UNIQUE SPREAD IS HELD AT STATE

Occasion is Peculiar in That Each
Man Invites Himself by Perfect
Attendance on Bible Classes

(By Charles M. Heck.)

Of all the many banquets and feeds given on State College campus, the one which a boy is proudest of being invited to was held at 6 o'clock Saturday night. For three years this banquet has been given and each time the number of lucky men invited has been nearly doubled. A peculiar element is that each man invites himself by attending without a single absence one of the thirty-five Bible classes conducted by the Y. M. C. A. Only by 100-per-cent attendance can a man be admitted.

Going back to your recollection of the Sunday school class you used to attend, you can figure about how many 100-per-cent attendance students there were. These classes averaged some thirteen students, about like the ordinary Sunday school class. Therefore, you would expect about the same number of 100-per-cent men. Only by such a comparison can one realize the startling fact that three hundred and ninety-one men were present. Three hundred and ninety-one students attended their Bible classes every time they met. The State of North Carolina has cause to be proud of this feat. No other college in the United States has ever equaled that. There may be more men enrolled in the Bible classes of the very large universities, but we challenge any of them to show a record for perfect attendance equal to that. There may be colleges that by religious connection or otherwise feel they have a right to be called Christian colleges, but State College students feel that here they have won the right by a very real demonstration of honest appreciation and study of the basis of all Christian institutions, the Bible.

Practically half of all the men on the campus have been meeting every Wednesday night for a forty-five-minute discussion of the daily studies they have had through the week. Private study for themselves is the basis which is just what the student most of all needs. Then, on Wednesday night, after supper, each student meets with a little group in his section of his dormitory, not to hear a lecture by some professor, but under the leadership of one of the selected upperclassmen, to discuss the lesson. Free from constricting influences, with the same spirit of youth and

The Pine Burr Society Initiates New Members

Only Seven Juniors Have Records Such as to Entitle Them to a Place in State's Honorary Society

Last Monday night the final rites were completed for installing into the Pine Burr Society the members of the Junior Class whose records were such as to warrant their membership. This, the second year of the society's history, was marked by a moderate amount of formality in the matter of making known its chosen ones. The beginning was made a week ago, when, at the chapel hour, the men selected were named, and as they responded from their seats, they were presented with a large pine burr, to which was attached an envelope by means of ribbon of the society's colors. The identity of the men to be designated at that time had been carefully guarded, and thus the effect of surprise was fully evident.

Monday morning, the men who had been chosen Friday morning, appeared, wearing the small pine burr on their coat lapel, a custom which was inaugurated last year, at the time the Juniors were admitted. The out the day, as a part of the initiation, which was to be completed that curious pledge pin was worn through-night. Accordingly, the society met Monday night, in the Y. M. C. A. building, for the purpose of formally inducting the men into its fold. Immediately after the initiation exercises refreshments were served to all the members of the society. During the course of the service, the history, aims, and possibilities of the society were recounted to the new men in an informal manner by Col. J. W. Harrelson, an alumni member of the faculty who was most instrumental in founding the society a year ago. He gave as the main purpose of the society a means of organizing the honor students who have distinguished themselves in College activities into an honorary society, the duties of the members of which it should be to endeavor to raise the standards of scholarship at State College. Though young, he said, the Pine Burr is already making itself felt in giving to the students an incentive toward higher standards here. In the future it will become an organization whose power will be felt over all the College, he said.

The members of the Junior Class who were chosen are: Lloyd Underwood Bailey, an Electrical student, of Manteo, North Carolina; James Edward Britt, a Mechanical student, of Clinton, North Carolina; Howard Derward Hamrick, an Electrical student, of Ruth, North Carolina; James Manley McGougan, an Agricultural student, of Lumber Bridge, North Carolina; Hugh L. AGRICULTURAL CLUB'S INTERESTING DEBATE

Important Query Discussed: N. C.
State's Appropriation Should be as Large as That to University

Tuesday night, in spite of the fact that there was a steady downpour of rain, the Agricultural Club held one of the most interesting and instructive programs that has been held this year, to a crowded house. The question was one vital to all of us, and especially so at this time. The subject of the debate was, "Resolved, That the Legislature of North Carolina should make as large appropriation to N. C. State College as to the University." The affirmative side was ably upheld by Warren and Blount, while the negative side was represented by Rich and Killian. In opening the discussion, Mr. Warren stated that the State is morally and legally bound to give us an equal appropriation to that given the University. Morally bound, because the farmer is the backbone of our civilization, and he must be trained. No nation can rise higher than its farmers. Then there are engineers, mechanics and business men to be trained, and N. C. State is the place to do it. The State has been looking for small things to come from our College, and as yet not so many great things have been accomplished, but when it wakes up to the fact that big things are to be expected, big things will come from this institution. The farmer has been called a "clodhopper" because of his lack of education; he must no longer be called by such a name, for he is getting the education here that will permit him to stand with the best. Mr. Blount gave as reasons for the equal appropriation, that the bulk of the taxes were paid by the farmer, hence the benefits should be enjoyed by the farmer. Also, he showed how very much greater advantage the educated farmer has over the uneducated one. Every department of the College is handicapped because of a lack of funds to properly carry on the work; hence there is no danger of getting too much equipment. If we get the College, it will be no trouble to get students.

Another thing in favor of a large appropriation is the fact that although 87 per cent of the money paid for extension work, which extends from Cherokee to Currituck, is paid

EDITORIAL

Practically all of us have very even tempers. We growl all the time.

We have been reading of a fellow that was electrocuted while in his bath tub. He probably died clean.

Dr. Derieux is going to teach a class this spring in singing. No sophomores can be induced to lead their Bible classes longer.

Save while young, says the old proverb. But what good is it going to do, when the cost of living goes up faster than our savings?

When a Sophomore buys a pillow-top for his girl, and has the inscription, "25 B. C.," put on it, we wonder if that is her birthday. Ask Wallis.

One of our professors had a serious accident the other day. He dropped into the vernacular, bumped into a hard word, and split his infinitive.

When our bank account gets to depleting so rapidly as it does most of the time, we wish we were a great big man, like Jackie Coogan, for instance.

And still we can't help laughing at the freshman who stayed in the Y. M. C. A. all afternoon calling his own number, and wondering why the line was eternally busy.

For some strange reason very few of the freshmen went to Sunday school last Sunday. They seemed to be interested in art, or at least we are informed that it was painting.

One of the fellows bought a pair of trousers that was advertised to be all wool. He found that they were no good whatever. You can't believe anything the papers say, anyway.

The fellow that is sponsoring the self-help organization was so enthusiastic about its possibilities that he said that once it got under way, the townspeople could get anything done they wished by simply calling five-three-oh.

The Franklin County Club is an outstanding group of men in several ways, but its recent achievement in eating a half-gallon of ice cream per man, on one of the coldest nights we have had this year, will be put down as a record-breaker in the annals of college life.

WHY NOT ORGANIZE FOR SELF-HELP?

There are a great many of the boys here who are earning all or part of their College expenses while in school, and of course it is a very commendable thing to do. The present system, however, is very inefficient, since it has for its basis only the mere chance of work and worker getting together. Every boy works independently, and finds work wherever he can, and does it whenever he can. As a consequence, there are a great many of the boys that would like to get work and cannot find it, simply because those desiring to get work done do not know where to get in touch with those boys. Then, again, there is the condition that has arisen after so many years of the present system, namely, the fact that the people living near the College have found that it is very difficult to get work done promptly through application to the College authorities, who have no accurate knowledge of the identity of those desiring work, and have not the time or the inclination to go to any great amount of trouble to locate them, and have grown to believe that the boys do not desire work, and thus have fallen into the belief that it is better to hire colored people or any others that may be available and forget the College boys altogether. Now, all these conditions could be very largely overcome if there were some sort of organization among those wishing to work part of their time.

As we see it, it could be handled nicely in this manner, and this is also the idea of those who are putting forward the suggestions. Let all the men desiring work, club together, get out a list of the members of the organization, what they can do, approximately what time they can work, their room numbers, and schedules of class work. Let this list be placed in the Y. M. C. A. office, in the Registrar's office, and in the Military office. Then those having work to do could merely call one of these offices, tell what they wanted done, at what time they wanted it done, and what they proposed to pay. The list would show the whereabouts of one of the boys wanting work of that kind, he could be looked up and the job given him. Nothing complicated, nothing elaborate. Just an organization for mutual good among the self-help students. Let's make it a success.

OUR "Y" MOVIES AGAIN

Some time ago we had something to say with reference to the Y. M. C. A. plan for having free moving pictures in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium on Sunday afternoons. After a few shows of this kind, however, it was thought best, for one reason or another, to discontinue them, and to take the place of the Sunday movies, the "Y" has now arranged for the shows to be held on Thursday afternoons and nights, and to have a nominal admission charge to cover the actual expenses attached to the pictures. On the whole, this is very much like the plan used last year, and its popularity at that time has caused a widespread demand for its renewal. There is probably more demand for the pictures on the part of the faculty than there is on the part of the students, say those in charge. And we will admit that for those living near it has its advantages. Take, for example, a faculty man who has a large family. He can take the whole bunch for the price of one ticket for an equally good show down town. Really, it is a very good thing for the students, as well as for the faculty, as only the highest grade pictures will be shown, and the possibility will thus be given for seeing a good picture at a very low cost, and right here on the campus.

SMALL TEAMS ARE WINNERS, TOO

As we go to press the Rifle Team is in the midst of its intercollegiate contests, and the members of the Poultry Judging Team are just getting back from their trip to New York, where they went to engage in a judging contest in which there were representatives from twenty-three colleges. The Poultry Team came away from New York the possessors of a handsome loving cup, which they won despite the great and widespread competition. It has almost grown into a custom for the boys from N. C. State to come out with a high score in these contests, as several times during the last few years they have performed a similar feat. Under the guidance of Dr. B. F. Kaupp, who is a world-wide authority on poultry, the State bunch always turns out a winning team.

The Rifle Team is showing up just about as well, too. Although the standard attained last year has not yet been quite reached, the team has on the whole been very successful. In the biggest match of the season they won third place, and then beat the University of Georgia and Mississippi A. & M. at their own challenges. Detailed data of the present operations of the Rifle Team, or of the complete results of the Poultry Team's visit to the Northern neighbors, but these things will be given later.

THE NEW TEA ROOM

There is being planned for an opening, within a few days, of a really sure-enough tea-room in the basement of the new dining hall. This will be an entirely new thing here, and should prove to be a great convenience for the students. The new establishment will make a specialty of serving fraternity and club banquets whenever the occasion arises, and will serve meals of fixed menus at any time. The new establishment cannot but fill a long-felt need here, and we hope for it a very successful year.

FRED B. SMITH SAYS
NOTHING FINER THAN STUDENT RELIEF

Guy R. Hurlbutt Writes "N. C. State Certainly Helped, Not Only With Its Gift, But Its Influence"

Asked whether or not he had seen anything of Student Relief Work during his travels in Europe, Mr. Fred B. Smith replied that he had, and added that he did not know of a finer piece of benevolent work being done anywhere in the world. He said that the State College faculty and students had made no mistake in contributing to this cause.

Of the $1,400 pledged, $1,250 has already been collected and forwarded to the treasurer in New York.

Mr. Guy R. Hurlbutt has written a letter of thanks, from which the following extracts are taken:

"Up to the 23d (December) I had spent only twelve hours at home since Thanksgiving, but boy! 'she's going'—that's all I need to make me happy. We have passed the $14,000 mark and I believe most of it will be collected.

"N. C. State has certainly helped out a whole lot, not only with its gift, but with its influence; you have no idea what it has meant to us.

"Hope your collections will come through all right after the holidays, for we are so eager to realize all of our cash and stop that starving among the students over there."

N. C. State set the standard for the South in pledges. Why not set the standard for collections, also?

AGRICULTURAL CLUB'S

from State College's appropriation, it benefits the College very little directly.

The chief argument of the negative was that, inasmuch as the University was getting to be so old and decrepit, it needed more aid, whereas, State College is young and can get along with less.

At the business session of the club, it was decided to hold the annual reception early in March, and the faculty debate the latter part of February. Mr. Kiser rendered a report of the Fair Association, and announced plans for next year. Mr. Tilson was elected president of the association, and Mr. Killian secretary.

BIOLOGY CLUB BANQUET

Faculty and Students Enjoy Elaborate Affair

On Friday evening, January 26th, in the College Y. M. C. A., the Biology Club of State College held its first formal banquet. It was quite an elaborate affair and all due credit is given to the State College Woman's Club for the excellent dinner which they served.

The guests were met in the lobby by Mr. C. O. Killian, president of the club, and ushered into the banquet room, which was very appropriately decorated. A delightful four-course dinner was served. Mr. Killian, acting as toastmaster, gave a very interesting talk on the activities of the Biology Club, closing his remarks by introducing the speaker of the evening, Dr. Frederick A. Wolf.

Dr. Wolf is connected with the State Agricultural Extension Service in Plant Pathology work. His subject for the evening was, "History of Some of the Early Botanists and Their Work in North Carolina." This was indeed a very interesting and appropriate subject, and was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone present. The address was well prepared and brought to light many interesting facts along botanical lines. The club was very fortunate in securing Dr. Wolf as speaker of the occasion.

The Biology Club, while one of the youngest organizations on the campus, has nevertheless been very successful in its line of work. The membership consists of men who are interested in biological subjects and who are able and willing to put things across. Last fall, in the Students' Agricultural Fair, the club was awarded the first prize of $25.00 for the best show on midway. With an increase in membership, this term's work will doubtless be the best the club has experienced.

The following guests were present: Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Wolf, Dr. and Mrs. B. W. Wells, Prof. and Mrs. Z. P. Metcalf, Professors C. O. Eddy, A. C. Martin and F. B. Meacham, and from the Sophomore Class, Messrs. D. S. Matheson, L. A. Whitford, F. E. Lutz, E. G. Moore, T. T. Brown and A. M. Woodside.

WASHINGTON AND LEE FOR TURKEY DAY GAME

Gridiron Schedule Arranged for the Coming Season; University of South Carolina Taken On

What promises to be one of the drawing cards to football fans in North Carolina has been provided for in the 1923 football schedule for the Wolfpack. It is in the form of an annual game with the men from Washington and Lee University, to be played Thanksgiving Day, alternating between here and some place in Virginia. These games are arranged under a long-term contract, and are planned to come to North Carolina the years that Carolina invades Virginia in its annual clash with the University of Virginia. Thus there will be a really big football classic held in North Carolina each year. It is thought that this arrangement will do much for the popularity of the game in this State.

The University of South Carolina is also on the schedule for the Wolfpack. The season begins with a clash here with Roanoke, as has been the custom for some years. The entire schedule is as follows:

- Sept. 29—Roanoke at Raleigh.
- Oct. 6.—Penn State at State College, Penn.
- Oct. 13—South Carolina at Raleigh.
- Oct. 18—(Fair week) North Carolina at Raleigh.
- Oct. 27—Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, Va.
- Nov. 3.—Davidson at Charlotte.
- Nov. 10—Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Norfolk, Va.
- Nov. 17—Maryland at Raleigh.
- Nov. 24—Wake Forest at Raleigh.
- Nov. 29—Washington and Lee at Lexington or Norfolk, Va.

FISK JUBILEE QUARTET WILL BE HERE SUNDAY

Noted Negro Musicians Have Made Great Impressions, Having Sung for People the World Over

The Fisk University Jubilee Singers, the most noted negro singers in the world, will give a "service in song" in Pullen Hall, Sunday, February 4th, at 3 p. m. There are five in the company, four men and a woman. Some years ago this quintette made a trip around the world and made enough money to build Jubilee Hall at Fisk University. On this trip they sang for many of the royal families of Europe.

Last November they sang at the sessions of the International Convention of the Y. M. C. A., held in Atlantic City. The audiences were charmed with their masterful renditions of the old negro spirituals.

Sunday afternoon the faculty and students of N. C. State College will have the opportunity of hearing these old negro melodies sung by the best negro quintette in existence. The singers come under the auspices of the College Lecture Course. There will be no charge for admission.

AG. DIRECTORS' MEETING

The directors of the N. C. State College Agricultural Fair met in a very enthusiastic session, January 29, for the election of officers to direct the Fair during the school year of 1923-24. The following officers were elected: C. W. Tilson, president; J. A. Smithwick, vice president; C. D. Killian, secretary; and N. M. Smith, treasurer. H. W. Taylor and J. M. McGoogan were elected directors. The remaining vacancies, due to the outgoing senior members, will be filled at a regular election next fall.

Mr. C. W. Tilson, the newly elected president, is a member of next year's Senior Class, and is well qualified for the responsible position of pilot for the Agricultural Fair Association. Among the few earnest statements in his speech of acceptance, Mr. Tilson said that he was entering whole-heartedly into the work before the association, and would expect the co-operation of the other directors. "I consider the work of the Agricultural Fair the greatest movement sponsored by the Agricultural students at State College," said Mr. Tilson, "and I shall begin at once to enlarge our program and shall expect everyone to work hard."

Mr. Killian, secretary of the association, recommended a better publicity program for the donors of prizes. A committee was appointed to look after the publicity and advertising of the Fair for the next year.

STATE TOSSERS LOSE INITIAL GAME TO ELON

Shooting of Brown for Elon and the Close Guarding of Jeannette Are Features

The N. C. tossers lost the initial fray on last Wednesday night to Elon to the tune of 26-20. Elon's win was largely due to the efforts of Brown, who in the last half caged no less than six field goals, which brought his team from behind and gave them the six-point margin as it stood when the time-keeper's whistle sounded.

The game was rather slow in getting started. Or, perhaps, it would be better to say neither seemed able to score in those first few minutes except by means of fouls. The score stood 2 to 1 against State after about eight minutes of play, as a result of foul shots, when Fix of Elon caged the first field goal. He was soon followed by Johnson, however, which made the score 4-3 for Elon. This practically tells the tale of the first half, for it was nip and tuck all the way through, with first one and then the other in the lead. The half ended with the score standing at 9-all.

The second half opened with a rush by State. Before almost no time State had piled up a 15-10 lead, which looked as if she had struck her old stride of winning games in the second half. Spectators thought State had begun the attack that was destined to make losers out of the most promising teams. In fact, attacks like that will make losers of the best opponents if kept up long enough, and State supporters believe that it is in the team to keep it up when the next game rolls around and finds them with, apparently, a little less nervousness. Getting back to the game, the spurt that looked so promising was the result of a spectacular shot by Wray from mid-floor, a couple of shots by Johnson, and a couple of foul shots made good by Curtis. All the boys played a good game, but if honors are to go to any individual, they must go to Jeannette, who did mighty good work at breaking up Elon attacks. His speed made him appear to be almost everywhere all the time.

As the second half drew to a close, Elon's star began to open his guns. Getting the ball outside and almost under his own goal, he dribbled to mid-court and punctured the basket with one of his deadly shots. From that time on it seemed as if he was trying to see from how many different positions he could shoot, for he caged the old pill from all angles with apparently the greatest ease. His spectacular work at the close of the half brought his team from behind and gave them the decision, 26-20.

STATE COLLEGE TO HAVE TEA ROOM ON CAMPUS

Will Make a Specialty of Fraternal and Club Banquets, Relatives and Friends of Students

Students here have for a long time been seriously embarrassed when it becomes their duty to entertain friends at meal time. It is true that the College maintains a most efficient boarding department which handles admirably the food question for the students themselves, but there the accommodations stop. Relatives and friends visiting students must submit to hotel fare while here; clubs and fraternal organizations must hold their banquets downtown.

Realizing the urgent need for a refined cafeteria and tea room on the campus, a group of interested people, headed by our esteemed fellow-student, Miss Lucile Thompson, have perfected plans for such an enterprise to be located in the new dining hall.

The plan at present is to provide for a limited number of patrons and to enlarge later if business prospects permit. Miss Thompson promises good home-cooked food at reasonable prices. She has made provisions for special concessions, probably in the form of standard meal tickets, to regular patrons. Menus will be published in The Technician, waiting rooms provided, and a general color scheme of decoration adhered to in order to make the place homelike.

The management plans to open in the near future and to hold its formal opening in two weeks at the latest.

PARAMOUNT PICTURES TO BE SHOWN AT "Y"

Moving pictures will be run each Thursday afternoon and night during February and March, except on March 8th, when the Student Volunteer Convention will be in session, in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium.

At the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. last May it was voted that a charge of 10 cents should be made for adults and 5 cents for children, and that the best pictures obtainable should be secured.

Three shows will be given each Thursday—one at 4:30, one at 6:30, and one at 8:00. The 8:00 o'clock show is primarily for the faculty.

Contracts have been signed for the following pictures:

- Three-Word Brand.
- Call of the North.
- Little Minister.
- A Prince There Was.
- Traveling On.
- The Man From Home.
- The Bachelor Daddy.
- Across Continent.

All these are Paramount pictures and are the most recent ones the company will rent to the college. The uptown theaters have the exclusive right to the "first run" of Paramount pictures.

UNIQUE SPREAD HELD AT STATE

earnestness that they would discuss a recent football game, they discuss the great themes of the Bible and learn the foundation principles of right living.

One naturally asks, How do you do it? The answer is that this, as much as radio, is one of the wonders, glorious wonder it is, of modern life. College today is not as you of the older generation remember it. That spirit with which you, twenty years ago, rooted for a ball game, has been harnessed, just like the lightning has been. Not to make it less; on the contrary, to make it more. But it has been directed, and in the directing has been cultivated so that when true good and worth is seen in a movement, whether it be a ball game or a Bible class, this trained spirit of young men acts and things are moved. What a harvest of power and good North Carolina will reap from men so trained to throw themselves into every good cause and carry it through with 100-per-cent efficiency as well as 100-per-cent pleasure and pride! We congratulate State College on her banquet and on leading our nation in the greatest study presented to any student.

The program was as follows:

1. Music—Dr. Derieux.
2. Reading of record for last term and announcement of new system.
 - Student classes 34
 - Faculty classes 1
 - 100-per-cent classes 21
 - Men enrolled 447
 - 100-per-cent men 391
3. Talk by Dr. Ellis.
4. Talk by Dr. Anderson.
5. Talk by Prof. Heck.
6. Talk by Dr. Derieux.
7. Prayer—Prof. Cloyd.
8. Feed by Charlie Faucette.

POETS' CORNER

OPPORTUNITY

This I beheld, or dreamed it in a dream:—
 There spread a cloud of dust along a plain;
 And underneath the cloud, or in it, raged
 A furious battle, and men yelled, and swords
 Shocked upon swords and shields. A prince's banner
 Wavered, then staggered backward, hemmed by foes.
 A craven hung along the battle's edge,
 And thought, "Had I a sword of keener steel—
 That blue blade that the king's son bears,—but this Blunt thing!" he snapt and flung it from his hand,
 And lowering crept away and left the field.
 Then came the king's son, wounded, sore bestead,
 And weaponless, and saw the broken sword,
 Hilt-buried in the dry and trodden sand,
 And ran and snatched it, and with battle-shout
 Lifted afresh, he hewed his enemy down,
 And saved a great cause that heroic day.

—Edward Rowland Sill.

TEXTILE SOCIETY
RESUMES WORK

With William Barnhardt as president, the Tompkins Textile Society is again rendering interesting and instructive programs. Near the end of the fall term it was voted to hold meetings bi-monthly, in order that men appearing on the program would have more time to prepare.

Every member of the society is urged to be present at every meeting, as subjects will be discussed which will be of vital interest.

The other officers for the spring term are: Sam Newlin, vice president, and Roberts, secretary.

DENIS PAPIN'S

STEAM CYLINDER

They Weighed Air—and Charles II Laughed

SAMUEL PEPYS says in his diary that Charles II, for all his interest in the Royal Society, laughed uproariously at its members "for spending their time only in weighing of air and doing nothing else since they sat."

This helps to explain why Charles has come down to us as the "merry monarch."

The Royal Society was engaged in important research. It was trying to substitute facts for the meaningless phrase "nature abhors a vacuum," which had long served to explain why water rushes into a syringe—the commonest form of pump—when the piston is pulled out.

Denis Papin had as much to do as anyone with these laughable activities of the Royal Society. Papin turned up in London one day with a cylinder in which a piston could slide. He boiled water in the cylinder. The steam generated pushed the piston out. When the flame was removed, the steam condensed. A vacuum was formed and the weight of the outer air forced the unresisting piston in.

Out of these researches eventually came the steam engine.

London talked of the scandalous life that King Charles led, and paid scant attention to such physicists as Papin, whose work did so much to change the whole character of industry.

The study of air and air pumps has been continued in spite of Charles's laughter. In the General Electric Company's Research Laboratories, for instance, pumps have been developed which will exhaust all but the last ten-billionth of an atmosphere in a vessel.

This achievement marks the beginning of a new kind of chemistry—a chemistry that concerns itself with the effect of forces on matter in the absence of air, a chemistry that has already enriched the world with invaluable improvements in illumination, radio communication, and roentgenology.

PLANS FOR SPRING TERM ARE MADE AT LUNCHEON

Several Faculty-led Classes Will be Held in Addition to Regular Dormitory Student-led Classes

Last Sunday will be recorded in the minds of 391 State College students as one of the most pleasant of their college days. There were no flags hoisted, nor bugles blown, but just a friendly getting together of all of the 100-per-cent Bible class members to celebrate their successful fall term's work. It was a feed, and only those having a perfect attendance could take part. However, from the looks of the crowd of energetic youth present, one would have surmised that but a very few got left out. There were 391 men present out of the 447 members enrolled. Fellows, how is that for the old State College pep? Only 56 men out of 447 whose attendance for the entire fall fell below perfect.

Dr. John Derieux started off the program with several good joyful songs. Mock then summarized the results of the term's work, which reads as follows:

Student classes	34
Faculty classes	1
100-per-cent classes	21
Men enrolled	447
100-per-cent men	391

Mock commended the members for their splendid record, and for their hearty co-operation in making the work a success.

Dr. Ellis briefly outlined the work for the remainder of this term, and asked that everyone keep up the good work.

Dr. Anderson made a talk about a class which he is going to conduct this spring. He said, by request of some of the students, that he proposes to teach a class relating to the relation between the Bible and science, bridging over the so-called gap between the two. There really is no gap between science and the Bible, but for the benefit of those in doubt we will talk over the matter together, he said.

Prof. Heck next made a talk on his class for this term. He said he would be very glad for all who so desire to join his class.

Finally, Dr. Derieux got his turn and made a few remarks about a singing class which he is going to teach for the benefit of all who are interested in learning to read music and improve their singing.

This having completed the devotional part of the program, the meeting was turned over to Charlie Faucette and his serving committee. They brought in the "eats," and the rest goes without saying.
