NORTH CAROLINA STATE COLLEGE'S WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

Vol. XL, No. 21

State College Station, Raleigh, N. C.

March 8, 1956

Covering Campus...

Permanent Class Officers

The campus elections in April will also include the election of the permanent class officers of the Class of '56. The offices open are President, Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer. Seniors interested in running for an office should sign up in the book in Dean Talley's office along with an interested friend's countersignature. The book will be open until the end of March.

Engineering Visit

A general survey of the civil engineering field occupied "Engineering Visit" over WUNC-TV, channel 4, last Friday at 2 p.m.

Dr. Ralph E. Fadum, head of the Department of Civil Engineering at North Carolina State College discussed four areas in the field, structural, sanitary, foundations and transportation engineering. The program was part of a weekly series presented by the State College School of Engineering to inform high school students about the engineering profession.

Student Legislature

Student Legislature meets tonight at 8 in the College Union.

Nomination Books

Spec Hawkins, member of the Elections Committee reminds all students that the Nomination Books are now open in Dean Talley's office, 13 Holladay Hall Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. All candidates must have co-signers.

Inspection

Another inspection of student-owned motorcycles and scooters will be held Saturday afternoon from 1 to 2 behind Riddick. The College Inspection team must approve the machines before they can be parked in the recently-constructed parking lots. Inspection fee is 25c.

CU Directors

Change President

Election Procedure

The College Union Board of Directors passed a series of Constitutional changes at its last meeting.

Most of the changes were simply the rephrasing and deletion of parts of the present constitution.

The biggest change and the one that caused the most controversy was a change in the election of officers. Here-to-fore, only two candidates had been selected by the Board of Directors to run for President of the College Union—the loser automatically becoming Vice-president.

The revision states that "the College Union Board of Directors will select a maximum of four (4) qualified candidates each for the officers of president, vice-president, and secretary of the College Union to be entered in the General Campus Elections.

Proxies can no longer be used by a Board member and it now takes eleven board members, eight of them students, to make a quorum for a Board of Directors meetings.

Fresh-Soph Dance Plans Set For April 7 With Billy May

Last week the Freshman and Sophomore Class Officers met in a joint meeting to decide whether the Fresh-Soph Dance would be Formal or Semi-Formal. The results of a campus poll, along with advice from various campus leaders and from the Administration, were considered by the men. The final conclusion reached was that the dance would be formal.

A great deal of sentiment was registered by students. They stood on both sides of the fence. However, the main objection seemed to be that "formal" required too much expense in the renting or buying a tuxedo. Presidents McLendon and Weinstein, along with their committees, came forward with a solution as follows.

"After checking with several stores and rental agencies in Raleigh," said Weinstein, "it was found that the prices were indeed exorbitant. We looked around for a better solution to the problem and finally found that the Tuxedo Junction in Durham could offer us a better price at $7.50. This is a Tony Martin Tux, one of the best available, we understand. They offered to make us agents for them and give us a 15% commission on all Tux' rented. We decided that instead of taking the commission,

"J" Board Finds Student Innocent

On February 23 the Judicial Board heard the case of a defendant charged with violation of Campus Law and specifically to have cheated on an examination. The Board found the defendant not guilty to the per se charge.

March 1, the Judicial Board acted in the case of a defendant charged with conduct unbecoming a gentleman. The defendant was found guilty by the Board and the following penalty was issued: That the defendant be given a severe reprimand with the stipulation that if ever convicted by the Judicial Board for a similar offense that he be suspended from school for a period of time to be determined by the board at that time.

we would refund it to the students, lowering their rental costs to $6.50."

Weinstein went on to say, "This is a difference of anywhere from $4.00 to $6.00 below the rental prices we could find anywhere else. We hope that it will remove, at least partially, the big objection to a formal dance."

"As all this boils down, it means that YOU CAN RENT A TONY MARTIN TUX FROM US FOR ONLY $6.50. This will include coat, trousers, tie, waistband and suspenders. There is also a double-breasted Tux available for $4.00. (The one mentioned above is single-breasted.)

Orders will be taken for the Tuxedos in the ground floor cloakroom of the College Union, Monday through Friday, March 12-16, between the hours of 6-10 in the evening.

ALSO: Tickets will be issued at that time and at the same place. This will be the only time they are issued. They will only be issued in person to the member of the two classes who will use them."

State College Has 65th Birthday

With no formalities beyond the routine of the classroom and laboratory, State College this week is passing the sixty-fifth anniversary of its legal existence.

The Legislature of 1877, taking up the unfinished business of the solons of 1875, passed in the House on March 1 the bill of Augustus Leazar of Iredell to establish the agricultural and industrial college which was to become one of the nation's major technical institutions, operating under the provisions of the national Morrill Land-Grant Act of 1862.

The bill passed the Senate on March 3, and on March 7 was ratified and endorsed as "Effective on and after this date." Eighteen months later it opened its doors under President Alexander Q. Holladay, with W. A. Withers as Professor of Chemistry; D. H. Hill as Professor of English; and J. R. Chamberlain as Professor of Agriculture.

Establishment of the college had received strong support from L. L. Polk, of the Progressive Farmer, and from the Watauga Club, a group of local young professional and business men, among whom were such leaders as W. S. Primrose, W. J. Peele, Josephus Daniels, Walter H. Page, and several others.

Land for the college was donated by R. Stanhope Pullen, who divided a large tract between the institution and the city, the latter portion being what is now Pullen Park, including Red Diamond and the areas

(See 65TH, page 12)

A recent look at the elections book in Dean Banks Talley's office revealed that Student Government President Jim Nolan has signed up to endeavor to succeed himself, a feat unprecedented in the annals of State College history. In fact, President Nolan is the only junior to become President of the Student Body.

Undoubtedly other candidates will announce for SG President before the sign-up book closes at 5 p.m., March 26. John Arnold, a senator from the School of Textiles, has already informed The Technician of his intention of running against Nolan for the presidency. Arnold is a rising senior in Textiles who returned to State College from a hitch in the army in the spring of '54.

Another possible candidate for president is Bob Gunn who is now Vice-president of Student Government. Gunn has another year left and he can't be counted out.

Other hopeful candidates for student officers that have already announced their intentions are Terry Lathrop for Technician Editor, Charles Martin for Student Government Vice-president, and John Lane for Technician business manager.

The first election will be held on April 10 and runoffs will be held on April 17. Sign-up books are now open in Dean Talley's office, 13 Holladay Hall. Sign-up books close at 5 p.m., March 26.

The Technician announces that it will be glad to run any campaign copy for candidates for office in the spring elections. This copy must be submitted to the Technician office (1911)

CONCERT CHANGED

Final Military Ball Plans

In announcing final plans for the Military Ball to be held this coming Saturday night, March 10, in Reynolds Coliseum, the Military Ball Committee revealed that the concert will be held in the auditorium of the Textile Building from 3-5 p.m. Saturday afternoon. The dress for this occasion will be informal, which consists of the men wearing a coat and tie instead of the Military uniform.

The formal Military Ball will be held that evening from 8:30 to 12:00 p.m. The dress will be formal; either the formal military uniform or the formal tuxedo. During the intermission, the sponsors and the honorary cadet colonels will be presented in a formal figure.

The week-end festivities will feature the music of Elliot Lawrence and his 15 man orchestra. His band has been very popular among colleges and favorite night spots across the country, and a large turnout is anticipated for the event.

Tickets are still on sale for the event at $4.00 per couple and can be obtained at the headquarters of either the Air Force or the Army ROTC headquarters in the Coliseum.

For You — The Chimes Ring! !

Wednesday, March 7, at 12 noon an unusual sound will be heard on our campus. At this time the chimes in the Memorial Tower will be played. There will be at least two religious selections played.

This music will come from the musical touch of Richard Stallings, senior in Industrial Arts.

Why the chimes? This will be to remind all the students of the weekly Pre-Easter Services being held in the Danforth Chapel. These services are held every Wednesday from 12:40 until 1:00. These are open to all people on campus. This Wednesday's speaker will be Rev. Robert Henderson, Presbyterian Student Chaplain. Music will be by the State College Glee Club and Richard Stallings on the organ.

In Recognition

There is one group of players that were present for practically every home basketball game this season who didn't make the sports page; they haven't gained any public recognition, and probably they didn't touch a basketball all season.

Instead of playing forward, guard, or center, they played the clarinet, trumpet, drums, and sax. They were the small band that furnished music at the games instead of Paul Montgomery and the organ.

Since the group was started last year by Richard Wimbish, along with Major Kutschinski, participation has been purely voluntary. This year Frank Strauss has been the fellow who has directed the group during the games. Between Frank Strauss and Eddie Avent, president of the full State College Band, the small group has certainly been an added attraction at the games.

To the fellows and the gal who gave their time to participate in such an extra-curricular activity, we commend highly. Such activities are part of ingredients that make up "school spirit." We need more such participation.

Procrastination

For the last year and one-half, interested members of the IFC and its presidents have been working long and hard on the project of getting State's under-sized fraternity system new homes on the State campus, without cost to the taxpayers, to the students in, or to the College. Real progress has been made. The determined efforts had paid off. But to be totally successful, it was certainly necessary that a united front be presented to outside agencies willing to loan the money. There is no better collateral than real spirit and determination.

Last week at the IFC meeting, a monkey-wrench was delicately cast into the smooth-running gears. Opposition arose to the loan program, a final motion necessary to present a request to those who will presumably loan the money. We understand that a group representing the minority of the fraternity men is under the impression that they will be under too stiff control as to their house choices, etc.

This seems to be a rather blind motion. Surely it is apparent that outside support must be gained if a project of this size is to be undertaken with any sort of hope for unanimous or group action. We are sorry to see this block after so much fine work has been done.

Hear At State

by Sidney Pureblood, Jr.

The views and opinions of this column do not necessarily represent those of THE TECHNICIAN.

It was good news to this writer to read in last week's Technician that those students with motor-scooters and motorcycles now have several places to park on campus. I also think that it is a good idea to have an inspection for these vehicles, but what does such an inspection have to do with parking? Why inspect a few motorcycles and motor scooters and not the hundreds of student cars? How can the college compel certain students to have their motor vehicles inspected and not require the other couple thousand to do the same? Why does the Traffic Committee even require inspection when the State does not?

State and the ACC
Nine out of ten tournaments won! That's a record any college could be proud of. And since Everett Case has been at State we have lost only one tournament. Even with two of our best players missing or hampered either through "scholastic difficulties" or by a broken wrist, State's basketball team came through with its head high. A hearty "WELL DONE" is due our boys and their coach.

Negro Undergraduates Here?

In the early part of this week the Supreme Court upheld a lower court decision of some time ago to allow Negroes to enter the University of North Carolina. At the present time, it is and has been an unwritten policy of State College to admit Negro students only to graduate school. Whether or not this is because there have been no undergraduate applications is unknown to this writer, but this seems unlikely. One thing is for sure now, however... the Supreme Court has ruled in this particular case (since we are a part of the Consolidated University), and there will be no legal way to bar Negroes from entrance to this college in the future if they are qualified. (This is simply a little more food and fact for thought on the segregation problem that is presently plaguing the South).

A word of commendation should go to the two class presidents, Weinstein and McLendon, for the decision they made recently about the renting of tuxs for the Freshman-Sophomore Dance to be held April 7. These men decided to become agents for a renting firm in Durham and, rather than take the commission for themselves (as they might easily have done) return this money to the students who rent tuxs. This will reduce the price of renting formal attire for those who plan to do so by at least $1.00. These men are certainly due a word of thanks from their classmates for their honesty and initiative.

Correction

Pureblood, Sr. has brought to the attention of Pureblood, Jr. a mistake that I made some time ago. In arguing for the printing of budgets by the several student organizations in an article several months ago, I said that all corporations are "required by law to publish budgets." This is incorrect and was pointed out to me recently by, as I said, Pureblood, Sr. Corporations are not required to publish budgets. At any rate, the Student Government is in the process right now of recommending that a Budgetary and Finance Committee be set up to do just this—require several student organizations to submit budgets before they are allocated funds. This is a big step in the right direction.

Comments On Chem. Dept. . . .

To The Editor:

North Carolina State College, as does any college, has many faults. That is understandable and excusable, but the Chemistry Department is unexcusable. If State held a contest for the dumbest department on campus, the Chemistry Department would win—hands down. There would be no contest because there would be no doubt.

The Chemistry Department is not the only department on campus that has a large registration to take care of; but it is the only department who is stupid enough to bungle the registration of students. This is not the fault of all the faculty in the department, but the fault of one man who is supposed to register the students. This one man, who was referred to in "The Wataugan" as "M. F. Slowalter", at registration he wanted to keep each student in the same class that he was in last semester. His probable reason for this was the fact that all the students in his classes were rearranging their schedule to get out of his class. They were taking Chemistry at inconvenient times just to keep out of his class. As a result of this stupidity dozens of students were lined up in the halls of old Withers trying to get into a Chemistry class as long as three and four days after registration was supposedly over.

The other departments on campus are disgusted with the Chemistry Department because students have to change classes to get in a Chemistry Class. But to me, the little incident really took the cake. A boy went in after registration was supposedly closed. Mr. Showalter tried to put him in a Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday lecture at 10 a.m. with lab. from 9-12 a.m. on Saturday. As someone said, "That's what your cuts are for!"

I think it is high time someone did something about this unnecessary stupidity on our campus.

Over 1200 students voted in the primary elections for campus officers. The final election dates were set for March 26.

Colonel Albert S. Peake, veteran of campaigns in the Philippines, Mexico and France is joining the State College military staff as executive officer of the ROTC.

Overalls and gingham dresses will predominate as Barry McKinley furnishes music for the annual Ag Club dance.

The Red Terrors whipped South Carolina, 56-43, in the initial round of the Southern Conference Tourney. They have established themselves as a definite threat for the first time in three years.

R. Baker Wynn, for six years instructor in English and public speaking at State College, has been inducted into the army and is stationed at Fort Bragg.

Jerome M. Weyne of Yanco, Puerto Rico, was awarded an engraved watch in recognition of his record as the most outstanding student in the school of engineering. Weyne, a senior in mechanical engineering, has a near-perfect academic record and is highly active in campus affairs.

The engineering experiment station at State College, in co-operation with the Texas Company, will conduct experimental work on domestic heating fuels.

The Red Terrors entering the opening round of the Southern Conference Basketball Tourney were defeated by the Duke Blue Devils, 44-38.

This week a squad of forty candidates reported for the first practice session of the forthcoming baseball season.

The first issue of The Textile Forum is now coming off the press. Publication was suspended in 1943 and is now being resumed.

In the quarterfinal round of the National Invitational Tournament in New York, State lost to Seton Hall. Walter Dukes, Seton Hall, took charge of the backboards and kept the Wolfpack down.

Robert Sawyer of Raleigh, a senior in Design, won a regional award of 250 dollars in a contest for a small house design.

To date Sammy Ranzino has been named to 5 major first team All-American squads.

The Wolfpack is preparing to meet Villanova in the first round of the Eastern NCAA Basketball Tournament to be held in the Coliseum.

REA General Manager To Speak At C.U. March 12

Clyde T. Ellis, general manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, will speak at the College Union on March 12 at 8 p.m. He will discuss the economic problems of electric power production and distribution, particularly in rural areas. Ellis has long been concerned with the lack of electrification in rural areas.

In 1931, he introduced a bill to the Arkansas Assembly which later became a model for the Rural Electrification Agency. After he was elected to Congress in 1938, he led the fight for hydroelectric power dams in his home state.

Upon his return from a tour of duty in the Navy during World War II, Ellis was elected general manager of NRECA. This cooperation is the voice of the rural electric cooperatives and power districts of the U. S. Over 900 of these systems belong to this association from which they receive technical assistance and the advantages of organization.

Ellis' talk will be largely informal and audience participation will be encouraged. There will be a question and answer period and a coffee hour following his talk.

Wolfpack No. 2 In Nation

State's championship team vaulted back up to the No. 2 spot in the nation last week in the AP poll. The Wolfpack, who swept through the ACC tournament, jumped from 5th to 2nd spot over the week-end. Unde-feated San Francisco is still No. 1.

Duke, Carolina, and Wake Forest were also ranked in the top 20 for the third week in a row. Thus making the ACC the only conference in the nation that can boast of four teams in the top 20.

"Sales results...and something more"

Two and a half months after he began training with The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland, Bill Colonna went into the army, spending a year in Korea.

"While in the service," Bill says, "I never thought of having to look for another job. I resumed my career in the telephone business as soon as I got back. What's more, my rate of pay was increased by crediting my time in the army."

"After training, I was promoted to Sales Manager in Salisbury, Md. I'm responsible for initiating, planning and coordinating sales activities in an area serving 50,000 customers in nine counties on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. I select and train men for my sales force, and help business office managers with their sales problems.

"Sales and marketing in the telephone business are growing more important every day. We've many new and different services to offer people. It's a job with scope, variety and challenge."

"Arranging for customers' communications requirements keeps me in touch with all departments of the company. These contacts add valuable experience that will always prove useful. I wanted a career that was broad and full of opportunities, and that's what I've got."

Wolfpack Wins 3rd ACC Cage Against Wake Forest 76-64

Case's Crew To Meet Canisius Monday In NCAA Tournament

Reynolds Coliseum, Raleigh, N. C.—North Carolina State overcame the handicaps to cop their 3rd straight Atlantic Coast Conference Championship last week defeating Wake Forest College 76-64 in the final round.

For Coach Everett Case's, the old master, it was his 9th conference crown in 10 years at State College and gave the Wolfpack a season mark of 24-3.

The hero of the night was pint-sized guard Vic Molodet, a lad who missed most of the All-American selections, who poured in 32 points to run his three-day total to 79, a new tournament record.

The Pack were slow starting and it was deep in the first half before they finally overcame a 10-point deficit to go ahead to command a 38-32 halftime lead. But this was State's night all the way as they stormed back to widen the margin to 14-points at one time and then coasted to a 12-point victory.

By virtue of its win, State became the official representative from this conference to the NCAA playoffs which start Monday night in New York's Madison Square Garden.

The Wolfpack advanced to finals with wins over Clemson 88-84, and Duke University 91-79.

Hard Way

State won its third straight ACC championship the hard way. After losing first-string forward Cliff Hafer via the scholastic route several weeks before the tournament, the Pack suffered another jolt when All-American center Ronnie Shavlik broke his left wrist in the last game of the season.

But State gathered its forces, overcame the handicaps and won going away.

It was strictly a team effort, according to Coach Everett Case. "The boys wanted to win and they refused to give up," he said.

Each of the five starters claimed a hero's role, but star billing went to Vic Molodet, the lightning-fast guard who was the outstanding player in the event. The 5-11 senior scored 79 points in three games and missed only 15 field goal attempts, hitting on 27 of 41.

Against Wake Forest, Molodet connected on 12 of 15 shots from the floor and tossed in eight out of nine from the free throw line for 32 points.

Shavlik was a key factor in State's success despite the injured wrist. He played briefly in the 88-84 win over Clemson and was ineffective, getting five rebounds and only two points. But he regained his confidence and gave brilliant one-armed performances against Duke and Wake Forest.

Shavlik bagged eight points and 16 rebounds against Duke, and eight points and 17 rebounds against the Deacons.

Guard John Maglio contributed 65 points and was a terror on defense. He teamed with Molodet to form a potent scoring attack. Their play was called "the best I ever saw" by Case.

Lou Dickman and Phil DiNardo, the forwards, aided Shavlik tremendously in rebounding and helped to take up the slack in scoring. Dickman had 36 points and DiNardo 34.

A 16-man contingent from North Carolina State College will leave here Sunday night for New York City flying the banner of the Atlantic Coast Conference and sights fixed upon Canisius, the first-round foe in the eastern regionals of the NCAA tournament.

The group will leave Raleigh-Durham airport at 7:05 p.m. on an Eastern Airlines plane and is due to arrive in New York at 10. The team will make headquarters at the Paramount Hotel. State, ranked second in the nation, will carry a 24-3 record against the Buffalo, N. Y., squad, a powerhouse in independent circles, Monday night in the first game of a twin bill starting at 7:30.

"I haven't had a chance to see Canisius," Case said, "but I understand it is a fine team."

Case has indicated that he will start the same five which carried the load during the ACC tournament. That combination has Capt. Phil DiNardo and Lou Dickman at forwards, All-American Ronnie Shavlik at center, Vic Molodet and John Maglio at guards.

If State wins Monday night, the Wolfpack would go to Philadelphia and meet the winner of the West Virginia-Dartmouth game Friday night in the Palestra.

If State loses in New York it is eliminated from the tournament.

Ag School Day Set For April 28

Students in the School of Agriculture and Education at North Carolina State College yesterday announced plans to hold their annual "Ag School Day" at the college on Saturday, April 28.

High school students, farmers, and other citizens from throughout the State will be invited to attend the event.

Officers of the event are Wiley F. Ritter, Jr., of Robbins, director; Jud Ammons of Mars Hill, program chairman; E. B. Deane of Monroe, secretary-treasurer; John Gray of Stokes, publicity chairman; Ed Brown of Charlotte, booth chairman; Hennis Woodall of Benson, picnic chairman; and Bland Franklin of Raleigh, livestock chairman.

Sponsors said chief purposes of the day's programs are:

"To provide an opportunity for college students to receive experience in organizing and carrying out educational activities related to agriculture and education.

"To provide high school students with an opportunity to get acquainted with further educational opportunities which exist in the fields of agriculture and education at North Carolina State College."

Among the activities planned are a dairy show, livestock show, sheep shearing demonstration, poultry demonstration, booth displays representing each department in the School of Agriculture and the Department of Agricultural Education in the School of Education.

There will also be a number of contests including tractor driving, hog calling, milkmaid, seed identification, dairy products judging, and tool identification contests.

Tournament Conduct Praised By Coach

The City of Raleigh and North Carolina State College yesterday were praised for the manner in which they have conducted the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament through the years.

Dick Gallagher, backfield coach of the Cleveland Browns and former head basketball coach at William and Mary, told the Raleigh Kiwanis Club that the ACC tourney "is handled better than any other tournament of its kind in the country."

N. C. State and Raleigh, he said, "have done an outstanding job with this event."

Gallagher, who gave the main speech at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club, voiced the belief that college basketball might be improved if the officials "did not blow their whistles so much" and if more bodily contact was permitted.

Gallagher, who served in the Navy under both State College's Atlantic Director Roy Clogston and N. C. State's Basketball Coach Everett Case, said the Cleveland Browns have drafted State grid star Eddie West and expressed the conviction that West "has a fine future in pro football."

He also revealed that Otto Graham, the Browns' great star, will probably not engage in pro football next year but will devote his time to his private business.

In answer to a question, he reported that substitutes take in signals from the coach on 90 to 95 per cent of the plays in the games played by the Browns.

Should Newsstand Sex Be Censored?

By Derle Hagwood

At the forum discussion, "Should Newsstand Sex be Censored", in the College Union Monday night, it was not decided whether or not newsstand sex should be censored.

To open the discussion, George Kline, Chairman of the Forum Committee, submitted to the Forum, "What constitutes censorable material?" This immediately split the panel into two camps. One contending that newsstand sex should be censored, the other proclaiming that it should not be.

The team advocating censorship classified censorable material as any kind of literature that tends to display sex in a sordid, lewd, and distorted manner. John Lane, campus "Playboy" representative, and unappointed captain of the non-censorship team, would not classify lewd material. His comment was that some of the classics, especially those of Chaucer, Shakespeare, and Voltaire, fell into the category defined by the censorship team. Bob Henderson, student minister of the West Raleigh Presbyterian Church here in Raleigh, member of the panel, and highest ranking officer in the censorship camp, retaliated Lane's statement with, "Though Chaucer's Canterbury Tales may be a classic, I can't accept them. They are nothing but a succession of illicit love affairs."

Henderson contended that sex on the newsstands should be censored because the unrestrained, Hollywood type of sex presentation was objectionable and frustrating. He further stated that nothing wholesome and virtuous was fulfilled by lewd literature. He also averred that sex was sacred, and God created it for the preservation of the races. Henderson further stated, "Anything that makes sex dirty and hush-hush, should be banned. It's like putting the William Tell Overture on the Lone Ranger program. You can never again listen to it without hearing hoofbeats and the bang of guns."

Harry Griffin, an avid supporter of the non-censorship team stated, "There is a certain thrill people get from reading murder mysteries and cowboy stories, and no ill effects, that are noticeable result. I think sex publications are the same way." Griffin further asserted that it was all in point of view. He said, "The magazines are satisfying an existing need. I think it should be left up to the personal morals and integrity of the individual, but if people are to be considered a mob, and not capable of thinking for themselves, then maybe censorship is necessary."

As the appointed hour for formal discussion was drawing to a close Jerry Erdahl, manager of the College Union, declared that he would be obliged to join forces with the censorship group because, "the Federal government prohibits the use of the mails to publishers of obscene literature, and when the Federal government steps in it must be serious." The formal discussion was adjourned before tempers and emotions became carried away.

The polite young man on the witness stand told a story the exact opposite of that which a previous witness, a woman, had told.

"Do you mean to say that Mrs. Smith is a liar?" a lawyer roared at him.

"Oh, no," the courteous fellow said, "I merely wish to make it clear what a liar I am if she's speaking the truth."

John E. Young is working toward his B.S. in chemistry from California Institute of Technology this June. He has maintained honor standing in classwork while serving on the school newspaper, in the debating society, and as treasurer of the student body. John is interested in chemical research and development.

John Aaron answers:

Well, John, it's hard to define the difference in a way that will satisfy everybody, because one always finds a lot of overlapping between research and development work. But most people agree that there are differences, especially in time sequence. Research work comes first, because one of its main objectives is to establish or discover new scientific facts that will supply the foundation for new industrial developments. In other words, research men seek new knowledge about matter, generally working with small quantities of it.

Development work comes later, and Du Pont has two main types. First, there is new process development. Here scientists and engineers modify, streamline, and augment the findings of research so that new chemical products can be profitably made on a large scale—or existing products can be made by newer and more efficient methods. Pilot-plant and semi-works operations are usually included under this heading.

Second, an important kind of development work is directed toward improvement of existing processes and products. Here the men study how to obtain yield increases, utilize by-products, increase outputs, and solve sales service problems as they arise. This may require considerable research, and that brings us back to the overlapping I previously mentioned.

There are genuine differences, John, but a good deal of similarity, too—especially in the constant need for imagination and creative effort. I think you'll find that research and development work are equally challenging and rewarding at Du Pont.

John Young asks:

How does research differ from development
work at Du Pont?

John E. Aaron worked for Du Pont as a summer laboratory assistant even before he graduated from Princeton with a B.S. in 1940. After military service he obtained an M.S.Ch.E. from M.I.T. and returned to Du Pont in 1947. Over the years he has had many opportunities to observe Du Pont research and development work. Today John is process and methods supervisor at the Philadelphia Plant of Du Pont's Fabrics and Finishes Department.

Two old maids were visiting a farm and noticed a rooster chasing a hen around the farmyard. The hen finally ducked under a fence and started across the highway with the rooster in hot pursuit. A passing auto struck the hen and killed it. One old maid nudged the other and said, "See, Mabel, she'd rather die."

Gaston Inst. Grads. Find Good Jobs

Graduates of the Gaston Technical Institute, which is operated in Gastonia by State College, have an easy time finding jobs.

Director Edward W. Ruggles of the college's Extension Division, commenting on the employment situation facing the graduates, reported yesterday that nine students completed the Technical Institute's nine-month course in radio and television servicing this month and that eight of the nine had settled their future plans before leaving school.

Three of the graduates planned to open service shops in their home-towns. Burgin McGinnis of Lincolnton, John T. Pope of Charlotte, and Coy J. Burgin of Alexis all are opening television servicing shops.

Henry A. Langley of Pittsboro began his career as a serviceman in an appliance store in Aurora.

Tommy R. Leebrick of Kannapolis accepted a position with the Remington-Rand Company in New York City.

Clemuel R. Carter of Fuquay Springs is employed by the Westinghouse Meter Plant in Raleigh as a laboratory technician.

Two of the students decided to continue their studies and have enrolled in part two of the course, communications. They are Glenn F. Mace and James V. Fish, both of Gastonia.

The radio-television servicing course is one of the technical school's night courses.

The school's regular full-time one-year technical courses are in the fields of automotive, radio-television, mechanical, and electrical technology.

Operated as a part of the North Carolina State College School of Engineering, the Gaston Technical Institute is conducted by the college's Extension Division. The goal of the school is to produce engineering assistants or technicians for the State's expanding industries.

Traffic Committee Revokes Sticker

Derle Hagwood

At its Tuesday meeting the Traffic Committee decided to revoke a staff parking sticker and adopted a recommendation to provide off-street motor scooter parking in the vicinity of Syme dorm.

The Committee unanimously decided by a voice vote that the staff sticker of Spec Hawkins, Assistant Sports Director, should be revoked; also, that his appeal for a new sticker be denied. The Committee contended that under existing administration rules, Hawkins could not be classified as a full-time staff employee and, therefore, was not eligible for a staff sticker.

A motion made by John Combs to provide off-street motor scooter parking in the vicinity of Syme dorm was unanimously accepted. The lot is to be constructed similar to those at the other dorms. The motion recommended that the lot be located on the north side of the stadium steps at the approval of the M & O shop and Building & Grounds Committee.

Dublin Players To Present Shaw's "Arm's And The Man"

George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man" will be presented by the Dublin Players, celebrated company of actors from Ireland's famous Abbey and Gates Theatres, in Pullen Hall at State College Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m.

Sponsor of the State College performance will be the College Union's theater committee, of which Bob Tanen of Brooklyn, N. Y., is chairman. The College Union's social committee, headed by Bob Strother of Cary, will give a coffee hour following the presentation during which the audience will have a chance to meet the visiting actors.

The production will be open to all members of the State College Union free of charge, but there will be an admission charge for all others. A section of seats will be reserved for those who may wish to buy tickets for the Saturday show.

In their television appearances in New York, notably Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" on CBS-TV, the company gained such unusual response that they were asked by Sullivan to repeat several times on his program.

The cast for the State College performance will include Catherine Petkoff—Lollis May; her daughter—Julia Worth; Louka, the maid—Maureen Halligan; Captain Bluntachli—Ronald Ibbs; An Officer—Brian Vincent; Nicola, Major Petkoff's servant—John Kelly; Major Petkoff—Ken Buxham; and Major Sergius Saranoff—Edward Bryan.

N. C. State students who are assisting with arrangements are George Thomason, Murray Penny, Bob Gardner, Archie Copeland, Dave Bagwell, Bob Tanen, Karl Rawicz, Bob Gray, Herbert Fox and J. B. Pemberton.

Cafeteria Is Unpopular

By Rex Springston

The State College cafeteria is an unpopular eating place according to a recent survey of a group of students.

When asked if they liked the food at the college cafeteria 70% of the group said no, 20% said yes, and 10% said they generally liked it o.k. Those students saying they disliked the food were then asked for constructive suggestions. The most popular suggestions were: more variety in the menu, more care in food preparation, and use of higher quality meats and vegetables. Some specific suggestions were: cook eggs to order on the spot, serve grade A eggs, and serve bread hot enough to melt butter.

What changes, if any, do you suggest in the cafeteria personnel, was the next question asked the students. James E. Sipes, senior in textile chemistry, said "the cafeteria needs counter girls who are more courteous and considerate." Larry D. Almond, junior in civil engineering, said "hire personnel that will clean the tables better and not brush crumbs of food on the chairs."

Dolan R. Henson, freshman in nuclear engineering, said, "each cashier should have a checker, working near her, to verify the amount charged." One Korean veteran said "get rid of Harry Stewart!" Judson Dix, graduate student in occupational information and guidance said "I was a student here twelve years ago and there has been no improvement in food quality in that time. I therefore feel the cafeteria should be run by a commercial organization or private concession."

The students almost unanimously suggested music as a means for improving the atmosphere in the cafeteria. Herbert W. Kirves, graduate student in mechanical engineering, said "I don't like to see chairs placed on tables and the floor cleaned while I am eating." Other suggestions for improving the atmosphere were: a new floor and paint, job, wall pictures, and noise reduction.

Only 20% of the group felt food prices were unfair.

The number of meals eaten in the cafeteria ranged from one per week to almost three per day. The average for the group was 1.4 meals per day.

Most of the students said they continued eating in the college cafeteria, even though they disliked it, because it was convenient. Two students in the group said they did not enjoy eating in the cafeteria but almost had to because of scholarships.

The College Union and Blue Tower were considered as good places to eat breakfast by most of the group. The S&W cafeteria, Warlicks, Warrens, and Finch's were selected as the better places to eat lunch and dinner.
