STATE'S BASEBALL TEAM CONTINUES ON RAMPAGE FOR STATE-WIDE HONORS

Sweet Revenge From Wake Forest
Gives State College Fans More Confidence

Seven games won and one tied is not at all bad for the first eight games played. A rather misty gloom fell over the State camp when Wake Forest tied the knot at 6-6 in the annual Easter Monday clash; but that gloom was completely cleared away when our boys journeyed over to the Baptist camp and brought back a 5-0 scalp. The pitching honors were fairly evenly divided between Johnson of Wake Forest and Allen of State. The inability of the Baptists to put up an airtight defense cost them the game; a total of seven errors being recorded against them.

Miscues by some of our boys gave Wake Forest a wonderful opportunity to tie the Easter Monday game, and they didn't fail to take advantage of it. In the second game the reverse was true, only more so. That first game served as an eye-opener, and it may be a good thing for our boys to have had the game tied up as it was.

The box score for the second game follows:

INTERNATIONAL SHOW GIVEN AT N. C. STATE

Cosmopolitan Club Demonstrates Customs and Costumes of Other Nations

The first annual international fashion show of foreign customs and costumes given by the State College Cosmopolitan Club was held at the College "Y" auditorium recently and to an audience which once and a half filled the room, students from countries as far apart as Brazil and India demonstrated their native garb, national anthems and folklore. An audience which came through curiosity applauded repeatedly and left the show voting it "the best ever."

Following an introduction of the club to the audience by Dr. Carl C. Taylor, Ah Young, the son of a Hawaiian merchant, took the audi-

Dixon Chosen to Lead "Y" Forces

With three other contestants in the race for president, P. T. Dixon, of New Bern, N. C., received a large plurality of the votes cast at the Y. M. C. A. election last Wednesday night, and thus will pilot the work of the "Y" at State College during the 1923-'24 session.

Whether Dixon is a product of Mr. King's careful and prayerful training, or a man born to serve, matters not, but the fact remains, and the election showed, that the students of State College recognized him as the man for the position.

Each year the Y. M. C. A. at State College is doing a greater work, due, without doubt, to the fact that each year stronger men form the Cabinet. These men are stronger because of the effective work of the "Y." The election of a student president has come to be one of the big tasks on the campus. He must be a man beyond reproach and one liked by all the students. Each year the standards are raised, but at the same time Mr. King and his Cabinet are working hard to have a man ready for the place.

The election this year was decided in the minds of the students long before the day of voting. They were eager to confer upon Dixon the honor, and still more eager to have as their "Y" president a man who surely was born for the job. During his three years on the campus Dixon has been closely affiliated with the

Y. M. C. A., serving efficiently whenever called upon, and in a spirit that instantly convinces all that he is a Christian and honestly enjoys doing a Christian's duty, namely, "helping to bring the Kingdom of God on earth."

"A prince," "a man born to serve," and "a gift from above," are terms which only feebly tell the reader the type of man that will be at the head of the student force of State's Y. M. C. A. during the coming year.

Meeting the members of the Freshman and Sophomore classes upon their arrival at State College, with a smile that makes recognition a guess, and a handshake that bespeaks warmth and brotherly love, Dixon has become to them a man in whom they can put their trust. He lives a life that permits no criticism, has no enemies, and treats all like brothers.

Under the guidance of its new leader the "Y" should do even a greater work than has been done this year under the leadership of its thus far most efficient president, "Shorty" Cummings, whose untiring efforts and efficient administration has greatly increased the influence of "Y" on the campus.

Cummings and his co-workers are to be congratulated upon the successful program of the "Y" this year, and thanked for training men who can carry on the work that is ever growing.

The other student officers elected were: J. E. Britt, vice-president; L. A. Brothers, secretary, and G. W. Wray, treasurer.

Crater Establishes New Record for Javelin Throw; Squad Makes
Excellent Showing

Journeying over to the "Bull" city for their first dual meet of the season, the State College cindermen made an excellent showing against the Methodist squad.

The Red and White runners sprang quite a surprise on those who are known to dopeland as sport prophets, little being known as to the strength of our team, to which no newspaper publicity has been given.

Jimmy Crater with a mighty heave smashed the State record in javelin throwing, established in 1921 by Ned Manning, who graduated here recently.

Bill Morris created a sensation by clipping off the 100-yard dash in 10 seconds flat and running the 220 in 23 seconds.

"Red" Hamrick and Clarke are going fine again, each showing their wares by capturing two first places in their chosen events.

Quite a surprise was created when Brown defeated the veteran Haywood, last year's State champion, in the 440-yard dash.

WILLIAM H. JENNINGS IS '23 VALEDICTORIAN

Brilliant Chemical Student Reaches
Pinnacle of Scholastic Honors
in Senior Class

William Harney Jennings, Jr., was the recipient of the highest scholastic honor that could be placed upon any student in the Senior Class, last Monday, when, at a meeting of that class, President Julian Baum announced that his record was such as to entitle him to the privilege of giving the farewell address to his classmates, with whom he has worked for the past four years. Jennings is a native of Elizabeth City, where he was noted for his extreme brilliance in his studies. Since he has been a student here, Jennings has been a shining example of the well-nigh perfect student, being the only man in the entire Senior Class who has won

STATE'S GREATEST SCHOLASTIC HONOR

In conferring upon William Harney Jennings, Jr., the honor of delivering the Valedictory address at the Commencement of nineteen twenty-three, State College gave to him her highest recognition of his marvelous scholastic record. It is very fitting that Mr. Jennings should receive this honor, as he is the only member of the Senior Class who has made a record of sufficient merit to place his name on the Honor Roll for every year of his stay here. In view of the large number of classmates he has, this is indeed an unusual record, and we wish to extend to our Elizabeth City friend our heartiest congratulations.

A MOST DISTINGUISHED VISITOR

Major General David C. Shanks, commander of the Fourth Corps Area R. O. T. C. units, was the very welcome visitor of the College here last Monday. Probably in all the history of the R. O. T. C. at State College it has not been under the eye of one ranking so high as the recent visitor. A military parade was held in his honor, and later dinner was served in the College dining hall. In the afternoon a general inspection tour of the campus was taken by the General, the members of his party, and the officers of the Military Department here.

It is a well known fact that the General visits only those of his units who are making unusually good progress in the training of the future reserve officers, and for that reason, as well as the genuine pleasure we had in welcoming him here, we were exceedingly glad to have him visit us. We trust that the same pleasure will come to us again in the early future.

OUR NEW "Y" PRESIDENT

To those who were present at the time of the annual Y. M. C. A. election the other night, there is no need for any comment upon the results of that election. The almost unanimous selection of P. T. Dixon for the presidency next year, by those with whom he has been so closely associated during this and preceding years, speaks much more emphatically of his popularity and fitness than anything we might say. The election of Dixon was not unexpected, to say the least; but the overwhelming proportions of his majority was astonishing, even to his most ardent supporters. The members of the Y. M. C. A. Friendship Council have chosen well. There could not be found on the State College campus one who is a more able and diligent worker for the things that the Y. M. C. A. stands for than next year's incumbent. As chairman of the New Student Committee this year, he has paved the way for scores of new men to become better acquainted with the College and its aims and possibilities, and have been made to feel that they are really a part of the College, and that we are glad to have them here. Dixon has by his unusual activity about the "Y" acquainted himself thoroughly with the workings of that institution, and the part it is supposed to play in the life of State College. His election is the first harbinger of a most successful Y. M. C. A. program next year.

BURLINGTON'S GREAT IDEA

The recent "Stay-in-School" campaign put on by the faculty of the Burlington High School is one of the most commendable movements we have known of in recent years. While we are not as familiar with the details of the campaign as we would like to be, we are, nevertheless, very much interested in it, because of the excellent idea that it has. It seems that the male members of the faculty plan an entertainment for the boys of the high school, and at that time have speakers from all the men's colleges of the State. These speakers are themselves students in the institutions they represent, and in their talks emphasize the importance of staying in school after the usual high school course is finished. Each of the speakers gives the peculiar attractions of his own college and the opportunities it offers to the high school graduate.

The feminine members of the faculty give a similar entertainment for the girls of the high school, and have them addressed by representatives from all the girl's colleges of the State. The same points are there given emphasis as in the lectures for the boys.

Campaigns of this kind cannot but result in great good for the colleges of the State, and eventually to the State itself. The development of any state must be founded upon its educational progress, and cannot move any faster than that educational progress. We hope other cities will put on similar campaigns.

A GREAT DAY FOR THE ATHLETES

Last Saturday was a great day in the history of the athletes of State College. These sturdy men who have gone so far toward making our College what it is today were in the forefront at that time, probably more than they have ever been before on any one day. While our baseball fellows were taking the measure of Wake Forest on her own diamond, as part payment on the tied score that resulted here in the Easter Monday game, our track men were staging a walk-off with Trinity on her own track. Through the midst of all this, the students of the College were choosing by the ballot route their leaders for the Student Council next year, and when at nightfall the results of the day's voting were announced, it was found that the president was a man who had made his letter this year on the Wolfpack, the vice-president was a 'varsity track man, who at that particular time was breaking the State record on the javelin throw over at Trinity. The secretary of the new council was also a 'varsity football man who had made his letter this year besides the one chosen for president. The treasurer is assistant manager of football, and is a member of N. C. State's Fourth Corps Area Champion Rifle Team.

The great popularity of the athletes, as shown in the recent elections, is within itself sufficient testimony of the high plane on which athletics has placed itself at State College. No college need boast of its athletics if those who go to compose their teams attend college merely to make a name for themselves on the athletic fields, and are interested in the college only from that standpoint. But when a college has athletes who make up teams of the unusual calibre of the State College contenders, and at the same time take a most active part in the activities of the classroom, the student self-governing body, and in all other things that the really worth-while student becomes interested in, we feel that they are indeed objects of pride to that college. That is the reason we feel that State College should point with pride to her athletes.

FOREIGN FLASHES

(Foreign Office Work, 347 Madison Ave., N. Y. City, April 2, 1923.)

Poochow, China

Severe local revolution. General Secretary Munson sick in bed with typhoid. Depleted staff. Tom McConnell, now in charge, faces a terrific year. Not a word of complaint from Tom, only a request that we support him in prayer.

Lima, Peru

"It looked to me like trying to bore a hole through a stone wall with a toothpick when you started to organize the Y. M. C. A. here, but I see my mistake; my hat is off to you," said a business man to J. C. Field.

Lahore, India

A memorial institute was put up at Lahore Cantonment for British soldiers, but finding themselves at a loss to provide leadership, the army authorities asked the Y. M. C. A. to undertake the task. A working program was developed on the condition that the institute should be entirely self-supporting, the Association simply to furnish the secretary.

Osaka, Japan

"Business men are putting money at our disposal about as fast as we can develop leadership to use it wisely," writes Secretary Converse. Another evidence of the movement becoming indigenous.

Madras, India

Satisfied that the work done by H. C. Buck in training physical directors was of a high-grade character, the government has ordered that a college graduate be selected to take the full course in the Y. M. C. A. school in order that he might master both European and Indian methods of physical education. He will later serve his own people.

Tokyo, Japan

The first boys' work secretary to go to Japan was G. S. Patterson, who arrived on the field eighteen months ago. He got into action at once, has already visited half a dozen cities of the Empire, has put through a successful summer camp, and secured financial support for a much larger work.

Siam, Bangkok

This is a flash-back to China. Dr. W. W. Peter was invited to Siam for a series of health demonstrations. These impressed Sir Claude Hill, a former official in India, so greatly that he secured an invitation from the British Government for Dr. Peter to give demonstrations in ten cities in India.

Hangchow, China

Late last fall the Commissioner of Police for the province, an office which corresponds roughly to our lieutenant governor, became a Christian and was baptized. Later, elected to membership on the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. He has made a fine record in politics, having held his present office in spite of changes in governors every few years, since 1911. Because of his strength of character and long service, he is easily the most influential man in the province. Humanly speaking, there was nothing for him to gain in becoming a Christian. His clear-cut stand means much in Christian circles.

Calcutta, India

When one of the rural secretaries of the National Council went into a village at 11 o'clock one night with a lantern lecture, he asked the people to bear the expense of the carbide, a matter of 24 cents. They refused because it had never been done before. The secretary left and went to bed. He was aroused at midnight by a noisy throng that paid the money and demanded a show. He finished at 1 o'clock and they demanded a repetition. Having enough carbide, he complied with their wishes, finishing at 2 A. M. They demanded the lecture a third time, but he had to refuse. This incident indicates the popularity of the service which is being tendered by the Lecture Department of the National Council.

Coimbra, Portugal

honors in scholarship every year of his sojourn here. In his Sophomore year he fastened the eyes of his classmates upon him by averaging a perfect hundred on the usually considered difficult subject of Physics. Mr. Jennings has represented the Chemical Department on the Student Council for the past year, and has been the holder of other important offices in his class and department. He is a member of State's honorary organization, the Pine Burr Society.

THE LIFE OF SPRING

The trembling gust that sweeps this old earth's brow,
Must now depart for fervored lands
unknown;
The day of softer breeze and lengthened sun
Soon Time's recording hand must own.

The seasons of the speeding year
glide by,
With fury like the wind from
mountains tall,
The beauty, rapture, love that comes with Spring,
Bygone hours of happiness recall.

O! twig, once fettered white and thick with ice,
True life now decks your beechen
bough;
What absent charms could tint your cheeks,
That to you Nature does not endow?

Spring is but a welcomed season due,
To wake the slumbering flowers
from their rest,
To kiss the pipping green Agrosti-
deae,
To cheer the lone, to love and bless.

Each restless atom of the bracing
April air,
Ambitious from existing seasons
change,
Alike, new life is borned in every
living thing,
For nothing great lies outside cre-ation's range.

This gipsy world of incoherent
dreams,
That charms and puzzles human souls,
Is but the superficial glimpse
Of wonders held in Nature's secret folds.

At morn we gaze upon the blushing,
rosy East,
And watch the streaming sun dispel the shade,
Wondering why all life must turn to dust
And why this beauty of Spring should ever fade.

Total Contributions For European Student Relief Nearly Thirteen Hundred

State College students have responded nobly to the call for relief for European students. The sum of $1,280.66 has been donated and remitted to the treasurer. Due to the rate of exchange, this amount is sufficient to feed eighty-five students for one year.

The hope of Europe lies in her educated young men and women. This contribution to their education and support is one of the most worthwhile things that the students of State College could have done this year.

There is still very great need for clothing in some sections, and the call for the collection of old clothes has gone out to all the colleges of America.

At this College there are many students and members of the faculty who have articles of winter clothing that they have discarded that will be very acceptable over there. In the near future all who wish to make a contribution of this kind will have the opportunity of doing so.

The following letter, telling of the situation, has been received from headquarters:

STUDENT FRIENDSHIP FUND

John R. Mott, Chairman
347 Madison Avenue,
New York City, Mar. 27, 1923.

Mr. W. M. Cummings, Y.M.C.A.,
Agricultural & Mechanical College,
Raleigh, No. Car.

Dear Mr. Cummings:—An appalling situation exists among the students of Central Europe, the Near East, and Russia, because of their lack of clothing. Think of the horror of fleeing from Smyrna! It was enough at the time to save one's life—clothes and belongings were left behind without a thought. But now these refugees are existing with almost nothing whatever to wear or to use.

The students throughout Central Europe are very little better off than their fellows from Smyrna. Money values go down and prices go up. The price of a suit in 1914 in Austria was 60 crowns and is now 1,000,000; in Germany it was 60 marks and now is 40,000; and shoes in Hungary were 16 crowns and are now 12,000. Salaries have of course also gone up, but not in the same proportion.

As for Russia, for eight years it has been almost impossible to buy new clothing. Think what your wardrobe would be if you had not bought a new garment for eight years. Go one step further and think what it would be like if several years ago, when you still had more than one pair of shoes or two coats, you began to sell every extra garment to buy food. Would the clothes you have left keep you warm with the thermometer below zero!

Won't You Help?

Your institution may already have shared with these students by sending money through the Student Friendship Fund, but whether you have or not, if there are winter suits to be discarded or warm clothing which will not be used again, why not collect it and send it where it will save lives? Very little time, money and trouble are involved in rounding up the old clothes of your school and community and shipping them to New York, and yet this slight sacrifice on your part may mean the warding off of pneumonia, tuberculosis, or even death to some student abroad.

Sincerely yours,
L. W. DUNN.

It was the drawing lesson and the class of small children were drawing from memory. They had been told to draw a river, with two figures sitting on the bank, one of whom was to be fishing.

The teacher was going around the class, when she came to a small boy who had finished his drawing.

She looked at his paper and was surprised to find only a river. "Why, Jack," she said, "where are the two people I told you to draw?"

"Well, you see, Miss Jones," he answered, "I'm not very good at drawing people, so I've put up a notice: 'Trespassers will be prosecuted.'"—Ex.

"It's got so these days," complained a young man, "that you can hardly get married unless you can show the girl two licenses."

"Two licenses?" exclaimed the friend. "Yes, marriage and automobile." —Exchange.

5 ways to get a better shave

In this cream, men

Now you can wield the old razor in less time every morning—with greater comfort while doing it, and after.

Clean of cheek and chin—a great way to start the day right.

A new shaving cream, men, of five actual improvements does this for you. Made by soap experts to meet your shaving needs. We spent 18 months, tested 130 formulae, perfecting it.

Now we ask you to do us a favor by trying it out—our expense.

5 ways better

This cream multiplies itself 250 times in rich lather.

The lather lasts for 10 full minutes, on the face.

It softens the wickedest set of whiskers in one minute—without any tedious, more-or-less-painful "rubbing in."

The lather-bubbles are strong-walled—holding hairs erect for easier, cleaner cutting.

Guilford Is Twice a Victim

A few days ago Guilford found its way to our city with its baseball team. The drive, however, was unsuccessful, for the Red and White boys repelled the attack and drove them back into their own territory, scoring eight local victories to the Quakers' none. General Curtis was commander-in-chief for the day. By manoeuvring the old pill in all sorts of ways as it approached the home plate, the Guilford boys were allowed to make only one scratch hit, and that did absolutely no damage. General Beal, who relieved General Curtis in the eighth defense, not being thoroughly familiar with the special situation, allowed one hit, but that also was in vain. In order that Guilford might make a more hurried retreat, hostilities were ceased at the end of eight rounds, State having won 8-0.

State Makes Its Offensive

On April 10th our boys laid siege to the Guilford camp, with General Beal commanding the attack. The results were indeed gratifying, the enemy being driven out of its home by the decisive victory of 5-3. In the eighth defensive it was decided best to use General Allen's tactics, so he was given command, and held the defenders at bay until hostilities ceased.

Wildcats' Claws Are Clipped
 (News and Observer.)

Davidson, April 9.—A two-base hit by Johnson in the sixth inning enabled N. C. State College to squeeze over the one lone tally needed to beat Davidson College Wildcats here this afternoon and to win one of the prettiest and hardest fought ball games ever witnessed on Sprunt Field by the bare margin 1 to 0.

For the entire nine innings the game was a pitcher's battle between Hunter and Davidson and Curtis of State with the visiting hurler having a slight edge. However, the Wildcats played jam-up ball behind Hunter and, showing a complete reversal of form from that displayed against Carolina last week, made only one error, while the State lads had four bobbles to their credit.

Davidson displayed superior form in the field, pulling two fast double plays, one in the first inning and one to close the game in the ninth, but the visitors' superiority with the willow proved the Presbyterians' undoing. State got eight hits to the Wildcats' three, only one hit during the entire contest going for an extra base.

ence with him via the cinema to the Waikiki beach, where they threw coins to the diving lads beside the boat and rode the surf boards with the expert swimmers of Hawaii. They listened with pleasure while L. V. Gogate sang the national anthem of India, after which Y. W. Thom, of China, played the pied piper by entertaining them on a Chinese flute, all of which time Thom was dressed in the native costume of a Chinese flapper.

Next came a Shakespearian actor giving Mark Antony's oration on Caesar. As a matter of fact, it was Dan Budisaljvitch from Serbia, giving a patriotic oration in his native tongue. Little I. Katsuda represented his native Japan. Katsuda not only demonstrated his musical ability by singing the national Japanese anthem, but later, in company with Y. C. Ching from Hawaii, he gave some practical demonstrations of Jiu-Jitsu, which were not so musical but heaps more startling. Jiu-Jitsu seems to be a rather practical way of taking care of yourself in a rough-and-tumble scrap.

Y. W. Thom again demonstrated his musical ability by playing on the Chinese banjo, after which T. C. Chang rendered a Chinese song.

India moved to her place again on the program when Mr. Kirktikar, a visitor from the University of North Carolina, demonstrated the native fiddle—a multi-stringed instrument which is played on one string and makes its different tones by resonance. Kirktikar, who receives his Ph.D. in pharmacy from the University this spring, is an M.A. graduate of Columbia University of New York and an A.B. graduate of a native Indian college. L. F. Machado, a young Brazilian, who is a graduate of Mississippi A. and M. and who arrived at the College this week to do post-graduate work in genetics and cotton, gave an essay in the Portuguese tongue on the Brazilian flag.

The serious turn to the program was given by S. K. Marathe, who spoke for two minutes on the hopes for self-government in India. Mille Mrshevitch interpreted some Serbian gymnastic stunts, the theme of which was freedom from the ruled Serbia, and the natural nationalistic prejudice had a great effect on Serbian folklore, according to Mrshevitch.

Dr. Derieux, of the Physics Department, led the Cosmopolitan Club and the audience in "America" at the conclusion of the program, after which the audience inspected the exhibits from the various countries.

R. C. Journey, professor of political science and international dramatics, organized and coached the show.

BARNYARD PHILOSOPHY

By

Sidney Pureblood

A man who knows how to take praise and honor is worthy of it.

We do not put water in broken bottles. Neither should we keep our soul, mind or personality in a broken body. Keep fit!

What fools we are, bringing upon ourselves pain and suffering in order to satisfy the belly.

Show me what you are—don't tell me!

He who thinks himself very wise is a fool.

Better to be a weak man in body and a strong man in mind and spirit than to be strong in body but a weakling otherwise.

Be slow to criticize and quick to praise.

Be sincere in all that you do. A sincere person seldom makes a fool of himself.

Happiness comes only from the heart. Money and pleasure can never bring one true joy.

A wonderful man is he who is not cursed with vanity or conceit.

When a fellow tries to show off what he has, it is a pretty sure sign that he has very little worth displaying.

He who cannot control himself is unfit to control others.

When we are utterly unconscious of self is the time when we are at our best.

A perfect man does not live; therefore, do not be discouraged at your failures—make them stepping-stones to success.

Are you living, or are you simply existing?

A hearty laugh does one a great deal of good.

When you cannot scatter—then gather.

I would rather be a plowboy than to be a wealthy cake-eating lounge lizard who has never been taught to do anything useful.

NOTICE TO REHABILITATION STUDENTS

The United States Veterans' Bureau wishes to call to the attention of all ex-service men suffering from war service disabilities to a very liberal provision of the amended War Risk Insurance Act, providing for reinstatement of their term or United States Government insurance at any time prior to permanent and total disability. This offer of reinstatement must be accepted prior to March 3, 1926, as this liberal provision expires on that date.

Complete information and literature on the subject of United States Government insurance is carried by the Raleigh Sub-District Office. All necessary blanks for reinstatement and for deduction of insurance premiums from training pay or disability compensation will be furnished upon request.

GENERAL SHANKS
INSPECTS R. O. T. C.

Commanding General of the Fourth Corps Area Visits State College on Inspection Tour

(News and Observer.)

Major General David C. Shanks, commanding general of the North Carolina Corps Area, with headquarters at Fort McPherson, Ga., reviewed and inspected the cadets of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps at State College Monday morning. General Shanks is making a tour of inspection of all military posts and R. O. T. C. units within the Fourth Area.

Speaking briefly to the students of the corps after the review, General Shanks impressed upon them the necessity of serious attention to the need of military protection in emergency, although all good citizens devoutly hope that such an emergency may never arise in the world again. The problem of the untrained soldier always lies back of the disastrous tragedies of conflict.

The battle of Bladenburg, outside of Washington in 1814, when 1,500 trained English troops routed 9,000 untrained Americans, seized and burned the National Capitol and retired without loss to their ships, was cited as an example of the toll of untrained soldiers in war. The first battle of Bull Run was cited as another example of the ineffectiveness of untrained soldiers.

Although scheduled for noon, the review took place immediately upon the arrival of General Shanks from Atlanta at 11 o'clock. A number of invited guests missed it altogether. After lunch in the mess hall at the College, General Shanks, with General A. J. Bowley, commanding general at Fort Bragg, left for Fort Bragg. General Shanks will inspect the work at that post and will then go to Davidson College, where he will inspect the R. O. T. C.

The reviewing party included, besides General Shanks, Lieutenant Colonel O. D. Gregory, U. S. N.; Colonel J. W. Harrelson, State College; Colonel A. A. Parker, U. S. A.; Major P. Lopez, U. S. A.; Major Gordon Smith, representing the Governor and the Adjutant General, Captain A. R. Ives, and others.
