THE TECHNICIAN

NORTH CAROLINA STATE COLLEGE'S WEEKLY NEWSPAPER
Vol. XL, No. 2 State College Station, Raleigh, N. C. Sept. 22, 1955

Dr. Purks; Acting President Of The Consolidated Univ.

Dr. James Harris Purks, Jr., has been named acting President of the Consolidated University of North Carolina. Dr. Purks moved into this position on July 15, when President Gordon Gray was appointed assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs.

Acting as provost since January, 1954, Dr. Purks is the second provost of the institution. He came to North Carolina from New York, where he had been associate director of the General Education Board.

Dr. Purks is a physicist and former dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Emory University. In addition to the B.S. degree awarded him at Emory, he received both his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in physics at Columbia University.

He was instrumental in the organization of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies and now serves on its board of directors. In December, 1954, he was named to membership on the Southern Regional Education Board by Governor Hodges. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi scientific society, American Physical Society, and Chi Phi medical fraternity.

Beauty Contest To Be Held At 7:15 p.m. Sunday

A beauty contest will be held in the College Union Theater on Sunday, September 25, at 7:15 p.m., for the purpose of choosing a contestant from State to vie with the beauty queens from Carolina and W. C. Students of State College are invited.

Participating in the contest will be co-eds of State. Judges for the event will be members of the Consolidated University Student Council. Co-eds will be judged on the basis of speech, beauty, personality, and poise. The winners from State, W. C., and Carolina will then compete for the Consolidated University Crown. The girl chosen as the most beautiful of the three will be presented on October 1, Consolidated University Day, at the State-Carolina football game.

Army Announces New Cadet Officers

Cadet Sidney E. Briley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney E. Briley of Greenville, has been appointed to the rank of cadet colonel and to the post of cadet regimental commander of the Army ROTC Regiment at North Carolina State College, Col. Richard R. Middlebrooks, professor of military science and tactics at the college announced September 17.

Colonel Middlebrooks also said Cadet Teddy R. Jones, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Jones of Lake Junaluska, has been appointed cadet lieutenant colonel and designated as cadet regimental executive officer.

Three cadets, all top-ranking Army ROTC students, were named cadet lieutenant colonels and designated as battalion com-

Orchestra & Band Now Organizing

Plans for the reorganization of the State College orchestra for the coming year were announced this week by Major C. D. Kutchinski, Orchestra Director. Rehearsals are to be held in Pullen Hall each Tuesday night from 8 to 10 p.m. The Orchestra gives at least three formal concerts each year.

Membership in the Orchestra is open to faculty members and wives as well as the entire student body. Kutchinski pointed out that this is, of course, subject to audition and consideration of properly balanced instrumentation.

He also asked that all former members of the orchestra who have returned to the College this year be present Tuesday night for the first session.

Although the State College Band has not had enough time to organize fully, they report through their Director, C. D. Kutchinski that they will be on the sidelines at the Duke game this Saturday to provide "pep" music to aid the cheerleaders.

Major Kutchinski said that he hoped that within the next few weeks the Band would be ready to put on a full Half-time show. He requested that any Freshmen who are interested in joining the Band contact him in the next few days, as, due to practicing, the Band membership will be closed fairly soon. Mr. Kutchinski maintains offices in the 1911 Building and can be reached at Extension 251.

NOTICE

The Alpha Zeta Book Exchange will be open until 9 p.m. tonight and from 12 noon until 9 p.m. tomorrow. The Book Exchange has moved from the 1911 Building to the ground floor cloak room of the College Union. "Every student has a great opportunity to sell at a good price and to buy at better prices than at any other place on campus," declared Bill Dozier, Chancellor of Alpha Zeta, "so be sure to bring your books to sell at the exchange."

manders. They are Cadet John C. Stuart, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Stuart of Greensboro, Cadet Joseph A. Riggs, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Riggs of Hinsdale, Ill., and Cadet Ernest K. Sherrill, son of Mrs. Theresa T. Sherrill of Hudson.

The cadets receiving the top posts in the regiment are beginning their fourth and last year of ROTC training after which they will receive commissions as second lieutenants in the Army Reserve. Selection of these cadets for the five highest cadet officer appointments was based on outstanding leadership ability, military proficiency, and overall college standing. Colonel Middlebrooks stated.

Freshmen

There will be a meeting next Thursday night at 7:00 in the Technician office of all freshmen or others who would like to work with the Technician this year. It is very important that any one interested in working this year be at the meeting.

New Date Ticket Plan Now Available To State Students

A new system for purchasing date tickets is being tried this year at State. After much discussion the new plan was proposed as a temporary solution to this timely problem.

A student may now buy a date book for $8.00. This book entitles one to take his date to five home games, one freshman game, and four high-school football games.

Student government president Jim Nolan says that "while we realize that this is not a perfect system and does not satisfy everyone, we shall employ this system until we can come upon a more satisfactory solution. We shall work toward that end."

These date books are available at the Coliseum Box Office, and registration cards must be displayed at time of purchase.

Students using either their own book or a date book at high school games should enter the stadium through Gate 1 and sit on the east side.

CU Day Dance To Be Oct. 1

President Jim Frazier of the State College Monogram Club announced plans this week for the Consolidated University Day Dance to be sponsored by the Monogram Club following the State-Carolina football game, October 1.

The dance, an annual feature of Consolidated University Day, is to be held in the College Union Ballroom this year from 8:00 until 12:00 P. M. Music will be furnished by the Duke Ambassadors.

Approximately five hundred girls from Woman's College will attend the game and be guests of the Monogram Club at the dance. Admission will be one dollar (1.00) for each couple or male stag. Dress will be informal.

The dance will be the climaxing event of the Consolidated University Day activities for the students of State College and their guests from Woman's College and Carolina.

BSU Holds Retreat

The Baptist Student Union Councils of N. C. State College and Womans College met jointly for a preschool retreat and planning conference September 8 through 11 at William B. Umstead State Park.

The BSU, as a denominational

Military Ball Plans Announced

The Military Ball Association announced late Tuesday that it had made arrangements for Ralph Flanagan's Band to play at this year's Military Ball. Tentative arrangements with the group, voted the nation's outstanding dance band in last year's Downbeat Magazine poll, were revealed by Henry Pickett, chairman of the Association.

The Ball is to be held in the Reynolds Coliseum Saturday, March 10, 1956, and will consist of an informal afternoon concert and a formal evening dance.

Early ticket sales have been excellent, according to Pickett, and a large crowd is expected. Tickets will remain on sale for $3.50 until September 30 and will go on sale again February 15 for $4.00. Tickets may be obtained from Joe Warlick, 101 Tucker Dorm, Henry Pickett, 2513 Clark Ave., or the Air Force or Army Headquarters located in the Coliseum.

Dr. Frank H. Jeter Succumbs

Dr. Frank H. Jeter, 64, director of the Department of Agricultural Information here at State College, died of a cerebral hemorrhage at Rex Hospital Friday morning at 4:30 o'clock.

A member of the State College faculty for 39 years, Dr. Jeter was stricken at his home here at 304 Forest Road Friday morning at 3 o'clock and was rushed to Rex Hospital, where he died an hour and a half later. Dr. Joseph J. Combs, college physician, attributed death to a cerebral hemorrhage.

The veteran college official, who was nationally known for his pioneering work in agricultural journalism, had worked at his office at the college Thursday, appeared in good health during this last day on the job, and had planned a trip to the beach with his family over the week-end.

Survivors include his wife, the former Irene Annie Albert; three children — Mrs. William Black of Atlanta, Ga., Frank H. Jeter, Jr., of Forest City, and Dr. Vernon Jeter of Plymouth; and five grandchildren.

Widely known for his writings, radio broadcasts, and TV programs, Dr. Jeter was president of the National Association of Agricultural Editors in 1919-20 and was a member of the Board of Trustees of Presbyterian Junior College in Maxton.

He became agricultural editor at North Carolina State College in November, 1914, and worked in this capacity until 1920, when he resigned to accept the appointment as editorial director of the Southern Fertilizer Association in Atlanta.

Resigning his post with the association in 1922, he returned to North Carolina State College as agricultural editor and director of publications and was named chairman of the college's Board of Student Publications in 1932—a post he held until 1950.

For several years, he conducted a daily "Farm News Round-Up" over Radio Station WPTF in Raleigh and more recently has conducted a nightly farm program for WUNC-TV.

He also had seen service on national agricultural committees and was a member of the Board of Control of the National Project in Agricultural Communications, with headquarters at Michigan State University.

In Raleigh, he was president of the Kiwanis Club in 1925, a member of the executive committee of the Torch Club, an elder in the First Presbyterian Church, and a member of the Country Club. In addition, he served as chairman of the committee on agriculture of Kiwanis International in 1927-28, as lieutenant-governor of his Kiwanis District in 1927, and as chairman of the editorial section of the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers in 1937-1939.

His professional, honorary, and social affiliations include membership in Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity; Phi Kappa Phi, national scholarship society; Epsilon Sigma Phi, Extension Service fraternity; and other organizations.

Dr. Jeter edited hundreds of bulletins published by the State College Extension Service and the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station, of which he was also editorial director.

The recipient of many honors and awards for his work, he was awarded the Certificate for Meritorious Service to Agriculture by the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation at the organization's annual meeting in Winston-Salem in 1946.

EDITORIAL COMMENT:

Mud

During the rainy days that have been with us during freshman orientation, our campus has, as usual, turned into a "mud" bowl. There is mud in a lot of places that people shouldn't walk, and still more mud in the many, many places that students and others do walk.

Cinder sidewalks, and we hesitate to call them sidewalks at all, completely wash away with one hard rain. They look terrific until that first rain. After that—well you can see for yourself.

The walks around the Civil Engineering building are a classic example of the sorry condition they get into. Many man hours, tractor hours, and other hours were spent on them, and what is there now? The nearest thing to nothing!! The equipment that M & O had around the C. E. Building that day back in the spring when the project was begun gave the impression that they were preparing to cover the place with sidewalks.

Since it appears that funds are not available for cement we suggest that the Ceramic boys might be induced to turn our clay into bricks for M & O to use in brickwalks. The only real objection on our part to that is that Carolina thought of brickwalks first.

We appeal to anybody, maybe even Kerr Scott, to get us out of the mud.

Date Tickets

Date tickets have in the past been higher than students have felt they should be. Last year, and perhaps in previous years, there was a concession made by the athletic department whereby students could purchase date tickets at a reduced price. There were many who thought that even at the reduced rate date tickets were still out of line.

We understand that plans had been made before school opened to change the policy this year so that date tickets would have to be purchased at full price, which we have been told is $3.50 for football tickets.

When this news got to the students, tops began to blow. But, with a determination that something could be done to better the situation for the students, S G President Jim Nolan, Ed Rose, and Jim Frazier sat down with Athletic Director Roy B. Clogston and discussed the matter. Out of this discussion came the results that we have reported in a news story on page 1. The arrangements that were made were better than those originally planned for a student who wished to take a date to a football game, but still there is much to be desired.

We have often wondered just why a student should not be allowed to use his roommate's ticket book to take his date to a ballgame if his roommate could not go to the game for some reason or if his roommate did not desire to go to the game. The argument most frequently used, maybe justly, is the loss of revenue. We are also reminded that the seat a student or his date occupies is worth money to the college athletic program—that the athletic department is deeply in debt. We certainly realize that it costs a great deal of money to finance a bigtime football team, but who is the bigtime football team produced for—the students or the people who are willing to pay $3.50 for a seat when the team is having a winning season!

While a team is building up, the student pays his athletic fee regardless of whether his team is winning or losing. The student does not have the option that the purchaser of a $3.50 ticket does—the option of buying only when the team is on top.

We are not avocating eliminating the compulsory paying of athletic fees, but we feel, however, that since the student supports the athletic program—win or lose, year in and year out—that he should be granted a great deal of consideration in the use of his ticket book and the price of date tickets.

Letters To The Editor:

To the Editor:

This fall homecoming will be held earlier than usual. With it comes the selection of "Miss Wolfpack." This contest, especially last year, really set me to thinking. Like right many of the other students, I had high hopes of seeing "Miss Wolfpack" and getting a chance to talk to her. This was not possible since she was a one day visitor on our campus for a crowded event.

Quite a few of my friends agree with me that it would be a wonderful idea if this year we selected a member of our student body as "Miss Wolfpack."

We have looked around the campus and dated the coeds to see if they are as attractive and interesting as our girls back home. If anything, they are better suited for the honor of being selected campus queen. What is your type of girl? Is she a Blond, Brunette, or Red-head? Is she tall or short, thin or well proportioned? If you will take an honest look around you, you will find that we have a set of girls with plenty of charm and curves. If coed X is selected "Miss Wolfpack" each and every one of our students can know her and have a chance to even date her. Also, she could serve as the official State College Hostess at all college functions. There would be many occasions when she could serve to the advantage of all of us. When we were in high school all of the beauty queens were selected from our school. We didn't pick a girl from a high school over a hundred miles away to reign over our events. Therefore, why should we do this in college? Our coeds fall into every possible beauty classification you can select. It is not fair to look for their beauty in chem lab but when they are dressed up they are really honeys. Fellow students, let's open our eyes this year and select one of our coeds for this date her. Also, she could serve many times do we give them the credit they deserve? I am as guilty as the rest of you. When the honors are handed out they only go to girls from off campus. It is time that we made them know that we are proud of them.

As things now stand, the title "Miss Wolfpack" is very empty. How can she be "Miss Wolfpack" when she is not a member of the pack? How much do you think it meant to the girl last year from Charlotte's junior high school to be "Miss Wolfpack"? Well, I'll bet it didn't mean half as much to her as it would mean to a State College student if she had a chance at the title and won. We have a wonderful selection of girls on campus and believe it or not, they have just as many curves and some of them have more than last year's queen. There are plenty of girls to give a fair selection. Last year we had over 50 girls enrolled, yet the "Miss Wolfpack" contest had less than 30 entries. Let's be loyal to our College and select this year's queen from among our number.

Florida State's Seminoles scored on a 50-yard pass play with less than seven minutes remaining to defeat North Carolina State's Wolfpack, 7-0 in the seasons opener for both teams. . . . The Wolfpack played inspired ball all evening but one mistake cost them the ball game. State had several scoring chances but just couldn't get the ball across the goal. . . . The game was played in a sea of mud which hampered the Pack's backfield performance. . . . Coach Edwards said after the game, "Naturally we're disappointed but we have no alibi's and I feel like the boys gave it all they had." "I still think we have a fine ball club and now our sights are set on Duke."

Last year during basketball season, several of our opponents after losing to the Wolfpack got out the crying towel for the boys and really poured it on. . . . Well, a real classic has reached my desk from our neighbors in Durham. Dook's proud ACC and Orange Bowl champions seem to be getting somewhat worried about the Wolfpack's football team as Dook's coach Bill Murray charges that State's multiple offense shift is illegal and unfair. . . . Murray went on to say that if us little old boys don't quit using that shift he won't play us anymore!!!! Well bless his little 'ol heart. . . . Coach Carey Brewbaker said, "Bill, you shouldn't worry about any shift we use as long as we don't shift out of the stadium." . . . Next thing you know they will accuse us of trying to score on purpose!!!

Baby Wolfpack Open '55 Season With Clemson There On Saturday

North Carolina State's 45-man freshman football squad opens its 1955 season Saturday afternoon when they clash with Clemson College's Baby Tigers at Clemson, S. C.

Coach Bill Smaltz begins his second year at the helm of the State freshman squad and from all reports there is a lot of work to be done on the West Raleigh campus if this year's squad is to rank with its immediate predecessor.

Smaltz, former head coach at Juniata College, directed last year's Wolfpack team to a 4-1 record which was the most impressive yearling season at State since the war. The lone loss was a one-touchdown decision to Duke's frosh and victories came over Wake Forest, South Carolina, Clemson and highly rated Miami.

The 45-man squad has been on hand since drills started (See BABY WOLFPACK, Page 3)

Sophs. Pushing Vets. For Starting Roles On Grid Team

There's one thing certain about North Carolina State's football team this year. With a host of good sophomores available at every position, last year's starters will have to keep their jobs.

Coach Earle Edwards told the 52-man squad that every position on the team is open and the starting berths will go to the men who win them, regardless of past performances.

At least three sophomores are making strong bids for the first team and nine others are in the running. There are 22 sophomores on the squad.

The three rookies who are most likely to succeed are Tony Guerrieri at Fullback, John Collar at end and Jim Oddo at center.

In the backfield, halfbacks Dick Christy and Dick Hunter join Guerrieri as the brightest prospects. All are breakaway runners and were standouts on last year's strong freshman team which lost only one game.

Guerrieri, a hard-running strongman, is fighting veteran Harrison Makeever for the full-back post while Hunter and Christy are battling with George Marinkov and John Zubaty. In the line Collar is currently the number three man at end back of Ronnie Gall and John Lowe, both lettermen. Other rookies who look good are Jay Beacon and Don Miketa.

Tom Guerrieri and Amedeo DeAngelis are promising tackles and Francis Tokar and Joe Monohan look like the best of the sophomore guards. Dick Goudie was an outstanding center for last year's frosh and has seen some action on the starting team during practice.

Coach Edwards is virtually certain that most of the sophomores will have been under fire by mid-season.

Pack Host To Blue Devils For Conference Scrap Sat.

North Carolina State opens its home season in Riddick Stadium Saturday night at 8 o'clock against Duke University.

For the Wolfpack, the Blue Devils present a psychological problem which has dogged the West Raleigh eleven for nine years. That's how long it has been since Howard (Touchdown) Turner led an inspired State team to a 13-6 win in 1946.

Nine years is a long time to go without beating a Big Four rival. Since that time State has come close on all but two occasions, and playing the part of runner-up is anything but satisfying to the 'Pack.

Looking back over the past ten years, most of the games have been action-packed contests which kept the spectators on their feet throughout the game. Many Wolfpack fans feel that this year's game will be typical of the State-Duke struggles.

Following the 1946 triumph, the Wolfpack made it close for five straight years but still couldn't win. In 1947 it was Duke by 7-0 and the next year the teams played a scoreless tie. State came back strong in 1949 but lost by the margin of an extra point, 14-13. Duke registered another 7-0 win in 1950 and squeaked by 27-21 in 1951.

The roof caved in on the Wolfpack in 1952 and 1953 with the powerful Blue Devils winning 57-0 and 31-0. Last year many observers thought Duke would come through with another one-sided victory, but the Wolfpack had other ideas and provided a busy evening before bowing 27-7.

The State players are optimistic about their chances this year. "I think we can take them if we give it our best," remarked Quarterback Eddie West and several teammates agreed.

"If our line can open up a few holes, I know our backs can run against Duke," said star guard Al D'Angelo. "We showed them last year that we're no push-over and our team has improved a lot since then."

Tickets for the game are still available and may be purchased at the Coliseum box office or at the gate Saturday night.

Blue Devils Look For Battle Sat.

Game week comes up this week for Duke University's Blue Devils, Atlantic Coast Conference defending champions and also title-holders of the Orange Bowl.

And the opener with N. C. State at Raleigh will throw the Blue Devils right into the ACC battle for the 1955 title but that will end conference engagements until the Blue Devils journey to South Carolina on November 12.

The work this week will be different from the past three with the emphasis on getting the edge sharp for the clash with the Wolfpack which right now sizes up as one of the toughest curtain-raiser Duke has had in years.

The Blue Devils had a hard enough time last year with State and at times were more than confused with the tricky Wolfpack offense. Duke took the encounter 21-7.

Coach Bill Murray had made no changes in his No. 1 team since practice started and that crew, which appears to be as good as a first eleven as Duke has had in many moons, will take the field against the Wolfpack.

With a few exceptions, at times, that No. 1 club has looked plenty sharp in scrimmage sessions.

Intramural Program

The intramural program provides the college student an opportunity to seek and maintain organic soundness, and for personal and social development through participation in a variety of active sports, games, and other recreative activities. The program is the most valuable extra-curricular activity on the campus. It gives the student an opportunity to know and meet new friends, to have clean fun, and at the same time enjoy good healthful exercise. Most students these days have taken part in some type of organized recreation before coming to college. The program, therefore, gives the student the opportunity to continue these activities as well as helping his fraternity or dorm with what ever athletic skill he might have.

The program is divided into three seasons, fall, winter, and spring. The fall season will include activities in touch football, volleyball, track and bowling. The winter season will find basketball, swimming, handball, and ping pong, while in the spring, softball, tennis, horse-shoes, and badminton are the sports.

"The line will have to make or break the squad this year," commented Smaltz, "we don't have the backfield we had last season, but we have depth and weight in every position up front."

Hale Joins Grid Staff As Frosh Line Coach

Owen Hale has joined the football coaching staff at North Carolina State College and will serve as freshman line coach, Athletic Director Roy Clogston announced today.

Hale's appointment is on a temporary basis for the current season. He will assist freshman coach Bill Smaltz.

Hale was freshman coach at Florida State last year and served in the same capacity at Vanderbilt in 1953. He attended Vanderbilt and was an outstanding guard from 1938 to 1941.

The new coach played professional football with San Diego in the Pacific Coast League and joined the Chicago Bears as a defensive center in 1947 and 1948.

The 34-year-old Hale is married and has one daughter.

Open House To Be Held By Monogram Club

The Monogram Club revealed today through their president, Jim Frazier, that they plan to hold an Open House in their club room in the State College Fieldhouse following each home game this season.

These Open Houses will be for their alumni and the guests of the players and members. The Club will be open before and after the games. Refreshments will be served.

The Club said that they hoped to create more interest among the Alumni in athletics and in the Monogram Club through these events, and to serve as a meeting place for old members and their guests.

The Dorm Corner

by Terry Lee Hershey

The intramural sports program will soon be underway. The dormitory athletic directors and the department of Physical Education have worked out a tentative schedule for various sports, but nothing can be done until the dormitory athletic directors know how many players he will have to work with. All students are requested to notify their director to indicate their intramural interest. Off-campus dormitory they desire but once their choice is made it can not be changed. The Physical Education is looking forward to a big year in intramurals but this cannot be accomplished without each student's help.

All students have been invited by the Raleigh school system to attend the high school football games in Riddick stadium. These will be held on Friday students can also play with the night and admission will be by student athletic books.

If any student has any question about the dormitory, campus, or any other matter, the Interdormitory Council, your dormitory officers, or your building and floor manager are here to serve you. Many of your questions concerning dormitory rules can be answered by consulting the regulations posted in your room.

News for Vets

Veterans starting school this fall under the Korean GI Bill can avoid financial troubles by taking along enough money of their own to see them through their first two months of training, Veterans Administration said.

Under the law, it takes about two months for their first GI allowance checks to reach them, VA explained. Once the allowances start coming, they will cover every month of training completed, as long as veterans make sure their schools file monthly certificates with the VA.

VA gave these reasons for the length of time required to make the initial GI allowance payments:

First, under the law, the allowances must be paid after the end of each month of training completed, and not before. Therefore a veteran could not possibly receive his money the day he enters school.

For veterans who begin training after the 20th of the month, the GI allowances usually are not paid until some time after the end of the following full month of training.

These factors account for at least one month's delay, VA said.

Second, after the close of the month, the veteran must sign a certification stating he was attending class during the month. The school sends this certification to VA. Usually, a veteran's check should go out within 20 days after the time VA receives the certification.

That accounts for the remainder of the two-month waiting period, VA said.

VA explained that under the Korean GI Bill, a veteran receives a single GI allowance check to cover each month of training. With the help of that check, he must meet all his own training expenses — tuition, books, fees, supplies and the like. VA does not make separate payments to schools, as it does in the case of veterans training under the original World War II GI Bill.

For veterans in school full-time under the Korean GI Bill, the monthly allowance rates are $110, with no dependents; $135,

Frosh BSU Retreat

The N. C. State Baptist Student Union held its first annual Freshman retreat at William B. Umstead State Park Sept. 12 through 15. About 25 freshmen out of the 500 Baptist freshmen enrolled attended the retreat. These freshmen were given an orientation to college life by council members attending the retreat. Roommates, academic life, social life, worship life, What is BSU, and the BSU's program on campus were some of the topics discussed. Four by all until 10 p.m. when they returned to the busses.

The tour proved to be a tremendous success. We are looking forward to the Averette College girls attending many of the dances this year.

Meredith College girls gave the freshmen an excellent orientation on Meredith rules. The boys were given an introduction to the various local Baptist Churches through the Pastors and Educational Directors of the Churches, who brought devotional to the group. The delegates played ping-pong, volleyball and horseshoes during their free time. At the close of the retreat an evaluation session was held to determine how the retreat might be improved in the years to come.

The retreat was led by John Dawson, President of the BSU and Bob Lasater, Director of the BSU. Council members attending the retreat were, Gayle Wylie, Stan Adams, E. B. Deese, Edgar Smith, Bill White, and Roland Pitts.
