Covering Campus . . .

ASCE

The student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers will meet Tuesday, March 27, at 7:00 p.m. in the CE Building Auditorium. Captain James Osborn of the local Air Force ROTC detachment will be the speaker, and will speak on the subject of "The Air Force and Technology." The speech will be in a humorous vein.

All CE students are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Arnold Air Society

The Arnold Air Society will hold its regular meeting tonight in the College Union Theater. The meeting, scheduled for 7:30 o'clock will be primarily concerned with the election of officers for next year's group. All members are urged to be present.

Fresh-Soph. Dance Bids

Bids for the dance on April 7 will be issued on the first floor in the cloak room of the College Union on Thursday, April 5, from 2 p.m. until 6 p.m.

Nomination Books Close Saturday

Nomination books for the April campus-wide elections will officially close Saturday afternoon at 12:00 according to the student government elections committee.

Any student interested in running for any of the various offices is urged to sign the books along with an interested friend immediately. No nominations will be accepted after the books are officially closed.

Several heated races are developing in many of the positions while several offices have only one candidate running.

All names will appear on the primary ballot April 10. If a candidate doesn't gain a majority of the votes cast a runoff will be held on April 17th.

The elections committee also reminds all candidates of the campaign meeting next Tuesday at the College Union.

Nominations Open For Senior Award

John Wiles, President of Blue Key, today announced the opening of nominations for Blue Key's Outstanding Senior Award. Annually, Blue Key awards a trophy to the graduating Senior who has been most outstanding over a four year period in leadership, citizenship and scholarship. The Senior is judged on these three bases and in the order given.

Nominations for this award are open to all students and faculty. If you know a Senior that you feel is deserving of this award, you may nominate him by writing out your reasons and his qualifications and leaving them in Dean Banks Talley's office. All nominations must be in by April 10.

Blue Key will vote on all men nominated. The winner of the award will be announced at the Junior-Senior Dance on May 5.

Presidential Candidates Issue Campaign Platforms

Dark-Horse Arnold Announces Policies

Last week I stated my general views about our student body and campus, as well as my qualifications as a candidate for student body president. I promised to expound on the elements of my platform in this issue of The Technician, so let's get down to business.

Student Government—I will whole-heartedly back Student Government and the Judicial Board. The Constitution clearly places the power of Student Government in the hands of the Legislature, making it the governing body of the student and by the students. As president I will support the majority vote and desires of the students at all times. I will represent the student body before the Legislature and the administration, and present their (the students') wishes and desires unmoled.

Married Student Housing—Marriage is a permanent institution, it should be housed in permanent quarters. I will do all within my power to hasten to completion new permanent type housing for married students.

Student Parking Areas—We need more and better parking lots for dormitory and off-campus students. Paving of parking (See ARNOLD, page 4)

Cartoonist Receives Honorable Mention

Jack Greenwood, staff cartoonist for The Technician, received an honorable mention award in the eighth annual college newspaper contest to promote safe driving among students.

There were more than 300 entries submitted in the contest from colleges and universities throughout the country.

Greenwood's prize winning cartoon was published in the December 15 issue of The Technician. The cartoon is reprinted on page 13 of this issue for those who may not have seen it in December.

Nolan Adds Extra Points For Campaign

President of the Student Government, Jim Nolan, first man in State College history to run for a second term of office, came up with some additional points for his campaign this week. He said, "Last year, I appointed a Committee to investigate student control of the student activities fee. The result is a bill now before the student legislature which will give the students the right to say how and when their money will be spent. This (See NOLAN, page 4)

Cochran For Pres. Of Junior Class

George C. Cochran, a rising junior in the School of Textiles, has announced his candidacy for the president of the junior class.

For the past two years he has been active in IFC and textile activities. This year Cochran acted as chairman of the Freshman-Sophomore Dance Committee.

"I realize that there will be many problems to cope with and much work to be done if elected to this office. I am sincere in offering to my classmates my full time and honest effort to raise the standards of organization and to have the junior class more fully recognized on this campus.

My platform consists mainly of two points; a Junior-Senior dance that will compare with the best dances on campus, and a lowering of cost on class rings.

To my main thesis I have also added an objective, having uniform graduation certificates by the time we graduate. I feel that a great injustice is being done by the college in dealing out certificates that are seemingly printed on notebook paper.

To these pertinent problems I promise to give my best with the interests of the class as my primary objective.

Your vote and support will be appreciated."

Gunn—Advancement Of Student Gov.

Bob Gunn, candidate for President of Student Government, released the following as his statement of platform early this week.

"The Student Government here at State College has progressed more this year than any previous year. This progress definitely cannot be contributed to one man or group but to the hard work and good teamwork of the officers of Student Government, the Student Legislature and the Chancellor's Committee. The Technician published some of the accomplishments of Student Government in its last issue. This progress shown by Student Government must not cease. To continue this growth, (See GUNN, page 16)

Bass In Race For Senior Class Pres.

Bill Bass, Nuclear Engineering Junior from Thomasville, N. C., has announced his candidacy for President of the Senior Class. Bill is a veteran of the Air Force with three years in the European Theater.

Bass states: "I recognize the lack of school spirit and student support of extra-curricular activities as one of the important problems to be dealt with by aspiring class officers. I believe that the Senior Class should take the initiative in stimulating interest and participation of students in campus activities. I also want to promote extensions of Senior privileges, academically and socially, as are manifested in other schools. I want to stimulate student enthusiasm (seniors primarily), in the purchase of a class gift that will enshrine the spirit of '57 as an inspiration and goal for future classes to try to match. I believe that proper cooperation and interest of students and faculty can render most all problems to (See BASS, page 4)

Hall and Lawrence Run For IFC Pres.

Sigma Chi has drawn the privilege of entering a candidate for President of the IFC. Their candidate for the position, by a unanimous vote, is Joseph Hall. Hall, a Senior in Design from Greensboro, has been an active member of the Student Government for the past two years and is now serving on the Building Committee of the Student Government, in connection with the new dormitory to be built here soon. He is also one of State College's representatives in the Consolidated University Legislature, and holds office as President of Mu Beta Psi, honorary Music fraternity.

In running, Hall said he hopes to coordinate the fraternities to insure a more efficient and effective rushing program, thereby insuring further success in the growing needs for fraternities on campus. Hall stated in connection with being in the School of Design, "I will work as closely with the Architects, Engineers, and Financiers as possible to see the plans for fraternity row become a reality as soon as possible."

(See HALL, page 13)

Bob Lawrence has been chosen by the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity to run for President of the Interfraternity Council. The fraternity drew permission for an IFC presidential nomination in the annual drawings last week.

Bob is a rising senior in Mechanical Engineering and hails from Winston-Salem. He was vice president of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity this past year, and in addition has been an active member in several campus organizations. Among these are Phi Eta Sigma and Pi Tau Sigma honor societies, and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Bob has this to say concerning his nomination. "It is a very great privilege to be nominated for IFC President. I am sincerely interested in the job and if elected will do my very best to further the interest of the fraternities here at State College. I believe the subject of primary importance to fraternities at present is fraternity interest and the rapidly progressing fraternity housing project. I will do everything that I can (See LAWRENCE, page 4)

How Would You Vote

Pol. Sc. Class Conducts Poll

Will State College back Eisenhower, the Democrats, or a Dixiecrat party?

These questions will be asked in a campus-wide political survey beginning Friday, March 23. Sponsored by a political science class, the survey seeks to find State's opinions on potential Presidential candidates, on Richard Nixon, and on a Dixiecrat party if one were formed. This is the first time State College has had the opportunity to express its opinion as a body on national politics and issues.

A brief questionnaire is included in this issue of The Technician and every student, administrator, and faculty member is asked to fill it out, and return it in boxes set up in the cafeteria, supply store, library, and at the information desk of the Student Union. The boxes will be available from Friday March 23 through Monday, March 26.

The sponsoring political science class will tally the ballots, and The Technician will publish the results of the survey.

Check in the boxes:

EDITORIAL COMMENT:

Citizens?

"By the consent of the governed", the preceding phrase probably has been the most abused phrase in the political history of our nation. This nation was supposedly founded on that cornerstone. The masses take it for granted for past records show that not even half have ventured out in the past to protect their most sacred right, THE VOTE. The way this privilege is used or better yet, not used, one would think that it was a costly or painful thing.

The vote is the VOICE of the governed. In the past elections it has been very weak. Here at State in the past few years it has been growing in volume by leaps and bounds. Last year 50% of the student body voted in the campus elections. This is a much better percentage than is usually recorded in municipal, state and presidential elections. Yet when we look into this figure it isn't as impressive as you would think it is. Out of the college student bodies of this nation come the leaders of today and tomorrow and when only half of these are interested in who makes the rules by which they must abide, then something is wrong. If the loudest and strongest part of the voice isn't used, it becomes weak and easily amplified by a few whose interest isn't that of the majority.

In bull sessions around the campus you hear that old familiar phrase "I don't have time", not even to vote. Good citizenship isn't something that is picked up after you graduate from college. Citizenship is a product of the habits that have been practiced through the years and the most important and impressive period just before one becomes legally eligible to vote. The habits that one forms during this period carry over into later life. If you don't have, or take time, to vote now while you are in school, then the first step has been taken to change the meaning of the phrase "By the consent of the governed".

The requirements for good citizenship can be boiled down into a couple of basic items. First, a good citizen is well informed and a fair and critical thinker (open minded). Second, and most important, is the action step—the casting of that VOTE. So when April 10—Election Day—rolls around . . . take a minute and cast that vote wisely. Remember during that minute you are shaping the future through your vote. Lets make "By the consent of the governed" the watchword of our leaders.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Forgotten

A redcap at Raleigh-Durham Airport yesterday looked at the 10 people who turned out to welcome the Wolfpack home from New York. "It just ain't worth all that sweat they went through last night," he said. "No sir, it just ain't worth it."

Who could disagree? Think of the cheering crowd that would have been on hand if the Wolfpack had brought home the trophy. They looked to us like a great gang, forgotten when they needed their friends most.

A COED

Wants To Know How The College Thinks . . .

To the Editor:

Elections and politics seem to be the issues of the day around here, and while everybody is all fired up with said issues, it seems to be a good time to find out what, or if, State College students are thinking beyond the local level, i.e., about national politics.

The object of the brief questionnaire included in this issue is to find how State College feels about the questions that will soon be even more important than who are going to be the new Student Government officers, that is, who they would like to see running their country for the next four years. The results of this survey, which will be published later in the Technician, should be interesting both now, as a prediction of coming events, and later, for comparison when the issues are decided in November. From the results, we can get an idea whether the college community follows the nation in politics, or whether they have minority opinions.

The survey grew out of the speculations of a political science class about just how State does feel about national politics. They have taken this extra work upon themselves, hoping for both interesting and full results. These can be achieved only if everyone cooperates by filling in the blanks and placing them in the ballot boxes.

Come on, let's see how State College thinks!

Letters To The Editor

Where is The Old "Spirit"?

To the Editor:

Where is the old school spirit at State? Here we have a winning team and nobody seems to care, one way or the other. They departed recently for New York to represent the ACC in the NCAA tournament with the phenomenal crowd of approximately 25 to 50 people cheering them on. I would venture to say that not ten per cent of the crowd were students. When Wake Forest College (we beat them four times this season, remember!) can be sportsmen enough to conduct a special meeting of the entire student body to wish them well in the forthcoming tournament, I think that certainly there could have been some resemblance of a Pep Rally given by the students of State for their own team.

What's the matter with our cheer leaders? I've noticed during the regular season that just about half of the time they content themselves with sitting on the sidelines until finally the students in despair, start cheering without them. In times gone by (since Coach Case has been here too) there was always a Pep Rally before the big games and before the team departed for tournaments.

In the way of a suggestion, why cannot the entire student body be assembled in the coliseum at least once or twice during a semester, with the band added in to try and whip up some enthusiasm?

Sincerely,
 James W. Klibbe

Loyalty, Appreciation, Etc. . . .

To the Editor:

Just how "mechanical" can we get?—Three or four wives greeted the returning basketball team at the airport—Bet there's a square inch or two of real human loyalty, appreciation, and school spirit somewhere among us.

Please write something on the booing of opponents by State at Coliseum meets.

Revival of the Dead . . .

To the Editor:

When I came to State College three years ago, I found a dead and dreary place that was characterized by confusion and disorder. One day I happened to stumble into the funeral parlor. I guess you are wondering what I am referring to when I make this statement. Well, it would have to be a meeting of The Student Government that year, for confusion and chaos reigned supreme—that is, when enough of the Senators could be rounded up to have a meeting.

Looking back on this year's activity, it just doesn't seem to be the same place, especially in The Student Government. That organization today seems to be a well oiled machine that is grinding out benefits for the students everyday, not just a bull session for long winded politicians. This year's Student Government can be proud of its services to the student body, and it can feel that it has carried out its obligations and duties to the students in a commendable manner. To the leaders of this organization I extend a big thanks for a job well done.

So, Mr. Editor, in response to last week's editorial, I would like to use your "Letters to the Editor" column to give some well deserved recognition instead of a gripe. To you, Mr. Editor, I also give a pat on the back for the firm and favorable manner in which you have used The Technician this year in helping to carry out this good work.

George J. Meyer, Jr.

A Reply To An Editorial On Participation . . .

I read your editorial last week and I agree with you that a lot of things are discussed and kicked around in "Bull Sessions" on the campus that are worthy enough to write a letter about. One of the main topics of discussion this year has been the rise of the student interest and enthusiasm here on campus.

You might say on occasion that this old house has actually rocked and rolled from the overflow of this enthusiasm. What has been behind all this? I would think that you could go down the roll of the campus organizations and their student leaders and here you would find the motivating factors in this Renaissance of old NCS. Hats off to the Student Government, I.D.C., I.F.C., The Technician, The Vet Club and all the other campus organizations that have blazed the trail. To the leaders of these groups; Nolan, Barnhardt, Pickett, Draughon, Lane and the others, I say, "well done and thanks."

Here's hoping that you or your successors will carry on in the same fine tradition. Thanks, also, go out to the faculty and administration for their cooperation and aid. Looking back down the rocky road of '55-'56, it looks like the trail blazers have laid a good foundation, and here's hoping that the pavers that follow will do as well. State is growing by leaps and bounds in all fields of endeavor. All those who have had a hand in it should well be proud.

Why Not An Investigation of Unholy Practices . . .

To the Editor:

Why can't we get an investigation of some of the unholy practices here at State College. A number of areas need a good airing. Maintenance and Operations—why the men have a strong hatred for their administrative bosses and the low morale within the rank and file of help.

And, why do so many good men leave State College, particularly the Engineering School. Many have left, and it has not all been because of pay. There are other factors apparently. The low state of morale within the teaching staff of the Engineering School should be looked into and if possible brought out into the open.

And, the Foundations, how do they operate, and why only a few select men are given the benefits of them. Could it be a selfish motive on the part of those in control of the foundations?

Vet's Corner

Meeting Tonight

By Fred I. Joseph

The Vet Club will have its regular scheduled meeting tonight. As in the past, the club is urging its members to take an active part in the activities on the campus. Elections are just around the corner and we urge all the vets who are qualified and would like to hold an office to sign up and get into the race. Only through participation can good leadership be developed.

Two members of the club have already announced their candidacy for office. They are Walter "Bob" Lane, President of this year's Vet Club, for the office of Secretary of the Student Government, and Jim Nolan, this year's President of the Student Government, for President of the Student Government. These fellows have stated that they would appreciate your support and would perform the duties of the respective offices to the best of their abilities, if elected.

To all of you Vets I would like to remind you of the coming elections and urge you to use your vote wisely. Elect the men that you honestly think and believe will do the best job and represent you and your needs when the going gets rough. Remember, your ballot is your voice, and a well cast ballot is a voice that will be heard.

let me PROVE what I can do for YOU!

Have you ever wondered why other college men have so much fun at dances, proms, parties—while you end up with Miss Potluck of 1912? Do you blame your plight on skin blemishes, or unsightly dandruff?

Well, you're wrong! I had the very same problem. Then, I bought an After Six tux. Look at me now! I've got money, fame, big muscles, and girls aplenty.

Here's all you do to become appealing. Try on a light-weight After Six Dinner Jacket. Buy it. Then, in the privacy of your own home, spend 15 minutes a day in the casual elegance of your After Six. Right away, you're handsomer, healthier, inches taller. Women stand in line to ogle you.

But act now, while there's still hope!

Jordan Seeks IFC Vice Presidency

The name of Dick Jordan has been placed in the nominations book for the office of I.F.C. Vice President by the Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity.

Jordan has been active in the Textile School, serving as an active member of Phi Psi fraternity and the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists. He has also taken part in varsity athletics. He feels that his experience as Social Chairman of his fraternity would be of invaluable assistance in carrying out the duties of securing the bands for the I.F.C. dances.

Dick Goldenberg, as campaign manager, lists Jordan's following five point platform:

1. Early planning for the I.F.C. dances, so that bands may be secured and contracts signed before the start of the next school year;
2. Betterment of inter-fraternity relations, through the individual pledge classes by: A. A field day program between the pledge classes; B. A unified pledge project of civic betterment; C. Scholastic competition between the pledge classes; D. Sponsorship of an inter-fraternity beach week-end and inter-fraternity picnic and field day.

3. Further the progress of Fraternity Row with the development of an equalizing factor that will give the small houses an equal footing with the large houses regarding lot location and desirability of quarters.

4. Strict enforcement of I.F.C. by-laws concerning rushing practices and social conduct to give all houses, regardless of size, equal justice.

5. A planned second semester rush period controlled by the I.F.C.

Regarding his nomination, Dick had this to say: "I will do everything in my power to carry out the promises in my platform, while working continuously for closer relationship between the many fraternities, and between the fraternity and independent persons on the campus."

Welles Gives Illustrated Lecture

Donald Welles, artist photographer, will give an illustrated lecture on Friday, March 23, at 8 p.m. in the College Union Theater. The talk will be entitled, "West Germany Through the Eyes of an American Photographer." There will be a coffee hour afterwards.

On Saturday, March 24, Welles will conduct a field trip for all students interested in color photography. Bring cameras loaded with color film. The group will leave the Union at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Alpha Gamma Rho Holds Meeting

This past weekend the Nu Chapter of Alpha Gamma Rho, national agricultural fraternity, was host to the Southeast Province Officers Training School. Officers of Nu Chapter here at State College are: President, Roger Hill; Vice-president, Leo Strickland; Secretary, John Gray and Treasurer, William Dick.

Schools who had representatives here at the Officers Training School were Universities of Maryland, Florida, Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama Polytechnic Institute. The delegates began arriving here Friday afternoon and night for the meetings which began Saturday morning in the College Union Building.

Sleeter Bull, Grand National Secretary; Harold White, First National Vice-president; and

Claude Boggs, Business Manager of the Sickle and Sheath, a national publication, were present. Saturday afternoon the delegates were carried on a tour of the campus highlighted by a visit to the Nuclear Reactor, Coliseum and the Arena at the State Fair Grounds. There was a picnic at the house at 5:30 followed by a dance with girls coming from nearby colleges.

Barnhardt In Race For IFC Vice-Pres.

As announced last week, David Barnhardt, is running for Vice-President of the IFC. Barnhardt is the candidate nominated by the Kappa Sigma Fraternity. Barnhardt is presently a member of several campus organizations including the Student Government, the Tompkins Textile Council, the staff of The Technician, and is Secretary of his fraternity. David had the following to say concerning his nomination: "I am very grateful to have been nominated for IFC Vice-President. At the present, it seems like the housing project is the primary project. I think that this should be carried forward as quickly as possible, keeping in mind the problems of both the larger and the smaller fraternities. I would like, in addition, to see better relations established between the fraternities and lots is getting underway, but a new system of automobile registration would speed up the project. It's high time we had paved parking lots for the protection of the students' cars.

Student Fees—This is a very controversial matter; however, it is my conviction that the students should have the say-so about the fees they pay. If the allocation of fees were decided by the Legislature, the students would have a "check and balance" system to depend on.

Dormitories—In the past two years a few dorms have taken the initiative to outline, what I consider, an excellent social program. Through the support of IDC, several other dorms have adopted similar social programs this year. The Interdormitory Council is to be commended for their diligent efforts to improve dormitory life. I will wholeheartedly back IDC as they continue to improve dormitory life.

Orientation week—This is a relatively new thing at State College and it is still suffering from growing pains. This year orientation was conducted in a mass meeting. I believe both the College and the Freshmen would get a lot more out of orientation if each school conducted its own program. This would give the Freshman a means of identifying himself. He will get to know his own school as well as the college itself. Lets make the Freshmen feel like they belong here. Yes, it will take more work on our part, but it will pay off in School Spirit and student participation.

Fraternity Row—We are glad to see that the Fraternities are moving on campus. It won't be long before some of them will be ready to start construction. There is a lot of work yet to be done. I will assist the Fraternities in any way possible in preparing for the big move.

College Athletics—We all take pride in the excellent job our basketball, track, baseball, and swimming teams have done, and we are eagerly watching our football team progress. Lets all get in there and give them the support they deserve. If the athletic department could find a new method of distributing tickets, one more convenient for the student, it would help a lot.

Just a few more comments. I do not want you to think this platform is entirely a product of my own wishes. Far from that, many of these elements are views that student groups have expressed. I repeat, I will always represent the majority views and votes of the student body. I promise to work to promote the interest of the students on the campus and in the community. I am willing for you to judge me as having a high sense of honor and a deep sense of personal responsibility.

to coordinate the desires of the fraternities with the work of Dean Tally and the Administration. I also favor an extension of the fraternity social program, especially in regard to concerts. The Brubeck concert proved that the IFC can not only promote, but also profit from projects such as this. If elected, I pledge an industrious and impartial effort to promote the projects and growth of fraternities at State College."

Opportunities in Operations Research

... For seniors and Graduate Students in ENGINEERING, PHYSICS, and MATHEMATICS ... Current staff vacancies at The Johns Hopkins University

Operations Research Office, in Washington, D. C. operating under contract with the Departments of the Army, provide exceptional opportunities for graduating seniors and graduate students in the rapidly expanding and increasingly important career field of operations research. These positions will appeal to student-scientists who prefer the challenge of complex operational problems of unusual scope and diversity to routine analysis and development work, and who desire a degree of research freedom not ordinarily found in industrial positions. Our current research program includes problems in tactics, strategy, weapons systems, intelligence, communications, logistics, and military applications of game theory. Studies in these areas are normally carried on by mixed teams of scientists, each of whom is expected to contribute as a specialist to a synthesized solution. Among the many other attractions and advantages of working at ORO are:

- ... Liberal employee benefits and leave privileges
- ... Rapid advancement for demonstrated capabilities.
- ... A competitive salary scale.

Pickenheim To Vie For S. G. Secretary

Paul Pickenheim, a rising senior in the School of Forestry, has announced his intention of running for Secretary of Student Government.

Pickenheim is a native of Tamaqua, Pennsylvania. He has filled several campus posts since coming to State, among them the Presidency of the Forestry Club, Assistant Editorship of Pinetum and Legislative representative of the School of Forestry. He is a member of Alpha Zeta and is active in College Union work.

Pickenheim states that, if he is elected, "I will do my best to keep the records accurately and impartially. I will support to the best of my ability the platforms of the elected officers with whom I would work, and I will do my best to work for the students and for the betterment of State College."

Festival Of Jazz: An Opportunity For Expression Through A Popular Medium

By Jo Sinclair

"Ingenious, ingenious, that's what it is!" he muttered gleefully to himself.

I watched the slender young man standing before the huge poster tacked on an upright drawing board. He stood back from the poster, admiring his work. He had a brush that was dripping little globs of red paint on the floor.

"Excuse me, but could I ask you a few questions about this Jazz...?"

The young man whirled around. A little glob of red paint splattered on the toe of my right loafer. My new grey loafer. Grey suede.

He looked at the glob. "It'll come off. It's just tempera paint."

I forced a smile. "Look, you are chairman of the Festival of Jazz thing, aren't you?"

"Thing? THING? What do you mean... THING? This is going to be a festival. A Jazz Festival. Look."

He pointed to the poster. In giant red letters (some-what irregularly painted) were these words:

FESTIVAL OF JAZZ
APRIL 13, 1956
Memorial Hall, Chapel Hill
FIVE HUNDRED DOLLAR
FIRST PRIZE
TWO HUNDRED-FIFTY DOL-LAR SECOND PRIZE
ALL CURRENTLY AND
PROPERLY ENROLLED STU-DENTS AT ONE OF THE BIG FOUR SCHOOLS MAY ENTER.

I tried to look impressed by the poster. I was impressed by size of the cash prizes.

"That's great, but how about letting me ask you just one or two questions?" I looked pitifully at him.

"Okay," he sighed, "shoot."

"Well," I said, "don't you think that some of the serious musicians in Chapel Hill might object to this Festival of Jazz? After all, the university is supposed to be a center of culture."

"Jazz IS a form of culture!" he roared at me. He deliberately splashed my other loafer with red paint.

"And don't you dare print anything that says Jazz isn't cultural, you hear?"

"Okay, okay, just asking." I looked ruefully at my loafers. Gathering my courage, and tucking my feet under the protective cover of a chair I asked, "Would you mind telling me just how you qualify Jazz as a form of culture?"

"Certainly. Anybody who is anybody knows that Jazz is a form of music that reflects some of the most characteristic features of American life. Just because it's a popular form doesn't mean that it isn't cultural. Anything that portrays a society can be cultural, if it's a sincere artistic effort."

"Well then," I continued, somewhat abashed, "how about telling me something about Jazz itself... and what you consider its position to be in America?"

He looked at my feet, smiled wryly.

"You can stand back from that chair. I'm not going to splotch your shoes any more."

"Jazz," he said, "is a twentieth-century development in America... had its most important beginnings in Chicago and New Orleans. It is characterized by syncopated cross-rhythms, and has roots as far back as the traditional Western Musical Art. It owes some of its quality to the folk song, Negro spiritual idiom, an immigrant Jewish idiom, and many other influences. It has been popularized in America by such men as Paul Whitman, Gershwin and Ferde Grofe, and it caught the attention of such European composers as Stravinsky. If you don't believe me, just go look in Theodore M. Finney's A History of Music. Plenty of information there."

"Okay. I believe you. I'm something of a Jazz fan myself... just never thought much about it being culture."

"Certainly it's culture. And students from the Big Four Schools will finally have an opportunity to express themselves through a popular medium, and students can listen for a teeny-weeny price, and some happy souls will win all that CASH!"

He whirled back to his poster. I jumped back. My loafers were safe.

He was muttering about having twenty more posters to draw and being pestered by reporters all the time when I left...

I decided to cover that Jazz Festival... might get a real scoop April 13. I looked at my ruined loafers.

"Oh well, it will be warm enough to go barefoot by then, anyway."

Field Trip

That field trip the photography committee is sponsoring is coming up in a few days—in fact, Saturday. Are you ready? The Duke and Raleigh gardens should be in full bloom. With weather permitting and Mr. Welles, "the whistler of the camera," we will certainly get that shot of the year. It will be just the thing to enter in the Spring Photography Contest. Needless to say, Mr. Welles and the Duke Gardens are a great combination for such a trip.

There are rumors that a few girls are coming along, but bring a drag if you have one. Everyone will meet in the College Union Activities Office at 2:00 p.m. Transportation will be furnished but bring a car and all equipment if you have them.

"We'll all be for the sunshine and film... WOW!"

What young people are doing at General Electric.

Young engineer works on new ways to remove heat from atomic reactors

An atomic reactor running at full efficiency creates a tremendous amount of heat in its core. By removing this heat and putting it to work boiling water to make steam, atom-made electricity is produced.

One of the men responsible for designing new, more efficient ways to remove heat from atomic reactors is 29-year-old Doctor Salomon Levy—Design Analysis supervisor in the Atomic Power Equipment Department's Reactor Engineering Unit.

Levy's Work Interesting, Vital

To study this problem of heat transfer, G.E. recently constructed a heat-transfer system. By electrically simulating the heat produced in a reactor, it is possible to determine the maximum rate at which heat can be removed from a reactor to make steam.

Dr. Levy conceived the idea of building this complex system, designed it and supervised its construction. At present, Levy works with this system to study new problems of heat transfer and fluid flow encountered in atomic power plants.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric

When Salomon Levy came to General Electric in 1953, he already knew the kind of work he wanted to do. Like each of our 25,000 college-graduate employees, he was given his chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: Whenever fresh young minds are given the freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, and the country.

Educational Relations, General Electric Company, Schenectady 5, New York

DR. SALOMON LEVY joined G.E. in 1953 after receiving his B.S. in M.E. from the Univ. of Calif. in 1949. In 1951 he received his M.S., and in 1953 his Ph.D. From '49-'50 he was teaching assistant at U. of C., and '50-'53 he was Junior Research Engineer at the Institution of Engineering Research.

Wolfpack Opens '56 Baseball Season Wednesday Against Cornell Here; To Play 20-Game Card

North Carolina State opens its baseball season Wednesday, March 28, in a home contest against Cornell. The Wolfpack, rated a strong contender in the Atlantic Coast Conference, will play 20 games, including the second annual Dixie Classic Tournament.

Coach Vic Sorrell's squad will meet each team in the ACC on a home-and-home basis. In addition, inter-sectional contests have been booked with Cornell and Michigan State.

Ten of State's games are at home. The only games away are with Clemson, South Carolina, Maryland, Virginia, Duke, and North Carolina.

Coach Sorrell will have 11 lettermen back from last year's team which compiled a 14-6 record, including two wins over Wake Forest's national champions.

The Wolfpack will compete in the Dixie Classic which begins April 4. State was runner-up to Wake Forest for last year's tournament championship. The Deacons won 8-5.

Wolfpack's Ronnie Shavlik Is Consensus All-American Makes AP, Look, NEA, Collier's, INS, Helm's, First Teams

The tall lanky senior center from North Carolina State's nationally ranked basketball team is All-American without any reservation. A consensus of the leading cage selections for 1956 placed the Denver lad on six out of eight top national selections.

Shavlik made the first team on the Associated Press, Collier's Magazine, International News Service, Look Magazine, NEA Service and Helms Athletic Foundation selections.

Added to his Dixie Classic, ACC tournament, and Atlantic Coast Conference basketball player of the year awards, Shavlik established himself as the most outstanding cage-star in the history of State College.

Shavlik finished the season with a 18.2 average and set a new three-year scoring record for the Wolfpack, with a total of 1,761 points.

The graduating senior also set a new ACC rebound record with a 19.8 average, surpassing the old mark of 19.0.

It will be a long time before State basketball fans who packed the coliseum these last few years forget the name of Ronnie Shavlik.

Everett Case calls him "one of if not the greatest basketball player I've ever coached. A true All-American on and off the court."

You will meet few athletes who have achieved the honors that Ronnie has, and still possess the friendliness and personality of Ronnie Shavlik — truly an All-American!!!!

RONNIE SHAVLIK
North Carolina State Center

WINDING UP BASKETBALL

"I'm sorry that a successful season had to end on such a sour note," Coach Everett Case said. "It's that last taste that's the best—just like dessert."

That was the comment of the man who suffered his toughest loss in 36 years of basketball in New York's Madison Square Garden when Canisius upset North Carolina State's second-ranked Wolfpack 79-78 in four overtimes.

Regardless of State's heartbreaking loss in the first round of the NCAA Tournament, the Wolfpack had a good season. The final record showed 24 wins and only four losses, a Dixie Classic Championship and an Atlantic Coast Conference Championship.

In ten years, Case's Wolfpack has won 267 games while losing 60; won nine out of ten conference titles and six out of seven Dixie Classic crowns.

"I'm sorry for the boys' sake that we didn't do better in New York," Case said. "We felt that we could go all the way if we got by the first game. The kids wanted a crack at San Francisco in the worst kinda way."

"You just don't know how it made me feel to see the team trying so hard and not being able to do anything right. We got in trouble on fouls and had to play cautious. That upset our offense. Then the old Garden jinx started taking its toll with bad passes and that sort of thing."

"But there's no use crying over the game. We lost and that's all there is to it. We had the game won on several occasions but made costly mistakes and let it slip away. You can't make mistakes in a good tournament and hope to win... that just isn't basketball."

It was a sad occasion when Ronnie Shavlik, Viv Molodet, Phil DiNardo and Lou Dickman turned in their uniforms for the last time. It meant the end of a highly successful four-year career for a foursome that has provided numerous thrills for basketball fans.

The four seniors played in two NCAA tournaments, won three ACC titles and two Dixie Classic championships, won 80 and lost only 15 games. They made up what many sports observers called "State's greatest team."

Red-White Grid Scrap Ends 7-7

Coach Earle Edwards wound up his third spring grid drills, since coming to the West Raleigh campus, last Saturday afternoon as two very evenly matched squads fought to a 7-7 deadlock.

Edwards commenting on the contest said, "We were very much pleased with the results of our twenty-day spring drills. Most of the time was spent on defense and if today's game was any indication, we certainly made some progress."

The head coach went on to say, "You could see that we're going to have bigger boys next year and we'll have more good football players, which is the important thing."

Most of the offensive action of the annual scrap occurred in the third quarter. Jim Oddo of the Whites pounced on a loose fumble on the Red's 33-yard line to set up the TD march. Quarterback Ernie Driscoll, sophomore material, pitched a couple of passes to ends John Lowe and John Collar to move the ball to the four. From here halfback Ken Trowbridge went over for the score. Lowe's extra-point try was good and the White's led 7-0.

The Red squad stormed right back. With Tom Katch tossing to Bob Pepe, for several nice gains and an interference call the Red's move the pig-skin to the six. Here George Marinikov churned over for the TD. Katch tied the score at 7-7 with a perfect extra-point.

Remember these names: Bob Pepe, Francis Palandrani, Joe Rodri, Bill Rearick, Larry Dixon, Ken Trowbridge, Jay Margerum, Ernie Driscoll, Don Hafer and Larry Cox. They're football players who will play prominent roles in State's grid picture this year. All are sophomores.

In general—the schedule will be tougher next season—but so will the Wolfpack!

Frat Intramurals

Basketball

Sigma Nu, undefeated and defending champions, will square off against the improved SAM's tonight for the fraternity intramural basketball championship at 7:00.

The Sigma Nu's advanced into the finals with a 54-42 win over the PKA's, while the SAM's behind the scoring of Bob Giddens eliminated the T. Chi's and PKA to gain the finals.

The SAM's must win two to capture the crown, as Sigma Nu has yet to lose. The two Godley (9) led Owen No. 1. The final score was 60 to 43.

Table Tennis

In the championship series for Table Tennis Owen No. 1 and Tucker No. 2 respectively, then Owen led by Rahmen, Cole, Joseph and Long went on to defeat Berry-Watauga. Now Owen needs only to defeat Tucker No. 1 who first lost to Berry but won over Turlington and then beat Berry at a second match. So it will be a good game between Owen and Tucker.

Handball

In the championship series for Handball Alexander and Turlington beat Owen and Tucker No. 2 respectively, Alexander then went on to beat Turlington. The losers of the first match played and Owen won that so they will play Alexander once again for the championship.

Open League Basketball

In the open league basketball the Stadium "Studs" were the victors after winning games from Owen No. 1, Watauga and Bob's (a composite team). In the championship game Ledbetter (25) and Williams (13) were the high scorers while also playing a great defense too. Pangle and Rhodes (both scored 10) were outstanding in both offense and defense.

teams met in the opening rounds with Sigma Nu taking a 49-35 win.

Championship Flight

Sigma Nu's gained the finals defeating the PKA's 54-42 for their eighth win of the season. It was the Pika's first loss in eight games.

Sigma Nu, using a man-to-man defense was paced by center Bill Allin who tallied 18 points for the night followed by Charlie Honeycutt's 15, Donahoe with 7 and Agnew and Mowery with 6 each.

For the once-beaten PKA's Ed Woolard was top man with 13 points. Dow Perry added 9 followed by Art Scott with 5 and John Goodman with 4.

Loser's Bracket

Sigma Alpha Mu has proved themselves to be the dark horse of the fraternity cage play-offs as they chalked up two big wins to gain the finals.

SAM—46, T. Chi—38—After dropping their first round game, the SAM's eliminated the T. Chi's with a 46-38 victory. Bob Giddens scored 18 points to take high honors, followed by Simon and Steiger with 10 and 7 respectively. For the T. Chi's, Buckner and Cook each tallied 10 points.

SAM—40, PKA—31 — With all-campus Bob Giddens again sparking the offense, the SAM's upset and eliminated once-beaten PKA 40-31 in a thriller. Giddens dropped 20 points through the nets and Dick Rudloff added 12 to spark the SAM's big win. Woolard with 7, followed by Hal Buckanan six, and Perry with 5 were the top scorers for the PKA's.

Thus the PKA's claim third place in the final standings and Theta Chi took fourth.

Handball

The undefeated SAM's handball squad won the 1956 handball championship as they defeated arch-rival PEP 2-1 for the crown.

The PEP's had earlier eliminated the SAE's by the same score to gain the final round.

Table Tennis

The PEP's defeated the defending champions Sigma Chi 2-1 last week to win the 1956 table tennis crown.

The Sigma Chi's had defeated the PKA's and SAM's to gain the finals. The first round saw the Sig's gain a 2-1 victory but the final game the PEP's came out on top.

North Carolina swimmers were well represented at the Eastern College Invitational Swimming Championships as two young men walked off with five individual first places.

Dick Fadgen, North Carolina State sophomore from Woomsocket, R. I., swam the fastest 200-yard breaststroke race by an American when he won the event in 2:19.9 tonight. He was 2.5 seconds under the recognized American record and seventenths under the best NCAA-applied for time.

Fadgen lowered a meet record here last night when he won the 200-yard butterfly and was No. 2 man in the State medley relay team which placed second to defending champion Yale in the finale.

Dave McIntyre of State was second in the 100-yard freestyle and teammate Frank Naus got a second in the 400-yard freestyle.

Charles Krepp, 21, of Baltimore, a Carolina junior, won the 200-yard backstroke title Friday night and tonight took the 100-yard back-medley races.

Track Squad Opens At Florida Relays

Coach Paul Derr's State College track team will take part in five meets, two relays and two tournament meets this season, according to the outdoor track schedule released today.

The State thindlads will participate in the Florida Relays at Gainesville to open the season March 31 and will compete also in the Penn Relays in Philadelphia.

The Atlantic Coast Conference outdoor meet and the Carolina's AAU will be held at State College May 11 and May 19 respectively.

The team had a 1-6 record last year.

World Champion In Coliseum

Spec Hawkins Seeks Athletic Council Post

Spec Hawkins, a rising senior in Industrial Recreation, has announced his plans to seek reelection as a student member of the State College Athletic Council and as senior senator from the School of Education to the Student Legislature.

Hawkins has just completed one term in each of these offices. He is at present sports editor of the Technician, asst. athletic publicity director for the college, an officer of Sigma Nu Fraternity, member of the Interfraternity council, as well as holding seats on the athletic council and in the legislature. He is a native of Salisbury, N. C.

As a member of the legislature, Hawkins was active on several special and standing committees.

AT CAMPBELL

NCS Drama Club Takes 1st Place

The State College Drama Club received a first place "Highest Rating" award when they presented Stephen Vincent Benet's poem "John Brown's Body" in the form of a one-act play in the district Drama Festival held at Campbell College on Tuesday, March 13.

Eight district Drama Festivals are being held throughout the State during the month of March, sponsored by the Carolina Dramatic Association. Only productions which receive a "Highest Rating" award in the District Festivals will be invited to the Annual Dramatic Festival to be held in Chapel Hill on April 12, 13, and 14.

Judges for the Campbell College festival were Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Seldon and a third member of the staff of the Dramatic Arts Department of the University of North Carolina. These persons complimented the State group upon helping to recognize interest in participating in college dramatics at State for the first time in over twenty years.

The "John Brown's Body" play was directed by Dr. Harvey Bumgardner, and the cast included Bob Gray, of Gastonia; John Schultheis, of Greensboro; and Penny McCrary and Charlene Whisnant, of Raleigh. The technical staff was Bill Greene, of Gastonia; Jay Peterson, of Wilmington; and J. B. Pember-

Times Editor To Speak For "Y" Banquet

The editor of the Raleigh Times will speak at the annual YMCA Leadership Banquet to be held on Monday, April 9, at 6 p.m. in the west side of the college cafeteria.

Mark Etheridge, well known throughout North Carolina as an outstanding newspaperman, will address the group on "Effective Leadership in a World of Tension."

Invitations have been sent out to the fraternities, societies, and other organizations on campus urging them to send representatives to this dinner-meeting. Invitations will be sent to all candidates running for student offices in the spring elections as soon as the filing deadline is reached.

The purpose of this annual affair is to acquaint the men who are in a position to practice real leadership with the problems which they will have to face, and to show them the effect good leadership will produce in a troubled world.

The dollar-a-plate dinner is open to the public. The YMCA has requested that reservations be made at the Y office on or before Thursday, March 29.

2nd Annual "Search For Talent" To Be Held At Clayton, April 16

North Carolina "Search for Talent" will be held in Clayton, Friday night, April 16th, at 8 P.M., sponsored by the Clayton Lions Club and Merchants' Association for the purpose of providing an opportunity for Eastern North Carolinians to display their talents before an eight member judging panel of distinguished radio disc jockeys and two professional talent scouts.

Cash awards of twenty-five, fifteen, and ten dollars respectively, coupled with television appearances on WNAO-TV (Channel 28) of Raleigh, will afford added incentive to the talented competition.

The Competition is aimed at bringing unknown and dormant talent to the attention of the experts as well as providing valuable experience in stage presence.

"Actual stage experience assists contestants in acquiring the necessary poise that is so vital in the portrayal of their particular talent", stated Doug Bain, Jr., President of the Clayton Merchant's Association—co-sponsor of the yearly event.

"We are desirous of saluting the Stars of Tomorrow," said A. H. Adams, Lions Club President, "as they appear on the stage of the Clayton Auditorium during this happy festival of talent."

The eight outstanding Eastern North Carolina radio disc jockeys upon whose shoulders the judging responsibilities rest are:

Bill Anthony—Radio Station WEED, Rocky Mount Ed Brooks—WBBB, Burlington.

Allen Browning—WKIX, Raleigh.

Bill Jackson—WPTF, Raleigh.
Bill Kirby — WMPM, Smithfield.

Joe Merritt—WMSN, Raleigh.
Paul Montgomery — WNAO-TV, Raleigh.

Tom Tucker — Radio Station WRAL, Raleigh.

Mr. John Downing of Raleigh and Mr. Orville Campbell of Chapel Hill whose talent discoveries have made entertainment history, will lend the prestige of their presence to the occasion.

Tickets are being sold by the Clayton Lions Club—Adult, $75—Youth, $50.

George Howard Forwarded As Council Secretary

The Kappa Alpha Fraternity has drawn permission to run a candidate for Secretary of the Interfraternity Council for the coming year and has chosen George Howard as its candidate.

Besides being an officer in his fraternity, Howard, a rising junior in Chemical Engineering from Charlotte, has gained experience in the workings of the IFC as the Kappa Alpha representative on the Council this year.

Howard has stated that, if elected, he will strive to make the IFC "an efficient organization for the handling of fraternity actions." He said, "I believe fraternities at State are at the beginning of a period of much progress and development. If elected, I will work with the other IFC officers in trying to promote all projects desired by the fraternities and especially to keep all fraternity members informed on IFC policies and projects."

In conclusion Howard added that he would work for "increased co-operation among State fraternities and a concentrated effort to improve fraternity interest on the State campus."

Owen To G C

The Owen Social Club will journey to Greensboro College Friday, March 23 to hold their Annual Owen-GC Ball which promises to be another gala affair with the music furnished by Norman's Quintet. If the past is any indication of the future then all that attend will have a ball for this is always the top social event of the year by the club. This year the boys will cap their week-end by accepting an invitation to attend the social at Mary Foust Dorm Saturday which will be a part of the CU Day at Womans College.

"Tea and Sympathy" At Auditorium April 4

Ending the long dearth of legitimate theatre entertainment in Raleigh as represented by a major touring company from Broadway, the Elia Kazan production of "Tea and Sympathy", one of New York's biggest successes in recent years, comes to the Memorial Auditorium for a single performance on Wednesday, Apr. 4, at 8:15.

Thiem's Record Shop will handle mail orders and the seat sale for this attraction now on a nation-wide tour of 63 cities in 28 states. It is sponsored locally by Joseph Winters, its Broadway producer being George Brandt.

Maria Riva, Marlene Dietrich's daughter who is famed from her countless TV programs, and Alan Baxter, former screen celebrity, are co-starred in this compelling drama by Robert Anderson which chalked up 709 performances on Broadway and over 400 on tour.

"Tea and Sympathy" is a drama that comes to grips with a troublesome, ageless phenomenon — cruelty arising from moral irregularity. The scene of the play is laid in a prep school for boys, an exclusive New England boarding school in which the students live in houses presided over by masters.

The hero (played by Robert Higgins) is a youngster, less rowdy than the rest, who becomes suspect through an entirely innocent episode and is subsequently tortured almost to the point of ruin.

Under the pressure of his fellow students and under the vicious suspicions of the master of the house, the youngster begins to doubt his own masculinity, although he has no actual abnormality. The understanding wife of the faculty man befriends him and it is she who finds a way to restore his faith in himself.

Laramie, Wyo.—(I.P.)—Students on the campus of the University of Wyoming favor the quarter system by a not-so-supporting vote of 3 to 1. Of the 80 students, both male and female, interviewed recently, 59 favored the quarter system as compared to 20 who favored the semester system. One student was undecided.

The individual student. A fair estimate would be about $75.00 per session.

Additional Fee for Students Completing Requirements for Graduation—Any student who is completing requirements for graduation at the close of a summer session will be charged a $7.00 fee if he is securing a Bachelor's Degree, a $10.00 fee if he is completing work for a Master's Degree, and a $15.00 fee if he is a candidate for a Doctor of Philosophy Degree. The Graduate School will also charge Doctor of Philosophy candidates a $20.00 fee for microfilming and mailing dissertations.

The male interviewees were the strongest in favor of the quarter system with a vote of 45 to 10, while the female interviewees were much closer with a vote of 14 to 10. Ten faculty members were also interviewed and they were 100% in favor of the semester system.

The main gripe against the semester system is the idea of having to study over the Christmas vacation and then come back after vacation and take finals. Another one is that the semester system doesn't offer enough variety of subjects to the students. This complaint was made almost entirely by Liberal Arts students.

One of the big things in favor of the semester system is that there are less finals. Many of the students in favor of the semester system said that the semester system gives the student more time to thoroughly cover the subject. This comment, in turn, was made mostly by students following a technical plan of study, such as engineering or geology.

Lewis Is Candidate For IFC Vice-Pres.

Jim Lewis, a rising senior in Mechanical Engineering, has been nominated by Sigma Nu Fraternity as a candidate for vice-president of the Inter-fraternity council.

In announcing their candidate, Sigma Nu feels they have offered a man who's leadership abilities and special service experiences gained while in the United States Air Force will prove invaluable in performing the functions of the vice-president.

While in service, Lewis was attached to the special service branch of the air force. He gained a great deal of experience scheduling and contracting work has brought me into personal contact with quite a few staff and faculty members. During this school year, I have been interested in the manner in which each of our four present Student Government officers has carried out his particular job.

"If you, the students, should choose to elect me to this office I will try to work in close accord with the other three officers and the legislative body of student government. I feel that I can adequately handle this job because I plan to run for this single office and should have no other conflicting duties or jobs."

dance bands throughout the country which is one of the major functions of the IFC vice-president.

"I am 100% behind the fraternity housing project," commented Lewis, "And will do everything possible in working with the council in its attempt to reach decisions concerning the projects that are acceptable to all concerned."

Lewis went on to say that he felt the social activities of the IFC could be strengthened and widened considerably to include more functions.

During the middle of the group meeting of Contemporary Issues in the Textile auditorium several Mondays ago, a shapely secretary walked down the aisle and handed a note to Professor Gilbert. An interesting contribution was received the other day from C. O. Thornburg, Jr. that he thought The Technician might be able to use.

Whether this actually happened to a certain Civil Engineering professor or not, we really don't know, but the story is making the rounds. Here it is (for your enjoyment).

The man had nearly drowned in the lake. He had been rescued on his third time down, and now his unconscious body lay at the water's edge, part in and part out, with a doctor vigorously administering artificial respiration. Each time the doctor would press down on the victim, a large stream of water would spurt out of his mouth—this procedure continued for several minutes. Finally one of the spectators asked: "Pardon me, but are you sure you know what you are doing with that man?"

"Of course I know what I'm doing," panted the doctor. "After all I am a professional medical man, and I'm giving artificial respiration!"

"Well," replied the bystander, "I'm a hydraulics professor at North Carolina State College, and I too know what I am doing, and I'm telling you now that if you don't get that man's rear end out of the water, you are going to pump that lake dry!"

Reactor And Physics Changes Announced

A three-way change among the top officials of North Carolina State College's world-famed Nuclear Reactor and Physics Department became effective last Tuesday.

Approving recommendations of Dean J. H. Lampe of the college's School of Engineering, Acting President Friday and Chancellor Bostian named Dr. Raymond L. Murray to serve as acting director of the Nuclear Reactor and appointed Dr. Arthur C. Menius, Jr., to be acting head of the Physics Department.

Dr. Murray, professor of physics at State College since 1950 and deputy director of the reactor, and Dr. Menius, professor of physics since 1949 and assistant to the dean of engineering since last September, will succeed Dr. Clifford K. Beck, who previously asked the college administration to relieve him of his duties in the two posts in order that he might accept another assignment.

The UNC president and N. C. State chancellor said while Dr. Menius is serving as acting head of the Physics Department, he will relinquish his duties as assistant to the dean of engineering.

Dr. Murray, the new director of the reactor, has been the reactor's deputy head since it was

Joel Parker Files For Student Government Representative

Joel Parker, rising Senior in the School of Agriculture, announced as a candidate for Treasurer of the Student Government this week.

He stated, "I look at the job of Treasurer as a position in which one can give sorely needed support to the President. Act-built. He was one of the reactor's designers and engineers and has taught courses for the past five years in State College's nuclear engineering curriculum—the first college or university enterprise of its type in the country.

A nationally-known scientist, Dr. Murray gained distinction for his work in nuclear engineering at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, Oak Ridge, Tenn., for which he still serves as consultant, and as a consultant for several industrial firms using power reactors.

A former faculty member at Clemson College, Dr. Menius joined the State College Physics Department staff in 1949 and has been a key figure in establishing and operating the N. C. State's Nuclear Reactor, the world's first college-owned facility of its kind.

ing as Chairman or coordinator for special or regular Committees is one of the functions that could be filled, in addition to the regular duties.

I feel that my experience as a past senator in the Student Government and my close contact with the present treasurer well qualifies me for the position. I can capitalize on the major improvements that have been made and be ready to check difficulties that have arisen in the past."

Parker is at present President of 30&3 and is a member of Alpha Zeta and of the Freshman Orientation Committee. He is also a cheerleader and a member of the SAE social fraternity.

He was a rather undersized freshman at the first Grail dance, but despite his size and newness he was sure of himself in his own way. He picked out the best looking coed, a lovely but oversophisticated girl, and asked for a dance.

She looked down at his small size and lack of fraternity pin and said, "Sorry, but I never dance with a child."

"Quite sorry," he answered, bowing deeply. "I didn't know your condition."

The honor fraternity of Alpha Sigma Sigma is proud to commemorate All Fool's Day by taping 18 "standing out" seniors who have filled all requirements for membership. Its members are all thought of as being closely related to the anatomy of a horse. They come from the upper crust of the student body and if you don't think they are pretty d— good, then just ask them. a gun in one hand and a knife in the other. Membership in the organization should not be taken lightly as its members are limited to men who are not affiliated with any scholastic society and they are men of the general student body. It is the expressed desire of the organization to recognize men who possess the extraordinary characteristics associated with the average H.A. Alpha Sigma Sigma is the top organization of its kind on the State campus.

FOR JR. CLASS SECRETARY

Richmond Announces Candidacy

Bruce Richmond announced his candidacy for secretary of the rising Junior Class this week with the following statement.

"I am running for the office of secretary of the rising Junior Class. I feel that I am well qualified for the office, and if elected, I will do everything in my power to make the Junior Class a better one for the sake of us all, as well as for the school. Having held some positions in different organizations on campus, none of them political, I feel I can work with the other elected officers very well. I realize the work that may be in store for me, and I think it is a real challenge which I would truly like to accept.

This article is also to remind you all to vote. It is your privilege and well loved duty to vote for whomever you choose for your class officers. Let's all be sure to vote."

Two Seek Seats On Legislature

Harris Johnson

Harris L. Johnson, member of the rising sophomore class, has announced that he will be seeking a seat on the Student Government Judicial Board in the general elections to be held on April 10.

Johnson is married, 24 years old, and a student in the School of Textiles. He has spent four years in the service of his country as a member of the U.S. Air Force.

In commenting, Johnson states: "If elected, I shall strive to keep this phase of the student government on its present high level."

Bob Futrelle

Bob Futrelle, candidate for election as Junior Representative from the School of Agriculture to the State College Student Government, has announced his policy as follows.

"If elected to the office that I am presently seeking, I promise my fellow students to always represent them in a way so as to merit their future trust and support. I shall try to help make our Student Government one that will deserve the respect of the students, the administration, and the Governments of other colleges.

I earnestly solicit your vote in the coming election."

Young Democrats Organize Chapter

The Young Democrats of North Carolina State College met last Thursday night, March 15, to organize and form a Young Democrats Club. About twenty-five students gathered and were led in discussion by Mr. H. Johnson, Head of the Democratic Party for Wake County.

Following a short address by Ed Rose, officers were elected by the group. The following men were elected; Ed Rose, President; Hugh Sample, Vice-President; Chris Kamatches, Recording Secretary; Hugh Lindsley, Corresponding Secretary, and Ed Phillips, Treasurer. Several Committee appointments were made and the group decided to meet again next Thursday for the purpose of adopting a Constitution.

Festival of Jazz Winners To Appear On Radio And TV

Chapel Hill: The winners of the forthcoming "Festival of Jazz" to be held in Memorial Hall, Chapel Hill on April 13th will, in addition to receiving $500 cash first prize, make personal appearances on local Radio and Television Stations. Radio Stations WCHL in Chapel Hill and WPTF in Raleigh along with Television Stations WTVD in Durham, N. C. and WFMY-TV in Greensboro have announced that the winner will appear on their stations soon after the contest.

WCHL has offered the winners an appearance on the popular "ED POTTER SHOW," while WPTF has offered them a spot on Jimmy Capp's acclaimed "OUR BEST TO YOU." WTVD has invited the winners to appear on their "AFTER-NOON" show, and WFMY-TV has offered a spot on their "TV MATINEE."

The winners will also receive a playing date at each of the Big Four schools in addition to those prizes already announced. The Festival is open to any currently, properly enrolled student in any of the Big Four schools. Interested groups are urged to contact their Student Union as soon as possible for further information or write directly to: Larry Miscall, Festival of Jazz, Graham Memorial Activities Board, Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

CASH PRIZES

C. U. Photography Contest Starts Mar. 27

Spring photographic contest at the College Union will be held March 27, 1956, through May 1, 1956. Cash prizes totaling $90.00 will be given to the winners. Turn in your pictures or slides at the main desk in the College Union during the specified dates.

There have been a few alterations in the contest rules. A complete list of the rules can be obtained at the College Union main desk. The rules in brief are as follows: Black and white prints are to be placed on 16" x 20" mounting board; minimum size for black and white prints is 8 x 10. There is a limit of 10 black and white prints, and there are four categories from which to choose. The four categories are Portrait, Human Interest, Still Life, and landscape; two prizes ($10.00 and $5.00) will be given for first and second places in each category.

No color prints will be accepted in this contest. A minimum of 4 color slides (any size) may be submitted by each photographer. There are two categories for the color division landscape and miscellaneous. Two prizes ($10 and $5) will be given in each of the color categories.

Additional cash will be available for those who wish to sell their photographs. During the previous contest several people made inquiries for purchasing the photographs. The same people will want to purchase photographs from this contest. Enter your favorite photographs or four slides, and your chances of winning or selling are very high.

Judging for color slides will take place in the College Union Theatre, Friday night, May 4, 1956. Judging for the black and white will be on Sunday afternoon, May 6, 1956. Prizes will be presented immediately after the judges decide on the winning photographs.

Congratulations to you all on the last contest. Quality in photography was very high, and much praise from the judges and public was expressed. The superb quality and large variety in photography made a fine display for the College Union Gallery. The display for the spring contest will be from May 16 to May 30.

John Lane, candidate for Vice-President of the Student Government, came out late last week with a statement of his platform for the coming election. Lane's statement is as follows:

John Lane

"I wish to announce my candidacy for the office of Vice-President of the Student Government. I feel that the experience I have gained in my two years service as a Senator in the Legislature of Student Government qualifies me for this office. Let me go a little farther; as chairman of the Investigations Committee I have made an earnest effort to better the students' position on campus. We have conducted a thorough

Hall continued saying, "I realize the need for better relations between fraternities, college and townspeople and will work toward these ends by a more intensified Greek Week."

In conclusion Hall gummed up his feelings with, "It is only through the individual cooperation of each fraternity, and the coordinations of these combined efforts that an effective IFC can function. It is toward these ends that I will work in running for President of the IFC."

investigation of the college cafeteria's practices, policies and management. We recommended the establishment of the Student Cafeteria Committee which has brought about several improvements, one of which is the selling of quart bottles of milk in addition to the half pints.

We have paddled through mud long enough! The Investigations Committee has made an estimate of the sidewalks needed and the approximate cost. This report has been turned over to the Trustees for further action.

Bob Tanen, Chairman of the Campus Elections Committee, this week released the rules to be observed by all candidates for campus office this spring.

The rules formulated by the Committee are as follows:

1. No election campaign fund may exceed $75.00. In compliance with this, all candidates, submit an itemized expense sheet within twenty-four hours after final election.

The Investigations Committee has laid the foundation for a 'Clean Up The Campus' campaign, which will begin tomorrow. This campaign is badly needed and should greatly improve the appearance of the campus.

2. No candidate may campaign in such a manner as to disturb classes.

3. Notices must not be tacked or nailed to trees or buildings. String or drafting tape may be used.

4. Each candidate must remove his poster within twenty-four hours after the final election.

5. No campaign will take place within fifty feet of the polls. (A line ten feet from the stairs in front of the YMCA).

6. Sound trucks will not be used during classes nor after six o'clock P.M. Sound trucks may be used during class changes and from 12:00 Noon until 1:00 p.m. No sound trucks are allowed on campus during days of election. STRICT COMPLIANCE IS EXPECTED.

7. Candidates for each of the four major offices of the campus government must submit a statement in writing to the Campus Government prior to the primary election, that if he is a member of the rising senior class and, if elected, he will not graduate from North Carolina State College during his term of office of one calendar year.

8. In case one candidate receives a clear majority in the primary (more than 50% of the total votes) he will be declared the winner without a run-off.

There will be a meeting for all nominees Tuesday, March 27 at 8:00 o'clock in the College Union.

Violation of these rules can cause a candidate to be disqualified.

In a letter to Presidents and Heads of all campus organizations and fraternities, Tanen said, "We would like to call your attention to the forthcoming elections. We feel that these elections are of the greatest importance to the student body in general.

The Election Committee would like to have your help in encouraging candidates you feel are qualified for these various offices. Student participation is necessary to have good campus elections and to fill our student offices with capable leaders."

Tanen concluded the letter with an appeal to the organizations to back the elections by proposing outstanding candidates. He appealed to the organizations to urge all students to vote, saying, "The election can be successful only if all the students vote. Much of its success can come from each member of the student body supporting their candidates and voting in the election."

Bob Lane Runs For S. G. Secretary

Bob Lane, sophomore in the E.E. Department, has announced that he will be a candidate for Secretary of the Student Government. Lane is a veteran of two years participation in Student Government and has had experience in other campus positions and organizations.

Lane stated early this week, "I hope that every student will take enough interest in the election to find out who is running and get out and vote. Everyone cannot hold office, but every person has the right to vote for who ever they think is best. Your vote will determine who the new officers will be for next year. I would appreciate any support that my friends at State can give me. In the last few years our Student Government has made positive steps forward. If elected to the office of Secretary, I will try, to the best of my ability, to keep the student government headed in this direction and to work with all the elected officers and students for the good of the Student Body. BE SURE TO VOTE."

Winfield Giguere, here tuning the coils of an IF strip on an experimental FM receiver that uses the new high-frequency transistor.

"Our business is new ideas, new developments"

Winfield J. Giguere, or Gigs as he is known, graduated in 1954 from the University of New Hampshire with a B.S. in Electrical Engineering. Shortly after graduation he joined Bell Telephone Laboratories in Murray Hill, New Jersey.

"Experience has come my way in a hurry," says Gigs. "I've worked on carrier system amplifiers, speech transmission problems, and experimental types of coaxial cable. The Labs are always pushing ahead, trying new ideas, exploring new developments.

"For example, right now I'm working with 'the transistor that smashed a frequency barrier.' This new transistor has a cut-off frequency of at least 500 mc and can be used to amplify 2500 separate telephone conversations simultaneously. It will make possible broadband, high-frequency amplification in many fields using subminiature components.

"There are thousands of other fascinating projects underway at the Bell Labs. You see, at the Labs our business is new ideas, new developments, and that's one reason why I like working here. It's exciting. If there are better ways to communicate, you can bet the Labs are looking for them."

Winfield Giguere is typical of the many young men who are finding careers in Bell Telephone Laboratories. Many other career opportunities exist in the Bell Telephone Companies, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer has more information about these companies.

College Union Requests Information for Calendar

Obtaining the incoming presidents' names of campus organizations, addresses and phone numbers is always a problem each year. Dean Talley, Coordinator of Student Activities, and Paul Durrett, College Union Activities Office, are the sources for this information on the campus. These offices have recently sent out blanks and forms to the current presidents or organizations requesting the names, addresses and telephone numbers of the 1956-1957 presidents. As soon as any organization elects its 1956-1957 president, it should inform these two offices.

The College Union is beginning to compile information for next year's College Union Calendar. All organizations who have not turned in its dates of events and meetings for publication in the calendar should contact Paul Durrett, Assistant Coordinator of Social Cultural Affairs, in the College Union Activities Office. These events should be cleared by the Social Functions Committee and the deadline for turning in dates for first priority is April 28th. If there are any major conflicts in the choosing of the same dates, the parties concerned will be notified and requested to meet in an effort to settle dates suitable to both organizations.

Little Johnny wrote on the blackboard: "Johnny is a passionate devil."

The teacher reprimanded him for writing this and made him stay after school for one hour. When Johnny got out of school that night all his little friends were eagerly awaiting to hear what punishment he had received.

"What did she do to you?" asked one little tyke.

"I ain't sayin' nothing," Johnny replied, "except that it pays to advertise."

"BRAWL"

Loggers Ball Success Webb Gets Award

The Forestry Club held its annual "Loggers Brawl" at Hill Forest, Saturday, March 17th, from 6 to 11 p.m.

The festivities started at 6:00, when supper was served to the group in the dining hall. From there, the couples went to the main cabin for a song fest in front of a blazing fireplace. During this time, Jim Webb, a senior in Management, was presented the Xi Sigma Pi award for being the most outstanding Forestry student. A certificate was presented to Jim by Don Horton.

At 8 the band from Roumont started to tune up and everyone got ready for a night of good square dancing. During intermission, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Renfro were awarded prizes as the "Belle and Bull of the Woods" by the club president, Paul Pickenheim.

Hear At State

by Sidney Pareblood, Jr.

Election time is nearing once again. Politicians are already running around soliciting votes. Names of candidates are appearing in the paper. Students are wondering about who they are going to vote for.

In the race for President of the Student Government, one of the most important (if not the most important) offices a student can hold on this campus, there are three men: Jim Nolan, John Arnold, and Bob Gunn. Each of these men has the capability of holding such an important position; only one, however, will be elected.

At this time we might look back, ask a question or two, and think a moment about for whom we should vote. Many people have already decided the direction of their ballot on April 10; for those who have not decided, however, I offer the following as a little something to think about.

In the last issue of The Technician, the point stressed most and placed in the number one spot on Jim Nolan's list of accomplishments this past year was the change in the college calendar, which gave more time off last Christmas. But let us here give credit where credit is due. This idea was not originally that of the President of the Student Government, but was suggested to him at an executive meeting, which was attended by the other officers of the Student Government. Not only this project, but others as well, could never have materialized but for the help given Nolan by other members and officers of the Student Government this year. Why haven't they been given the credit that they deserve?

Along the same line of thought, we might make mention of the fact that none of the other three officers who have worked with Nolan this year are supporting him in the ensuing election. They are supporting the present Vice-president of the Student Government, Bob Gunn. One more point to consider. . . . Should one man control the Student Government in the capacity of president two successive years? Are not new ideas needed to insure the continued growth of the Student Government?

John Arnold, the "admitted dark horse" in the race, listed numerous points last week that need attention. He cited seven major points and promised immediate attention to each. Before the president of any organization can give immediate attention to anything, he must first "learn the ropes." This process could require valuable time for someone who does not already know a great deal about the workings of the Student Government.

There is a third candidate, Bob Gunn, who has led the Legislature of the Student Government through this past year—probably the most successful year in the history of the Legislature. Gunn has been in charge of running every meeting of this body, has appointed the members of the standing committees, has encouraged exchange of ideas in the meetings, and has, in general, guided the law-making body of the Student Government throughout the long, progressive year which is now nearing an end. Such experience as he has gained this year would prove invaluable in the position of President of the Student Government.

A Success Story

When the Four Freshmen were booked at the Esquire Lounge in Dayton, they had no idea it was to prove such an important date in their career. For seated among the patrons on opening night, was Stan Kenton. He was so impressed by their imaginative arrangements and standout musicianship that he brought the group to Hollywood to cut their first sides for Capitol Records.

Composed of Ross and Don Barbour, Ken Errair and Bob Flanigan, the quartet had a humble beginning in 1948 at the Arthur Jordan Conservatory of Music in Indianapolis where they first met. Discovering their mutual tastes and a happy blend of voices, the boys decided to apply their talents commercially. Playing all types of towns, the four Indiana lads soon had fans rushing to such spots as the Crest in Detroit and the Blue Note in Chicago to hear the combo. Their recent Capitol Record successes have launched them into the big time and made them one of the hottest groups in the country.

For three successive years they have been chosen by Downbeat and Metronome Magazine readers as the top vocal group in the nation, and just recently Paramount Pictures called on them to record the love song for the sound track of their Jane Wyman-Charlton Heston release, "Lucy Gallant." Their tremendous success at the Hollywood Bowl last summer has awakened the entire country to their power as a concert attraction, and now on tour with Nat "King" Cole-Ted Heath Record Star Parade of 1956, the vitality and refreshing originality of the Four Freshmen continues to amass even greater favoritism.

The group is especially noted for its versatility. Ross, the drummer, doubles on trumpet; brother, Don, the guitar man, splits vocal solos with Ken, who handles trumpet, bass and French horn; Bob plays both bass and trombone.

The Earth Stood Still

The news first came to me as I strolled out of my room to dispose of a cigarette. I collided with a freshman who was running blindly down the hall, blubbering hysterically. I grasped his arm firmly and shook him to calm him down. "Come, come, little man," I said, with all the kindness I could muster, "What's the matter?" He stared up at me through streaming eyes. "W-W-Winter Carnival has been called off!" he sobbed.

I released his arm. My senses reeled. My teeth chattered. My blood curdled. Trying to collect my spinning thoughts, I staggered blindly to my room. As I collapsed across my desk, my roommate seemed to sense that something was wrong. "What's wrong?" he asked. I stared at him. "Winter Carnival has been called off!" I said slowly.

He blanched. Quickly he poured himself a shot of after-shave lotion. For a few seconds his lips moved noiselessly, then he jumped up and ran into the bathroom. I could hear him weeping and banging his head on the wall. "Our goose is cooked!" he shouted. "Our time has come! Our paradise is frost!"

I dashed out of my room in the vain hope of suppressing the news. But it was no use. The news had spread like a prairie fire and the dormitory was a bedlam of shrieks, moans and gnashing teeth. I turned and ran to the Union. Outside, thunder and lightning shook the sky. In the Union my fears were confirmed. What they said was true. The mobile was gone!

The reception of the news was far worse in the women's dormitories. When the news reached Gridley kitchen, one of the waitresses immediately threw herself into a huge vat of split-pea soup and disappeared. In the chaos that ensued, sophomore women could be seen leaping from nearly every window, while many upperclasswomen tried to hang themselves.

On the West Side, some of the more level heads decided to attempt to take some sort of action. A meeting of the Model Boys Club was called in the Tea Room. As I made my way through the distraught crowds, I passed a sociology professor, taking notes. He gave me a weak smile. We met and sat down with heavy hearts to discuss what had happened.

The situation was desperate. The health service had long since run out of straight-jackets. The less high-strung students were using rope and bailing wire to truss up their hysterical comrades. There was no one to turn to for help. The faculty had been reduced to an irrational, disorganized pack, pedaling away in terror on their bicycles. There seemed to be no choice in the matter. Nodding our heads in tearful unanimity, we agreed what we must do...

As we trudged towards St. Olaf, the flames of the burning College lit the sky behind us. One of the model boys turned to me. "I wonder," he said sighing, "who started that rumor." The Carltonian

Shorty's Corner

A New Column

By Bob Kirkland
Enter: a new column. This one called Shorty's Corner. It consists of glimpses here and there around campus, city and state which we hope will point out the important little things and maybe add a bright spot to a dull week. We are always open to ideas here at the corner, so if you have any left over after excuses to cut classes, drop us a card.

This month's page of the big calendar issued by the C. U. gets a quizzical look from a Raleigh-born visitor to campus. It seems that two of the four people in the top picture are not State students at all, but are from Raleigh's Broughton High School. I checked and found (as I suspected) the blond with the profile is one of 'em. That Broughton is some school, eh what?

The Freshmen (bless their hard-working little hearts) are complaining (as usual) that Chemistry 103 is too tough for any poor student. To illustrate their point, they tell the story of a certain well-known professor who spent ten minutes of his class time trying to balance one of his own equations. This sounds a bit "slo" to us; lets speed up that stuff, boys.

Did you see? ... a card on the bulletin board in Withers Hall offering a 25c reward for the person who swiped the old $5000 reward poster belonging to the telephone company? ... the little bits of "wisdom" at the bottom of the recent Student Affairs Bulletin? ... the muddy walks behind Winston Hall? (Did we? Guess who sat down in that mud!)

Take it easy 'til April.—B.K.

Clean-up Campus Campaign Begun

John H. Lane, Chairman of the Investigations Committee of Student Government, has announced that March 23 is the kickoff date for the "Clean Up the Campus" campaign.

Lane said that most of the clubs and organizations of the campus had been notified and asked to help make this campaign successful.

The main objective of this campaign is, of course, to make the campus cleaner and, "we hope" said Lane, "to accomplish this by impressing upon each student the important part that he plays in keeping his campus clean."

There are approximately 30 trash cans placed at strategic locations on the campus and if students will use these cans the objective of a clean campus will be realized.

TOMORROW NIGHT Pi Kappa Phi Frat. Host For I.F. Sing

Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity will be host to its fifth annual Inter-Fraternity Sing tomorrow night, March 23, at 8 p.m. in the hall-room of the College Union, according to an announcement made this week by Bill Herring chairman.

Six fraternities will compete for first place honors with the winner being awarded the coveted plaque. Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity will be seeking the first place award for the third straight year and the honor of retaining the plaque permanently.

Others participating are Sigma Chi, Farm House, Kappa Alpha, Phi Kappa Tau and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

A choral group from Meredith College will provide special music. A coffee hour will follow the evenings program.

Hoots And Davis Are Candidates For WVWP Business Manager

Clyde Hoots, candidate for the office of Business Manager of WVWP, came forward this week with a statement concerning his platform and policies in running for the office.

He stated, "I feel that the office is of utmost importance to the welfare of the radio station. A rising Senior in Electrical Engineering, I have been an active member of the station staff longer than anyone returning next year. In my past capacities as a member of the production staff and as Technical Director this year, I have had a hand in most areas of station work. Another experience of value was my trip to the national convention of the Inter-collegiate Broadcasting System this past Christmas.

Under the present business manager, the station has enjoyed two years of unprecedented success, financially and otherwise. If elected, I shall endeavor to continue his fine policies and to the best of my ability, to add improvements.

State's student station, WVWP, is almost unique, in the fact that the operational facilities are owned by the staff members. Since staff membership is open to any student interested enough to serve, a great deal of responsibility is transferred to the voter in the Campus Elections. Jim Davis, candidate for Business Manager, stated this week, "I would like to appeal to every student to consider carefully all the candidates running for offices on the staff.

I am seeking the office of Business Manager, and would like personally to ask for your support. I have been an active staff member for two years, and I fully realize the importance of the position to an operation such as ours.

Aside from this, I have several ideas I would like to have an opportunity to test. Primary we must have someone with new ideas as well as new approaches to the present problems but we must also have someone who has had a great deal of experience with Student Government.

My platform is built entirely around the advancement of Student Government. Of course, the advancement of Student Government depends on what it will accomplish for the general welfare of the students and the school which it represents. I feel that having served as vice-president of Student Government this year and vice-president of Student Government Affairs of the Carolinas-Virginia Region of National Student Association and as vice-president of the State Student Legislature, I have gained much experience and many new ideas that will help Student Government to greatly surpass its previous achievements.

With these new ideas and this experience, I will work toward among these are the organization of a promotion staff similar to the production staff for more efficient handling of contacts, and the completion of the already started Balance Sheet.

Plans For Engineers' Fair, April 20-21, Proceeding

"Plans for this year's Engineers' fair, April 20 and 21, are well under way," announces

John Lomax, chairman of the 1956 Exposition. "Great strides have been made in publicity this year. Already, every high school in North Carolina has been contacted in hope that they will allow an engineering student to visit them and talk about engineering as a future. In five days, we have received over a 100 replies and 75% of these are affirmative," Lomax explained. The Exposition will be held April 20-21, beginning at 1 p.m. Friday and lasting until 5 p.m. Saturday.

When asked about departmental activities, Lomax replied, "Even at this early date there seems to be a keen interest in several departments. The Mechanicals have their program outlined and Industrial has also stated their desire to win first place this year. Civil and Electrical are making great strides under their new leaders and I'm sure that Chemical, Ceramic, and Nuclear will have good displays. All in all, there is a healthy competitive spirit, which always lends to a successful exposition."

Lomax had much praise for the men working on the Fair: "I have never seen more enthusiasm in anyone than I have witnessed in these men. John Arwood and Terry Hersey are doing commendable work. Arwood is responsible for the fine job so far in publicity. Also Bill Quinlivan and Don Keyt have been untiring in their efforts."

Lomax stressed the need of student participation for a successful exposition. Freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors are welcome to participate in their departments' project. "It is a wonderful opportunity for lower classmen to gain knowledge about practical engineering," Lomax said. "Also," he continued, "it is a wonderful opportunity for lower classmen to become acquainted with upper classmen."
