NORTH CAROLINA STATE COLLEGE'S STUDENT NEWSPAPER

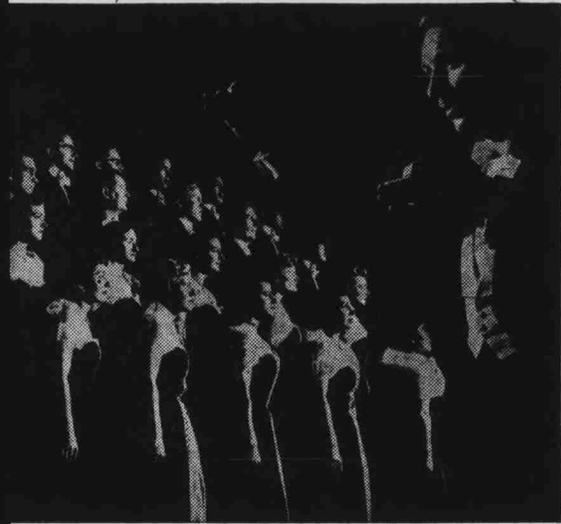

Vol. XLI, No. 20 2 1

State College Station, Raleigh, N. C.

February 18, 1957

Music Committee Sponsors Roger Wagner Chorale

A varied program of musical entertainment will be presented by the world-renowned Roger Wagner Chorale in Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium Friday at 8 p.m. under the auspices of the North Carolina State College Union's music committee.

Roger Wagner Chorale

Covering Campus . . .

ASCE Meeting

The student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers will meet Tuesday night, February 15, in the auditorium of Mann Hall. The program will feature a speaker and a film. All A.E. students and others interested are invited. The meeting will begin at 7:00 p.m.

Tuxedo Rental

All freshmen and sophomores are reminded that the tuxedo rental plan used last year will be active again this year. All persons will be able to secure the service of a tuxedo at a reduced price. The fitting will be one here on the campus as a special service and convenience to the students. All interested persons should stop by the College Union between the hours of 7:00 and 9:00 on the nights of March 4 and 5. The coat and pants can be secured for only $6.00.

E. E. Prize

The AIEE-IRE student branch is offering a $5.00 prize for an Electrical Engineering Department decal, suitable for affixing to automobile windshields. Entries must be submitted with contestant's name and address, prior to March 9, to the E.E. department office, 320 Daniels, or mail to Box 4772, State College Station. The contest is open to everyone, and there is no limit on the number of entries per contestant.

Reserve Seats

Reserve seats for the Villanova and Wake Forest games will be issued through Friday, February 22 at the Coliseum Box Office Window. The box office closes at 4:30 p.m. on Friday.

"Go To Church Sunday"

This coming Sunday, Feb. 24, is I. D. C. Go To Church Sunday. On the last Sunday of each month the Inter-Dormitory Council urges everyone to go to the church of his choice. The slogan for this month is "You'll be glad you did."

4-H Club

The Collegiate 4-H Club will meet Wednesday night at 7 in 310 Ricks. Rev. O. B. Woolbridge, Coordinator of Religious Activities, will speak on the YMCA and the Danforth Chapel.

AIME

A film will be shown at the AIME meeting Tuesday night at 7:30 in 201 Page.

YDC

Mr. L. Y. (Stag) Ballentine, N. C. Commissioner of Agriculture, will talk on "Farm Problems peculiar to the Republican Administration" at the Young Democrats Club meeting on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in room 256-58 at the College Union.

State's Mates

The State's Mates meet tonight from 8 to 11 in the College Union. Entertainment will consist of square and modern dancing and games.

Class Rings

All juniors who have not ordered their rings may do so by seeing Dean Cloyd in Holladay Hall (afternoons only).

AIEE

AIEE will have an important meeting tonight at 7:45 in 320 Riddick. An interesting program is planned with Mr. H. G. Robinson from Bluebell Inc. as speaker. Plans for the Engineers Fair will be discussed. All I. E.'s are urged to attend.

Arrangements for Wagner's Raleigh engagement are being handled by the State College Union's music committee, headed by Harry R. England of Raleigh.

The program will be open to all members of the College Union free of charge, but there will be an admission charge of $1.50 for all others.

Celebrating its 11th anniversary by touring the United States coast to coast, the noted Chorale will perform in 75 cities within a three-month period during its current road trip.

The Chorale was founded in 1946 as a group devoted to the singing of the early masters. The quality of the ensemble soon prompted leading conductors to engage it for major programs with the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra, the Hollywood Bowl and the Los Angeles Music Festival.

The group was invited to sing in London as a part of the coronation festivities program.

The Roger Wagner Chorale is under contract to Capitol Records. Among the Albums are: Palestrina's Missa Papae Marcelli, Liebeglieder Waltzes, Villa-Lobos' Impressions of Brazil, Faura's Requiem, Songs of the Frontier, Folk Songs of the Old World, Folk Songs of the New World, Joy to the World, and their latest release House of the Lord.

The impressive list of film credits garnered by the Roger Wagner Chorale includes the choral backgrounds for the 20th Century-Fox productions "Desiree" and "The Egyptian," the Columbia film "Back From Eternity" and the Samuel Goldwyn release "Day of Triumph."

Five Reading

Classes Scheduled

Announcement was made Friday of the scheduling of five reading improvement classes to begin this week.

The classes, directed by Dr. Paul Rust, meet once weekly and, according to officials, "have assisted many students to double their reading rates while at the same time maintaining or improving reading comprehension. Improvement in this important skill can have a beneficial effect on grades in regular courses and can reduce study time."

The classes are non-credit.

Registration will be at the first meeting of the classes, which are scheduled for 1 p.m. Monday, 2 p.m. Monday, 11 a.m. Tuesday, 9 a.m. Thursday, and 1 p.m. Friday. All classes are held in 111-B, Tompkins Hall.

An advanced section has been established at 1 p.m., Thursday for students with one semester of reading training and faculty members.

Limit of Five Tickets

Revised Traffic Ticket Bill Passed

By David Barnhardt

Last Thursday night the Student Government passed a revised version of the controversial traffic ticket bill. The resolution was passed by the Legislature with no senator voting against the measure.

The revised bill, which has not yet been approved by either President Jim Nolan or the Administration, calls for the dismissal of a student for the remainder of the semester if he should get five unpaid and unsustained tickets. Whether in any regular semester or a summer school session, a student who fails to pay his tickets immediately after receiving a fifth one, is suspended until the following semester.

After Fifth Ticket . . .

According to the resolution, after a student receives his fifth ticket, a letter will go out to him from N. B. Watts' office telling him of the new regulation and that he will be suspended from school if he does not pay his traffic tickets immediately. If the student still does not pay, however, his case is reviewed by the Judicial Board before the final decision is made to suspend him.

The last provision—calling for a final review by the Judicial Board — was an amendment proposed by J. W. Lazenby. It was passed along with the resolution.

S. G. Votes Against Resolution For Priority In Housing Project

By Waring Boys

At the Student Government meeting last week, several matters were discussed including married student housing, a banquet for campus leaders, and the Book and Supply Stores relocating.

In a report on the married student housing project, it was stated that the line of student seeking a place in the proposed development is continually growing longer. A proposal was made to give expectant parents first priority on the waiting list to attain housing. It did not seem quite fair, however, to simply place all expectant parents in the number one position, so a vote was taken to see how the entire body felt about the matter. In the final vote the Legislature voted 21 to 14 against the proposal.

Leader's Banquet

Dean B. C. Talley's suggestion was heard that a banquet be given for campus leaders sometime in April. The Legislature referred the item to the Finance Committee for study on the cost of such a banquet and also on the choice of a suitable date.

It has been planned for a number of years to relocate the Book Store and the Student Supply Store. New action was taken on this at the meeting last Thursday night. It was suggested that both stores be moved to a building to be constructed on the site of the old Zoology Building, and that this be done as soon as possible.

Science Fair to Be Held April 25-27

Between 4,000 to 5,000 persons are expected to attend the third annual State Science Fair, sponsored by the North Carolina Academy of Science, at North Carolina State College April 25-27.

Headquarters of the fair, in which high school students from throughout the State will participate, will be the State College Union Building.

The exhibition, which will be preceded by seven district science fairs, will feature science work of both junior and senior high school students.

The five best exhibits in each of two categories — biological and physical—from each District Fair may be entered in the State Science Fair. Students and their teachers will be guests of North Carolina State College at the event.

Winners of the third State Science Fair will be given an expense-paid trip to the eighth annual National Science Fair to be held in Los Angeles, Calif., in May.

Arrangements for the State Science Fair are being handled by a North Carolina State College faculty committee composed of Dr. Ernest O. Beal, Botany Dept.; chairman; Dr. William W. Hassler, Zoology; Dr. Abraham Holtzman, History and Political Science; Dr. Richard H. Looport, Chemistry; and Prof. William D. Stevenson, Electrical Engineering.

General Rodgers Visits State

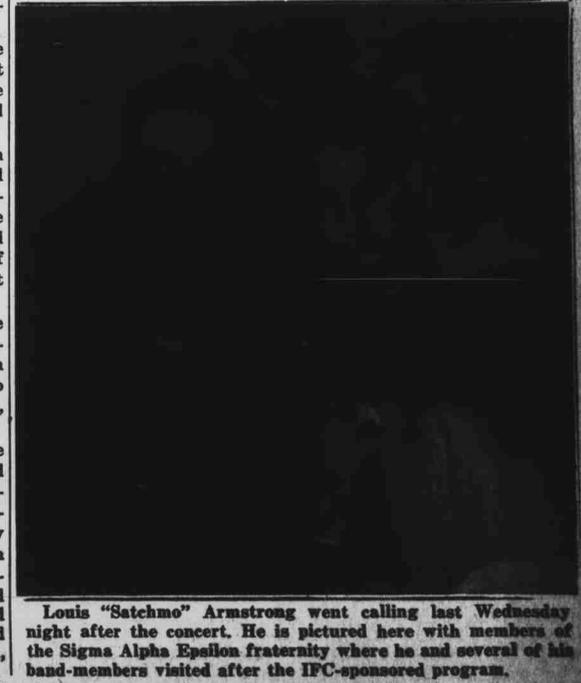

Brig. Gen. Turner C. Rodgers, commandant of the U. S. Air Force Reserve Officer's Training Corps, conferred at State with Dr. J. H. Lampe, dean of the School of Engineering.

Dean Lampe, who is chairman of the military affairs committee of the American Society for Engineering Education, reviewed with General Rodgers the ROTC program now underway at engineering colleges and universities throughout the United States.

While at State, the Air Force general also conferred briefly with Dr. Carey H. Bostian, Chancellor of State, and with Col. James F. Risher, Jr., Professor of Air Science and commander of the AFROTC Detachment at State.

Louis Armstrong Visits SAE House

Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong went calling last Wednesday night after the concert. He is pictured here with members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity where he and several of his band-members visited after the IFC-sponsored program.

More Backing Up

We note that State's student government very rapidly proceeded to pass the parking ticket measure last week at their regular meeting.

We think, as we said last Thursday, that its passing was ill-advised and we believe this to be doubly true since it sped through the legislature last Thursday in what must be record time.

We understood that there would be a longer delay on the bill and that students would have an opportunity to speak their piece before the legislature before its passage. Don't misunderstand us, we are not saying that they had no opportunity, but that the opportunity was limited considering the broad possible effect of the bill.

We wonder again if sufficient consideration has been given the difficulties of enforcing the new ruling. Additional stenographic time will be required to maintain the system and considerable difficulty will be involved in administering the rule. Again we question whether anyone will go so far as to suspend anyone from school. And why it is necessary for college students to be led by the hand like high school kids?

The ruling placed the final decision in the hands of the Judicial Board instead of the Traffic Committee. This too is a mistake. It will burden the J-Board beyond any normal sensible load and could easily reduce them to a common traffic court using all their time for petty cases instead of their usual function handling honor violations.

Student Government President Jim Nolan has the power of veto over any action taken by the legislature. We cannot urge him too strongly to use it in this case and to continue to use it on any legislation of this type.

Politics

The political pot has begun to boil again with three candidates already vying for the top position as President of Student Government next year.

And, already, there has been a little mud slung. We wonder why sensible, sane college people can't stick to talking about their own good points and not waste so much time painting other people black.

It would sure be nice if everybody would be kinda gentlemanly, like they say they are over at the Hill, and be sweet. Lots of time mud splashes on the thrower anyway. Keep it in mind, office-seekers.

Letters To The Editor:

Letters to the Editor must be signed. If it is requested that the name be withheld for a good reason, the letter will be printed and the name withheld. Letters WILL NOT be printed unless they are signed.

One of the sales clerks in the Student Supply Stores was slightly embarrassed about 3:15 p.m., February 6. This salesperson was caught making about a 125 per cent profit on replacement glasses for the Post Versalog Sliderule.

A representative from the Frederick Post Company was in the store when the sale was made. He checked the catalogue and quoted the retail price for a replacement glass for the Post Versalog Sliderule as $35. The price the sales clerk stated was $90, and that is the price the Student Supply Store has been charging.

At the price of $90 for each glass the Supply Store has been netting a profit of around 125 per cent. There should be an explanation for this and the officials of the Student Supply Store should explain why they have been overcharging. A full investigation by the Student Government might prove to be beneficial to the students at N. C. State College.

What Happens In Student Government?

A lot of us have very little information as to what our student legislators are doing every other Thursday night in the meetings of Student Government. Only when something big comes up and is passed or rejected by S.G. do we know what is being done, undone, decided, or undecided by our governing body. At times the Technician has covered these meetings and made reports—we would like to put this reporting on a full-time basis so that each one of us will know not only what action is being taken on big bills but also get a glimpse on some smaller, interesting sidelights that may help us understand our Student Government better. And by understanding the procedures and policies followed in the Thursday night meeting, we can take a more active interest in the student elections; an interested student body can better decide what type of representatives it wants to govern its affairs. This interested student body will, in the end, take a more informed, close look at the candidates for office and get the best men for this important job of governing State's campus.

We Need More Joiners

A whole lot of the many and varied clubs, organizations, and societies are having a rough time filling their ranks. When asked "why?" they don't join more organizations, many students answer with the following reasons:

- (1) "We don't have enough time."
- (2) "We haven't found any organizations that have attracted our interest."

ments I would like to make.

To start with, I am in full agreement with the views he takes on the proposed parking ticket issue, but I just cannot see why he would gripe. I got the impression from the February 7 issue that a measure such as this one would meet with his full approval. With Roy's description of the ideal student in mind, the students who get these tickets must be the same ones as those, to quote, "dumb future funkees", after all only the lowest caliber State student would be caught dead with a parking ticket.

Roy's column on February 7 gave me a nauseating feeling deep down, in other words, he made me sick. If I may quote again from his brilliant piece of ignorance, "... that two-thirds that didn't graduate are a tremendous waste of money, ... they come here for a few years and then drop out." I hope I succeed in graduating from State, but whether I do or not, I shall never feel I have wasted my money or the state's. The students who have dropped out for one reason or another will be hard to make me a better qualified citizen of this state.

Let's face it Roy, everybody isn't as smart as you obviously are. I say this because you must be at least a "B" plus or an "A" student to write such an article. I do not think you or any student in this school is qualified to call the ones who drop out for various reasons a, to use your own words again, "bunch of dumb future-funkees." So, speak softly boy, for one day you may work for one of the dumb-funkees.

Maybe the entrance examinations are not extra hard as you would have them, but you show me the examination which gives you a true measure of a man's ability. Admit that the "C" stu-

(3) "We just aren't interested in outside activities."

The first group should consider this point—"If you want to get a job done, give it to somebody who is already busy!" Many times you will find that those who are already doing a lot can always find time for one more job or activity; some people develop a remarkable ability to arrange their time so that they can do many things well—study, attend meetings, work on committees, and numerous other campus activities. Being able to so arrange your time will quite often prove to be an invaluable asset when you graduate from college, and this ability is the mark of a successful person—both socially and financially.

The critical second group would do well to attend some meetings before they say nothing holds interest for them—and if an activity seems like a waste of time, why not use a little initiative and make that organization into something worthwhile by your whole-hearted participation. Maybe you can analyze the situation and determine just why you have no interest—then go about changing it so that it will be of value.

The last group is probably the hardest to convince about the value of extra activities; they just don't realize the tremendous value gained from working with others in organized groups. The value to be gained can be realized both in the present and in the future; in the present by realizing that you belong to a certain group and that you are doing something worthwhile — dent who can apply what he has learned is better qualified than the "A" student who cannot. As far as that goes, these dumb-funkees are better engineers than a graduated student who cannot apply his knowledge.

To end this all, Roy, if you are so exceedingly brilliant that you are qualified to pass judgment on others, help all us poor students who are having such a hard time by imparting to us a little of your genius.

in the future by the experience gained in getting along with people and perhaps leading them.

Remember — the representatives from the various industries who will come searching for the outstanding men are not looking for high grades alone; your records show what you have done besides studying—and these men look very carefully at those records. A blank space in your records under "Activities" doesn't look well at all.

Pack off to "Hill" To Meet UNC

North Carolina State's "sophomore" basketball team is scheduled for a return engagement with the undefeated and nationally ranked Tar Heels of UNC Tuesday night over at the "Hill."

The Pack will be trying to rebound from a 56-49 loss to Maryland, avenge an early season loss to the Tar Heels, and hand the boys from the "Hill" their first loss of the season all in one night. Quite a big job for an inexperienced ball club, but by no means impossible.

The game has been a sell-out for months and the only way 99 per cent of State's fans can is a little known fact that Van Heusen, in addition to regular merchandise, also makes a grand line of invisible shirts. Alas, they have never proved very popular. People wear them easily. Laundries are confused by them. And people wearing these invisible shirts are not just walked over, they're sometimes walked through.

So, we're stuck with thousands of them, and we've just decided to give them away. To you! Just write Van Heusen. We will send you free a complete wardrobe of invisible shirts. Not just one or two! Get it us. We'll send you hundreds of them. In every style! Every size! Every collar fashion! All handsome. All invisible. Probably the finest you've never seen.

As for visible shirts — and shorts, sport shirts, sweaters, pajamas, handkerchiefs and ties — well, you know Van Heusen. We have most of the new styles before anybody else. And we handle traditional favorites in a way that explains why certain styles last a long, long time. Your local haberdasher carries a large Van Heusen selection. See him soon.

What's doing... at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft

New "high-road" to JET ENGINE FRONTIER in Florida

Heralding important things to come, work was begun in late summer, 1956, on a wide access road in a remote section of Palm Beach County, Florida. At the end of that road, situated northwest of West Palm Beach, a 500,000-square-foot plant destined to be the newest addition to Pratt & Whitney Aircraft engineering facilities is already well under construction.

this newest section of the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft team will face a challenging assignment. They, too, will be concerned with design, testing and development of highly advanced, extremely powerful jet engines which will join a family already including J-57 and J-75 turbojets, currently playing important roles in the growing military and commercial air power of the United States.

Here, engineers and scientists will soon be hard at work dealing with new and increasingly complex problems relating to advanced jet aircraft engines. Working in close coordination with men at other P & W A establishments — particularly the company's multi-million-dollar Andrew Willgoos Turbine Laboratory in Connecticut —

The engineering graduate who begins his career at this Florida facility will have the rare opportunity of keeping pace with its anticipated growth. In an organization renowned for development engineering superiority, he will gain invaluable experience working on vital, long-range projects that are a challenge to the imagination.
