State Seeks More Off Campus Housing

Again faced with a growing student body, North Carolina State College is in search of scores of rooms and apartments located in the vicinity of the college for single and married students.

This was reported vesterday by N. B. Watts, coordinator of student housing, who said the institution expects another in-crease in enrollment at the be-ginning of the spring semester which starts February 2.

college dormitories and Vetville apartments, he said, are not sufficient to take care of the housing needs of all of the students

Raleigh apartment owners who have vacant apartments or will have vacancies by February 2 and who would rent them to married students may list these accommodations by calling H. H. Hutchinson, manager of veter-ans' housing, at telephone 2-4306.

Property owners who have rooms for rent may contact James S. Fulghum, supervisor of dormitory rentals, at tele-phone 4-5211, extension 349.

The Vetville YMCA needs couches, chairs, tables and lamps for their TV lounge and their study rooms. Anyone having articles of this nature which they would or could donate are asked to call the Vetville YMCA at 4-4008 or 2-7184.

Student Government Pictures Pictures will be made of members of the student government to be included in this year's Agromeck at the regular meeting tonight at 8:00 p.m. Secre-tary Ed Yancey requested that all members wear coats and ties.

IFC Spring Finals

Les Brown and his orchestra will play for the Interfraternity Council Spring finals on April 14th according to Wayne Bur-ris, chairman of the IFC dance committee. The affair will be held in the Reynolds Coliseum preceeded by a concert that afternoon in the rose garden of the Raleigh Little theater.

The dance is held for State's fraternity men, their guests and friends.

There has been no definite re port on how many girls will join in the affair from out of town schools but the prospects are in favor of a big showing. The following comments were made by girls from Womans College and Greensboro College respectand Greensboro College respect-fully: "Leap Year is really go-ing to be a year that the boys will have to keep leaping to pro-tect their freedom" and "Leap Year comes only every fourth year and we intend to make the most of it this year"

Reports from the instructor charge of the man catching 501 class, hint that the girls are making rapid and skillful ad-vancement and should be more than a match for their male friends by Feb. 3.

C. U. To Exhibit Ten Guggen. Paintings

Harry F. Guggenheim, Chair-nan of the Board of Trustees of the Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation, has announced that a group of ten paintings from the Guggenheim Museum in New York has been sent to the N. C. State College Union. This group includes paintings by Filla, Klee, Kendinsky, Leger, Moholy-Nagy, Muller and Eccron. The College Union group is one of 17 groups of paintings which the Guggenheim Museum is lending to various institutions throughout the United States. These exhibitions are being sent out in accordance with the Trustees' plan to maintain a program of long term loans to centers where paintings of the type they feature are not commonly available to the public. The Trustees felt that ex-tended loans on view in the same locale for a lengthy period have more value than the brief ac-quaintance afforded by a traveling show. The College Union paintings will first be presented in a group show in the Union Gallery which will open on Saturday, January 21, and run through the end of the month. After then, the paintings will be on view in various mittee.

For State Students

Students attending college in the city of Raleigh were empted from local taxation by the City Council Monday—with comments from several members of the Council that they never favored taxing them in the first place.

The action followed a opinion from the Attorney General's office last week that made local officials responsible for the decision of whether or not to tax college students. The State statutes say that a person should pay taxes in the county and city where he spends the majority of the year. Counthe majority of the year. Coun-cilmen, astonished last week at the prospect that this ruling might include college students, came up to their new responsi-bility Tuesday with a resolution to clarify the situation. It ex-empts students "attending col-lege within the city for the pur-pose of acquiring an education, and who maintain a residence or donicile elsewhere to which or domicile elsewhere to which they expect to return at the expiration of the college year."

However students who remain in Raleigh and maintain a "year round" residence here will be "subject to taxes as in the case of other citizens," the resolution read.

An article appears on page 9 of this week's TECHNI-CIAN explaining the mechanics of State's Honor System and Judicial Board—how to report a violation and how violators are dealt with.

EDITORIAL COMMENT:

Congratulations to the junior class for working out an agreement with Herff-Jones Co. that the Junior Class would receive a 75c commission on each classring that the 'junior class sells.

Seventy-five cents isn't very much, but when you multiply 75c times the 600 or 700 juniors who will buy rings, it is a nice addition to the junior class treasury.

Not only the juniors will receive a benefit from the commission, but seniors also probably will through a better Junior-Senior. And if it doesn't mean a better Junior-Senior, it will provide next year's Senior Class with more finances to purchase their gift to the school with. No doubt about it, the juniors can put the money to good use.

With the juniors setting a precedent this year, next year's junior class should be able to obtain a better commission by possibly dealing directly with the company.

All in all the juniors have done a good deed not only for themselves but the juniors in the years to come.

Vandalism

The splashing of "NCS", and "N. C. State Welcomes Tatum" with light green paint at various places in Chapel Hill early Friday morning is certainly regrettable.

We hope that it was not State students who were responsible for the vandalism, but everything points to State students except the fact that the paint was light green instead of the traditional State College red.

Surely everyone remembers when Wake Forest painted the Coliseum, and how State didn't appreciate it one bit.

The Technician and most State students are not in sympathy with such action by anyone. We hope that it doesn't happen again.

Exams

As few people will need to be told, the biennial celebration around the country's colleges known as exam week, hell week, shaft week or what have you is all but upon us.

The administration has done a couple of things recent- faculties ly to make this burden as easy to bear as possible for the students. Last year they granted the much-welcomed "day of grace" on the last Friday before exams. This might resemble the following year the exams will not begin until Monday and so this statement. "In formulating your year the exams will not begin until Monday and so this aid has ceased. However, the exam week has been lengthened and the number of exams per day cut to two.

These measures were taken to help the students make better grades. Lets meet 'em halfway and really hit the books this year. Good grades help everybody.

From The "Chicken" To The Horse

Don't Be Bitter

Recently the Daily Tar Heel was very bitter in its column "The Eye Of The Horse." Those boys over there don't like State's way of giving out tickets to the Dixie Classic.

Dixie Classic. As they put it: "All is not Turkey in the Holiday Season: some of it is 'chicken,' and this includes the issuance of ducats for the recent hoop-de-do at Case's Showcase, y-clept The Dixie Classic."

Just 'cause they have just a "Chickencase" over there they don't have to get jealous of our "Showcase."

They went on to get bitter again about the Daily Tar Heel not getting but one free ticket to the Dixie Classic and "The University" not getting enough tickets. The "horse" went on to say:

The "horse" went on to say: "Traditionally, the DTH gets two Annie Oakleys (tickets) for this Battle of the Ectomorphs; and regularly, The University get a goodly share of duckets to sell for the hardwood brawls. This year, the swilling about the money-troughs was so inviting to the management it cut its DTH passes to one ticket; and the books available to Woollen Gym were, it is reported, not alone fewer in number but also thoughtfully scattered as to seating arrangements so that no where in the howling mobs of Case-hardened adherents can more than a pip-squeak of heretic—i.e., non-Staters—be heard "Sea unit."

In answer to the Tar Heel "horsey gentleman," let us say that The Technician did not even get one free ticket or pass to the Dixie Classic! Not one. So ... "KWITURBITCHEN!"

College Park, Md. — North Carolina State, the nation's leading free throw shooting team, used that skill to knock Maryland out of first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 73 to 64 victory before 10,400 fans.

Playing before the largest crowd ever to see a basketball game here, State dropped in 25 of 31 shots awarded it because of Maryland fouls. That made the difference.

Maryland outscored State 26 to 24 from the floor but sank only 12 of its 25 free throws. The loss snapped a five-game winning streak for the Maryland club.

With Ron Shavlik scoring 22 points and generally controlling both backboards, State pulled out to a 26 to 26 half time ad-vantage. Vic Molodet lead a second half drive that gave State a 56 to 44 lead at one point.

Maryland came back, sparked Bob Kessler, Bob O'Brien and by Bob Nick Davis, to draw within seven points of State with three minutes to go. But State uncorked three fast breaks to pull away again, John Maglio scoring on a lay-up in the last 11 seconds for the final tally.

O'Brien led the Maryland scoring with 22 points, hitting on nine of 18 set shots.

Syme-Stadium Win By Two Baskets-Jernigans and Pryor of Alexander No. 2 led their team with a half time score of 26 to 22, but in the second half the Stadium Studs were able to gain on the Alexander team and finally win by a score of 44 to 40. Keels and Winchester were outstanding offensive and the defensive players for Syme. Jernigan was the high scorer of the game with six field goals and one foul shot.

"I take a job from scratch"

The Air Force introduced Forrest I. Hurst to communications. In 1953 he was Communications Officer at Lowry Air Force Base near Denver, Colorado. He was partially responsible for the communications setup of the President's "Summer White House," and in this assignment he met members of the local Bell telephone company.

"The telephone people I met," says Forrest, "were always helpful. I con-sidered them the experts. They gave a very good impression of the Bell System. So three months before I was discharged I wrote to Indiana Bell for an interview, and subsequently I was hired as a Student Engineer.'

Today Forrest is in Indiana Bell's Engineering Department, working with carrier facilities-the means by which a number of telephone calls can be sent simultaneously over one circuit.

Forrest is given the basic circuit and equipment requirements for a job. "My boss farms it out to me," Forrest says, "and I take it from scratch." Forrest does the complete engineering job. He writes the specifications, including wiring plans and the list of equipment for the job. Then the installers take over.

"I really feel that I'm contributing to the telephone business," Forrest says. "My wife does too. When we're in the car we get a kick out of driving by a job that I engineered. Nothing can compare with a career in a business that's growing as fast as the Bell System. It's the place to move ahead."

U. S. Jets Dominate — International Air Transport

The 1-57 turbejet, first engine in aviation history to achieve an official power rating in the 10,000-pound thrust class. Its pacesetting performance in military aircraft blazed the way for American jet transport Most major U. S. airlines, recognizing the future of jet flight in commercial transportation, have placed their orders for jet-powered transports. Of added significance, however, is that American-made equipment will be flown also by foreign airlines in the age of jet travel.

Many engineering graduates would like to be concerned with air power of the next generation. One way to fulfill that ambition is to pursue a career alongside engineers who have consistently produced the world's best aircraft engines.

Flying Douglas DC-8 Clippers or Boeing 707 Stratoliners, these domestic and foreign airlines, circling the globe, will shrink it 40 per cent. For power, the entire fleet will rely on Pratt & Whitney Aircraft jet engines. Such achievement is evidence of unchallenged leadership.

Procedure For Reporting Case

A member of the faculty or student body who has cause to report an honor violation, either on his own initiative or at the request of someone else, may handle the case through the Office of The Coordinator of Office of The Coordinator of Student Activities, Mr. Banks C. Talley, 13 Holladay Hall, ext. 370. He will arrange for a mem-ber of the Judicial Board to see the faculty member or student.

Dishonest Students

If a student is dishonest on quiz or any work upon which he has been placed on his honor and if the student is found guil-ty by the Judicial Board, he may receive one of the following penalties.

1. An 'F' given on the course, probation, and a letter to be sent to his parents.
