Cheek Asks State Monogram Be Worn

President of the Student Body, "Doc" Cheek, asked the student body today to be more discreet in the wearing of monogram sweaters. He expressed the opinion that monograms of other colleges and of high schools worn by State men detracted from the honor and significance of the Red and White "S". He said that "the men wearing our monograms have earned the privilege and these men should be accorded alone the honor of wearing monograms on our Campus.

Student Government New Review Board

Due to lack of a quorum Monday, the Student Government did not have a meeting. There will be a meeting next Monday at 12 noon in the College Union Theater.

A Board of Review was elected at the Student Government meeting last week.

The Board is composed of the Dean of Student Affairs, one faculty member selected by the Legislature, two students selected by the Legislature from the student body at large, and one member of the Legislature elected by the Legislature.

Professor A. J. Bartley was elected as the Faculty member on the Board while Sam Harrell and O. M. Allbot were selected by the Legislature to represent the student body. Chosen to represent the Legislature on the Board Senator Bill Reavis (Soph.-Ed.) was elected by acclamation.

A delegate representing freshmen in the School of Agriculture, appeared before the Legislature to ask the Student Government to help in clarifying whether giving quizzes at night is technically legal.

It was pointed out by the delegate that several departments have been giving quizzes at night this year.

It was requested by the freshman delegate that the Student Government investigate the situation. The request was referred to the Welfare Committee.

President Cheek appointed Senator Bill Reavis (Soph.-Ed.) as a one-man committee to carry out the "Good Wife" diploma project again this year.

Austin Ramsey, senior in Textiles, was appointed to the Judicial Board to replace Fields Cobb who graduated last semester. The appointment was approved unanimously. L.C.D.

The Forum Committee is designed not only to bring prominent speakers to campus, but also to act as a sounding board for student opinion.

Regimental Compt.; Easy Company Wins

All of the companies performed in an excellent fashion and when the final results were totaled there was only an eight point spread between the scores of top and bottom companies.

E Company, commended by Cadet Major Charles E. Davis, was the winner of first place and was an excellent example of teamwork and precision in drill.

The placings of the remaining eleven companies as determined by the total number of points received were as follows: F Company, 2nd; A Company, 3rd; D Company, 4th; C Company, 5th; L Company 6th; K Company, 7th; M Company, 8th; H Company, 9th; I Company, 10th; G Company, 11th; and B Company, 12th.

Dept. Of Psychology Council HS Seniors

The fourth annual High School Senior Counseling Days will be held in the Department of Psychology at N. C. State College Saturday, March 5, and Saturday, March 12.

Plans for the two days of vocational guidance were announced yesterday by Dr. Harold M. Carter, director of the Psychological Clinic and associate professor of psychology at the college.

During the two days, Dr. Carter said, the Psychological Clinic staff will offer their services to high school seniors who want help in selecting the fields of training and work for which they are best suited.

The services include testing for the student's interests, intelligence, aptitudes and personality, as well as personal interviews and counseling.

Tea At The Lampe's

Dean and Mrs. J. H. Lampe gave a tea at their home, 305 Forest Road, Sunday afternoon in honor of the officers of student engineering organizations and staff members in the School of Engineering at North Carolina State College.

Approximately 60 persons, including the wives of the students and staff members and other guests, attended the event.

present an exhibition of the latest Latin American dances including the mambo and samba.

Five Hundred Attends College Union Play

As was scheduled, "The Would Be Gentleman" was performed in the Textile Auditorium last Friday night before a crowd of 500 students, their dates and faculty members.

Players Incorporated, working without curtains and dressing rooms, turned in a performance worthy of Broadway. The ovation from the crowd plus the hearty laughter seemed to indicate how successful the play was.

In line with their plan of bringing fine entertainment to the students, the Theater Committee is sponsoring The Dublin Players from Ireland, March 11, performing G. B. Shaw's memorable "Pygmalion."

For those who missed the fine performance of "The Would Be Gentleman" there still remains a chance to enjoy an excellent play performed by an equally excellent group.

Graduate Lectures Planned For Today

John E. Ryan of the General Electric Company will present the second in a series of Graduate Lectures being sponsored by the Mechanical Engineering Department. The lecture will be given in Room 111 of the Broughton Building this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Ryan, whose topic is "Creative Engineering," was responsible in 1937 for organizing the GE Mechanical Design Course for outstanding young engineers, which later evolved into the Company's Creative Engineering Program.

He was graduated from Pennsylvania State University in 1934 with a B.S. degree in mechanical engineering, joining General Electric's Test Program immediately after his graduation.

At the present time, he is manager of engineering for the GE (Continued on page 7)

All decked out for the School of Agriculture's annual Barnwarming Dance, Miss Nancy Cocrane is crowned queen of the ball with a royal bonnet by Prof. H. T. Scofield. She was escorted by Justus Ammons. The dance was held in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium last Saturday night. Dave Brown and his Orchestra played for the dance.

Early Graduation; Exam Exemptions

The Administration Council of the College met Tuesday afternoon and approved the recommended plans for graduation. The plan had previously been discussed and approved by the Faculty Senate. The plan includes an early graduation set for May 29 and exemption from exams for seniors in courses in which they have a high average.

As the plans stand now, graduation will be divided into two sections. The morning session will include the Baccalaureate sermon and the conferring of Honorary and Doctor's degrees. A break is scheduled to follow this service until 2 o'clock when the six schools will meet in their respective places and award diplomas, having each senior walk across the stage to receive diplomas at which time he will be recognized if he has graduated with honors or high honors.

An open house will be held all day Saturday, May 28th in the College Union Building and a Chancellor's Tea will be held in the afternoon. That night an informal dance will be held in the Union Building for the graduating seniors.

The plan is going through on a trial basis only. Whether it will be continued in the coming years will depend on the response given it by the graduating seniors. It is the general feeling that there must be a good attendance at all of the functions and a general feeling of cooperation in order to assure continuance of the plan. Seniors will have to show an interest in making the commencement exercises something out of the ordinary and make it the most memorable occasion of their college career.

States' Enrollment Now 4,282 Students

North Carolina State College's spring semester enrollment stands at 4,282 students, the college's Registration Office reported Saturday.

Juanita Stott, assistant registrar, explained that the spring semester enrollment is one student larger than the fall semester registration and marks the second time since 1920 that State College has had a larger enrollment during its spring quarter or semester than its previous fall term.

A summary of the enrollment figures showed that there are 53 women and 4,299 men. Among those registering for the spring semester are 941 veterans of the Korean fighting, 108 new freshmen, and 125 students transferred. (Continued on page 10)

EDITORIAL COMMENT:

Lowering Student Morale?

Someone raised a question to the editor this past week asking why editorials concerning student gripes and other negative aspects of college life were not abandoned in favor of editorials on the better features of State College.

The suggestion following the discussion was that through editorial concentration on the better things of State Colleg, student morale would be raised and students would have a better opinion of the school and this in turn would give them more confidence in themselves and their education after graduation.

The man raising the question was sincere and obviously he had some very sound points. However, the TECHNICIAN is the mouthpiece of the student body and if it doesn't bring things that need correcting to the front, where else can students find something that will voice their complaints? Department heads, the administration, the trustees, and the governor, all receive the paper and this affords the student body representation as well as offering those men in responsible positions an inside knowledge of the campus, student affairs, and opinions.

Certainly the TECHNICIAN influences student opinion and what newspaper doesn't? The editorials aren't the absolute. Students and faculty members have the right to disagree. The right to disagree is our greatest heritage. The editorials are written in the hopes of answering question students have, of calling matters to their attention and speaking in a manner which reflects the majority opinion of the Student Body.

After this issue there will be twelve more TECHNICIANs and then there will be a new editor. He will be elected during the general campus elections by the Student Body. Consider what kind of editor you want. If you think student morale is being seriously lowered by the attitude reflected in many of the past editorials, then elect an editor who will be content to praise the college and its facilities. This year's editor cannot do that honestly when things are begging to be brought out of oblivion.

There are times when people and things should be editorialized in a praising manner but when a complaint needs to be aired along with a suggestion for correction, then that topic will fill these columns, at least for the next twelve issues.

This Year's Jr - Sr

In previous years the Junior-Senior Ring Dance has been the big State College dance. It has always been the formal dance looked forward to by both fraternity and nonfraternity men. It doesn't seem so this year. The dance has been planned for the same day as the Consolidated University Day at Woman's College.

It may be that he inspection trips were planned after the Dance date was set but it hardly seems likely as these trips are planned far in advance. It is a fact, though, that the Consolidated University Day was set long ago and is printed on the College Union Calendar, March 26. We need a closer union between the units of the Consolidated University and in this case it is completely flouted.

To add insult to injury, the dance has been planned for the College Union Ballroom which was proved to be inadequate at the Pledge Dance held by the IFC last December. The designers of the building say it is large enough for such a dance but don't you believe it! There can't be many decorations because the Union is very strict about such. If this wasn't enough against the date set, then consider that it will be too early to wear white dinner jackets, the formal wear owned by more State men than any other. Consider also that the effectiveness of the impressive traditional ring ceremony will be lost because you need to be above it to see it.

Of course the seniors don't have any voice in the dance for they had their say last year but they do have a right to a good dance. The officers of the Junior Class are possibly doing their best to give a good dance but from all reports it doesn't sound too good.

Entered as second class matter, February 10, 1920, at the post office at Raleigh, North Carolina, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Letters To The Editor:

Dear Mr. Parker:

I have just finished reading the editorial "Research or Educational Center?" in The Technician for February 10, 1955. I found this very interesting and stimulating. It seems to me that your question might very well form the basis of discussion among faculty and student groups. Apparently, there is a good possibility of having both research and teaching of high quality on the same campus, but I agree with the editorial that it probably will not happen accidentally.

To the Editor:

"IDC VOTE KILLS STUDENT DIRECTORY" This was the headlines of week before last week's TECHNICIAN. Since the reason for the Inter-Dormitory Council's action was not stated, it is our feeling that the students should know just why such action was taken.

The IDC was asked to donate $150 toward publishing a student directory. Having no direct income and being entirely dependent upon the Student Government for its funds, which are set forth in a budget at the beginning of each school year, it was felt that our budget should not be stripped for such a publication. Even though some surplus has been created from this year's IDC Ball and through careful management of our budget, this surplus is used toward helping any dormitory purchase a TV set. Having already purchased one set this year and foreseeing the possibility of another, it was felt that our budget would not allow us to donate $150 toward publishing a student directory.

We would like for the committee to know that we of the Inter-Dormitory Council would like an accurate directory as much as anyone, but student publications are not included in our budget. We are hopeful that next year's directory will be a worthwhile possession of every student at State College. Colbert L. Dilday President, IDC

EDITOR'S NOTE: The reason the IDC was approached was that it was felt that the Student Directory should be a cooperative effort on the part of all of the major campus organizations. Mr. Ivey agreed with the committee that the directory should be published by the students rather than one organization and under these terms (campus-wide cooperation) he agreed to underwrite the cost of publication not met through the contributing organizations.

Dick Fadgen Named To AAU All-America Team

Dick Fadgen, freshman swimming star at State College, has been named to the 1954 men's All-American team by the AAU selection committee.

Fadgen led the State College Athletic Association team to first place in the National AAU outdoor championships at Indianapolis last summer.

The committee named one swimmer for each event on the All-American team. Fadgen was named three times—in the breast-stroke, butterfly, and medley relay.

In the AAU outdoor championships Fadgen won the breaststroke, and butterfly and was a member of State's winning medley relay team.

Dick recently set a new U. S. swimming record for the 200-yard breaststroke against undefeated Michigan in a time of 2:26.5.

With the olympics coming up next year Fadgen should be one of the nation's leading contenders for a berth on the squad.

Textile School Cuts Mill Waste

A 50 per cent reduction in the waste resulting during the cotton carding process of textile mills has been made possible by processing techniques that were developed in a research study in the School of Textiles at State College.

Authorities, in announcing the research achievement yesterday, said the discovery will result in potential savings between $4 to $5 per bale on the 11 million bales of cotton processed in the United States each year.

Technical details on the study were reported by Prof. J. F. (Jack) Bogden, director of processing research in the college's School of Textiles, in a talk at the cotton research clinic of the National Cotton Council of America in Pinehurst yesterday morning.

The processing techniques were developed during a one-year research project sponsored at State College by six Southern textile mills—Avondale Mills, Sylacauga, Ala.; Burlington Industries, Greensboro; Textiles, Inc., Gastonia; Randolph Mills, Franklinville; J. P. Stevens Company, Greensboro; and Swift Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ga.

In a report given at the cotton research clinic in Pinehurst yesterday, Allen Bentley, vice president of the Swift Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ga., stated that application of the processing techniques worked out in the School of Textiles at State College has resulted in 1.54 per cent less cotton carding waste in his plant and that the estimated saving to his company alone would be $35,000 per year per 100 carding machines.

Before the development of the new processing practices, cotton mills had an average of a six per cent loss through carding waste, but this figure has been cut in half in the experimental study at the college.

Clerk: A bug, sir.

Traveler: (laying down the pen) I don't mind if you have bugs in this hotel, but when they come out to see which room you take—that's too much!

CAMPUS HEADLINES

The Duke Chronicle broke the sad news about a recently played basketball game this way: "Wolfpack squeaks past Devils." Yuk, yuk, yuk. Just a case of setting their sights high.

Not too long ago the Diamondback up at the University of Maryland announced: "Sorority rush week to begin Saturday." Heard about the wind blowing so hard that it mixed up the days in the week, but never knew 120 minutes could be squeezed into an hour.

The VMI Cadet front-paged the following news item just a couple of days ago: "Military editor will speak to corps on Friday." Maybe it's because dead men tell no tales.

From the University of Mississippi's Mississippian comes this two-column puzzler: "Doctor named Miss. Outstanding Young Man." And for all we know, he could have named him Christine.

And another Mississippi school newspaper, the Mississippi State College Reflector, came up with this front page startler the other day: "Army ROTC men will wear uniforms Tuesdays." Don't reckon they can bare it the rest of the week.

Famous Architect Lectures At State

Brian Hackett, senior lecturer in landscape architecture at the University of Durham in England and one of Great Britain's leading landscape architects, Tuesday began a month's assignment as a visiting lecturer in the School of Design at State College.

In announcing Hackett's arrival here, Dean Henry L. Kamphoefner of the college's School of Design said the English professor would work on special problems with advanced students in landscape architecture and architecture at N. C. State.

Hackett is editor of the Physical Planning Supplement, Architects Journal, London; is the public authority architect in London; and has served as a visiting lecturer in town planning at the Northern Polytechnic School of Architecture in London.

He also has been a visiting lecturer in landscape architecture at the Universities of Wageningen and Delft in Holland and at other well-known colleges and universities in England and Europe.

He has lectured on England's new towns for the British Broadcasting Company and is the author of 31 publications.

While at State College, Hackett will deliver two public lectures. He will speak in the auditorium of the Riddick Engineering Laboratories Building Monday, Feb. 28, at 8 p.m. on the topic, "The English Garden Tradition;" and will speak on Monday, March 7, at the same place and hour on the subject, "Landscape Design and the Present Economy."

Home Laundry Department in Louisville, Kentucky.

His professional affiliations include membership in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

The lecture is open to all students and faculty members.

WE'D LIKE YOU TO MEET -

David Howell Barrett, one of the most active students on the State College campus, one of State's top honor students, and certainly one of the most honored students on the campus.

Dave entered State in the Fall of 1951 as an out-of-state student, calling Atlanta, Georgia his home. He was born there April 22, 1934 and still calls the capital of the Peach State his home. He resides there when he is not at State with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Barrett.

Almost immediately after matriculating at State Dave entered into the Student Government activities of the campus. When elections for representatives were held in January, Dave's name appeared among those elected from the Engineering School. Each year thereafter Dave was re-elected until this past year. He now fills one of the all-important posts of member of the Judicial Board. Dave was Chairman of the Faculty Evaluation Committee his sophomore year, and a member of the Constitution Committee which was responsible for writing the new Constitution for Student Government last year. He was also a member of the Consolidated University Student Council last year and filled the post of Secretary-Treasurer. He was Chairman of the Engineering Honor Committee last year and had a part in the difficult job of trying to rebuild the College's Honor System.

Dave is a Senior in Civil Engineering. He has been an outstanding student and has participated actively in the activities within the department as evidenced by his membership in A.S.C.E. and his position of Regent (President) of Theta Tau last year. Dave has been a member of the honor fraternities of each class—Thirty and Three, Blue Key and Golden Chain. He is at present Arch-Regent (President) of Golden Chain and Vice-president of Blue Key. His outstanding average as a Freshman earned him a membership in Phi Eta Sigma, the Freshman Scholastic Honorary Society and again this year he was elected to Phi Kappa Phi, the organization which recognizes outstanding scholarship during a student's entire career at State.

The Army ROTC has a corner on Dave following his graduation this June, though he hopes to put off his commissioning long enough to get started in a job first. He is hoping to do graduate work, too, either here or at some other prominent Engineering school.

Dave's record speaks well for his work here at State. To describe him as an outstanding student would be an under-statement, for he has made many contributions to State which are hard to evaluate. Dave deserves all the credit given him and more, and, certainly, the respect of every one of his fellow students.

Herman Ward "Pop" Taylor, N. C. State's Director of Alumni Affairs. Pop is perhaps the best-known man on the State College campus to graduates who have scattered over the length and breadth of the U. S.

He originally hails from Magnolia, N. C. having been born there on June 6, 1900. Pop grew up in Magnolia and attended school there. He entered State in 1918, but due to a number of circumstances he dropped out of State after Christmas of his freshman year. His family moved to Tennessee for about a year and Pop went to Carson-Newman for a semester. Upon their return to Magnolia, he decided to finish high school having already attended two colleges. When he had done so, having acquired his nickname of "Pop" because of his age in high school, he returned to make an outstanding record while at State obtaining both a B.S. and M.S. in Agronomy. He was a member of Alpha Zeta, Phi Pappa Phi, Pine Burr, Golden Chain, the Ag Club, the YMCA Cabinet and the Monogram. He also found time to be manager of the college's first wrestling team, managing Editor of the Agriculturist, a debater and President of the Student Agricultural Fair. To top all this off, he partially supported himself during his time in college.

He worked in Pennsylvania for a year after he finished college but came back to North Carolina to a job as Assistant County Agent in Beaufort County. Pop held various Extension Service jobs, climaxing his work with the position of Marketing Specialist in 1940.

Pop made many contacts and saw many State College alumni in his travels with the Extension Service, so in 1942 when the College needed a full-time alumni secretary, Pop was a natural for the job.

During the past fifteen years of Pop's tenure, the number of Alumni clubs has increased from only about a dozen to 86 in North Carolina and 28 outside the state ranging from Texas to New England.

One of Pop's biggest jobs has been strengthening ties between the college and the alumni. He has produced a movie to show the college's growth and is continually speaking to groups about State. He has been instrumental in getting alumni behind the "Talent For Service" scholarships.

While living in Tarboro, Pop met Miss Ruth Elborn. They were married in August of 1929 and have two children. Taylor is a member of the Methodist Church and is a Steward of Edenton Street Church here. His enormous amount of traveling has kept him from hobbies, though he plays some golf.

Most of the State students of today will come to know Pop Taylor better after they leave State College, but they should recognize and appreciate the fine work that Pop is doing for the college now and will continue to do when we are among his alumni.

Brubeck March 8

Dave Brubeck and his Quartet will present a concert in Pullen Hall at State College Tuesday night, March 8, from 8 until 10 o'clock under the auspices of the Interfraternity Council. Plans for the event were announced yesterday by Andrew Hinton president of the council who said tickets to the concert are now on sale at the State College Union, the fraternity houses, and the dormitories, Norman's and Thiem's Music Shop. Brubeck is famous for his modern progressive jazz, which will make up his program at State. The concert is the I.F.C.'s first such concert and its success will determine if any other artists are brought to the campus under its sponsorship. In next week's Technician, Al Anthony will feature Brubeck in his "Musical Mobile" column. Minuteman: A fellow who double parks in front of a house of ill-repute.

STEP RIGHT UP FOR LUCKY DROODLES!

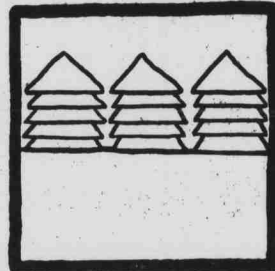

WHAT'S THIS? For solution see paragraph below. Droodle suggested by Robert Bardole, University of Florida.

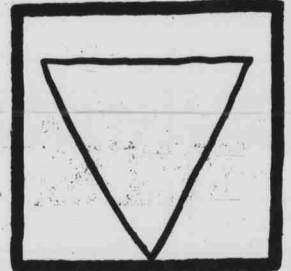

ENJOY YOURSELF to the hilt whenever you smoke. Simply light up a Lucky and get Luckies' famous better taste. Luckies taste better for good reasons. First of all, Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, mild, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. Now for the Droodle above, titled: Better-tasting Lucky smoke puffed by modern sculptor. Make a monumental discovery. Next time you buy cigarettes, try the better-tasting cigarette... Lucky Strike.

The AGR's attended the Barnwarming Dance last weekend for what was said to be a fabulous time. After the dance they returned to the house for refreshments. They plan an open weekend after the game this week. Also attending the Barnwarming dance last weekend were the boys from Farm House. Their plans for this weekend include attending the Saturday night game followed by formal initiation for four pledges Sunday.

The KA's entertained their brothers from Wake Forest this past weekend. The party took place at their house here. The troops from Sigma Pi went to the Carolina Hotel to join their brothers from Wake Forest last weekend. Tomorrow night they are having a party at the house, the theme being that of a "hayride." Saturday they are planning openhouse followed by a banquet and dance at the Sir Walter beginning at 6:30. After the dance they will journey back to the house for an early breakfast.

The Kappa Sigs had open house this past weekend. They plan to go to Durham this weekend for their annual district Conclave. While there, they will be entertained at a banquet and dance. The Phi Eps have big plans for this weekend when they have their "Parent's Weekend." With this goes a buffet supper Friday night at the house. Also they are going to initiate their new rumpus room called the "Phiskeller." Saturday night they will go to the Charcoal Steak House for a banquet and then to the game. After the game they plan to go back to the house to end a swell weekend.

The Phi Kappa Tau's had their general party last weekend. This Saturday night the senior officers are giving a party for the brotherhood. Earlier this week they pledged several men. The PiKa and SAM men had their regular parties last weekend after the game.

The SAE group had a party at their house this past weekend. They went to the game in a body and then back to the house. Their pledge emphasis week began this week with 14 pledges. The Sigma Chi's had a rush party last Wednesday night at their house. Saturday they went to the game and then returned to the house for a party. As a special feature they had a combo. Tonight the pledges are giving the brothers an annual party similar to an English Tea. I understand there will be two bags of tea.

The Sigma Nu men had an initiation last Friday followed by a Stag Party as a celebration. Sunday they attended morning Services at the Edenton Street Memorial Church to celebrate the national Sigma Nu Memorial Sunday to their war dead. The TKE's had a ship wreck party last weekend. Sunday they enjoyed an "Island Party" out in front of their house. The party consisted of playing cards on the Clark Avenue island. This weekend they are planning an informal party.

The Theta Chi group had a combined rushing and birthday party last Friday night. They were celebrating the birthday of one of the dates. Saturday they had their regular party. The Sig Eps had a party for their pledges Saturday night to celebrate the end of work week. Sunday they initiated eleven men. After the initiation they had a "new member—old member" banquet at Finche's Restaurant. The Pi Kappas had a Stag Rush Party last Friday night followed by a Drag Rush Party Saturday night. During the course of the evening, one of their members became pinned. They have plans for another rush party this Saturday.

From the IFC

The IFC released news on the Greek Week festivities which will begin March 7. They include an exchange supper and clothing drive during the week. Several committee meetings will be scheduled during the week with all fraternities joining ideas. Friday night (March 11) the Greeks will attend a banquet in a group.

Dean Stewart informed the IFC members at their meeting last Wednesday that the Board of Trustees have unanimously approved the Fraternity Row project.

Phi Ep Announcement

The members of the Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity wish to announce to all fraternity men that they will have open house in the near future for all State fraternity men. Watch this column for the date.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

He figures for the future

It's James Kirchhoff's job to look ahead. As a Plant Engineer with Illinois Bell Telephone Company, he helps estimate telephone equipment needs years in advance.

the equipment's potential plus forecasts provided him of the area's rate of development. He then makes a complete report that becomes the basis of plans for the future.

For example... when a new real estate development is in the planning stage, Jim figures how much telephone equipment it will need when it reaches its full growth. His estimate is based on his knowledge of Jim can take a look at his own future, too. In telephone engineering he can see a great many opportunities opening up in the next five years... ten years. He can pick the one he wants and start working toward it.

Jim graduated from Northwestern University as an E.E., class of 1952. His progress since then is typical of college men who have chosen telephone careers. If you'd be interested in a similar opportunity, see your Placement Officer for full details. There are also openings with other Bell telephone companies, with Bell Telephone Laboratories, or Western Electric and the Sandia Corporation.

Membership In CU All Students Belong

I should like to take this opportunity to clear up any misunderstanding which may exist concerning membership in the College Union. Every registered, resident student—and this includes graduate as well as undergraduate students—automatically becomes a member of the College Union when he pays the Activities fee at registration. The College Union membership fee is $7.50 per semester, and this is included in the Activities fee paid by the students at the beginning of each semester.

We do not have a special College Union membership card. A student's registration card is all that we require for a student and his date or family to be admitted free to all the plays, concerts, movies and other events sponsored by the College Union.

If you have any questions about College Union membership, please call extension 378 at the College Union Building, and we will be glad to answer them for you.

SQUARE CIRCLE

Photo fake: culture union got a nice photo layout in a recent issue of a local daily. Shots were all posed as is the custom in photo features of this nature. Standing out like a sore thumb, however, was the scene of the carpentry shop with six State College students armed with hammers, saws, and chisels and dressed in white shirts and ties.

Two-column ad in last week's newspaper gave some people the idea that the Technician is now in the real estate business. Fact is, however, Technician is only publication to carry this advertisement. Contest is being run for college affiliated personnel because developers desire to sell solely to this group. Jim Trogdon, civil engineering senior from Asheboro and also one of the owners says the sub-division will be incorporated as soon as its gets a name. Thus, the purpose of the contest.

Catching on: Carolina illiterates first referred to the campus sports palace as the "Cowliseum." Expression is now taking hold with State College students because of the stable dirt being spaded out in no uncertain terms to campus residents. Two seniors got front row seats only to find a line of chairs shoved in front just before game time. Verville citizen got the sticky end of the stick when he had to pay more for a date ticket for his better half than he paid for an out-of-town guest attending the same game.
