions which read: "In this kit you will find everything you need to live as a college student. All college men wear clothes and chew gum. Buy clothes, chew gum constantly... and good luck!"

Scratching his left antenna with his lower left hand, he tore off half of a five dollar bill, popped it into his mouth, and scuttled into a nearby college shop. "Let's see your finest shirt," he squeaked.

The trembling clerk handed him a Van Heusen Oxfordian. "Gleeps, that's really a mimsy!", screeched the little fellow, feeling the luxurious Oxford fabric. "How much is it?"

"Only $4.50," quavered the clerk. "I have them in the smartest new colors... and white to boot. Plus roll collars, button-downs and new short collars."

"Only $4.50? Fantastic!", piped the creature. "I'll take one of each!"

Carefully he counted out twenty sticks of gum and laid them on the counter. "Keep the change," he chortled, putting the shirts under his middle arm. And munching merrily on a crisp ten dollar bill, he waddled out.
