STATE COLLEGE HAS A GREAT BUILDING BOOM

Appropriations Made N. C. State by Last Session of Legislature Larger Than Ever

The 1923 General Assembly appropriated $1,350,000 to the College, to be used for permanent improvements, and authorized, for the biennium 1923-1925, $745,000 for maintenance. The appropriation for permanent improvements, although smaller by $259,000 than the amount requested for this purpose by the Board of Trustees, is more than twice as much as the College has ever received in the past, and it will enable the institution to go forward at once with a building program only slightly less pretentious than the one outlined in the last issue of Alumni News.

The difference between the total amount requested and the amount actually received will necessarily cause the Board of Trustees to revise, to some extent, its plans for buildings and the full details will be worked out at a meeting of the increased board, which will be held at an early date. It is probable, however, that the revised program will call for the following buildings:

SUMMER SCHOOL INDEX OF GROWTH OF COLLEGE

Rapid Increase in Attendance at Summer School Only Keeping Pace With Growth of College

The present Summer School was organized in 1917 by Dr. W. A. Withers, vice president of the College. Under his administration the number of students has increased from 517 during the opening session, to 927 during the past session. But this increase of over 400 students during the five years does not tell the entire story. During the first session there was a large number of students enrolled for institute work which extended only through two weeks of the session. While the number of teachers has increased greatly during the intervening years, there have been added courses in Vocational

MANY STUDENTS WORK WAY THROUGH COLLEGE

Ideal Location State College for Self-Help Enables Large Per Cent of Students to Earn Own Expenses

The writer intends this article primarily for the graduate of high school who says he can't go to college. Oftentimes, we approach graduation from high school thinking we can go no further, however well we would like to go through college. If this applies to you, stop and ask yourself the question, "What efforts have I put forth in order that I may go to college?" At this point is where a large per cent of our young people cease to rise in thought because of a lack of action. If you are thinking along these lines and would like to come to N. C. State College, let your needs be known. The College helps annually as large a number of students as possible. The various departments employ students to work at various jobs. The writer, who has been here four years as a self-help student, recalls at this time approximately seventy students who have earned a large part of their college expenses while here in school. If for some reason you can't get work before entering, it is advisable to come on any way, as there will be

GREETINGS!

In putting out this number of The Technician, we have, in a small way, attempted to give you an idea of the activities and possibilities of State College. The marvelous growth of our institution during the past few years is sufficient testimony to our assertion that it is serving the State grandly, and that the State appreciates this service. Naturally, we cannot, within these few pages, give one an adequate understanding of the many phases of learning and activities presented here, but we have tried to present a few of them. There will be a great many more things shown you in a future issue.

In the meantime, we wish to extend to the Summer School students a cordial welcome, and to all prospective students a cordial invitation, to all that State College has to share with you.

CITIZENSHIP MEDAL WILL BE GIVEN BEST STUDENT

C. W. Gold, of Board of Trustees, Will Annually Present Medal to Senior Having Best All-Round Record

At Commencement, 1923, it was announced that annually henceforth there will be given to the best all-round student of State College a handsome gold medal, at the time of his graduation. The medal is to be a gift of Mr. C. W. Gold, for a long time a member of the Board of Trustees of N. C. State College, and is to be given in honor of his father, Elder P. D. Gold, late of Wilson, North Carolina. Mr. Gold announced his intention of giving this medal, at the last Commencement, through a letter which he sent to Dr. Riddick. The letter was read by Dr.

EDITORIAL

There is an idea back of everything we write. But sometimes it is so far back that one can scarcely see it.

This new course which is to be given in international law will no doubt consist chiefly in target practice.

PRIZES AND MEDALS.

The college recognizes that training is complete if carried only to the point of passing the course offered or of taking part only in the classroom activities. To be a broad-minded and well-developed college man, one must needs take part in college activities, as well as to keep his scholastic record above reproach. From time to time, from various sources, there have been prizes and honors awarded to those making marked successes in various lines of endeavor. There is the Norris Athletic Trophy, the P. D. Gold Citizenship Medal, medals for highest scholastic records in Textile and Civil Engineering, the Alpha Zeta Medal for the Agricultural Freshman having the highest scholastic record, the medals for orations and declamations, as well as various cash and privilege prizes offered from time to time. It should be the aim of every new student to obtain one or more of these prizes during his college course.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR SELF-HELP

We especially wish to call attention to the self-help article which appears in this issue. There are hundreds of men in North Carolina who would be glad to go to college if they only knew that some way would be provided for them to earn part or all of their expenses while in school. State College, with its close proximity to Raleigh, the capital of the State and a thriving industrial and educational city, offers exceptional opportunities to the student who seeks to earn his way through college.

There is at all times an abundance of work to be had in and about the college, and in town, especially during the week-ends. A large percentage of the boys in school at State earn their way. The writer of the article above referred to has earned every cent of his college expenses, and has made an outstanding college record besides. Dozens of others are doing the same thing. Next year there will be a distinct department in the Y. M. C. A. for helping to handle the self-help problems that arise. With the installation of this department, the opportunities of earning will be very much increased. The college is coming to realize more and more that its really worth-while students are those who are willing to sacrifice in a small way for the training which they receive in its halls.

THE CALL OF STATE COLLEGE

No doubt every college has its attractions—it is well that it should have. The spirit of a college, and of its surroundings are unconsciously absorbed by the students of that institution. And just as spontaneously the college absorbs the spirit of its students. In and about its grounds one finds the atmosphere of the learning which it dispenses and of the manner in which it is resolved. At the seminary one finds the theological thought, act, and inspiration. At the conservatory, the air is pervaded with the spirit of music. At the school of liberal arts and sciences, one is met by the endless pursuance of the old literatures, their languages, and their works. And so it is with the technical college. Everywhere in its surroundings one senses the atmosphere of industrial and scientific training. The liberal arts and sciences are taught, it is true, but the major effort of the college is given over to the training of the future industrial leaders of the State. With its vast equipment, with its exceptionally well-trained faculty, and with its ideal location, State College occupies a unique place among other colleges of the State. It is one great institution doing the work of several others. It is one gathering place in which are found all the equipment, all the instruction, all the associations that it is possible for the State to provide. It offers all that it is possible to give in an agricultural or technical training.

Such is the call that goes out from State College to the high school graduates throughout the lands of North Carolina. Now is the time when the graduate has come to the division of the roads. One leads on and on up the pathway of knowledge, which means the taking of a college course. The other leads away to a "job," and a life half lived, a continuous struggle with half-preparedness. The time has come in which the scanty training which sufficed in former times will not enable one to make the most out of life. Success in life, throughout all the past, and at the present time, depends upon the individual himself, and is something which cannot be bought, sold, or given away. But the training which one gives himself is a part of the individuality which enables him to be a leader. There are and always will be the self-made men, but for every self-made nongraduate there are dozens, nay, hundreds, of outstanding personages who left college without a cent in their pockets.

We cannot emphasize strongly enough to the high school graduate the importance of continuing his studies. Four years may seem as though they are a long time, and possibly they are, right here in the best part of the life of the young man. But high school graduates are getting to that age when they are not content to look only for the pleasures of going to school. They have come to the age when they should see the value of college training in its proper light. We are living in an age of specialization. Life is too short for absorbing the many things which one would have to learn in order to get a training in all branches of learning. There can be only a training along some more or less definite lines. For that reason, it is very important that the high school graduate decide just what courses he desires, and then pick the institution best fitted for giving a training in these subjects. State College does not attempt to give training along every line of scholastic endeavor, but for a purely technical training it has the equipment, the faculty and, most of all, the atmosphere necessary for a thorough training in industrial and agricultural pursuits. We sincerely believe that for present day needs and trends in education, North Carolina State College offers vast opportunities.

BIBLE STUDY A FEATURE STATE SUMMER SCHOOL

Prominent Bible Class Leaders of Raleigh Volunteer Their Services in Making Courses a Success

Beginning Friday night, June 15th, with a big mass meeting of all Summer School students, Bible classes will be held all over the east end of the campus. Teachers are leaders in their communities and religious activity is, next/after school teaching, the most natural place where their leadership should be exerted. Here at State College is the place to learn this leadership. Don't miss this great opportunity.

Some ten of the most successful Bible class teachers and intellectual women of Raleigh have volunteered as teachers. They are women of power, and every Friday night, right after supper, they will hold their classes at appointed places under the trees on the campus. If you enroll, it will mean inspiration and training and pep to carry home with you to make you a better leader. Be on hand when the band begins at 6:30 for the big rally the first Friday night.

On Sundays there will be open to those enrolled in Bible classes, "Religious Training Tours." Automobiles will take those appointed for that Sunday's tour to visit some one of the strongest Sunday School classes in town. Then, after dinner, those belonging to that day's tour will be carried out to a rural Sunday School, where fine work is being done, and they will there be asked to join in and get the real swing of the work. This program sounds like business. It is business, and hundreds of students will enroll and get ready for this new movement among teachers for larger leadership.

PLACES OF INTEREST IN CITY OF RALEIGH

The following is a short list of the outstanding places of peculiar interest in and about Raleigh. Most of them, and probably others, will be seen by the Summer School students through the leadership of Col. Olds, and naturally all of them will be seen by any regular student:

- State Capitol
- Hall of History
- State Museum
- Old Soldiers' Home
- State Hospital
- State Prison
- Experiment Station
- State Fair Grounds

Agriculture, courses for College Credit, and courses in Cotton Classing. Almost anyone who had taught, or was planning to teach, could enter the Summer School five years ago. Today no one is eligible for admission to the Accredited Summer School conducted here, who is not a graduate of a standard high school, unless said person holds a State teacher's certificate not lower than elementary grade. In numbers, in scholastic training, and in range of courses there has been great growth.

The schools of Raleigh bring to the capital city annually an expenditure of nearly $1,500,000. Financially and otherwise Raleigh holds undisputed claim as the educational center of the State. Its attractiveness for teachers and all patriotic citizens is unsurpassed. The people of Raleigh, individually and through their organizations, have given a cordial welcome to the members of the Summer School. These advantages, with others too numerous to mention, make the State College Summer School a peculiarly attractive, pleasant and profitable place for a six-weeks sojourn.

Riddick at that time. Mr. Gold's letter follows:

Dear Dr. Riddick:

For some time I have been desirous of honoring the memory of my distinguished father by offering annually a medal to my Alma Mater, The State College, the same to be competed for by the three upper classes—namely, Sophomore, Junior and Senior.

My father, Elder P. D. Gold, of Wilson, North Carolina, was, to me, the finest American citizen that I have ever known. He combined great elements of leadership, patriotic intent, physical fitness, philosophic temperament, moderation and toleration in all things. He was a great preacher of the Gospel and a great teacher of men. His religion was that of the lowly Nazarene, meek and humble; and he practiced these principles in his walk before the world and in his talks and writings to all men. But he never compromised a principle. He believed, with Roosevelt, that "Eternal fighting for the right is the noblest sport in the world."

I feel that this medal should be given as a memorial to him and in his name for Student Citizenship. Therefore, this medal should be known as "The P. D. Gold Citizenship Medal." It should be bestowed by the president of the College at each commencement, and be awarded by a committee composed of the president, chairman of the Board of Trustees, secretary of the Board of Trustees, whose findings should be kept secret until the time of the bestowal of the medal. This committee shall arrive at its conclusions as follows:

Scholarship: The names of the highest ten per cent of the students in scholarship for the three years mentioned shall be certified to by the faculty on the first day of commencement of each year, and every precaution shall be taken to keep this result a secret.

Student Leadership: The Student Council shall determine by ballot, on the first Monday in May of each year, that member of the Senior Class who has most impressed his leadership on the student body during his Sophomore, Junior and Senior years, and they shall name their second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth selections, made in like manner.

FAIR WEEK CROWDS

Athletics: The Faculty Committee on Athletics shall select by ballot, on the first Monday in May of each year, the student of the Senior Class, who has, during the three years mentioned, been the most outstanding figure of the student body in athletics. They shall name their second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth selections, made in like manner.

Public Speaking: The ranking officer (who is not a member of the Senior Class) of each of the various College societies, in which public speaking is practiced, shall by ballot select the Senior student who, during the three years mentioned, has most excelled in public speaking. They shall name their second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth selections, made in like manner.

These four lists of six men will be certified to the president of the College on or before the first day of each annual commencement, by some representative of the determining groups.

In order that information regarding the winning and bestowal of this medal may be properly disseminated among the student body, this letter must be read before the whole student body at some suitable time during the first week of each school term.

The committee shall appraise the first man of the first named group at one hundred per cent, the second at ninety-eight per cent, the third at ninety-four per cent, and so on in the order of their three years scholarship standing.

The committee shall appraise the first man of each of the three last named groups at one hundred per cent, the second at ninety-five per cent, the third at ninety per cent, the fourth at eighty-five per cent, the fifth at eighty per cent, and the sixth at seventy-five per cent. The student whose percentage totals the largest of these four groups shall receive the medal.

Arrangements are being made to have designed, by an experienced designer and manufacturer, a medal which will be distinctive and valuable.

Trusting that this medal will inspire the student body of my Alma Mater to strive for higher ideals in American Citizenship, I am,

Yours very truly,

(Signed) Chas. W. Gold.

ALPHA ZETA FRATERNITY SEEKS BETTER RECORDS

Honorary Agricultural Fraternity
Has Lively Chapter at N. C. State;
General Records Investigated

Alpha Zeta is a national honorary Agricultural fraternity. It seeks to make conditions of scholarship better, to raise the standards of all phases of college life. The man who merely makes high grades in his studies is not an all-round college booster. An Alpha Zeta man must be in the upper two-fifths of his class and at the same time be interested in outside work.

Wherever you find him, note that he is active in club work, literary societies, and other student activities. No freshman can become a member, yet he can begin to work for the things which the fraternity stands for.

Each year the fraternity, in order to promote scholarship, offers a medal to the freshman making the highest grades in the Agricultural Department.

This organization has been on the campus for about twenty years. Its membership has varied during that time through wide limits, according to the records of the classes. During this year there have been nineteen active members, eight of whom were seniors.

After a member graduates, he becomes an alumni member, holding the privileges of the fraternity throughout his life. Thus, his brothers in the Alpha Zeta may help him to pursue some worthy work in which he is interested, receiving the commendation or censure that may be offered.

GREAT SCIENCE PROGRAM IN STORE FOR STUDENTS

Professor Heck Has Charge of Greatest Scientific Program Attempted at State College Summer School

Beginning Wednesday night of the opening week, Science will be brought home to the students of the State College Summer School by popular addresses given once a week. Do you know what the world is talking about? Can you even read the papers intelligently without Science? Here is your chance. One night each week some big man in Science in this or other colleges of the State will give the subject of his heart in a popular way. Be brought up to date. Hear these addresses. Inspiring, educative, and most intensely interesting each one will be, and every teacher who wants to understand her day better will do well to attend each lecture.

The first lecture will be by Professor Heck of State College on "Science and Music." The lecture will be demonstrated with various musical instruments and give the heart of the subject and open up the world of Science from this angle in a way that will be new to you. Don't miss a one of these six opportunities to get up to date and know the big things of Science. Summer School spells Opportunity for you.

ENGINEERING AND TEXTILE BUILDING

STATE'S HONOR SOCIETY IS AROUSING INTEREST

Pine Burr Society is Newly Formed
Honorary Scholarship Society
Peculiar to N. C. State

Every college should have, and most of them do have, some kind of honorary scholarship organization. In most of the universities and purely literary colleges, one finds the national organization, the Phi Beta Kappa, which is known throughout the United States. At other places, especially purely engineering schools, one finds the national engineering scholarship fraternity, while in still others one finds organizations, whether societies or fraternities, which are only local to those institutions and are a part of it and cannot become a part of any national organization. Of the last type is N. C. State's honorary scholarship society, the Pine Burr. While its main object is the promotion of higher scholarship standards, it also stresses the importance of taking a part in student activities. It recognizes the importance of citizenship training, as well as purely academic records, and for that reason has incorporated into its constitution requirements for those things just as much as has it the requirements for scholastic records.

Briefly, the entrance requirements of the Pine Burr Society are as follows: Those chosen for membership in the society must be from among those (a) who are pursuing a regular collegiate course leading to a degree; (b) who have attended this college two and a half years; (c) who have never failed on any course; (d) whose average grade is not below eighty-five per cent; (e) who are active, loyal and prominent in some phase of college activity.

It should be the aim of every new student coming to State College to make his record such as to entitle him to a membership in the Pine Burr. It should not be his aim merely to make good grades, however, as they are only a part of the requirements. Every first-year man can easily make the records necessary, and after the first year, if one has gained a good foundation during that time, no difficulty is experienced in keeping up the record already begun.

building, two dormitories, accommodating 350 students, Agricultural Engineering building, Animal Husbandry and Dairying building, Vegetable Oil building, and Gymnasium. Additions will be made to the Textile building, the Hospital, and the Y. M. C. A., and new courses will be established in furniture making, in brick and tile manufacture, and in the vegetable oil industry. The steam heat and sewer lines will be extended, new greenhouses will be built, an Engineering Experiment Station will be established, and a considerable amount will be used in the improvement of the campus. The remainder of the appropriation will be used for permanent departmental equipment.

The following extract from the report of the president to the Governor will give the plans for the use of the appropriations as originally planned. Most of these plans will materialize just as outlined:

"Needs of the Institution.—In spite of all that has been done, the College is not now prepared to care properly even for its present enrollment. The enrollment of the present session will probably reach thirteen hundred, and the number applying for admission next session will undoubtedly be greater, and still greater the following year, while the number of new students that can be admitted will be less each year on account of the greater number of upper classmen.

"There must be more teachers, more dormitories, more classrooms, more laboratories, a gymnasium, a library, and more equipment, and more appropriations for maintenance, if the College is expected to meet the ever-increasing demands of the State for the Agricultural, Technical and Industrial education of its young men.

"A summary of the urgent needs of the College, the details of which have been presented to the Budget Commission, is as follows:

Library building and equipment	$225,000
Chemistry and Physics building	150,000
One dormitory (for 350 students)	125,000
Addition to Textile building	75,000
Agricultural Engineering building	60,000

Greenhouses	10,000
Animal Husbandry and Dairy building	100,000
Vegetable Oil building	25,000
Hospital building	60,000
Gymnasium	200,000

"The above is presented as a two-year building and equipment program, and provides the most immediate needs of the College for its present enrollment, with an estimated increase of two hundred students each year for the next two years. The present appropriation for the maintenance and operation of the College is $275,000 a year. As shown in the budget, the necessary expansion in the departments now existing in the College, and the introduction of certain others which are demanded, will require an annual appropriation of $390,000 for the next two years, which means an increase of $115,000 over the preceding year."

THE NORRIS ATHLETIC TROPHY

(Reprinted from issue of May 25.)

The above is a cut of the Norris Athletic Trophy Cup, which will henceforth be given annually to the best all-round athlete at State College. The winner is to be chosen by the student body in a primary and final election. The cut is the gift of the Norris Candy Company, of Atlanta, and is secured through the efforts of Mr. Frank E. Lowenstein, an alumnus of State.

The cup will be awarded according to the following rules:

The Norris Athletic Trophy for 1923 will be awarded at Commencement 1924 under the following regulations, to the student who most distinguishes himself in athletics during the calendar year 1923:

1. The Norris Athletic Trophy Committee, made up of the Director of Athletics, the Chairman of the Faculty Athletic Committee, the Graduate Manager of Athletics, the President of the Student Body, and the Alumni Secretary, with Mr. Frank E. Lowenstein, of Atlanta, Georgia, as ex officio chairman, shall have charge of the details of awarding the trophy. In the absence of the ex officio chairman, the Director of Athletics shall preside at all meetings of the committee. The Alumni Secretary shall act as secretary to the committee, and shall keep a record of all proceedings.

2. To be eligible for the trophy the prospective recipient must have attained a passing grade on at least seventy per cent of his scholastic work carried during the year.

3. The winner shall be determined by a popular vote of the student body in a primary election to be held annually during the first week in December, and in a final election to be held annually at the same time and place that balloting occurs for the election of officers of the student government.

4. The three men receiving the highest number of votes in the primary election shall be considered as candidates for the trophy, and shall enter the final election to be held simultaneously with the election of officers of the student government as above provided.

5. Each regularly enrolled student of the College may vote once for the candidate of his choice in the primary by writing the said candidate's name on the ballot prepared for that purpose and depositing same in the ballot box; but after the field of candidates has been narrowed to three by the primary, only the three men receiving the highest number of votes shall be considered in the final election.

6. Ballots for the final election shall carry the names of each of the three candidates, and the voter shall indicate his choice by a cross mark (X) after the name of the candidate for whom he elects to vote.

7. Balloting in both the primary and final election shall be conducted by representatives of the Norris Athletic Trophy Committee. Immediately after the primary, the committee shall determine from a count, the three candidates to enter the final election. Their names shall be published in the students' newspaper, The Technician, and also be posted on all College bulletin boards.

8. If the three men receiving the highest number of votes in the primary are below the scholarship standard adopted, the committee may substitute the names of the next highest men whose scholastic work meets the requirement. In determining the scholastic standing of a student, the committee shall be guided by the records on file in the registrar's office.

9. All expenses incurred in holding both the primary and the final election, such as the cost of printing the ballots, etc., shall be borne by the State College Athletic Association.

10. The name of the winner of the trophy shall be given to the commencement program committee, to be printed in the commencement program, and the trophy shall be awarded along with other awards, medals, etc., at commencement.

Statements From North Carolina State

Ruth: "What did Russell do when Betty wouldn't kiss him out on the lake last night?"

Florence: "He paddled her back."
Ruth: "The rough thing."—Ex.

He: "Do you care if I smoke?"
She: "I don't care if you burn."

Odessa (reading the word arith-metrical): "Arith-me-tic-kle."
The class was tickled, too.—Ex.

Ray R.: "How old are you?"
Joe S.: "Just seventeen summers."
Ray R.: "You must have lived in a cold climate."

Farmer (approaching rotund man on the square): "Here, hold my horse a minute, will you?"

Rotund Man: "Sir, I am a member of Congress!"

Farmer: "Never mind, you look honest; I'll take a chance."—Ex.

T. L. D. Dance

Felton: "She said she'd never forget me, and I am positive that she meant it."

Pete B.: "What makes you think so?"

Felton: "I stepped on her foot eight times."—Ex.

Ain't Love Grand?

V. S.: "When did you first know you loved me?"

—: "When I began to get mad when people said you were brainless and ugly."

Not the Same

Irate Housewife: "Are you not the same man I gave a meat pie to last month?"

Tramp (bitterly): "No, mum; I'm not; an' wot's more, the doctors say I never will be again."—Ex.

Independence

Prof.: "Wake up that man next to you!"

Student: "Do it yourself; you put him to sleep."

He Got It

Patient: "What I need is something to stir me up—something to put me in fighting trim. Did you put anything like that in my prescription?"

Doctor: "No; you'll find that in the bill."—Ex.

Grace: "I hear that you and Jack kissed and made up the other night."

Alice: "Well, Jack kissed and I had to make-up again."

Preferred the Installment Plan

Bell (protestingly): "Don't do that!"

Jack: "Dearest, don't you crave affection?"

"Yes, but why treat me like a cafeteria and help yourself?"—Pitt Panther.

Ole: "Tillie, vill you marry me?"
Tillie: "Yaas, Ole."

(A long deadening silence.)
Tillie: "Vy don't you say nodding, Ole?"

Ole: "Vell, I think I say too much already yet."—Morris Harvey Comet.

Sweet Mendacity

"Does a small lie count?"
This is the subject of an editorial in the Bulletin. Answer:

If told skilfully it may be RELIED upon.

Honey: "I am sure Cupid has nothing to do with the alphabet."

Bunch: "Why not?"
Honey: "Because if he had he would have put 'U' and 'I' closer together."

a way if you are desirous of an education. True, school activities will take the larger portion of the average student's time, but you will be surprised to know how well you can use the spare time you have. It is better to attempt and come a bit short of expectations, than never to venture on the road to greater things. We live but once, which means we must act as opportunities present themselves.

I might mention here the nature of some of the work offered energetic students. The seventy men mentioned above have found work in the following capacities: in the dining hall, on the farm, at the barns, in offices, firing furnaces in private homes, as clerks in stores over week-ends, as representatives acting as agents for shoe shops, pressing clubs, laundries, life insurance companies, clothing companies who sell on the campus, felt goods companies, etc. Too, as many as five boys can earn all expenses cutting hair in their rooms at spare time. Numerous other things could be mentioned. I might state here that there is a department in the Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of helping new students to locate work. If interested, address Mr. E. S. King, State College Station, Raleigh, N. C. With this line on possible work for the active fellow, surely the one who has recently said, "I can't," will change and say, "I will."

Not until one has worked his way through college will he realize how very absurd it is to say, "I'm a poor boy and can't get money from home as can Bill, so I shall not go." The one thing it takes is an ambition to do something. Do you have this ambition?

The writer is in sympathy with the boy who has not definitely decided to enter college because of a lack of funds to the extent that he will be glad to give personal attention to any letter regarding same addressed to Box 188, State College Station, Raleigh, N. C. Too, references will be gladly given to boys who are in the seventy class, upon request. Don't wait until you are twenty-five years of age and express your desire for an education.

The following poem fits well at this point:

"If you think you are beaten, you are;

If you think you dare not, you don't;

If you'd like to win but you think you can't,

It's almost a "chinch" you won't;

If you think you'll lose, you've lost,

For out in the world you'll find Success begins with a fellow's will:

It's all in the state of mind.

"For many a race is lost

Ere even a step is run,

And many a coward fails

Ere even his work's begun.

Think big, and your deeds will grow,

Think small, and you'll fall behind;

Think that you can and you will—
It's all in the state of mind.

If you think you are outclassed, you are;

You've got to think high to rise.

You've got to be sure of yourself before

You can ever win a prize.

Life's battles don't always go

To the stronger or faster man,

But, soon or late, the man who wins
Is the fellow who thinks he can."

"I hear you have been in New York for six weeks. What did you think of Long Island Sound?"

"Don't you know, I never heard the thing the whole time I was there."—Lampoon.
