CU Presents Jazz; A Dixieland Concert

The College Union Music Committee will present for the first time in the history of the College Union a Dixieland Jazz Concert. The concert will consist of many assorted and varied artists in the field of dixieland music. The records have been donated by an anonymous friend of the College Union from his own private record collection. The number of people that turn out for the concert will determine whether or not to have any future concerts of this type. The concert will start promptly at 2:00 P.M. Sunday March 5, 1955.

New Library Building Dedication Saturday

Formal opening and dedicatory exercises for N. C. State College's new library building, valued at $1,250,000 including equipment, will be held Saturday, March 12, at 8 p.m., Library Director Harlan C. Brown announced yesterday.

The four-story structure, located at the intersection of Hillsboro and Pogue Streets, will be named in honor of the late Dr. Daniel Harvey Hill, State College's third president who headed the institution from 1908 until 1906.

Dedicatory speakers will include President Gordon Gray of the Consolidated University of North Carolina and Dr. Carey H. Bostian, chancellor State College. Col. J. W. Harelson, chancellor emeritus of State College and the library's archivist, will give recollections of Dr. Hill.

Brief remarks will be made by Director Brown, and the invocation will be spoken by Dr. James Sprunt, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Raleigh.

The present collection of the collection of the college library includes 142,264 books. It regularly receives over 1,500 magazines and periodicals and has a staff of 25 members.

The new building is 250 feet wide and 150 feet deep and has 1,234,446 cubic feet and 99,859 square feet of floor space. It has 70,021 linear feet of shelving and will accommodate 400,000 volumes. It will seat 900 persons.

A Sing Competition For All Fraternities

On April 29, 1955, a Sing Competition, open to all fraternities on the State College Campus, will be held. The event will take place in the College Union Auditorium at 8:00 P.M. Every fraternity is urged to participate in the friendly rivalry which is sponsored with the idea of furthering fraternal singing groups.

This contest, officially called the "Inter-Fraternity Sing," is sponsored each year by Pi Kappa Phi. A plaque is presented to the winning fraternity group upon which their Fraternity name and the year is engraved. The plaque is the property of the winning Fraternity for one year. If no Fraternity wins the contest four consecutive years, the plaque is retired to Pi Kappa Phi when full.

The groups may be anything from duets on up, each group singing at least two numbers.

Textile Open House Enormous Success

A group of several hundred high school students, textile mill executives, and other persons from throughout the State attended the annual "Open House" program of the School of Textiles at N. C. State College yesterday.

The visitors toured the school's facilities, valued at $1,500,000, and saw demonstrations of a wide range of textile processes including spinning, weaving, knitting, dyeing, and finishing.

Also on the program were a fashion show and an exhibition of Latin American dances.

Male and female models exhibited the latest in fashions and fibers during the afternoon fashion show. The models appeared on a specially-designed stage and were introduced by Richard W. Reed of Schuylkill Haven, Pa., who did the commentary for the event.

Following the show, the Arthur Murray School of Dancing presented a dancing exhibition featuring the rumba, tango, samba, and mambo. The dancing instructors were dressed in Latin American costumes appropriate to the dances during the exhibition.

Annual Greek Week Purpose: Help Others

The week of March 7th to 12th has been announced as the annual Fraternity-sponsored Greek Week. Chairman Gene Cocke released the schedule which the seventeen Fraternities will follow Tuesday, Monday (March 7) Clothing Drive for needy citizens of Raleigh conducted by the IFC in conjunction with the Wake County Welfare Association. 6:00 Exchange Suppers among Fraternities.

The complex machinery in the School of Textiles laboratories was in operation during the day-long program in order that visitors might get an insight into the various textile manufacturing processes.

Souvenirs were presented to all those making the tours.

The "Open House" was sponsored by the Tompkins Textile Society, a student organization headed by C. Douglas Blanchard. The "Open House" chairman was H. Robert Krook, Jr.

Arnold Air Society Sponsoring Contest

The Arnold Air Society is sponsoring the Republic Air Power award at State College for the school year of 1954-55. The final competition for the sterling silver bracelet will be held at the Society's Educational meeting of 17 March, at 7:30 P.M. in Room 11, Broughton Hall.

Cadet Captain Alex Anthony, the AAS Operations Officer, is in charge of the program. He has announced that the award will be made to the Air Science III cadet who can make the most effective presentation on air power theme from the viewpoint of projecting ideas, and gaining acceptance of his subject matter. Judges are to be disinterested State College Faculty members. Cadet Anthony also said that visitors to the meeting will be welcome.

The bracelet and a certificate issued by the Republic Aviation Corporation will be presented to the winner by Colonel William J. Jowdy, Professor of Air Science, at the Air Force ROTC annual Awards Day ceremony.

Mop-Up Monopoly Gets Vet's Attention

"That all education essentials merchandised in Student Supply Stores be on a cost plus operational expense basis" was the core of a resolution forwarded by the Veteran's Association to the Student Government for action.

The resolution, which was endorsed by Senator John Gregg (Sr. Tex), was brought before the Government by Bert M. Kalet, president of the Veteran's Association Monday.

Educational essentials were defined in the resolution to include text books, new and used, reference manuals, course reference books, drawing instruments and equipment, slide rules, paper, binders, fillers, and all items necessary or complementary to scheduled courses. Another provision was "that non-educational essentials may be merchandised at the des-cretion of the Student Supply Store management."

One provision that drew opposition from one S. G. member was that the "profits of the operations of the Student Supply Stores be allotted in the proportion of seventy-five per cent for grants-in-aid and twenty-five per cent to be disbursed by the Student Government for the betterment of student campus facilities.

Discussion Subject Quarter vs Semester

Opinion was sharply divided on the merits of the quarter system and the semester system in a C. U. sponsored panel discussion Monday night.

Faculty members of the panel were Professors Donald J. Rulfs, L. Walter Seegers, and John K. Whitfield. John Tester, and Ed Rose represented the student body on the panel which was moderated by Dave Brown.

"The system that we were on previously at State was not a quarter system nor a semester system; instead it was what you might call a half-breed system that combined both the quarter and semester system," Stated Professor Rulfs. "To me the semester system is superior to the previous system since more absorption is possible in the longer period during exams. The change over was very wise."

"I personally have had no experience with a true quarter system," said Professor Seegers. "When the school year has three exam periods, entirely too much time is spent on examinations," he continued. "Based on this, I believe the semester system to be more beneficial for the learning process."

"Since I attended State myself under the old system," spoke Pro-

Stud. Judicial Board Ten Cases In Feb.

During the month of February, the Student Judicial Board was confronted with ten cases of violations of the Honor and Campus Codes. There were seven cases of dishonesty on examinations; four men were acquitted because of reasonable doubt, two were found guilty and suspended until the Fall semester, and one man pleaded guilty. His penalty was an "F" on the course, and a stipulation placed on his record that if he were ever convicted of an Honor violation again, he would automatically be suspended.

Three men pleaded guilty to conducting themselves in a manner unbecoming a gentleman and to have disregarded property rights. The penalty was that a letter be sent to their parents explaining the seriousness of the offense, and a stipulation be placed on their record in that if they are ever convicted

EDITORIAL COMMENT:

Pride of The College

This week one of the biggest gatherings held on this campus will get underway. The Atlantic Coast Conference Basketball Tournament begins with State College playing an important role. Not only does State play host to the tournament but it figures in the final outcome of the rankings.

State College has reason to be proud of this year's basketball team. It has been one of Case's best and it has been a great year for the Wolfpack. Admittedly the team has brought more fame to the college than its educational program and it's not very surprising. It doesn't, however, seem to be anything to get excited about.

Nationally known educators have often expressed concern about over-emphasis of sports in American colleges. On the surface it may appear that this is the case at State College. More than one student has remarked that State basketball players get away with murder. They take easy subjects, are favorites of the professors, and cheat like mad on examinations and get away with it.

Is this true? Of course, there are some State basketball players taking easier subjects but they aren't easy as a student is hard put to find a crisp course on this campus. There may be a professor who plays favorites with players but this hardly seems likely. Most State professors are extremely fair in grading so far as playing favorites goes even if the scale doesn't seem to follow the bell curve. B.M.O.C., athlete, or average student, it's all the same. The percentage of cheaters on the basketball team is probably no higher than for the general student body and it may easily be lower. There are relatively few men who are dishonest. It's just that these stand out. All in all State College basketball team is one of average students and a good team it is.

When seeing how a player is played up for an outstanding performance, the fans tend to overlook the part that team work played in the high scoring individual's tally. It is an integrated team of men representing State College. Looking at the team as a part of State College then, students have a right to be proud of the Wolfpack and be proud that with the A. C. C. tourney on the campus, the team will make a good showing.

Trials And Rumors

Within two days after two State men had been tried for dishonesty on a quiz, it was the general knowledge of the campus as to the men involved. The names of the accused and the name of the accuser were being batted around as well as the verdict. "The Campus Law Trial Procedure in the Student Judicial Board" specifically states that "The defendant or defendants shall always be treated anonymously." Also included in the procedure is "All Student Judicial Board hearings and trials are closed, i.e., not open to the public... All information concerning the individuals shall be treated as in confidence."

The trial wasn't publicized even though the same rules say that "Publication of the facts, decision, and sentence of all cases shall be made in the TECHNICIAN and will be available immediately after final action has been taken," (names to be omitted). Yet, many students knew everything that went on, and some things that didn't. How did the information get out? Supposedly the members of the Judicial Board aren't to talk about the trials mentioning personalities. Did they or did the defendants and their witnesses start the rumors? It's hardly likely that the accuser talked it up.

With bits of information coming out it's not hard for rumors to build to alarming proportions. Rumors of unfairness where everything was just are easily started. The prestige of the Judicial Board won't be built up with rumors of this type. The leaks seem to principally have come from members of the Board who have talked to their friends in confidence about the proceedings and then these friends have violated the confidence.

The Judicial Board should be more careful about names slipping out with tales that tend to grow or either it should print all information so as not to leave any doubt. If the Board had followed its own rules in publishing the facts without names, there would probably have been fewer tales circulating.

This is the Judicial Board's proving year but it must be firm in its rules or it must make some which it can follow. Letting names be batted around without releasing information concerning the cases can do a lot of harm. All it amounts to is the Student Body retrying the defendants without the facts.

Letters To The Editor:

Dear Editor:

About a month ago, I read in the Technician, with complete surprise, that the Student Government had voted down the College Union's request for an increase in fees of only a dollar a year. My understanding of the situation is that since the state legislature will appropriate no funds, the Union must have some outside source of money to install a $40,000 air conditioning unit. Certainly $1 per student per year is not equal to $40,000, but with a knowledge that this amount is to be set aside each year for repayment, a loan can be swung. I'm no more anxious than any other student to see fees raised; but when I see a real need for something for the students, and surely there is a need for air conditioning in the Union Building; and when the need is completely explained, I don't feel badly about paying $1 extra a year. There is some satisfaction in knowing exactly where $1 of my fees are going. It is mighty little I know about them now!

I want to know why Student Government voted the proposal down. I want to know a good reason, not that general catch-all excuse, "we don't want our fees raised." Of course we don't want our fees raised indiscriminately, but it is time for the student to do a little individual thinking instead of blindly following campus "wheels." Let's weigh the facts and form our own opinions like men.

Sincerely,
Paul H. Reeve

Basketball

Coach Everett Case's crew handed nationally ranked George Washington a 68-59 setback and moved up to the fifth ranked team in the nation according to this week's AP poll. . . . This makes the third team ranked in the top 10 teams in the country that State has beaten. The Big 10 from last week: 1-San Francisco (21-1), 2-Kentucky (22-2), 3-La-Salle (22-4), 4-Marquette (23-1), 5-N. C. STATE (25-4), 6-Minnesota (15-5), 7-Utah (21-3), 8-Duquesne (18-4), 9-UCLA (21-3), 10-Dayton (22-3). . . . G-W's loss to the Pack dropped them to the No. 13 spot. . . . Saturday night's win was the ninth in a row for State and gave them a 25-4 record for regular schedule competition. . . . To date this mark is the second best since Everett Case came to the Raleigh campus, topped only by the 1947-48 record of 29 wins against only 3 losses.

T.S. DEPT.—It seems like its getting to be a habit but every time State knocks one of the nations leading teams for a loop, up go the cries "that we wuz robbed," and that we wouldn't play you again unless you play us at home. Several weeks ago when State handed 3rd ranked LaSalle a 76-73 setback, down come the tears from Philadelphia that the officials gave the game away and the student's constant haranguing upset the visiting team so much they couldn't put the little ball in the basket. Well, this week, after the Pack had licked G-W for the 16th straight time, the boys in Washington got out the towels and stated the officials were influenced by the crowds and they wouldn't play State again unless they could play in Washington.

Well, a look at the records will show that in the 16 games, 7 were played in Raleigh, 7 in Washington and 2 in Durham so what happened in the other 15 games that State won—maybe we were trying to score on purpose or maybe its just a case of poor losers on someones part—!

ACC Tournament: Thursday night State will open its defense of the ACC championship crown against Clemson. We will then meet the winner of the UNC-Wake Forest game and probably meet Duke in the finals—we hope!

Indoor Track

State College's track squad copped three places in the ACC Indoor Track Meet held last week in Chapel Hill. BOB JONES took first place in the 880 in the time of 1:55.8, MIKE SHEA claimed 2nd in the two mile run with a time of 9:26.8. The old ACC record was 9:34.5, and JIM BARBEE took the 4th spot in the mile in the time of 4:31.4. State opens its regular spring track season March 19. Coach Paul Derr stated it was still not too late to come out for the team any afternoon.

Wrestling

State's wrestling team failed in their attempts to tie for the ACC championship as Maryland downed the Pack 25-3 to cop the crown.

AAU Tournament

The Wolfpack's nationally ranked basketball squad is all but assured of making the trip to Denver to the National AAU Tournament. However, only $1,500 has been donated of the 3,500 goal necessary to send State. The Pack will be up against some of the top service teams in the country plus squads like the Phillips Oilers and Peoria Caterpillars.

Frat Intramurals

Seven fraternity basketball games were scheduled last week at Frank Thompson gym with two division championships still to be decided.

SPE-32, AGR-28—The SPE's remained tied for the first place spot in Division 1 with a close 32-28 win over the AGR's. Heinzmann with 9 and Smiley with 8 led the SPE's scoring. Rogers tallied 11 for the AGR's.

PKA-38, KA-24—PKA downed the KA's 38-24 to keep their championship hopes alive also in Division 1. Perry and Goodman led the scoring parade with 12 and 11 respectively while Turner was high for the KA's with 10.

Kappa Sig-42, Sigma Nu-34—With Teer and Kaiser both ripping the nets for 14-points the Kappa Sig's handed Sigma Nu their first loss of the season by the impressive score of 42-34. The win put the Kappa Sig's into a first place tie. Honeycutt and Alin each scored 9 for the Sigma Nu's.

Last Week's Basketball
Bagwell No. 1 Beat Tucker No 1 and Owen No. 1—By winning over Tucker No. 1 last week by 71 to 29 the Bagwell team was tied for first place in their section with Owen No. 1. In their game with Tucker Hopkins (11) and Davis (6) were the leading scorers for the opposition. But Clary (24), Whitehurst (14), Scott (14) and Johnson (13) were too much for Tucker. To eliminate the tied section Owen No. 1 and Bagwell played a special game and although Owen was leading at the half 16 to 12, the Bagwell team came ahead in the second half to win 37 to 34. Tripp (13) was the leading scorer for Owen while Whitehurst (12) and Clary (8) were for Bagwell.

Syme No. 1 Beat Alexander No. 2—Nixon (14), Holt (6), and Humphrey (8) were the outstanding players for Syme No. 1. Edwards (12), Norris (9), and Margotta (6) led the losers. The final score was 35 to 28.

Owen No. 1 Beat Verville—Owen No. 1 beat the Vets in a close game by the score of 49 to 39. Dunn (17) and Tripp (10) were the outstanding players for Owen while Barr (20) and Pryer (8) were for Verville. This victory made Owen No. 1.

Wolfpack Cagers Accept Invitation To AAU Tournament, March 20-26

State College's Wolfpack barred from this year's basketball play-off, will play in a post-season tournament after all.

Everett Case's Atlantic Coast Conference leaders got an okay yesterday from college officials to compete in the National AAU championships at Denver, Colo., March 20-26.

Administration officials said State could accept the AAU's long-standing invitation if $3,500 could be raised to finance the team's trip to Denver.

The athletic department set about quickly to take care of the money angle. Before the State-George Washington game Case appealed to spectators and a State-wide radio audience for donation.

Members of the Wolfpack Club, the organization which raises athletic funds for the college, were stationed at the Coliseum exits to collect contributions from the crowd of 11,000. A total of $758 was collected after the game.

State, top-seeded in the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament starting here Thursday, won't be allowed to represent the conference in the NCAA playoffs even if it wins the ACC event. The Wolfpack is under a one-year NCAA suspension for violating rules prohibiting tryouts for prospective athletes. Should State win the ACC tournament, the runnerup will represent the conference in the NCAA eliminations.

Case said he was appealing to fans for funds to finance the trip "because no provision was made for it in our basketball budget this year."

"Because I believe the members of our squad deserve the opportunity to enter a post-season tournament, I am asking the fine fans of North Carolina tonight for some help," Case said. "I believe that this season has been a good one and that our play has helped in some way to offer the people of this great State of North Carolina some real high class entertainment. The members of our squad have given a top effort this season and I believe they deserve the opportunity to make the trip."

TENNIS, ANYONE?

Candidates for varsity and freshman tennis teams are invited to the season's first "racket party," to be held in the Band room at Frank Thompson gym next Tuesday night at 7:30, Coach J. F. Kenfield announced today.

Purpose of the meeting is to brief candidates and to organize practice schedules. This year's varsity schedule lists 19 matches, Coach Kenfield said.

1 tie for first place in their section (see above).

Bagwell No. 2 Beat Turlington No. 2—The Bagwell team led the Turlington boys all the way with 21 to 17 at the half and a final score of 43 to 31. Gaier (10) and Eudy (10) were the leading players for the Turlington team while Bonson (26) was the higher scorer for the game and Bagwell's team.

Tucker No. 2 Beat Berry—With 29 to 14 at the half and 47 to 32 at the end Tucker No. 2 beat Berry.

Coach Everett Case's Wolfpack of N. C. State, ranked fifth in the nation and sporting a 24-4 record, will be seeking their second ACC conference basketball crown in as many starts as the 3-day tournament gets underway today before record-crowds in the coliseum.

Seven games will be played in the single elimination tourney with the champion of the Atlantic Coast Conference being crowned at Saturday night's final game. A twin bill is slated for Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m. another double-header beginning at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday night. The semi-finals will be played Friday night with the opener at 7:30 p.m. and the second game at 9:30 p.m. Saturday night's championship game begins at 8 p.m.

North Carolina State's Wolfpack will be the No. 1 seeded team and will face Clemson's No. 8 club. Other teams in the fight for the ACC title are Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, Wake Forest, Virginia and South Carolina. N. C. State won the title last year.

Although State will be favored to repeat as the conference champ the Wolfpack of Coach Everett Case will not be eligible to represent the conference in the NCAA tournament because it is still on preparation with the NCAA for a violation of player try-out regulations two years ago. Thus if State should win the title in Saturday night's finals, the runner-up team will be named as the conference representative in the NCAA tourney.

Four of the nation's highest scoring teams will be in the annual ACC tourney with Virginia's Cavaliers boasting a 92.0 point per game average as the nation's No. 2 scoring team. North Carolina State is ranked No. 4 with a 89.2 point average, Duke is No. 8 at 85.5 point per game and Wake Forest is tied for 8th with Duke with the same 85.5 point per game figure.

Six of the nation's top 40 scorers are also in the tournament, led by Buzz Wilkinson of Virginia at 32.2 points per game and followed by Wake Forest's Dickie Henric at 28.7, Bill Yarborough of Clemson at 27.5, Lenny Rosenbluth of North Carolina, 25.7, Ronnie Shavlik of State at 22.0 and Ronnie Mayer of Duke at 22.0.

State Retains Swim Crown

State College's swimming team won the Atlantic Coast Conference crown for the second straight year here today. The Wolfpack clinched the title by beating Carolina, 43-41, in a meet which was not decided until State won the final event—the 440-yard freestyle relay.

The Wolfpack holds a perfect 6-0 record in the ACC, while the Tar Heels have won four matches while losing two, both to State.

Two Atlantic Coast Conference records were broken as the Tar Heels and Wolfpack battled down to the wire. The Tar Heels tied 41-36 up to the final event, but the seven points for first place went to State.

Phil Drake of Carolina broke his own ACC mark in the 440-yard freestyle with a 4:53.1 performance, while Dave McIntyre of State established a new conference record in the 150-yard individual medley with a 1:31.3 performance.

The championship series is scheduled to begin on Monday night the 7th.

Table Tennis

The PEP's eliminated Sigma Nu from the table tennis play-offs by sweeping all three matches. The PEP's now meet the Sigma Chi for the championship. Sigma Nu took the 3rd place spot.

Handball

The PEP's downed the PKA's 3-0 and Sigma Nu defeated the SAE's 2-1 to enter the handball play-offs against the SAM's and AGR's.

A professor brought a copy of his final exam to be mimeographed. His secretary looked it over and said, "But, Professor, this the same exam you gave last quarter." "I know," said the prof, "but I've changed the answers."

Dublin Players Finest In All Ireland Coming To State's C U March 11th

The Dublin Players, celebrated company of actors from abroad appearing here on March 11 under the auspices of the College Union Theater Committee, has been called "one of the foremost acting companies of our time," by Eddie Dowling, famous producer-actor on Broadway.

Made up of the finest actors from Ireland's famous Abbey and Gate Theatres, the company is now completing another leg of its coast to coast tour of American cities presenting great Irish and English classics together with modern plays, including Shaw's "Devil's Disciple" and "Pygmalion," O'Casey's "Juno and the Paycock," and Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit,"

Rated as "top entertainment" by Variety, the trade paper of the Theatre, the Dublin troupe has gathered praise for itself from top critics and columnists. Various described as "magnificent," "unparalleled," "outstanding" and "great," the players have gained wide attention from the public wherever they have appeared. In their television appearances in New York, notably Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" on CBS-TV, the company gained such unusual response that they were asked by Mr. Sullivan to repeat several times on his program.

Audiences from San Francisco to Houston to Boston have applauded their repertoire of plays by Shaw, O'Casey, Shakespeare, Ibsen, Synge, Lady Gregory, Oscar Wilde, Noel Coward, Lennox Robinson, and others representing the great plays of the past and present day with the style and skill for which Ireland's great classic theatres are famed.

Fulton Oursler, the late American inspirational writer saw the Dublin Players and exclaimed, "Like a refreshing breeze comes this wonderful company of actors into a sad, sick world to inspire us with the best in theatre tradition and restore our faith in the nobility of man."

Horace Heidt Show Coming To Coliseum

Horace Heidt and his Musical Knights will present their new "Swift Show Wagon," a 2 1/2-hour variety show, in the Coliseum at State College Friday, March 25, at 8 p.m., Coliseum Director W. Z. Betts announced today.

A cast of 50 stars, including the famous "Ink Spots" whose recordings include many of the nation's hit tunes, will perform during the show. The performance will consist of music, dancing numbers, and comedy.

The Heidt Steppers, a chorus of young show girls, will give the dancing numbers. Among the vocal artists will be Ralph Sigwald, formerly of Charleston, S. C., who has been dubbed "The Caruso of the South."

Comedians in the cast include Johnny (In the Book) Standley; and Bud Massenie, trumpet playing clown. Other stars are Reita Green, 18-year-old dancing star; and Mark Durbin, romantic baritone.

Heidt, a 30-year veteran of the stage, radio, and movies, is famous for his "Youth Opportunity Programs" now seen weekly on the NBC-TV network. He also organized a national talent search which is an integral part of both his TV and stage shows.

Three local performers, selected in preliminary auditions by Heidt talent scouts, will be featured in the Coliseum show as a part of Heidt's nation-wide quest for talent.

Alumni Gift $5,000 Start Memorial Fund

A gift of $5,000 has been presented to the Student Loan Fund of State College by John Moir Price of New York, a 1909 graduate of the college and a consultant to the Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation.

Announcement of the gift, which will establish "The Price Memorial Loan Fund" at State College, was announced by Dr. Carey H. Bostian, chancellor of the college, who expressed appreciation to Price for the gift.

In presenting the funds to the institution, Price, a native of Leaksville and a close friend of former Chancellor J. W. Harrelson, requested that the loan fund be established in honor of his parents, James Madison Price and Mary Lyle Field Price of Leaksville, and his brother, Edgar Field Price of New York.

Under the terms of the fund, applicants must be needy students in mechanical, metallurgical, or chemical engineering. Recipients must apply the funds they receive to tuition and college fees.

After he earned his degree in mechanical engineering at State

WE'D LIKE YOU TO MEET -

John Wade Fuquay, this year's student President of the State College YMCA.

John entered State in the Fall of 1951 from Eli Whitney High School near his home in Snow Camp, N. C. He was born in Snow Camp July 31, 1923. He grew up in the same town and was extremely active in local 4-H Club work. He was a four-time State winner in 4-H competition, winning in various fields for several years. John has continued his agricultural work here at State by majoring in the Dairy Husbandry curriculum of the School of Agriculture. He has been extremely active in the school participating in the Ag Club and the College Dairy Judging Team. He is a member of Alpha Zeta, the honorary Agricultural Fraternity and of the A. T. club. He has also been a State Officer of 4-H and has served on the State 4-H Council.

Fuquay has also done a great deal of work on the campus outside of the Ag School. He was a member of the YMCA Cabinet for three years. Last year he served as Secretary of the "Y" and this year he has been honored by his election to the top position of President. Blue Key and Golden Chain, the Junior and Senior honorary fraternities, have also recognized John by election to their ranks.

John has no definite plans for the future, though Uncle Sam has a prior claim to his services for two or three years due to his participation in the Advanced Air Force R.O.T.C. He expects to get his commission in June. Following his Service time, John hopes to go into County or State Extension work.

The YMCA has a great deal of responsibility in its position of leader of the Campus religious activities. John has done a fine job this year as its leader and deserves the applause and thanks of all the students of the college.

In 1909, Price entered Lehigh University, where he did graduate work.

Price's brother loaned him $4,400 to complete his education at State College and Lehigh and returned the signed note marked paid when Price was graduated from college. In view of this, Price decided to set up the loan fund to make it possible for other students to get an education, according to his friends here.

Price became sales engineer for the Bethlehem Steel Company in 1911 and steadily advanced in his profession until he became president of the Electro Metallurgical Sales Corporation and sales manager of the National Carbon Company in 1925.

ENGINEER'S BALL -

During intermission a figure will be formed of the Engineer's Council and their dates. Dean Lampe will also present a gold watch to the student judged as the outstanding senior in the School of Engineering.

Everett Norris Case, head coach of the fine basketball teams that have represented State College for the last nine seasons.

Case came to State in the late summer of 1946 and since that time his teams have compiled a remarkable record of 240 wins against only 56 defeats. He has coached them to a total of 120 wins in 133 conference games and has produced a total of three all-Americans in Dicky, Ranzino and Shavlik plus a host of players who have been all-Conference, all-Southern or all-various tournaments.

Case had a varied background of coaching experience before coming to State. He began his career at the age of 18 with a high school team in Connersville, Ind. After a year he shifted to Columbus, Ind. where he produced teams which made the trip to the Indiana state tournament regularly.

He fitted his education in where and when he could. He received a Bachelor's degree in Physical Education from Wisconsin in 1923 and a Master's from Southern Cal, soon after that. Case continued to coach in the high schools of Indiana with long stints at Frankfort and Anderson. He also found time to work with several semi-pro teams and with the Southern Cal Jayvees during the period up to the War. In 1942 he entered service and spent much of his time coaching service teams. He served at DePauw, Gross Ile, Michigan, and at Ottumwa, Iowa, again winning several service championships with his teams.

Case has received many honors during his reign at State. He has been the subject of a feature article in Collier's, and has been named to the NCAA basketball committee and the National Basketball Coaches Association rules group. He has been the author of numerous articles on basketball and recently completed a book called "The New Pressure Game in Basketball."

Case and his assistant "Butter" Anderson were presented with new Cars by the alumni at the close of the 1951 season.

Everett Case has done a great deal more than give State a good basketball team in the last nine years. His contributions, and those of his fine teams have done an immeasurable amount of good to the spirit and morale of the student body. In addition he has brought a great deal of nation-wide publicity to the College.

Case and this year's fine team deserve a lot of backing in their quest, this week, for their eighth conference title in nine years. They have been recognized nationally with the invitation to the AAU tourney in Denver and, again, this will be possible only with the fans' help.

Coach Case deserves a great deal of praise for the fine job he has done here at State. His fine team speaks for him, as does his outstanding record. For Coach Case then—BRAVO!

CAMPUS HEADLINES

Richmond (Va.) Professional Institute's Proscript recently carried this startler across two columns on page one: "Annapolis senior sets new record as class sweetheart." Wonder what the record is?

From The Indian of Newberry (S. C.) College comes this reminder: "High school seniors spend weekend on campus." That's nothing, we know of two campuses within twelve miles of each other where high school seniors spend the whole year.

The following bit of intelligence came from a recent issue of the Diamondback up at College Park, Maryland: "Invalid" tryouts open tomorrow." You can bet your bottom dollar this doesn't refer to the football team.

Our favorite funny paper, the Daily Tar Heel, had this two-column boxed head on page one t'other day: "Survey shows UNC grads are doing well financially." But with whose money?

Wake Forest College's Old Gold and Black had this half-page head spread across the top of its front side last week: "Political platforms not fulfilled." This is news?

The Duke Chronicle from "you know where" had this little item out front last week: "De Voto talks on Easy Chair living." What every Dook student should know!

Prof. John Miller Receives IDC Award

During the halftime period of the N. C. State-George Washington basketball game, Colbert Dillard, President of the Interdormitory Council, presented the 1954 IDC awards. The first award went to Craig L. Barnhardt, Jr. as the student who had contributed most to dormitory intramural activities at N. C. State. The second award went to Al R. Fiore, Jr. as the most outstanding dormitory athletic director. The last award was to the member of the faculty who contributed the most to the intramural program. The selection for this award was a difficult one, for many members of the faculty were instrumental in the intramural program. This year the award went to Prof. John Fletcher Miller, "as a symbol of our respect and admiration for him and in grateful appreciation of his years of faithful service."

Definite: Graduation day has been definitely established for Sunday, May 29. Morning ceremonies will consist of the baccalaureate sermon, conferring of honorary and graduate degrees, and short addresses from Holladay Hall hired help. After dinner G-Day activities will continue at the separate schools where individual graduates will receive degrees and recognition for outstanding accomplishments.

Not quite so definite: Although exemption from final exams has been approved "in principle" for graduating seniors, details remain to be ironed out.

Tea formation: Chancellor Bostian's proffer to hold a reception tea for 1955 grads, their families, and friends, is getting the Top Hot Stuff treatment from student leaders and campus politicians. Possibilities favor other social functions for Saturday, May 28.

Bizarre bazaar: According to advance publicity from committee chairman Baxter Williams, this year's Carnival Night will be the "biggest and best" ever held. Rumors concerning the same are even better. Most promising plan calls for Marilyn Monroe making like Lady Go di va on a rocking horse.

The dull thud of spring: Tennis balls being beaten against brick walls and baseballs being pounded into leather gloves.

and Rushing Rules in the C.U. Building.

Friday (March 10) 6:00 Greek Week Banquet in West Side of College Cafeteria.

The IFC is also sponsoring during this period a "Clean Campus" project. All students are urged to adopt this slogan and help make our campus more presentable by helping to keep it clean. Chairman Cocke urged, "Let's make this 'clean campus' slogan a year round affair and not just a one-week deal. We have something here at State we can be proud of—let's show our pride by keeping the campus clean."

Junior-Senior Dance

The Junior-Senior Ring Dance will be held in the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum on March 26, 1955, 8-12 P.M. Music will be by the Duke Ambassadors, with special intermission entertainment by Joe Regan. Bids may be picked up in the College Union on Monday and Tuesday March 14 and 15, from 4 to 8 P.M.

N. C. State College's famed "Red Coat Band" has a brand new name—"The Wolfpack Band."

The new name was chosen in a contest sponsored by the students in the band, and the three persons submitting names which the contest committee liked best were awarded cash prizes by the Raleigh Merchants Bureau.

Raymond Vinson of Route 3, Burlington, a sophomore at the college, submitted the winning name and was presented a $50.00 award. Second place and $30.00 went to Mrs. Teddy Herbert, a Raleigh housewife, who suggested "The Statesmen"; and A. Crouse Jones of Winston-Salem, a State College alumnus, won third place with the name, "North Carolina State College Band."

The winners were presented their awards Tuesday by John M. Alexander, president of the Raleigh Merchants Bureau, which co-operated with the students in sponsoring the name contest.

A total of 1,400 entries were received. The judging committee cut the list of entries down to three, and members of the band made the final selections.

Members of the committee were Dr. Carey H. Bostain, chancellor of State College; Wesley Williams, executive secretary of the Raleigh Merchants Bureau; and six college faculty members—Dean of Students E. L. Cloyd; Dean of Student Affairs J. J. Stewart, Jr.; Band Director C. D. Kutschinski; Assistant Band Director Herbert Fred; H. W. (Pop) Taylor, director of alumnus affairs; and Banks C. Talley, Jr., coordinator of student activities.

The band decided to change its name from "Red Coat Band" when new gray uniforms, trimmed in red and white, were purchased last fall.

As most of you modern jazz fans know, Dave Brubeck will be on campus Tuesday night. The quartet will appear under the auspices of the Interfraternity Council and will play from 8:00 till 10:00 at Pullen Hall. In preparation for this, I would like to relate to you a little info. on the Dave Brubeck Quartet.

Dave, himself, has strong ideas as to how his audience should act while he plays. Some think that because he doesn't tolerate talking or loud noises while he's playing that he is egotistical. This is not true however. He takes his work very serious. When he's performing, he is a mystically serious and predominating musician. If you listen closely, you will hear some of the strangest music ever to come from a piano. Brubeck has joined many other contemporary musicians in forming a new Jazz Age in America. Last June he recorded "Jazz Goes To College," and, incidentally, it outsold any single album by another pianist—Liberace.

If you sit in on a Brubeck session, essentially what you'll hear and see is this: Brubeck bending over the 88 keys with his eyes closed as if he were in an impalpable world; Paul Desmond beginning slowly to run his fingers over the keys of his alto saxophone; drummer, Joe Dodge, calmly sitting at his drums; and Bob Bates, bass player, hunching closer to his bass.

The alto, bass, and drum lay the foundation for the number with a popular tune. From here, Desmond catches hold and improvises on the tune which may take it from a folklore to a Bach. Brubeck picks up where Desmond stops and tosses the last few notes around in his mind while he ripples along on the keys with a few melodic notes. When Brubeck takes over, he goes into a disconnected rhythm that loses the audience in so far as recalling the original tune.

Then, drummer Dodge and bassist Bates grab the rhythm and the unique event takes place. The rhythm captures both musicians and audience. Brubeck cuts off on a remote tempo, building it up to an enormous movement. His fingers seem to be on their own—playing progressively more discordant notes. At this point, everyone is apt to wonder if Brubeck will ever make it back to where he started—quiet and cool. This is precisely what he wants. As he says— "That's the way I like to keep my audience—wondering whether I'll make it or not." Then it happens—the rhythm shifts back to the familiar harmony that one again recognizes, and it's all over.

If you have never heard this fine group, now is your chance. Tickets are on sale at all fraternity houses—The College Union, Norman's, and Thiems Music Shop. Don't miss it.

CU Carnival Night One Month Away

The College Union Carnival Night will be presented Saturday April 12, at the CU Building. All campus organizations, dormitories and fraternities may enter booths or other forms of entertainment.

Plans have been made to use the entire CU Building for the event. Free door prizes will be given out throughout the evening and a first, second, and third place plaque will be awarded to the most popular entries.

The money received by the individual booths will be split fifty-fifty; fifty per cent going to the sponsor of the entire and fifty to the purchase of air conditioning for the CU Building.

The Carnival Night steering committee members are: Larry Belkin, Jim Gahan, Fred Rawicz, John Tester, Baxter Williams, and Charlie Averre.

MOP-UP MONOPOLY—

Other business Monday was the appropriation of $85 to the N. C. State College Amateur Radio Club (W4ATC). "Good work during Hazel that created good publicity for the College," and the fact that "they are always standing by and will send messages for students free of charge," were the sentiments expressed by John Wiles and John Gregg in favor of the appropriation.

Blue Key expressed their willfulness to help the Student Government in a faculty evaluation program. Blue Key through its president, Bob Krook, offered to distribute the forms to the classrooms.

A letter from Sam Harrell, man-student Government that "an investigation be made to determine what organizations and activities are receiving non academic fees." These fees total sixty-two dollars and fifty cents yearly. In addition he suggests that each organization or activity that receives any of these fees should be required to present a complete financial report every year. Also a progress report would be asked for. The reports would be published in the Technician.

The Investigation Committee was instructed by the Government to look into the disposition of the activities fees.

QUARTER VS. SEMESTER—

Professor Whitfield, "I feel as most students do which is partial to the old system." He continued that a large number of technical schools are on the quarter system; some because they operate on a cooperative system where a student can work a quarter and attend school a quarter. "At present" summed up Professor Whitfield, "I would favor the old system, but with a couple of years experience with the semester system my opinion might change."

"Fellows are tempted to let things slide until Christmas Holidays," viewed John Testers, "with the intent of catching up during Christmas which they never do. This could be one reason for the drop in grades last semester." John felt that when exams were before Christmas it was possible to relax; whereas when exams were still to come it put a burden on a guy's mind.

"A semester of work is entirely too much to cover and be expected to remember for exams," emphasized Ed Rose. "Also if in case a student flunks a course, which has been known to happen, it is necessary to retake considerable more work under the semester system."

Father: "In my day, girls were nice and innocent."
Girl: "Nowadays we're only nice. One must specialize, you know."

Notice to Civic Music Association

We have notices from the New York Management that due to circumstances beyond anyone's control the violinist, Mr. Campoli, will be remaining in Europe for the rest of the season; thereby making it impossible for him to deliver his concert scheduled for Raleigh Civic Music Association on March 7, 1955.

We feel fortunate in being able to secure for this concert with a slight change of date to March 9, 1955, (Wednesday night) Benno and Sylvia Rabinoff, violinist and pianist of top rank and in their 10th year together in concerts.

A. C. Hall, President

JUDICIAL BOARD—

Sam Blount, chairman of the Judicial Board, commented, "It has become increasingly apparent that students are ready and willing to have and uphold a good Honor System at N. C. State College. Instructors are becoming more tolerant with the Judicial Board, and most of them are pushing the Honor System with enthusiasm heretofore unseen on the campus. It is evident that if students and faculty relations concerning the Honor System become increasingly better at the rate that they are going now, State College will have a workable system in which men do strive to teach and learn 'the greatest lesson a college can teach,' that of honesty and integrity."
