NORTH CAROLINA STATE COLLEGE'S WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

Vol. XXXIX, No. 27

State College Station, Raleigh, N. C.

April 14, 1955

Pre-entrance Test Now At State

Pre-entrance assemblies, testing, and counseling of North Carolina students who plan to enroll at State College this fall will be conducted simultaneously in six different cities on Saturday, May 7, beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Announcement of the pre-admissions, examinations, and counseling plan—which represents a major change in the college's registration program—was made by the institution's Registration Office.

The test centers will be located in Asheville, Charlotte, Winston-Salem, Raleigh, Clinton, and Williamston. College officials said the centers were chosen in strategic geographical areas in an effort to place them within easy traveling and better counseling service.

In urging all prospective students to attend the assemblies and take the tests, Kenneth D. Raab of the college's Registration Office said the new plan will enable State College "to give our new students better advice, better scheduling, and better counseling service."

In a message to prospective students, Raab explained that the college previously had conducted a fall orientation program for students which has consisted of four days of concentrated testing, counseling, interviews, and assemblies.

"Sometimes this program," Raab said, "has placed a student under heavy strain just at the beginning of his college work. In the interest of our new students, therefore, we hope to lessen this pressure.

Students who plan to attend State College this fall and who fail to take the pre-entrance tests must report to the campus on September 15 while those who take the tests on May 7 are not scheduled to arrive until September 17.

In emphasizing the advantages of the new plan, Raab urged students who already have applied for admission to the college to attend the assemblies at the test centers and to bring with them other students who are interested in enrolling at the college this fall but who have not yet applied for admission.

Further details on the testing program will be announced as soon as they have been worked out, Raab said.

Air Force Program To Familiarize Wives

The AF ROTC is inaugurating a program this year to familiarize the wives and fiances of cadets with life in the Air Force. The program is designed to be of benefit to the wives and future wives of cadets who will be commissioned between now and the end of the fall semester. This is the first time that such a program has been offered in the Military Department on this campus.

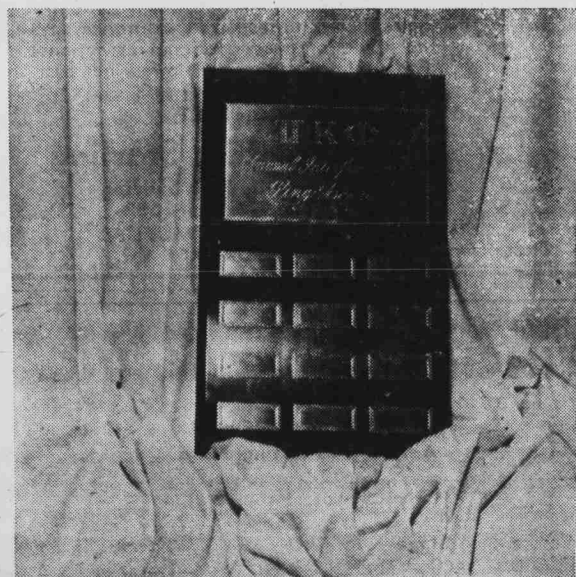

Such subjects as the wives' place in the officers' career and customs of the Air Force will be discussed. Things that each wife should know when arriving at their first station and things to prepare for when going overseas will also be covered.

Election Polls For Spring Voting

The polls for the elections April 20 and the 27 will be in the Vetsville Y.M.C.A., Textile Building, Riddick, College Union, Berry-Bagwell-Becton snack bar, Alexander-Turlington snack bar, and the Student Supply Store.

The polls will open at nine in the morning and close at seven that night. Registration cards must be presented.

PKP Interfraternity Sing

Shown above is the plaque that will be presented to the winner of the Pi Kappa Phi Annual Interfraternity Sing. The plaque has spaces providing for engraving the winners for the next twelve years. However, should a fraternity win it for four years in a row, the plaque will become the property of that fraternity. The Sing will feature presentations by a number of fraternities which will sing various types of songs. The Sing will be held in the College Union Theatre on April 29.

Candidate Platform In Campus Election

PRESIDENT

Jim Nolan, a candidate for the President of the Student Government, this week released his platform. In a prepared release he stated, "As a member of the Student Government and chairman of that body's Rules Committee, I feel that I have been able to become acquainted with the campus wide situation as it pertains to the student body in general. With a background of this sort, an awareness of what has been done and what remains to be done, I announce myself as a candidate for the presidency of the Student Government."

"Much has been done in the way of splitting the profits from the Mop-Up and in the way of obtaining permanent quarters for married students. It is my intention to follow these plans through to completion."

"On-campus parking for students is a major problem. The condition of the existing lots leaves much to be desired. I will work for necessary improvements and promise to leave no stone unturned in an effort to not only remedy these eye-sores, but to increase their capacity."

"The M&O Dept. is a service organization that exists solely for the benefit of the college and Student Body. At times there has been some controversy over this fact. Here is a situation that needs attention! I feel sure that a strong Student Government will be able to coordinate the activities of the M & O Dept. for the best interests of all."

"A Fraternity Row that will give each fraternity a chance to build on campus is certainly past due. Paving of heavily traveled roads in the dormitory areas, as well as wash racks are no longer a luxury, but a downright necessity. These are projects of the type which if elected I dedicate myself to support."

"In conclusion, if elected I promise to work for the greatest benefit for the greatest number, in order to build school spirit and a Student Government that will be second to none in the nation."

VICE-PRESIDENT

Bert Kalet, who is running for the office of Vice-President of the Student Government has given his activities of the past as follows: Editor of his high school annual, past State Master Counselor & Scribe of the Order of DeMolay, member of N. C. State College "Operation Spirit," Vice-President of N. C. State College Veterans Association, member of College Union Activities Committee, and Chairman of the Dance Committee for the Agriculture School Barnwarming Day.

Presently Bert is a member of the College Union Activities Committee, a member of Thirty and Three, and President of the N. C. State College Veterans Association. As President of the Vets. Assn. Bert has lead the introduction and

EDITORIAL COMMENT:

Budget Cuts-

Just before the Easter Holidays the Joint Appropriations subcommittee did some super-sonic cutting. With one slash the group denied $125,000 to State College. Later it cut the budget for the School of Design by $19,556 per year for the next biennium. Cut also was the $106,292 budget of the extension services to an even $100,000 per year.

The $125,000 request was to have been used for an experimental industrial program to parallel the present agriculture experiment station program. It was aimed toward aiding small industries in development. Just how does North Carolina propose to progress if the state's government denies industry what has been taken for granted by the agriculture interests?

At the present time a study is getting underway to determine why North Carolina ranks so low on per capita income. Had the State taken a more active interest in industry years ago such a study possibly wouldn't be necessary. Even a belated encouragement of industry could easily start an upward climb. Several major industries have begun a southward move and if an effort is made to develop from within then Tar Heels who are vitally concerned will receive the benefits. A renewed industrial development in North Carolina could easily begin with small industry which the appropriation was intended to aid but which the legislators saw fit to flush entirely.

The cut was a slash at North Carolina and North Carolina State College. State College has taken a progressive attitude in trying to help the State progress but without the necessary funds it won't be able to do the work effectively. The $125,000 experimental plan could have been used to supplement the efforts now going on in various schools. It is time that work was begun to further North Carolina without depending so heavily on the facilities which were originally intended to teach students.

No less alarming than the experimental industrial program cut was the blow handed the School of Design. Since its birth the school has been housed in whatever building room could be found. It has been scattered through several buildings among which the unsightly, uncomfortable barracks have been its center. Now the school has the chance to be under one roof and has the opportunity to become the best of its kind in the nation. Yet, it is confronted with a budget cut. This cut represents four staff and instructional positions that the Advisory Budget Committee saw fit to add to the school. Better housing means alot but without an increase in staff the building certainly won't be used as effectively.

It's true that $9,200 per year was approved for additional personnel in the D. H. Hill Library and this is a bright spot but cutting the budget of a school is cutting a segment of the college. The experimental industrial program would have been an asset to the college but its value to the State can not be estimated. These cuts represent a loss to the State of North Carolina. Perhaps the legislators were in just a little too big of a hurry to go home to consider all of the aspects of the appropriations.

S G Attendance

The editorial, "Elected—For What?," which appeared in the November 4, 1954 issue of THE TECHNICIAN voiced concern that out of four meetings of the Student Government there had been a quorum at only two. The editorial was followed by a roll of the Student Government Legislators and their attendance record. More than one member got hot under the collar when he saw his pitiful attendance record published.

Now is a good time to publish attendance records that have been made since the first meeting back in the fall. With election time here it is a good time to remind the men who choose to run for the legislature that if they intend to "goof-off" and not attend meetings that they'll be found out for this paper intends to publish attendance reports from time to time. In the fourth and fifth columns of this page there is a roll of the S. G. Legislators and their attendance percentages. The percentages were figured by dividing the number of meetings attended by the total number of meetings held. In most cases there were 19 meetings to be considered but a few have only 10 meetings and these are marked by an asterisk. The men with the fewer meetings are mostly freshmen who were elected late in the school year while a few are positions vacated and being finished out by another man.

The attendance record on the whole is somewhat better than it was in the November report. Yet, it isn't good. There are 18 legislators who have an attendance percentage less than 75 per cent. Is it too much to expect these men to attend at least 3/4 of the meetings? Is it too much to expect them to do the job to which they were elected less than 3/4 of the time?

There are a few men with excellent records with some in the 90's. Men like Frank Minter who has attended 19 out of 19 meetings are to be congratulated. However, he is the only one with such a record although there are several with a 10 out of 10 attendance record which is certainly admirable. To the men who have given their time so selflessly, we take off our hats and hope that the entire legislature next year will be composed of men like them. The pity is that there are so many with such poor records.

Letters To The Editor:

I have just finished your article on school spirit in this week's Technician, labeled "A Student Government Problem." Why put this problem off on the S. G. when anyone with any common sense can see that it is a student problem, caused by the students, and can only be remedied by the students.

I was overjoyed when I saw that you felt that not quite all the lack of school spirit was the CHEERLEADER'S FAULT! You are too kind. Now I will tell you what is wrong with the school spirit and boy is it going to feel good to get this off my chest.

Two weeks prior to the first football game of last year announcements were made by Doc Cheek as well as others that a try-out would be held for new cheerleaders for the coming year. That tryout was held. Two people showed up. MY WIFE AND I!

The first pep-rally was a big success; the second fair; the third, 5 boys from Broughton High showed up, but there's more. The sound truck was even taken to the court between Owen & Tucker Dorm, and the boys were asked to even come out into the court for a rally, but the only noise which was made were a few cat calls and choice curse words hurled by the lambs with the wool over their eyes who call themselves the wolves of N. C. State.

I could never understand why everyone came to me and talked for long periods about the things that I and the rest of the cheerleaders were doing wrong, but not once did I receive a suggestion which might help. When I asked the question, "Would you like to be a cheerleader?" I received only dumb stares. They never stopped to think about a helpful hint, but were wonderful in that they could make the loudest ROOS and the choicest dirty remarks to the visiting teams and officials.

Once I was asked, "Don't you get paid for cheerleading?" The answer was no. I couldn't even get into the games myself without my book, even though I wore red pants and a school emblem on my sweater. That's how I was paid.

I will close with just one word of advise for my successor. Learn to dodge well numerous articles such as paper wads, pop bottle tops, and small rocks, and always remember to turn the other cheek.

When the students learn to become gentlemen and act civilized at school events school spirit will emerge automatically. The cheerleader's job is just what the word implies, to lead, but his voice is weak and must be drowned out by the students themselves.

I would like to thank Dean Tally and Doc Cheek who were friends in deed and very much in need during the past year, also the editor who so graciously said that it was not ALL the cheerleaders fault.

Hugh Baker,
Chief Cheerleader

ROTC Gives Memorial Honoring Harrelson

In a recent letter to Mrs. J. W. Harrelson, wife of the late Col. Harrelson, Colonel Richard R. Middlebrooks, PMST of the Army ROTC, informed her of a fund given to the D. H. Hill Library in the name of the State College Army ROTC to be used to purchase books and to mark them as a lasting memorial to Col. Harrelson, chancellor emeritus.

Colonel Harrelson, while a student at State College was a ranking captain in the Cadet Military Corps; and in 1909 he passed a competitive exam for a regular Army commission in the Coast Artillery, but stayed on teaching in the math department because he had made a commitment not to leave in the middle of a term. When the United States entered the First World War, Prof. Harrelson was captain of the Raleigh National Guard Company of Coast Artillery. He secured leave to lead his company to Fort Caswell. Because of his ability and leadership, he was ordered from Caswell to a special school at Fortress Monroe and by 1918 he had become an Army major on duty with the War Department's General Staff in Washington. In 1919, the year he was mustered out of wartime service, he received his lieu-

Big Four-Day

The annual big-four sports day with Duke, Carolina, and Wake Forest is coming up in the next few weeks. State College has always more than held its own in these events. Contact the individuals you know are outstanding in a particular sport and see that they are signed up for the Big-Four sports day.

Look around in your fraternity and get these people to see Mr. Miller in the gym immediately. Our team can be only as good as we make it, so lets see that we truly have the top men on the campus.

Softball

Nine softball games were played prior to the spring holidays in inter-fraternity competition.

PKA-9, Farm House-3—The Pika's, led by Griffen with 3 for 4 and Buchanan's 2 for 3, defeated the Farm House 9-3. Gray was tops for the Farm House with 2 for 3. Buchanan homered for the victors.

Sigma Nu-17 T. Chi-2—Sigma Nu exploded for 14 runs in the bottom of the second to go on to crush the undermanned T. Chios 17-2. Agnew and Loy were the big power at the plate for the winners each with 3 for 3. Agnew clotted two 4-baggers. Conrad had 2 for 2 for the Chi's.

SAE-11, AGR-7—The SAE's took advantage of 12 walks to come from behind and whip the AGR's 11-7. Chambers' 3 for 3 and Steward's homer were the big guns for the defending champions. Ipock blasted two round-trippers for the AGR's.

Kappa Sig-13 L. Chi-6—Kappa Sigma raced 13 runs across the plate while holding the opposition to six as they downed the L. Chi's last week. Errors proved to be costly for the L. Chi's while Dunn and Herman each connected for 2 for 3. Pooser with 1 for 1 was high for the winning Kappa Sigs. Herman also homered.

Sigma Chi-6 K. A.-4—With McKeever, Cocke, and Dean providing the power at the plate the Sigma Chi's were able to edge the KA's 6-4. Dean hit a 4-bagger for the Chi's and Hill for the KA's.

Wolfpack Baseball Squad Meets W-F Here; Play Five ACC Foes This Week

N. C. State's baseball squad, fresh from a very impressive showing in the Dixie Classic, will take on Wake Forest's once-beaten Deamon Deacons here on the local diamond this afternoon. The game was originally scheduled for Monday but wet grounds caused the postponement.

The Wolfpack will then face four tough Atlantic Coast Conference teams in less than a week. State will take a 5-3 record against Wake Forest, South Carolina, Carolina, Maryland, and Virginia in that order.

Coach Vic Sorrell will count on the pitching of Tommy Hargrove and Lou Dickman along with the batting power of Jack Turney, Bill Peed, and Dudley Whitley to add several more wins to the record.

FROSH BASEBALL

State's freshman baseball squad remained unbeaten but once tied up to yesterday's contest with Duke. The Baby Wolfpack holds a 14-11 win over Wake Forest, a 12-1 victory from Ft. Union, Va. and a 7-7 tie with Carolina.

TRACK

The Wolfpack's young and undermanned track squad suffered a 91-41 defeat at the hands of Clemson last week, as the visitors took 10 first places and swept six events.

In Hungary, a commissar asked a peasant how the new potato crop production plan was coming.

"Under our glorious leader, Malenkove," answered the peasant, "our potato crop has been miraculous! If we were to put all the potatoes in a pile, they would make a mountain reaching to the feet of God."

"But you know there isn't any God," said the commissar.

The peasant shrugged an dsaid, "There aren't any potatoes, either."

"Looks like I win. I've got three pneumonias and two gallstones."

WE'D LIKE YOU TO MEET -

Samuel Masters Blount, Chairman of the Student Judicial Board this year and for the past three years, one of the most tireless workers State has had in behalf of its long sought honor system. Sam admits that he has had two ambitions while here at school. The first, to graduate, and the second, to contribute toward giving State a working honor code.

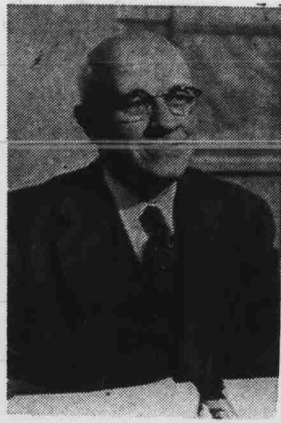

Sam came to State at the beginning of the second quarter in 1951 following a year and a half of Pre-Med work at Chapel Hill. He swapped his anatomy courses for Mechanical Engineering and the labs of State. He has had an outstanding record here. He is a member of ASME, the professional M.E. fraternity and Tau Beta Pi, the honorary fraternity of the same profession. He served as Vice-Chairman of the group last year. Sam has also been honored by election to Blue Key, the Junior honorary society. Last year he was an ex-officio member of Student Government in his capacity of prosecuting attorney under the old S. G. set-up. He has continued his work along those lines this year as Chairman of the Student Judicial Board this year under the new constitution.

Sam is a native of Washington, N. C., having lived there since his birth July 31, 1932. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam M. Blount, Sr., who still maintain their home there at 101 Edgewater Drive. He attended Grammar and Junior Schools there and finished his schooling at Staunton Military Academy in Staunton, Va.

Sam has no definite plans for the future. At the present he is making the interview rounds to find a job. He is sure though that they include Miss Emily Brown, a last year's graduate of State, to whom he is pinned. (He was a Phi Gamma Delta at Carolina)

Whatever Sam chooses as his position in the next few months, he is sure to be a credit to State if he continues the same kind of work which he has done here. He deserves the best wishes of every student for his future success.

John Harold Lampe, Dean of our School of Engineering, who is celebrating the tenth anniversary at State this week.

Dean Lampe came to State ten years ago this week from the corresponding post as Dean at the University of Connecticut, where he had been since 1940. He had previously served as a professor in the E. E. Departments of Connecticut U. and of Johns Hopkins University. He had also done a great deal of outside consulting work for several prominent electric and electronic product companies.

The Dean's college work was done at Johns Hopkins, where he received his B. S. in 1918 and his M. S. in 1925, both in E. E., and his Doctorate in 1931 as a result of advanced studies in the field of magnetism magnetic analysis. All his graduate work was done while he was a part-time instructor in the E. E. Department at Johns Hopkins. He took time out from his work during World War I to serve in the Army Signal Corps. During his period in service he attended Signal Corps schools at the University of Maryland and at Columbia U.

Lampe was born in Baltimore, December 1, 1896, and has called that city home for a majority of his life. His wife, the former Miss Rose Erich Diggs, is also a native of Baltimore. They were married there, June 23, 1923.

Dean Lampe has been, or is, a member of many honorary and professional engineering groups. A few of these include AIEE, Tau Beta Pi, N. C. State Professional Engineers and Sigma Xi. Outside the professional realm, he is a member of several associations for educators and belongs to Sigma Alpha Epsilon, the Masons, Kiwanis, and the American Legion.

Dean Lampe's fine work as the leader of the School of Engineering has been reflected not only in its material growth in the last ten years but also in its increased national standing. The Nuclear Reactor, the first on a college campus for private research, was a pet project of his and is only one of many modern innovations and additions to the plant of the School.

Dean Lampe has done a fine job as a leader, administrator and counselor. He has an active interest in the students in spite of his busy schedule, taking a few freshmen each year as his advisees. Each student at State and every citizen

CAMPUS HEADLINES

A baseball story in a recent issue of Richmond Professional Institute's Proscript announced that: "Rain hampers devils." Must be because it puts out their fire.

A short item on the inside of the Carolinian at Woman's College reveals that: "New Coraddi editors announce new staff." We've been expecting to hear this.

Last week's Diamondback, published at the University of Maryland, noted on page one that: "Stabbed man found dead on campus." A couple of the boys must have been cutting up a bit.

Just a few days ago the Daily Tar Heel over at Chapel Hill proclaimed to the world that: "Everyman slated for production." Yeah!

In a statement issued to the Technician Hall declared that he favored (1) better representation in the yearbook which would mean a greater percentage of individual pictures (2) get the book to the students by May 15 as is scheduled this year and attempt to get it back even earlier (3) a dorm section which had to be left out this year due to lack of IFC funds (4) more pages with individual snap-shots showing student activities.

"In my past work with the Agro-insight into the working and difficulties of a yearbook," said Hall, "and I will put my full time to meek I feel that I have gained at the Agromeck, as is certainly necessary for a fine year book."

"It will be my intention to improve the yearbook as has been done this year and to work toward as flawless yearbook as possible although I realize that nothing is absolutely perfect," Jack emphasized.

Signs of the times? Adjoining doors on each floor of Riddick Hall respectively labeled "Men" and "Faculty."

Infantile delinquents: Teen-age punks, who evidently earlier in the evening had fallen fanny first into a basket of rotten apples, had their moments of madness during the midnight minutes between April 5 and 6. Tiger-tempered and chicken-livered, they gave an asinine exhibition of how to yell obscenities at passer-bys in automobiles. Scene of the daring demonstration was the north end of Pullen Road bridge where the cast of characters could perform with confidence while cloaked in the anonymity of darkness.

Of looking and leaping: Cracked craniums would have been a dime-a-dozen April Fool's day if hasty conclusions had been open windows the day the Technician carried a photo showing Doc Cheek and his new car.

Shorty Rogers is not without reason referred to as a "giant of jazz." The gifted trumpeter, "long" on professional stature if not in physical height—he's 5 feet, 6 1/2 inches—first won recognition for his writing and playing with Woody Herman during the midforties. At that time he made arrangements of "Keen and Peachy," "Keeper of the Flame," "Lemon Drop" and others which are now accepted as classics of modern jazz writing.

But it was not until he became associated with Kenton's Innovations in Modern Music concerts in 1950 that he revealed the full scope of his talent. This important alliance firmly established Rogers both as composer and soloist. He wrote three compositions for the concerts which were recorded, bearing the titles of the featured soloists, Art Pepper, Maynard Ferguson, Bob Cooper. They are still considered the most successful utilization of strings with a jazz band yet recorded.

Shorty has his musical education at New York City's High School of Music and Art, from which he graduated in 1942. His first professional job was with the Will Bradley band, where he met Shelly Manne. Also in the band was trumpeter-arranger Neil Hefti, who left his influence on Shorty's work as arranger.

Recognized as one of the greatest modern drummers of all time, Shelly Manne has won the Down Beat poll for five consecutive years, in addition to Metroneme's recent polls, and possesses a distinctive style that's a model for virtually every student of the drums.

But one of his greatest victories was convincing his father, a professional drummer-typantist himself, that he be permitted to play the drums. For obscure reason, Mr. Manne argued in favor of the saxophone. By the time that young Shelly, born in New York City on June 11, 1920, won the "battle of the instruments," he was 18, and within a few months was playing with a dance band on a Europe-bound ship.

Between trips he made 52nd street and Harlem his headquarters, listening and learning all he could, and before long attracted the attention of famous musicians who invited him to sit in with them.

He made his band debut with Bobby Byrnes, then, after eight months replaced Dave Tough with Joe Marsala, when Tough joined the Benny Goodman camp. Marsala was followed by Bob Astor, Raymond Scott, Will Bradley and Les Brown, after which he did a 3 1/2 year hitch with the U. S. Armed Forces. While stationed in New York he recorded with small groups like those of Dizzy Gillespie, Coleman Hawkins and Ben Webster.

After his discharge he joined Stan Kenton, an association which lasted until 1951 and brought him widespread recognition and fame.

(Several times during those years, when Kenton broke up his band, Manne played with others, including Charlie Ventura and Woody Herman, but always rejoined Kenton.)

In 1951 Shelly forsook the road to settle in Southern California, where he's dividing his efforts among movies, radio, nightclubs and teaching. His work has helped make the West Coast an increasingly important center of modern jazz.

State Man Is Winner Of IAS Fellowship

The Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences Friday awarded fellowships in flight test engineering, permitting two years of graduate study at Princeton University, to a college student and a government scientist.

The winners, both former military pilots, were announced by S. Paul Johnston, director of the Institute, as William B. Browne, a senior at North Carolina State College, and Warren J. North, 32, an aeronautical research scientist and research pilot at Lewis Flight Propulsion Laboratory of the National Advisory Committee of Aeronautics, Cleveland, Ohio.

The two-year fellowships are provided by an anonymous donor and administered by the IAS. Entering Princeton next fall, the winners will take a program of courses which have been designed for flight test engineers of the Navy and Air Force.

Browne, a former jet pilot, will receive his B.S. degree in mechanical engineering (aeronautical option) at State on May 29. He is majoring in aerodynamics and mathematics. He attended the Uni-

ROTC Holds Annual Inspection; Inspectors Highly Complimentary

At the end of the Army ROTC's Annual Inspection, the inspection team expressed a great deal of satisfaction with the cadet regiment and facilities. In conferences with Colonel Middlebrooks, Chancellor Bostian, and Dean J. J. Stewart, the inspectors remarked that many portions of the program were outstanding and that they were especially impressed with the inspection in ranks and the excellent performances by the Pershing Rifles and the Drum and Bugle Corps after the Awards parade. Eighty-five per cent of the questions in class were answered correctly indicating a retained knowledge of subject matter, a good state of discipline, high morale, interest and hard work.

At the awards parade, Colonel Henry C. Settle, Chief of N. C. Military District, awarded the Soldiers Medal to Sergeant First Class Clifford Potter, the Southern Conference Army ROTC Rifle Tournament of North Carolina chamionship trophy to the rifle team, the tournaments Individual High Scorer Award to Cadet Lt. Thomas West, and individual medals to the members of the team-Cadet West, Cadet Lt. John Archer, Cadet Sgt. Charles Summers, Cadet Kenneth Simonson, and Cadet Henry Conder.

FILM SHOW—The Cosmopolitan Club invites you to attend a film show which will be held at the College Union Theater on Friday, April 22, at 7 p.m. The following films have been obtained from the Swiss Consulate by Mr. Fritz Streiff: "Olympic Games in Switzerland" and "A G.I. in Switzerland." A film on Thailand or Indonesia may also be shown.

ANNUAL MILITARY BALL—The Annual Military Ball will be April 16 from 8:30 to 12:00 in the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum. Music for the ball will be provided by Ray Eberle and his orchestra, former feature vocalist with the Glenn Miller Orchestra. Flowers for the dance are optional. In the past, the colorful Military Ball has been the favorite of most students, and every effort has been made to make this year's the best one yet.

STUDENT'S GENERAL DEPOSIT—Each undergraduate student makes a $20.00 General Deposit with the Business Office, when he enters State College. This deposit is required to cover possible loss or breakage of school or military equipment, and will be refunded only when a student graduates or withdraws. It is not refunded at the end of each academic year to those students who intend to return.

Students, other than those graduating, who do not return to State College in September, 1955, should at that time request refund of this deposit by writing to the College Business Office.

Refunds of General Deposits to graduating students will be made by check through the mail within 30 days following graduation, after all college property (such as caps and gowns, ROTC uniforms, dormitory furniture, laboratory equipment, etc.) is accounted for.

Graduating students need not request a refund of their deposit, since their refund will be automatic.

ANNUAL AIR FORCE ROTC INSPECTION—The annual inspection of the State College Air Force ROTC will be held on May 2nd and 3rd (Monday and Tuesday), 1955. All Air Force cadets and members of the college band will be excused from 11 o'clock classes, on May 3rd, in order to participate in this inspection.

E. L. Cloyd,
Dean of Students

MILITARY PARADES—Cadets who have regularly scheduled classes or labs will not be excused to participate in the following parades:

- April 15—as a sponsor's parade for the Military Ball
- April 22—in cooperation with the Engineer's Fair
- May 20—the annual Graduation Parade

These parades are approved with the understanding that no cadets will be excused from a regularly scheduled class or lab in order to participate. However, very few classes and labs are scheduled at noon on Friday, so there should be a minimum number of conflicts. Because of this arrangement, no official Blue Bulletin notices will be required. The parades will be announced in the Student Affairs Bulletin.

EMPLOYMENT—For further details inquire at 9 Holladay Hall.

(1) Part-time and summer work for a few rising juniors or seniors in Agriculture who are interested in statistical work. Work would be with Federal Government and would be expected to lead to permanent employment. Only those seriously considering statistics as a field of work should apply.

(2) Campus Magazine Agency. We would like to talk with students interested in operating a campus agency to handle student and faculty magazine subscriptions. We need to select a manager, who probably should be a junior or senior, and ten or so assistants. The campus benefits through special rates to students and educators and the individual workers can expect considerable earnings for their efforts.

(3) Summer jobs for Agriculture freshman. Farm manager near Wilmington wants student for help during summer, including work as head tobacco cropper and produce marketing. Living accommodations and $150 per month. Could return each summer until graduation.

Photography Contest

Next week's Technician will carry details on a photography contest open to all college students. The contest will seek a winning photo of a typical "BMOC", Big Man On Campus. The contest is being sponsored by Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company.
