Registration Deadline Nearing For Students Attending BSU Meet

Friday noon, October 29, has been set as the deadline for registering for the 1954 Baptist Student Union convention in Salisbury next week, State College BSU president Eugene B. Pickler has announced.

An annual three-day meeting for North Carolina Baptist college students, the convention will take place at the First Baptist Church in Salisbury November 5-7.

Theme for this year's gathering will be "Toward Twentieth Century Discipleship," Pickler said.

Speakers scheduled to participate in the Salisbury BSU convention include Dr. Dale Moody of Southern Baptist Seminary; Dr. Culbert Rutenber of Eastern Theological Seminary; Dr. Elmer West of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board; and Dr. Kerner Keegan, southern BSU secretary.

Seniors

Class president Tom Lyman reminded members of the senior class to have their Agromeck pictures made on schedule, in the following open letter released today:

"Seniors—Class of 1955: Your yearbook, the Agromeck for this school year, is rapidly being prepared for publication. The dates, Nov. 1 through 12, have been established for taking senior class pictures. And, in order to get the issue out by the first of May, this period cannot and will not be extended!

Have your picture made early; do not miss getting in State College's yearbook during your senior year.

Pictures are being made in the cloak room beside the College Union snackbar between 1 p.m. and 8 p.m."

Truck Driver School Gains Wide Publicity

International recognition has come to the Truck Driver Training School at N. C. State College.

The current issue of Automobile Revue, the leading Swiss motoring weekly published in Bern, Switzerland, carries a feature on the driver school, oldest such training center in the United States.

The Swiss journal illustrated its story with a picture showing students training in truck driving at State College. The article and cutlines under the picture were in German.

Learning about the State College school through Popular Science, which recently published a feature article on the truck driver training program, the Swiss weekly requested information from the State College Extension Division, which operates the school, and developed its story from the data which the Extension Division dispatched to it.

Automobile Revue's New York editor, Ernst Behrendt, did most of the work on the article.

At a Trail With Cadet Jones

"TRAIL ARMS, mister!" "There goes that sergeant again. Does that guy see everything? He must really have eyes in the back of his head. Anyway, I can't remember the position of the rifle at trail arms. If I could just get out of this rifle hut and away from the eyes of that human hawk, and if the fellow in front of me would get his rifle from between my legs, maybe I could find a place to put this oversized squirrel gun."

"Darn, there I go again, forgetting that it's a rifle or a weapon but never a gun. I was just beginning to feel a little like a soldier and they had to give me a weapon. All I need now are four hands to move the thing about with."

Jones, why don't you pay attention?"

"Jones, that's me, what haven't I done now? Gee, when did everyone put his rifle on his right shoulder? 'I guess I've missed out again. Why doesn't someone tell me about these things? Oh, gosh! here comes the platoon leader; guess I'm really in for it now."

"I'm sorry sir, I guess I just wasn't paying attention when you were telling us about the right shoulder business. . . . Yes sir, I'll pay more attention next time. . . . Gee, I'd never look as sharp as that Lt. in a thousand years."

"Here we go! . . . "RIGHT SHOULDER ARMS" . . . "well, how about that, I did it. Now for the order arms part, then inspection arms and be sure to peek down into the receiver. Ah, that's it, I'll make a soldier yet. Now if I can just get that trail arms down pat maybe I can get in and out of the rifle hut safely."

Student Govt. Beginning To Hum; New Constitution Offers Obstacles

By Terry Lathrop

The Student Government of State is slowly but surely beginning to function smoothly. However, there are still a number of hurdles to be crossed before its operations are perfect. So far the main trouble has been reorganization under the new constitution.

The Judicial Board has rounded into operating shape faster than the Legislature, largely because of the fact that it is a small, well-knit group with fairly well defined duties. It has continued the primary phase of its work, trying student cases, and has begun to pick up on the secondary phase, student education. The latter includes plans for informing the student body of its rules, methods and rulings and of the laws concerning conduct.

Perhaps the biggest lag so far this year has been in the Legislature. Student Government for the first time this year is entirely a student run proposition. There is no faculty censoring or control. But on the other hand, there is also no faculty to prod members into doing their work. Several times this year the Legislature has been unable to carry on business because of lack of a quorum.

As noted in last week's issue of the Technician, the Legislature has taken several important actions recently. The State College Campus Chest resolution establishing a single fund-raising campaign on campus is one of the most important of these. The funds are to be divided between the World University Service and the local United Fund.

The Student Government has undergone a drastic change. It will take time to get things running smoothly, but with your support it can be done. The "Government" office is always open to welcome your interest and ideas.

Student Body Praised By Agromeck Editor John Nathan Gregg

"Student cooperation in preparing next year's college yearbook has been the best anyone could expect," Agromeck Editor John Nathan Gregg said today in reply to queries about progress on the 1955 annual.

Explaining staff policy for getting next year's Agromeck into the hands of students prior to graduation, Editor Gregg said, "Because of wholehearted support to date from sophomores, freshmen and fraternity groups we are two months ahead of last year's schedule. At the beginning of the present school year the Agromeck staff unanimously agreed to give this year's schedule fullest publicity and to observe that schedule religiously, regardless of who or what group might be left out because of their negligence."

Asked about any possible gripes arising from students or organizations rumored to have been omitted from the year book, the Agromeck editor replied that, "although a few complaints have reached the Agromeck office, we feel that we have done all within our power to keep students informed of the schedule and sincerely regret if any person or group was unable to have his or its picture made because of uncontrollable circumstances."

Editor Gregg also handed out personal compliments to PIKA president Zeb Harget, senior class president Tom Lyman, junior class president Frank Elliott, and sophomore class president Hugh Lindsley, for their assistance in encouraging their respective groups to have their portraits made on time.

Unphotographed junior class members have through tomorrow, October 29, to get their pictures made, whereas, seniors still have the first 12 days of November for making their portraits, Gregg said.

Campus Chest Drive Now In Full Swing

The 1954 State College Campus drive got under way at a dinner meeting in Leazar Dining hall last Monday night.

Organizations participating in this year's chest campaign are the Student Government, Interdormitory Council, Interfraternity Council, Baptist Student Union, Vetsville, Wesley Foundation and the college YMCA.

A single fund-raising drive, donations to the campus chest will go toward assisting agencies in the Raleigh and Wake county United Fund and to the Frank P. Graham Fund for Indonesia. Ten per cent of the total collections will be handed over to the local community fund drive and 90 per cent will go to the World University Fund, of which the Frank P. Graham Fund for Indonesia is a part.

Pickenheim Awarded

Forestry sophomore Paul Pickenheim was awarded the Xi Sigma Pi "Cruiser's Axe" for leading his class scholastically during the 1953-54 school year.

An annual award, the presentation was made October 16, by Tom Frazier.

EDITORIAL COMMENT:

State's Fraternity System

The fraternity system at State College is a weak system when compared to that of other colleges and universities. Perhaps it is the basic nature of the college in that the more social minded students enroll in liberal arts and avoid technical schools such as this. That is to say, a higher percentage of State men, when compared to many schools, just don't give a damn about fraternities. Then to, there is the large number of students who can't afford it above the already high expenses of the college. At any rate, fraternity membership at State is comparatively low.

At the present time, a move is underway that should, if accepted, boost fraternities into a stronger system through college support. The college is considering building a fraternity court where all seventeen of the campus sets may have houses if they so desire. This is to be on a voluntary basis and is being pushed with the sole intent of improving fraternity housing.

None of State's fraternity houses were built for such use and are generally inadequate. They are on the most part crowded with a waiting list of men wanting to move into the center of fraternal functions and spirit. It is difficult to provide for all the men and yet, the fraternity can do very little to improve its condition.

The City of Raleigh has zoned fraternities out of all but the most undesirable locations. Those already situated may remain where they are or may move in behind another fraternity if they are successive occupants. One such Greek letter order was only one week away from final arrangements for buying a larger and much nicer house when the zoning commission applied the brakes. What can such a group do? Nothing more than sit tight and make the best of what they have, improving what they can and hoping for something better.

One factor behind the zoning out of fraternities was the opinion that Raleigh citizens have of State fraternities. The neighbors of the men living in such houses are usually elderly and these people make little effort to understand young people. The organizations are social in nature and so with the weekend, comes the blast. This disturbs quite a few of the citizens but the frictions don't stop there, but spreads, fostering poor relations with the college.

A fraternity court built with each group designing and owning their own home would relieve Raleigh of one of its pet peeves. It would also eliminate some of the overcrowding of the present set-up. It would give each fraternity an opportunity to expand into a house designed to fit the needs of such an organization and give them a place reasonably safe from fire.

There are obvious disadvantages to such a system, such as a loss of identity. Something of personal pride on each man's part in making an effort toward bettering the house conditions of the present could also be lost. Men from schools having such a system have their own story as to how the court works out. Opinions are about equally divided.

However, the proposed change-over is moving toward a big step. There is not much choice as what to do. Public relations and possibly conditions will get progressively worse. Considerable care should be made in making the decision. On the whole, the system is a good one and could do much to build up the fraternity system at State.

Pitch Dark

"The Daily Tar Heel today enters its plea beside that of the Greek, Ajax: We pray for light. We are dismayed, in this era of progress, that no step has been taken to brighten the paths of Carolina Gentlemen pedestrians on their way home from coed dorms at night. It has been brought to our attention that when the lights have flickered their last on Alderman and Smith porches and the Carolina Gentleman turns his face homeward (or to the Mouza) he finds the University's rustic lamps, too, have faded away.

A lengthening of lamp post hours is needed in the interest of Gracious Living (after coed hours) in Chapel Hill."

—Daily Tar Heel, October 22, 1954

State students do have one thing in common with their cousins at Chapel College! As the above editorial so well puts it, "We pray for light." Maybe it's some consolation to the Carolina Gentleman (?) to know that the campus here is also dark but then it's not quite so tough here. State students don't have to walk from the coed dorms in the dark. "Ain't none!"

The campus lighting system here has been a perpetual grievance of students. The lighted areas are very small and far apart. The lamp posts that look so "collegiate" during the day serve no purpose at all at night. This campus is pitch dark as soon as the sun sets and so remains throughout the night.

As many holes and other hazards as exist on campus, it isn't safe for anyone to venture out after dark. Luckily students have managed to escape the things which may easily happen in the near future. Aside from comfort derived from the lights, the safety feature should be enough to push the better lighting program along a little faster.

It is really a shame that two educational centers such as State and Carolina have to be in the dark. Wonder if the Mop-Up would be willing to sell flashlights at a discount? Probably not.

Today, if you will join me, I would like to take you into the make-believe land of the empty cocktail glass. In it we will find strange happenings, so let's be off. Here we go, spinning—descending—faster—faster—what's this? It looks like the silhouette of a man playing a piano. There they are floating amongst the champagne bubbles—the notes rising slowly as his hands move almost motionless over the 88 keys.

We're getting closer to him now, and the notes are becoming more distinct. He's playing "The Song Is You," Hammerstein-Kern, from Music In The Air. And now, faintly in the background, we can hear a soft guitar and string bass accompaniment. They are going into action into another number—"I've Got You Under My Skin," Cole Porter, from Born To Dance. Terrifically played by master of the keyboard. Now we hear "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes" from Roberta. Truly a masterpiece, played smoothly by a young and spirited musician. Next from the trio, we hear the all-favorite "Body And Soul" from Three's A Crowd. This number hardly needs commenting upon, because it is much acclaimed by everyone. Now we hear "Begin the Beguine" from Jubilee. Another Cole Porter hit played by everyone, but played best by this young musician before us. From the keyboard we now hear the trio beginning on "Temptation," one of the smoothest, coolest numbers ever recorded. Following, we can hear them on "Night And Day," a terrific number whenever played or sung. The next number is "Stardust," one of the oldest of favorites. While he's playing, let's get a little closer and see if we can tell who he is. You're right! It's Buddy Cole, one of the greatest contemporary pianists, who plays the songs Porter, Kern, Carmichael and others conceived as if he were the artist who wrote them himself. He portrays these numbers as the maestros meant them to be played.

"Don't Shoot!"

From recent Student Council minutes:

CHAIRMAN: Next we come to the problem of the appalling dressing-habits of our freshman. We have noted such unorthodox attire as long-point collars, garishly colored shirts, some actually made of dotted swiss!

SCH. OF MUSIC REP.: Definitely not in harmony with our standards.

JOURNALISM REP.: To corn a phrase, they ain't on the ball team.

SCH. OF LOGIC REP.: Why not shoot 'em?

MED. SCHOOL REP.: Great idea! I'll work up a "Good Taste" serum, refined from some Van Heusen Oxfordian shirts. We'll inoculate 'em all!

PHILOSOPHY REP.: Who cares!

LAW SCHOOL REP.: (Happily) Yeah, inoculate 'em. Then maybe some of 'em will get sick, and I . . .

JOURNALISM REP.: Now let's don't go all around Red Robin Hood's barn . . . what we need is a campaign to tell 'em about the Oxfordian . . . the silky, smooth oxford shirts with the smart, modern collar styles.

BUS. ADM. REP.: And don't forget . . . fine long-staple cotton, woven tighter to last longer . . . at the amazing price (thanks to excellent production facilities) of only $4.50.

JOURNALISM REP.: I think we got the gem of an idea here somewhere . . . but first off the bag, we gotta . . .

MED. SCHOOL REP.: Inoculate 'em.

LOGIC REP.: Yeah, shoot 'em.

CHAIRMAN: All in favor of mass inoculation say Aye. (MOTION CARRIES.)

JOURNALISM REP.: Maybe some of 'em already wear Van Heusen Oxfordians. Don't shoot 'til you see the whites of their shirts . . .

ART SCHOOL REP.: . . . and the colors! Don't forget Oxfordians come in the smartest colors this side of a Bonnard or a Klee.

PHILOSOPHY REP.: (eating Tootsie-roll) Who cares!

NCS Psychology Head Speaks At Ill. Meet

Dr. D. J. Moffie, head of the Department of Psychology at N. C. State College, addressed the Commercial Vehicle Section of the National Safety Council at its annual meeting in Chicago, Ill. His topic was "The Driver Interview."

The interview, Dr. Moffie pointed out, has come to occupy a major place in modern industry, not only for hiring, but also for placement, promotion and discharge of employee. A successful interview results from a matching of facts about the applicant with facts about the job.

Dr. Moffie said that an important area to be covered in the interviewing of commercial vehicle drivers has been featured in current research studies conducted by the Department of Psychology at State College.

Uyanik said the structure is unique for this area in that there are no vertical columns in the hanger to interfere with the movement of incoming and outgoing planes. The construction, he said, is designed to resist winds of 120 miles per hour and a snow load of 20 pounds per square foot.

The N. C. State College dairy products judging team ranked sixth in the Southern Dairy Products Judging Contest held at Virginia Polytechnic Institute in Blacksburg, Va., college authorities were notified here.

The State team also took first place honors in the milk division of the contest and was third in cheese.

The team is composed of George W. Ellis, Durham; Alva E. Williams, Jr., Durham; Carol N. Yarborough, Sanford; and Banks L. Leonard, Lexington, all seniors in dairy manufacturing at State College.

Ellis was seventh in the milk division of the contest and was 12th in cheese. Yarborough was fifth in cheese and 10th in the milk division. Williams was third highest ranking contestant in the milk division.

From Blacksburg, the N. C. State team will go to Atlantic City, N. J., where it will compete in the International Dairy Products Judging Contest to be held there Monday.

The Atlantic City contest, which will attract 25 to 30 teams, will be held as a part of the Dairy Industries Exposition, sponsored by the Dairy Industry Supply Association.

The State team is coached by Dr. Fred G. Warren of the college's Animal Industry Department.

N. C. State vs Furman

The Wolfpack of State College, after a very impressive showing last week against powerful Duke, will try and get back on the win trail this Saturday night when they meet the rough Purple Hurricanes of Furman University at 8 p.m. in Riddick Stadium. The pack, who all but played Duke off the field in the 1st quarter, are rated about even with Furman who are tied for first place with West Virginia in the Southern Conference standings.

State and Furman have not met on the gridiron since 1941 when they played to a scoreless tie. State's record against the Purple Hurricanes is not too impressive as Furman leads in the series with four wins, two losses and four ties. State won 27-0 in 1936 and 12-7 in 1939 for its only two wins. Furman brings a 4-2 record in to the game with wins over Newberry, Davidson, Presbyterian, and The Citadel. The only losses are against undefeated Miami and powerful South Carolina.

Admission will be by student books presented at the gate.

Freshman Football Squad Host To South Carolina Frosh Tonight At 8

N. C. State's freshman squad will be seeking to keep their home slate clean tonight at 8 p.m. in Riddick Stadium when they face the University of South Carolina yearling squad.

In two previous home appearances the Wolflets, coached by Bill Smaltz, have beaten Clemson, 14-13 and Wake Forest 14-6. State's only loss was sustained last Friday at Durham to Duke's Blue Imps, 38-32.

The State frosh have turned up a half dozen standouts in their three games to date, which indicates some top varsity prospects for the future. Backfield stars include Fullback Tony Guerrieri, Halfbacks Dick Hunter, Dick Christy, Les Verano and Ken Trowbridge and Quarterbacks Tom Katich and Joe Pineda. In the line the top performers are Guard Julius Compton, Tackles Tom Guerrieri and Dick DeAngelis, End John Collar and Center Jim Oddo.

South Carolina has a 1-1 record in a pair of games, winning from Clemson, 14-13 and losing to the University of North Carolina freshmen, 25-12.

The State-South Carolina lines stack up about even in the weight department with the Gamecocks having a slight edge. Tackles Dick Teague and Dick Strzesieski are the biggest men in the South Carolina forward wall at 220-pounds each, while State's top weight is packed by Tackle Dick DeAngelis at 200-pounds and End John Collar at 205-pounds.

South Carolina operates from the split T-formation, while State utilizes the single-wing, T-formation and double-wing from its multiple-offense.

The game was originally scheduled to be played in South Carolina, but was moved from Columbia to Raleigh because of a conflict in the use of the playing field.

SAE-31, PEP-0—The undefeated and unscored upon SAE's powerful football squad rolled to its fourth win of the season at the expense of the PEP's 31-0. Briley, who scored two TDs, along with Wheat and Chambers led the offense with Riggs, Welch and Blalock outstanding on defense. Tanner and Arkins stood out for the PEP's.

Kap Sig-25, Lambda Chi-0—The Kappa Sig's led by the outstanding performance of R. C. Osborne who scored two TDs and passed for another swept to an impressive 25-0 win over the Lambda Chi's. Osborne threw to Hank Currance for a TD and Jack Turney ran 25 yds. on a pass interception to complete the scoring.

PKP-13, SPE-0—The PKP's took to the air lanes to score two quick touchdowns and a 13-0 win over the SPE's. Karan passed to Avent and Hitchcock to Barnette for the scores plus the extra point by Bagwell. McGalliard and Moore played their usually fine game for the SPE's.

Three forfeits dotted last week's schedule with the Sigma Nu's remaining in the undefeated ranks with a win over the Farm House, the Sigma Chi's added another win to their record at the hands of the

Pack Host To Furman Looks For 2nd Win

Duke Edges State 21-7; Furman Downs Davidson 19-7

Hurricane Hazel may have long passed Raleigh but another tropical storm of a different nature is brewing in the vicinity of Greenville, South Carolina and is expected to hit with full force in Riddick Stadium Saturday night at 8 p.m. The Purple Hurricane of Furman University, gathering in intensity as the football season rolls into its sixth week, may wreck havoc on the field, but a group of snarling wolves from N. C. State College are hoping to weather this latest storm, after running into a small tornado in the form of Duke.

The invaders, coached by genial Bill Young, hold victories over Newberry, Presbyterian, The Citadel and Davidson, the latter pair in Southern Conference play. The Hurricane's defeats have been at the hands of two of the South's best elevens, undefeated Miami and powerful South Carolina.

On the basis of comparative records Furman's Purple Hurricane should rate as the favorite over Coach Earle Edward's N. C. State Wolfpack but most of the experts are figuring the contest as an even bet.

Although Furman has posted four wins against two losses, while State has a mediocre 1-5 record, there's no doubt that the caliber of the opposition must be considered. Furman's wins don't figure as an imposing array of victims since none of the opposition could be called national powers on the gridiron. The Hurricane losses were to a pair of major-league clubs.

State has fallen before two nationally ranked teams, unbeaten Virginia Tech and once-beaten Duke. In addition Wake Forest, Florida State and North Carolina have downed the Wolfpack. State's lone win came over William and Mary and that was accomplished with the 'Pack rated as a 14-point underdog.

Furman boasts a fine offensive team, led by four outstanding backs, Ted Yakimowicz and John Popson at the halves, Bob Dellinger at fullback and Quarterback Jim Boyle. Three of these, Popson, Boyle and Yakimowicz rate among the top 10 offensive players in the Southern Conference.

State, too, has some good backfield talent. Leaders are Halfbacks George Marinkov and John Zubaty, currently second and third in the Atlantic Coast Conference rushing statistics, Fullback Don Langston and Quarterback Eddie West, a pair of veteran lettermen. Marinkov is a national leader in kickoff returns and has a better than four-yard average from scrimmage.

If there's an edge for either club it probably should be Furman's because of a superiority in aerial weapons. The Hurricane has averaged some 85 yards per game passing to only 35 for State this year.

TKE's, and AGR's forfeited to the PKT's.

Volleyball

Sigma Chi over Sigma Pi—The Sigma Chi's led by Arthur and Cooke remained undefeated as they swept to 15-1 and 15-11 wins over the Sigma Pi's. Gates stood out for the Sigma Pi's.

SAE over SAM—The SAE's dropped the first game to the determined SAM's 15-10 but rallied to cop the final two 15-11 and 15-10. Briley, Wheat and Farmer led the SAE's while Giddens played outstanding ball for the SAM's.

Sigma Nu over F. House—Led by the usual fine play of Harold Mowery along with Jack Hall, the Sigma Nu's downed the Farm House 15-7 and by the slim margin of 16-14 to keep their season's record unmarked.

KA over PKT—George Hall led the KA's to two straight wins over the PKT's 15-4, 15-4.

SPE over Lambda Chi—The SPE's took two close games from the Lambda Chi's 15-8 and 15-10 to win the match. Smiley led the winners.

PEP over AGR—The PEP's swept two from the AGR's by 15-10 and 15-4 to cop another win. Saffer led the PEP's and Lambert the AGR's.

The PKP's and PKA's gained victories by forfeits over the Kappa Sig's and TKE's respectfully. Notice should be taken that the TKE's have been dropped from the intramural program due to lack of interest.

Soccer Squad Ties Maryland; Beats Duke

N. C. State's soccer squad fought the University of Maryland, last years ACC champs, to a 3-3 deadlock here last Saturday morning. The Wolfpack lead by the outstanding play of Bud Yarbarger coasted to an early 3-1 lead but Maryland stormed back to tie the score and sent the contest into extra periods, which failed to break the tie.

The tie still keeps the Wolfpack in the undefeated ranks in conference play as they hold a 2-1 win over Duke, the first time State has beaten Duke in soccer in over two years, and the tie with Maryland. Maryland has yet to taste defeat also with wins over Duke and Carolina plus the tie. Maryland and State do not play a return match this year.

On November the 6th State will play host to Frostburg, Md. in a non-conference battle at 10 a.m. and on the 8th the University of Virginia will provide the opposition in a conference scrap at 3 p.m.

N. C. State's Cross Country Team Unbeaten; Lead ACC; Meet Va. & WF

N. C. State's cross country squad will try and add another win to its already perfect Atlantic Coast Conference record of two wins and no losses when they meet Virginia and Wake Forest in a conference meet this Saturday morning at 11:00 a.m. on the track field. State now has a winning streak of 17 dual & triangular meet victories in a row dating back to 1950 which includes major wins over Carolina and Maryland this year.

Last Saturday State rolled to an easy win over Davidson and William & Mary in a triangular non-conference meet. The scores were State—18, Davidson—51 and William & Mary—66. Low score win in cross country.

State's freshman squad also rolled to another win, this time at the hands of the 66th Signal Bat. from Fort Bragg. Score was State frosh—15 and Signal Bat—52. State's freshmen have several meets coming up, today they meet Carolina's frosh at 4:30, Saturday morning they meet Wake Forest's frosh and that afternoon at 3:30 the Burlington Club. The ACC varsity cross country standing are as follows:

	Won	Lost
N. C. State	2	0
Maryland	2	1
Carolina	2	2
Virginia	1	1
Duke	0	1
Wake Forest	0	2

Gold-Fourth team by the score of 15-10 and 15-2. The vets were led by Wood but it was a team victory all the way. Hux was the lead man for the Owen No. 1 and Welch was led by McCormick and Hancock.

Alexander No. 2 also beat Owen No. 1 by the scores of 15-11 and 15-6 after losing the first game by 15-8. The Alexander team also had a close call with Welch, when Welch won the first game 15-13. But the Alexander team came back with 15-11 and 15-8. The Alexander team was led by the spiking and net work of Holt.

Syme No. 2 Loses To Both Owen No. 2 And Becton No. 1 At The Nets—Owen No. 2 won over Syme No. 2 in a close battle of 15-8 and 16-14 after being a ten point down in the second game. Dickman, Atkins, and Paul were the outstanding players on the Owen team. Becton No. 1, undefeated in volleyball, beat the Syme team 15-2 and 15-12. They were led by Francos, Humphries and Powell. The Syme No. 2 team was headed up by Heinbockel and Johnson.

Other Games at the Net are Forfeited—Tucker No. 1 forfeited two games last week, one to Owen No. 2 and the other to Bagwell No. 2.

Middlebrooks Speaks

"The Army's Philosophy: You Can Never Learn Too Much," was the topic of an address by Colonel Richard R. Middlebrooks, PMS&T of State College's ROTC, to the Ag Club at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

Speaking from personal experience, Colonel Middlebrooks emphasized that "you learn by observing others who are leaders and by your own experience. You can gain by experience in everything you do; and students who develop leadership can use it in civilian pursuits as well as in military life."

Can you truthfully say that you are a good date? Does your "Casa-nova" streak ever show? Are you sometimes puzzled about what to do and when? If you have any of these problems or others, be on hand November 23 in the College Union Theatre to discuss them with Bob Lasater and some of the other guys and gals that inhabit Raleigh. They will make up a panel of typical college students. The program will include: entertainment and dress on dates; everyday courtesies; how to make a good impression; and many other interesting topics that you will choose.

Truck Driving Class

A group of 22 students were graduated in the 65th class of the North Carolina Truck Driver Training School at N. C. State College recently.

The graduates of the school were honored at a luncheon in the ballroom of the College Union Building and were presented their certificates of graduation following the luncheon.

The chief luncheon speaker was Edward H. McMahan, a member of the State Utilities Commission. Speaking for the motor transport industry was M. Webster Henry secretary and treasurer of the Henry Transfer, Inc., of Rocky Mount.

Investigate University

Two faculty members in the School of Engineering at N. C. State College, Dr. George B. Hoadley and Prof. V. M. Faires, have been named members of an inspection team representing the Engineers Council for Professional Development, the major college and university accrediting agency in the field of engineering education.

In their capacity with the council, Dr. Hoadley and Professor Faires will visit Howard University, Washington, D. C., Nov. 1-2, to investigate that university's electrical engineering department for possible accreditation by the council.

E.E. Head Named Ed.

Dr. George B. Hoadley, head of the Department of Electrical Engineering at N. C. State College, has been named editor of Transactions, publication of the Institute of Radio Engineers Professional group on Instrumentation.

Transactions is devoted to news of the group's activities and technical papers concerning the field of electronic instrumentation, its problems, and applications.

Seventy-Five Attend UN Day Meeting

Over 75 persons attended a luncheon held in connection with N. C. State College's annual observances of "United Nations Day" in the college dining hall Saturday.

Chief speaker was Robert Lee Humber, Greenville attorney and noted exponent of world government. Humber's theme was "The United Nations: Its Achievements and Responsibilities."

Sponsoring organizations were the Baptist Student Union, the Wesley Foundation, the Lutheran Students Association, the State College Woman's Club, the College YMCA, and the International Relations Department of the Raleigh Woman's Club.

The luncheon meeting was open to students and faculty members of Meredith, Peace, Saint Mary's and State College and to Raleigh citizens. Foreign students enrolled at the college in Raleigh were recognized during the luncheon.

We'd Like You To Meet—

Dr. E. Travis York, Jr., head of the Agronomy Department received his Bs. and M. S. from Alabama Polytechnic Institute. He can well understand the plight of the student who is very active in extra-curricular activities and still try to maintain that "B" average, for he is a man that did just that. He was President of the Alpha Gamma Rho social fraternity and was a member of several honor fraternities, while also working on student publications and serving on the Student Government at Auburn.

After receiving his degree from Auburn, Dr. York served three years in the Army. He was an outstanding cadet in the ROTC program at Auburn and received his commission upon graduation. When he returned to civilian life he went straight back to school and received

Thomas Lynam

We would like you to meet Thomas Lynam, President of the Senior Class. Tom is a Senior in Civil Engineering and he is an outstanding student in his curriculum.

When asked what could be done to make this Senior class the best ever, Tom replied that all it would take is the cooperation of the students in the class. He is putting forth a great deal of time and energy for his class and is to be congratulated on the work that he has done thus far.

Tom is also President of ASCE, a member of Chi Epsilon, on the College Union Outing Committee his PhD degree at Cornell University.

While at State, Dr. York has been very interested in student affairs. He has served two years on the Student Government and also and the Publicity Committee. His grades are exceptionally good as shown by his selection as the outstanding sophomore in Civil Engineering, and the reception of the American ENKA Scholastic Scholarship.

Tom's main interest seems to be the Senior class. He is in the process now of developing a senior class project, working on graduation, and trying to build among the seniors the feeling of unity. This is a big job for one man to have on his shoulders, and as he has stated before it will take the complete cooperation of every student to carry these programs out. He urges all seniors to attend their class meetings and to take part in all of their activities. With a man like this behind the class how can they go wrong.

on a special committee studying student-faculty relations. He was initiated into the Blue Key honor fraternity in 1952, and is also an honorary member of Golden Chain. At present he is chairman of the Scholarship and Grant in Aid Committee and the State College Curriculum Committee.

With all of this outside work it appears that he wouldn't have time for his major job, that of being head of the Agronomy Department. To be able to do all of this he must be a man with boundless energy, this ability to get things done, and a sense of constant improvement. And believe me he is just that.

P. S. If anyone can find out what the E. stands for in his name, please let this reporter know because it is his most guarded secret and rather difficult to find out.

WITH THE GREEKS

AND

SPEC HAWKING

With halloween close by and according to reports from the respective fraternities the next several week-ends prior to homecoming are loaded with parties and activities of one sort or another. Football games and halloween seem to be the main topics for the coming social events and the calendar reads something like this:

The AGR's will get their "Help Week" under way on the 1st of November followed by a pledge party at the end of the week. Farm House has planned a weiner roast Saturday afternoon before the State-Furman game for the brothers and their dates. With halloween in mind the PEP's plan to celebrate the week-end with a halloween party at the house centered around a hard times theme. This past week-end the PKT's held a very successful buffet supper at the house in honor of their alumni, prior to the State-Duke game.

The members of Sigma Nu fraternity will hold their annual pledge-brother football game this Saturday afternoon with the losers paying for the usual refreshments!!!! The trouble is the pledges have never won. Kappa Alpha chapter has planned a parents day this week-end followed by the State-Furman game that night. Sigma Chi is planning a big week-end in form of a Halloween Party.

The SAM's will have the regular week-end parties at the house. The SAE's new pledge class, sixteen strong, were given a party last week complete with combo and all.

The SPE house will be the scene of a Halloween party following the ball game Saturday night. The members of Theta Chi will take in its new pledges November 1st at the Carolina chapter in Chapel Hill. After a successful hamburger fry the PKP's plan to return to Crabtree Park for a chicken fry next week-end.

The Lambda Chi's held an open house and informal tea in honor of their neighbors last Sunday and the pledges will honor the brothers here with a party this week-end.

The TKE chapter plans to have a halloween party at the house. Sigma Pi will be host to its chapter at Wake Forest for a dance this week-end. Kappa Sig's will hold an informal party after the game Saturday.

The local chapter of PKA's observed their fifth anniversary of their founding here at State College this past week-end. The week-end activities were high-lighted by a dinner at the College Union and a cocktail party at the house prior to the State-Duke game which the brothers and guests attended in a group.
